A group of six Junior High girls decided to brighten up their social life by forming a new club. They call themselves the "six Lost Chords" and if their club doesn't keep them too busy getting it organized, the idea is that they may have to do a little singing on the side. On every Tuesday they must go around adorned in the club ribbons, yard-long streamers of narrow ribbon in red, green, blue, white and pink. Failure to show up in this club brand means a fine payment. The girls have to pay a penny for each calendar date. That is, on Dec. 7, they pay 7 pennies, etc. Club members are Nan Longbottom, Patsy Jackson, Nancy Patterson, Ginger Owens, Lou Durham and Eva Gail Biggers.

Mrs. Clarence Hollabaugh writes in that her pet cat, Tyke, learned about meat rationing the hard way and hasn't recovered yet. Today's meat buyers, rationed by prohibitive costs, know just how that cat feels. But anyway Tyke used to trot over to the refrigerator and wait for a hamburger hand-out, until rationing ended that and she got milk instead of meat. Forced to find her own, she turned to mice, grasshoppers, etc. Now she wants to trade back instead of eating the mice, she brings them in to Mrs. Hollabaugh, and, we presume, still tinkers for hamburger.

Saturday is the big high school football game between District 1-A and District 4-A. The Phillips Black-Beaks, this district's winners, will meet the Post Antelopes at the new Field Saturday afternoon with a chance at state championship at stake for the first time.

Plainview boosters blew into town drumming up the Old Christmas Spirit in celebration of Santa Claus Day there tomorrow. They brought the usual enthusiastic Chamber of Commerce members and the high school band that entertained on Main Street with holiday songs and band marches. Hereford's Band Director Williams guest conducted one number.

There's a P. S. on this story. Hereford's own C. of C. was going to meet them at the outskirts of town and welcome them in, so six members piled into the new station wagon and headed for the Dimmitt road at 11 a. m. No boosters! "Which way are they coming?" Bruce Woodell asked. "I don't know," said Pete Cowart, so they tried the Canyon route. Still no boosters. They returned to town wondering what held up the good will patriots and found the Plainview group serenading Main Street.

Pitman's big, blue Christmas star is shining forth atop the elevator now for the second year. It gets up early in the season to look benignly down on the town. By day it's just another warning to hurried shoppers, but by night it's a good replica of the original Star of the East, Santa Claus has already appeared, too. He's roaming through Ireland Motor Company show windows, right at home among the tinsel and silver foil tipples there.

Christmas trees already are blooming in grocery stores and along Main Street sidewalks. Further proof Christmas is less than a month away—in fact it's only 19 days away.

But it's still close enough to Thanksgiving to get in some turkey day reminders. The Troy Kellys put high on their list of blessings the fact their farm home west of town now is getting REA service. Young Bill Kelly was most thankful for the radio-phonograph; younger Brice Kelly was most thankful for his electric train, and Mrs. Kelly was just most thankful. For twenty years, she said, every Christmas, birthday and anniversary gift had been some electric appliance and now she could start using them again.

Locomotive Blaze Extinguished

Two-hour Fire in Locomotive Does But 50¢ Damage, Freight Agent Says

A locomotive fire which volunteer firemen battled for two hours Sunday night was said by Santa Fe Freight Agent G. T. Slaughter Monday to have caused only about 50 cents damage. The fire was discovered about 10 p. m., railroad officials say, and was started when oil spilled around the engine, became ignited. How the oil caught fire still is a mystery. Firemen fought the blaze with chemicals and did not extinguish it until about midnight. They said the flames licked out from the top and bottom of the engine and tender. Slaughter said a survey later showed the only damage was to rubber hose that had been burned in to, and that such fires occurred frequently.

Architects Slated To Confer With Hereford Hospital Board Dec. 14

Six Hereford men met in Austin with Dr. George W. Cox, head of the State Health Department, Monday morning, at which time the department promised to send both a state and a federal architect to confer with the local hospital board Dec. 14. The men expressed hope that through this meeting, Hereford may be granted Federal aid to finish the hospital construction.

Young Victim of Fire is Flown to Galveston for Special Treatment

Battling a 45-mile an hour head wind the day after the Panhandle's first norther, Lyle Blanton and Dr. L. B. Barnett flew an 11 year old boy to Austin then to Galveston, Sunday, in an emergency flight to get the boy where medical aid could heal his scalded body. The child, Gary Tyler, was suffering from third degree burns received several weeks ago. He needed the skill and care of a skin grafting specialist, but the closest one was in Galveston and Gary's doctor here said the boy could never stand a two-day ambulance trip. But modern science and a neighborly heart had the answer. Lyle Blanton had a Stinson four-passenger plane and a pilot's license. Dr. Barnett had a little boy patient who needed help.

Burned By Trash Fire Gary had been burned when he and his brother were burning some trash on their home lot in South Hereford. Gasoline poured on the blaze exploded and Gary was burned badly. Doctors at the hospital where the victims of the Texas City disaster were cared for could help him, if he could just get there. And he did. First Blanton took his plane to Plainview Sunday morning where mechanics removed the back seat and put in straps so a stretcher could be installed. Then Gary and Dr. Barnett drove to Plainview in an ambulance and Gary was taken aboard the plane to be flown across Texas.

Trip Was Rough The trip was rough. Texas weather had been particularly bad the day before and the tail end of those storms kept the plane bouncing along its route, but two hours and twenty minutes later the three passengers were circling the air port at Austin. There was a heavy cross wind. The field's crash crew was standing ready in case things didn't go well for the Stinson; but the landing was good. Gary was hospitalized in Austin that night. The plane was re-serviced for duty the next day and Monday, Gary's friends flew their young charge on over to Galveston where he was admitted to the hospital. Doctors say they are going to make his young body over as good as new. It's hard to tell who is the happiest, Gary, those who helped him out or the townspeople cheering him to recovery.

Other bids were as follows: Little-Hill Construction Company, Amarillo, $279,718; C. S. Lambie & Company, Amarillo, $278,223; HMFP Construction Company, Lubbock, which contracted to build Hereford's new hotel, $267,500; Neil Singleton, Amarillo, $290,400; and Ramey and Mathis, also of Amarillo, $271,900.

The building approved in a bond issue this year, will be located at H and 12th Streets, east of the softball field. In addition to the 12 rooms, it will include a gymnasium and auditorium. Construction is scheduled to get under way as soon as possible.

Lubbock Man Is Chief Speaker As Health Unit Meets

Ways of creating and enforcing sanitary ordinances in an effort to correct what have been termed "unspeakable" conditions in some outlying sections of Hereford, were among the chief topics of discussion Wednesday night when Hereford Health Unit members met at the County Court House.

The principle speaker was W. D. Power, Texas State Health Department officer from Lubbock who also talked over sanitary laws for food and eating establishments with the group. Tuesday afternoon referring to some Hereford areas, Mrs. Dyalitha Brady, county social worker, termed the "unspeakable" areas.

Need For Nurse Seen Mrs. Brady said also there is a critical need for a county health nurse capable of giving free pre-natal and post-natal care to mothers not able to pay for such service. Such a nurse, Mrs. Brady said, should be required to make inspection trips into the discussed areas of the city. She also could work in liaison with officials in enforcing truant laws. Mrs. Brady added.

The Hereford Health Unit, which in addition to Mrs. Brady, includes A. J. Schroeter, chairman; R. C. Kinsey, vice chairman; George Graham, Dr. Lewis Bennett, Troy Moore and W. E. Damron, met in the Red Cross and Welfare offices of the County Court House.

Jaycees Hope To Begin Christmas Decorations Soon

The Jaycees hope to begin today or tomorrow stringing up Christmas decorations along Main Street, Dub Reeves, club president announced Tuesday. A wire from the Colorado company shipping the evergreens has been received saying the greenery already has been sent out, and a wire from Houston confirmed shipment of candy for the big Santa Claus parade. In decorating Main, 24 cross lines of wire will be hung from First to Fifth street and spruce, cedar and pine boughs will be entwined around strings of colored lights. Work will be done by members of the Jaycees and will begin whenever the material is received.

REA Approves $760,000 Loan For District Rural Electrification Expansion Program

Deaf Smith County will get an additional 154.5 miles of new electrical line construction provided by a $760,000 Rural Electrification Administration loan to the Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative Inc., approval of which was announced Monday by T. W. Roberson, Cooperative board of directors president. Palmer and Castro Counties will also benefit. The breakdown on miles of lines the new loan will provide is as follows: Deaf Smith County, 154.5 miles; Castro, 88; and Parmer 35.5.

Construction will be pushed as rapidly as material and labor can be obtained, Mr. Roberson said. The new construction will include 137.4 miles of single phase line; 79.8 miles of three phase line, 9.4 miles of service and 51.7 miles of single phase converted to three phase line, system improvement. Will include Four Transformers Also included will be four 2,000 KVA transformers to double the capacities of Substations 1 and 4, and two-way radio systems for co-op trucks. The increased substation capacity will enable the cooperative to give service to an additional 152 irrigation wells and 178 single phase consumers as well as keep more constant voltage for irrigation consumers. Has 1,051 Miles Of Lines The co-op now has 1,051 miles of power lines which bring service to 1,854 rural consumers. Upon completion of its present building plans, the system will be increased to 1,329.3 miles of lines which will serve 1,984 consumers, Mr. Roberson said. In announcing approval of the loan, Mr. Roberson said it was his organization's purpose to see that rural electrification in this area kept pace with programs in other sections of the nation. "Congress has indicated," Mr. Roberson said, "its interest in rural electrification by making more than a billion dollars available since 1935." He said the greater part of the vast appropriation is being utilized by rural cooperatives such as the Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative Inc. "This Federal rural electrification program has been a leading factor in raising the nation's level of electrified farms from one out of ten in 1935 to six out of ten today.

Gilmer-Aiken Proposals Would Save County School Tax Money If Accepted, Graham Says

The highly controversial Gilmer-Aiken Committee proposals if accepted in their present form would affect Deaf Smith County, by saving money on school taxes locally? because the Hereford Rural School District would receive more outside aid, said George Graham, superintendent, on returning from a Dallas meeting of the 70th annual Texas State Teachers Association. However, he explained there is little likelihood that the "equalization" proposal will be drafted by the legislature in its present form and even if it should, it would be two years or more before it would take direct effect. He made these statements after the TSTA House of Delegates had endorsed the work of the Gilmer-Aiken Committee, but had failed to give whole-hearted recommendation to any particular one of the 32 suggestions. Explanation Made An explanation of the committee work was made in the first general session of the TSTA convention held in Fair Park Auditorium last Thursday night. Senator James E. Taylor of Kerens read the report. None of the other committee proposals will have any great effect on local schools, Graham pointed out. In particular they will not influence either the building program or creation of a higher standard of living for the teachers. The Gilmer-Aiken reports were a state-financed study of the educational set-up in Texas current school conditions, and future needs. They were based on the report of committees named in each county in Texas to survey housewives, school patrons and teachers on proposals and demands. After receiving the proposals and questioning local persons, the Deaf Smith committee countered the Gilmer-Aiken report advising that distribution funds to local schools be based on the number of pupils in average daily attendance, and not on the number of scholars enrolled. They also recommended that sparsely settled communities where there is little paving and long bus routes should be given far more consideration in the distribution of paving funds.

Three Hereford Youths Injured In Auto Crash Released From Hospital

Three Hereford youths injured in a car-jump crash Tuesday night were released from the Deaf Smith County Hospital Wednesday morning after treatment for minor injuries. The three boys were Bill Damron, 19; Jimmie Dry, 17; and Bob Pellom, 17; they are all employed here. (The Bill Damron involved is not the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Damron.) Details of the collision were not available and the youths said it happened so quickly they were not sure what occurred. The accident took place on the highway near Canyon early Tuesday evening. Damage Estimated At $1,000 Two other car wrecks early in the week caused about $1,000 damage to the vehicles involved. Tuesday morning a car driven by Jack Porter collided with a truck driven by Roy Grider, of Oklahoma, at the corner of Sixth and Main, doing about $600 damage to the two vehicles according to Sheriff J. C. Reese. The accident happened about 9:30 a. m. Porter was going south Main and Grider was going west on Sixth when they ran together. Police said a stop sign, formerly set up along Main had not been replaced since the street was repaired. Sheriff Reese once again reminded motorists to honor right-of-ways at crossings and advised drivers to exercise supreme caution at all intersections. On Monday, a truck driver blinded by the sunlight, crashed into Ford stopped behind a string of cars at a traffic light and jammed this car into the pick-up ahead of it. The Ford, only one of the three receiving serious damages, will cost about $400 to repair according to the workmen. Charles Ray Wilson was driving the gravel truck and the Ford was driven by Carl Brown of Tucson, Ariz. He was traveling through Texas with his wife and three year old daughter. No charges were filed.

? QUESTION of the WEEK ?

If you could re-visit any of the places you visited or were stationed when you were a serviceman where would it be? James Roberts: "I would like to go back to Rome, Italy, because of its historical interest. I was sent there to rest camp in 1944 and things like St. Peter's Cathedral and the catacombs caught my eye." Guy Heid: "I think I'd pick Hawaii. You can't beat that climate and the scenery and of course the tropical vegetation. I was there in January, 1945 on a stop over with my E-29 crew." Bob Sullivan: "Probably New York and Connecticut where I was stationed with the Navy's signal school. There's plenty to see and plenty to do up there." Ray Cowart: "I would like to go back to the Philippines to see what they've done about cleaning up all that business. I was there in 1944 and 1945 and the climate is terrible; still, I'd like to see how it all shaped up." Morris Easley: "Without doubt, I'd say Rio de Janeiro. I was here practically a year in 1944 when I was in the Naval Air Corps and it's an ultra modern and exotic town. Besides, I never expect to live quite so much like a millionaire again." Bill Howard: "I choose San Francisco. I was there when I was a Navy seaman and I sure had a lot of fun. I was there first in 1944 and I liked it so much I did go back in May, 1947. I pick it over any place overseas because I think you could have more fun right there." Bill Stanford: "Well, Colorado Springs was nice and so was Vienna. I should like to go back to Vienna after it is re-constructed, because it is a beautiful city. There's something special about the music in that town, even the hand organs they play along the street."

IF YOU HURRY Bright Outlook For Shoppers

Apparently this year Mr. and Mrs. Christmas Shoppers of Hereford will be able to buy their gifts they've been wanting to buy since the World War II emergency caused Christmas goods shelves in Hereford as well as that of the nation... That if they buy early! This was indicated this week by the amount of goods going on display in local establishments and by the tone of Christmas advertising being done by Hereford merchants. Shelves are stocked now; but few merchants dare predict the situation nearer Christmas, as many of the orders now coming in were placed months ago. So it is advisable to SHOP NOW taking advantage of the full stock and advertised prices now in store for every Hereford Santa.

Meeting of Grain Sorghum Growers Scheduled Monday

A meeting of Deaf Smith County Certified Grain Sorghum Growers was called by Ira Scott, president, to discuss plans for recleaning, obtaining sacks and sales. Members met at the court house at 7:30 p. m. Monday. Plans were made to obtain sacks on a cooperative basis. These sacks are to be uniform for all grain sorghums. Seed of the following varieties will be sold for $4.00 per 100 pounds for the farm: Martin, Caprock, plainsman. The following members were present: Ira Scott, W. P. Ace, Virgil Dodson, Jack Renfro, Wag Albracht and Hugh Clearman.

TO EXPLORE SOIL

WARSAW (AP) — The state geological institute announced a big six-year plan for exploring the soil. It plans to make 400,000 deep drillings throughout Poland. Drilling tools and equipment are to come from Polish factories, the Soviet Union, Sweden, Denmark, Great Britain and the United States.

Cooperative Will Install Two-way Radios in Trucks

To facilitate rural electrification service on the 3,300 square miles of territory they will be servicing within the next six months, the local cooperative is going to install two-way radios in their trucks so the office may communicate with them at all times. These sets will enable the office force to keep a spot check on trucks and report needed repairs in the area to trucks on the road; the trucks can request parts and equipment without returning to town and trucks can keep in touch with one another. Emerson Roland, REA field supervisor explained.

Will Operate On 60 Watts

A central set will be put in the office on Third Street. The station will operate on 60 watts, be licensed much like a regular broadcasting station and be subject to all Federal Communication Commission requirements. After installation it must be inspected every 30 days by a licensed radio technician. The station will run on a frequency modulation of 32-40 megacycles, for a maximum area coverage with a minimum of interference.

Will Cover 50-Mile Radius

It will cover a radius of fifty miles, extending about to the limits of the local area territory which stretches north to within eight miles of Vega, east to Dawn, south almost to Hart and west to the Deaf Smith County line. Cost of installation will be approximately $5,000 and the radio set up should be ready within six months, Roland predicted. At the beginning of 1948 only two of the 72 Texas cooperatives were using this service; but now, Roland reported, nearly all had installed or were being granted allotments to purchase this equipment.

Former Hereford Man Receives Fractured Spine In Freak Accident

George W. Clark, former resident of Hereford, was seriously injured a couple of weeks ago when he was run over by his own truck in the drive-way of his home at Lomita, California.
Mr. Clark operates a tailor shop in Lomita and had driven his delivery truck into his driveway, on a steep incline. As he stopped behind the car to reinforce the brakes with bricks at the rear wheels, the car plunged back down the driveway, running over Mr. Clark and breaking his back across the hips.

He was rushed to the hospital where he was placed in a cast for six months and relatives here report his condition as fair at the present time.
Mr. and Mrs. Clark, who were in the tailoring business here, moved to California about four years ago on account of Mr. Clark's health, and have been operating the tailor shop there since that time. Mrs. Clark, who is a sister of Mrs. John Renfro, is the former Miss E'Dora Smith.

Long Time Ago

(Editor's Note: The following article was contributed by an Old Timer who requested that his name not be used. The article is interesting and we believe accurate in detail.)

DOWN MEMORY LANE With An Old Timer

The other day I was standing on the corner of 1st and Main on the south side of the Dameron building waiting for my car. Across the street the City boys were dumping the pennies and nickels from the parking meters into a dingy on wheels.

My mind started meandering back through the years—not too far back at first—then it jumped way back, then back up again; funny how many years you can cover of the past in so short a time. Maybe it is the age or maybe it is the bright sunshine, or perhaps the time of the year.

Perhaps it is just because I wanted to duck into the past. I know I don't like this future stuff, I just get out on a limb and can't seem to get back.

Anyway with half-closed eyes, I wondered what Jeff Thompson and Bob Mounts would think if they could ride up to the old First National Bank to have a visit with Uncle Summy Higgins.

The old side door on the north would not get them. In the private caucus room. The whole Bank would be on the wrong side of the door when they got inside. If Uncle Summy were there, he would be over in the wrong corner.

Back of the Bank would be Pearl Long's Barber Shop with Charlie Whitehead on one chair, Tom Carroll the leading shine boy in town and tightest kid that ever shined shoes. He wouldn't ever shine Uncle Summy's shoes on the credit. The barber shop was one place you could get all the information you needed.

I glanced across the street north and there was the old Northern Hotel, which was run by the Churchills at this time. Up the street a short way, stood

Jim Borgard. And that was all for that block.

And that was all for the next block and the next one too, except the remains of the old Thompson lumber yard that stood on the edge of the lake.

The green light came on about this time and I was back on the corner again. I stood in front of the Corner Drug Store, with McLean and Stocking, owners. John Pitman was head soda skeep.

I saw a sign up the street that stood out like a new moon. D. R. Gass & Son, since 1898, Nester and George McCurry inside, were selling ladies high top button shoes, men's suits with pants legs so tight you could hardly get your foot through them.

George Burns Drug store, was then where the City Drug now is, and I could hear George's pleasant "Hurry back some time," as I left.

There was a picture show in that block run by Mac McGee.

I crossed the street now to the south on a red light and stood in front of Orr's Barber and Tailor Shop, now the United Tire Store.

Next to it, was Callens Dry Goods store, in a little wooden building where Halle Drug now is located.

Beyond that was Bill Ray's Jewelry Store, now occupied by Little Fashion Shop and then there was Fox Mercantile Co., now occupied by Caves Variety Store.

I turned and walked back to Bill Ray's store and inside was Rat Jowell, Brack Williams, Cecil Shore, Allen Skelton, Homer Fox, Bill Borden all enjoying themselves as usual. The bunch was always pulling something on Bill Ray.

Walked by the Western National Bank and Stambaugh's Dry Goods Store, crossed the street to E. B. Blacks, to Bennets and Beene Barber Shop.

It was one of those warm summer days and the bunch was out in the back playing catch.

Charlie Bennett, Pat Curtisinger, Otho Beene and Earl Wilson.

Then I stepped into Betts & Clark Drug Store and found Jim busy as an old hen with one chicken and Ed was back filling a prescription for Dr. Price who was taking time out to kid Jim about his feather duster.

Dr. Gabbert rushed in while we were there leading the ugliest Airdale pup you ever saw, but according to Doc, he was the finest bred dog in America.

Stopped in at C. S. Richard's Cafe for a dish of chili. C. S. rushed up to wait on us and we ordered chili. He turned and yelled to the kitchen "one in the red" then he rushed through the kitchen door and yelled back up front "one in the red coming up." It was good too.

The green light came on again and I was back on the corner, but I couldn't stay there. I glanced upstairs and saw Dr. LeGrand's sign with Dr. Heard-Dentist in front of it and Dr. Hicks, in the rear of the long hall.

Across the street was W. H. Russell, Atty. at Law, John P. Slaton and William Knight. Down the street were offices of Carl Gilliland and F. T. Rolson. What fine characters they were!

They would go to the courthouse, fight and rave, cut each others throats, smash their heads in. . . all in words. . . Then when Court was out, they would come to town and have their Cokes and kid the sox off each other.

To Be Continued Sunday Sunday, the Old Timer will recall the beginning of Hereford's Parks, Mayor Knight and A. W. Gregg.

Cabbage that needs to be freshened and made crisp for slaw may be soaked in cold salted water for a short time, then drained and shredded.

BRITAIN MAKES USE OF WOMEN'S GOSSIP

LONDON (AP)—Talkative women can be very useful in helping Britons understand how to achieve economic recovery, says Sir Stafford Cripps, the nation's economic minister. Addressing a recent meeting of labor party and trade union women, Sir Stafford smilingly noted: "It may be that men are wrong in accusing women of being gossips, but from the point of view of putting across the true story of our problems, our efforts and our successes, who can do it better than the woman in those casual and intimate talks that she has with friends?"

Texas Kids See Christmas Angels

As a Christmas gift to the children of Texas, the classic Christmas story—The Little Angel—has been brought to life in Dallas. One of the 100 life-size cherub figures is shown here to four-year-old Patsy Parker of Ennis by Arthur L. Kramer, sponsor of the free display. The huge display, requiring 20 figures of angels, cherubs and birds to reproduce the character in the story, is on display in downtown Dallas.

Some $7,000 a Year Families Now In Underprivileged Class

By SHELAGH BOWEN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK—Now you can start worrying about those underprivileged families of four with only $7,000 a year income. Underprivileged? $7,000? It sounds fantastic, but inflation has done things to incomes as well as prices.

Look at the figures on U. S. per capita incomes just compiled by the National Industrial Conference Board.

A year's income payments to individuals in Nevada total $1,842 for every man, woman and child. In New York it's $1,781 per capita. Thus, families of four in those two states are below average if they have $7,000 a year income.

In eight states and the District of Columbia incomes average above $1,600 per capita. That's $6,400 for four people. The states are California, Nevada, Montana, North Dakota, Illinois, New York, Connecticut and Delaware.

Nationwide, the average is $1,323 per person or $5,292 for four. These latest figures for a full year are for 1947. It may be higher when the 1948 totals are known. Even so it is up 130 per cent since 1940.

In 1940 the national average per person was $575. That year, the family of four with $2,300 a year was average.

Going back to the latest figures, the low income belt is in the south. This was also true in previous years. But Arkansas, with the lowest average in 1947 had $718 per person which is well above the $575 national average of 1940.

The deep south states with incomes below $1,000 per person are Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

Four other south coast and border states are below $1,200 per person—Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and Florida. In the same category are Minnesota, Iowa, and Missouri as well as Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, Virginia and West Virginia.

A different picture shows up when states are listed as to size of the increased income over 1940. The south has had large increases compared with west coast and northeastern states where increase were smaller. Delaware up 84 per cent, had the smallest increase in the country, except for Washington, D. C., with 50 per cent. North Dakota, up 366 per cent, had the highest.

A word of caution should be given in reading the figures. They are averages. Whether you deal with the $575 average in 1940 or the $1,323 national average of 1947, that does not mean most people got that sum or above. One million-dollar income, for example, can overbalance a large number of below-average incomes.

Another thing. There is no reference to taxes. When incomes increase, Uncle Sam takes a much bigger bite and there is less left for spending. Also, the per capita figures take no account of the number of wage earners. An increased number of wives are working. When you speak of "average" families of four, more of the family incomes come from two or more workers.

But the board figures do reflect sharp increases in payments to individuals. They are much higher even than 1929. In 1929, U. S. per capita income was $680. The $575 average in 1940 was lower. But by 1946 it had grown to $1,213, and to $1,323 in 1947. Estimates for 1948 indicate it may be around $100 a year higher.

Sightless Boy Scouts Prove They Can Do Anything The Others Can

By HOWARD C. HEYN

LOS ANGELES—Any Boy Scout worth his Tenderfoot badge knows enough to stay clear of precipices and poison oak.

But supposing he's blind? Well, it seems the sightless Scouts get along all right too. This city has such a troop, No. 627, one of the few in the United States. But local Scout authorities consider 627 unique because its boys take to the hills as blithely as any other troop.

Easy to imagine are the harrowing thoughts which might beset the leader of such an excursion. Yet when the blind Scouts went to camp for the first time, wit hailed boys of Troop 192, Assistant Scoutmaster Jack Bader of 192 had the easiest week he can remember.

Everybody Gains

They did everything the other boys did except identify harmful plants," he said. "We kept them away from those. Some things they did better. But perhaps the most gratifying result was their wonderful effect upon the sighted boys. The latter got a great deal more out of the trip than any previous one because they had a real responsibility on their hands."

Troop 627 has six regular members, 15 and 16 years old—James Fisher, Richard C. Gonnell, Tom Leeder, Kengo Sakamoto, Neil Schulman and Philmore Tankin. Their sponsors, the American Women's Voluntary Services, drive them to their weekly meetings from their homes in widely separated sections of the metropolitan area.

Like many blind persons, they move around easier and faster at night. Their sense of direction, in fact, is so uncanny that other Scouts at first believed they actually could see after darkness fell.

On The Trail

On their initial trip, to Camp Arthur Letts in the Hollywood Hills, there were two sighted scouts for each blind boy. But the latter soon proved that they had no need of constant supervision. They swam and they hiked. They performed all the duties of camp life including cooking and woodchopping. They followed marked trails, feeling for the signs with their feet, and bending down to identify them with their hands.

In night-time stalking games the blind boys surpassed all others. A blindfolded Scout, or a blind Scout, hides at the top of a heavily overgrown slope. He has a flashlight. Another Scout tries to reach the summit undetected, crawling through the brush as quietly as possible and keeping himself hidden.

If the Scout with the flashlight hears him, and turns the light on him, he's out of the game.

Better Hearing

Every time they participated, he blind boys proved their superior hearing and their accurate sense of direction in aiming the flashlight. They did equally well in sneaking uphill Indian fashion.

No special privileges, no variance of camp routine were permitted for the benefit of the sightless Scouts. They mixed pancake batter (using measures) and baked the cakes on griddles, timing them by counting. They measured and boiled coffee.

Held accountable for their cabins, they made beds, swept and tidied their gear. They rated excellent in inspection every day, and each received a camper-hiker award at week's end.

They passed nearly all their second-class tests during the camp period. One, map reading, awaits completion of maps in Seattle. The Boy Scout Handbook, too, is being transcribed, and one Los Angeles troop has volunteered to provide special phonograph records, for the further edification of 627.

In knot-tying tests, a sighted scout tied the knot first. A blind scout then examined it carefully with his fingers, united it and tied it again. Although this was one of their more difficult tasks, the sightless boys displayed surprising skill.

again the vista was described in detail for the blind boys.

Blind Lead The Way

And, more often than not, the blind Scouts led their sighted companions on these walks in the dark.

"Ever since that first trip, one troop after another has been eager to take the blind boys along," said George W. van Tu-bergen, Scout executive for the district embracing Troop 627. "Never has a blind Scout been given the slightest hint that he is different in any way; the boys have been very careful about that. Politeness and tactful but never patronizing help has been given by the sighted boys on every occasion, and I think that after the first day or two they actually forget their companions are handicapped at all."

Parts of trail on an eight-mile hike were dangerous even to youths who could see. These spots were described to the blind boys, and they found their own way over most. But sighted Scouts stood close by, in case of a mis-step. Describing hazardous terrain, Bader pointed out, was good practice in observation for the boys with vision.

Once shown a trail, the blind boys could travel it again unaided. Each night after the campfire session the boys hiked to a hill-top affording an impressive view of city and valley lights. Here

CHICAGO IS SEEN AS WORLD VIDEO CENTER

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago will have a population of 30 million people and will be the world center of all television broadcasting in the year 2048, claim Chicago news experts and city planners. Their prediction was sealed in an atom-bomb-proof "time-capsule" buried here at the site of Chicago's first depot by the Chicago and North Western Railway.

Burial of the capsule—which contains more than 500 photographs of railroading as it is today—marked the end of the first century of railroading in Chicago.

One radio commentator said he believed the Chicago of 2048 would be "vastly cleaner than it is now." Electrification through nuclear energy will reduce the use of coal mainly to . . . the production of steel," he wrote. "With soot virtually eradicated, the city will move toward washed buildings, swept streets, better garbage removal and more efficient street lighting."

The secret of citicer will, by 2048, "be infinitely simple to comprehend," according to another forecaster, and the only real threat to human life will be the "incurable bends suffered when pressurized cabins fall in space flight."

DELAY DEATH SENTENCES

BERLIN (AP)—To hang a criminal in Berlin these days requires virtually five death sentences.

Under occupation rules the death sentence can be passed by a German court but it must have the affirmation of the four occupying powers. This was relatively simple up to last July, when the Russians walked out and torpedoed the four-power Allied Kommandatura.

But now the German authorities have to circularize the four Allied commandants separately. The three western commandants usually answer promptly but the Russian commander dandles and the executioner has to wait until he hears from him.

Education To Get Shot In Arm From Radio, Television

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON — Radio and television are about to give education a terrific shot in the arm. Educators say this shot will be given at the spot where it will do the most good—where it will help to teach the world's citizens how to get along with each other with less trouble. At the U. S. Office of Education here is the way educators are beginning to see the things to come:

1. Television will become the electronic blackboard of the future—even in the little red schoolhouse. The great events of the day will be brought to the classroom. A class of medical students may witness a delicate surgical operation performed miles away. A whole school may see the President address Congress.

2. There are great opportunities for presenting educational courses in the home. Such classes not only would supplement classroom work but would also offer classes in adult education and specialized courses for the person who has completed his schooling but wants to keep up with developments in his profession.

Educators emphasize the possibilities of smoothing human relationships, and relationships between nations, because programs may increase understanding. This is possible because they can reach many more people than classrooms can, and can reach them throughout their lives, keeping them abreast of events and issues.

There are two ways that radio and television instructions may be popularized. One is for the commercial stations to present educational programs. The other is for schools and colleges to operate their own stations. Already dozens of programs suitable for classroom and home work are offered by commercial radio broadcasters. And hundreds of schools use these programs.

In addition the Federal Communications Commission has just relaxed its rules for the operation of FM radio stations by schools and colleges. Office of Education officials say the important fact about this relaxation of rules is that it means more schools can afford their own FM radio stations.

One official estimates it is possible for a school to obtain a sending station for as little as $2,500 for the transmitting equipment and $2,500 for a studio. Facsimile also is carried on the FM channel. Facsimile will reproduce charts, a page of reading material, maps, photographs, musical scores and many other types of educational information in the home.

Twenty FM channels have been set aside by the FCC for the use of non-commercial educational stations. This means that as many as 10 educational stations can operate in every area, including large cities. Officials of the Office of Education say Station WHAS in Louisville, Ky., is making radio history by cooperating with the University of Louisville in broadcasting the first college course for credit ever offered by a standard broadcast station. Many other commercial stations offer some educational programs.

But only 34 standard stations are operated by educational institutions and only 29 non-commercial educational FM stations. Franklin Dunham of the radio section of the Office of Education says about 200 schools and colleges are planning to apply for FM licenses.

Iowa State College at Ames, Iowa, is the only college with a television station in operation, but at least five others are planning to have stations soon. Because of expense, television sending stations may be beyond the reach of many schools and colleges. But Dunham says it may be possible to set up cooperative centers where a group of educational institutions would establish radio and television stations and produce educational movies. These programs and pictures would be available to all the educational institutions in the area.

Tattooed Eyes Improve Outlook

By THOMAS BOYNTON

AP Newsfeatures

CHARLESTON, S. C.—Two young girls today like to look people straight in the eye and talk about tattooing. Both agree the art has changed their outlook on life.

One, a pretty 17-year-old vocational school student, with wavy brown hair and a generous smile, looks toward the future with new confidence. Her blue eyes are becoming near-perfect mates. Less than a year ago one was completely white, blinded in a childhood accident.

The other, a young Negro woman, also is filled with hope today. A blinded and whitened eye has been given a dark brown iris. It almost matches her other one. "People don't stare at me any more," she says.

Hope for many people who have lost half their vision is growing as doctors practice the age-old art of tattooing. The needlework also is being practiced to remove the appearance of scar tissues elsewhere on the body.

Although practitioners say eye-tattooing cannot be done in every case, they are satisfied tremendous strides will be made toward a more general application on this work.

The doctor who tattooed the eyes of these two young Charleston women says, "It makes their eyes appear quite normal, brightens up their facial expression and removes a cause of personal embarrassment. Most artificial eyes are so obviously artificial. Tattooed eyes move in unison with their sighted mates, and copying in color can be much more exact."

In telling his story he asked that his name not be used. He now is making a serious study and application of this new practice.

"My facilities are by no means elaborate. In fact, just myself and a nurse have been working on this project here," he said. "But after several trials, we are convinced any eye surgeon with a 'feel' for color can do the job."

He described the case of the student:

"Her parents brought her to me after they had visited many oculists and surgeons. They were told nothing could be done. The eye was to far gone for a corneal transplant in any attempt to restore vision. The eye was entirely white. We used blue for the iris, black for the pupil and a few flecks of gold in the blue for life-like assure." He said it takes more than one tattooing operation to give the eye a normal color.

Small discomfort—this disappearing within one or two days—is felt by the patient. As some have light sight in the damaged eye, the patients are placed in a darkened room after treatment to prevent any visual disturbance. Tattooing discomfort is less bothersome after the first treatment, said the specialist.

Duke University hospital research experts say tattooing may improve the sight in some partly damaged eyes—like those over which a growth may distort the entrance of light. This tattooing, they said in a report, has the effect of increasing light by obstructing some annoying rays that reach the seeing portion of the eye.

American Engineers To Have Greek Port Of Pirus Ready To Reopen Soon

By HELEN MAMAS
AP Newsfeatures

PIRAEUS—Piraeus, one of the world's best natural harbors, which German demolition squads partially destroyed four years ago, will be reopened to its normal traffic by next January.

Reconstruction of the port was undertaken by the American Mission for aid to Greece one year ago.

Cooper A. Puckett, area engineer of the U. S. Corps of Engineers, says: "Piraeus is the biggest reconstruction job undertaken by the Americans in Greece."

The Galveston, Texas, engineer who supervised construction work on the Mississippi river, the Cochran dam in New Mexico and the Santa Maria docks in the Azores reports the project is 75 per cent completed. He says the port will be totally reconstructed by the end of this year.

Piraeus has been one of the biggest harbors of the Mediterranean sea for nearly 2,500 years. The use of the harbor centuries ago made Athens a great sea power and won Greece fame as the "Mistress of the Mediterranean."

Because Piraeus became an important port for international trade as well as a strategic strong point in time of war, it was periodically subjected to destruction by attacking forces.

During World War II, the Balkan port was bombed by Italian, German, British and American aircraft. The greatest damage was inflicted, however, by demolition squads of the retreating German army in Oct. 1944.

After the liberation, the British built bridges over some of the craters, temporarily repairing part of the wall.

The burden of rectifying war damage, however, fell upon the American missions in August, 1947.

Last September American engineers began to remove the debris. Wreckage surveys were taken by six American divers. Storage buildings were erected. Temporary dock facilities were constructed for unloading construction equipment imported from the United States. Actual construction of the quay wall began in November. Soon after engineers began repair of the breakwater and two drydocks.

Piraeus reconstruction is being carried on with funds allocated by the American mission. It is estimated the total cost will approximate $5,200,000.

Dredging will open the harbor,

Helmeted guards patrol a bridge that runs over a number of mine pits in the St. Etienne sector of France. The idle mines, guarded by troops, symbolize the general situation throughout French coal fields, as government troops and guards took over mines from Communist-led strikers. Some 250,000 miners are involved.

Luncheon Feature At Cultural HD Meeting

The Cultural Home Demonstration held its regular meeting Friday with a covered dish luncheon at the home of Mrs. J. T. Richardson.

Mrs. Gladys Dixon of Canyon was a special guest of the club. The next meeting will be a called meeting at the home of Mrs. Grady Parsons on Dec. 9, when club members will be shown how to make shell pin gifts.

Members present were Mrs. R. N. Cooke, Mrs. Earl DeHart, Mrs. R. C. Childers, Mrs. Bill Hagette, Mrs. Fred Wolfington, Mrs. Pat Robinson, Mrs. Grady Parsons, Mrs. J. T. Richardson and Mrs. C. S. Barclay.

NEW TUNNEL IN GOTHAM GETS LONG TILE STRIP

NEW YORK (AP)—New York's new $30,000,000 Brooklyn-Battery tunnel is getting the longest tile lining ever installed in the United States.

Seventeen teams of tile setters are already working on the ceilings of the two tubes. Their job alone will require about six months, according to engineers of the Tri-Borough Bridge and Tunnel Authority, under whose direction the tunnel is being built. Another six months will be needed to give the tunnel walls their tile finish.

When completed, the tunnel's lining will extend 9,117 feet, or 560 feet longer than the tile work on the Holland tunnel, now longest in this country. The tile, a total of 780,000 square feet, or enough for 6,500 average size bathrooms, is being installed to simplify cleaning and to diffuse light for motorists, according to engineers. Scheduled for completion in 1950, the tunnel will accommodate 16,000 cars a year.

Golden Raisin Crumb Scones
Beverage

Trouble with leftover bread in your family? You'll never waste it if you make it into crumbs. Dry it thoroughly in a slow oven and then let the youngsters put it through the food chopper (using the fine knife) and grind it into crumbs. Use the crumbs as a coating for fried dishes or put them into a good tasting hot bread as the following:

GOLDEN RAISIN CRUMB SCONES

Ingredients: 3/4 cup light raisins, 1 cup sifted enriched all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/4 cup shortening, 1 cup fine dry bread crumbs, 1 egg, 1/2 cup milk, extra sugar for topping.

Method: Rinse raisins and drain. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, sugar. Cut in shortening with pastry blender, add crumbs and raisins and mix well. Beat egg until pale colored and thick, add milk and stir to combine. Add to dry ingredients and stir together with fork. Turn out one-third of dough at a time onto prepared pastry cloth and roll or pat into a circle (with floured hands or stockinet roller), about 4 inches in diameter. Cut in quarters. Sprinkle tops of wedges lightly with sugar and place on greased baking sheet. Bake in hot (450F) oven about 12 to 15 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes 12 scones.

Household Equipment Picture Is Brighter

picture for household equipment is a little brighter for 1949 than it has been for the past several years.

That's the story Mrs. Bernice Claytor, extension home management specialist of Texas A&M College, brought back from the Outlook Conference in Washington, D. C.

In general, the supply of electrical household equipment seems ample. While there may be shortages in some localities, the supply of much equipment has been sufficient to make good progress in filling the backlog of demand.

"Prices continue to increase," Mrs. Claytor says, "but the rate of increase is slower. The demand for household equipment is greater since the end of the war than ever before, and that demand is expected to keep prices high for some time."

Rural power systems are expected to expand at the fastest rate in history in 1949, and this will mean a great increase in demand for electrical equipment, she says.

Inactive Texas National Guard Re-established

The Inactive National Guard, quiescent since before the war, has been re-established by the National Guard Bureau to provide a back-log of trained Guard personnel immediately available in time of emergency.

It provides for certain classes of officers and enlisted men who had previous active Federal military service but who are now in the active National Guard, according to National Guard Regulations no. 30 just issued.

Officers may be administratively transferred to the Inactive National Guard who are now on, or later enter, extended active duty, those who were in Federal service but are required to remain in a reserve status for the duration and six months, and those who are unable to perform full duty because of temporary change of address or business reasons. Transfer will insure retention of Federal recognition.

Regulations for enlisted personnel are the same as for officers, except as to term of enlistment. Men will be enlisted for one term of three years and will be transferred to active service as vacancies occur. They will be transferred from the active to the inactive Guard only for the unexpired period of their current enlistment.

All personnel will be required to meet the same professional and physical fitness and age-in-grade limitations as the active Guard, except that those who become over-age-in-grade but hold a certificate of eligibility for a higher grade may be placed in the inactive Guard until a vacancy occurs.

Officers will not be eligible for armory drill, but may attend army service schools when necessary to promotion, and summer field training when funds are available.

SEEK NYLON FROM PEAT

WARSAW (AP)—Polish chemical engineers claim they have found a way to make nylon stockings from peat. Two chemists employed in the coal industry institute at Blakupice are working on a method of extracting phenol from peat.

The semi-official newspaper, "Racospolita" said "phenol is an essential ingredient in the production of nylon. So far, phenol was obtained from hard coal but peat proved a much better raw material, having three times more phenol than hard coal."

To prepare a cheese and rice dish for a luncheon, add 2 cups of cooked rice to two cups of white sauce that has had a cup of grated yellow cheese melted in it. Garnish with finely chopped parsley.

Texas 4-H'ers Win Chicago Trips

Ann Peterson, Wayne White, Betty Blackerby, Reuben Rother

SUPERIOR records of achievement in National 4-H Better Methods, Canning, Clothing and Garden programs have won 1948 state championship honors for four Texas club members. Each received an all-expense trip to the 27th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 25 to Dec. 1. The winners, who were selected by the state club office, and brief outlines of their records follow:

Getting that well-known "new-look" was little trouble for Ann Peterson, 17, of Devine, who selected, sewed, made over or mended 26 garments for herself and other members of the family during three years of 4-H club work. In addition to completing five 4-H projects, of which three were in clothing, Ann served as president and leader. She gave a talk at a community meeting and wrote three stories about 4-H tours, camps or special events. Ann has done some interesting things with textile paints. A peasant blouse which was plain white she painted attractive Mexican girl and boy flower vendors around the neckline. She painted bath towels with a design taken from the bathroom wall paper, painted initial A on the cuffs of socks and a pillow top with Mexican design, which was done in six colors. Named State winner in the 1948 National 4-H Clothing Achievement program, she was awarded an educational trip to the Chicago Club Congress provided by Spoon Cotton Educational Bureau.

Wayne White, 17, of Coahoma, has applied many better feeding and housing methods in his livestock activities because of skill achieved through the National 4-H Better Methods Electric program. Wayne has been named State winner in the program in recognition of the many better methods he has developed for doing farm tasks. He has given demonstrations on trimming calves feet.

All of these activities are conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agriculture College and USDA cooperating.

Cotton Farmers' Plans For Next Year Are Mapped

COLLEGE STATION—Cotton planting time is still several months off. But Texas cotton farmers already have a good idea as to what they intend to do about cotton next year, says Fred Elliott, extension cotton work specialist of Texas A&M College. This year's three and a quarter million bale crop that was grown on nearly nine million acres will probably be increased in 1949, says Elliott. This is especially true of the irrigated areas around El Paso, Pecos, Fort Stockton, the Lower Rio Grande Valley and in the High Plains. On August 1 of this year, the take that from the 15 million bale crop this year, and you get two million bales to add to the carryover. And come August 1, 1949, the carryover will have built up to five million bales. Price supports will run about the same—at not less than 90 per cent of parity. This parity price is the product of 124 cents (the 1910-1914 cotton price average) and the August 1949 index of prices paid. This includes the tax and interest. If this index were to drop as much as 5 per cent—which seems unlikely—the parity price of cotton would be 29.54 cents per pound, says Elliott. And the loan rate of 26.50 cents per pound on middling seven-eighths inch cotton in the average location.

District Rotary Governor Plans Hereford Visit

The Rotary Club of Hereford will welcome Dr. Ira E. Woods, Governor of the 127th District of Rotary International, which includes 35 Rotary Clubs in Northwest Texas. Dr. Woods will visit the Rotary Club on Dec. 2 at 7:30 p. m. to advise and assist President Faust Collier, Secretary Dick Barnard and other officers of the club on matters pertaining to Club administration and Rotary service activities. He is one of the 180 district governors of Rotary International who are supervising the activities of some 6,500 Rotary Clubs which have a membership of 315,000 business and professional executives in 80 countries and geographical regions throughout the world.

THESE WOMEN

To Bridge Washday Blues Give A Party Around Tubing Of Clothes

By CYNTHIA LOWERY AP Newsfeatures Writer CARPING and criticizing is hardly in tune with the Yuletide spirit. But, please, let's not toy too much with the fine feminine institution called the luncheon-bridge.

of us know it, is a pleasant, innocuous way to put on weight and spend an afternoon. A group of four, eight or other multiples of four foregather at the home of the hostess—who usually is too busy to play—and then they eat a very fancy meal. This is a good mental exercise, because all guests count calories, course by course. Then they settle down at card tables, with packs of cards in front of them and concentrate, first, on conversation and secondly, on a popular game called bridge.

Very good. But then those moulders of public opinion, the women's magazines, go and decide that: Something Must Be Done to make luncheon bridges different.

And if you think I'm making this up, I'll tell you exactly what a popular monthly magazine is advising currently for a luncheon bridge this month—and with colored illustrations. Give a Monday luncheon bridge, the article advises. What's Monday? Washday, of course, and so build your party around the old-fashioned business of tubing clothes.

Well, now cleanliness and clothes pins form the important part of the luncheon table decor. And the food! Bread isn't just old-fashioned slices. You sculpture it into the shape of a washboard—and put a little hunk of colored gum drops on it to look like soap. Another item—this is the most dramatic—is dessert. Cup cakes hollowed out to look like wash tubs, and filled with such items as whipped cream (suds) and gelatin (colored clothes) and another little piece of gum drop for more soap.

All this wouldn't be too bad. One hopes, of course, the entire neighborhood doesn't subscribe to the magazine and immediately plunge into a heady series of Monday-Wednesday-luncheon bridges.

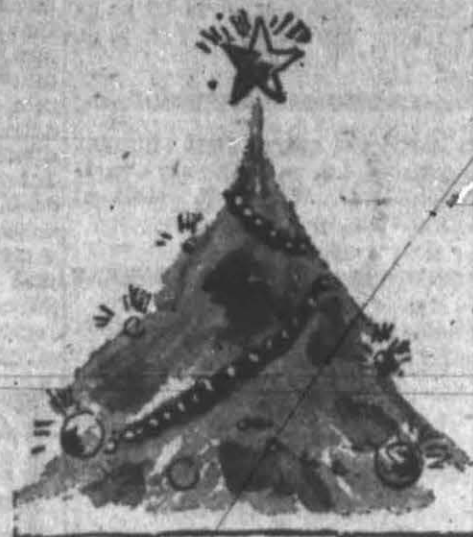

all with the same menu. Might take the edge off of it. But the crime perpetrated is what they advise doing to a fine, sturdy—and interesting—game called contract bridge. The magazine people want to improve even that.

For instance, if you're vulnerable, you have to stop calling clubs clubs. You are supposed to call them "suds," like "I bid two suds." If you forget, you must pay a penalty, dropping a small coin in a box, saying, "Better luck, next time." That isn't bad enough; instead of saying you double somebody, you are instructed to say, "I dazzle," or "redazzle."

As a woman who can play conversational bridge with the best of small-talkers, I wish to decry this sort of thing. All women bridge players must also play bridge from time to time with their men folks. And men traditionally take a dim view of card-playing by women. Just exactly what is going to happen when, in a crucial situation, the little woman brightly proclaims: "I don't care if my partner is stubborn, I bid six suds."

Murder, that's what it will be, murder. The future of the American home is at stake on this issue. Let's go back to chicken patty and peas. And let's stick to a game of bridge in which conversation about clothes and a missing friend occupies the center of attention. Banish cuteness from the card-table!
