

Saturday Sun Turns Sleet To Slush

Mercury Drops To Five Degrees In Frigid Blast

By DUDLEY LYNCH
News Editor

The sun beamed down warmly on Hereford Saturday, quickly pushing temperatures above the freezing mark, the first time in three days, and turning streets and sidewalk surfaces to the consistency of country butter.

Navigation — by necessity — was slow, either afoot or by vehicle. Up until 6 p.m. Friday, the whole town would have welcomed the rise in the mercury.

But it was then that the area's weather — which since early Wednesday night had been of a tenacious "ice box" but dry variety — changed faces and violently so: The swift, stinging sleet and freezing rain pounded downward with such force that at times it sounded, and felt, like small hail.

Within an hour, the town was coated with a substantial layer of frozen pellets.

Then it stopped. Police officers reported only one traffic mishap during the night and Saturday morning — and it was not weather-related. They indicated the slippery conditions were apparently severe enough that drivers realized extreme caution was required.

Down To Five Degrees
Until the arrival from the west of the frozen moisture Friday night, the effects of winter's full-force juggernaut appeared to be only skin deep despite the stubborn three-day old, frigid clamp that sent temperatures as low as 5 degrees.

Despite the unpleasantness, agricultural functions had continued on a limited basis. Only the harvesting of sugar beets — which can be extremely susceptible to freezing if caught unprotected out of the ground — was greatly curtailed.

The Holly Sugar Corp. plant west of town shut its gates Thursday to incoming beets. They indicated they would work one shift Monday.

Cotton stripping, which is well along the road to completion, struggled along in the cutting winds.

Had 65-Degree High
The wintry onslaught slipped into town about church time Wednesday night and quickly brought a halt to a balmy, almost Indian summer day in which the maximum mercury reading was 62 degrees.

Rapidly dropping the temperature, the Arctic blast — which swept off the Northern Plains where it produced mercury readings in the minus-50-degree range — had Hereford air down to the 5-degree-mark by early morning.

Early shoppers and downtown business people had occasion to watch the First National Bank clock-temperature sign drop that last cold, cold degree about 8:30 a.m.

About the same time, engineers at the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. were opening valves to compensate for a marked upsurge.

THE LOW — The First National Bank's clock-temperature sign records the 5-degree low reached in Hereford during the current cold spell. It came about 8:30 a.m. Thursday.

Paying Tax Has Merit, Some Find

City Manager Dudley Bayne says the news that the city will file suit against delinquent taxpayers — some of whom are as much as 12 years behind — in itself has produced results.

The decision to press collection was made at a city commission meeting on Nov. 16, and the delinquent rolls were turned over to the law firm of Witherspoon, Aikin, Thomas & Langley for possible litigation.

Hard To Tell
Henry Benson, city tax assessor-collector, said it would be impossible to tell whether the threat of being sued has produced many lagging taxpayers into action. But he said he has collected $2,990 in delinquent taxes since Nov. 1.

"Some of these would have been paid anyway because they were selling the property and had to pay the taxes to clear title," he said.

Is Near $16,000
Bayne said the city's delinquent tax rolls would come near totaling $16,000 than the $10,000 announced by Bayne earlier. The smaller figure was the total on a compilation which

Postmaster In 'Mail Now' Plea

"It's too late to mail early," Postmaster Nolan Grady said Saturday.

The biggest mail explosion in history is upon us and we need the cooperation of everyone to make sure that the holiday mail is all delivered before Christmas," the Hereford postmaster said.

Grady suggested the use of air mail and special delivery to guarantee pre-Christmas delivery, especially for out-of-town mail.

In all instances, the use of ZIP Codes will be helpful, he said.

Grady said all postal operations will be on a holiday schedule Christmas Day. Only special delivery mail will be delivered on December 25.

"It now appears that we passed the peak for outgoing mail on Thursday," he said. "However, there still is a small mountain of holiday mail which must be delivered."

Inside

Don't know about you, but I was puffing the finishing touches on a weather story when that bizarre sleet storm hit Friday. Should have known better. You don't second guess the weather — not Texas Panhandle weather. Even the weather bureau, you know, is right only about 50 per cent of the time.

Inside today you'll find an attractive picture page on Christmas lighting on the second section's cover page. Editorials are on page 6 of that section. Information of interest and importance to county farmers carries over from the front page to page 2. A basketball story and pictures are on page 5.

Reveal Beet Totals

Reveal Beet Totals

Holly Sugar Corp. will contract for between 29,500 and 30,000 acres of sugar beets in 1965 for its Merrill E. Shoup plant here, it was revealed Friday.

In making the announcement, Holly officials and the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office also outlined formulas which will be used to determine distribution of the beet acreage.

ASCS To Handle
The method of distribution was presented to company officials, county ASCS personnel and growers' representatives Wednesday night by W. M. Holt of the state ASCS office.

"All sugar beet acreage next year will be handled through the ASCS," explained Wes Fisher, assistant manager of the Hereford district of Holly.

"Holly's share will be 5,118.1 accredited acres plus the reserved acreage of 22,230 acres. This is for Texas. In New Mexico, we have 2,500 acres from the national reserve and possibly some from accredited history."

Also discussed here Wednesday night was the 1,216.9 acres of accredited history which will be contracted by Great Western Sugar Co. in the Plainview area.

Agree On Formulas
Participants in the meeting at the county ASCS office agreed to use two formulas in computing a farmer's acreage "allotment" for 1965. The higher acreage figure of the two possibilities will be used. (Other adjustments for various reasons may be allowed.)

As outlined by Fisher, the first formula will arrive at a total by taking a simple three-year average of the grower's acreage (1962-64). The second formula will produce a result by taking 30 per cent of the 1962-1963 acreage planted by a farmer and adding to it 70 per cent of his 1964 farm history. There can be some increase by adding reserve acreage to that formula, however.

This method of determination, will result in decreased acreage in some instances.

"Any acreage planted in 1964 by new growers and in excess of 75 acres will be reduced by about 30 per cent," said Fisher.

Start On Jan. 4
Applications will be taken starting about Jan. 4 at any county ASCS office. The deadline on the sign-up, which must be undertaken by both old and new growers, will be Jan. 29. After data has been compiled by the ASCS, applications will be forwarded to Holly officials.

Imbued With A Holiday Mood

The date pointed out by Barbara Langley — who, with her friend, Lynn Hendrick, has been watching the calendar with an anxious eye — is Dec. 22 and it arrives Tuesday. At the stroke of 2:30 p.m., the Hereford school system's 3,992 students, from first grade up, will be dismissed to begin the school year's longest holiday — the Christmas and New Year's recess. It lasts this year for 12 days, ending on Jan. 4. Barbara, a senior at Hereford High School, is a picturesque blonde and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Langley, 502 Star. Jury Returns 10 Indictments Here

Ten indictments, involving 12 persons, were returned Thursday by a 60th Judicial District grand jury which met in a lengthy, day-long session.

Following the return of the true bills, Dist. Judge Harry Schultz heard one guilty plea. Rachel Renel Clayton, 34, 323

Double Indictment
Minnie Pearl Johnson, 22, General Delivery, Ninervech, Tex., was charged with Miss Clayton on the same indictment.

Gilbert Estrada, 27, Jack Trailer Courts, and Robson Reyna, 17, 230 E. Third, were indicted for the burglary of the Lee Tire Company in Hereford.

The burglary occurred Oct. 11 of this year. Ned Coffee, 23, Rt. 3, River Road, Amarillo, was indicted on a count of felony theft concerning the theft of some truck tires from a Dawn farmer in October of this year.

Various Charges
Johnny Passmore, 22, Cottonwood Drive, Amarillo, was also indicted along with Coffee on a charge of receiving stolen property.

Rodrigo Fuentes, 39, Eagle Pass, was indicted on a charge of child desertion. This was the second time Fuentes had been charged with child desertion, making the offense felony.

City Commission To Hear Budget Report Monday

City commissioners will meet for a regular session at 7:30 p.m. Monday to hear the 1965 budget report from city manager Dudley Bayne and to discuss bookkeeping procedures, paving and other topics.

City Manager Bayne is expected to give a favorable report on the status of the city's finances for this year and on the prospects for 1965.

Paving Problem
A possible change in bookkeeping procedures is on the agenda. A proposal IBM computing facility for Hereford may offer the city some advantageous innovations in water and tax billing.

Proposed paving on Ave. H between 13th and 15th streets poses some problems for the commission. One side of the street is outside the city limits, and property owners — being exempt from the building code — have constructed residences too close to the property line.

SOME TICKETS WRITTEN — BUT NOT MANY
Police Chief Marshall Fudgett said it's actually too early to tell but indications are that the "no left turn" signs on Main St. at Third and Fourth Streets will improve traffic flow.

"I think it is going to work out all right," the chief said. Corporation Court Judge Jim Neill said about a half dozen traffic tickets were issued on the first day the signs were in effect. The citations were dismissed by Neill after drivers were cautioned of the new rules.

The signs went into effect on Dec. 11.

Top Crop Records Considerable Drop

Agricultural income for Deaf Smith County farmers this year appears heading toward the 1963 peak of about $40 million, a survey indicated last week.

It may be a few dollars under that figure, however.

The over-all farm picture — viewed with only three sizable crops still in the harvesting stages — carries an optimistic aura with it despite a production decline, and corresponding income drop, in the county's No. 1 money crop: the ubiquitous grain sorghum.

In drawing the carrots-to-wool agricultural amalgam together last week, ASCS office manager Faust Collier — who prepared a comprehensive chart for the Hereford Brand — estimated that the Deaf Smith county farmers' income will be $39,622,050.73.

About $60,000 Lower
This, of course, is an estimation and will be until late in 1965 when the total picture of crop income, farm subsidy payments, soil bank and agricultural conservation program is complete.

The estimate of 1964 total farm income is about a half million dollars under the 1963 sum of $40,234,972.56.

Responsible for the biggest decline was the demise of grain sorghum production — a figure which plunged from a total yield of 9,381,350 cwt. last year to an estimated 5,917,800 cwt. for 1964.

Also affecting this year's sorghum income was a reduction in acreage from more than 134,000 acres to 118,256 acres.

Agrees With Picture
Grainman Bert Boomer of the Pitman Grain Co. concurred in the apparent dip in sorghum production and income.

"We have had about a 20 and 25 per cent drop in yield in production in the county," he said Saturday. "There are several factors involved. One is that we had more acres put into reserve and more acres were put into sugar beets. And the dry weather hurt."

Despite the slippage, Boomer opined that "the last two years are two of the better years in production."

Taking up the slack in the over-all farm panorama was the huge leap taken by sugar beets the year before.

FIRST 'WAR' IN OVER YEAR
Gasoline Prices Drop At Hereford Stations

The first gasoline price war for Hereford in what major oil company distributors say is about 1 1/2 years affected most — if not all — of the city's service station outlets last week.

By weekend, the price of regular gasoline had dropped to 23.9 cents and premium to 27.9 cents per gallon.

The first drop in gasoline price postings came early in the week of Dec. 7, distributors said. Most of the major companies didn't follow suit until early or in the middle of last week.

Started By Independent?
Blame for the "gas war" was placed on an independent station which made the move precipitating the wholesale lashing of prices.

R. J. Richardson, distributor for Texaco, said prices dropped four cents per gallon last Monday and another three cents on Tuesday.

"This is only the second price war since I've been here," Richardson said.

Another major distributor said that company's stations made their price drop on Wednesday.

Hard To Blame
Gasoline wars are common in larger cities. Lubbock, for instance, may have more months out of the year when gasoline prices are below normal than months when they aren't. The prolonged price "drought" has not profits there drastically, said Richardson.

The length of a gas war is anybody's guess. "One man can bring them on," said a Hereford distributor. But it generally takes the efforts of several to bring a war.

GROW WITH TOWN'S POPULATION

Medical Facilities In 'Boom'

By LARRY FUHRMANN
Staff Writer

Along with the population surge, Hereford has seen a sizable growth in its medical facilities lately.

A major part of Deaf Smith County Hospital's plant is new. Another major facility opened its doors for the first time this autumn — Westgate, the nursing unit at King's Manor.

Dr. Lena Edwards has seen her labor camp hospital start from scratch, and now values her medical institution at $100,000.

Residents have seen Deaf Smith County Hospital grow until it covers most of the land allotted to it by the county. Several major additions have been made since 1957.

Dates To 1954
History of the hospital dates back to before 1924 — when the county's hospital was housed in what is now the Savoy Hotel. The late Mrs. Nettie Price Slaton was the first hospital administrator.

The original two-story building of the new hospital was erected in 1924. The only other addition prior to 1957 was the surgical addition, built in 1948.

Donations from the general public and the Jim Hill Estate paid for the Children's Wing, on the southwest corner of the hospital. This major addition was completed in 1957. The nurses' home was also built that year.

New offices and a lobby were built in 1962, with a new medical and surgical wing in 1964 completing present plans for the hospital's growth. Put all the additions together, along with the original building and all the equipment, and the facility is valued at $1,100,000.

"We feel like this is going to hold us several years — but it depends also on how fast the in the amount of gas being consumed in the city. "It was the biggest demand of the season," said Dale Young of the company staff.

Drop Didn't Come

He said the largest jump in gas usage came between 6 and 9 a.m. when townspeople emerged from under the covers to be greeted with the full impact of the icy blast.

On that cold Thursday, the temperature rose only to 18 degrees at 2:30 p.m.

The Amarillo Weather Bureau predicted that the mercury would plunge into the sub-zero regions Friday morning but the anticipated drop didn't come. Hereford's low was reached at 1:45 a.m. when the thermometers hit 7 degrees. By daybreak, the mercury was up to 11 degrees.

LOAN LEVELS DOWN

Provisions Of '65 Feed Grain Plan Released

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced major provisions of the voluntary 1965 feed grain program, including the decision to keep total price support levels for cooperative farmers the same as in 1964.

In information released by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office here, the USDA revealed that, within total price support rates, loan levels were decreased with corresponding increase in payment rates. Diversion payment rates will be the same as for 1964.

Department officials said the 1965 program is designed to maintain participants' incomes at least as high as current levels, or about one billion dollars a year higher than with previous feed grain programs.

Must Offset Costs
Changes within the total price support rate were made to en-

The 1965 feed grain program support loan and payments national average are as follows:

	Loan Rate	Support Payment	Total Support
Corn (per bu.)	$.65	$.10	$.75
Barley (per bu.)	.80	.14	.94
Grain Sorghum (per cwt.)	1.85	.23	2.08
Estimated rates for Deaf Smith County:
Corn (per bu.)	1.15	.20	1.35
Barley (per bu.)	.82	.16	.98
Grain Sorghum (per cwt.)	1.63	.23	1.86

The greater reduction in the grain sorghum loan rate, which is offset by a higher payment rate, is needed to bring grain sorghum price-support loan values more in line with market prices of recent years.

Program participants, since they help cut government costs by diverting acreage to conserving use and thus reducing production, not only can get price support loan and purchases, but also price support payments, and courage greater participation in the program by farmers. Department officials noted success of program depends on the level of participation being sufficiently high to offset the program costs by reduction in the public investment in government feed grain inventories.

For 1965 program, a larger proportion of the price support will be in payment form with some reduction in average loan rate for all three feed grains.

The acreage substitution feature for wheat and feed grain acreage which is new to program gives producers a more flexible range of cropping opportunities and income possibilities.

Participation in both the wheat and feed grain programs will bring more returns than non-participation, USDA officials said.

Loan Rate	Support Payment	Total Support
$.65	$.10	$.75

acreage diversion payments, officials said.
Signup for feed grains and for spring wheat will be from February 8 through March 26. During the signup period, winter wheat producers who signed up in the wheat program last fall may change their intentions, the USDA said.

City officials have indicated letters will be written to the delinquents outlining in possible litigation. If that is not effective, individual suits will be filed. "It will be just a matter of time as to the course and who we file on," said Bayne.

a result of the opening of the Holly Sugar Corp. mill west of Hereford.

About 80% Complete
Last year, only 1,064 acres of beets were grown in this county. With the advent of the new Merrill E. Shoup plant, acreage expanded to 11,994 acres and income pushed from a paltry figure of $3,730,038.05.

County agent Justin McBride said sugar harvest in the county is about 80 per cent complete.

"The carrot harvest is in the wind-up stages," he said. "It will probably run through the Christmas season or into the first of the year. We are stripping cotton and the harvest is probably 65 per cent complete."

Both cotton and cattle also registered declines — if the estimations are borne out. A drop of about 125 pounds per acre in yield is largely the basis for the estimated drop in cotton income. There was a small decline in acreage, too, however, but only about 200 acres.

The income from cotton for 1964 is pegged at $1,703,683, a considerable drop from last year's $2,471,213.25.

Income from cattle is estimated at $5,760,000 on an extensive plunge from the $7,960,000 figure of 1963.

Hereford Police Department and Hereford Volunteer Fire Department were testing the range of their two-way radio units this week after their new antenna was installed on top of Hereford Grain Corporation's elevator on U. S. Hwy. 60.

Thus, local police officers will seldom be outrun in future chases and officers will have the comfort they will always be in touch with the base station and be able to receive help in the event such a situation arises.

community grows and the number of doctors we must accommodate," Seigler explained.

Is Accredited

The 70-bed hospital is classified as a short term general hospital, and is one of the few accredited hospitals of its size in the Panhandle area, Seigler said.

"We are fortunate in the respect that we always have had an abundant local supply to fulfill nurses' roles and other jobs in the hospital," Seigler said.

Seigler attributed the abundance of labor to the fact that many new families have come to Hereford during the past three years. He reported that many wives of men in new businesses in Hereford worked at the hospital. Forty-two nurses are employed at the hospital, and there is a total of 54 employees.

Growth of Hereford and of its medical facilities are realized in the fact that during the first 11 months of 1963, Deaf Smith County Hospital served 2,875 patients. The figures for the first 11 months of this year show 3,480 patients — an increase of over 20 per cent.

Cites 'Bad' Insurance

Third-party payers represent approximately 60 per cent of the hospital's income, Seigler said "quite a bit" of questionable insurance had been sold in Hereford by out-of-town salesmen, especially to elderly persons. "I wish people would contact us before they buy insurance," Seigler commented.

"There have been too many elderly people 'victimized' here," although it is owned by the county, Deaf Smith County Hospital is self-sustaining, other than the capital outlay, Seigler reported.

A board of managers governs the hospital, with the six members of the board serving rotating terms. Members are appointed by the county commissioners' court. Present members are Carl Perrin, J. T. Gilbreath Jr., Ed Loerwald, Wayne Thomas, Dr. A. T. Mims and Ira Scott.

"A doctor does not have to be a part of a certain group to practice her in the hospital. We are an 'open staff' — any qualified doctor can practice here," Seigler pointed out.

Emergency room treatment is becoming a headache to many hospitals across the United States, Seigler reports that the local hospital also has seen increased emergency room service in the past two years. "It's a problem; however, we recognize it and staff for it," he said.

The local hospital runs up $350,000 cash expense is a year's time. Of this, 60 per cent goes toward payroll, with the rest for drugs and supplies. Seigler said it cost $27.65 per patient per day to meet expenses. The state

Pete Progress

speaking for the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce

By BILL THOMPSON
Chamber Manager

"Merry Christmas! Merry Christmas!" Pete had the spirit bubbling out of him. I wondered what the trigger had been that brought on such an obvious feeling of the holiday season. But Pete never leaves one wondering long.

"The Christmas decorations fund drive made its goal again this year and without even the necessity of a drive. The committee set a goal of $2,500 again this year, a goal made necessary each year in order to install the street Christmas decorations, purchase replacement and additional decorations, provide candy for Santa to distribute to the children and to build a reserve for replacements.

"As in past years, a letter of request was sent to every business place in Hereford along with what we like to call a 'courtesy statement' — a courtesy statement because it is not a demand for payment but simply a statement for the records of the contributor. This came about at the request of so many business people who, at this busy time of the year, just didn't have time to form a committee to go out and collect the money from their fellow business men.

'Vote of Thanks'

"I believe that the community owes the business and professional people a vote of thanks for making Hereford's beautiful decorations possible. Did you ever wonder why this should be the responsibility of the business men? I certainly have. Certainly it does not put any more sales in any retailer's cash register and probably has very little effect on business at all. It is, though, a matter of civic pride and community spirit. It is a case, like so many other things, of: if the business men did not support the project, who would?"

"And again this year a big vote of thanks goes to the Junior Chamber of Commerce for their continued interest in the Christmas decoration program. Those young men get out in all kinds of weather not only to hang the decorations but to see to it that they are lighted and maintained, then they have the big job of taking them down and storing them away. If the Christmas decorations fund had to pay for the man hours spent on this project there would be no money left to buy decorations or candy. And thanks also go to Southwestern Public Service Co. for the use of their equipment and to Ted Higgins and his crew that made the electrical connections, and to the Deaf Smith County Electric Coop for the use of their 'cherry picker', the hydraulic lift truck that made the job so much easier this year.

Holiday Good Wishes

"And Santa, too, deserves a special vote of thanks. C. R. Gandy has been our Santa Claus for a number of years and really looks and lives the part. Every youngster in the area should know his cheery smile and voice by now and be the proud possessor of one of his special pre-Christmas gifts of candy. If not they can still visit him this next week as he makes his visits in the stores.

"And so Merry Christmas to all and a special thanks to all who have made it possible for this and every Christmas to be such a beautiful time of the year in Hereford." And Merry Christmas to you, too, Pete.

Herd Loses Hard Battle To Amarillo Friday Evening

The Hereford Whitefaces were downed by the undefeated Sandies of Amarillo High School in a hard fought, foul-fested battle in Whiteface Gymnasium Friday evening, 75-55.

The Sandies, who have won nine straight this season, could not manage too large a lead until the beginning of the second half, when they scored 23 points in the third quarter, compared with the Herd's nine points.

Robert Strange led the scoring for the Herd as he racked up 19 points, which included six field goals and seven free throws. Strange had fallen off his near 17.3 point per game average in the past two games, but came back to his former style in Friday's game.

Roger Owen continued his high scoring for the Herd as he got 13 points in the game. Roger had four field goals and five free throws.

Milkey Vaclav hit 23 points for the Sandies to lead their scoring. The 6-5 foot Amarillo ace had 10 field goals and three free throws. Jeff Harp had 12 points for the Sandies as he had four field goals and four free throws.

Steve Hodges chalked up eight for the Herd, while Gene Duvall had six points. Other scorers were Greg Richards with four, Robert Lemons with three and Kenny Justice with two.

The Sandies led 14-11 at the end of the first quarter and had only a 33-29 lead at the end of the first half.

The Sandies came out very far in the third and fourth quarters to mount a 20 point lead at the end of the game. The score at the end of the third quarter was 56-36.

Hereford made 19 of the 28 free throw attempts to beat the Sandies in that department as they racked up only 17 of their 27 for the game.

The Sandies had 29 field goals and Hereford had 18. Amarillo was charged with 19 fouls and Hereford was charged with 20.

Hereford Junior Varsity was also dropped by the Amarillo Junior varsity in a game played before the high school game, 53-44.

Larry Champ continued to lead the scoring for the junior varsity as he racked up 11 points. Champ has led the junior varsity in scoring in almost every game this year.

Oscar Holmes and Dennis Suter each had six points in the game.

Lynn Wells led the scoring for the Amarillo junior varsity as he racked up 16 points, including seven field goals and two free throws. Fred Johnson, Bruce Belcher and Bob Fauske all had six points for the Sandies.

Donnie Welty and Billy Frank hit four points each while Mike Davis and Randy Tooley had three each. Billy Watts and Dale Smith had two each and Larry Noland had one.

The Herd's next game will be in the Caprock Tournament in Lubbock, Dec. 28-30. The Herd is now 4-5 for the season.

Combined Event Slated Monday By Band, Choirs

More than 300 high school students will be involved in a combined band-choir concert at 7:30 p.m. Monday in a cooperative attempt to raise funds for a May trip by the choir to a Corpus Christi music festival.

Admission to the program in the high school auditorium will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Three girls choirs, two mixed choirs and the band will participate in a Christmas theme, comprised of many of the old familiar holiday tunes and some not so well known.

The band and the choir will perform several numbers together at the program's end, most of which will be the well-known, traditional Christmas melodies.

The proceeds will help send the choir to the Duccaneer Music Festival. The band also will attend the South Texas event, but its funds already have been approved by the school. "The band is lending a helping hand to the choir," said band director Ben Gollison.

Director of choirs is Richard Jackson.

RESULTS OF 'OPERATION PEP'

No Conclusion Has Been Made On Suggested Sunday Damper

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of articles by Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Manager Bill Thompson explaining the results of "Operation PEP" — a chamber-sponsored civic improvement project started several months ago.

By BILL THOMPSON
Chamber Manager

The Rev. B. L. Davis, pastor of the First Baptist Church, said, "I have a deep conviction at this point that whatever we do in this community if we fail spiritually, then we have failed. I would suggest that in all we do, that we keep in mind that Sunday is the Lord's Day. I would like for us to recognize that and guard against having activities on the Lord's Day if possible.

"We try, in our church, to limit the Lord's Day to film. I hope we will keep in mind that we have a spiritual program in our churches and that we are interested vitally in all other things that go on. As we plan I hope that we will refrain from promotion of activities on the Lord's Day. This will be appreciated by the ministers as we try to make our community the best we possibly can."

No Conclusion Yet

This question has been debated without conclusion in meetings of retailers and of the Chamber and Operation PEP Directors meetings. The conclusion of all groups has been simply that this is a matter for each individual to decide in his own conscience, that the business is no more to be blamed for staying open on Sunday than is that customer who trades on Sunday.

Without a clear-cut and enforceable law the only solution is an attempt at securing voluntary compliance and support from the public. There does not even seem to be complete agreement among the church leaders that there is a clear religious-moral issue involved. There has been a greater consciousness of the problem on the part of some organizations in planning events of community interest.

Solution Found

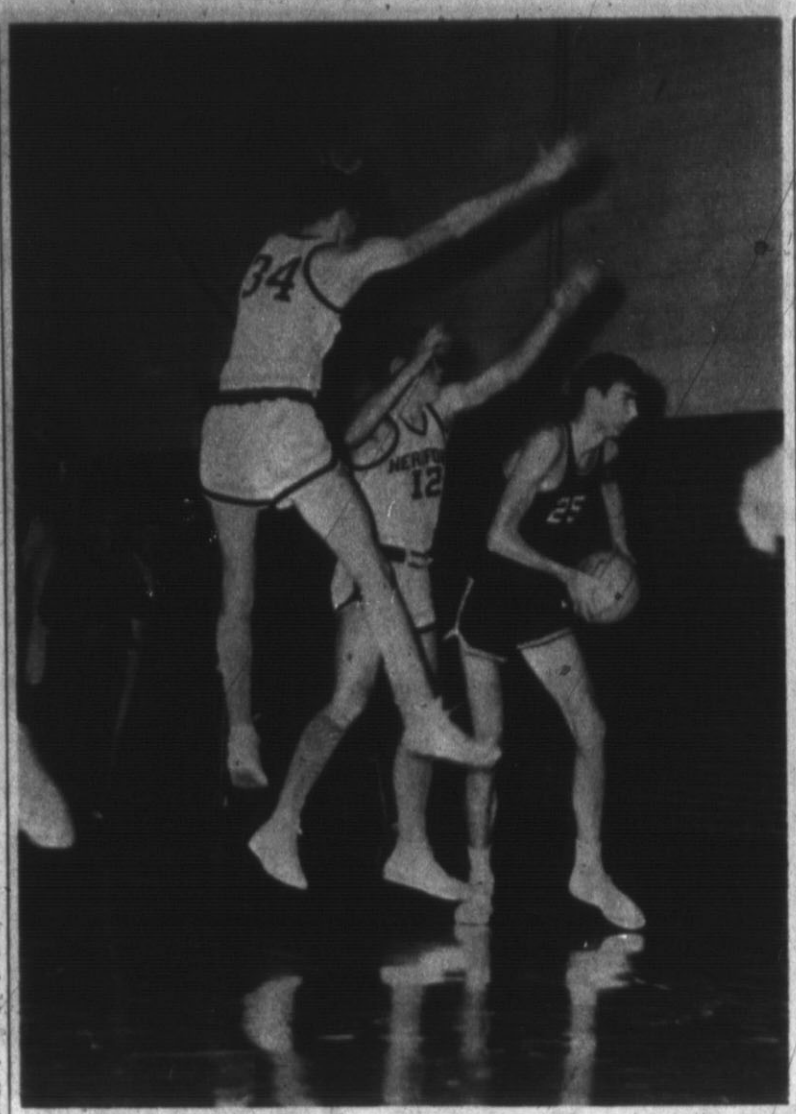

The writer of this series raised the following problem and had the solution dumped in his lap! "A few years ago an effort was made to start a civil defense organization in Deaf Smith County. The County and City worked closely together and set up an organization. This is one of those things that deteriorates from lack of use and continued planning. I would like to see those agencies serving in this field such as the Red Cross, Civil Air Patrol, and other agencies organize under the County and City a civil defense unit, and have regular planning meetings and regular drills.

"We hope we never have to use its services. We never anticipate natural disaster or war. We do not want it, but when a tornado strikes, we do not have time to organize a disaster unit. It must already be organized. We have a real need to revitalize and reorganize our civil defense organization in Deaf Smith County."

Committee Set Up

A committee was set up in the Chamber of Commerce during 1964 to be called the Civil Emergency Planning Committee whose sole responsibility was to accomplish the reorganization of the Civil Defense set up. Several meetings were held with City and County officials resulting in the appointment of this writer as Civil Defense Director.

Since then the Operational Plan has been rewritten, the City and county have again become eligible to obtain surplus equipment and properties and to participate in the state and federal programs. Communications, police, fire plans have been submitted and approved.

But still a lot of organizational work needs to be done. A radiological monitoring course is to be taught here by a team from Fort Sill during February. Other training courses will be held as they are available.

Confused by Streets

Mrs. Lois Rutter said, "I am confused about the way our streets are named. I have to get out a city map in order to find them. Plainview has a much better system, since their streets are named alphabetically, and anyone who knows their ABC's can find the street."

Though many might agree with Mrs. Rutter, how many would agree to changing the name of the street on which they reside? Many street names are firmly entrenched. Changing them would perhaps create more problems than would be solved. There has been a specific recommendation made that 13th, 14th, and 15th be renamed since the numbers have no significance, there being no streets numbered 1 through 12 in most of the city and the house numbers bear little relation to the street numbers.

Dick Walker stated, "My question concerns service work. Hereford has men capable of doing any kind of service work. I would like an ordinance requiring out-of-town people who come to Hereford to do service work to have a license to do so. This would keep out-of-town servicemen from messing up work and leaving it for someone else to fix."

This problem has been considered in a revised plumbing and

Cotton Sample Receipts Down

LUBBOCK (Special) — Cotton sample receipts declined at the three South Plains USDA Classing Offices during the past week, according to W. K. Palmer, in charge of the Lubbock Office.

The peak of the harvest was reached over most of the area last week and samples received at the three offices declined to approximately 40,000 daily.

376,000 Samples

During the week ending December 16th, the Lubbock, Brownfield and Lamesa Offices classed 376,000 samples. The Lubbock Office classed 324,800, the Brownfield Office 33,600 and the Lamesa Office 18,200. This was the largest volume of cotton the three offices had classed any week this season.

Total samples classed at the three offices this season was 1,199,000 compared with 1,286,500 by the same date last year.

Trading in new crop cotton off the Lubbock market continued steady during the past week, but prices continued a slight downward trend. Agricultural Marketing Service reports indicate prices paid for white grades ranged from 50 points under COC loan levels to 65 points over the loan. Prices were generally lower for Light Spotted grades and ranged from the loan rate for Strict Middling Light Spotted to 115 points over for Low Middling Light Spotted.

Average Prices

Average prices paid for the most predominant qualities were: Strict Low Middling 29/32 - 26.85, Strict Low Middling 15/16 - 27.35, Strict Low Middling 31/32 - 27.80, Middling Light Spotted 29/32 - 27.25, Middling Light Spotted 15/16 - 27.65, Middling Light Spotted 31/32 - 28.20, Strict Low Middling Light Spotted 29/32 - 26.25, Strict Low Middling Light Spotted 15/16 - 26.75, Strict Low Middling Light Spotted 31/32 - 27.00.

Prices paid farmers for cottonseed remained steady the past week with prices ranging from $47 to $55 per ton.

By MELVIN YOUNG

Friends and neighbors out in the Westway area swarmed on to the Andrew Kershen farm Friday, and in typical Deaf Smith County fashion, harvested the Kershen's cotton crop.

Kershen has been hospitalized for the past two weeks with injuries sustained in a digger accident on his farm.

Cooperating with the twenty to twenty-five area farmers was Plains Farmers Gin and Grain Co. at Tri-County, operated by Ray Carlile. The Tri-County organization ginned the cotton immediately upon receipt, or as fast as possible, in order not to tie-up the cotton trailers for a prolonged period.

Five strippers were used in the operation, and numerous cotton trailers and pickups. It didn't take long for the men to complete the 36 acre harvest job. They moved into the field about 12:30, and according to Oskar Schwerter, the job would be completed by 4:30 or 5 p.m. Oskar was one of the many who pitched-in to get the job done.

It's this kind of neighborliness that makes Deaf Smith County what it is today. This isn't the first case of neighbors pitching in to help by any means. We can think of two others within the past twelve months, and rather than an isolated incident, we'd say it's just "typical" of the fine folks in this area. You can't beat them.

The cold weather Friday didn't stop the operation out on the Kershen farm, but we wondered if the men would have been as diligent on their own farms? We doubt it seriously, and it just goes to prove our point. Neighbors in Deaf Smith and surrounding counties are just about the finest to be found.

If you haven't completed your Christmas shopping, better hurry. Only four more days.

And speaking of Christmas shopping, we might add that selections have been unusually good this year. So fine in fact, that we still haven't decided what to buy. But we'll make it... we'll make it.

The completion of a new "deep well" out in the Simms Community has opened up new economic vistas in that area. Experiments are not complete at this time, but indications point to a 550 gallon-per-minute well. This would make a "good six-inch well" according to Paul Conaway, co-owner of W. A. Co. Drilling Co.

The irrigation belt has continuously moved westward over the past 15 years, and the successful completion of a deep well (888) feet gives area residents hopes of an irrigation water supply. About all that's available in the area now is windmill water, although Palmer Norton has a "shallow-water" well approximately 2 miles south of the experimental well.

Faul thinks the situation is encouraging. He's not predicting anything big for the time being, but indicated that a few wells of this type might change the agricultural picture in that part of the county drastically. For instance, it would have meant the difference of a crop or no crop this year. Most area residents did not put a combine in the field in 1964, either for wheat or milo.

There are a lot of angles to be studied. Wells of this type would assure wheat pasture for the cattlemen, although we doubt that it is economically feasible to try to raise milo with a six inch well almost 900 feet deep and a pump setting of 840 feet. But it looks good, and we're happy to see it.

B. F. Cain is getting a little confused over conflicting advertising.

One sign at an Amarillo service station, he says, invited customers in to "Put a Tiger in Your Tank."

"About a block down the street was another stating 'Let us clean the Tiger hair out of your carburetor'."

Now this could get a little confusing.

A small boy leading a donkey passed by an Army camp. A couple of soldiers wanted to have some fun with the lad.

"Why are you holding your brother so tight, sonny?" asked one of them.

"So he won't join the Army," said the youngster without blinking an eye.

The Supreme Court of the U. S. gives a man the right to open his wife's letters, but it doesn't give him the courage.

Yule Party For La Plata Study

Traditional and new Christmas ideas were presented at the program for the annual Christmas party of the La Plata Study Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Ansel McDowell. Mrs. Urlin Streu gave the program.

Mrs. Phillip Shook called roll and each member present described a traditional Christmas custom in her home.

Mrs. Streu showed the Santa's head which had been used for 15 years in their family. Santa's eyes appeared to move and follow a line of direction around the room. A choral group made from magazines was among ideas suggested for making decorations with items found in the home.

Following the meeting members gathered around a white flocked Christmas tree which was trimmed in gold, and matched the white and gold living room for the exchange of white elephant gifts. They also prepared a food basket which will be given to a needy family during the holidays.

Attending were Mrs. Milton Adams, Mrs. Jay Boston, Mrs. Jack Brown, Mrs. Emil Dettman, Mrs. Roy Harris, Mrs. E. D. Hopson, Mrs. Ansel McDowell, Mrs. Lloyd McGee, Mrs. Elmer Patterson, Mrs. Frank Prowell, Mrs. Donnie Richardson, Mrs. A. J. Schroeter, Mrs. T. E. Seigler Jr., Mrs. Phillip Shook, Mrs. Rosale Simpson, Mrs. Urlin Streu and Mrs. Raymond White.

"Women in Religion" will be the program for January 3 with Mrs. Rosale Simpson as hostess and the program by Mrs. Jack Brown.

The oldest hospital still in existence is said to be the Hotel Dieu, founded in Paris around 650.

4 Persons Pay Fines In Court

Deaf Smith County Judge H. C. Williams had a light session this week as only four persons appeared before him to answer to various charges of driving while intoxicated and wife desertion.

Juan Jesus Garcia Jr., 17, was sentenced to two days in the Deaf Smith County jail and ordered to pay court costs, after he entered a plea of guilty before Judge Williams to a charge of wife desertion.

Judge Williams explained that wife desertion is punishable by the same fines as the offense of child desertion, with both counts being considered a felony on the second offense.

In the second case heard by Judge Williams this week, Tirole Villarreal, 28, was sentenced to three days in the county jail and ordered to pay $150 and costs after he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Villarreal was arrested by officers of the Texas Highway Patrol.

David Walker Maddox Jr., 39, was fined $50 and costs and ordered to serve three days in the county jail after he entered a plea of guilty before Judge Williams to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Maddox was also arrested by the Highway Patrol.

Rogelio Herrera Valdez, 20, was fined $50 and costs and ordered to serve three days in the county jail after he entered a plea of guilty to a similar charge of driving while intoxicated.

Herrera was arrested by officers of the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's department.

The white rhino is vanishing from parts of Africa where it used to be common while at the same time overpopulating one small area where it used to be rare. Only 20 roamed the Umfolozi Game Reserve in South Africa a few decades ago. Now the 100-square-mile sanctuary bulges with 700 white rhinos, and in Poland it is "Kolenda."

GOOD SIX INCH STREAM

Irrigation Well Drilled Near Simms Community

A new, deep irrigation well located on the Alfred Glenn farm 5 1/2 miles west and 2 north of the Simms Community was in operation this week, pouring out a "good six inch stream" according to R. Paul Coneway, co-owner of Walco Drilling Company of Hereford. The well was estimated at approximately 550 gallons per minute.

Drilled below the red bed, the new deep well pulls water from the Santa Rosa Sands formation. The well is 886 feet deep with a pump setting of 840 feet. This is the only deep well in the area, although Palmer Norton operates a "shallow well" approximately 2 miles south of this location.

Considered Success After 50 hours running, without shutting down, the well was considered a "success", according to Coneway. "We've had the water analyzed and it appears to be the same as other deep wells now in operation in the Happy, Arney and Canyon areas," Coneway said. "We cemented off the shallow water with 100 feet of cement, 50 feet above the top water level." This action would assure area residents that the top-water, or shallow water supplying the many windmills, would not be drained off.

"The successful completion of this deep well definitely opens up new economic opportunities in the northwest part of Deaf Smith County," Coneway said. He also pointed out that the company now has orders for 4 or 5 other experimental deep wells ranging from Friona to Bushland.

Further Possibilities "There is a possibility of further irrigation in the Simms area," he said, "although the successful completion of one well does not assure an irrigation bonanza."

"We don't know that it will be economically feasible to operate this type well, but we can see possibilities," Coneway said Saturday. "We've still got a lot of work to do in this field."

Cost of the experimental well could not accurately be determined at this time, but it was believed by Company officials that it would be in the neighborhood of $25,000.

FINANCIAL EMERGENCY

WILDWOOD, III. The Wildwood emergency patrol is being dissolved because of debts owed on the patrol car, radio equipment and reimbursements to patrol members.

Outstanding debts amount to $2,485. According to treasurer Joseph Vichi, the patrol has only $44.77 in cash on hand.

The decision of 16 of 17 residents on a motion made by Paul Klugiewicz, a resident, permits the commissioners of the patrol to dissolve the corporation.

The commissioners received less than $50 from approximately 500 residents who were sent letters asking for contributions.

Space debris crashing at terrific speeds digs countless of craters on the moon. Some craters are as small as a pinhead; others as big as Hudson Bay. Similar flying matter attacks the earth, but the atmosphere burns up all but the largest particles, and water erodes away the gaping wounds.

DETERGENTS ARE SEWAGE PROBLEM

URBANA, Ill. Detergents and their inability to break down in sewage disposal systems have scientists searching for ways to solve the problem.

Studies show that, in addition to their failure to be digested, the petroleum-based detergents interfere with the normal production of gas during the sewage digestion process.

University of Illinois specialists say detergents are toxic to the bacteria. Fat-based detergents readily break down in closed sewage systems. Earlier studies indicate the presence of air, such as in streams or in aerated sewage systems, fat-based detergents were more readily digested than alkyl, benzene, sulfonate detergents or ABS.

Sewage organisms must be able to digest waste materials in the absence of air because septic tanks and cesspools are un-aerated.

Christmas Time In Hereford

As the "hustle and bustle" of Christmas shopping continued into the late evening hours this week, everyone was able to appreciate the festive spirit the Christmas lights provide on Main Street.

This is just one of the many manger scenes in the city. This one was erected by the Campfire girls at their hut.

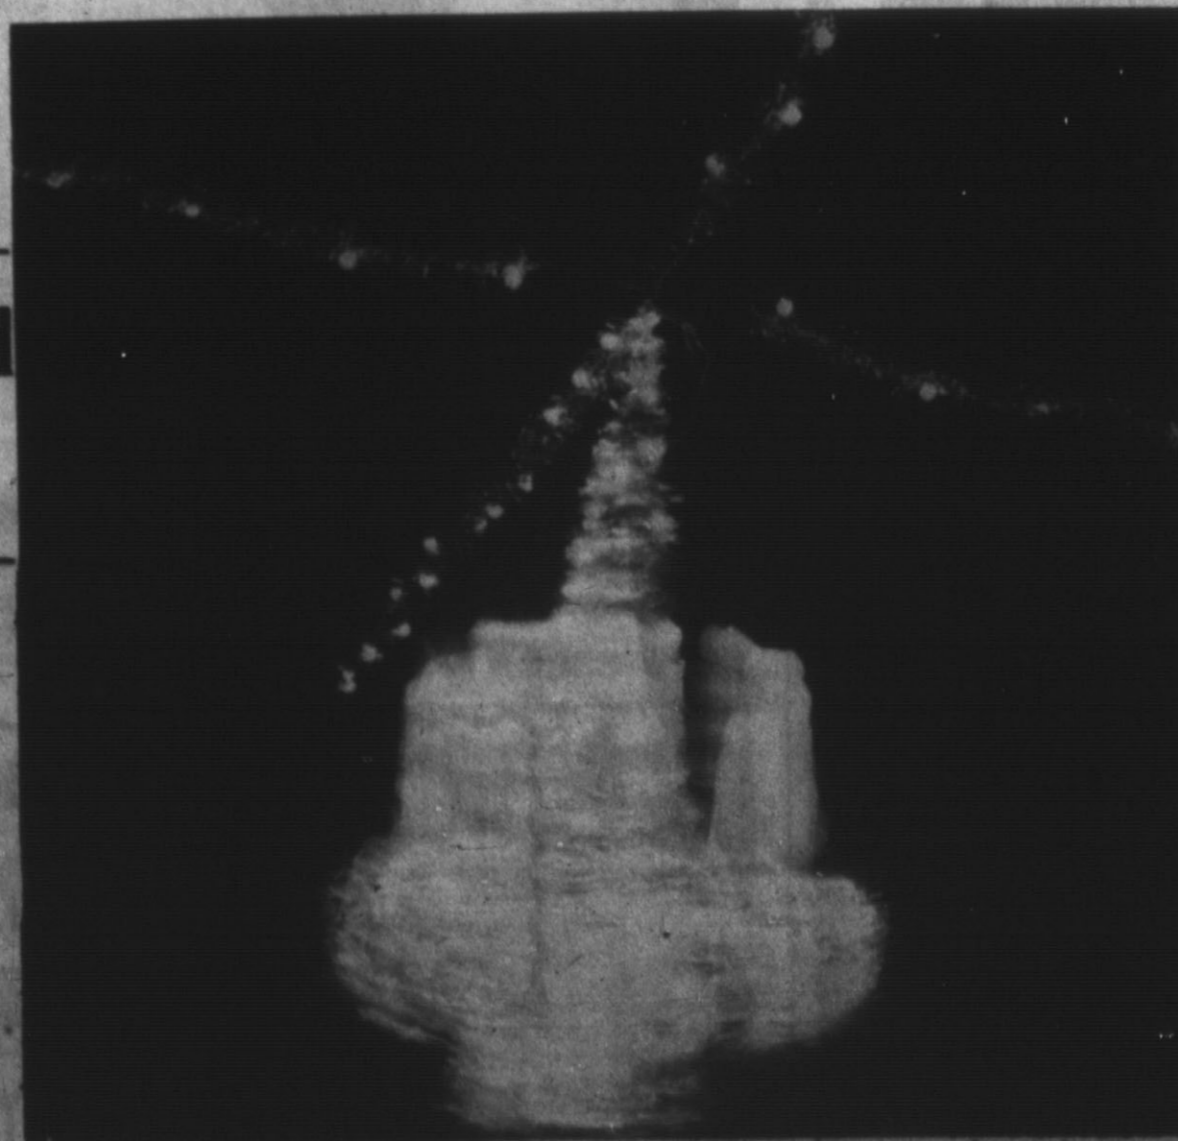

Many of the merchants in Hereford went all out to decorate their store windows and fronts this year. This is Lankford's, which has one of the more attractive window arrangements in Hereford.

Dawn Club President Has Been Active In Unit Since May, 1947

At the New Year, Dawn Home Demonstration Club will see its president, Mrs. Orval Galley, move into the chairmanship of Deaf Smith County THDA. In this capacity she will be performing liaison duties between county and district units of home demonstration clubs.

Completing her second term as president of the Dawn club, Mrs. Galley reviews her continuous membership in that club since May, 1947, when she became a charter member of the club.

Elected as Dawn club's delegate to state THDA in Houston, she was unable to attend that convention. During her terms as president, however, she has attended two district meetings of home demonstration clubs, serving as delegate to the district meeting in Perryton last April.

Has Been Active
Her club activities read like a Home Demonstration clubs "Who's Who".

Charter member Dawn HD Club, two terms as its president; secretary-treasurer, vice-president (several terms of each); 1961 and 1962 council delegate; chairman of council education committee, 1963-64; demonstrator of frozen foods, family business management, landscaping, and homecrafts.

Community-wise: Helped organize and sponsor Dawn Community Night (monthly meetings for recreation or program) sponsored showings of Cotton John films; checked pressure cookers in area, 1962; sponsored dressmaking and tailoring courses; sponsored Red Cross First Aid course.

For 4-H and Other Youth Work: Subject matter leader in clothing, 1963; Sunday School teacher 16 years; sponsor of Dawn Junior Music Club 2 years.

A transplant of 1947 from South Carolina via Michigan, Mrs. Galley has become so much a part of Dawn Community that neighbors and friends consider her a full-fledged pioneer.

Schooling in Michigan
Born in South Carolina, she received much of her schooling in Michigan but graduated from a South Carolina high school. During World War II she met Orval Galley in South Carolina; then married him in Michigan in 1947 and came directly to Deaf Smith County.

They established their home in Dawn Community, where her husband's family, the Lester Galleys, had lived since 1908. Mrs. Galley did not let this land remain strange and new to her very long.

LETTER FROM SUZANNE

Our Girl From Hereford Makes New Friends, Finds Test Hard

EDITOR'S NOTE: Suzanne Langley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Langley of Hereford is touring Europe.

By SUZANNE LANGLEY
Vienna — November 27

I'm glad people are enjoying my reports in the Brand. I even got a letter the other day from a lady from Colorado — an aunt of LuAnne and Janis Higgins — she had read my letters and wants me to look up a friend of hers here. I'm flattered to know so many people are interested and glad I can share my experiences with everyone this way.

Well, I just finished my "phonetic German" test which was much harder than I expected. The reason I decided to take this course is that I have an unusual amount of difficulty in differentiating between German sounds — there are such FINE differences in CORRECT pronunciations, and not only can I not pronounce them, I can't hear them.

I'm having so much fun and learning so much from my Austrian friends — both boys and girls. Maybe I've just had extra good luck or maybe it's just because I'm more interested in meeting the Austrians, but a majority of these "crazy" (?) Americans stick together every minute — and that's one of the main criticisms the Austrians have against us Americans. But, not me — I think you would be amazed at how much more independent I've become.

Friday night a group of Austrians and Americans got together and went to a Gasthaus and had a party. It was fun and I really enjoyed talking to them. A lot of the Austrians were from North Tyrol.

Then Saturday night was really fun night. The two Austrian law students that I had met at the opera (Tannhauser) asked me to go with them to another opera. This one was "The Flying Dutchman", also by Wagner. It was wonderful! — but of course, not as special for me since I wasn't familiar with the music. However, since it was Wagner, you can imagine that it was fabulous!

Then, also, I really enjoyed being with these Austrians. You know, I really hadn't talked to those boys very long, so I didn't really have any idea what to expect. They had just written me and told me where to meet them! (Like I said before, that's the custom over here) and hadn't even told me if another girl was coming. So, I got all dressed up and went. Another girl was there — the Austrian girl friend of one of the boys. At first she was very aloof and reserved, which is typical of many Austrians and Europeans until they get to know you. (This is one thing we had been told about, but this was the first time I had run into this situation.)

The Austrian girl's name is Barbel (a nickname for Barbara) and the boys are Andy and Manfred. All three are very interesting and they hardly stopped talking all evening except every once in a while to translate something I hadn't understood. We (mostly they) talked about everything from the world political situation to Liston and Clay. We went to a party after the opera much like ones in the States.

Every since I left Texas, I could easily see why people always say it's a friendly state. It's something you don't particularly realize until you leave, I guess. Anyway, I think the Austrians are aware of the advantages America has, but they also naturally and rightfully have a great amount of pride in their way and some criticism of Americans. The typical American tourist really doesn't make a very good impression, and neither do many of the American students. These Austrians I was with particularly mentioned the way Americans stick together too much and mostly speak English (which is true).

Anyway, the situation improved and I assured them that I wanted them to go ahead and speak in German. They all speak excellent English, so of course, could easily translate when I got lost. So, it ended up being a most enjoyable evening and I've been going places with them since then and enjoying it more all the time.

This last Saturday night we went to a play in one of the typical little Austrian theatres, "Don Juan Kommt aus dem Krieg." (Don Juan Comes Out of the War). This was an excellent play about some situation present right after World War I. The weekend before this, we went to a German movie. Other than that, though, I haven't gone many places the last two weeks as I was studying for midterms.

Which brings me to the subject of school. I've actually been studying about the same as I did at Tech, but I don't know how my grades will turn out at all. It's easier to get behind since we only have the two tests per semester. I'm about through with all of mine now except for one next Friday in "Europe Between the Two World Wars", and I have a paper due in Russian History then, too.

My classes are all really interesting. It's especially interesting to be studying European history here — everything seems to fit together better and seems more real. My European history professor isn't very objective, but he's a great lecturer and fascinating to listen to. He tells us what Schuschnig (Who was Chancellor of Austria when Hitler conquered it in 1938) and other politicians having an influence on this period, have told him, etc.

It's beginning to get pretty cold here now, but certainly not any colder than it gets in the Panhandle yet. But the most exciting thing now is the Christmas season coming up! There are Christmas decorations up everywhere, and everything's beginning to look really gay and "Christmasy." One of the main decorations over here is the Advent Wreath. Also the American Santa Claus has come here to stay. But, the nearest Christmas tradition they have is the Krampus celebration, on the 5th and 6th of December. Krampus is a mean, ugly devilish man. He goes around to all the children on the 5th of December and gives out switches to the bad ones. Then St. Nicholas goes around too, and gives presents to the good children. This St. Nicholas isn't like our Santa Claus, though — he's dressed in all white robes, like a priest or other clerical man. There are pictures of Krampus around and also little Krampus men made out of fruit and candy in lots of the windows. They look delicious.

Something else that I've been seeing lately that's making it seem really like winter is the ice skating! There's a rink near me, so I see lots and lots of people heading that way with their skates slung over their shoulder. It looks like lots of fun — it's a real nice little lake and is supposed to have good ice.

It's snowing! And it's simply beautiful! The snow has been coming down so quietly and softly and has decorated all the roofs and spires of the buildings and churches. The beauty of the Gothic and Baroque architecture is certainly enhanced with all the snow. Not to mention all the trees in the Park — it looks like a winter wonderland already — just like at home when it snows! And I just love it!

I'm really in the Christmas spirit now. All the windows are full of Christmas goodies. Just as they are there, I'm sure. But one thing different here is how they sell things on the street, which I think is fun. They have flower stands all along, and now that it's near Christmas, they're selling evergreen branches and more Christmas things. Also, guess what they sell right on the streets all along! Roasted chestnuts! They're so good! Yum! The men have their little fires and stands right there and you can buy them nice and hot and fresh. I've become an avid chestnut fan!

You know I told you about Krampus — well, I got to see him Saturday night at the I.E.S. party. He and St. Nicholas were both there, and especially Krampus was fun. He was an ugly, mean "devil". He ran all around the room chasing everyone with his chain and switches. He gave some of the kids presents who had been bad — like he gave a girl who broke her leg a cane and other silly gifts. Then there were packages for everyone from St. Nicholas, with candy and stuff. It was really a fun party. There was a big crowd of Americans and Austrians — I guess about 250 there in all.

Sunday night I went to a Mozart concert which was excellent. Walter Klein played the Sonatas in C-Major, F-Major, A-Major, and C-Minor, in the Brahmsaal of the Musikverein (concert hall). This was one of the many smaller solo concerts that are given so often in the fancy smaller concert rooms of the big concert halls. It's amazing the number of concerts — large and small — that are being given all the time here, and the crowds of people that come out for them. Even the smaller rooms for solo concerts (I'd say this one, Brahmsaal, seated 200 to 300) are decorated beautifully and elaborately in the Baroque style architecture. Walter Klein is an excellent pianist — not too famous, but the Viennese like him. He played several encores, and I thoroughly enjoyed this evening of Mozart.

I went to several practices for this Christmas choir program for this Vienna Community Church, (Protestant — English speaking) I've been going to. But they decided we didn't have enough people. I'm disappointed, because I wanted to at least sing some English Christmas carols this Christmas. I keep thinking of all the little extra things I want to say, but when sitting by the fire in the ski lodge, I'll feel more like writing and have more time. I plan to ski, but also read

County Ranks Higher Than State, National Average On Car Totals

NEW YORK (Special) — Deaf Smith County ranks high in automobile ownership. The buying wave of the past few years has carried the local auto population to a new record.

According to a national survey, there are now more cars in the local area, per 100 families, than there are in most communities in the United States.

The report lists a total of 5,740 passenger cars registered in Deaf Smith County as of the early part of this year, equivalent to 139 for every 100 families. This is a higher ratio than in the United States as a whole, where car ownership is at the rate of 121 per 100 families. In the State of Texas, the average is 127 per 100.

The figures on automobile distribution throughout the country are contained in a consumer markets survey released by the Standard Rate and Data Service.

Keeping Old Cars It shows that people in most parts of the United States participated in the car-buying spree, but in varying degrees. Many of them bought bigger and more luxurious models than they had ever owned before. They had the money to spend and the confidence that they were safe in spending it.

More and more families, in the last year or two, have been retaining their old cars rather than trading them in when purchasing new ones. As a result, the number of two-car families has grown significantly.

This is borne out in Deaf Smith County, where nearly 39 percent of the families now have more than one car.

The automobile boom in the local area has produced a marked increase in the number of cars in operation. The total has gone from 5,150 in 1960 to 5,740 in the current year, a rise of 11.5 percent.

Four From Area Arc Enrolled In Wayland College

PLAINVIEW (Special) — Four students from the Hereford area are presently enrolled at Wayland Baptist College.

William Robert Corbett, 132 Ranger Drive, is a sophomore student. A 1962 graduate of Boys' Ranch High School, Corbett recently played a role in "Julius Caesar."

Glenna Fay Gandy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Raymond Gandy, 219 N. Lee, is a senior elementary education major at Wayland. The 1961 graduate of Hereford High School holds membership in Texas Student Education Association and Mission Band.

Alyce Lena McClain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vinita McClain, Wildorado, is a 1963 graduate of Hereford High School. She is a sophomore English major at Wayland. Miss McClain serves as publicity chairman for Young Women's Auxiliary and was preceded at Wayland by a sister, Neta Jo Harrell.

Nan Clearman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Clearman, Summerfield, is a 1964 graduate of Hereford High School. She is a freshman elementary education major at Wayland.

Canada supplies about one-quarter of all the Christmas trees sold in the United States.

GRANDMA MOSES ON CARDS AGAIN

KANSAS CITY — Grandma Moses' recollections of rural Christmases nearly a century ago are appearing on Christmas cards again, for the first time in seven years.

The little old lady of Eagle Bridge, N.Y., who started painting in her 70s and soared to world-wide fame, died at 101 in 1961.

Hallmark first reproduced her paintings on cards, in 1947 and used some 50 of her paintings during the following 10 years. The present series of cards are different paintings.

Rotation Plan Seems Ideal Solution To County Problem

One of the big headaches all over the country seems to be the problem of "child welfare", and Deaf Smith county is no exception. In addition to the general problems, however, we also appear to be afflicted with a question of organization and general procedure.

Since the situation involves considerable tax money each year, along with decision regarding participants in the program the problem, ordinarily one of general procedure, seems to have grown to the point that it should be open to public consideration and discussion.

The proposed "rotation plan", adopted previously by the court theoretically appears to be the ideal answer. However, according to opinions of those nearest to the work, another problem has apparently arisen from the fact that volunteers are not available, or have resigned, leaving the board with an abundance of new members and inexperienced direction. Acting on this testimony, the court—in a tie-breaking vote—decided to reappoint some of the retiring members, and delay inauguration of the rotation system.

The very fact that the vote was so close indicates that the solution is highly argumentative.

Viewed from an objective standpoint, regardless of individual members, past present or future, it seems to us that the rotation plan is the only fair and equitable manner in which the board can operate. Board membership is a non-paying, thankless job and, for this reason, it should be passed around without undue imposition on any citizen. The fact that Deaf Smith is still a one-party political county eliminates the customary shifting of party appointments available in two-party areas — and contributes all the more in favor of the rotation plan.

While we have no particular quarrel with the court in their recent decision to bypass the rotation plan, due to unusual circumstances, which were carried out according to legal requirements and formalities, we do hope that they will not abandon it altogether. To us, it appears to be the only long-range answer to an already serious problem, which will no doubt spread in scope during the years to come.

Better Service ZIP Code Aim

Hereford and Texas are now one of the few areas operating on the full ZIP code system, which is scheduled to engulf the entire national post office service within the next few months. So far as the local office is concerned, things seem to be rolling along in good shape, despite the fact that the new system was adopted just prior to the holiday rush.

The public, on the other hand, is another question. We hear lots of mounting and disgruntled comment regarding the ZIP business — and it is difficult to attach ZIP designations where they have not been provided. A public directory out in the lobby along with the notorious "post office pens" might be some help, both to patrons and to office employees.

This problem will no doubt be minimized when people all over the nation go under the system, and patrons become accustomed to attaching their ZIP code to their return address or letterheads.

Meanwhile, actual checks within the department — and from experiences reported by some postal users — our letters are arriving and being delivered much more rapidly. Ultimately, we can expect mail to travel between most sections in a one-day period — and be delivered to the outlying towns the following day. Already, Hereford is receiving mail the next morning after it was posted in Houston, while service to Lubbock and the South Plains has shown a tremendous surge in the rate of delivery.

All in all, the new-fangled ZIP code represents a step forward in the march of progress. Once it becomes nation-wide in scope, it will be all the better. And once we become accustomed to using the system, it will become routine, creating a minimum of trouble. Such at least, has been our experience with the telephone area code system, which has revolutionized long distance service.

In addition, we feel that Uncle Sam merits a pat on the back for his foresight and ingenuity in modernizing the postal system to keep pace with other areas of communication. Other than raising the price of stamps, this is the first innovation made in the postal service during the past 100 years — and it looks good to us.

African Bloc

It should not come as much of a surprise, but nevertheless a lot of people are surprised when the First African Negro to be president of the UN General Assembly took over that body in no uncertain fashion and gave a forecast of things to come.

The election of Ghana's Alex Quaison-Sackey, flamboyant champion of black nationalism, marked the rise of a once minor bloc to the most powerful voting force in the United Nations.

In his inaugural speech, Quaison-Sackey declared that Africa is "steadily moving toward her determined goal of continental unity and total liberation."

Judging from news events in the Congo it will be a long time before the continent of Africa is united into a single political force, maybe beyond several lifetimes before African natives stop eating each other.

But the African nations are a potent force in the United Nations, thanks to the emergence of former colonies and the creation of new "nations" out of primitive forests.

The African-Asian bloc has grown from 2 nations to 34 in the past 19 years. It is teaming up with the 25 nation Asian bloc to form a voting force of 59 solid ballots in the 115-nation assembly. It is easy to see that this voting bloc holds the majority vote.

This Africa-Asian bloc have their eye on the post of secretary-general of the UN, now held by U Thant of Burma. They have the votes to swing the election if they play their cards right.

Already demonstrated is the power to assess most of the dues against the United States, the chief financial source of the UN. As time goes by, unless some changes are made, the United States may indeed be supporting the world through United Nations assessments.

If we get into the "one world" mode of governmental operations like Senator Fulbright and Adlai Stevenson seem to want, it will be merely a matter of time until these African nations, still primitive, have a pipeline into our treasury, pumping our funds aboard while we sit helplessly by.

TEXAN IN WASHINGTON

Official Hopes To Cut LBJ Inaugural Parade

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON — Dale Miller, native of Corpus Christi and for years the representative of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce here, has lots of promotional experience he can utilize in his role as the 1965 presidential inaugural committee chairman.

Now in his mid-50s, Miller in his first big promotion job helped make the 1936 Texas Centennial so successful it was copied in many respects by those who developed the 1939 New York World's Fair.

In 1940 he was a key behind-the-scenes in the unsuccessful campaign of the then Vice President John Nance Garner for the Democratic presidential nomination. During the past quarter century he has been a driving force in the Texas State Society of Washington. Four years ago he was the personal representative of the then Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson on the inaugural committee.

Talks Side Story

Telling the Texas Breakfast Club of Washington of plans for the forthcoming activities, Miller related this little side story to the inaugural affairs in 1961:

The Texas State Society scheduled a reception for Vice President and Mrs. Johnson, and sent out word to inaugural committee officials of all states inviting everyone to attend so long as they paid the $5 admission. It was made plain that no complimentary tickets were available. More than 6,000 persons attended.

"There was one free admission at that," added Miller. "President Kennedy came and stood in the receiving line for a while. We didn't collect from him."

Lady Bird Pays

"And, before you ask, Lady Bird discreetly slipped a $10 bill into the hand of one of our doormen as she and the then vice president came in. She refused to take it back."

Miller recalled that incident as a preface to insisting, and successfully so, that he pay the $2 fee for the breakfast.

Some of the gala trimmings for the 1965 inaugural events may reflect what Miller and his wife, "Sooty" saw when they attended the recent presidential inaugural ceremonies in Mexico City.

"One great impression of that occasion," said Miller, "was the brilliant illumination. Not only were all the official buildings brightly lit, but also, store fronts all along the streets. There were even clusters of lights in all the trees lining the streets."

"A friend asked me why I didn't plan something like that here in Washington, but I replied that there wouldn't be much point in it. You know who'd go right behind me turning the lights off."

Given Authority
Actually, Miller has virtual carte blanc authority from President Johnson, his long time and intimate friend, to run the 1965 inaugural ceremonies as he sees fit.

Remembering how previous parades have always started late and run on after dark, to and had been out with a serenading party and were on their way home.

Next Monday is Christmas. What does it mean to you? Is it only the opening day of a holiday season? Is it but the time when you hope to receive both greetings and presents? Is it a time for hilarious revelry and unrestrained fun? Are you going to give expensive presents to the rich or well-to-do and let the poor and the needy go without or be served with cheap or useless presents? Not a few we have seen who annually exchange presents with their friends in easy circumstances but forget or neglect the needy and these people persuade themselves that they are generous, charitable.

Dear Santa:

I love you cause you was so nice to me last Xmas. Now won't you please bring me a big air gun, a knife with a chanin and a violin like Blake has. Santa be sure and bring Aunt Dell some chewing gum and Homer Fox a box of fire crackers.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Bindweed farm apparently has his mind on taxes, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

I found a copy of the Congressional Record on the road near my place the other day, I don't know how it got there, as far as I know there never has been a Congressman to set foot on this Bindweed farm, which is balanced off by the fact I've never set foot in Washington; at any rate, I took the Record back to my house and was thumbing through it, reading a lot of speeches and debates and what is called extended remarks, when over on page 48 my eye caught a discussion on taxes.

According to this Congressman, I forget which state he was from, the Federal government ought to drop what he called a real estate transfer tax.

That's what caught my eye. Any time anybody starts talking about discontinuing a tax, naturally you perk up. It's like finding the bank made an error in your favor. I don't know what a real estate transfer Federal tax is, but if somebody wants to drop it, let it fall.

But I kept reading and what this Congressman was proposing was dropping the tax, all right, but dropping it so it could be picked up by the states.

The states, he said, need more revenue and here's a good chance to help them out.

If this is what they mean when they say they're in favor of cutting Federal taxes, I'd just as soon they talked about something else.

This is Federal interference in its worst form. It's not the Federal government's job to help the states find more tax revenue. Let 'em find it on their own. The last thing we need is somebody in Washington telling the 50 state governments where they can get more money, any more than we need the state governments telling the cities, towns and counties where they can get more.

It's been my observation that if there's a new source of tax revenue lurking around, it'll be found, without any help from Washington.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

The cadets from West Point and the other service cadets will still march in the parade. Each state will be permitted to have a float and one band. Texas will be permitted to have two bands.

ment of the county's history as a tourist attraction by working with local cooperating tourist-related organizations and for the preserving of this history for the future generations.

In accordance with a proclamation issued by Governor John Connally naming January 19-16 as See and Save Texas History Week, Williams has called a meeting of the committee for January 16th to issue plans for the coming term.

the great discomfort of many participants and spectators, Miller has reform plans in mind.

First, he hopes to get the 1965 parade underway earlier than usual by seeing to it that the President takes oath of office promptly at noon, or as soon thereafter as possible.

"The term of office of a president expires at noon," said Miller. "When ceremonies drag on, as they have often in the past, we're technically without a president. That's some times, been for 45 minutes or more."

"We'll start ceremonies about 11:30 a.m. next Jan. 20. We'll ask the clergymen to keep their prayers short. We hope to have the oath administered at noon."

To Trim Time
 There's to be the usual delay of the parade, after the inauguration, while the President and others attend a private luncheon in the Capitol.

"We plan to trim the parade time down to two hours and 21 minutes," Miller continued. "That should enable every marching outfit to get past the White House reviewing stands while there is still plenty of daylight."

"It's just not right to have those groups here, like the Kilgore Rangerettes, parading along down the avenue long after dark and maybe half frozen."

One way the marching time will be trimmed is by funneling various floats and bands and marching corps into the line of parade on Pennsylvania Avenue from assembly points on the mall, rather than have them all file by the front of the Capitol. Another is to eliminate much of the military features, such as tanks.

"It used to be when the first tank rumbled by you'd look up the avenue and see them coming for two blocks," the Texan
