"WHEN LOCAL areas of the nation insist on solving their own problems locally - and do so succesfully - we will curb the trend of centralized government," Riley asserted,

Visitors are invited to come early and picnic before the action starts.

Responsibilities Go Hand In Hand With New Liberties

Riots in California, massed guardsmen in Massachusetts! These escapades are merely a follow up of similar incidents in Mississippi, Alabama, New York, Illinois, and several other states. Even some of the in-tegration leaders are becoming fed up with the way things are progressing.

Meanwhile, even the most bitter critics are bound to agree that the Negro race has advanced further than during the entire period since the Civil War. Those who foresaw and predicted the present outcome, however, cannot help but wonder if the progress is worth the price.

Actually, the situation can be attributed to the fact that the Colored people have not been sold on the fundamental theory that with privileges of democracy also go considerable responsibility. Our Negroes have been encouraged to break customs, which have frequently come to include law and order. Citizenship demands equality in taxation, lawful residence and peaceful existence. These things come first, and with them go such privileges as eating in restaurants, attending schools and the right to cast one's ballot; these privileges, to say the least are secondary.

Integration demands even more: it re quires social acceptance on all levels.

When the American Negro realizes these fundamentals of democracy, they will be on the road toward integration. Until they do, it makes no difference how many edicts are passed, how many court cases decide in their favor, or how many miles they march. Many other races around the world, including Caucasians, have found it difficult to recognize and absorb these simple facts and, as a result, many of them live under dictators, rather than as free men

Self-government may well be compared to personal self-control. It is the greatest thing in the world mankind can possess, but it is one of the most difficult of posessions to acquire, and it is still harder to maintain from day to day.

Our Changing Times

In this fast paced world of today, there arises from time to time some comment upon the changing morals of the world, of the failure of man to solve his problems, of the failure of religion to keep pace with

We doubt if there are any new problems at all. A new group of men simply find the old ones.

The terror and uncertainty that some people experience when they contemplate space travel with its unknown features could have certainly been matched in earlier days when adventurers set out on uncharted seas into equally unknown surroundings.

The more science learns, the more it discovers that man and his universe operate on a master plan, and at the center of such in must be Him whom we call God.

The recent trip of Mariner IV to take pictures of Mars tends to disprove the old theory that there are men on Mars, and this discovery has led some leaders to be convinced that Man, as we know him on earth, is indeed unique and the only crea-

Military Pay Raise Needed

Recent passage of the military pay raise should go down in history as one of the better accomplishments of Congress.

Now, our army, navy and air force can pay its people decent and living wages, comparable favorably at least with relief roll standards. Better still, we can perhaps retain many of our skilled technicians and scientists who, in the past, have been forced out of the service in order to maintain their households in a decent manner—and at great cost to our nation.

Even the draftee who enters the service by law, rather than choice, may find things a little bit easier along the way, now that he knows he has not been drafted, then completely forgotten.

While we seem to have billions for other purposes, we are glad to see our government put at least a little part of the tax money where it was drastically needed. and will do the most good.

ture made in God's image. And this truth can be found in the Bible, written thousands of years ago. Modern man has changed his social attitudes, his morals may not be what his ancestors were, but he has not discovered anything that would tend to weaken his religion, his belief in an Almighty God.

Indeed, the opposite is true. The smarter the man and the more he explores, the stronger his belief becomes.

Our changing times are changing, all right, but some things do not change, and religion is one of them.

Good Custom Better

Helping ones neighbors in time of need has been a procedure in this country since the first white settlers halted their wagons along the banks of Tierra Blanca Creek but, we have to admit, the folks down Easter way have added something new to the wonderful old custom.

When Earl Harkins suffered a broken lea as the result of a tractor accident early in July, neighbors took over his crops and have kept things running smoothly. No one ever knows how much a fellow really appreciates these things until he suddenly finds himself in the role of benefactor, and to this Mr. Harkins would be first to testify.

Imagine his surprise, then, when a delegation pulled up in a station wagon, carefully loaded him into the bed, and took him on a tour in order to find out if they were doing things according to his wishes. In short, could he find any fault?

No, Sir, he sure couldn't-and that goes for his neighbors as well as for his crops.

Anniversary Of Woman Suffrage

Thursday is the 45th anniversary of the adoption of the 19th amendment to the United States Constitution, which gave women the right to vote. Woman suffrage is so much an accepted part of American political life today it is hard to realize that, less than half a century ago, the country was torn by bitter argument and strife over

If it is any comfort to those Negro citizens still battling after 100 years for the right to vote, it took women 72 years to gain their voting rights on a nationwide basis, and these years were marked by agitation, turmoil, disorders and even a few riots. In fact, there are a good many parallels between the militant women's suffrage movement of a generation or so ago and the civil rights crusade of today.

Wyoming was the first state to give women the right to vote, in 1869, while still a territory. Colorado followed suit 24 years later. Then came Utah, Idaho, Washington, California, Kansas, Oregon, Arizona, Mon

But Eastern and Southern states remained adamant, It was not until 1919 that Congress, under pressure from the National American Woman Suffrage Association finally submitted a constitutional amendment to all of the states.

Ratification by 36 states was required, and Tennessee was the 36th to give its approval, on Aug. 18, 1920. The certificate was received in Washington on Aug. 26, and the proclamation declaring the amendment adopted was issued the same day.

10 YEARS AGO

Deaf Smith Residents Help Boy Pull Wagon

SEPTEMBER 11, 1955:

"Gerry won't pull sister in little red wagon anymore," the headline read in The Sunday Brand Sept. 7, 1952, but three years later Gerry Steve Stewart, the tot who had lost both his legs in a combine accident, was climbing walking, running—doing anything any six-year-old boy could do. How did it happen? It happened because Hereford was too big to let a crippled 31/2-year-old boy go hopeless. It happened because people of this city and county pitched in with their dollars and pennies to see that Gerry got the best of medical aid. Several thousand dollars were collected and put in a trust fund for the youth.

In the 1955 telephone directory Hereford listings were consolidated with those of the four rural telephone exchanges in the county.

Karen Sue McGee was elected Football Queen of Hereford High School. Joan Fowlkes, sophomore candidate was runner-up, Clarabeth Holt, junior candidate, was third; and Lawanna Lookingbill, freshman, was fourth.

Contracts on widening Highway 60 were let in Austin Construction included over six miles from Highway 51 in Hereford to the Castro County line.

It takes more than a constitutional amendment to eliminate discrimination, however, as Negro citizens also well know. Last year's civil rights law included a provision prohibiting discrimination against women in employment. But there is still a long way to go toward legal and political equality.

Texas still has many laws on the books which discriminate against women. The fight to get them eliminated continues at each session of the Legislature.

THE BOOTLEG -Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm gets twisted up in some statistics this week, his letter reveals.

Dear editor:

The main thing you can say for statistics is that they furnish work for the people who compile them.

A couple of items I read in a newspaper last night got me to thinking about this,

One said that the government new considers a man is living in poverty if his income is below $3000 a year. but it didn't say whether it was talking about a man and his wife living in a house in the country with a garden and an income of $2995 a year, or a man in the city with $2995 and ten kids and two brothers-in-law. Maybe both of them are poverty-stricken, but one of them sure is more stricken than the other

The other statistic said it has now been established that the average hospital stay is only half as long as it was 25 years ago. The average stay in 1935 was 14 days and today it is 7.7 days

The group putting out this statistic said the reduction was due to better medicines, new equipment and improved

What the statistic failed to mention was that the cost of a hospital stay has more than doubled in 25 years.

There is no doubt that medicines, equipment and treatment have improved, but I was just thinking, you reckon the fact it costs twice as much now has anything to do with a man's cutting his hospital stay in half?

Now a good man at statistics could take this and figure out that if you double the costs of hospitalization you half the length of stay, then if you double the costs again you half the length of stay again, so that finally, if you got the costs high enough, nobody would show up at the hospital and the statistical news could be announced that for the first time in history nobody is confined to a hospital and therefore the nation is 100 per cent healthy.

To keep them from going to waste, the hospitals could then be used to confine the statisticians.

Yours faithfully.

Summer Homemaking Program Keeps Girls Busy

Realities of homemaking have been practiced - in their own homes - by some 70 Heeford High School girls who were enrolled in a summer class just completed under direction of Mrs. Frank Prowell, Other instructors in the department, Mrs. J. J. Durham and Mrs. Joe Bradley, taught earlier in the

From baby-sitting to furniture upholstering to flower bed spading, the girls carried out a program designed to supplement classroom and laboratory work they receive as homemaking students in regular-term

EACH HAS worked in at least three areas of homemaking, fitting her work into the pattern of her family's life. Many applied lessons in child care to their younger brothers and sisters; most practiced housekeeping or cooking to assit their mothers with these daily chores; several sewed not only for themselves but for others in their families.

Summer projects in the school's homemaking department are carried on with few class sessions. The instructor visits the girls in their homes to check on progress, consult and advise them. Each girl keeps a written record of her work to submit at the end of the

SOME OF the projects involved hard manual work, like the floor-finishing done by Linda and Glenda Sims at the Dennis Sims home, 121 Ave. G.

Their primary goal was re-decoration of two bedrooms, in-cluding refinishing floors. While they were at it they went ahead and worked over other hardwood floors in the hall, living room and dining room, Much elhow-grease was expended in cleaning off grimy layers of old wax and varnish before applying new.

"We had to move the furniture to the porch from each room," their mother related, "and the neighbors probably thought we were crazy as we put out a stack of furniture, took it in and put out another, sometimes crowded it back indoors when rain threatened and professional-looking job of upholstering on a divan and two chairs for the living room of her family's home at 611 N.

Some of the girls took their projects outside their homes, including baby sitting for neighbors, And Edlana Vinson lists in her child care experience, work in a church Vacation Bible School.

redecorated a bedroom at their home this summer as part of their homemaking project in HHS summer program. They are shown in the room they share, where the ruffled curtains were dyed deep pink to match new spreads on the twin beds; walls, ceiling and woodwork were painted an off-white and the hardwood floor was completely refinished. Toss pillows were made of terry face cloths with yarn fringe. Linda is a junior and Glenda a sophomore this term. Their other areas of work this summer were in foods, sewing and housework.

sophomore in HHS, completed a man-sized task in a summer homemaking project when she reupholstered the divan shown here and a matching chair in a rust-and-black tweed, and the chair at right in a black fabric, to give a new look to the family living room. Linda will be a secondyear student in homemaking classes this fall. Her other summer work was in sewing, housework and cooking.
