

Whitefaces Trip Seminole To Crash Into Regional Play

A jubilant Hereford Whiteface baseball team prepares to meet the Brownfield Cubs in the first game of the regional playoffs Monday, after they clouted the Seminole Indians with a two-game defeat Thursday evening at Whiteface Field.

The Herd, led by the brilliant pitching of Jim Haney and Larry Minks, overcame the one game deficit and returned to win the final game and clinch the bi-district title.

The first game for the regional playoffs will be played at 7 p.m. Monday, followed by the second game to be played at Brownfield Wednesday at 1 p.m. A second game will be played immediately after the first game Wednesday if necessary. Jim Haney hurled a four-hit ter to smother the Indians 9 to 3 in the first game played Thursday.

The Indians scored two runs in the top of the first inning, but the Herd struck back in the bottom of the first after Ronnie Duncan slammed a double to centerfield. Pitcher Eddie Greenfield, losing complete control of the ball at times, threw a wild pitch, allowing Duncan to come to third. Frank Cain and Eugene Green flied out, but Duncan was able to tag up and bring in the first run for the Herd. Joe Coffman hit a single followed by Steve Hodges, who was walked, placing men on first and third.

Charlie Moreno slammed a stand-up double driving in Coffman and Hodges and easing the Herd into the lead, 3-2.

Lynn Cook was walked by Greenfield, placing men on first and second, but he gained control and struck out David Stevens and retired the sides.

Big Jim Haney demonstrated his real form as he struck out the first three Indian batters to face him in the top of the second inning.

Eddie Greenfield exhibited that he too could gain control as he struck out Jim Haney and Ronnie Duncan, while Frank Cain flied out, retiring the sides in order.

The Indians again were disposed of in order as Haney struck out Larry Tipping, Claude Westcott flied out to centerfield and Eddie Greenfield was tagged at first.

The Herd was determined to get men on bases as Greenfield lost the form he had shown in the previous inning. The Indians were also charged with four errors in this inning, the first coming when Joe Coffman hit a grounder and the first baseman dropped the ball. Eugene Green slammed a single to centerfield, advancing Coffman to second. Greenfield threw another wild pitch, advancing the runners to second and third, and he walked Steve Hodges, loading the bases.

Charlie Moreno bunted and was tagged at first, but the runners advanced safely and Coffman was safe at home making the score 4-2. Lynn Cook bunted, but he too was tagged at first and Green was held up at third. Greenfield managed to retire

Substitute Plan Offered In Wheat

So that summer fallow operations for next year's crop may take place promptly, USDA has announced that substitution between wheat and feed grains would be authorized in 1965 programs.

This announcement was made Saturday in Hereford by Faust Collier, Deaf Smith County ASCS manager.

Especially in much of dry land Great Plains and Pacific Northwest area, wheat is usually planted on land tilled in preparation for seeding in autumn for winter wheat crop following year. Summer fallowing takes place extensively in May and June, Collier pointed out.

Agricultural Legislation makes provision for this substitution in 1964 and 1965 programs, but it could not be put into effect for 1964 because of time element involved. Reason for substitution of wheat and feed grains for 1965 is to permit greater flexibility in farm operations.

Substitution will apply on individual farms only if farm has both feed grain base and wheat allotment. Producers will need to meet at least minimum diversion for both wheat and feed grains in order to utilize substitutions provisions, Collier explained.

Wheat marketing certificates will be issued to program cooperators in a manner similar to this year's crop on the smaller of:

Quick Grand Jury Session Results In 12 Indictments

Grand Jury for the 69th District has completed its one-day session, returning 12 separate indictments and two no bills.

The first indictment returned involved Robert A. Johnson for forgery. He was tried Thursday in 69th Judicial District Court, Judge Harry Schultz presiding.

Electric Firm Studies Street Light Problem

Southwestern Public Service Co. is "studying" street lighting possibilities for Hereford's expanding residential areas including the possibility of steel overhead poles. Melvin Jayroe, Hereford Southwestern manager said Saturday.

At a meeting of the City Council this past week, Jayroe told the commission that the cost of steel poles instead of wood poles as street-light supports would be $280 per pole more than the wood poles, and that the additional revenue — 15 cents per pole per month — would not justify the additional cost.

Police Check Two Accidents; Damage Slight

Hereford Police had a slow week from the usual hurried pace of investigating traffic accidents within the city as only two collisions were reported this week.

The damage to all the vehicles amounted to less than $700 according to estimations by the investigating officers.

At 4:15 p.m. Thursday, vehicles driven by Billy Joe Wall and Gaylon Bryan, collided at the intersection of U.S. 60 and Lee Street. Damage to Wall's vehicle was set at $200 and Bryan's damage was estimated at $350.

Wall was cited by the investigating officer for negligent collision.

In another collision, cars driven by Oscar Ezekiel Easley and Yolanda Ramirez were in collision shortly after 1:42 p.m. Thursday at the intersection of Fourth and Miles Streets.

Damage to Easley's vehicle was set at $50 and Ramirez's damage was set at $85 by investigating officers.

Ramirez was also cited by the officers for failure to yield the right of way.

Johnson entered a plea of guilty and was given three years probated sentence.

Three persons, Roy Raymond Paslay, Cleveland Redic and Elton Walter Carrell, were indicted on separate counts of second offense driving-while-intoxicated.

Redic entered a plea of guilty before Judge Schultz and was given three years probated sentence.

Oscar Ruiz, Delmior Ruiz, Savas Celaya and O. T. Tice were all indicted on similar counts of theft-over-$50. Oscar and Delmior Ruiz and Celaya all entered pleas of guilty before Judge Schultz and were given three years probated sentence.

Joe Ben White entered a plea of guilty to a charge of second offense driving-while-intoxicated after he was indicted and was given three years probated sentence by Judge Schultz.

Frank C. Cadena and Antonio Reyes were indicted on separate counts of forgery and passing. Cadena was given a five-year probated sentence and Reyes was given a four-year probated sentence by Judge Schultz after they entered pleas of guilty.

Trial was also held for Stanley West for robbery-by-threats. He was found guilty and given two years' probated sentence.

Two indictments were returned involving persons who were not in custody of the Sheriff's Department.

One case was passed by the Grand Jury.

Commissioners' Election Tops Interest Here

Deaf Smith County Democrats selected two newcomers for county commission nominees in Saturday's election, incumbents trailing for both precinct — and precinct 3 positions.

Earl Holt nosed out incumbent Charley Sowell in the precinct 1 race, Holt gathering 288 votes to Sowell's 242. In precinct 3, Bruce Coleman nosed incumbent J. T. Guinn, 74 to 63.

Deaf Smith county Democratic voters also favored Joe Pool over Robert W. Baker. Pool gathered 439 votes to Baker's 310 for Democratic nominee for congressman-at-large.

In the Republican run-off Deaf Smith county GOP voters favored George Bush, to Jack Cox. Bush gathered 79 votes to Cox's 36. No county race was at stake for the Republicans.

Marvin Diller, the county's only Republican candidate, will battle it out with Holt for the voters' approval in the

Auxiliary Sets Public Parade For Flag Day

Deaf Smith County will observe Flag Day next Saturday with a parade in downtown Hereford, and a call was sounded for everyone who cares to do so to march in the parade and carry an American flag.

Sponsoring the parade will be the American Legion Auxiliary of Hereford, according to Mrs. Ira Ott, local Auxiliary president.

The tour will start on Main Street at 6th, will proceed down Main to 2nd Street and disband in front of the courthouse. Mrs. Ott said the only requirement for anyone to march in the parade is that he carry an American flag; any size will do so long as it is an American flag.

After the parade, refreshments will be served by The American Legion at the courthouse to every person carrying a flag.

"Since Flag Day is on Sunday this year, we are observing June 13 here," Mrs. Ott explained. "We hope especially to have all the young people, either in groups or individually, to join our parade and show this special tribute to our national standard."

Three Sentenced In County Court

Three persons appeared before Deaf Smith County Judge H. C. Williams and entered pleas of guilty to separate charges of theft and driving while intoxicated, this week.

Floyd Cleaver, was fined $50 and cost and sentenced to three days in the county jail on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Valentino Flores was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to three days in the county jail after he entered a plea of guilty before Judge Williams, to a similar charge of driving while intoxicated.

In the final action of the week, Clifford Pritchard was fined $1 and cost and sentenced to one day in the county jail after he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of theft.

Chamber Directors Study Recommendations By 'PEP'

In a marathon session, the directors of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce considered the recommendations of the Operation P.E.P. committees. Austin Rose Jr., president, presided over the meeting with Clint Formby bringing the recommendations of the various committees to the board.

The Beautification and Sanitation committee recommended chamber endorsement of a project which would create a beauty spot along U.S. 60; this was the erection of a four-foot concrete block "castle wall" on the south side of the highway 20 feet from the curb with the area to be planted to grass and shrubs, the wall to begin east of the Santa Fe depot and extending east to the Crowe-Gulde plant.

The board, after considerable discussion, voted to table action on the recommendation until more information on costs could be obtained. The same committee also recommended that the city give early consideration to placing the drainage water that is now in open ditch in that same area into a storm sewer and carrying it to the creek.

The problem of trash and litter was discussed in light of the need for covered trash barrels.

The committee recommended that the ordinance requiring covers for trash barrels be enforced but the board felt that there was first a need for some public information on the need and problems relative to trash collection. No action was taken on this recommendation.

The Miscellaneous Government Services committee brought a number of recommendations but the only one requiring board endorsement as a policy matter was the recommendation that consideration be given by the city and county to the advantages of combining the sheriff and police department radio dispatch office. It was estimated that this would save the taxpayers $10,000 per year. The the sides and pull himself out of the light by striking out David Stevens.

Haney lost control of his pitches in the top of the fourth as he walked two Indians and a third got on first on a bunt and loaded the bases. Frank Bice, the big 320-batter for the Indians, attempted to bunt and was out at first. Haney then struck out the next two batters in order and retired the sides, leaving the bases loaded. Haney, Duncan and Cain were retired in order as Cain and Haney were tagged at first and Duncan fled out to centerfield. Haney struck out Greenfield, the first batter to face him in the top of the fifth inning and Claude Westcott was tagged at first for the second out. Larry Tipping was walked, but Frank Bice fled out for the final out. Greenfield once again lost control as he walked Joe Coffman and Eugene Green got a single, but Coffman was tagged at first for the first out. Hodges got a single, but advanced to second on an error and Green went to third. Charlie Moreno slammed a single and Hodges and Green scored, with Green scoring on a bad throw. Greenfield then retained some of his form to strike out Lynn Cook and David Stevens leaving Moreno on first.

Haney began his best pitching in an attempt to keep the 6-2 lead, and succeeded in striking out the first three Indian batters. Jim Haney and Ronnie Duncan were struck out as they were the first two batters to face the new Indian pitcher, Sam Flood. Frank Cain got a single and advanced to second on an error. Joe Coffman took the base on a walk, placing men on first and second. Eugene Green slammed a high fly right into the glove of Centerfielder Frank Bice, which he dropped, allowing Cain to score, advancing Coffman to third and Green was on first.

Steve Hodges slammed a single, driving in Green, Coffman and Hodges were on first and third and a bad throw by Flood allowed Coffman to come home and advance Hodges to second, giving the Herd a 9-2 edge.

Jim Haney struck out Ritchie Crawford, but Kenny Roberts managed to get on a grounder. Sam Flood hit a double, driving in Ritchie Crawford, and making the score 9-3.

Claude Westcott and Larry Tipping were both tagged at first for the final outs and the Herd captured the second game of the series 9-3.

Jim Haney struck out 12 Indian batters, walked five and allowed only four hits during the seven innings. The Indians were plagued with errors during the game as they were charged with five and the Whitefaces were charged with one.

Jim Haney began the second game for the Herd and allowed only one hit during the first three innings.

Mike Shane, Larry Tipping and Frank Bice were all tagged at first to retire the sides in the top of the first for the Indians.

The Whitefaces were retired in order as Ronnie Duncan was struck out, Frank Cain was tagged at first as was Eugene Green.

In the top of the second, Teddy Welch, Jim Nelms, and Claude Westcott all fled out to Joe Coffman and the sides were retired.

Steve Hodges slammed a double in the bottom of the second for the first hit of the game and advanced to third on an error. Charlie Moreno fled out to right field, but Hodges tagged up and came in for the first run of the game. Lynn Cook and David Stevens struck out to retire the sides in the bottom of the second inning.

Danny Price, Ritchie Crawford and Mike Shane fled out to retire the sides, but Bobby Wicker managed to get the first hit of the game off Haney, but was left stranded after the third out.

Larry Minks was the first batter for the Whitefaces in the bottom of the third inning and got a single on an error by the first baseman. Ronnie Duncan struck out, but Minks was advanced to second on two errors. Frank Cain was walked by Wicker, placing men on first and third.

Joe Coffman was issued a walk, which loaded the bases. Eugene Green fled out, bringing Minks in for the score and advancing Cain to third.

A wild throw allowed Cain to come in for the third Whiteface run and advanced Coffman to third. Steve Hodges slammed a single and Coffman came in for the fourth run. Charlie Moreno fled out retiring the sides, but not before the Herd had built up their commanding lead.

Larry Minks proved his value to the team once again as he demonstrated his ability to take over at midpoint in a game and pitch successfully.

Minks faced Tipping, Bice and Welch in the top of the fourth inning and struck out the three men in order.

In the bottom of the fourth inning, with the Herd still protecting their four run lead, Lynn Cook and Larry Minks both fled out to short-stop and David Stevens struck out retiring the sides.

Minks issued his only walk of the game as he walked Jim Nelms, the first batter he faced in the fifth. He gained complete composure immediately as he struck out Claude Westcott and Ritchie Crawford and Danny Price fled out to short stop to retire the sides.

Ronnie Duncan singled to centerfield, Frank Cain was struck out and Joe Coffman fled out to left-centerfield and Duncan was caught in a double-play and retired the sides.

Minks continued on his onslaught as he struck out Bobby Wicker and Mike Shane and Larry Tipping were tagged at first.

In the bottom of the sixth, Eugene Green was tagged at first, but Steve Hodges slammed a stand-up double and was advanced to third on a wild pitch. Charlie Moreno was struck out and Lynn Cook was walked placing men on first and third. David Stevens was walked, loading the bases.

Larry Minks was walked by Wicker, forcing in Hodges, and giving the Herd a 5-0 edge.

Ronnie Duncan was struck out to retire the sides. Frank Bice got a single and Teddy Welch was given a base on balls to tighten up the game on Minks. Jim Nelms was struck out and Claude Westcott was tagged at first, but Bice came in for the lone run scored by the Indians. Danny Price fled out for the final out.

The Indians received one run on two hits and were charged with five errors while the Herd got five runs off three hits and had no errors.

Jim Haney was given credit for both wins and Eddie Greenfield and Bobby Wicker were charged with the losses for the Indians.

board discussed the merits and disadvantages of this system and concluded that they would request the sheriff and the Chief of Police to appear at the next meeting of the board to discuss the suggestion.

The Parking and Traffic Control committee recommended that the angle of parking on Main Street be reduced from its present 48 degrees to a shallow angle; however, in the light of the fact that city engineering data had revealed that this would cost 18 parking places per block, the recommendation was withdrawn.

The board did accept the recommendation that the chamber take up with the county Commissioners Court the need to proceed with the proposal to pave the area formerly occupied by the old jail for parking of county employees.

The recommendations of the Recreation committee were accepted in full and referred to the Chamber of Commerce Recreation committee for implementation. The recommendations included a reference to the development of Veterans Park, the need for softball diamonds and the lighting of the school baseball field; the need for an enclosed swimming pool (it was brought out in the discussion that the Lions Club is now working on this as a club project), the need to expand the municipal golf course to 18 holes, the desirability of contacting the Young Men's Christian Association in regard to the possibility of extending their activities to Herford, and the need to study the feasibility and need to employ a full time director of recreation during the summer months.

The Water Conservation Committee, after study of the problem, stated "Participation in the Canadian River Water Authority is completely impractical from a cost and supply factor."

The City has adequate water reserves and has studied various means of increasing those reserves to provide for all probable future growth of Herford.

The board accepted the report and referred to the Chamber's water supply committee the recommendation "that a continuing study would be encouraged of the possibility of constructing a series of dams on Tierra Blanca Creek. The purpose of these dams would be for recreation with a secondary possibility that by slowing the flow of water a degree of recharge of the underground water supply might occur."

The Religious and Cultural Committee brought four recommendations to the Board, two of which the directors felt were not matters of concern to the chamber and not proper activities of the chamber while the other two were commended to the community. Those two recommendations were concerned with the creation of a little theater or other amateur dramatic outlet, and the need for a permanent scholarship fund for deserving and worthy Herford High School graduates.

The directors recorded a vote of thanks to all of the citizens who have participated in the Operating P.E.P. committees for their time and thought and to Clint Formby for his excellent chairmanship of the project. In other action the directors approved the recommendations of the Membership committee creating an incentive program for production in the selling of chamber memberships.

For wheat producers in compliance with program requirements, total production of wheat will be eligible for price support loans even though wheat acreage is in excess of wheat allotment because of substitution provisions.

Feed grain production of program cooperators will be eligible for price support loans when such crops are grown in place of wheat. If price support payments are authorized as part of 1955 feed grain program and feed grains are substituted for wheat, price support payments will be limited to normal production of the feed grain base less diverted acreage — (not less than required minimum diversion under feed grain program.)

Transfers, Land Purchases Set For Board Meet

Herford School board will hold its June meeting Tuesday night when members of the Walcott School board also will be present, Superintendent Paul Stevens said Saturday. The Walcott group will be here to sign the annual contract with Herford for transfer of high school pupils to the system here.

The board also will discuss various pieces of property which are being considered for future school sites, the superintendent said. A new junior high and a new elementary school are included on the system's long-range building program, part of a $2.4 million building project approved at a special bond election earlier in the year. The board for several weeks has been considering possible locations.

Another matter to be discussed will be the annual in-county transfers and bus operations for the new year. While most of the incoming teachers have already been named, "three or four" additional teachers are to be hired at Tuesday night's session, the superintendent said.

The schools are moving to activate the building program with a new elementary school first on the building agenda. The new additional elementary school is to be completed in time for use in the autumn of 1965.

FRIO NEWS

Frio's 5-Party Phone System Cutover Made

By Mrs. Owen Andrews and Mrs. Charles Sell

Change-over of the Frio Exchange of the R.T.A. was begun Wednesday. The new cream brick building housing the equipment is located just north of the Frio Baptist Church and the area served reaches from Summerfield to south of Easter to Wyche.

Workmen have been on the job from early to late at night for the past several weeks to get the exchange in operation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Simpson have been away visiting for about three weeks, returning last week with their granddaughter, Mrs. Bill Cotton. Mr. Cotton and children went to Brownwood after them. They had visited a daughter, Mrs. Leon Roberts and family, Wellington; a granddaughter, Mrs. Ronnie Ford and family, Dodson, and other relatives in the area. Also visited was their daughter, Mrs. Sam Lindley and family, Brownwood, and relatives at Grand Prairie, Ft. Worth, Hamlin and Dallas. A grandson, Lloyd Lindley, returned home with them for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Lindley and her mother, Mrs. Greeson, were visiting their son, Sam Lindley and family in Brownwood, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Baldwin and Mrs. B. H. Baldwin were visiting their grandmother and mother-in-law, Mrs. Anna Baldwin, and other relatives in Albuquerque, last weekend. Mrs. Anna Baldwin has been ill and in the hospital but is improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Sparkman went to Lubbock Saturday, and brought her brothers, Howard and Roland Livesay, home with them for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Earp, Dallas, and daughters brought her mother, Mrs. B. H. Baldwin home last week after a several week-visit with her children in the Dallas area.

Mrs. George Zetsche, Ann and Cay, visited Mrs. Zetsches' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Andrews Saturday night and Sunday. Their husband and father was on an outing with his brothers in the Red River area. He reports much snow yet in the New Mexico mountains and frost at night in the valleys.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harkins and Mr. and Mrs. Homer West went to Amarillo Friday evening jointly to celebrate their wedding anniversaries, all three of which occurred June 1. They had dinner in an Amarillo restaurant and visited together.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Lamb and their grandsons, Donnie and Lonnie Lamb, were visiting the W. H. Andrews home recently. Mrs. Lamb is a sister of Mrs. Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Lamb and baby daughter, Marlowe, visited Monday through Wednesday in the W. H. Andrews home. Lamb is a nephew of Mrs. Andrews.

Ninety persons were enrolled in vacation Bible school at Frio last week. Wednesday, Mrs. Alex Thompson, Hereford, spoke to primary, junior and intermediate groups on mission work and Gloria Baptist Assembly.

The Rev. Carlos Gruber Plainview, also spoke to some of the groups on Friday morning. He is to conduct Saturday evening and Sunday services at the church, also. Mr. Gruber plans to move from this area after a summer evangelistic program in Europe. His wife is a professor at Wayland College and plans to transfer to an Eastern one.

Mrs. Dovie Isbell, Tahoka, and Mrs. Flora Wallace, Ardmore, Okla., have been visiting their sister, Mrs. G. W. Parker for the past two weeks. Last weekend they and the Parkers visited a brother, W. O. Stalcup in Odessa. The Parkers also visited at Tahoka Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Yandell have moved into a new three

COMMISSIONED — Cecil D. Hammonds, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hammonds, Star Route, Vega, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force upon graduation from OTS at Lackland AFB, Texas. He is a graduate of Vega High School and Texas Tech. His wife, Martha, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Tucker, Vega. (U. S. Price Favors 'Protection' Of U. S. Sugar

Bob Price, Pampa rancher and banker and Republican candidate for Congress, has called for "protection of our free enterprise market in sugar, as in all commodities."

In a special news statement to the Brand, Price said: "Congress has proved beyond the slightest doubt that it cannot farm, ranch, manufacture, or distribute goods and services without a terrifying waste of the tax dollar."

Price was especially concerned over prospects of foreign sugar exports coming in to weaken the American market. He recalled: "The American farmer diversified when the major supplies of foreign sugar were cut off. He went into the beet and cane sugar industries to benefit the people, and to profit himself. Now that thousands of families are in the domestic sugar market, it is imperative that the imports of sugar be held to the level of need. If we cannot consume our own production, we should be selling other markets, and not forced to compete with other nations for our own customers."

"We have seen the disastrous results of allowing foreign countries to export their surplus production to this country where we pay much higher prices than they could get many other places. In many cases, countries ship commodities here, while their own consumers suffer from a shortage. They have lower labor costs, and our trade tariffs favor many such nations. Naturally, this unnatural competition will force prices down and deny our producers the fair prices that pay costs and leave a little profit."

Price has been outspoken of the Federal Aid programs on wheat, cotton, and the threat of Federal intrusion of the beef cattle industry.

In his visits to the Hereford area, Price has been impressed with the progress made here in the beet sugar industry. "This new and promising addition to our Panhandle economy must have every chance to survive and flourish. It would be fiscal neglect for the U. S. Government to allow our own hard-working, tax-paying citizens to risk their capital and effort in an enterprise, only to have the results weakened by unfair and needless foreign competition."

bedroom house, which they had moved onto the location where their other house stood. The other house was moved several days earlier to a location about a quarter mile east and the new house was moved in last week.

REAL QUIET

Miami — A southwestern suburban resident told the county zoning board he moved to the area for peace and quiet, but wasn't happy with all the quiet he would get.

The board had given permission for a 50-acre cemetery to be built near the man's home.

18-Year-Olds To Take Mental, Physical Exams

The first official call directing the physical and mental examination of 18-year-old males by state boards is scheduled to be placed in the mail Wednesday, Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said this week.

The quota, effective in July, directs the examination of 1,816 Texas 18-year-olds in that month. These youths will not be considered for armed forces service at this time, Col. Schwartz pointed out. Normally, a man is not reached for draft induction until about age 22.

Instead, their examination is the result of President Johnson's action on January 5, announcing that he was ordering the Director of Selective Service and the Secretary of Defense to examine all newly-registered men who are out of school and otherwise available for service.

Men married at age 18 and those known to be continuing in school currently will not be examined under the program. Also, high school graduates whose draft files show they intend to enter college the following semester will not be ordered for examination. If a high school graduate plans to enter college this summer or fall, he should notify his draft board immediately.

Swimming Lessons Available In Green Acres Pool

The new swimming pool at Green Acres Estates is now nearing completion with construction of the bath and club house portion of the pool is now underway. The pool itself is almost completed and it won't be long before area residents will be enjoying the comforts of a private, heated swimming pool, according to Reuben Aasland, developer of the Green Acres addition.

"This facility will be strictly deluxe," says Aasland, "and we hope to have it completed in the very near future." The pool will be heated and will also have a club house along with the bath houses for the convenience of the residents. The entire facility will be enclosed with an 8 ft. high solid block fence.

"There's nothing in Hereford like it," says Aasland, "and we want everyone to know that memberships are now available by invitation." Residents outside the Green Acres addition interested in membership in the pool are invited to fill out the coupon below and mail to Hereford Development Co. The number of memberships will be limited however, and those interested should contact Hereford Development Co. for further information.

"We believe that a pool serving only members will be an asset to this end of town," Aasland said, and stated that the pool will be equipped with the finest filtering system made, guard during the season. "We've overlooked nothing to make and will be staffed with a life this Hereford's first and finest planned community, including a shopping center and schools as the area develops." A complete section of land is available if demand for houses continues as they have in the past, the Corporation president indicated pointing out that the streets will be opened as needed and that the houses will be of the finest construction, regardless of the price range.

"In fact," says Aasland, "we encourage you to have your own contractor build your home here." He pointed out that lots were available to reliable contractors and to individuals, but asserted again that homes built in the area would have to meet deed restrictions and be "constructed to stay."

This area will also be the first in Hereford to include a complete network of underground utilities. "If we could find a way to put the TV antennas underground, we'd do it," Aasland said. However, the absence of electrical utility poles will be "something new" for Hereford. Parties interested in purchasing lots in the sub-division for future use, or those wanting to construct homes now are urged to contact Reuben Aasland for details.

"Lots will be sold on installment plan to those qualifying," he said. A limited number of memberships are now available by invitation. For detailed information, fill out the blank below and return.

I am interested in membership in the swimming pool group, now being formed in Green Acres Estates. I understand that this inquiry is for information only, and does not obligate me in any way.

MORSE AND HIS SPOUSE, IF EVER MARRIED, AND IF THEY BE DECEASED, TO THE HEIRS, THE UNKNOWN HEIRS AND LEGAL REPRESENTATIVES OF THE SAID WILLIAM E. TOMPKINS, AND HIS SPOUSE, AND CHAS. H. MORSE, AND HIS SPOUSE, Defendants, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear by filing a written answer to the Plaintiff's Petition at or before ten o'clock A.M. of the first Monday after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being Monday the 6th day of July, 1964, at or before ten o'clock A.M. before the Honorable District Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas, at the Court House of said County in Hereford, Texas.

Said Plaintiff's Petition was filed in said court, on the 20th day of May A. D. 1964, in this cause, numbered 4801 on the docket of said court, and styled, Della Stagner, a feme sole Plaintiff, vs. William E. Tompkins, et al, Defendants.

The names of the parties to the cause are as follows: "Della Stagner, a feme sole, are Plaintiffs and William E. Tompkins, and if ever married, and his spouse; Chas. H. Morse, and if ever married, his spouse, and if they be deceased, the heirs, the unknown heirs and legal representatives of the said William E. Tompkins and his spouse, and Chas. H. Morse and his spouse, and all persons claiming any interest in the property herein described, are Defendants.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit:

"Plaintiff sues in trespass to try title for the absolute title to and possession of the following described real estate situated in Deaf Smith County, Texas: All of Lot 5, and the North 104 feet of Lot 6 of Thompson's Subdivision of the Northwest acre of Block 10, Evans Addition to the Town of Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas, as shown by a map or plat of said Subdivision of record in Vol. 65, page 401, Deed Records of Deaf Smith County, Texas.

Plaintiff alleges she has title to the above described land by reason of the three, five, ten and twenty-five year Statutes of Limitation, and further prays that any right, title or interest

Pete Progress
speaking for the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce

"Let George Do It" is becoming a too familiar theme in Hereford, Pete fumed. He had just come from a meeting of the Rail and Motor Freight Committee of his Chamber of Commerce and was pretty upset. "Just what is the matter, Pete?" I asked in an effort to get at the bottom of the thing that was obviously bothering him.

"Hereford has long been known all over the country for its outstanding leadership, its large corps of willing workers and boosters, and for its aggressive and progressive people—but suddenly there are not enough 'Georges' to go around. Take the meeting this morning. For some time many comments concerning problems relative to delivery of motor freight and other freight problems have been voiced by Hereford businessmen. With a view to collecting the information necessary to present the problems to the carrier and to work towards a solution, the committee charged with the responsibility called a special meeting.

"Over 100 invitations were mailed to Hereford businessmen, explaining the purpose of the meeting, and detailing the time and place but just one showed up." Wrong time, wrong place, whatever the reason, the problem was apparently not big enough to cause the members to want to take a few minutes to help find a solution. Perhaps 'George' will do it—but he didn't—and, the bad thing is that this is not just an isolated example of 'George'ism.

"Mothers are eager for their sons, to be Cub Scouts, even angry if they aren't given the opportunity—but not nearly enough will accept the responsibility of providing the adult leadership necessary to be Den mothers. 'Mrs. George will do it—I'm too busy'. Fathers are anxious for their sons to be Little Leaguers or Pony Leaguers—but George will have to coach or umpire or keep score—I'm too busy. When it came time to work on the new Little League Parks almost none of the fathers of the boys participating in the program showed up to help. Most of the work was done by the Jaycees, by a few dedicated men and by employees of Southwestern Public Service Co. most of whom did not even have boys in the program.

"The same problems are being experienced by Camp Fire Girls, by the Civil Air Patrol, by Civic Clubs, study clubs, and veterans organizations—just a very few people are carrying all of the load. There is almost a feeling, sometimes even openly expressed, that this is something owed to people, just don't ask me to do it!

"Without belaboring the point further, I can only say that Hereford and Deaf Smith County can only keep at the head of the pack by a rebirth of the old spirit typified by the question: 'What can I Do To Help?'

Could anyone argue with Pete's feeling on this?

Love, Devotion To A Country Is Patriotism

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is another essay by a member of the Dawn Boys' 4-H club, Neil McAndrews wrote this essay on patriotism. He is 10-years-old.

Patriotism is a word that is long and is used by many people. I looked it up in the dictionary and it means a love of country; devotion to the welfare of one's country. In another book it said that word patriot comes from patres, a Latin word that meant the heads of the tribes of ancient Rome. My mother said patriotism meant a love of the country of one's father and grandfather and great-grandfather. My ancestors came to this country from Ireland where they were not allowed to attend school not to go to church and finally, they were starved to death by the millions.

In this country, they found work waiting for them; work and land for the taking. Children not only had schools to go to; they were made to go to school by the law of the land. One could go to church if he pleased. As soon as one became a naturalized citizen, it was his duty to vote, to elect the people who governed the country. No one needed a passport to travel between one state and another. The United State was one country.

My ancestors, on both sides of the family, became farmers. Not many of the Irish did this, my father says, because they had had enough of farming in the Old Country. They worked very hard... there is a story in our family about one great-grandfather, who worked very fine day; then on rainy days, he would go and grub out stumps of trees on the land he was clearing. The difference in farming in this country was that the land belonged to them and they could hand it on to their sons and their son's sons, which they could never do in the land they were born in.

My ancestors loved this country for the freedom it gave them, for the opportunity it offered. They taught my parents to love this country and now they are teaching me. We go on trips in vacation time and we see all the beautiful places there are in the United States. There are travelers from other countries who say the United States is the same all over; the same hamburger stands, the same gas stations, the same city halls and courthouses in squares in the middle of towns whether it is a town in Maine or one in Nevada.

In a way this is true and it is one of the reasons why an American feels at home wherever he goes in this country of ours and why we think of ourselves as Americans, not Texans. The United States offers its citizens the same freedoms and protection whether they live in a crowded New York apartment or on a lonely Colorado mountain-side.

Grown-ups sometimes complain about one thing or another about our country, but I have heard some of them talk after they have visited another country and compared it with ours. I have heard some of them talk when someone has written or said something that is not true about our country. I think the grown-ups feel they can criticize all they like because they know and they expect everyone else to know, that they think this is a wonderful country, but an outsider had better not say one word that is not nice, because they will surely be in trouble. I think 4-H boys and girls can be called patriots because we do love our country and support its authority and interests. We love our country because it is our homeland, the best land in the world for an American citizen.

By Melvin Young
The vacation season is here. June has rolled around and we hardly know where winter and spring have gone. It seems like yesterday that we were returning from a very memorable vacation trip and settling down for another school year. Now it's time for vacations again and we're wondering if we have saved enough during the winter months to take a summer trip. Probably not.

But many folks have, for the highways have filled in the past two weeks with motorists traveling in every direction. Many from Hereford, we're sure, have left for their annual summer trips, or will be leaving within a few days. June seems to be quite popular as a vacation month. . . due we're sure, to the fact that people want to get away from the routine just as soon as possible. . . and that is usually immediately after the school year closes.

Many teachers will be returning to summer classes to further their educations. . . others will be finding summer jobs to supplement family incomes. . . and still others will be heading for a short respite from a trying year.

Yellow Coloring Of Grain Shows Need For Iron
By Bill Bennett, Agronomist

Some grain sorghum will usually start to turn yellow within 10 to 14 days after it comes up. This type of yellowing usually occurs on the gray soils which occur to some extent on almost every farm in this area of the High Plains. These gray soils are highly calcareous with a lot of free calcium carbonate present and usually have a soil pH of 8.0 to 8.3.

This yellowing, called iron chlorosis, is usually caused by a lack of available iron in the soil. The high calcium carbonate content keeps the iron in the soil in an unavailable form. The obvious control is to apply iron or reduce the soil pH so that iron will become available.

Possible controls include the spraying of iron on the plant, addition of iron compounds to the soil and reducing soil pH with the use of sulphur or sulphur-containing fertilizers. The first two are temporary controls and the latter is a permanent control. The addition of iron compounds to the soil has some drawbacks since availability of some iron compounds can be reduced when applied to the soil. An example is the soil application of iron sulphate in which the iron reverts quickly to an unavailable form when applied to the soil. Some new types of iron compounds will be available which will keep the iron in an available form. The use of sulphur of sulphur-containing compounds has promise but we need to look at several points in regard to their use. For the time being, let's look only at the foliar application of iron and discuss the other two in a later column.

Iron sulphate (Copperas) can be applied on the plant as a spray application. For one acre, mix 4 pounds of iron sulphate in 20 gallons of water plus one-half teaspoon of a wetting agent. This first spray should be applied when plants are 10 to 15 days old. A second spray should be applied about 2 weeks later. In areas where chlorosis is severe, a third spray may be needed if the chlorosis reappears.

Yield increases will depend on the severity of the chlorosis. Most of our gray soils will produce around 4,000 pounds grain per acre. An additional 1000 lbs. per acre can normally be expected from the application of the iron. Where chlorosis is exceptionally bad, yields may be only 1000 to 2000 lbs. grain per acre. In these cases, an additional 1500 to 2000 lbs. grain can be expected.

Meanwhile, the farmers are staying busy in the fields. Most are trying to keep the young crops watered. . . and precious little help they have had from "Mother Nature". But in spite of the lack of rainfall, the crops throughout the irrigated area seem to be better than ever. Milo is getting started, while many potato and onion fields are nearing maturity. It won't be long before some of the vegetables will be harvested. Carrots and sugar beets are also progressing nicely, as well as the cotton crop. All in all it looks pretty good.

And probably the number one topic of conversation around town the past few days, is the showing of the Hereford Whiteface baseball team, which came from defeat in the first of a three game series, to thoroughly trounce their foe and win the bi-district championship. The Hereford team, after losing the first game to Seminole by a score of 11 to 4, came back to win the championship by beating the Seminole Indians two in a row; 9 to 3 and 5 to 1.

A mighty fine showing for a mighty fine team.

National politics seem to be keeping the news wires hot, particularly in the Republican presidential nominee race. Many top politicians now consider Senator Barry Goldwater a shoo-in for the Republican top spot, and certainly President Johnson will be the standard bearer for the Democrats. It should be an interesting battle when the big guns are turned loose for the fall campaign.

We suppose we're just naturally for the under dog, but it always makes us happy when the "polls" are thrown for a loss as they most certainly have been in at least three of the primary elections. . . New Hampshire, Oregon, and California.

And as another week passes, we are still receiving both written and oral compliments concerning the new book by Bessie Patterson. The book, "A History of Deaf Smith County" is being received favorably by all who have had the opportunity to scan its pages. First edition autograph-

From the time that the first man and woman set foot on this earth, it has taken approximately 1.5 million years for mankind to reach its first billion living people. This population of 1 billion was achieved about 1830. It required only 100 years for the population to total 2 billion around 1930.

Furthermore, it has required only 30 years for the world population to reach 3 billion (in 1960) and the most recent estimate of the United Nations Committee on World Population is that it will take only 15 years to add the fourth billion and only 10 additional years to add the fifth billion.

It is estimated that 6 or 7 billion people will be living on this planet at the turn of the century.

In spite of this, many agricultural leaders tell us that this nation will always be faced with a surplus food problem.

All Delta Xi delegates are past officers or officers-elect of the chapter.

Travel is booming in Hereford. Shown on this page are only a few of the local delegates who will attend state, national, or international conventions of their respective clubs or organizations. Expanding the travel index, too, are families taking their vacations in early summer.

Hereford delegates to B&PW Convention, Mrs. Kathleen Baker, and Mrs. C. Ora Cockrell, had other attractions on the Fort Worth agenda — Botanic Gardens, Amon G. Carter Museum of Western Art, Casa Manana, "The Sound of Music," and Six Flags over Texas. At close of convention today, Mrs. Baker visits Eastern Star Home in Arlington.

At Delta Kappa Gamma's June 12-14 convention in Dallas, with headquarters at Hotel Adolphus, Miss Lucille Park and Miss Della Stagner will follow the theme "Challenges Unlimited." They will take a pre-convention tour of Dallas and attend a fellowship evening in Dallas Garden Center at Fair Park.

In Rochester Mrs. Lois Hollingsworth will participate in B.P.O. DOES Grand Lodge election of officers and their installation. She was Hereford delegate to the 1963 convention in Los Angeles, Calif.

Careerwise, Miss Sheryl Patterson covers a tour of the nation in her July service as chaperone for American Field Service. From past experience she knows that association with foreign exchange students and other co-chaperones will be rewarding. She looks forward to the long weekends when counsellors and students will be guests of families in cities of the several stops to help the students know America better.

Attending the Rotary International Convention in Toronto, Canada are Mr. and Mrs. Don Baugous, 228 Avenue B. From there they will visit Niagara Falls and the World's Fair before Baugous returns to Hereford. Mrs. Baugous and the children will visit in Nebraska and Iowa before ending the vacation July 1.

Leaving by automobile on July 1, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Holt go to Toronto for the Lions International Convention July 8-11. Side trips afterward include the World's Fair.

Delegates from 4-H Clubs left Monday by automobile caravan for the annual Round-up at College Station. Adult leaders of the clubs accompanied the group.

Rainbow Girls leave by chartered bus June 13 to attend Grand Assembly in San Antonio. The Hereford delegation will include 15 girls and their sponsors; they will be joined by three girls and their sponsors from Friona. Mrs. James C. Mercer is the Mother Advisor for the Hereford assembly.

Taking June vacation are Dr. and Mrs. Roy Grubbs and their family. They are enjoying cabin life on the Gulf coast, with a trip to New Orleans scheduled before returning to Hereford.

Other trippers include many who make post-vacation reviews of their fun, and others planning trips for later summer calendar.

Former Hereford Man Weds In Turkey Church

Miss Marsene Baisden, daughter of Clesby Lynn Patterson, Hereford, were married in the First Methodist Church at Turkey, with the bridegroom's father, the Rev. Clesby Patterson, former pastor of Wesley Methodist Church in Hereford, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett B. Baisden, Turkey, and the bridegroom's parents are the Rev. Patterson and Mrs. Patterson, Fritch.

The double ring ceremony was read before an altar flanked by baskets of white stock, turquoise carnations, and lemon leaves. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white formal gown of lace with underlay of silk organza. The buttoned lace jacket with elbow length sleeves, edged the tier-ruffled skirt topped by white satin cummerbund. Her elbow length veil of silk tulle fell from a headpiece of white organza roses. She carried a cascade of white carnations.

Honor attendant, Miss Sara Turner, Turkey, cousin of the bride; and Kermit Rutledge, Merkel, served as best man.

Ushers were Bob Baisden, Lubbock, and Jim Baisden, Memphis, brothers of the bride. Mrs. Keith Rogers, Turkey, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Mrs. Jim Baisden, Memphis, as she sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

A reception followed the ceremony in the church chapel.

After a short trip the couple will be at home in Silvertown, where the bride is employed by Simpson Chevrolet Company. After his furlough following basic training at Fort Polk, La., the bridegroom will report to Fort Gordon, Ga., for further military service.

A graduate of Turkey High School, the bride attended Draughton's Business College. Patterson graduated from Merkel High School and attended West Texas State University, Canyon, and North Texas State, Denton.

Summer Camp Is Planned

Hereford Camp Fire Girls are registering now for summer camp, advises Mrs. Philip Barkley, administrative secretary of the Hereford Camp Fire Council. All registrations must be in by June 12.

Mrs. Barkley will be in the Camp Fire office, Park Avenue and 9th St., daily, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. She can be reached by phone at EM4-0395 or EM4-0677.

Campers will go to Pine Lodge, Capitan, N.M., again this year. First session will be July 27 to August 1; second session, August 3-8.

Hereford Council has secured the services of Miss Thelma Murff, 1964 graduate of West Texas State University, as Camp Director for both sessions. Camp Fire leaders will go as counselors and the Horizon Club members will be assistant counselors.

Campers' program for this year will concentrate on outdoor living, hiking, nature study, horseback riding, sports and games, folk games and singing, and special First Aid courses. Evening activities will include stunt night, hay ride, cabin group competition night, and camp ceremonial.

Special activities at camp are being planned for Junior High and Horizon Club members.

Registration lists for both sessions still have room for additional girls.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Barrett, 203 Park Avenue, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Barbara Ann Barrett, to Henry Virgil Ranspot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat H. Ranspot.

First Presbyterian Church, Hereford, will be the setting of the couple's July 11 wedding. The Rev. Russell A. Wingert will officiate.

Miss Barrett, a 1964 graduate of Hereford High School, is attending summer session of West Texas State University.

The future bridegroom served three years in the U.S. Army, a year and one-half tour of duty having been in Fairbanks, Alaska. At present he is engaged in farming near Hereford.

Brogdon Gets Degree At OSU

James M. Brogdon, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Brogdon of 203 Ave. J, Has received his B. A. Degree from Oklahoma State University in Stillwater.

During the past four years Jim has participated in the many activities of OSU by holding office in 10 different clubs and sororities. He served as president of the Student Council of OSU, vice-president of the Art Club for two years and held seven offices in his social fraternity, Phi Delta Theta.

He also helped organize a religious group on the campus known as the United Christian Campus Fellowship. Brogdon served as a member of the Student Conduct Committee by appointment of the University president Dr. Oliver S. Willham. He designed three magazine covers for the Campus Publication and has taught art as an instructor at the college for the past five semesters.

At his graduation he was awarded a Certificate of Merit by the Reserve Officers and Training Corps, stating that he was a "Distinguished Military Student" and finished in the top three percent of his ROTC class.

Jim has accepted a regular army commission as a Second Lieutenant in the Army and will go to Fort Bragg, N.C. in the near future where he will report for his first assignment in the 82nd Airborne Division of the service.

Rainbow Ceremony For Officers Held

Miss Jo Frances Deavenport became new Worthy Advisor of the Order of Rainbow Girls, Hereford Assembly No. 157, at installation ceremonies in Masonic Hall Saturday evening, May 30. At her request, Miss Deavenport was installed by her mother, Mrs. Sunny Deavenport.

Outgoing Worthy Advisor was Miss Peggy Allred.

Mrs. Beth Miller was installing Worthy Advisor. Installing Officers assisting her were Miss Janie Noland, chaplain; Mrs. Betty Jean Gallagher, musician; Miss LaReece Askew, recorder; Miss Patty Roach, marshal.

Other officers for the new term are as follows: Worthy Assistant Advisor, Miss Ann Mercer; Charity, Miss Denise King; Hope, Miss Judy Summers; Faith, Miss Carole Coffey, Chaplain, Miss Cindy Jones; Drill leader, Miss Nancy Gripp; Love, Miss Barbara Brownlow; Religion, Miss Jean Ann Gore.

Also installed were Miss Nancy Boyer, Nature; Miss Sue Drummond, Immortality; Miss Kathy Miller, Fidelity; Miss Vickie Brownlow, Patriotism; Miss Beverly Noyes, Confidential Observer; Miss Patsy Stoy, Outer Observer; Miss Janis Smith, Musician; and Miss Sharon Lewis, Choir Director.

Miss Mar-Gwen Lackey sang "Let There Be Peace on Earth." Mrs. Dorothy Noland, Worthy Matron of Hereford Chapter of Order of Eastern Star, gave a tribute to the flag.

As a theme for her term in office, the Worthy Advisor chose "Love Through Service." For her motto, she adopted the late President Kennedy's declaration "Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country." Her guiding Bible passage will be I Corinthians 13:4-8, well-known scripture of love.

Miss Patty Roach, Installing Marshal, presented to the new Worthy Advisor her gavel of crystal with silver band.

As Miss Deavenport had chosen red and white as her colors, each new officer carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of red roses. The East displayed a bouquet of red roses, with miniature madonna overlooking a Masonic Bible.

Mrs. Geneva Summers and Mrs. Irene Holt, members of the Rainbow Advisory Board, served refreshments. The lace covered serving table was centered with silver candelabra carrying candles in rainbow colors. Other appointments were in crystal.

Assisting in the ceremonies also was Mrs. James C. Mercer, present Mother Advisor of the Assembly.

Miss Deavenport is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Deavenport.

Hereford Couple's Son Named Co-ordinator of Power Firms

A. P. Jones, son of Mrs. A. M. Jones of Hereford, planning engineer for Central Power and Light Co., has been named manager and coordinator for the South Electric Companies operations. The SCEC group is composed of 11 investor-owned companies who recently joined together to exchange electric power among themselves and with the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The new power pool plans to build and operate more miles of extra-high voltage electric transmission lines than any other similar group in the world. The South Central Electric Companies will build more than 1,500 miles of 345,000 and 500,000-volt inter-connections between the member companies.

Jones will direct the SCEC operations center — which is expected to include computer and dispatching facilities — and coordinate the flow of power between the participating firms and the Tennessee Valley Authority. The SCEC system will operate in Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri.

To improve the efficiency of both systems, the South Central Electric Companies will exchange 1 1/2 million kilowatts of electricity with the TVA. During the winter months, when the SCEC companies have a power surplus, power from the investor-owned companies will flow into the TVA system. The SCEC companies will be repaid by TVA in the summer months when the TVA has surplus capacity.

The exchange agreement will reduce the amount of power plant capacity required by both systems and result in more efficient operation for both the TVA and the investor-owned companies.

Jones will spend several months in New Orleans conducting engineering studies for the operations center. Site of the organization's operations center has not yet been selected. Mrs. Jones and their children, Robert 15, and Martha, 13, will continue to live at 521 Bermuda, Corpus Christi, while Jones is in New Orleans.

As a member of the Edison Electric Institute's power pooling committee, Jones has been active in national efforts to coordinate and plan additional power interconnections between investor-owned electric companies.

A native of Hereford, Texas, and an electrical engineering graduate of Texas A&M University, he has been CPL planning engineer since 1953. He served in the Navy during World War II and the Korean Conflict, and previously worked for the Bureau of Reclamation, Texas Power and Light Company and in private business.

Jones is president of the Yule Toy Board in Corpus Christi, president of the Corpus Christi

Garrisons Get Tech Degrees

Both Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Garrison were graduated from Texas Technological College last Saturday, each receiving a bachelor of science degree.

Garrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Garrison, Route 2, majored in agricultural economics. He was a 1960 graduate of Hereford High School and that year was winner of the Fighting Whiteface Award.

His wife, the former Miss Joyce Curtis, Olton, received her degree in elementary education.

They and their small son, Kerry Don, will make their home eight miles south of Friona, where Garrison operates his farm.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Garrison, Sharon and Pam, attended the Texas Tech commencement and the President's tea honoring the graduating seniors last Saturday.

Miss Roberson Returns To Baylor

Miss Sandra Roberson, 402 Union, returned Sunday to Baylor University, Waco, to work on a Master of Arts degree during the summer session. She is majoring in English.

Miss Roberson will teach in Lubbock Public School System during the 1964-65 school year. She will receive her specific assignment in August.

Miss Roberson is the daughter of the Deward B. Robersons, with whom she has spent a brief vacation.

Argen Draper To Get Master's Degree In Family Economics

Argen Draper, county home demonstration agent in Deaf Smith County for 18 years, leaves next Tuesday for Denton to enroll in Texas Woman's University for the summer term.

She will receive her master's degree in family economics and home economics education at the August 28 graduation exercises.

Her work for the most part will be completion of her thesis which she has entitled, "Business Practices of Families in Deaf Smith County."

Mrs. Draper, wife of Tom Draper, is a graduate of Texas Tech holding a bachelor of science degree in home economics education.

Before coming here, she served as home demonstration agent in Hemphill county, Canadian.

Mrs. Draper is a native of Wellington, and before becoming a home demonstration agent she taught school for seven years in Collingsworth county.

During her three-months' leave, Assistant Home Demonstration Agent Jean Beene will direct the work here, aided by the home demonstration club leaders. She will return to her desk here Sept. 1.

Trashy Literature Offers Challenge To Community

The City of Hereford this week named and authorized a committee of citizens to investigate the sale of obscene literature through distribution channels in Hereford. Ultimate goal of the movement, it seems, is to wipe out availability of objectional material.

We also noticed that The Brand, in reporting the event, consistently spelled the word lewd as "lude," which is pretty well indicative of the entire situation and, perhaps, should even preclude any privilege we might have to discuss the situation.

It is not our purpose to uphold the distribution of obscene or lewd material; furthermore, we definitely agree that a considerable amount of the material now being distributed serves no worthwhile or gainful purpose. At the same time, it is questionable in our minds if the city will be able to successfully legislate and enforce a set of morals on the community any more than they would be able to tell us what we can eat or at what particular stores we are to personally trade.

As a beginner, we sincerely believe that we can find, questionable material in the county library and school libraries as well as on the news stands. In spots, even the Holy Bible occasionally uses some plain language, and we always considered the escapades of David and Lot a bit on the risqué side.

This censorship thing has been in existence through the history of our nation, beginning back with the Pilgrims — and when Boston "bans a book" it is generally tantamount to guaranteed success and new sales records. The question invariably arises on what constitutes literature and what constitutes trash — and we doubt if there is an answer with which everyone will agree.

On the other hand, we definitely agree

California Vote Boosts Liberals

The California primaries this week attracted wide interest and, although nothing definite appears to be settled between Goldwater and Rockefeller in their bid for GOP nomination, it does seem that the California primaries pretty well set up the Democrats as almost sure to carry that area next fall.

The Republicans, with Goldwater appearing as an extreme conservative and Rockefeller carrying an ultra liberal banner, proved that there exists a "neck and neck" division of opinion within the California GOP ranks. The Democrats, on the other hand, represent the same liberal thinking as the Rockefeller division of the Republicans — and any way you add it up, the answer pretty well comes out in favor of the liberals. At least, we didn't hear of any conservatives running on such a close basis in the Democratic tabulations.

Because people frequently do cross party lines in general elections, many deductions point to the fact that Americans do endorse and approve of the current liberal trends now in vogue and, whether we like it or not, that is probably what is going to happen for at least another four years. If liberal Mr. Johnson runs against liberal Mr. Rocky, the question will be "Which liberal do we want?" On the other hand, if Goldwater faces Johnson, the issues will be clear-cut and, in our opinion, the race will be much closer. To say the least, the conservative element of the nation will have had a choice.

with the city and with members of the committee in that something should be done. Our only dissent is "what" and "by whom." Because morals, like manners, are personal with each family and with each individual, it seems to us that this matter of censorship should be conducted vigorously in the home, encouraged from the pulpit and through every media, including this newspaper.

If people cease buying trashy literature, dealers will quit offering it for sale and publishers ultimately will stop printing it. Banning it in Hereford, in our opinion, will definitely emphasize its existence and send a deluge of buyers into Dimmitt, Friona, Canyon and Amarillo to haul it back in wholesale quantities. This has happened other places, and it will certainly happen here.

Besides, we didn't elect the mayor and city commissioners to tell us what we can eat, what we can read, or with whom we can associate or have a date. Frankly, we think they could most easily overstep the bounds of their authority.

Dairy Business Has Ups-Downs

In looking over the recently released book, "A History of Deaf Smith County," we were impressed indeed with the emphasis previously placed on local dairy production in years past, and with the amount of trouble which frequently occurred from inadequate milk supplies.

Dairy production has shown a tendency to decline here in recent years, while most other phases of our local economy has gone in the opposite direction. Even the local creamery, organized some three or four decades back, is now operated as a distribution point for area imports.

Finally, we chalked it up to modern methods, and let it go at that. Back in the old days before adequate refrigeration and modern, refrigerated trucks, it is easy to see why a tremendous emphasis would be placed on local milk production and rapid deliveries. Consequently, the growth of central distribution of milk and dairy products has expanded along with the times — and we feel sure this is probably a repetition of the same story to be found all over the country. Producers who held on and helped feed the central plants are also waning in this territory, we presume because they have discovered other fields of endeavor which they consider more profitable.

At the same time, we are inclined to predict that the dairy industry will, not too many years hence, make a come-back in the territory. This will be due to our proximity to Amarillo, which is a growing market, and to the fact that irrigation methods and climate establish the Hereford area an ideal location for the operation of a dairy industry with a glowing future. Such, at least, has been the experience of numerous other agricultural areas with similar locations and background.

College Degree License To Try

Texas A. and M. College recently released some figures centered around college graduates, and some of the salaries which the graduates will draw. The whole item left the impression with us that a person with a college degree "had it made," regardless of other things.

We are definitely for education, and believe it to be a wonderful thing. On the other hand, it seems to us that education should be sold on a more realistic basis than that of earning power, or even dollars and cents.

While it is essential to engineering, science and a few other fields, the vast majority of American business will advance people on their ability, industry and energetic application. We know of many college graduates, in fact, who struggle to survive, just as we know of many non-college people who have forged ahead to enviable positions in the world of finance and business.

More often a college education, generally based on arts and sciences, creates an appetite for spending more money, rather than earning and saving it. More often, too, the average graduate who finds employment or who opens his own business still has a lot to learn before he masters the situation — and some never do.

Instead of assuming that the average college graduate finds the world to be "his oyster," it seems far more practical that he or she should consider the old sheepskin to be the equivalent of a hunting license which entitles the bearer to compete in a hazardous field which has thrown thousands of people into the bar ditch along a busy highway. The degree can be of much value, but it definitely carries no guarantee of glory and achievement; in fact, it doesn't even have a built-in insurance policy which assures even moderate success.

TEXAN IN WASHINGTON

Wives Of Solons Have Busy, Busy Schedules

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON, (AP) — Wives of Texas members of Congress are almost as busy as their husbands these days.

They are being called upon to help show visiting constituents around the nation's capital. And with the New York World's Fair to draw them East, Texans are arriving in record numbers this year.

"That's one way we can take some of the load off our husbands," commented the wife of Rep. W. R. Poage, D. Waco.

Mrs. Poage might have added that, like some of the other wives who once worked as secretaries, she sometimes pitches in to help clear up the correspondence that piles up in her husband's office.

As an example of what the wives do when the visitors arrive, Mrs. Poage recently managed to get tickets for four Waco women to attend a breakfast honoring Lady Bird Johnson, the First Lady. Later that day they were guests of Mrs. Poage in the House restaurant at the Capitol.

The four, here for a conference of Democratic women leaders, were Mrs. Ray Hicks, Mrs. George Nokes, Mrs. Virginia Smith and Mrs. John Sheehy.

Recent overnight guests of the Poages were Dr. and Mrs. Bob Miller. He is head of Baylor University's political science department. His wife, teaches English at the University. They were enroute to Europe.

Mrs. George Mahon, whose husband recently became chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, also goes frequently to Capitol Hill to escort constituents from the Lubbock area.

"Everybody's coming up for the New York World's Fair and stopping in Washington on the way," she observed.

Rep. Lindley Beckworth, D, Gilmer, whose wife is kept busy at home with five children, often leaves the House floor to greet constituents and to show them around the Capitol.

Judge and Mrs. Fred Erisman of Longview, here for Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy's conference on bail and criminal procedure were guests of Beckworth at the House restaurant after they had heard President Eamon de Valera of Ireland address a joint session of Congress.

The day before, the Rev. and Mrs. Jared I. Cartledge, Gilmer Baptist minister, and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Marshall of Gilmer were escorted on a tour of the Capitol by Beckworth.

AROUND THE CAPITOL:
Daylight saving time is in effect here now, and Texas congressmen occasionally get a call from someone in their home district who forgets the time differential.

Rep. Clark Thompson, D, Galveston, referred to this in a newsletter. He said a telephone call originating in Texas when business offices are going full blast could find everything shut down here. Or, a call placed at only 10 p.m. Texas time, would

Panhandle Paragraphs

Good old rainy weather returned to the North Plains this week, and a whole 1.06 inches of moisture fell. Everyone is glad of the rain! The leaky roofs, yes, some of them leaked that never leaked before. It has been a long dry spell, and a lot of wind causing cracks to mount in roofs which otherwise might have held had they been soaked occasionally. The million dollar rain to the North Plains is worth a great deal more to everyone than a leaking roof will cost them to repair.

—The North Plains Press (Dumas)

People who keep on sawing wood in all kinds of weather are the ones who have the biggest woodpile at the end of the season . . . on every corner the common greeting has been "short summer, wasn't it?" and we agreed. But summertime activities went on just same, even though the temperature dropped to a cool 47 degrees Monday, breaking all records for June 1 in Brownfield according to Radio Station KTFY. The swimming pool has a crowd of shivering blue swimmers, baseball games found spectators wearing coats and wrapped in blankets, just as though they were attending a football game, and furnaces were re-lighted all over town.

Children should be taught to pray and read the Bible at home and not in the public schools. That's the argument advanced by those who strongly favor the Supreme Court's now famous prayer decision. True, required Bible reading and prayer should not be part of a public school's curriculum. However, this means parents who want their children to study the Bible and pray have a sober responsibility which school can no longer legally help them meet.

For a surprisingly large number of high school students in the county, summer vacation is a misnomer — by their own choice. They have become, overnight, part of our capable and energetic labor force. It is much the same county-wide. Collingsworth boys and girls want jobs that are real work — not made work. They are eager and they have good job habits. They make a real and valuable contribution to our community during the summer months. Their first venture into the adult world is eye-opening to most boys and girls, and one summer's work can be an education not found in the classroom, by the very nature of the latter.

A major source of opposition to integration is white trash, people who are on the bottom rung of the social, economic and intellectual ladder in the South. They feel that so long as the Negro is kept "in his place," there will be someone lower than themselves, they can derive a degree of satisfaction from life.

A Youth Employment Center has been set up in the foyer of the County building in Borger. Commonly referred to as "YES," the Center is being manned by members of Key Club and lists students wanting summer jobs. The listing includes students from Borger, Phillips and those students home from college.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's Note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his hindwood farm seems to be agitated by a court decision he read about.

Dear editor:

The ability to foresee trouble and head it off before it gets here is pretty rare, in me when it comes to forestalling more hindwood in my crops or in the world's statesmen in heading off a man like Hitler.

However, I have run across a situation so revolutionary that even I can see it isn't stopped immediately the country's economy will be wrecked and what, riots we've had lately will seem like small boys playing Cowboys and Indians.

I am referring to a court sentence handed down by a Federal District Judge.

On trying the case of a man who was in trouble with the law because he was desperate for money and had appropriated some post office packages, the judge, on finding out he was desperate because he had bought more things on installment than he could pay for, found him guilty, but suspended the sentence provided he would go for one year without buying anything else on credit.

In effect, this man was sentenced to stop using the time-payment plan, and this is what I'm talking about.

Now this particular man may knuckle under, but if the judge keeps on handing down such sentences, some bird is going to appeal, and if it gets to the Supreme Court and those nine fellows search the Constitution and come up with a paragraph which to their notion clearly states that the Founding Fathers said it was unlawful for a man to buy a television set on time, the balloon will be busted. All you-know-what will break loose. The economy will be wrecked, two-thirds of the cars will go back to the finance companies, half the houses will be locked up and abandoned, engagement rings will be pouring back into the jewelry stores, speedboats will be docked, vacation trips will end in mid-flight, warehouses will be overflowing with illegally-bought dollar-down-dollar-a-week lawn furniture, manufacturing plants will grind to a halt, advertising will disappear, well, the picture is too grim to go on.

This thing has got to be stopped before it goes one step further, even if it means hiring the best lawyers in the nation, on time, of course.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Cultural Club Project Starts

Bill Thompsons To Attend CC Session In Dallas

Chamber of Commerce Bill Thompson will be attending the annual professional conference of Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers in Dallas June 7, 8, and 9.

The conference will feature panel discussions on Member-Manager relations, How to Find and Develop Leaders, How to Boost the Tourist Bandwagon, How to Revive Downtown, The Chamber and Government, The Chamber and the Retailer, and Industrial Location by Chambers of Commerce.

Thompson will attend his final meeting as a director of the state association Sunday morning.

Repeating their project of 10 years ago, Cultural Home Demonstration Club soon will finish, fold, and pack six tablecloths for Girls' Town near Whiteface.

On earlier club inquiry, the advisory personnel for Girls' Town requested a duplicate of the one-time tablecloth project. The twenty club members then began working in groups to complete the tablecloths by early summer.

Club plans call for all members to take the gift to Girls' Town for presentation and to visit the facility while there.

Working on the project at club meeting May 29 were Mrs. Ira Scott, Mrs. Burke Inman, Mrs. J. G. Gandy, Mrs. Viola Williams, Mrs. Earl DeHart, and Mrs. Grady Parsons.

Cattleman Says Solution Lies In Legislation

The only adequate solution to the beef import problem is legislation, the president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association said today.

Fred Wulff of Brady said the so-called voluntary agreements with the beef importing countries are concrete evidence of need for legislation establishing reasonable beef and veal imports to give immediate relief to the domestic beef cattle industry.

"The voluntary agreements amply demonstrate that while cattle producers of other nations were well represented at the negotiations by able, competent and sincere persons, the cattle producer of the U.S.A. was not represented at the negotiating table at all," Wulff said.

"Why should we expect any better representation next time?" he asked. "The only adequate solution to this problem lies in legislation."

Wulff pointed out that we are at, or near the top of a beef build-up cycle. "We have passed through these cycles before and probably will again, and have always worked ourselves out," the cattleman stated. "However, this is the first time we have been forced at the top of a cycle to also accept imports equal to over 10 percent of our annual domestic production. In 1956, imports were only one and one-half percent of domestic production," he emphasized.

"Optimism in regard to increasing beef shipments which has been expressed by the president's team of ranchers, feeders, packers and government officials on its return from Europe is encouraging, but any immediate substantial relief of our supply situation from this source can hardly be expected."

Your Red Cross In Action

By Corinne J. Neely

With the arrival of the month of June and swim-time many are interested in our Water Safety Program. We have two committee meetings and plans were made, which you will soon hear over the radio and in the paper.

The past month was a full one for the volunteers and the High School and Junior Red Cross. The Gray Ladies, outside of their routine services, hosted a party at the Air Force Base in Amarillo. (But since we had such a good coverage and pictures of it in the Hereford Brand recently, we will not need to say more on that.)

One of the highlights of the month for the Gray Ladies, who teach art and crafts at Kings Manor each week was a trip to Dalhart to the Coon's Memorial Home. Upon suggestion by Mrs. Earl Plank, Mrs. "Lefty" Thomas and Mrs. Ray Carlile, Gray Ladies instructors, this chapter working with the Dalhart chapter set up the plans. Mrs. Plank and Mrs. Thomas and Mr. L. C. Thomas, manager of Kings Manor and 13 of the residents made the trip by car, had lunch there at noon as guests. In the afternoon they set up a display of their work for the residents to see and visited with them until time to return home — tired and happy — after a full day.

The High School Council and that of Stanton Jr. High along with the Jr. Red Crossers of schools completed their work for the year except Jr. Gray Ladies and Jr. Staff aides who will be on duty through the summer. At their Awards Day Program, awards to High School and Stanton were made made for fine enrollment and projects accomplished. Others were mailed.

The local High School project of the year was the presentation of a flag, which they bought and gave to Kings Manor. Each year this projects varies.

Two of our instructors, working through the Home Makers Department, taught several classes. Mrs. Earl Springer taught "Mother and Baby Care", and Mrs. J. J. Durham instructed classes on "Aid to the Sick and Injured".

Boys in attendance numbered 38 and girls, 98, our biggest year in these popular classes. At a Zimmerman, chairman of the chapter, presented the boy's certificates and your executive secretary presented the girls'. Many of the chapter activities slow down for the summer, but we give much time to the Swim program. Several instructors (WST's) and many aides (helpers) will give many hours of volunteer service. REMEMBER THAT THESE PEOPLE ARE NOT PAID. THE FEE GOES FOR THE USE OF THE POOL.

We hope you, of the community, realize and appreciate their efforts and time given.

Rep. Jack Brooks, D, Beaumont, is chairman of a House Government Operations Subcommittee which checks into policies and practices of various federal agencies.

Recognized for the efficient work his group has done, resulting in savings of substantial tax money, Brooks was invited to address a meeting here of the Association of Federal Investigators.

"The mere fact — when it is known — that an investigation is underway, can serve to condemn persons or situations being looked into," he said.

"Given some newspaper and television publicity, this problem can become exceptionally acute if the investigators themselves are prone to discuss people's personal business needlessly and indiscriminately."

"We have all seen the tragic fruits of haphazard and irresponsible investigation accompanied by premature publicity through somebody's big mouth."

"Your commission as an investigator has one of the highest responsibilities in this land. It includes the mandatory requirements to be absolutely fair in reporting facts, to be absolutely thorough in finding all the facts and to be absolutely above reproach in the way the investigation is conducted."

"The fruits of good investigation cannot be accurately measured because deterrence is pro-

Chamber Urges Buyers To 'Investigate First'

"Millions of dollars are taken annually by highly organized sales campaigns that offer everything from frozen food lockers to vacuum cleaner system installations in private homes," said Senator Harrison A. Williams, in the May Service Bulletin of the National Better Business Bureau. The senator's remarks were prompted by a report he had requested from Chief Postal Inspector H. B. Montague.

"The gimmick is that prospective customers — or victims — are persuaded to buy products or services in the belief that they can earn the cost of the product, as well as extra money for themselves, by referring salesmen to relatives. "But, after they sign the contracts, they quite often find that they have obligated themselves to pay for something they didn't really want at an excessively high price," the senator concluded. Details of the action being taken by the postal department are available at the office of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

In the same issue of the NBB Bulletin is information concerning a new booklet published by the Food and Drug Administration entitled "First Facts About Drugs." Information on three directory publication companies, National Directory Corp., Tel Classified Guide and Directory Corp., and Business Directory Publishing Co., is also available.

Educational Service has agreed to a New York state "Cease and desist" order in certain practices involving that company's sales representations. Consumers and businessmen are cautioned concerning the activities of one Jack Nutting who represents himself to be a representative of Chemex Industries of Tampa, Fla. when that is not the case. Information is also given on National Credit Consultants of America, Inc., and Mutual Credit Service.

Recommended reading is the booklet, available to chamber members, GIVING — USA. The booklet is published annually by the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel.

Hereford Man Starts Course In Electronics

Gary M. Shelton, Seaman Apprentice, U.S. Navy, son of Mrs. Winnie E. Shelton, 110 East Gracey, Hereford, has been spending a short leave at the home of his mother in Hereford. He will report to the Navy's Electronics Technician's Mate School at Treasure Island, San Francisco, California, where he will undergo an intensive 38 week course covering all phases of electronics theory and equipment.
Prior to entering the Navy in September of 1963, Shelton was employed by a local well drilling and pipe line company, and attended Hereford High School.
Since completing recruit training in December of 1963, Shelton has been undergoing on the job training as an Electronics Technician aboard the USS Henri-co, a troop transport, operating out of San Diego, California and has just recently completed a tour of duty in the Western Pacific with the U. Texas and The Civil War — Part 11

Texas Politics Lagged During Civil War Days

(No. 11 in a series published in a cooperative program of this paper, the Texas Press Association and the Texas State Historical Survey Committee.)

Texas and the Civil War
By Allan C. Ashcraft, Ph.D.
History Department
Texas A&M University

Texas had little interest in politics during the Civil War. The 1861 state Democratic Nominating Convention did not draw a quorum.

Gov. Edward Clark, given the oath of office in Confederate Texas on March 16, 1861, served about nine months and ran that year for a full term, but met defeat when Francis R. Lubbock beat him by 124 votes. Pendleton Murrah was elected governor in 1863. Several weeks of his term in the summer of 1865 were served out by his lieutenant governor, F. S. Stockdale.

With the exception of a small floating debt, Texas entered the Civil War solvent. But War is costly. The state costs caused directly by the war amounted to $4,863,790.55, including $3,180,275.97 for military purposes proper and $1,646,060.07 for supporting hospitals or soldiers' families. Other governmental obligations raised wartime spending to far more than the state's revenue of $8,149,913.43. In desperation the state used trust monies (such as some $1,500,000 from the school fund and the university fund) to meet current needs.

Taxes brought in 40% of state revenue; bonds brought in 80%; sales of products from the state penitentiary, 38%; miscellaneous sources, 14%. Texans paid ad valorem taxes; income taxes on salaries, occupations and professions; poll taxes and levies on exchanges of monies and goods. Farmers paid "tithes in kind" on all their crops, hauling meat, produce and cotton to warehouses or depots for public use.

Over and above state taxes, Texans paid into the Confederate treasury $37,486,854. Then after paying the heavy State and Confederate levies, the people through their county commissioners' courts used local resources to raise and support military units and provide relief for the needy.

When the war was over, looters on the night of June 11, 1865, found that $5,000 in specie was the only negotiable "money" in the State Treasury. Practically all Texans were "poor together." Officials had served the state at the risk of starvation. Legislators who had tobacco and nails brought these from home and swapped them for room and board in Austin. Some others had to camp in their wagons. Passers smiled to see men who all day had been acting pompous in the Senate "mixing up corn dodgers in camp in the evening" and cooking over camp fires.

Communications

During the war years, worry over absent family members and affairs in general might have been eased by better mail service and better news coverage. However, of the 82 papers with which Texas entered the war, fewer than 20 survived after April 1862, and dwindled gradually to about a dozen in 1865. When New Orleans fell, printing supplies were cut off from Texas, except by way of smuggling through the blockade.

Many a Texas editor and his staff simply closed shop and went to war. At least two wives of editors kept their papers in publication while the editors were away fighting.

The 100,000 Texas newspaper subscribers of 1860 had read four-page issues. Wartime numbers were cut back sometimes to half a page, printed on both sides unless tissue was being used, as was sometimes the case. Wartime papers were printed on foolscap, wallpaper and brown or straw wrapping paper.

Texas offered to subsidize paper factories, but machinery ordered from Europe failed to arrive. Household rags were often fabricated into paper, but this was done on a small scale.

Subscription prices had to be raised several times during the war. News-butchers hawked papers at a dollar a copy on trains, and a Houston paper protested at their charging over fifty cents.

To get news for the papers, editors copied letters that soldiers wrote home, quoting clippings that were months old. Military telegraph from Louisiana into East Texas and from Houston up to Marshall gave the army news which it in turn released to the papers.

A pony express was kept at Brenham to bring in the Galveston and Houston papers post-haste from the railroad to Austin.

Travel and communications in Texas used the facilities of 11 railroads with 468 miles of tracks. There were 18 stage lines and at least two pony express routes.

WHAT CAMPERS WANT

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Family campers willingly forego many "comforts of home" but want some simple physical facilities at their campsites.

A University of Illinois study of 158 families revealed what they looked for in camping sites. Good clean water for drinking headed the list.

Hot showers ranked low on the list. So did electricity and flush toilets.

Harvey Schweitzer, extension rural sociologist, said nearly all families agreed that a graveled drive and pad for tent or trailer, cooking grill, picnic table and wood supply were satisfactory.

Crime Changes, So Cops Return To Classroom

By John Gale

BRAMSHILL, England (AP) — Britain, believing that fighting crime is no longer just a matter of nailing and jailing the criminal, is busy training a new police elite.

For many of Britain's most distinguished cops — even the seasoned brains of Scotland Yard — it has meant going back to school.

The school — a sort of academy of avengers — is set in a remote and lovely area with uninterrupted vistas of farm and parkland. Herds of deer graze in the 289-acre estate surrounding the 17th Century country mansion which houses the students. Peacocks strut on the lawns. Mistletoe grows in the trees. The gardens are laid out trimly with wallflowers and tulips.

Being Britain, there has to be a ghost — a gray lady said to have suffocated in a tea chest while playing hide-and-seek with her bridegroom on their wedding day.

"Quite Freudian in its way," said John Stead, director of general studies at the Bramshill Police College.

To this place recently came 24 of Britain's most spectacularly successful senior policemen. They had been handpicked from 1,600 applicants, all in the higher grades of the police service — from chief inspector upwards. They included six Scotland Yard men whose careers are already legend in the force.

They stayed for six months although one of the Scotland Yard officers was involved in four murder trials at the time and had to keep dodging away. At the end of a course in liberal studies unique in British police history, they were sent on their way prepared for the highest police posts in the land.

This in itself is a break with long-established tradition. Throughout modern times, many chief constables of Britain's 125 separate police forces have been found outside the ranks of the career men. The retired army brigadier often has been called in — the man used to command, with a good school behind him. Now the police are training and polishing their own leaders.

Said Stead, "People laugh at me when I say we start with the Greeks and the Romans and the Bible, but that is exactly what we do."

"The policeman is a citizen and he has got to be a complete citizen. If he is going to safeguard civil freedoms, he has got to know what they are."

Few at this three-year-old institution have been to university. Some struggled to achieve the equivalent of an Am-

Paper Promotes Hereford Man

C. D. (Bud) Martin has been named assistant circulation manager of the Denton Record-Chronicle, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Martin, Hereford, have been informed.

Martin, who is 21, has worked in the newspaper's circulation department for 2½ years, and has been in charge of area circulation for two years. He also led the paper's expansion of daily service to Lewisville and Wise county.

Martin is a graduate of NTSU where he was president of Phi Alpha Theta, honorary history fraternity. He is a native of Hereford and is a member of the Pearl Street Church of Christ in Denton.

Martin and his wife, Rita, have a 4-year old daughter, Jennifer.

TAVERN MAN'S DAUGHTER

Elmira, N. Y. (AP) — The city of Elmira owes its name to a little girl who fell asleep in the right lap at the right time.

During a meeting in Teall's Tavern in 1808, Elmira Teall climbed into the lap of Assemblyman Emmanuel Coryell, who headed a committee to find a new name for Newton. The town fathers thought there were too many Newtons in the state.

Coryell decided Elmira would be a right pretty name for a young frontier town.

erican high school graduation.

The school's commandant, Sydney Lawrence, says:

"Of course, there is an initial shock. You can't take men from a busy job they have been doing all their lives and expect them to settle down immediately in an academic atmosphere.

"But they do settle down and they do it surprisingly quickly."

In addition to the senior police chiefs, the college of crime busters has an annual intake of about 400 students in two other categories — bright young policemen in their 20s and an older group, average age 33, who have proved their worth in line of duty.

Teachers are eminent criminologists, judges, barristers, historians, economists and experts in such fields as the rights of the citizen and the proper use of police powers.

Fred Pugh

Fred Pugh New Associate At First Christian.

Installation will be held today at the First Christian Church for Fred Pugh, the new summer associate minister. Mr. and Mrs. Pugh will be living in the Ted Sumner's home, 515 Irving.

Fred is ministerial student in the College of the Bible at Phillips University in Enid, Okla. He will be classified as a junior in the fall.

Charlotte, Fred's wife, also is a student at Phillips. She is a second semester sophomore majoring in elementary education. Being a future minister's wife, she will be observing the total work of the church and serving in various ways.

First Christian has continued this program of having a summer associate for a number of years. It provides a service for the church, but also some helpful training for future ministers. Fred and Charlotte will take the junior high age boys and girls to Chi Rho Camp this month. He will assist with the youth program, preaching, and pastoral work with the minister, and will have regular office hours at the church.

Fred's father, the Rev. W. G. Pugh, is minister of the First Christian Church in Spearman, Tex.

MANDRAKE THE MAGICIAN

BY LEE FALK & PHIL DAVIS

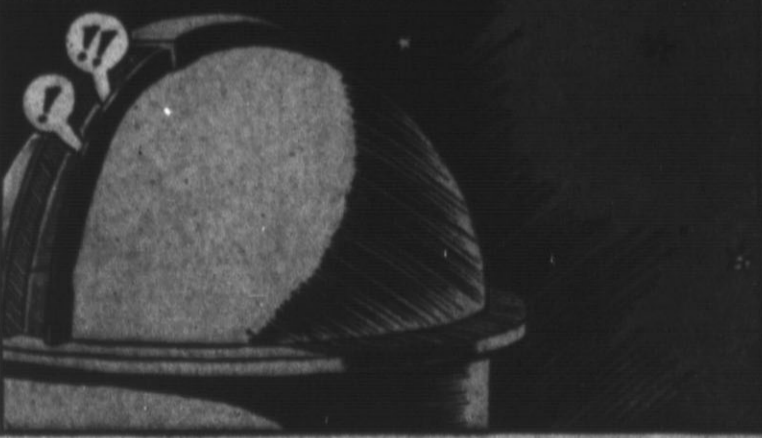

100,000 MILES FROM EARTH: WATCHED BY OUR GIANT TELESCOPES--THE COLOSSAL GORK CATCHES THE METEORITE--LIKE A PLAYER WITH A BALL--

MEANWHILE--MANDRAKE ON THE GIANT HAND--

THE OBSERVATORIES OF EARTH WATCH THE AMAZING EVENT 100,000 MILES AWAY--

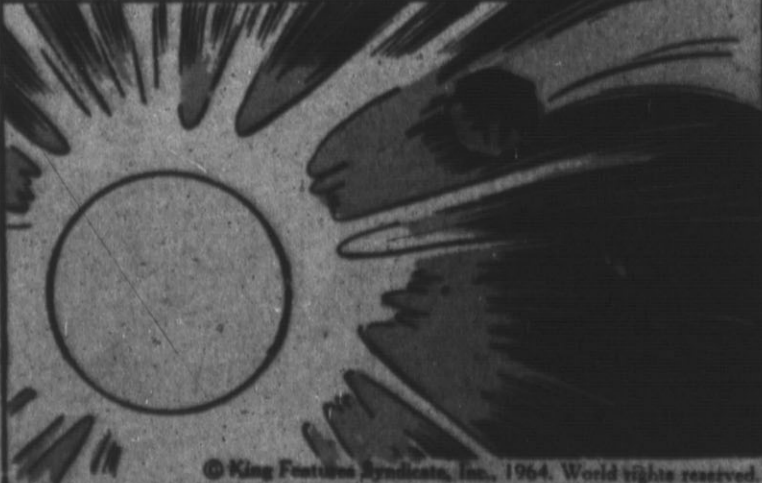

THE COLOSSAL GORK ALMOST TUMBLES INTO SPACE, AS HE CATCHES THE TWO-HUNDRED-MILE-WIDE METEORITE--

--THEN HURLS THE GREAT "BALL" AWAY FROM EARTH AND THE ALMOST DISASTROUS COLLISION--

--ON A NEW ORBIT TOWARDS THE DISTANT SUN--AND EARTH IS SAVED!

MEANWHILE, VIRUS-SIZED MANDRAKE, ON THE RIGHT HAND OF THE COLOSSUS--Y HIS SPACE CAPSULE TUMBLES INTO SPACE--

AS GORK THROWS--MANDRAKE SLIDES DOWN THE ALMOST 100-MILE-LONG PLASTIC-COVERED HAND--

THEN--100,000 MILES FROM EARTH--HE TUMBLES INTO SPACE!

The PHANTOM

By Lee Falk

THIS CRATE'S NOT HANDLING RIGHT. MAYBE THOSE WIRES SNAGGED ONTO SOMETHING. USE A PLIERS AND CUT THEM--

SMILEY-- THE MASKED GUY-- HANGING ON-- CLIMBING UP!

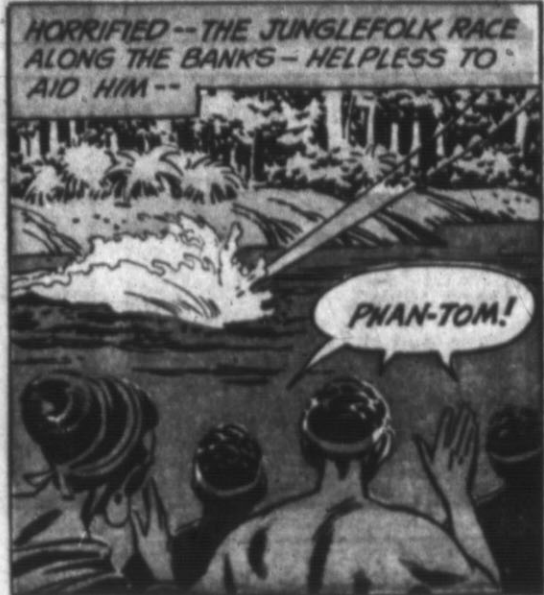

SQUIRT-- CUT THE LINES!

NO, SMILEY! THAT'D KILL HIM! HE SAVED OUR LIVES!

HE'S NOT KEEPING US FROM THE LOOT! OKAY, CHICKEN-- I'LL BRUSH HIM OFF!

BY BARRY 6/7

HORRIFIED-- THE JUNGLE FOLK RACE ALONG THE BANKS-- HELPLESS TO AID HIM--

PHAN-TOM!

DID WE SHAKE HIM?

I'LL BE-- HE'S STILL HANGING ON!

WE'LL DASH HIM INTO THOSE TREES! THAT'LL FINISH HIM!

WHY WERE YOU SMILING TO YOURSELF, MR. JIGGS?

BECAUSE MY WIFE IS LEAVING TODAY ON A CRUISE-- SHE'LL BE GONE A MONTH!

JIGGS, WHILE I'M GONE YOU'LL HAVE A CHANCE TO DO SOME REPAIRS AROUND THE HOUSE

FOR INSTANCE?

THIS LOCK STICKS SOMETIMES--

I WOULDN'T ATTEMPT TO FIX THAT-- I'LL CALL A LOCKSMITH--

WELL, SURELY YOU CAN FIX THAT LITTLE LEAK--

NOT ME-- THAT'S A JOB FOR A PLUMBER--

NOW, DON'T TELL ME YOU CAN'T REPAIR THIS BROKEN LIGHT SWITCH--

I'M JUST NO GOOD AT TOOLS-- I'LL CALL AN ELECTRICIAN.

FLETCHER

I'M SORRY, MA'AM-- BUT THE CAR WON'T START!

HORRORS! I'LL MISS THE BOAT!

OH, YOU GOT THE CAR STARTED!

DON'T GIVE ME THE CREDIT, MA'AM--

IT BELONGS TO MR. JIGGS-- I HAD NO IDEA HE WAS SUCH A GOOD MECHANIC!!

The Little Woman

by DON TOBIN

YOU'D BETTER TAKE THE UMBRELLA--

WHAT FOR? IT'S NOT GOING TO RAIN--

THE WEATHER-MAN SAID IT WILL

HE'S NEVER RIGHT--

IT LOOKS LIKE RAIN TO ME-- YOU'D BETTER TAKE IT.

I DON'T WANT IT--

I HATE UMBRELLAS-- THEY'RE NOT MANLY!

DON'T BE CHILDISH!

LOOK-- I KNOW IT'S GOING TO RAIN! WILL YOU TAKE IT JUST TO PLEASE ME? PLEASE!

OH, ALL RIGHT-- IF IT'LL MAKE YOU HAPPY... BUT IT'S NOT GOING TO RAIN!

IT'S NOT-- EH?

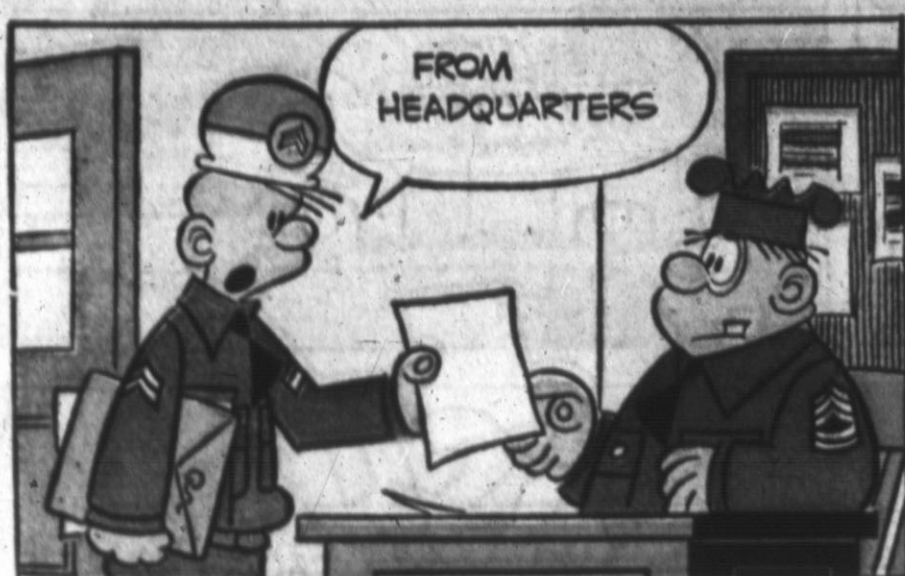

ISN'T IT WONDERFUL TO BE RIGHT FOR ONCE!!
