County, hospital taxes will rise--despite freeze

Deaf Smith County residents will have a higher tax load this year, and not even President Nixon's wage-price freeze will keep it from happening.

For every $100 you paid in state, county and hospital taxes last year, you can add another $6.78 to it this year, because overall taxes are up 6.78 per cent.

Looking just at the state taxes alone, they're down. Which means that all of the 6.78 per cent increase—and then some—is embraced in the money needed for increased services for the county and hospital in the coming year.

Your tax bill for the county and hospital will be 12.3 per cent more this year. Or if you paid $100 just in county taxes last year, you'll pay $112.30 just to the county and hospital this year.

An official with the Amarillo office of the Internal Revenue Service, which is fielding questions about the wage-price freeze, said "it appears" that local taxing agencies are allowed to adjust their budgets upward, necessitating higher taxes.

"However, a merchant will not be allowed to add that to his cost of doing business and pass the increase along to his customers," the official said.

If you have a house valued at $20,000, here's what you paid in taxes last year: $53.28 (including $8.88 for hospital use and $44.40 for non-hospital) in county taxes, $2.40 in water district taxes, and $17.76 in state taxes, for a total of $73.44.

This year, it will cost you: $48.84 in county taxes, $11 in hospital taxes, $2.20 in water district taxes and $14.08 in state taxes, for a total of $76.12.

As can be seen, the county taxes this year ($48.84) are lower than the "county" taxes of last year ($53.28) which included hospital revenue bonds and maintenance costs. The $48.84 is higher than the portion of last year's county tax that went for other than hospital use ($44.40).

The county announced this summer it was cutting the rate by 8.3 per cent, by dropping the percentage from 24 to 22 per cent, in determining assessed valuation. At the same time, however, the county took all of the 18.5 cents in the 95-cent tax structure that was going to hospital use and applied it to county programs, resulting in an increase.

The hospital, which under the new hospital district is assessing its own taxes, raised the tax money it will be getting by almost 24 per cent. The county raised the tax money it will be getting by 11.2 per cent.

The 8.3 per cent cut by the county dropped the amount that will have to be paid to the water district and to the state by that much, plus the state is phasing out its property tax at the rate of a nickel per $100 assessed evaluation each year. It would be 13.5 per cent lower this year than last year even if the county had taken no action at all.

Some of the increase in the county and hospital budget can be attributed to inflation, which has made supplies cost 15 per cent more than a year ago.

Especially in the case of the hospital, the increase in the minimum wage has brought its payroll costs up, by an average of 7 per cent. The hospital could have kept its budget lower by raising its room rates, but Hospital Board members decided against that.

The Hospital Board put $15,000 into its budget for replacement of old equipment and $2,000 to pay for an audit that will be necessary since the hospital no longer will be covered in the county audit.

The change from a county attorney to district attorney system in Deaf Smith County resulted in the need for considerably more money in the budget.

The salary was increased from $6,750 to $12,000 a year, and more than $3,000 additional was needed to equip and supply the office. Improvements to the law library cost $2,500. More secretarial allowance for the district attorney cost $2,000 more, and increasing the size of the staff in the sheriff's department and passing along a graduated pay raise cost another $10,000.

Changes in social security provisions also called for more county expenditures.

IT'S FOOTBALL TIME — Some 95 boys reported this week to start the 1971 football season. Eugene Suttle (left front) and Richard Sierra, two of the tri-captains, lead the varsity and JV players through calisthenics. Not shown is the third tri-captain, Steve Clark. (See stories pages 8 and 10.)

Area wins concessions on new lettuce order

The Magic Triangle "gained some ground" last week in a five-state meeting in Los Angeles to review the proposed order to regulate the handling of lettuce grown in California, Arizona, Colorado, New Mex., and the Hereford-Dimmitt-Friona area of Texas.

Ed Garnett of Amarillo, farm management specialist for the Texas A&M Extension Service, succeeded in getting written into the proposals a definition of "bona-fide effort" that will protect local lettuce growers in case of a catastrophic year.

"If you make an effort and get hauled out or froze out, you could still count all or some part of that acreage in on your five-year average," John Alkin, legal counsel for the Texas Vegetable Marketing Association, said Wednesday.

As the marketing order previously read, it appeared that a farmer would have to average in zero production for a year in which hail or early freeze ruined his crop. The average over five years is used to determine how much production he would be allowed to produce.

Garnett also got an interpretation on a stipulation barring transfer of the lettuce allotment within the four-month period prior to delivery of the base.

"They said the four months does not apply to the annual crop, it applies to selling of the base. When you get hauled out suddenly, and don't have anything to sell, you could sell your allocation to someone who didn't get hauled out and had lettuce to sell," Alkin said.

As previously interpreted, local officials were under the impression they couldn't transfer their allotment to anyone in the last four months. They can transfer it, but only to someone who already has a base.

"So we don't feel too bad about it (the marketing order)," Alkin said Wednesday. "It's not everything we had hoped for, but we still have until Sept. 13 to file exceptions to it." Bruce Farr of Friona, president of the TVMA will return today from a trip to the West Coast and Alkin said he will confer with him at a meeting in Plainview tonight about the situation.

There previously was an Aug. 24 deadline to file exceptions to the U.S. Department of Agriculture proposed order, but a 20-day extension was granted to accommodate interested persons who needed extra time to prepare material for filing. The recommended decision was announced July 29.

Truck driver, own lawyer, wins acquittal of speeding

A Pampa truck driver, acting as his own defense lawyer, was found innocent of speeding by a jury Tuesday during trials heard in Justice of the Peace Court.

Bill Neal Mitchell entered a plea of not guilty to the charge that on June 13 of this year, he was clocked by radar by highway patrolman Don Samuels going 70 miles per hour in a 60 mph zone.

The jury deliberated only seven minutes before returning the verdict of not guilty in the case.

In an earlier speeding case Tuesday, the same jury found Freddie Miller Hall of Amarillo guilty of doing 80 in a 65 miles per hour zone. His attorney, Jim Durham of Amarillo, gave notice of appeal, but as he left the courtroom said he may change his mind.

The jury also set the fine at $15 for Hall, which would mean a total cost of $21, including court costs.

After JP Glen Nelson read the jury verdict, he set the fine at $25 for Hall and at that point

Durham made a motion for a mistrial on the grounds the jury was to have set the fine.

Lynton Allred, foreman of the jury, said the jury had decided on a fine of $15, but did not put down on the verdict paper because they were not sure they were supposed to do so.

Durham then withdrew his motion for a mistrial and gave notice of the appeal.

Mitchell, in his own defense, told the jurors although his speedometer was not working at the time he received the ticket, he later had his tachometer checked and it proved to be accurate.

The tachometer, a device similar to a speedometer, shows the revolutions per minute the engine of a vehicle is turning. Mitchell said he saw the highway patrol car and glanced down at the tachometer and saw it showed 1750 rpm, which is the same as 60 miles per hour.

After receiving the ticket, Mitchell took the semi-trailer truck to Amarillo where he had the tachometer checked out. A signed statement from the man at the shop was submitted to the jury which stated the tachometer reading was correct.

Mitchell, in cross-examining Samuels, asked if a radar is capable of picking up both a truck and a car that is passing the truck at the same time. Samuels said that was impossible, because the radar operates on large vehicles rather than small vehicles.

The truck driver also called to the stand L.D. Shaw, who was with him the time he was stopped. Shaw testified he was looking down at the tachometer when they saw the highway patrolman sitting beside the road and he made the comment to Mitchell about the patrolmen stopping a car that was in the process of passing the truck.

The prosecution attorney, Andy Shuval, questioned Samuels about a car passing Mitchell, but Samuels said he did not see one and the radar did not pick one up.

Assault on officer results in six-month jail sentence

Emphasizing that "we will not have these assaults on officers," County Judge H.C. Williams sentenced a 29-year-old Dimmitt man Monday to six months in jail.

Geraldo E. Tijerina had pleaded guilty to the charge of aggravated assault and waived the right to a lawyer.

Deputy Sheriff Gary Gillespie had a bruise on his shin where Tijerina kicked him over the weekend while Gillespie was preparing to take the man to jail.

Williams arraigned four other men Monday, two on charges of driving while intoxicated, one on a charge of child desertion and one on a charge of possession of a dangerous drug.

One of the men charged with DWI led city police officers on a 25-block high-speed chase early Sunday morning before he finally was stopped by a road block. The chase ended when officers fired a shotgun at the car, hitting it in the hood and fender.

The possession charge was against Sergio E. Ramirez, 21, of Harlingen, who walked barefoot and without a shirt into the courtroom. He barely got seated when the judge looked up, saw Ramirez and shouted to the bailiff, "Get that man out of here and get a shirt on him!"

Later, a deputy returned with him. This time he had a shirt and shoes. He pleaded innocent and Williams named Hazzard Woods to be his court-appointed lawyer. The deputy said he tried to get Ramirez to put on a shirt initially, but was told, "They arrested me this way."

Paul Samaniego, 18, of Friona was charged with child desertion. The judge told him to reappear in court at 9:30 a.m. Thursday for a temporary child support hearing.

The judge has stiffened the penalty recently against assaults against officers and against driving drunk.

DWI guilty pleas a year ago customarily resulted in a three-day jail sentence and a $50 or $100 fine.

Williams sentenced Samaniego Tuesday to 60 days in jail and fined him $50 and court costs for DWI. He sentenced Fredonia E. Segura to 15 days in jail and fined him $150 and court costs for DWI.

Another man charged with DWI, Farris Richardson, pleaded innocent and Williams set his bond at $1,000, asking him to return in court Sept. 9.

Miguel Guerrero, who pleaded innocent two weeks ago to sell liquor in a dry area, changed his plea Tuesday to guilty and was fined $150 and court costs.

Jerry D. Cooper, 22, of Lubbock and Mario P. Garcia, 20, of 501 Irving face DWI charges. Cooper pleaded innocent and said he planned to get a lawyer. The judge set his bond at $3,000, higher than usual because Cooper apparently will violate terms of a New Mexico parole if he is found guilty.

The judge entered an innocent plea for Garcia and set a $1,000 bond, returnable next Thursday. Cooper was arrested about 2:30 a.m. Sunday after he led police officers on a chase that covered 25 blocks. He was a

City moves to collect back taxes

The city began last week filing suits in small claims court against persons owing delinquent personal property taxes and promised more suits will follow in an attempt to collect as much as possible of the $67,000 in delinquent taxes shown on the city tax books.

The first suits, three of them, were filed Friday in Justice of the Peace court and more are expected during the coming weeks.

The city commission recently authorized the city secretary and the city tax assessor-collector to begin the proceedings against persons owing back taxes as far back as 1968. The suits that will be filed in small claims court will be all of those up to $150 per year.

"I think we will collect a lot of these taxes," said city manager Dudley Bayne. "There is not much recourse on delinquent taxes, people just have to pay them."

Persons who owe up to $150 per year in back personal taxes will be filed on in the small claims court and those owing more than $150 per year will be filed on through regular court suits. Each year constitutes a separate offense, Bayne said, so there are expected to be more than one suit filed against a THEATRE REMODELING — Fred Muller, carpenter, this week began remodeling the exterior of the Star Theatre. Scott Brewer, manager of the theatre system in Hereford, said a new glass front and larger lobby will be added to the Main Street entertainment center.

INSIDE WORK, TOO — Workers are installing an acoustical ceiling inside the theatre. Another addition will be acoustical covering to the upper walls of the building. New seats will be installed during the renovation project. The Tower Drive In Theatre, west of the city, is also being remodeled, Brewer said.

Funeral is held for Hereford store operator

The funeral of James Alney McNeil, 54, furniture store owner who had been in business here since 1964, was conducted Monday morning in First Baptist Church. Dr. Gerald Mann, pastor, officiated.

Burial was in West Park Cemetery, directed by Gilliland Funeral Home. Mr. McNeil was a resident of 217 Elm Street.

Mr. McNeil died Saturday in Deaf Smith County Hospital after a short illness. He was a native of Mississippi, born March 11, 1917 at Colm.

He came to Texas from Mississippi in 1937 and married Arlene Toler in 1939 at Abilene. They came to Hereford from Dalhart. A veteran of military service in World War II, Mr. McNeil was a member of the Baptist Church.

His survivors are his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Judith Mann of Lubbock, and his mother, Mrs. Maggie McNeil of Jackson, Miss.

Rites conducted for city woman

Funeral services for Mrs. Isabella Martinez Galvan, 44, or 906 S. Schley, were conducted Monday in Greenwood Baptist Church by the Rev. Prentice Smith, pastor. Gilliland Funeral Home directed burial in West Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Galvan, who came to Deaf Smith County in 1962 from Lansing, Mich., died in a local hospital after a brief illness. She was born June 17, 1926, at Mason and married Benito Galvan in 1943 at Lamesa.

Surviving her are six sons, Samuel, Mike, Manuel, Leonard, Jimmie and Guillermo, all of Hereford, and two grandchildren.

Government statistics gave the totals as 7,100 for Tuesdays and 13,113 for Saturdays, and also reported 323 were killed on Tuesdays compared with 889 on Saturdays.

All children in Britain between the ages of 5 and 15 must, by law, attend school or be otherwise educated in a way approved by a government education authority.

Veterans may apply now for license plates

Disabled veterans who wish to apply for special license plates under a new program, can get their application forms from local veterans service officer Benny Womble. For a person to apply for the special license plates he must meet the four qualifications of (1) be a Texas resident, (2) be a veteran of the Armed Services, (3) have a disability of 70 per cent or more and (4) drawing a compensation from the federal government as a result of service-connected disability. The special license plates will bear the suffix of DV on all plates and will have on them "Disabled Veteran." The cost of the plates is $1 and a veteran is allowed only one set of plates for either a car or a light weight truck. Deadline for applying for the license plates is Oct. 1, Womble said. Vehicles bearing disabled veterans license plates are exempt from parking violations unless the tickets are issued by a federal official.

Sportswriters pick Texas to repeat in SWC

FORT WORTH—Like a broken record, members of the Southwest sports media have once again tabbed the University of Texas as champions of the Southwest Conference football derby.

For the fifth straight year, the Longhorns of Darrell Royal are the choice of the media in the poll conducted annually by the TCU Sports News Service. And for the past three years the Longhorns have lived up to that honor, although in 1968 they had to settle for a tie with Arkansas.

On only eight occasions since the poll began in 1934 have the prognosticators accurately pegged the champion. On three other years the team the media selected finished in a tie for the flag but didn't capture it outright.

Seventy-eight of the 111 press-radio-TV men who voted in the poll selected the 'Horns to go all the way, although six of those predicted that the Orange would have to share the throne.

However, the poll also was distributed more equally this year as four other teams—Texas Tech, Arkansas, TCU and Texas A&M—received first place mention. Last year only Texas and Arkansas rated championship votes.

The Longhorns received 78 first place votes, 23 for second place, eight for third and one each for fourth and fifth. That's a total of 83 1/2 points (8 points for first, 7 for second, etc.). Tec took second place with 76 1/2 points followed by Arkansas 70 1/2, TCU 47, Texas A&M 43, SMU 30 1/2, Baylor 25, and Rice 25 1/2.

Comments along with selections were varied to many degrees. Among the Longhorn supporters were these:

"The rich get richer"—Pat

Truly, Fort Worth Star Telegram.

"After a one-game losing streak, here they go again on a new dynasty."—Galyn Wilkins, Fort Worth Star Telegram.

"The tradition of balance used to speak loudly in the SWC. Texas' raw ability and winning momentum are deafening."—George Breazeale, Austin American.

"Top three so close had to pull one out of a hat... but it still came up Texas."—Ted Buss, Wichita Falls Times.

"It's nice to see that Darrell Royal may finally have come up with some talent."—Mike Shropshire, Fort Worth Press.

"That didn't take much courage."—Denne Freeman, AP.

"So what else is new?"—Dan Cook, San Antonio News.

"Too much Royal blood abetted by some high-octane sophomore transfusions, not to mention Eddy Phillips and Jim Bertelsen."—Ed Fite, UPI.

"Texas! Who else! Is there anyone else in the Conference?"—Bob Osius, Beaumont Enterprise-Journal.

"Phillips, Bertelsen and classy sophs fill most of the empty saddles with championship quality."—Glenn Brown, KHFI-TV, Austin.

"This looks like the biggest cinch since the Dewey-Truman campaign."—Tommy Hart, Big Spring Herald.

"It's time for a change—in second place."—Jack Gallagher, Houston Post, picking Tech second and Arkansas third.

"As Harry Balogh once said, 'Like good wine, Texas goes on forever.'"—Ted Battles, Midland Reporter-Telegram.

"Worster, Ateasis, Feller, Speyzer with their departure hopes were higher; Then came the spring, and many a new face, so for the others there is just no case."—Bud Campbell, KATV-TV, Little Rock.

"After that 42-7 shellacking last year only the blind and the fanatics will pick Arkansas. That leaves Texas."—Jim Graves, Jonesboro Evening Sun.

J.B. Weatherby of KEND Radio in Lubbock predicted a three-way tie between the Longhorns, Texas Tech and Arkansas with the explanation, "Texas will be beaten by Tech, Arkansas will beat Tech, and Texas will beat Arkansas."

Texas Tech drew the second most support. Among the Raider backers were these views:

"Tech wrecks young Longhorns' bid for three in a row."—Salo Otero, Laredo Times.

"Carlen's 'we will win' atmosphere rises to the top."—Charles Richards, Hereford Brand.

"Tech's winning system: catch Texas before it settles down, then hang on."—Harold Scherwitz, San Antonio Light.

"The Red Raiders will begin their season in the Sugar Bowl and end it in the Cotton Bowl."—Joe Robbins, KCB-D-TV, Lubbock.

"While the Steers and Razorbacks battle tooth and nail in traditional fashion, the Raiders gallop past both in upset."—Dick Gibbs, Corsicana Daily Sun.

"The good ship Texas has sailed her course and it is now time for the Red Raiders of Texas Tech to gather plunder."—Lewis Yoakum, Vernon Daily Record.

"This will be the season when no one wins the SWC—the other seven will lose it."—Putt Powell, Amarillo Globe-News.

"Everyone's hailing Texas sophs, but this is the year Carlen's Kids will bring the SWC title to Raiderland."—Danny Andrews, Plainview Daily Herald.

And don't forget Arkansas. Among the Arkansas believers were:

"Joe Ferguson and pals come out throwing—all the way to the Cotton Bowl."—Jim McLain, Shreveport Times.

"Arkansas should have the most explosive offense in maybe the nation, for sure the SWC. If the defense comes through, I pick the Hogs for the national championship."—Merv Dawson, KEBE Radio, Jacksonville.

Texas A&M had a couple of boosters.

"It's time for another wacky upset in a league once noted for upsets. So, danged with the favorites and up with the darkhorse Aggies."—Harless Wade, Dallas News.

"The Cadets can make it a thriller."—Jim Bell, Fort Worth Press, picking A&M second behind Texas.

Others, while picking either Texas or Tech, saw hopes for TCU and Baylor to make surprising bids.

"Bears to surprise the conference, the nation and themselves."—Claton Forgason, Bay City Daily Tribune, picking Baylor second behind Texas Tech.

"Real battle will be for number two. Watch for darkhorse TCU."—Bill O'Connell, KOKE Radio, Austin.

Boys Ranch rodeo set for Sept. 5-6

The annual Boys Ranch Rodeo which gets underway over Labor Day weekend, is expected to attract close to 10,000 spectators during its two day run at the Ranch.

It is the only rodeo of its kind in the nation in which all of the contestants are boys riding calves, steers, brahma bulls and bucking broncs. The older boys compete on professional rodeo stock and all of the judging is under R.C.A. rules. All of the 375 boys now at the Ranch have a part in the rodeo, either as contestants or working in the many behind-the-scenes activities.

Each rodeo performance will begin at 2:30 both Sunday and Monday afternoon, and big bar-b-que beef sandwiches will be prepared and sold by the boys for only $1.00. The rodeo is also a traditional homecoming for the more than 2,500 boys who have lived at the Ranch since it was founded by Cal Farley in 1939.

'Power' is philosophy of Herd's offensive attack

BY CHARLES RICHARDS
News Editor

Although the Hereford Whitefaces will have about 100 football players at their disposition this fall, they fall into two basic sets—the Strong Set and the Opposite Set.

Larry Dippel considers his offense old fashioned, because it's close kin to the old single wing. It's made up of the "Strong" Set and the "Opposite" Set, which are identical except for the position of the fullback.

"The basic philosophy of our offense is power," Dippel says. "For example, the play you've seen us run so much both guards pulling, kicking out with the fullback, with the quarterback leading the play, then turning and pitching the ball to the tailback. It's the old Single Wing sweep, and if we do a good job it forces the defense to stop our power."

With so many Hereford football players coming into one area as interference, the defense has to get some of its people in there in a hurry. When the defense has to think about protecting such a situation as this, it sets up a vulnerability elsewhere.

"What we're really doing is to take the four best things we did in the spring, and last year, and try to build our offense from that," Dippel says.

Hereford relied on the pass last year, and racked up considerable yardage on its swing pass to the fullback or tight end out of the Strong Set and its curi-and-out pass to the split end out of the Opposite Set. When the defense strengthened its coverage against the pass, the Whitefaces succeeded with their wide sweep pitch to the tailback out of the Strong Set and their quick pitch to the fullback wide, out of the Opposite Set.

Each running play resembled the pass to the same side, and the passes and running plays were about the same, just on different sides.

In both the Strong Set and the Opposite Set, there are only two set backs and two wide receivers, and the tailback if four yards directly behind the center.

The only difference between the two formations is that the fullback is behind the strong guard in the Strong Set and behind the quick guard in the Opposite Set. Both times he is three and a half yards behind the guard.

The "strong" side is the one where the guard, tackle and tight end are lined up at close intervals. On the weak side, or "quick" side as it is known here, the guard and tackle are close but the split end is out wide. The wingback, called the flanker in some offenses, is stationed a yard behind the line of scrimmage and outside the tight end.

That puts a wide receiver on each side.

The team can be either strong left or strong right, depending on the formation called in the huddle.

Hereford can be expected to run right up the opponents' middle early in the game "to try to draw the middle in" and set up the outside play and the short pass that worked so well a year ago.

That wide sweep to the strong side, the key to Hereford's offense, will develop like this:

The wingback blocks the first defensive man outside the tight end. The tight end blocks the man in front of him. With the snap, the strong tackle pulls and blocks the defensive halfback to the outside. The strong guard pulls and block anybody in his way, probably the man coming across at the defensive tackle position. The center and quick guard also join the flow.

At the snap of the ball, the full back heads for the hole outside the tight end, sealing in there, adding another part of a "wall" of men blocking defensive men to the inside.

The quarterback wheels counterclockwise from the center and pitches quick to the tailback, who is running parallel to the line of scrimmage, getting the ball about five yards deep, almost directly behind the tight end. The tailback cuts downfield, crossing the line of scrimmage about two or three yards outside of where the tight end lined up. After pitching out, the quarterback sets up as if to pass, trying to deceive the defense if possible. The split end will be running down and toward the sideline to keep the defensive halfback on his side out of the lay.

If the defense guesses that the power sweep is coming, it could find itself the victim of trap play inside or a pass play run off the same formation.

The pass looks much the same except that the wingback moves diagonally across the secondary instead of stopping to block his defensive man. The running-backs move out the same way, too. The linemen move out, but contain, their man instead of moving over to help block men on the strong side. The quarterback wheels around the same way, sets up for the pass and hits the split end in the flat or the wingback who is cutting across the field.

"We'll use that a bunch, I imagine," Dippel said. "What we'd like to do is get people conscious of that flat pass and get the secondary man crowding his receiver. We'd have him go to the flat and then head downfield, and our quarterback would pump it once or twice and then hit him deep."

You know about your motorboat—or do you?

AUSTIN—You own and operate a motorboat, and you think you do a good job. But how much do you really know about your boat and the laws under which you operate?

Take the following test from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and find out how much you know. Circle what you think is the correct answer at the end of each question, and then check your answers with those at the end of the test.

Each question counts five points. A score of 70 per cent is passing. If you make less than 70 per cent, you'd better brush up on boating safety. It could save your life or the life of someone you love.

one is killed or injured. (True, False)

13. Keep to the left in narrow channels. (True, False)

14. Gasoline vapor is heavier than air and therefore tends to collect in low pockets in the bilge of the boat. (True, False)

15. The buoys in a channel are either red or blue. (True, False)

"If it came to it, I'd rather have stalks and T-E Liquid Feed Supplement than wheat."

Says Carl Chandler of Tulia, Texas

Mr. Chandler has been feeding T-E Liquid Feed Supplement for three years. Last year he ran 80 mother cows and 70 calves on grain sorghum stalks, from October through February, with T-E Liquid Feed Supplement fed free choice.

With one animal per ten acres, and salt fed free choice, the average daily consumption of supplement was 1.3 lbs. per head.

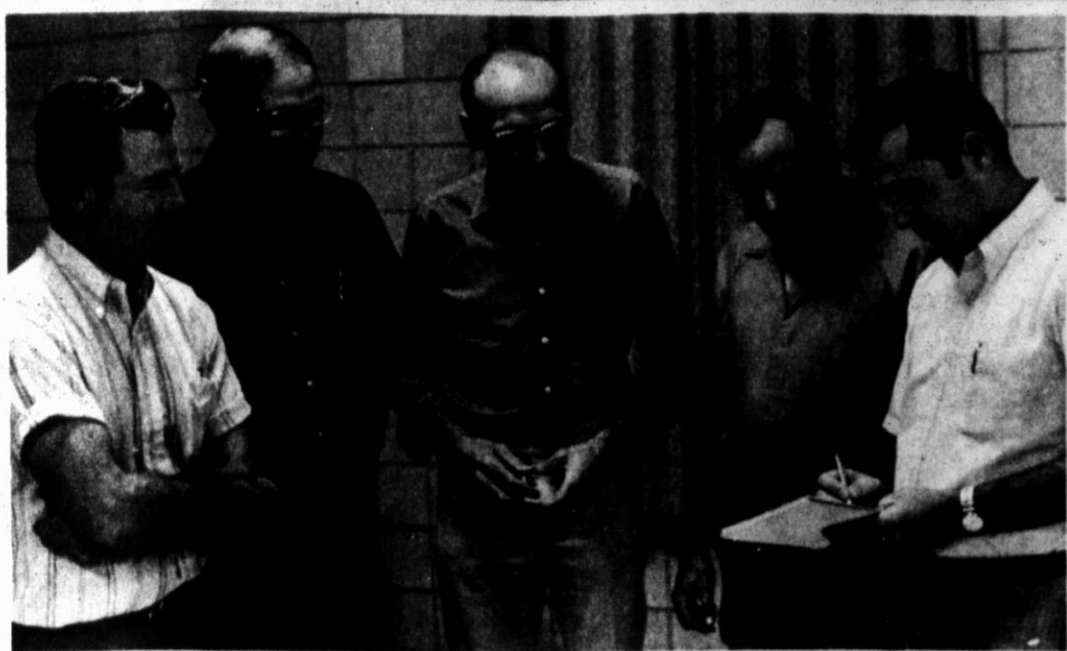

Rate of gain for his calves was 2 lbs. per head per day.

When Mr. Chandler takes his cattle off stalks, he puts them on grass. And he keeps T-E Liquid Feed Supplement out year-round. Because, says Mr. Chandler, "The cows just do better and my calf crop is larger."

Higgins takes over as Booster president

Ted Higgins took over the reins as Booster Club president from Milton Durham Monday night after the nomination committee's slate of officers was unanimously accepted.

James Higgins is the new vice president, with Don Clark as secretary and W.E. "Bub" Sparks as treasurer.

About 45 men attended the meeting, which was on Monday night for the last time in a while.

The club decided to have its cake and eat it too—the cake being the televised pro football games they had to miss last season because of the conflict with Booster Club meetings.

Coaches and often some players will be at the meetings.

This year—at least for a trial period to see whether people will get out of bed for an early meeting—the club will meet on Monday mornings.

The weekly meetings are being changed to a Monday morning meeting to avoid the conflict with televised pro football games on Monday nights. The morning meetings will feature free doughnuts and coffee, beginning at 6:30 a.m., with the program beginning at 7 a.m.

Including the film of the Hereford Whitefaces' previous Friday's football game, the meeting will end in time for persons to get to work at 8 a.m., Higgins said. The meetings will be in the Civic Club Center. Persons may buy breakfast, if they wish, at their own expense.

There will be no Monday Booster Club meeting next week because of an ice cream get-together after an intra squad scrimmage at Whiteface Stadium Tuesday evening, nor a meeting the following week because of Labor Day Weekend.

The first regularly scheduled Monday meeting, therefore, will be Sept. 13, the Monday following the season opener at Pampa.

There also will be a breakfast meeting each Friday morning, beginning Sept. 10, day of the first game, at the Caison House. Coaches will be interviewed for a radio program to be broadcast later in the day. The public also is invited to this, Higgins said.

The Booster Club will realize about $1,500 profit from selling advertisements in the football programs for home football games. With that money, the club provides a scholarship for an athlete, furnishes the funds for the annual All-Sports Banquet, pays for filming of games, helps finance sprucing-up work around the athletic complex, and engages in other similar projects.

"The club is to promote enthusiasm throughout the community for the athletic program and to help it in any way we can," Earl Stagner said of the Booster Club.

The Hereford Whiteface football team, bolstered by another year's age on last year's juniors and a topnotch class of sophomores, hit the field running Monday and brought smiles to the faces of Head Coach Larry Dippel and his staff.

"We were real pleased, just tickled to death," Dippel said Monday night at the kickoff meeting of the Whiteface Booster Club.

"They reported in pretty good shape and with a great attitude."

The club agreed on a scrimmage-ice cream supper next Tuesday evening that will be open to the public at Whiteface Stadium and a change in the time of the weekly Booster Club meeting to 6:30 a.m. Mondays instead of 8 p.m. Mondays.

The scrimmage will replace the customary introduction of players.

"We need the work anyway," Dippel said. All players—whether on the sophomore, junior varsity or varsity team—will participate in the scrimmage, Dippel said.

The scrimmage will be from 6 to 8:15 p.m. Tuesday, with the players then going to shower and change clothes before joining the public about 8:30 p.m. under the west stands for homemade ice cream.

Monday was the first day football players could begin workouts, and then it was only in shorts, teeshirts and shoes. University Interscholastic League regulations allow them to get pads on Friday.

"We're trying to spend this week doing a lot of our teaching. When Friday comes, we want to be in good enough shape that we could play if we have to," Dippel said.

It looks like the three weeks before the Whitefaces' first game will go smoother than coaches had expected, the new athletic director said.

"It did appear, especially with our junior and senior kids, and even with our sophomores, that they retained a lot of what they got in the spring," Dippel said.

The team will work out twice Saturday, getting in more contact work before Tuesday's display before the fans. Then on Friday week, Sept. 3, Hereford will host Canyon in a scrimmage game.

Since Canyon is in Class AAA, the Eagles began practice a week earlier than the Whitefaces and play their first scrimmage game Friday, which puts them a week ahead of the Herd.

The Tuesday night scrimmage and ice cream supper will be at Whiteface Stadium, but the scrimmage with Canyon next Friday probably will be at the practice field north of the high school, Dippel said. He wants to keep the stadium field in as good a condition as possible for the home opener Sept. 17 against Amarillo Palo Duro.

Larry Wartes, who resigned as athletic director and head football coach this summer to take on an administrative job, told the Booster Club he appreciated the organization's efforts while he was in charge of the athletic program. The spirit they helped generate in Hereford played an important role, he said.

"A lot of people may disagree with me, but I think a team is built strictly on the enthusiasm of the community," Wartes said.

"The first year I became head coach (at Stamford), I won the state championship because my boys had the dedication to win. I hope the same thing happens to Dippel."

Dippel introduced his coaching staff including the three-man crews at Stanton and La Plata junior highs.

"It takes two things to win in football. You have to be able to hit and hustle, and if you don't start out with these things, right off, in the seventh grade, it's hard to break the bad habits later on. These men do a good job of giving these boys the fundamentals right from the start," Dippel said.

He introduced three new men among the coaches. Mike Benway is joining the La Plata staff in his first coaching job, and James Self is coming to Stanton from a job as football assistant and head basketball coach at Springlake.

Dempsey Alexander, former coach at Lockney, Plainview,

Happy, Sunray, Farwell, Spur and Petersburg, is working with the defensive secondary. In 1966 he was the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal's Class A coach of the year.

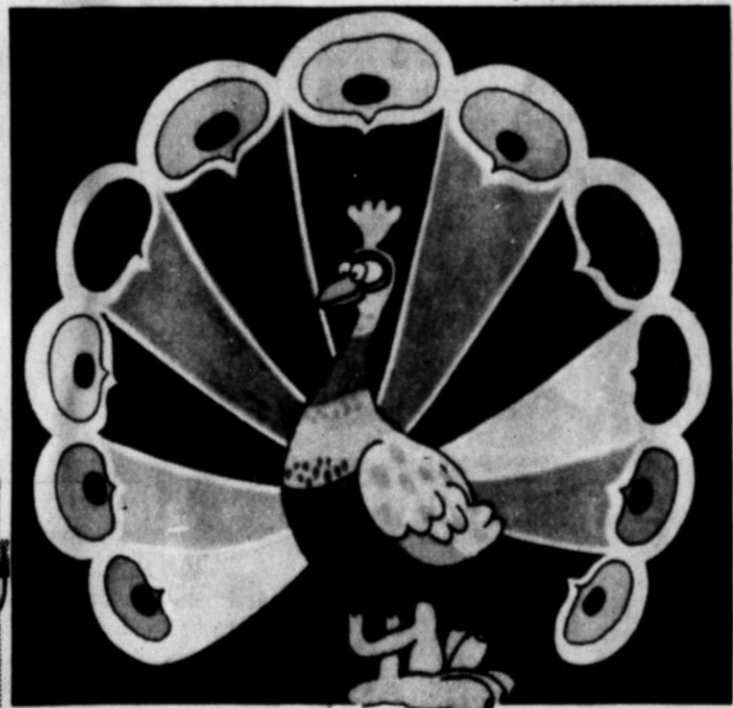

"We're very pleased and fortunate to get Dempsey. We're glad he saw fit to come our way," Dippel said.

THROUGH THE HOLE! — Wesley High takes a handoff from Keith Kit-chens in Monday's first day of work-outs preparing for the 1971 football season. Offensive coordinator Fred Upshaw is in the background.

Freeze may affect cotton production

Cotton and other raw agricultural commodities were given a special exemption from the 90-day price freeze announced August 15 by President Nixon. So at first glance it was tempting to assume cotton and cotton producers would not be affected, one way or the other, by the sweeping "new economic game plan."

But such is not to be the case according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock-based cotton producer organization.

"While the price of raw cotton will be allowed to fluctuate up or down with changes in the supply-demand picture," Johnson said, "the prices at which mills can sell cotton yarn and gray goods and finished cotton products are frozen, and this can't help but have a significant effect on raw fiber prices and on raw fiber consumption."

Most textile mills are thought to already have bought enough raw cotton to carry them through, or almost through, the immediate 90 day period covered by the President's proclamation. But Johnson points out there is widespread belief the period will either be extended as a total price freeze or else there will be a "tapering off" of the freeze after November 12.

Should the price freeze be lifted on November 12, just before the High Plains begins massive harvest operations, the effects in this area would be greatly mitigated. But this is not now considered likely.

"Mills, like farmers, prefer to operate at a profit, and can't operate for very long any other way," Johnson reasons, "and with the prices for their finished product restricted, they may well be forced to restrict the price they will pay for raw materials.

"In this situation only two things can happen," he continued. "First, the anchoring effect on cotton price increases at the gin, exerted by the freeze on prices for cotton textile products, could reduce farm income from the 1971 crop. Second, if the supply-demand situation becomes such that cotton prices rise to a level at which mills cannot spin cotton and show a profit, mills will almost certainly switch to competing fibers, and producers lose markets."

Synthetic fiber prices are frozen along with other industrial products at the August 15 level, and mills will not have to be concerned about price increases for other than natural fibers.

Officials of Cotton Incorporated, the organization charged with building markets for cotton through research and aggressive merchandising of cotton products, are extremely concerned about the potential effects of this cotton "predicament." Reminding that cotton lost markets at an alarming pace during the 1967 price runaway, Cotton Incorporated General Manager Dukes Wooters said in Lubbock recently "If cotton's price goes to a level that mills can't afford to spin it during this period when the price of their cloth is frozen, the markets lost for years to come will far more than offset the one-shot boost to producer income in 1971. So I would personally hope that the price of cotton will hold close to the range seen during the first 15 days of August."

On the plus side of the new economic plan, Johnson notes that if the overall program succeeds in halting or slowing inflation, "hardly any segment of the population can expect to benefit more than farmers so hard hit in recent years by spiraling costs for agricultural inputs."

"And if there is a lasting improvement in the relationship between the U.S. dollar and foreign currencies, agricultural exports of all kinds would become more competitive in overseas markets."

On this latter point, however, Johnson cautioned that a brief re-evaluation of respective currencies cannot be expected to increase cotton exports, "simply because at the moment we don't have the cotton to sell. If we have an export problem right now it is one of supply, not of price."

Obviously the cotton industry will be affected in many other ways, both directly and indirectly, Johnson said, "but we can't tell what these effects may be until there is further clarification of the 10 per cent surtax on textile imports, and until we know how the freeze will be applied to such things as ginning for bagging and ties, insurance, hauling and other items incident to our operations."

What can you do with 30 quarts of peaches?

Mrs. Roy Bell with Heath and Amy

BY JANIE BANNER
A woman who canned 30 quarts of peaches this summer surely must have a good and delicious reason for doing so.

On the list of uses for canned peaches, Mrs. Roy Bell lists peach pie, peach upside-down cake, peach jelly, pickled and spiced peaches.

She has her own simple but delicious peach upside-down cake recipe that reads this way:

Place one quart of peaches in bottom of cake pan with mixture of 1 1/2 cups sugar and 2 T. cornstarch. Pour a yellow or white cake mix, prepared according to directions on box, over the peaches and bake as instructed.

A cake that Kay Bell promises will stay moist and taste better with each passing day, is the often-talked about GOD Believes in You...

When He asks you to remember that He sent His son to remind you of His love; When He sees you struggling from a sea of cynicism and doubt; When He hears you speak out for right; When He senses your belief in all people regardless of color or creed; When He sees you burying your prejudices to do kindness to the careless, show concern for the lonely and offer love to the lost.

Certainly God moves closer to you when He feels your confidence in yourself is alive and your faith in the future is secure; When He sees you working together for others for a better community, supporting law and order and striving to banish poverty from the earth;

when He sees you and your family, even the little ones, in your place of worship, proclaiming your faith with your presence.

Then you are showing your belief in God.

You are living up to His belief in you.

Couple at home after marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Brent Lee Brown are at home in Provo, Utah, after a week's honeymoon after a week's honeymoon at Grand Canyon following their marriage in Mesa, Ariz. Mrs. Brown is the former Miss Sheryl Lynn Lines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyce H. Lines of Safford, Ariz.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce T. Brown, 535 Westhaven. His parents returned to Hereford Wednesday after attending the wedding and then visiting in Utah.

The marriage took place in the Latter Day Saints Temple at Mesa in a high noon service Aug. 18. Mrs. Jerry Jones of Sacramento, Calif., the bride's sister, was matron of honor and Jay Hamilton of Provo best man.

Other attendants were Misses Barbara Blake, Penny Larson and Cheleane Johnson of Safford, bridesmaids, and the bride's brother, Richard Line of Los Angeles, usher.

The bride was dressed in a gown of white polyester crepe, trimmed with lace hand-beaded in pearls. Her veil was fingertip length and she carried a bouquet of white orchids. As a luck piece she wore a gold and pearl necklace that belonged to the bridegroom's maternal grandmother.

Bridal attendants wore empire gowns, the matron of honor's pale green and the bridesmaids in pastel yellow. Each carried a basket of daisies.

A garden reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the wedding. The bride's cousin, Miss Debbie Taylor, registered approximately 600 guests.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated with daisies and white dove figurines made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Lynn Driggs of Phoenix.

The bride will continue studies at Brigham Young University, where she has been a student after attending Eastern Arizona College. The bridegroom is a graduate student and teaching assistant at BYU from which he was graduated. He has served in the U.S. Navy as a commissioner officer and a jet pilot.

Among numerous wedding guests from other cities was the bridegroom's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Andrew J. Brown of Oakland, Calif.

Hasn't the weather been great lately? The nights have been cool—the mornings downright cold, and the days not too hot. And with the ample rainfall received recently, the crops are growing like weeds—and the weeds faster.

Can't quite figure who Governor Preston Smith has been trying to impress with his asinine statements concerning the president's price and wage freeze. While the rest of the nation's governors are going along and trying to make it work, Smith seems to think that Texas should be exempted... which, places brother Smith just one step below George Meany as far as we're concerned.

If, by any stretch of the imagination, he thinks his act of defiance has gained him any support for a 3rd term, we would say that he's badly mistaken. It would appear that he has now lost considerable ground in this area.

And speaking of politics, we sincerely hope that someone will show up on the political spectrum who will add a little dignity to the statehouse. We're getting a little tired of the "stock deals," the "divorce scandals," and the numerous legislative "nest feathering" projects coming out of Austin. It would be good to again see a true public servant in the governor's chair and be done with the political hacks, the has-beens, and the get-rich-quick crowds.

By the way, Bartley has recently been named Lt. Governor (elect) of Division VI, Texas Oklahoma District Kiwanis International. Actually, he will not go into office until next year, but he has been named to the August post. That's quite an honor and we're real proud of him.

Dowell has been an active Kiwanian for many years and has been an asset to his fellow Kiwanians. He is a past president of the Hereford club.

The Hereford Rotary Club—giving equal time here—is getting ready for its annual public barbecue which has been scheduled for September 17th. So get ready to buy your tickets... those Rotarians won't take "no" for an answer.

Incidentally, all of the profits from these barbecues go into the youth fund to be used on local youth projects. The Hereford Camp Fire Lodge is an example of what that money is used for... the club put over $10,000 into that project... plus many other youth projects including the support of foreign exchange students.

You'll be doing your community a favor by buying these barbecue tickets, and you'll get a fine barbecue meal to boot. Can't beat a deal like that.

Dr. John H. Channer is the only golfer we know who carries a 50-foot tape in his golf bag. He uses it to check those questionable pin shots and the arguments stop when "Doc" pulls out that tape.

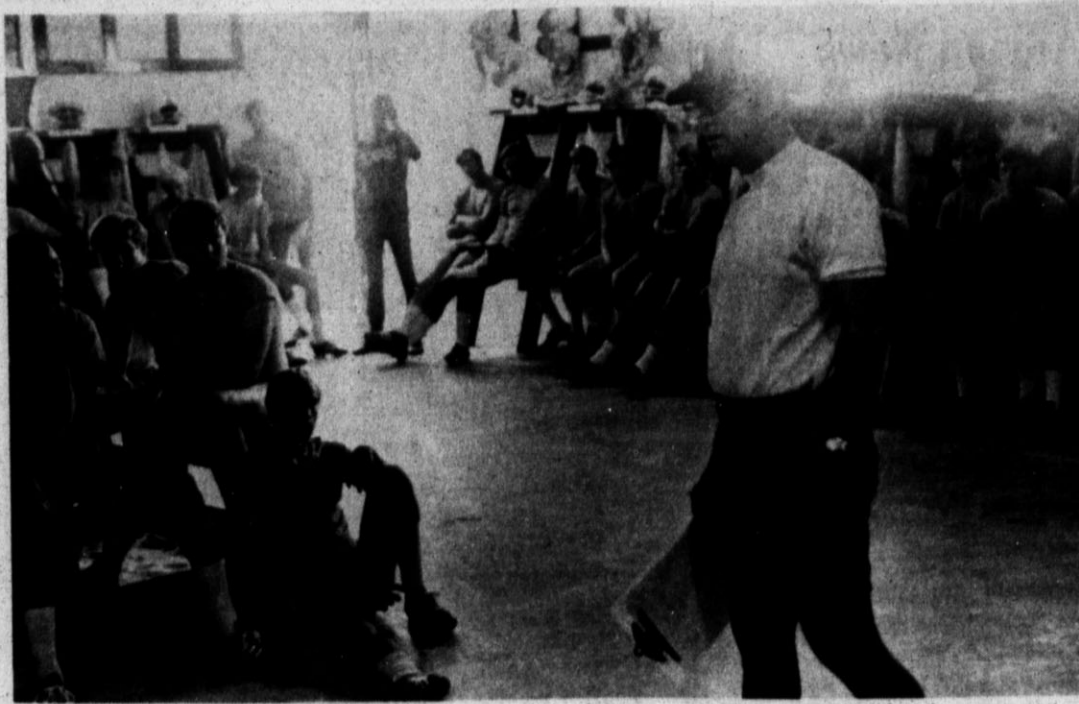

And while we're on the subject of golf, Hereford is the only town we know with 13,000 people and only one 9-hole golf course.

As a matter of fact, this little city of 13,000 has the poorest recreation facilities of any town this size that we've ever visited. Even Friona has a covered olympic-size swimming pool and Friona isn't half the size of Hereford. Almost any town you visit has a decent tennis court, and even Panhandle, with 2,100 people has a fine 9-hole golf course, and one of the finest little city parks you've ever seen. The folks up there have a lot of community pride and whatever they lack in size, they make up with enthusiasm.

Down in South Texas, the people spend about as much on parks as they do on streets. And they're well used. Starke park at Seguin (a city of 15,000) is one of the finest we've ever seen, and incidentally, they have an 18-hole country club course and a 9-hole city course with plans on the board to expand the city facility to 18.

San Marcos has become one of the state's biggest tourist attraction cities (they have 18,000 residents) with the fine facilities at Acquarena Springs. Certainly they're most fortunate to have a natural phenomena to play with, but nevertheless, they have made the most of it. We're not blessed with the "springs" but we have the terrain for an outstanding park facility. There are so many things that could be done in our park area that it's almost unbelievable that we haven't started years ago. Just impounding a little water for a fishing hole would help, and certainly it's inexpensive to build a "prairie dog town" somewhere in the park. Chances are, most of your children have never seen a prairie dog!

Could it be that our city has been dragging its corporate feet?

Commissioners look over Open Meeting Law rules

County commissioners received copies Monday of a memorandum they had requested from Criminal Dist. Atty. Andy Shuval on the Texas Open Meeting Law.

They said they asked for the law's details because of concern about the Brand's coverage of recent meetings.

A newspaper account last month reported the commissioners had again turned down a request by Shuval for a special investigator. The story quoted commissioners and Police Chief Don Brush as saying they felt no investigator was needed.

"We asked him not to put that in the paper, and Don asked him not to," a commissioner said. The commissioners said, as they have on past occasions, that the newspaper should not quote them during such discussions because they must be able to talk freely while they are in the process of coming to decisions.

Shuval complained the story was blown out of context.

Shuval's memorandum to the commissioners said meetings of a public board can be closed to the press and public under these five circumstances:

1. Deliberations to consider the appointment, employment or dismissal of a public officer employe;

2. Deliberations to consider complaints or charges against a public officer or employe, unless such officer or employe requests a public hearing;

3. Conferences among staff members of a governmental body for the purpose of internal administration and during which conference no matters of public business are considered;

4. Deliberations pertaining to the acquisition of real property; and

5. Deliberation on matters affecting security.

The commissioners met in executive session three times over the past year and one-half.

They went behind closed doors to meet with the Democratic and Republican county committees to discuss a successor to Sheriff Ed Roberson in April of 1970, during controversial grand jury session.

The commissioners went behind closed doors while meeting jointly with another board last year. They said it was to discuss privately the other board's request for emergency money, but the Brand learned the commissioners called the executive meeting to question the board on the capability of its executive officer. The commissioners denied it and, when pressed for a legal reason for the private meeting, one of them said, "If you've got to say anything, say it was to discuss real estate."

The third closed door session lasted only about 15 seconds. A reporter was escorted against his wishes from the room and the doors closed for the illegal discussion of a subject that the newsman had declined to keep off the record.

In recent months, there has been no public attendance at any of the meetings of the public boards—county commissioners, hospital board, school board or city commission—except on instances when a group comes to present a particular problem. In those cases, the group has left again after presenting its case.

ROTARY SPEAKER—Charles White, sales representative for the Cabot Corporation, presented the program to the Rotary Club during its weekly meeting Monday. White discussed his company's involvement in the growing cattle industry in the Panhandle.

83rd birthday honored

Fred Collett, pioneer rancher of this area, celebrated his 83rd birthday Sunday when a dinner was prepared and served at his home, 118 Aspen, by Mrs. Bill Black of Dumas and Dean Loerwald of Plainview.

Feature of the dinner was a birthday cake decorated with the figure of a cowboy roping the number 83, and three candles to signify wishes for health, wealth and happiness.

Guests spent the afternoon visiting and taking pictures.

In addition to the honoree and Mrs. Collett, those present were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clifton of Portales, Humpy Briggs and Mr. Powell of Lubbock, Lawrence, Jeff and Larry Nichols of Littlefield, Mark Allen of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Barron and Kyle Barron of Denver City.

Also, Mrs. Edna Mathes, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Baxter and children, Carla and Rex, of Hereford.

Don't bother officers, judge warns

According to police reports, Cooper was first seen driving on the wrong side of the road on Park Avenue near its intersection with Avenue G. Police Capt. Ed Owsley said in his report that Cooper was driving on the wrong side of the street and forced Owsley to drive up on the curb to avoid being hit.

Owsley said he turned his police car around and chased Cooper down Avenue G. to the high school parking lot where Cooper turned around and headed west on Union Street to Avenue F. From there he went south on F where he ran a red light at Park Avenue and Avenue F and turned west on Park.

He then turned off his lights, the report said, and went up the alley between Avenue F and Avenue E to Bowie Street. He then turned back onto Avenue F, running a stop sign, and headed south to Austin Street then west to the same alley and south again.

Two more police units were summoned at this time and a road block was put up at the alley in which Cooper was driving and its intersection with Union. Cooper got by the road block and headed west on Union when one of the police cars made an attempt to pull up beside him and force him over to the side of the road. Cooper then rammed into the side of the police car causing it to skid and slide into a tree, the report said.

Cooper then ran a stop sign at Avenue B and Union Street and continued on to U.S. 385 where again he ran a stop sign. He turned south on Highway 385, ran a red light at the intersection of Park and 385 and headed east on Park to Miles Street where he turned south.

He traveled south on Miles to Seventh Street where he turned west to Jackson. At Jackson he turned south to 51st Street and at Sixth he turned west to Ross where officers had set up their second road block.

Cooper slowed down as he approached the road block, the report said, but when one of the officers started to get out of his car, Cooper speeded up. The officer fired one warning shot from a shotgun and the vehicle slowed, but then picked up speed again.

The officer fired a second shot into the hood of the car and Cooper stopped. Owsley said officers were getting Cooper out of the vehicle when he began fighting. He was finally subdued, the report said, then taken to the county jail.

My Sincere Thanks

I wish to express to our friends my "Thanks", for your many kindnesses including your cards, letters, flowers, visitations and thoughtfulness during Reed Williams extended stay in the hospital and passing. Especially do I extend my sincere thanks to the medical staff, doctors and nurses of Deaf Smith County Hospital and the Hi-Plains Baptist Memorial Hospital for their dedicated service and compassion beyond their regular duties and professional care. You were all wonderful. For the wonderful kindness shown myself I can only say thanks, and God Bless each and every one of you.

Gratefully
Mrs. Reed (Cecil) Williams

County goes over its 1972 budget

With an audience of four women, the Deaf Smith County Commissioners went Monday through their 1971-72 county budget hearing.

Commissioner Donald Hicks was spokesman for the court. He went major category by major category over the 20-page report, explaining the chief departures from the budget of the past year.

The budget calls for county taxes to remain at $1.11 per $100 assessed valuation, with a water tax rate of $.05 and a state tax of $.32 giving a total tax rate of $1.48 per $100 assessed valuation. This is a nickel less than last year because of five-cent-a-year phaseout of the state property tax.

The county tax was lowered by 8.3 per cent by the commissioners' action in lowering the percentage from 24 to 22 per cent in converting actual to assessed valuation. Taxes paid solely for county purposes will be higher, however, since last year's taxes included money for the hospital, which now gets money through taxes levied by the hospital district.

The principal items raised in the budget this year, Hicks said, are for the district attorney's office, where a $7,250 increase in salary for the DA and secretarial help is involved, along with a $2,200 increase to improve the law library. Higher pay for deputy sheriffs and rising Social Security costs also required more money in the budget.

"We do anticipate we will raise salaries in the next six months of all county employes because of the cost-of-living rise," Hicks said.

The county tax rate probably will go down next year, he added, because there apparently will be enough money on hand to wipe out the indebtedness on the courthouse, which has been getting five cents of the county tax rate.

The indebtedness on the widening of U.S. 60 to the Randall County line also will be cleared away, and money that has been going into that fund will be put into a similar fund to pay for widening of U.S. 60 southwest of Hereford, past Wilson & Co. and into Castro County.

The new 22 per cent rate should provide "a little more than we'll need. We feel there will be a surplus," Hicks said.

County Agent Justin McBride was scheduled to introduce his new assistant, W.W. Grisham, to the commissioners Monday. Instead, he came before them to tell them Grisham had called him Saturday and regretted that he could not take the job, that he had been offered a job in McLean so good he could not reject.

The assistant's position was just authorized by the past Tex. Legislature.

The commissioners authorized Benny Womble to attend a school for Veterans' service officers in Waco Sept. 20-23.

number of persons. Only "three or four" persons owe more than $150 during any one year, Bayne said, and the largest of these is for $1,246 over an eight-year period. The largest single year total in delinquent taxes by an individual is slightly over $200.

"People who are delinquent just one year, we will hold off on them because they will probably pay," Bayne said. "But, if they are delinquent for the past year and have other years where they are shown to be delinquent, we will go ahead and file on them."

City taxes become delinquent on Jan. 31 of each year and the $67,000 represents the figure on the city tax books as of that time this year.
