BILL CLAYTON, our state representative from the "4th district, was in town Wednesday and a lot of folks enjoyed visiting with the farm boy from Springlake. Many politicians said Clayton couldn't win the Speaker of the House post because he was a conservative from a rural district. He proved them wrong and has been a respected and effective

Clayton announced here Wednesday that he was sitting up a district office with Bill Sarpalius as his administrative assistant. Sarpalius will live in Hereford and will cover the seven-county area in a mobile van office. It reflects Clayton's sincerety in saving he wants to know what his constituents are thinking.

000 FOR THE FIRST TIME in many moons. I bought a Hershey bar the other day and was surprised to discover the smaller candy bar is priced at 20 cents. With inflation being what it is, guess I shouldn't have been too shocked that the granddaddy of chocolate bars costs twice as much as it did in 1950 and is not even

In the past nine months, the Hershey bar has shrunk from 1.35 ounces to 1.05 ounces while the retail price remained at 20 cents. As late as 1965, a two-ounce bar was only a dime. In 1971, according to figures I read, the price of cocoa beans grown in Ghana was 2" cents a pound. It's now around $2.70 a pound

Clayton Urges Realtor Support Of TREPAC During Banquet

By PAUL SIMS Mananging Editor

Speaker of the House Bill Clayton of Springlake urged Hereford realtors Wednesday night not to depend entirely on lobbyists in seeking a voice in the state legislature but to consider support of political action committees (PACs)

Clayton addressed realtors and other members of the public at the IREPAC (Lexas Real Estate Political Action Committee), banquet at Hereford Country Club

TREPAC, sponsored by the Texas Association of Realtors interviews candidates and determines which of them should receive contributions from realtors. Its sole purpose is to contribute campaign funds to candidates for public

Clayton lauded the realtors political action committee "TREPAC gives everybody the opportunity to participate by contributing It doesn't sway candidates. In 16 years as a legislator I know of only one vote in an urban area changed because of People that contribute money to candidates only want good government. Clayton said politicians, once elected, need to consider their priority

"If people choose by a majority vote, that representative should be cognizant of those people. It's not his office, it belongs to the people

PACs. Clayton reminded the realtors. were organized as the result of legislation passed in 1973

"I can name you a dozen PACs. Six years ago, nobody knew what a PAC was. We had overreaction after Sharpstown (the Sharpstown Scandal) in the legislature. You couldn't talk to any legislator except that of your own district without registering as a lobbvist.

"Organizations had to form PACs so they could participate in the legislature

Clayton said he was not criticizing

"For every issue we have in the legislature you have lobbvists on both sides of the issue and they provide you good information.

Clayton said the people are the key to good government. He praised Hereford during his talk and even quoted Abraham Lincoln and the Bible

Cotton Prospects Good for County

By JIM STEJERT

Brand Farm Editor

While corn is king in the northern Panhandle, a number of local farmers are contemplating what may be their best. cotton crop ever in the Deaf Smith County and Magic Triangle area

Unusally hot and dry conditions that severely crippled the local corn crop in mid July proved to be just what the ounty's cotton acreage needed Snows White Fields

Now, county cotton fields are turning snows white at a time when farmers would normally be wondering if the bolls would even open in time to avoid the first

Marvin Payne, manager of the Hereford Farmers Gin Association admitted that 1977 is an unusual year where cotton production in Deaf Smith County is concerned.

"We're almost too far north to have much luck growing cotton but this has been a cotton véar-and I think we'll average a bale to the acre on this year's crop. he commented.

Farly frosts virtually eliminated cotton production in this area of the state in recent years as the first frost of the season usually caught cotton plants loaded with geen bolls

The tall, leafy plants produced little cotton, and that cotton which was harvested was usually of poor quality.

Grower Interest Renewed But a massive upturn in the cotton market in 1976 renewed grower interest and several farmers decided to take a chance on the crop this year.

They'll be reaping the fruits of a gamble that paid off in short order.

Things really look good right now," said Payne "The cotton is already about 80 per cent open and we're still looking for the first frost. I don't think an early frost is going to hurt us much at all this year, in the event that one comes," he

The gin manager reported that a few growers are defoliating their cotton, rather than waiting for an unpredictable frost to do the job.

"Some of the cotton in the area may be ready to strip in as little as ten days, and we'll be ginning our first bale in Hereford (See COTTON, Page 2)

Treasurer Jesse James Dies

AUSTIN, Tex (AP) Jesse James, the cocky old man with a train robber's name who had served as state treasurer since 1941, died in a local hospital early today following a heart attack

James would have been 73 on Oct. 10. A hospital spokesman said death came at about 12 15 a.m.

He was taken to the hospital last night after a fresh heart attack. He had a long history of coronary heart disease. He died of the heart attack early this morning," said his physician. Dr. Robert Anderson

Morris Stevens, the treasury's chief clerk and James's right hand man since 1946, said James's death came unexpectedly, despite more than a year of poor health

'He was at the banking board vesterday afternoon, in good spirits and hale and hearty." Stevens said.

The tre surer's death gives Gov. Dolph Briscoe another top elective position to fill by appointment, pending the outcome of next year's elections. His appointee would have an incumbent's built-in advantage in a race for treasurer next

James himself first came to office by gubernatorial appointment when Gov-Coke Stevenson named him to replace Charles Lockhart, who resigned as treasurer in 1941. James had been Lockhart's top assistant

Doctors amputated most of James's left leg in January because of a blocked artery, and he suffered from diabetes. After the operation, he came to the office infrequently and moved about in a wheelchairm yet he told anybody who would listen that he was running for

I'm better than I ever have been. My guns are cocked." he said in an interview last month

Some potential candidates, in fact, were afraid to run against, James, despite his advanced age and poor health. because of his strong name identification and his proven ability to finance a campaign

But candidates were lining up. nevertheless, starting with Harry Ledbetter, a former Texas A&M football player who had been one of Comptroller Bob Bullock's top assistants.

Carter Signs Farm Package

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter is signing an $11-billion farm bill that boosts grain farmers' incomes, revamps the federal food stamp program and expands agricultural research

While the bill's food stamp and price support sections will be costly to the taxpayers, experts say the measure's immediate effect on prices at the supermarket will be minimal

The President planned to sign the bill today. It will renew and revise nearly every statute governing Agriculture Department programs.

Carter's signature marks the end of almost three years' work by Congress and two administrations to prepare the bill. which will be in effect for the next four

The bill tightens eligibility requirements for families with incomes above the official poverty level, while increasing aid to families with incomes under the poverty level.

The $11 billion estimated annual price tag on the bill is about $2 billion more than Carter said he winted to spend, but he said the bill will lead toward stability for the farm economy and farm programs.

Price support sections of the bill, in which the government guarantees minimum prices farmers can get for their crops, will cost up to $4.4 billion a year and the food stamp program will cost $5.6 billion annually, the administration says.

The House completed congressional action on the compromise version of the bill Sept. 16. The Senate approved it Actual spending on crop-related programs depends primarily on the weather in this country and in other major crop-exporting nations.

Favorable growing weather? bumper harvests and slow foreign demand for grains would keep prices low, prompting higher government payments to help farm income keep pace with production costs.

The farm bill will provide a record $1.2 billion in such payments for wheat farmers, who have harvested a surplus so far this year of 1.03 billion bushels. Under the bill, average food stamp benefits are not expected to be changed substantially. Presently, recipients receive on the average 81 cents per day in additional food buying power.

But about 340,000 of the roughly 5.1 million families now receiving food stamps each month are expected to be cut from the rolls. New rules requiring unemployed recipients to seek jobs have been added.

The bill authorizes at least $1.27 billion in new and expanded research programs, with the emphasis on solar energy and

The Food for Peace foreign-aid program is extended for the four year period at roughly the same spending level of about $2 billion a year. But the measure contains new programs aimed at aiding agricultural development in poorer

Hill Makes Hereford Last Stop

Texas Attorney General John Hill, seeking to unseat Gov. Dolph Briscoe, will make Hereford the last stop on a statewide campaign tour when he arrives at the Hereford Municipal Airport at 4 p.m. Friday.

The Hereford High School band and Hill supporters from Deaf Smith, Oldham, Hartley, Dallam, Parmer and Castro counties will greet Hill, who plans to conduct a press conference from 4-5 p.m. at the airport.

Hill, who practiced law in Houston for 23 years before his election as attorney general, was appointed secretary of state by John Connally in 1966. Hill ran unsuccessfully for governor in 1968.

He was elected attorney general in 1972, defeating the incumbent Crawford Martin and another opponent in the Democratic primary. He was re-elected two years later

As attorney general, Hill led the legislative effort for passage of the Code of Ethics legislation and the Consumer Protection Act.

Cotton In Corn Country

Marvin Payne, manager of Hereford Farmers Gin Association poses amid a field of cotton which is rapidly turning white under unusually warm fall temperatures. Although in most years, Deaf Smith County is almost too far north to grow with any real success, an excellent crop should be harvested in 1977. Hot, dry weather that severely injured the local corn crop gave the young cotton plants a boost and 1977 proved a cotton year in corn country. [Brand Photo By Jim Stelert]

Democratic Sens. James Aboutezk of South Dakota and Howard Metzenbaum of Oliso said they would support a plan which keeps federal controls on gas, but would allow more of the fuel to be sold at higher price levels

But Abourezk and Metzenhaum said they would vote for the compromise only if it remains unamended by senators sympathetic to the natural gas producers

Remission of Cancer with Laetrile

On the medical front a bold claim comes from a Lovola university bilogist that Lactrile (ital) does (unital) work, that he

MIAMI (AP) - The defense has lost an early battle to introduce questions on television violence in the murder trial of Ronald Zamora, the 15-yearold portrayed as an addict of TV crime shows.

A jury of nine men and three women was seated late Tuesday after two days of questioning during which defense lawyer Ellis Rubin was prevented several times from asking prospective jurors about their TV viewing habits.

Zamora's defense on charges that he and another teen-ager killed an elderly woman during a robbery is that he suffered "insanity induced by too much television."

Television and still photographers are being allowed to cover the trial under a 2-month-old Florida State Supreme Court experiment that expires next June. Police said he and Darrell alleged insanity.

Agrella, 14, broke into the Miami Beach home next to Zamora's where Elinor Haggart, 83, lived alone.

The home was ransacked, more than $400 was stolen and Mrs. Haggart was shot with her own .32-caliber pistol, police said. They said Zamora rounded up some friends for a trip to Disney World, using the dead woman's car and money.

Both boys were charged as adults with first-degree murder. Agrela's trial is to be held next month.

The TV insanity defense, the courtroom TV experiment and the possibility that Telly Savalas, star of the TV show 'Kojak'' may appear at the trial have drawn a large press corps.

Savalas is to appear next week for a deposition and, possibly, court testimony. The defense has said "Kojak" was one of Zamora's favorite shows, Zamora was arrested last and may have contributed to his

Suburb Seeks Subway Funds

LITTLETON, Colo. (AP) -City officials of this Denver suburb say they will seek $30 million to $45 million in government and private funds to build a mile-long subway for coal trains.

A report to the Littleton City Council said 20 coal trains rumble through the city now on their way from Wyoming coal fields to Texas, and rail traffic is expected to double by 1980 as Western energy development increases.

Officials say the money might come from federal energy and transportation agencies, the Regional Transportation District and the railroads, which officials said can make money by developing the covered areas of their rights-of-way.

The trains mostly belong to Rio Grande Railroad and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe

The trains now cause traffic delays of up to 90 minutes a day at rail crossings, the report said. besides shaking the ground and increasing noise and dirt.

To get the trains out of sight, the report proposes lowering the track for about 11/2 miles, one mile of which would be covered with 10 feet of earth. Housing and businesses could be built live above the trains," said Assistant City Manager Al Salazar.

and money with the tunnel because they could go up to 25 miles an hour faster, the report

City manager Gale Christy said finding money for the project is not impossible.

"I think it's as feasible for Littleton to try to deal with this problem and get state, federal and coal money as it is for Rifle to get new schools and roads because it is impacted by the energy crisis," Christy said.

Rifle, on Colorado's Western Slope, is undergoing major changes because of intensified oil shale and coal development.

After Man Kills Self WINNSBORO, Tex. (AP) -

Ever since Melvin Cain killed himself Winnsboro residents have been trying to recoup the deposits they lost when the Cain Banking Co. failed.

But now the Internalrevenue Service has stepped in and is trying to get any money that might be available. Unfortunately f: - the 3,500 depositors, the IRS can move right to the head of the line. The deposits in the private bank were not insured.

When Cain committed suicide he left a note saying he was leaving his estate to the troubled bank to help make up for his "gross mistakes."

One of those mistakes involved an East Texas contractor who owed $986,000 when the institution went under. H.L. Quinn was the bank's largest debtor and efforts to collect the money ended in his bankruptcy.

Early this month the IRS filed a $51,557 claim against Quinn's assets for unpaid Social Security and withholding taxes. Other claims are pending.

If upheld, those claims could deplete Quinn's estate, leaving no money for the bank, nor its former depositors.

Lee Ray, former Winnsboro mayor, is among the unhappy local people.

"We've got some people here who are 70, 75, 80 years old who lost as much as $27,000 in that bank - just about everything they had in their lives. My own mother lost $7,000 in the bank. and she's lying flat on her back," Ray said.

But local residents, including Winnsboro News editor and publisher Grayford Jones, know the IRS has first crack at the

The IRS is going after the tax payments for Quinn's employes because they're probably owed," Jones said. 'But let's face it, the depositors have been paying Quinn's employes salaries for the past two or three years."

The local people have appealed to Sen. John Tower's office for help but a spokesman' there says there is probably little the senator can do.

Family Circus Stuck in Sapulpa

SAPULPA, Okla. (AP) - The Hanneford Family Circus came to Sapulpa two weeks ago and put on a two-show performance. It's still here.

Officials of the show say they are stranded three miles east of Sapulpa because they have not been paid according to an agreement.

Parked on property of Dr. Bill Swafford, a veterinarian, are the troupe of four elephants, eight ponies, a dozen dogs and a chimpanzee, plus the human cast.

The Creek County sheriff's office says there apparently are no complaints and the scene is quiet.

Swafford also is pleased enough with his unexpected guests.

"It was a magnificent little short show - real good family entertainment," he said. "And the people are above what you generally consider traveling show people to be. They're nice and clean-living.

'They have a beautiful big red, white and blue tent."

The circus owners say they have not been paid for performances in Joplin, Mo., and Vinita, Okla. They have told residents here they cannot continue to put on shows without fuel, feed for their animals and other expenses.

The group is scheduled to perform at Enid and Oklahoma City early next month.

The owners, Mr. and Mrs. George Hanneford, say a West Coast promoter owes them $10,000 for their last five shows.

Sponsor of the circus in Oklahoma is the Oklahoma Reserve Officers' Association, which was to receive a percentage of the total earnings.

Capt. Larry Silver of the Bartlesville Police Department and president of the association. said his group is upset about the complaint and is investigating the matter.

Local residents say they have been told that if the circus people can scrounge up enough money, they may head home to

Doctors Separate Twins

MANHASSET, N.Y. (AP) - A team of 20 doctors worked for five hours to separate tiny Siamese twin girls in a delicate operation, The Associated Press reported Wednesday.

Officials at North Shore University Hospital declined comment early today, saying an announcement would be made later. However, sources said the five-hour operation was performed Tuesday and was successful.

It was learned that the 51/2-month-old girls, the daughters of a Nassau County couple, were in satisfactory condition today as a result of the operation.

The combined weight of the premature girls when they were brought to the hospital reportedly totaled only three pounds.

Prior to the operation, a carefully monitored program at the hospital raised the combined weight of the girls to about 10 pounds. The AP learned.

Even the fact that the Siamese twins were at the hospital was a carefully guarded secret. It was learned that the hospital had not planned to announce the operation until later this week.

Browns To Upset Steelers

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

Okay, so the Cleveland Browns are for real - but do you somewhere else. really expect this fairy tale to go on forever?

Granted, they looked nothing short of spectacular last Monday night against New England.

Granted, the Pittsburgh Steelers looked less-than-sensational against the Oakland Raiders last Sunday. But do you actually think the Browns can beat the Steelers?

We do ... so we're going with a National Football League Upset Special. We're picking Cleveland to find the slivers of space in Pittsburgh's defense. nose out the Steelers and take command of the American Conference's Central Division.

Maybe the fairy tale won't go on forever. Midnight is fast approaching, in the form of the silver and black of Oakland. But for now, the white mice are stallions, the pumpkin really is a coach - and the coach Forrest

Gregg, of course is a genius. Last week's 10-4 mark put the season record at 18-10, .643.

This week's picks: Browns 17, Steelers 13

Maybe we're impressed by the extra bit of inventiveness, of daring, of spirit that the Browns have exhibited - and the Steelers haven't. Maybe Brian Sipe isn't better than Terry Bradshaw. And maybe Ceveland won't be able to cope with the Steel Curtain.

But, like the Browns, we can dream, can't we?

Raiders 35, Chiefs 10

Remember when an Oakland-Kansas City meeting meant allout war? The only thing it'll mean Monday night is a lot of channel-changing by halftime. Redskins 20, Cardinals 16

You could call this an upset.

Contest Error Noted

Due to a computer error the previously announced winners in the Brand Football Contest last week have undergone a change. Earl Stanger was listed as the week's winner with one miss, while Cawthon Bryant and Melvin Hoover were second and third with two misses each.

However, the Panhandle-Phillips game was marked incorrectly on the master, and theone game difference has altered the standings. After correcting the error, four entries were found to have missed only one game.

E.H. Lowerwald emerged the winner with one miss and a tie-breaker guess of 38 on the Michigan-Navy game which would up 14-7. Mike Field took second place with a tie-breaker guess of 42, while Bryand was third with a guess of 48.

Stagner and Hoover both missed the Panhandle-Phillips game and had two and three mistakes respectively.

Lewerwald's miss came on the Muleshoe win over Levelland. Field erred in picking Army over Boston College, while Bryant's miss came on the Petersburg win over Hart.

You could call it a toss-up. If you're looking for a reason why Washington's the pick, look Rams 27, 49ers 16 San Francisco's the team that made Los Angeles' offensive line look so pitiful a year ago. With any kind of protection, Joe Namath will do the same to the 49ers' secondary.

> Cowboys 48, Bucs 10 It's the battle of two top running backs, Tampa Bay's Ricky Bell vs. Dallas' Tony Dorsett. Bell may have been No. I in the draft, but you know the Cowboys will have his number.

The Jets are coming along slowly, which is not the way to play defense against a lightning offense like New England's.

Patriots 34, Jets 17

Dolphins 21, Ollers 14 Miami is not very flashy, but it does just what it has to do to win. What it has to do this time is a little less than usual.

Franklin's Toe May Make the Difference

By LARRY PALADINO AP Sports Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) -What the Detroit Lions - or any other National Football League team, for that matter - wouldn't give to get Tony Franklin.

But alas, the Texas A&M barefoot kicker is only a junior. Coach Bo Schembechler of Michigan probably wishes Franklin was a senior - last year. Then he wouldn't have to worry about him Saturday when the third-ranked Wolverines play at home agains the No. 5

Schembechler calls Franklin "the greatest kicker in football. You don't get returns, and you don't get field position."

Michigan has prided itself on its defense during Schembechler's nine-year tenure, but this season's Wolverines have had much more trouble holding opponents' offenses so far. If they can't keep Coach Emory Bellard's Aggies in their territory, they'll have to worry about Franklin.

"He can kick a field goal any time from Midfield," Schembechler said.

Last week A&M, ranked right, met seventh-ranked Texas Tech and won 33-17 on the strength of Franklin field goals of 48, 25, 51 and 39 yards.

Last year as a sophomore, Franklin twice in one game set the National Collegiate Athletic Association field goal record His first one was a 64-yarder and he bettered that win a 65-yard kick.

this season he has made all 10 of his touchdown conversion kicks and has hit on six of 10 field goal tries. His misses came from 51, 54, 59 and 65 yards out.

Spec Gammon, A&M's sports information director, said Franklin kicked a practice field goal 75 yards.

Franklin is a 5-foot-9. 170-pounder from Fort Worth. Texas. This is his third season as the Aggies' placekicker. Last year he was on the All Southwest Conference team.

Michigan's kickers are Nick Labun and Gregg Willner. Labun handles kickoffs and Willner the point-after tries and field goal attempts. He missed a

Yanks Can Clinch Pennant Tonight

By KEN RAPPOPORT

AP Sports Writer The New York Yankees are

"It feels lovely," said New York Manager Billy Martin. whose Yankees can do no worse than tie for their second straight East pennant.

The Yankees' enviable position is a result of their 10-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians Wednesday night. combined with Boston's 3-2 loss to the Torento Blue Jays.

That left the Yankees' "magic number" at one for clinching the division title. That can be accomplished with a victory over Cleveland tonight, or a loss by both Boston and Baltimore. The Red Sox host the Blue Javs again and the Orioles play at home to the Detroit Tigers, a team they beat 3-2 in 11 innings Wednesday night.

'No one lost this race - New York just went out and won it." said Boston slugger Carl

Of course the championship does not officially belong to the Yankees yet. Some of the people in the Boston camp are quick to point that out, even in jest.

"New York can lose four in a row, can't they?" noted catcher. Carlton Fisk

That's exactly what will have to happen, along with Boston winning four straight, for the teams to finish in a tie for first. Baltimore has a similar opportunity to pull off the minor baseball miracle.

We still have four games left, including three big ones with Baltimore this weekend. and we'll go out there and try to win them all," said Boston Manager Don Zimmer.

'The Acorn' Takes Shot at Ali

NEW YORK (AP) - Tonight it's Earnie Shavers' turn to take crack at the world heavyweight boxing title held by Muhammad Ali, who belittles his bald-headed challenger by calling him "The Acorn" or Earnje Shaffers."

The fight, 15 rounds or less at Madison Square Garden, will be the 35-year-old Ali's 22nd title

It also will be Ali's 19th title defense in his two terms as champion and it comes one year and one day after Ali's unanimous 15-round decision over Ken Norton in Yankee Stadium.

Hardly anyone expects this fight to go 15 rounds and hardly anyone expects a victory by the 33-year-old Shavers, of Warren,

Shavers, whose chin and stamina are questionable, feels he can go 15 rounds, but acknowledges it would be extremely difficult for him to win a decision. His best chance lies in his strength vs. strength battle against the 35-year-old champion - Shavers' devastating punch against Ali's great ability to take a punch.

"He can't hit harder than Sonny Liston, or Joe Frazier or George Forman," said Ali.

"I'll put a lot of pressure on him and if I hit him on the chin he'll go." said Shavers. "He has a lot more wars, tough fights. They start taking a toll on Ali, who officially weighed 225 to 2111/4 for Shavers Wednesday, preferred to talk about experience and the ability to handle the pressure of heavyweight title fights.

"I'll tell you about this sport," said Ali. "It's like a horse race, like a stock auto race. It's the brains that win, not the physical ability."

Then the champion jumped on the fact that, except for a brief confrontation at a midtown news conference Monday, the Savers camp has kept its fighter away from a face-to-face meeting with Ali.

"He's scared," said Ali of the 33-year-old challenger, who weighed-in and left before the champion appeared.

"He seriously doesn't want to see me here. But he'll have to face me in the ring. Then when he hears the national anthem" Ali then hummed a few bars -

'and when he hears the crowd start shouting. 'Ali, Ali, Ali,' he's gonna say to himself, 'I must be crazy. What did I get into?' Then while the referee is reach over and shine his hade. The chants of "Ali, Ali, Ali, Ali, should start around 100 paths EDT. The fight is sensitived to start about 10 minutes litter in

There was never any reason to. First, with three teenagers in the house, all making their own decibels, I've been reading lips since 1967, and second, I never cut an album for Warner Brothers before.
Yesterday, I did something I promised myself I would never do. I knocked on my son's bedroom door and asked to come in. (I visited the room in 1973, and on the basis of two medical opinions never went back.)

"I want to play something on your phonograph," I said. "Is it a record?

" No, it's a giant cookie." I stepped inside. Sound bounced off all four walls, causing my teeth to swell. He turned it off. "To begin with, Mom," he said, "this is not a phonograph. It's a stereophonic system. Give me the record."

I took it out of the package and he held it at eye level before he grabbed a rubber suction ball to remove the dust. (This. mind, in a room that was so cluttered it would have to be cleaned before they could condemn it.)

'Who's the artist?" he asked.

"I am." 'Get serious."

Honey Will Cost More

WASHINGTON (AP) - Honey will be in scarcer supply and probably will cost more this winter, according to new production figures announced by the Agriculture Department.

This year's honey output by commercial beekeepers is expected to total 101.3 million pounds, down 8 per cent from more than 110 million pounds last year and 7 per cent less than the 108:5 million pounds produced in 1975.

Officials said that the number of bee colonies, about 1.8 million in the 20 major honey-producing states, is down about 1 per cent from 1976. But the main reason for the drop-off in production is that the yield of honey per colony is expected to average only 55.3 pounds, compared with 59.7 pounds in 1976 and 62.1 pounds in 1975.

The department said severe cold weather in Florida early this year reduced production and that dry weather during part of the summer in lowa also

Senate hypocrisy on Lance

WASHINGTON (NEA) — On the day Bert Lance finally resigned, a little-noted proceeding on Capitol Hill provided an illuminating glimpse of the double standard which Congress applies to questions of political ethics. By sheer coincidence, the Senate Rules Committee on that day was holding a public hearing on proposals to restrict or prohibit members of the Senate from using their staff aides as campaign workers while the aides are drawing government

Chairman Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., was presiding as usual, and Cannon made it pretty clear that he saw no need for any new rules on the subject of campaign activity by Senate

Which is not surprising, considering the fact that Cannon is currently the defendant in a lawsuit filed in U.S. District Court here charging the government was defrauded of thousands of dollars in salaries and expenses paid to a number of the senator's staff aides who worked virtually full time on Cannon's 1976 re-election campaign while still carried on the Senate payroll.

Neither Cannon nor anyone else at the Sept. 21 hearing mentioned the chairman's awkward and obvious self-interest in the matter of drafting rules to force senatorial aides off the public payroll when they devote the bulk of their time to purely political chores aimed at guaranteeing the boss' re-election. Instead, a number of senators who do not serve on the Rules Committee trooped before the panel to engage Cannon and his committee colleagues in a truly touching discussion of the difficulties in distinguishing between the political and official duties of a senator and his aides.

"I don't know of anything a senator does that is totally non political," said Sen. J. Bennett Johnston, D-La.

"Official business and campaign business are so interwoven there is no way to segregate the two." chimed Sen. Carl Cur-

'I don't see where there's a problem as long as the individual staffer involved doesn't neglect his official duties." Cannon contributed.

Only Sen. Dick Clark, D-Iowa, who first proposed restricting the campaign activities of staff, and Sen. Mark Hatfield. R-Ore., insisted the ethical problem is both serious and soluble. "I agree it is a difficult area in which to legislate, but I'm not convinced it is beyond the capacity of the Senate to deal with," Clark said. Of course it isn't. The great majority of senators already take pains to insure that any staff aide who will be spending a substantial amount of time in an election year working on campaign chores is transferred from the Senate payroll to the campaign staff. These honest members, and their aides, seem to have very little trouble identifying the point at which a staffer is no longer putting in a full day's work for the government but is instead laboring primarily to insure the senator's re-election. Bert Lance was forced to resign because, as a private citizen, he had played fast and loose with the funds and property, such as airplanes, of a couple of Georgia banks he owned and directed. At no time was there any suggestion that Lance abused his public trust for private gain.

But in the case of campaigning senators, it is the taxpayers who are being taken for a ride when staff aides continue to draw their public salaries while working primarily on the reelection effort of the boss.

It is sheer hypocrisy for the Senate to nod sorrowfully and say Lance had to go while insisting its own members should be allowed to use government-paid staffers as fulltime campaign

Proposal Put Forward To Avert DBCP Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) - Older people and those who don't intend to have children could be recruited to handle DBCP, a pesticide suspected of causing sterility, says a national agricultural organization.

The National Peach Council made the proposal to the Occupational Safety and Health Administration as an alternative to government restrictions which have had effect of halting production of the pesticide.

The idea was offered to the government by Robert K.

Hereford Man Appointed To Faculty

EXPERIMENT, GA - Dr. Ronny R. Duncan, a native of Hereford, has been appointed to the research faculty of the University of Georgia Agricultural Experiment Stations as an assistant professor of food science at the Georgia Station

Duncan will be conducting research in sorghum genetics, breeding and physiology. He comes to the Georgia Station from Texas A&M University where he served as a graduate assistant.

He received a BS degree in agronomy from Texas Tech University and a MSA degree in agronomy and a Ph.D. degree in plant breeding, both from Texas A&M University.

His research work at the experiment station will be aimed at developing new acid-tolerant sorghum types for growing in the Southeast, as well as developing improved types for use in multiple-cropping situations.

Duncan is a member of the American Society of Agronomy, the Crop Science Society of America, Sigma Xi, Phi Sigma Society. Gamma Sigma Delta and the Council for Agricultural Science and Technology. He served as a voice processing specialist in the U.S. Air Force from 1969-73.

Duncan is married to the former Nancy Elizabeth Douglass of San Antonio. They have one daughter. Cady Meyer. three years old.

Phillips, executive secretary of 16 of 21 employes tested after the peach council, an agricul- exposure to the pesticide in tural organization representing the interests of peach growers.

In a Sept. 12 letter to Dr. Eula Bingham, administrator of OSHA, Phillips accused the government of overreacting to evidence of sterility in a dozen male workers at Dow Chemical Co.'s DBCP plant at Magnolia,

In a telephone interview. Phillips said the suggestion was made in good faith and sincerity. He acknowledged, response from Dr. Bingham.

They may think I'm doing it tongue-in-cheek, but I'm not.' said Phillips, whose organiza-tion is based in 'Martinsburg. W. Va. "All these government agencies over-do everything. I know they carry things to extremes. They should at least consider alternatives to banning this material.

OSHA and the environmental Protection Agency, responding to pressure from union and consumer groups, imposed emergency restrictions on the handling of DCBP after learning of the sterility problem at the Arkansas plant last month.

Since the restrictions were imposed, the pesticide has been recalled by two manufacturers. Dow Chemical Co. and Shell Oil though rains delayed field work in many areas, farmers generally have made good progress in harvesting this fall's corn crop, estimated by the Agriculture Department at a record 6.23 bilion bushels.

Corn Harvest Moves On; Soybeans Slowed by Rain WASHINGTON (AP) - Al- from frost and dry enough to

The soybean harvest, however, has been slowed appreciably by rain in some key areas, the department said Tuesday in a weekly weather and crops

Officials said that by Sept. 25 an estimated 15 per cent of the 1977 corn harvest was completed, compared with 11 per cent on the same date last year and an average pace of 6 per cent. "Most corn was mature, safe harvest," the report said.

But cool, damp weather has delayed the maturity of soybeans in northern areas and rains have held up harvests in other sections, the report said. The Ohio harvest was on schedule, but farmers were held back in Indiana and Ilinois.

The lowa soybean harvest was only 11 per cent complete by Sept. 25 and the Minnesota harvest was 12 per cent finished, both about one-third of last year's pace.

Soybean production estimates will be issued by the department on Oct. 12.

Other highlights of the weekly report included:

The fact that your eggs were good is no happenstance. A lot of people, including those from the Texas Department of Agriculture, are responsible for the excellent eggs served from your table, eaten in the thousands of restuarants and cafes in Texas, and used by food manufacturers serving Texas consumers.

To assure the public of good quality eggs, the Texas Legislature passed in 1957 the Texas Egg Law. The law regulated the handling and sale of chicken eggs in Texas. Since the original act was passed, the Legislature has amended the Egg Act three times, the latest amendments coming in 1969.

Few pieces of legislation passed in Texas have had more far-reaching effects onthe consumers of Texas than the Texas Egg Law. This law. administered and enforced by the Commissioner of Agriculture, assure the people of Texas high quality eggs from Texas and out-of-state egg producers.

The 1957 law and its amendments were brought about by the Texas egg industry because of its desire to upgrade the quality of eggs produced and marketed by Texas poultrymen and by those who export eggs to

The Commissioner, under the statutes, has a nine-member Egg Marketing Advisory Board to assist him in the supervision and administration of the Texas Egg Law. The Board, appointed by the Governor, meets semiannually, or at the call of the Commissioner who serves as Board Chairman. The Board is composed of three members who are producers. three members who are milers, and three who are dealers, wholesalers, brokers or processors. An Extension Service representative designated by the Head of the Poultry Science Department at Texas A&M University serves as an ex-officio member of the Board.

Inspectors from the Texas Department of Agriculture work closely with their counterparts from the U.S. Department of Agriculture to assure the consumers of Texas high quality eggs. And, in my opinion, they are very successful.

Next tim shopping your favorite food market for eggs, please note the TAP (Texas Agricultural Products) insignia on the carton. It is the mark of quality foods, and by your purchase of these top grade eggs you are helping to make Texas No. 1 in agricultural production and profit.

Wheat - Final wrapup of the 1977 harvest was delayed by rains and damp weather in Montana and North Dakota, with about 90 to 95 per cent of the crop harvested in the states by Sept. 25.

Planting of winter wheat for the 1978 harvest advanced to 45 per cent completed in the major producing states, compared with 29 per centust year and an average of 39 per cent on the same date.

Cotton - Above-normal temperatures opened cotton bolls last week; about 75 per cent of the bolls were open in the 11 southern states, except for Oklahoma where about 27 per cent were opened and nearly ready for harvest.

About 18 per cent of the 1977 southern cotton crop was picked by Sept. 25, compared with 5 per cent a year ago and an average for the date of 11 per cent. In the western states cotton picking did not advance much last week but defoliation and harvesting was under way in New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Other crops - about 33 per cent of the sorghum grain in the seven major states was harvested by Sept. 25, compared with 32 per cent a year ago and the average for the date of 26 per gent.

The rice harvest was running ahead of recent years, except in Louisiana. Arkansas growers had to cope with downed rice but the harvest still was twice the pace of a year ago.

Three Farmers Able to Feed 97 People

AUSTIN-In Texas this summer it took just three people to produce enough raw agricultural goods for 97 other fellow citizens. Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown reported recently that 284,000 people were involved in the actual growing and harvesting of food and fiber in Texas, according to an annual summer survey released by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

"This low percentage shows the efficiency of Texas farmers and ranchers, who have made this the third highest state in cash receipts in the nation. But it also indicates one reason why

Heart Info 'Misleading'

HOUSTON (AP) - A Houston heart surgeon says he and his associates are disturbed at what he called "the many misleading and confusing" stories about the effectiveness of coronary bypass surgery

Dr. Michael E. DeBakev said earlier this week his surgical team reported "striking findings" after analyzing 1,542 patients who had the heart treatment procedure more than five years ago. DeBakey said 90 per cent of the group not only survived at least five years after surgery but today "remain free of chest pain or are greatly improved" and 80 per cent of those patients under 65 can work and lead normal lives.

DeBakey, who performed the first successful coronary bypass 14 years ago, responded to a study among 13 Veterans Administration hospitals. That study of 596 heart patients showed at the end of three years no significant difference in the survival of those treated medically and those who had surgery

The Houston surgeon said not all heart ailments are severe enough to require surgery. He said it is misleading to compare the survival rate of patients treated with medication with more serious cases that required surgery.

We are not challenging the VA study," DeBakey said in a news conference. "I'm sure they presented the facts quite correctly. What we are indicating to you is that this does not cover the field of coronary disease and the bypass operation.

"It is misrepresentation to take the results of that study and say this applies to all forms of bypass operations and surgical procedures."

DeBakey, president of Baylor College of Medicine, said he wanted to "set the record straight" about coronary bypass operations. The procedure involves taking a large vein from the patient's leg and using it to bypass obstructions in coronary arteries.

DeBakey said there is no way to put a pricetag on the economic contribution to society made by the 80 per cent of under-65 patients who were able to resume normal work and active lives. The 1,108 patients ranged in age from 26 to 75 years with the mean age at operation being 50 years. DeBakey said just over 90 per cent of the group were men in their prime production years.

The surgeon said that 90 per cent of the 1.108 patients lived for five years-including 59 per cent who had had heart attacks before surgery. He said the 41 per cent without pre-existing problems were exceeding their normal life expectancy since

Campbell May Charge Worker Supervision

PRINCE CROSSING FARM. Ill. (AP) - For years Campbell Soup Co. enforced a disciplinary code for migrant workers on its mushroom farm here and provided them with nearly every service expected of a town government.

A recent federal court ruling may force some changes on the 201-acre Du Page farm some 35 miles west of Chicago.

Judge George N. Leighton ruled that Campbell had violated the workers' First Amendment guarantees. He said he would decide within the next few days whether to put his order into effect.

Graham Sudbury, a Campbell spokesman, said Tuesday the ruling was being applealed and the company could not comment directly while the case was pending.

He said, however, the company "does not infringe on the personal liberties of employes of Prince Crossing Mushroom Farm in any manner." There are, he said, certain limitations on visits by nonemployes for security, safety and other reasons." Sudbury said the company will review its visitors' policy.

him on appeal. Last week, the judge ruled that Campbell's policy "had the effect of prohibiting political canvassing, political campaigning, communications concerning day-care programs, adult basic education, medical services and dissemination of information by federal government employes about vocational training. He rejected the company's claim that the farm was private property. He said Campbell provided "the common ameniies and housing units, recreation facilities, water, heat, and garbage collection. More important is the fact that the company enforces a

Crossing, and metes out penalties through a system it administers," he said. Sudbury said the company gives workers "freedom of choice" to live at the farm and those who choose not to are given a wage differential. He
