AIDS: Once Acquired, Always Fatal Disease

around muleshoe

Jointly, the Muleshoe Police Department and the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture have scheduled a seminar on "Shoplifting and Employee Theft" for area businesses.

The seminar has been planned for Tuesday, March 24, at 7 p.m. in the Muleshoe Police Department Training Room. If the attendance will be heavy, the seminar may be changed to another location, said Toni Eagle, manager of the CofC meeting room.

She said all area businesses are urged to be represented at this seminar and participate for the benefit of your own particular business.

A count is needed, so if your business is to be represented, please notify the CofC at 272-4248, with how many will be from your business.

Tuesday, March 24, the board of directors of the Muleshoe Independent School District will meet in special session at 7 p.m. in the school administration office, according to Superintendent H. John Fuller.

The only item of business on the agenda will be personnel considerations. After an executive session, board members will consider appropriate action in open session.

Jeffrey M. Kline, a sophomore aerospace engineering major from Muleshoe, has been named to the 'Distinguished Students' list at Texas A&M University for the 1986 fall session.

In order to be named a Distinguished Student, a student must be registered for 15 or more semester hours and earn at least a 3.25 grade point ratio, out of a possible 4.0, during the most recent grading period.

Danny Noble, county executive director for the ASC, received notification on Thursday afternoon that the latest bid for CRP (Conservation Reserve Program) acreage have been approved.

He said that all bids $39.49 and below were approved, but all bids from $30.50 to $40 were rejected.

His office is currently compiling the acreages at this time.

Because of a three way tie on Friday, the boy's basketball tournament will not begin on Monday, tomorrow.

Danny Noble, president of the boys' basketball program, said there will be a playoff game at 6 p.m. on Monday. The last regular season game was to be played on Friday night.

The tournament will be played Tuesday, March 24; Thursday, Cont. Page 6, Col. 2

Debbie Isaac Scheduled For All-Star Game

The 17th Annual Texas Golden Spread High School Girl's All-Star Games will be held April 3-4, at the West Texas State University Fieldhouse in Canyon.

On Friday, April 3, at 6:30 p.m. the North will play the South, while the East meets the West at 8:30 p.m.

At 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, the consolation game will be played, followed by the championship game at 8:30 p.m.

Debbie Isaac is a member of the West team, coached by Bob Sims. Other team members and their schools are Mikki Webb, Abernathy High; Paige Burks, Littlefield High; Traci Elliott, Lazbuddie High; JoAnn Wooley, Sudan High; Tammi White, Olton High; Tina Cowan, Amherst High; Gwen Wilson, Hart High; Denise Hunt, Anton High; and Mindy Neal, Bovina High.

Girls selected to play in the games are high school seniors Cont. Page 6, Col. 3

AIDS: A NEW AND DEVASTATING THREAT--Wednesday, afternoon, Dr. E.A. Isaacson, left, presented a seminar in Muleshoe on the AIDS problem that is currently threatening the world's population. He spoke on symptoms of the disease, and who contracts the disease, along with how it is contracted to approximately 100 people at the Bailey County Coliseum. Pictured with the doctor is JoAnn Head of the Texas Public Health office in Muleshoe, who helped co-sponsor the seminar for interested people.

Public Health Doctor Confirms AIDS Locally

For a disease that was discovered in California in 1981, and diagnosed there for the first time in history, AIDS (Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome) has quickly become the most devastating and life-threatening disease in history.

And, yes, there is a case of AIDS in Muleshoe. This was confirmed by Dr. A.E. Isaacson, Public Health Doctor from Lubbock, who conducted an AIDS seminar in Muleshoe for about 100 people on Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. Isaacson stressed throughout his very explicit seminar that AIDS can strike anyone, any lifestyle, any ethnic group, man, woman, child or infant, without discrimination.

The public health doctor said he was trying to inform people of the disease, and educate them on the only safety precautions that can be taken to prevent the disease. AIDS is 100 percent fatal, there have been thousands of deaths from AIDS all across the United States since it was first diagnosed, and there is no cure from the disease that attacks the body's immune deficiency system.

There are four major ways to contract the fatal disease. The first is through sex, and in fact, was FIRST noted through homosexual activities. This later expanded to include bi-sexuals, and now the disease has moved into the heterosexual world, affecting both males and females.

The second way to acquire the disease is through contaminated (used) needles, prevalent in the drug abuse culture. Drug abusers can pass the disease along through more than one person using the same needle to inject drugs.

Smaller numbers have been contaminated and acquired the disease through blood transfusions, according to Dr. Isaacson, who said people who have had blood transfusions between the years 1977 and 1985, need to have their blood checked to see if they are carrying the AIDS virus. Since 1985, doctors believe they have eliminated the virus in blood because of a new system of processing blood, which heats it to kill the virus before it is used in transfusions.

A fourth way passes the disease from a mother to her unborn child, or at the time of its birth as it passes through the birth canal.

A lesser known way to acquire the disease is through a skin, or organ, transplant, which has occurred, but only in a very few cases, said Dr. Isaacson. Another lesser way is for the medical profession, who care for AIDS victims, such as a nurse in England, who accidentally jabbed herself with a needle used on an AIDS patient.

Dr. Isaacson had one bright spot in his AIDS seminar. The doctor said AIDS cannot be contracted by casual contact -- such as being served food by an AIDS victim, drinking out of the same glass, shaking hands, or any other casual manner. Also, he says research proves that casual contact with youngsters who have the dread disease like in school situations is also safe, despite the many objections to allowing youths with the disease attend public schools.

Behavior modification is the only prevention for the disease, stressed Dr. Isaacson. Abstinence from homosexual activities, bi-sexual activities, oral and anal sex, and casual sex are the main preventatives, he added.

The doctor warned that the body can carry the AIDS virus, HIV, from several weeks to up to 10 years before the disease surfaces, adding that in sex, you are having sex with any individual your sexual partner has had sex with for the past 10 years.

Trooper Kirk Talks About Safe Driving

Thursday, DPS Trooper Lacie Kirk presented a discussion on driver safety and Texas laws concerning emergency vehicles, to personnel from the Bailey County Ambulance Service.

Illustrating his discussion on how to maneuver around vehicles on roads that fail to yield to emergency vehicles, and how to safely round curves at higher speeds, the DPS trooper also gave several incidents he had encountered.

He also discussed responsibilities of ambulance personnel responding to emergencies, including responsibilities, according to Texas law, should the ambulance drivers be involved in an accident in an ambulance, or in their personal vehicle while driving to the ambulance building to respond to an emergency.

Following Kirk's talk, the ambulance personnel asked several questions.

MISD Plays Very Vital Role In Survival Of A Community

With the economic status of Texas being at an all-time low and with the farming economy in Bailey County being depressed, it seems to be easy for individuals to look for the worst and to promote the negative. However, the school administration and teaching staff in all four schools in Muleshoe have been working hard to assure the survival of this community and its young people by assuring that every child can receive an education of the highest quality. For years it has been generally recognized that the school is the "live-blood" of any community, especially a rural community. Muleshoe is no exception, and with the economic status of the community being depressed, the school district's staff has taken the initiative to promote the positive rather than the negative.

Most people recognize that when new families consider moving to Muleshoe, the school is one of the first institutions that receives scrutiny. This three-part series is an attempt to let the entire community know more about its public schools. The first part will describe the school district in general and render a chronicle of the past five years. The second part will describe the current school improvement efforts while the third part will be a scenario presenting what the school district will look like in 1990.

PART I "MULESHOE I.S.D. - PAST and PRESENT"

Muleshoe I.S.D. is the largest school district in Bailey County. It borders the Three Way Independent School District to the south, the New Mexico State Line to the west, the Farwell and Lazbuddie Independent School Districts to the north and the Springlake-Earth and Sudan School Districts to the east. The District, an agricultural, residential, and agri-business community covers 484.5 square miles and operates on 5.8 million dollar budget. The district has four campuses with a student enrollment of approximately 1,700 scholastics. The district employs 225 indi-

Monday Night Dinner Theatre To Draw Crowd

A last minute reminder! Tomorrow, Monday evening, is a very special evening for local residents -- it's time for the annual Muleshoe Fine Arts Boosters Dinner Theatre.

Serving begins at 6 p.m. in the Muleshoe High School cafeteria for band members and the play group, followed by serving for the general public at 6:30 p.m.

Tickets will be available at the door and cost $5 for adults and $2.50 for children. The dinner will be Mexican dishes, casseroles, vegetables, salads, desserts and drinks.

During the dinner, the patrons will be entertained by the Muleshoe High School Band, and will enjoy the annual Spring Fashion Revue, presented by local businesses. The cafeteria will be decorated with works of art from both Muleshoe High School and Watson Junior High School.

Following the meal, those attending will retire to the MHS auditorium for the presentation of 'Macbeth,' chosen this year by directors Kerry Moore and John Gully as the UIL competition play.

Woman Cut In Dispute Wednesday

A simmering squabble between two Muleshoe women erupted into violence Wednesday afternoon.

City officers were called to a residence in northwest Muleshoe, where Lt. Wayne Holmes of the Muleshoe Police Department took one woman to a local doctor's office to be treated for 'cut' wounds.

Officers said after the two women got into a fight, one woman left the residence, returned with a knife, and cut up the other woman.

Sgt. Julian Dominguez said no charges were filed immediately, as the case is still under investigation. He said the case will be presented to the grand jury on April 6.

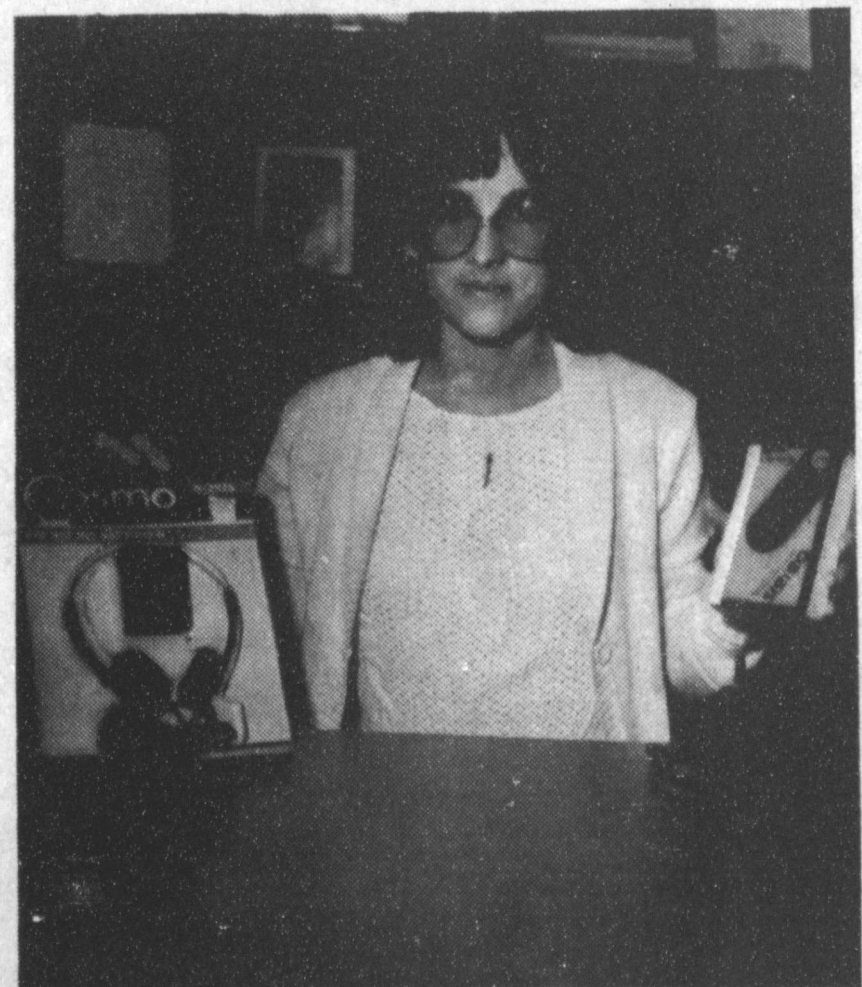

Junior High Poster Contest Starts Today

"Got Any Skeltons?" Watson Junior High School students will have the opportunity to expand on this question, beginning tomorrow, Monday, in a poster contest designed just for them.

They will be making posters to be displayed at businesses in the area, boosting the Bailey County History Book, and encouraging residents and former residents to write their family history for the upcoming book, scheduled for publication this fall.

Judges will determine the winner, who will have his or her choice of a Cosmo FM Micro Receiver, or a Crown Stereo Cassette Player, each with lightweight headphones. The prize is being donated by Paul Poyner of Otasco.

Students participating in the contest are asked to put their names and grade on the back of the poster and turn them in, on completion, to the principal's office at junior high.

GOT ANY SKELETONS?--Donna Kirk, member of the Bailey County History Book Committee, displays the choices for the Watson Junior High School poster winner as their prize. A prize will be given to the student utilizing the theme "Got Any Skeltons?" boosting the writing of family histories for the upcoming history book.

Kenneth Sawyer Services Held At Earth

Funeral services for Kenneth L. Sawyer, 75, of Earth were held at 2 p.m. Friday, March 20 in the First Baptist Church of Earth with the Rev. Joe Vernon, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Earth Memorial Cemetery under the direction of Parsons-Ellis Funeral Home of Earth. Sawyer died at 1:35 a.m. Wednesday in St. Mary of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock.

Born March 6, 1912, in Ellis County, Okla., Sawyer moved to Earth in November of 1954, from Amherst. He was a farmer and a member of the Earth First Baptist Church. He married Gladys Oleta Smith on March 12, 1939, in Amherst.

Survivors include his wife, Oleta; two sons, Darrell Sawyer of Earth and Gayle Sawyer of Albuquerque, N.M.; two daughters, Mrs. Jean McDaniel of Springlake and Mrs. Charlotte Smith of Pampa; two sisters, Mrs. Faye Queen of Earth and Mrs. Aurora Sanford of Amarillo; a brother, Harry J. Sawyer of Higgins; and six grandchildren.

Jewel Hutchinson Funeral Services Set Monday

Services for Jewel Lee Hutchinson, 88, were held at 2 p.m. Monday, March 23 in the Ellis Funeral Home Chapel of the Chimes with the Rev. Dennis Hayes, pastor of the Nazarene Church, officiating.

Interment was in Bailey County Memorial Park under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home. Mrs. Hutchinson died at 4:45 p.m. Wednesday in the Methodist Hospital at Lubbock.

She was born on July 9, 1898, in Erath County and moved to Muleshoe in 1966, from Lamesa. Her husband, Aubrey Franklin Hutchinson died in 1968. She was a homemaker and a member of the First United Methodist Church.

Survivors include a son, Charles Hutchinson of California; and two grandchildren.

Texas A&M researcher helps USDA catch dishonest honey dealers

COLLEGE STATION — The U.S. Department of Agriculture is in a sticky situation with its subsidized honey program.

To encourage farmers to keep beehives, the USDA subsidy program pays a standard price for U.S. honey which is above market price for international honey.

But unscrupulous people are buying honey made in other countries and sold on the world market for considerably less, then re-selling it to the USDA as American honey to get the larger subsidy price for it.

To trace the origin of the honey, the USDA has called on Dr. Vaughn Bryant, head of the anthropology department at Texas A&M University and an expert in identifying pollens. By studying the pollen grains in honey, Bryant is able to determine, sometimes within 50-100 miles, where the honey is produced.

Home Day Care Improved Through Home Study Course

An Extension Service pilot program has shown that Texas women in the business of caring for children in their homes can improve their knowledge and skills through a study ledge and skills through a study-at-home course.

Five hundred home day care providers participated in the study conducted by the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service (TAEX) home economics program and funded in part by the Texas Department of Human Services (TDHS) and Corporate Child Development Fund for Texas.

"Concern over the quality of child care is a statewide issue that prompted development of an Extension program to reach these family day care providers with education and training," said Diane Welch, Extension family life specialist and project coordinator.

"Reaching family day care workers is difficult, since they work all day and have family responsibilities in the evening. Time constraints may prevent some providers from attending classes even when they are offered locally," she added.

The TAEX program included a manual and a set of videotapes for home study about child care, including health and safety, child development and guidance, nutrition and business management.

The materials were distributed by Extension home economists in cooperation with local TDHS staff in 28 counties. Most of those participating were operators of TDHS registered family day homes.

Tests before and after the four week study period determined providers' knowledge improved in all the child care subject areas.

Welch says that 76% percent of the participants achieved a final score that qualified them for three continuing education units from Texas A&M University and 72% made one or more changes in child care

Kids' Food Choices Influenced By Others

For school-age children and teenagers in particular, the influence of people outside the family plays an important role in what foods the kids eat.

Those were among the conclusions of a U.S. Department of Agriculture survey of 9000 children and teenagers between the ages of 6 and 18.

"Parents often control the food choices of children, and to a lesser extent, those of younger teenagers," says Dr. Dymple Cooksey, a nutritionist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"Food choices of older teenagers, however, probably are more influenced by people outside the home," she says. "The USDA study shows that the percentage of eating occasions shared with other household members declines with increasing age through the teen years, and the percentage eaten alone increases."

"The survey also indicates that youngsters are getting more and more of their nutrients from snacks rather than meals," Cooksey remarks. "On the average, children aged 6 to 11 get about 18 percent of their calories from snacks, for teenagers this figure rises about 21 percent."

According to the nutritionist, the snacks preferred by 6 to 11 year olds in the study were bakery products, including cookies, cakes and pies, soft drinks, milk, ice cream, puddings, candy, fruit and salty snacks.

The most popular snacks among teenage boys were soft drinks, milk, bakery products, bread, milk desserts, salty snacks, meats and fruits. Teenage girls preferred soft drinks, bakery products, milk desserts, salty snacks, fruit, milk, candy and bread.

"Several of the snacks, such as milk, bread and fruit are good sources of one or more essential nutrients," the nutritionist says. "But snacks such as soft drinks and candy provide few nutrients in relation to calories."

"If adults want their children to improve their diets, they need to set a good example for them and guided their food choices early in life, since they'll have less influence once they're teenagers," Cooksey advises.

Information on making pageant swimsuits and a discussion concerning the production of chocolate will be featured on Creative Living on Tuesday, March 24 at 12 noon and repeated on Saturday, March 28 at 2:00 pm. (All times are Mountain).

Gloria Bailey, owner of Gloria's Fashions in Baton Rouge, LA has been designing pageant gowns for over ten years, but has only recently begun to design and make pageant swimsuits. Ms. Bailey will talk about the different styles of swimsuits for different pageants, and several of her winning swimsuits will be modeled by Emily Franklin, 1986 Miss New Mexico. But, as with all of Gloria Bailey's garments, they're not for sale. She only rents her fashions.

Another guest will be Dennis DeDomenico, General Manager of Ghirardelli Chocolate Co. in San Leandro, CA. Dennis is going to explain how chocolate is produced—from the cocoa bean to the finished product for eating or cooking. He will discuss the terminology concerned with chocolate and explain some interesting points connected with the chocolate industry.

On Tuesday, March 24 at 9:30 pm Creative Living will feature a discussion by Stefan Bechtel, editor of Men's Health Newsletter, concerning the relationship between coffee and cholesterol. He will explain the research that is being conducted on this topic. Stefan is from Emmaus, PA.

Puff Pastry is a product whose time has come. Barbara Gonsor, home economist with Pepperidge Farm in Norwalk, CT will show some uses for puff pastry, from the simplest to the most exquisite, and will demonstrate how easy it is to work with and how versatile this product is.

Finally, Roger Langenberg of Restech Industries, Inc. in Eugene, OR will demonstrate a unique product called Restore-X Wood Renewer. The product actually allows the homeowner to "hose away" the gray -- on decks, siding, fences and more. It's biodegradable and safe to use.

On Thursday, March 26 at 12 noon, Jan Fitzgerald with Prescriptive Cosmetics in Lubbock, TX. will tell about this new line of cosmetics made by Estee Lauder Cosmetic Co. She will explain what makes this line of cosmetics different from other make-up companies, and she'll demonstrate her point on two models. The main things that differentiates Prescriptives from other cosmetics is a service they provide called Colorprinting and a product called Line Preventor. We'll see how both of these work.

CREATIVE LIVING is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show airs on more than 95 PBS stations in the United States, Canada, Guam and Puerto Rico and is distributed by Pacific Mountain Network. Viewers can request copies of printed materials offered on the show by calling on KENW-TV's toll-free telephone lines. In New Mexico, the number is 1-800-432-2361, out-of-state: 1-800-545-2359 and Portales and Roosevelt County: 562-2112. Requests can be made between 8 am and 5 pm, Monday through Friday.

PUFF PASTRY

Some of the most spectacular foods found in restaurants and bake shops around the world are those made with puff pastry. However, because of the time, patience and experience needed to create this most delicate and challenging of all pastries, it has long been the province of master chefs or, at the very least, skilled cooks.

Puff Pastry is a 'deliciously flaky dough that, when baked, swells to six or seven times its original height into a light, delicate pastry. When you look at the baked dough, you see many thin layers separated by air spaces. These air spaces are the only riser -- no leavening is used. During the baking the shortening melts creating steam and puffing the layers of dough into tender, crisp pastry.

Puff pastry dough should be used cold. Since it thaws quickly, it's a good idea to keep it refrigerated until ready to shape and cut. Pastry dough, well wrapped, can be stored in the refrigerator for three or four days.

Men may differ in opinions but they should not dispute as to facts.

The danger in ignorance is that so many have it without suspecting it.

Chargeback Rule Protects Consumers

A little-known safeguard built into the federal Fair Credit Billing Act can protect consumers from losing money on credit card purchases, says family finance expert Nancy Granovsky.

"A consumer can eliminate a disputed payment from a credit card bill by requesting a charge-back," says the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist. "A chargeback simply means the disputed payment has been charged against the merchant or creditor rather than the consumer."

If your problem is a billing error, such as being overcharged, you must notify the card issuer of the problem within 60 days of the date of the last statement.

"Withhold payment or ask for a credit when you notify the company," she advises. "The card issuer must answer within two billing cycles or 90 days, whichever comes first."

"When the problem involves defective or shoddy goods, poor service, no refund or exchange, first approach the merchant with your problem," says the specialist. "If you're still not satisfied call or write the card issuer, just as you would if it's a billing problem."

Granovsky says the chargeback feature lets you withhold payment on that portion of the account that is in dispute while the problem is being resolved.

"Whenever you have a problem with a bill, don't send your letter to the same address as your credit card payment. Send the letter to the address for inquiries or complaints that's listed separately on your bill," emphasizes the home economist.

She says the letter should include your name, address, credit-card number, the facts of the dispute, an indication that you have talked with the merchant if the dispute is over the merchandise, the amount of payment you are withholding and your signature.

"Any letter should also state explicitly that you are requesting a chargeback under the special rules of the Fair Credit Billing Act," Granovsky advises.

REFRESHMENTS ANYONE—Charlie Reyna and Ruth Riley, members of the FHA/HERO organization at Muleshoe High School, served refreshments at the recent Muleshoe Study Club meeting, which was the first meeting to be held in the Old Depot. Members of the Littlefield Young Homemakers presented a program on "Six Flags Over Texas."

A TOUCH OF HISTORY First Local Merchant Tells Of 'Early Days'

(Editor's Note: The Touch of History below was written by the late M. P. Smith, the first merchant in Muleshoe. It first appeared in the 50th anniversary issue of Muleshoe, in The Bailey County Journal.)

By M.P. SMITH

When Ochiltree County School land was offered for bids, I was in the mercantile business in Goodnight. Four men from there bid in league 206 early in 1913. I traded my business for the other interests in the land.

I was acquainted with the Janes brothers, who with the Coldren Land Company of Kansas City and the Santa Fe Railroad, has staked and laid out the town of Janes. They offered me a business and residence lots if I would put in a business there. The railroad grade was built through to Farwell and a switch track was graded for Janes.

The Old Hotel building was moved from Old Hurley to Janes. After they reached the sand the building was so heavy they sawed it into half-way of the length and made two buildings of it. They set them side by side and had two rooms.

On July 18, 1913, we landed in Bovina with our household goods, a cow, horse and buggy and over $800 worth of groceries. We were moved by wagon to Janes and occupied the north side of the old hotel building. The Janes brothers had built a small building about 18 feet by 24 feet for a bank. These buildings were all of Janes, Texas. The sand was so deep cars could hardly get in there.

The (Muleshoe) townspeople kept telling me to wait until building until they gave the word. So about October they had laid out the townsite of Muleshoe and we selected our lots, make a contract with E.R. Hart to furnish material and build the store. The 24 X 60 foot building was finished in early November 1913. We moved from Janes a few days later, cut off some rooms and lived in the back of the store until early spring. At that time we moved into a four room residence that E.K. Warren and Sons moved from north of Friona. We lived there until we built our home a block south of the courthouse and west across on the corner from the present Methodist church.

Coldren Land Company owned the church building, moved it from Old Hurley to three blocks east of the first Blackwater Bank building. It was used for school as well as church services, until the first school building was built.

The first Methodist Sunday School was held in the depot in early 1914. Albert Gaede and family, Mrs. John Wilterding and daughter Dottie, Mrs. E.R. Hart and son Bill, and my family were the first Muleshoe Methodist congregational organization.

On April 21, 1914, our second daughter was born. She is now Mrs. Doris Douglas of Guthrie, Okla. Our older daughter,

Grain Sorghum Meeting Slated

For Muleshoe

Sorghum producers in the Texas Western Panhandle area will meet in Muleshoe, at 8 a.m. on Thursday, April 2, to discuss their options under the current farm program and compare it to the Market Oriented Production Plan proposed by the National Grain Sorghum Producers Association. The meeting will be held at the Hungry Mule Restaurant, and a Dutch treat is planned.

The NGSPA plan, based on production goals set at the amount the market will absorb, would maintain exports, reduce government cost on sorghum production by 40 percent and more than triple the sorghum producer's net cash incomes. The plan was developed by sorghum leaders from six states who make up the board of the national association.

National Grain Sorghum Producers Association is sponsoring the meeting. K.B. Parish, NGSPA Regional Director, will be in charge. Other officers in the region include Delbert Watson, Adolph Wittner and Royce Collins.

National GSPA executive staff will be present to review the association's work in export and domestic market development, utilization research and the National Grain Sorghum Yield and Management Contest.

Tax Crack
A charming little recipe for a dessert called income-tax pudding: Take a good deal of dough, you'll knead it.
—Opinion, Dublin.

Maurine (then three years old) was the first child to live in Muleshoe and Doris was the first one born in Muleshoe.

A.J. Tays, who ran the hotel at Janes, moved with the building to Muleshoe. W.B. Gwyn was the next family to move to town. Gwyn had helped build the railroad grade and lived in a tent as the work progressed.

The Muleshoe post office was established in 1914. I don't remember exactly who was postmaster until sometime in 1919, he resigned and E.E. Hagler was appointed and served less than one year. Mrs. Carles succeeded Hagler and served until 1935.

I could talk to you about Muleshoe better than I can write.....

(The Journal thanks Mr. Smith is a fine historian and writer too and hopes he will come to "talk to us about Muleshoe's early days "IN" Muleshoe soon.)

Counterfeiters Charged; Local Printer Cleared

Thursday morning, the Lubbock-Avalanche Journal carried the following story:

"In separate federal court proceedings Wednesday, a Lubbock man admitted to counterfeiting in Muleshoe, and three men involved in drug trafficking and a four-time burglar were given prison terms.

"Larry Dwain Richards pleaded guilty to one count of manufacturing approximately $50,000 in $100 bills. He allegedly made plates and printed the phony money in August and September at Muleshoe's West Plains Publishing Co.

"According to U.S. Secret Service agents, Richards burned the plates and buried them near Snyder. Agents said the plates were unearthed after Richards led them to where they had been buried.

"He was implicated by co-defendant Steven Ballard, who was arrested while passing some of the bogus bills last October in Tulsa, Okla. Ballard is serving a three year sentence.

"Resident Agent Dave Freriks estimated that slightly less than $2,000 was passed in Dallas and Oklahoma. He said no fake currency was passed here (Lubbock).

"Richards, 35, is a printer who had been living in Dallas and previously operated a newspaper in Ralls, authorities said. He was in Hale County Jail in Plainview on bad check charges when interviewed by the agents last fall.

"Richards, who has a prior felony conviction, now faces up to 15 years in prison when he is sentenced later by U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward. Richards waived indictment and pleaded guilty to a criminal complaint."

When contacted in Muleshoe Thursday morning, Leon Watson, owner/operator of West Plains Publishing Co., a printing plant, said, "I want the people around here (Muleshoe) to understand that I have had nothing to do with the printing of counterfeit money, and I am distressed because of the possible effects on members of my family here."

He, Watson, had also written a statement, as follows: "In a story published Thursday in the Avalanche Journal, West Plains Publishing Company of Muleshoe was mentioned in connection with the arrest of two men who admitted counterfeiting $100 bills.

"Neither West Plains Publishing, nor owner, Leon Watson, was implicated in the charges of counterfeiting.

"Watson had leased printing equipment to the individuals who told him they were working on an idea they wished to get copyrighted. The men worked at night on weekends and did print the fake money in Muleshoe.

"After their arrest, both admitted their guilt, but told officers Watson had no knowledge of the counterfeiting.

"Special Agents of the U.S. Secret Service first contacted West Plains Publishing Company in October, 1986. At that time, Watson was cleared of any wrong doing by the U.S. Secret Service."

Watson also told The Journal Thursday morning that when he was visited by the Secret Service, they had no search warrant, but he freely show them his entire printing operation, and cooperated in any way he could.

Vital Role

stay in Muleshoe. Everyone wants a quality education. Therefore, the school district's staff is committed to offering one of the nation's best programs in rural education. This commitment began several years ago and has blossomed in the past ten years. The school has improved educationally and physically during these years. Since 1981, the district has not had any bonded indebtedness. This has allowed the districts to develop a maintenance program that operates on a "pay as you go" plan. The district's high school was renovated in 1982. A new gym was built at Dillman Elementary in 1984 along with a new weight room facility at Muleshoe High School. Continued efforts to upgrade the energy efficiency of the buildings at Jr. High and both elementary schools has continued since 1985. New library and classroom facilities were added to both elementary schools last year and this year the community can be very proud of a new track facility and a possible addition to the administration building. Several other projects have been a part of the success story that the Muleshoe Public Schools have to tell, but the primary improvement has been in the significant improvement in the quality of instruction, not in the improvement of building facilities. Part II of this series will introduce you to some of the improvements in the instructional programs and give you an opportunity to better understand "the role of the school district in the survival of our community".

(Editor's Note: This was the first in a series of three articles prepared by H. John Fuller, superintendent of the Muleshoe schools. The other two articles will be reproduced on consecutive Sunday issues of The Bailey County Journal.)

who are recognized for their outstanding performance during their high school careers. The games also provide an opportunity for college coaches and others to watch these girls demonstrate their talent against their peers. Many of the girls playing in the games have received college basketball scholarships as a direct result of playing in the games.

For fourteen years, the All-Star Games were held in conjunction with the National Women's Invitational Tournament (NWIT), but in 1985, the NCAA ruled that high school and college basketball events could not be combined. That ruling spurred creation of the Texas Golden Spread High School All-Star Games Trust, which is a non-profit operation and organization of volunteers who desire to promote women's basketball in the Golden Spread Area.

Funds donated to the games are used to pay expenses to conduct the games. All proceeds of the games are donated by the Trust to the women's basketball programs of area colleges and universities.

plex) and never develop AIDS themselves, but in others, it may develop into AIDS within months, they find they have less and less energy, become very tired, they have more and more infections, and their illnesses become more severe.

Rare diseases show up like PCP, a very rare pneumonia and various rare forms of cancer, one in which purple spots show up on the skin. Another devastating effect is brain disease and disorientation.

Most AIDS patients die within two years, said Dr. Isaacson, but he also strongly warned 100 percent of the AIDS patients will die. "No one has ever recovered from this dread disease," he commented. "We are here today because we have a new situation, the likes of which we have never seen before. As far as we can tell, education is the only way to try to stop this disease."

Some of the symptoms of the early stages of AIDS are recurring fever, night sweats, lose weight rapidly, swollen lymph, severe headaches, no appetite, frequent diarrhea and coated tongue.

At this time, there are 32,000 people under a death sentence of two years or less in the United States, added the doctor. All 32,000 have been diagnosed with AIDS. Also, another 1.5 million are suspected of carrying HIV, the AIDS virus.

AIDS is figures on a ratio of 6-2-2 according to Dr. Isaacson with all infected without present symptoms at 6; infected and showing symptoms 2; and those diagnosed with AIDS. He projected that by 1991, there will be 150,000 cases of AIDS, and if research does not work, within a few years from that time, the world population will be threatened with extinction.

Currently, 74 percent of the AIDS patients are from the homosexual community; and of this amount, eight percent is also bi-sexual and use IV drugs.

Driver Education Starts April 13

Muleshoe High School will offer classes in driver education beginning April 13, according to school officials. The classes will be taught for 13 days from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m., after school. Driving will be done during June and July.

Students who wish to take driver education must sign up in the high school principal's office by Friday, April 3. Cost for the entire course (including class instruction and driving) will be $110. A $20 deposit is required at the time of sign-up.

Any student who will be 15 years of age on or before April 13 will be eligible to take the summer driving program. The next offering of driver education

Using biblical quotations such as "Thou Shalt Not Commit Adultery;" "Thou Shalt Not Lie with man as with a woman;" and "Do not consort with fornicators;" Dr. Isaacson said the only other preventative measure is the use of a condom, "and even that is not fool-proof," he warned.

He suggested strict monogamy in marriage, and strict abstinence outside a marriage.

In cases involving children, 394 are below the age of 13; 347 cases are below the age of five; 57 percent of the children are Black; 22 percent Hispanic and 20 percent Caucasian. As of February 1, 1987, there were 2,067 cases reported among children, and of the children with AIDS diagnosed between 1980-1982, 90 percent are already dead.

He also said 93 percent of the AIDS cases are still among males, although more and more AIDS is showing up in women and children.

As for costs, the low figure for treating one AIDS victim is $26,000 to $100,000. And who bears the cost. "You, the community, do," warned Dr. Isaacson. "The AIDS victim is too weak and too sick to provide their hospital and medical care. They cannot work, so you, the community, will be picking up the tab."

By 1995, it is projected that AIDS will be the leading killer in the U.S., shooting past everything else, such as heart disease, cancer, and all the former dreaded diseases.

A film that was shown at the seminar will be shown at 7 p.m. on Sunday, May 17, over Channel 28 (12), and Dr. Isaacson and several Texas Tech representatives will discuss the disease for the general public. Dr. Isaacson suggests inviting groups to watch the film and discuss together, then call JoAnn Head at the Public Health office in Muleshoe with suggestions and comments.

will probably be in January, 1988, added the school officials.

Muleshoe High School does not offer driver education during the regular instructional year, but makes it available as an after school option during the an after school option during the year.

Students wishing to get in on the present programs must sign up in the high school's principal's office and pay the $20 deposit. The remaining balance of $90 will be due the first day of classes, April 13.

Farm Policy Meeting Set At Lubbock

Alternatives for modifying the 1985 Farm Bill will be the subject of an upcoming conference sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says Spencer Tanksley, county Extension agent.

He pointed out that the conference will be held at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center in Lubbock on Tuesday, March 24, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

He said the conference will present policy options and possible impacts to agricultural producers and agribusiness firms. Extension economists and South Plains Agricultural leaders will make presentations. Dr. Ron Knutson and Dr. Ed Smith, Extension economists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will be the main speakers at this meeting.

The Agricultural and Food Policy Center at Texas A&M conducted an extensive analysis of policy alternatives, including lower target prices, the Harkin Bill, and mandatory production controls. The consequences vary considerably. Current discussion in Washington centers around some of the alternatives to be discussed at the meeting, added the county agent.

The conference is open to all those interested in South Plains agriculture, emphasizes Tanksley. Additional information can be obtained from your county Extension office.

EATING OUT

by Rose Hughes

A restaurant chain which came up with a good idea is the one with all those air force base restaurants, many in Florida.

THESE restaurants are on the periphery of airports and are designed and constructed to appear as a pilots' briefing room or squadron headquarters. ONE nicely done can be found at St. Petersburg, and this one is a replica of the Hat In Ring fighter squadron of World War I. The food is good and the view through big windows all along one side is of a runway.

WHILE dining one sees private aircraft taking off. There is a briefing room, with the voices (recorded) audible. There are a few aircraft of World War I vintage outside and many helmets, guns and flying gear inside, plus pictures of great fighter aces.

ONE not so inviting is in Sarasota. This is the 306th Heavy Bomber Squadron restaurant. The building is attractive but service is slow and reception inefficient and slow also. And one can't get quite as interested in a replica of a heavy bomber squadron as in a fighter squadron.

THERE's also one in Orlando, but the writer hasn't visited it, and there are others.

Giving advice is a habit with human beings but fortunately ignoring advice is even more strongly ingrained.
