Election Returns ... by Precinct Boxes

A runoff election between Sam Morgan and H.C. (Hank) Williams for the county judge's post, and runoffs in both commissioner races in Precincts 2 and 4 resulted as more than 2,900 voters turned out for the Democratic primary election in Deaf Smith County Saturday. The runoff election is set June 1.

Morgan led the judge's race, polling 128 votes more than Williams, a veteran of 13 years. Youthful J. Mike Ranspot garnered 324.

Austin Rose Jr. led the five-man ticket in Precinct 2 with 273 votes, and Clinton Jackson edged Grant Hanna for the other runoff spot. James Voyles and M.W. Blankenship will vie for the Precinct 4 spot. Voyles led the balloting with 283 votes; Blankenship had 210, and Luther Lesly tabbed 140.

With all of the 12 boxes complete, but unofficial, State Rep. Bill Clayton easily won the favor of locals over challenger Harvey Floyd of Vega, 2,013 to 658.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe also drew a substantial margin over "Sissy" Farenthold, polling 2,147 votes to only 467 for the challenger.

In the county judge's race, Morgan and Williams each won six of the 12 boxes.

Sam Morgan

with Morgan gaining his largest margin in box 1 at the courthouse. Williams best margin was by 18 votes in the absentee box. Morgan won boxes 1 through 5 and 8.

The referendum on pari-mutuel wagering on horse races lost only by a four-vote margin in Deaf Smith, with 1,384 voting for the proposal and 1,388 against. The statewide count Saturday night showed the proposal failing.

Republicans, voting in just one box here, counted 28 voters Saturday. Locals favored Jim Granbury of Lubbock for governor over Odell McBrayer by 19 to 10. LeRoy Williamson, the only local candidate, drew 28 votes for Commissioner of Precinct 2.

The American Party in Deaf Smith County had 37 to register at four locations here Saturday, according to Wes Owen, chairman. Registration at the precinct conventions was tantamount to voting, as the party seeks a ballot position for the November election. A total of 36,000 voters were needed to register over the state Saturday.

Owen said the 37 participants voted 70 percent against pari-mutuel wagering, and were unanimous in referendums for the right-to-work law and a provision in the constitution on a state income tax that would allow voters to make the decision.

In other statewide contests, Deaf Smith Demos favored Jesse James over Don Yarbrough for treasurer, 2,027 to 926; chose Bob Bullock over Hugh Edburg for comptroller, 1,939 to 547, and picked John White as ag commissioner over Peanut Schroeder, 1,919 to 732.

'Cutest Kid' Contest Winners Named Here

A stage full of Hereford's cutest pre-schoolers competed for the title of Cutest Kids Saturday afternoon in St. Anthony's Parish School auditorium, and trophies were awarded in each division.

It was the second annual contest sponsored by Hereford Newcomers Club. Len Slesiek, Amarillo television personality, was master of ceremonies as all the dressed-up youngsters paraded across the stage. Young dancers from the Larrimore Dance Studio entertained before the contest presentation.

First-prize winners—a boy and girl in each division—were Dina Cooper, daughter of the David Coopers, and Jim Dee Gibson, son of the Larry Dee Gibsons of Adrian (2 years); Tricia Snyder, daughter of the Bud Snyders, and Billy Seiver, son of the John Seivers (3 years). Also: Leslie Conkright, daughter of the Jim Conkrights, and Glenn Zimmerman, son of the Ron Zimmermans (4 years); Darlene Howard, daughter of the Don Howards (5 years). There were no boys in the age five group, in the age five group.

Second places went to Alejandra, daughter of the Mike Castros, and Chris, son of the Wake Northcuts (2 years); Lori Lin, daughter of the Ernest Rileys of Broadview, N.M., and Ronald Craig, son of the Sammy Provinces (3 years); Lynn, daughter of Debbie Prather, and John Grisham, son of the Glenna Perrys (4 years); Jean Marie, daughter of the Archie Dwyers (5 years).

In third places were Amy Grisham, daughter of the Glenn Perrys, and Burt, son of the Larry Nolands (2 years); Shelly, daughter of the Loyd Websters, and James Gregory, son of the John Eagers (3 years); Shawna, daughter of the Dean Baxters (4 years); and Manda, daughter of the Joel Lytals (5 years).

City Building Permits Pass $1 Million Total

Construction in Hereford topped the $1 million mark during April, even though the building permit total for the month was the lowest of this year.

A total of $184,750 in 20 permits was issued during April to send the four-month total for 1974 to $1,094,300.

By Speedy Nieman

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says genuine religion is conspicuous because it lacks display.

BECAUSE of the interest in the county elections, we held up our deadline on The Sunday Brand and papers were not off the press until late Saturday night. Since starting our earlier press deadlines about a year ago, this is the first time to make an exception.

The earlier deadline has worked well for our carrier boys and our staff, and we will be back on schedule after this issue. A large number of readers are now accustomed to getting their Brand on Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

THE NEW county library is moving well along toward completion, and Deaf Smith citizens are going to be proud of the new facility. Moving plans are not definite as yet, but a dedication ceremony is being planned for July 4th. Commissioners have put the federal revenue sharing funds to good use in this project.

AS WE awaited election returns Saturday night, we had a secure feeling in not being a candidate. Although almost everyone treats you great during the campaign, a candidate never knows what is going to happen. An election can be a terrible blow to a feller's ego.

We remember a candidate in Lamesa a number of years ago who felt sure he was going to win over two other men.

Permits were running well ahead of last year for the first quarter, and the four-month total is still about $20,000 higher than the same period in 1973.

FIVE new residences accounted for a major portion of the April total, with the remainder coming in additions, storage buildings, storm shelters and mobile homes. Largest single permit was for a home valued at $40,000.

Hereford's best building year came in 1965 when permits totaled $5,313,000. Although 1974 has a good start, it is not expected to be a record-building year. Observers feel there could be a dip in new construction due to high interest rates, increased building costs, and other inflationary factors.

ONE BUILDER notes that "remodeling seems to be the current trend... some people are improving present homes rather than planning a new home." He reported that colored fixtures are becoming a problem to locate, but "they are not as much in demand here as in some areas."

The building permits reflect the fact that Hereford is still growing, as well as remodeling and improving present structures. A recent clean-up drive has also helped stir interest in cleaning up the town.

EVEN with the shortage of some construction materials, as well as increased costs, hustlin' Hereford is making the most of the situation and continuing to progress.

The building permits issued during April, according to records of H.N. Benson, building inspector, are:

J.M. Carthel, storm shelter, $750; Donald Grossarth, 335 Ave. C, mobile home, $7,000; Booser Real Estate, 813 Baltimore, residence, $32,500; Genaro H. Castillo, 111 Kibbie, addition, $500; Warren McKibben, 112 Lafayette, mobile home, $2,200; Alton Johnson, 207 Douglas, storage building, $200;

Vicente Garcia, 220 Ave. C, carport, $400; SRC Co., 218 Juniper, residence, $29,000; Gary Royal, 514 Union, residence, $20,000; Ruth Wilson, 410 Sowell, shelter, $1,150; Bryant N. McNutt, 218 Aspen, storage, $400; Dallas Phillips, Plains & 385, warehouse, $4,000; Tilecraft, Inc., 100 Oak, residence, $40,000;

Booser Real Estate, Knob Hill addition, residence, $31,500; George Schulte, 119 Ranger, storage, $2,000; W.P. Hagar, 603 Ave. K, storage, $500; Belazario Dominguez, 306 Norton, mobile home, $8,000; Santiago Ceballos, 916 S. McKinley, addition, $500; Margaret Schroeter, addition, $3,800; Ronald Matthews, 115 Ave. I, carport, $350.

Martin To Be Honored Today

A reception honoring D.C. Martin, who has served as Hereford school principal for more than 25 years, will be held today at Community Center from 2-5 p.m.

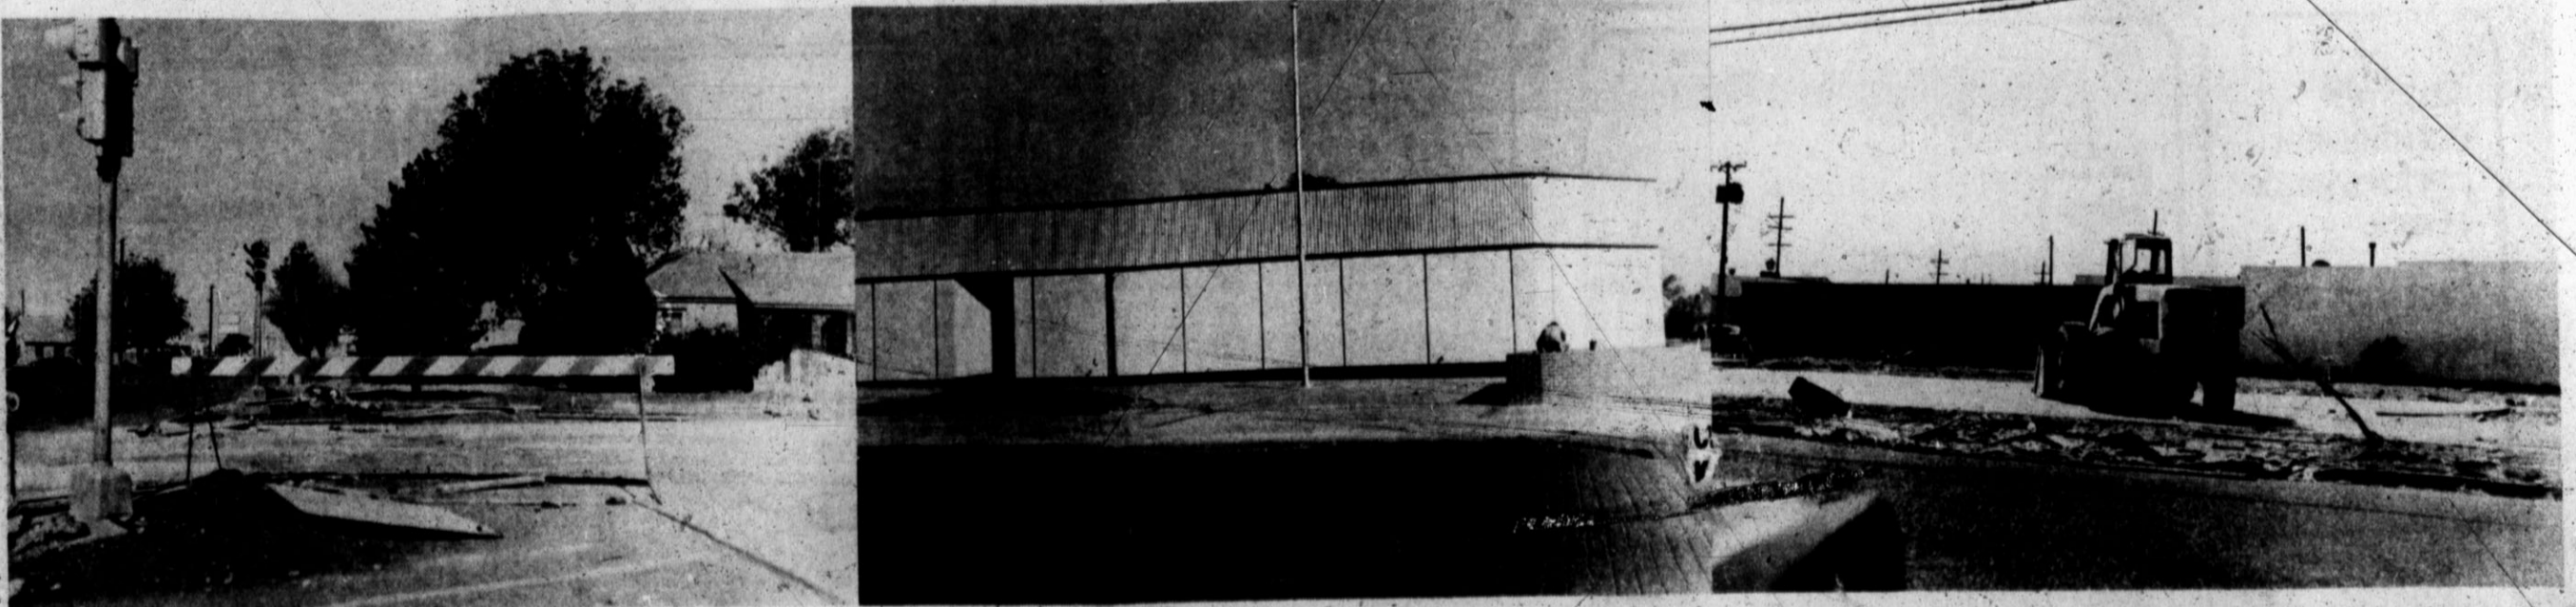

Martin is retiring after dedicating more than 45 years to the education systems in Oklahoma and Texas. He has served in the capacities of teacher, principal and superintendent.

Martin came to Hereford in 1948 with his wife, Delia, and taught briefly at high school. He was then promoted to principal of Central Elementary School, where he served for eight years. In 1956, he transferred to Aikman, and has been figurehead there for the remaining 18 years.

The public is invited to attend the reception recognizing a man who has devoted over a quarter of a century to local students.

Martin said, "I wish to express my appreciation to the residents of Hereford. It has been a very special privilege to be a part of this community."

It's a rewarding feeling to have a former student come in to say hello and you see what a fine adult he has become.

BRANDING TIME--

Almost everyone he contacted said they were going to vote for him, but the election results showed him to run a poor third in the race.

He took it pretty good, however, appearing at a Lion's Club meeting the next week wearing a gun. He explained that he needed a weapon for protection with no more friends than he had!

ONE of the issues in the Congressional campaign was the state of the economy. It is apparent that the U.S. economy is being buffeted by inflation and, in some places, recession.

The energy crisis has had a lot of far-reaching implications. It has caused the nation's auto makers to go into a steep decline of profits and has resulted in laying off thousands of auto workers. The same crisis has laid off a lot of service station attendants and has closed down some stations across the country.

The state of the economy nationally does not always coincide with the state of the economy locally. We are not so concerned about the cost of steel or layoffs in the auto industry as we are about prospects for a rain and the outlook for high grain, vegetable, sugar, and cattle prices.

We're just waiting for prospects to improve. We don't know what a Congressman can do about inflation, except point a finger at somebody else. There seems very little anybody can do other than cuss it.

Adult Pupils Recognized

An awards ceremony marked the completion of Adult Basic Education courses for 45 students recently.

Richard Robinson, director of the learning program, praised the students for completing at least 40 hours of classes and progressing to a higher level.

Speaking at the function was Gene Andrews, peso consultant, who congratulated the participants and announced plans for continuation of the adult education organization in September. Dr. Roy Hartman, superintendent of Hereford Schools was on hand to extend appreciation to the students and teachers.

Awards were presented to certain students for individual achievement on program levels. These levels included English as a second language, beginning reading, writing, math and other high school subjects. Many of those recognized at the ceremony have earned their GED, a certificate issued by the state which is equivalent to a high school diploma.

A reception for students, faculty and guests was held following distribution of honors.

No Fuel Like A Cheap Fuel

By BOB HILL
Lentz, Newton & Co., Amarillo
It's amazing how we rediscover our natural resources when the cost of energy reaches new peaks and the supply of natural fuels seems to be exhausted.

Lignite is a low-grade coal found in large deposits concentrated in the tri-state area of Montana, North Dakota and a small portion of South Dakota. The location is ideal because the lignite deposits are in seams usually running 30 to 40 feet below the surface and the terrain is gently rolling, which makes strip mining easy and the restoration of the mined land simple to accomplish.

LIGNITE COMPRISES 25 per cent of all U.S. coal reserves but it accounts for only 1 per cent of the total U.S. coal production. There are almost $50-billion tons of lignite in North Dakota alone and 18-billion tons are estimated to be recoverable at today's prices.

A ton of lignite has only half the energy of a ton of bituminous coal. It also has a high moisture content and a woody texture which does not pulverize well. But it is CHEAP. For instance, one-million BTU of lignite energy costs 14 cents at the mine, one-million BTU of bituminous coal energy costs 40 cents, and natural gas sold interstate costs 30 cents while natural gas sold intrastate (no government price controls) sells for over $1. So you can see the price advantage of lignite. It is also very low in sulphur content.

TWO POWER PLANTS are now burning lignite to generate electricity and four more power plants are being constructed. The area is being considered for a plant to enrich uranium, a process which has a huge appetite for electricity. The next step is gasification of lignite through simple process which will produce an even greater demand for the ore. The state of North Dakota has approved the construction of four gasification plants by Michigan-Wisconsin Pipeline Co., which will produce 250-million cubic feet of gas daily for the gas-hungry Milwaukee and Chicago metroplexes.

A major objection to the gasification plants is the large amounts of water which they consume. Average rainfall in that area is only 6 inches per year and this is needed for irrigated farming.

Need Blood

"There was a very poor response to the Blood Mobile last month. Only 24 pints were given," according to Mrs. J.H. McCrary. "A call was put out for a certain kind of blood, but this was not to say that this type was all that was being taken."

"This type of call frequently happens at the time of the Blood Mobile monthly 'stop, but everyone needs to give, whatever their type may be."

"Please, please, help make the month of May better," she urged. "Come and give a pint of blood on May 22, from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Community Center. We need your help."

VA Explains

Procedures

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q— As an eligible veteran, would I have to make a down-payment on a Veterans Administration GI home loan?

A— The Veterans Administration does not require a down-payment, but the lender may require one.

Q— I'm a disabled veteran who received a $2,800 auto grant from the Veterans Administration. Will VA help out on engine repair?

A— VA pays for repair, maintenance, or replacement of special adaptive equipment necessary to operate the car. The agency is not authorized to bear these expenses on the vehicle, itself.

Q— I was honorably discharged last week after two years in the Military service. If I go to school, will the Veterans Administration pay for my books and tuition?

A— Books and tuition are provided under VA's vocational rehabilitation program for veterans with a 30 percent service connected disability; or less, if the disability is a pronounced employment handicap. Veterans without a disability, who enroll in school under the GI Bill receive monthly education assistance allowances to offset school expenses.

Fire Marshall Praises
Ban On Firecrackers

"A recent ban on the sale of firecrackers will reduce the number of alarms the fire department will answer this summer," says Hereford Fire Marshal Jay Spain, "especially since this is a dry year."

The Consumer Product Safety Commission ordered the ban on the sale of all firecrackers Tuesday, to become effective in June. This means the Fourth of July will be celebrated with a little less noise this year.

In addition to the firecracker sales ban, the commission said it would also impose stiff new rules to insure the safety of all other firework devices and would launch a nationwide campaign warning consumers of firework dangers.

Both the National Fireman and Fire Marshal Association and the State Firemen and Fire Marshal Association have been working on the ban of all fireworks for the last four to six years.

Fire Marshal Spain reports, "The Hereford Fire Department answered 14 alarms that were fireworks-related in the summer of 1973, and the police department received so many fireworks complaints that they quit keeping a record of the calls."

On the average, each fire alarm cost the Hereford Fire Department $170, or a total of $2,380 for fireworks-related fires last year. Although no serious injuries were reported in Hereford last summer, an expensive barn that burned to the ground was among the property casualties resulting from fireworks.

Hereford, as well as most of the Panhandle, is suffering through a "dry year", and that not only means the farm production will be low, but that the number of fires will sharply rise.

The Hereford Fire Department has answered 112 alarms so far this year, compared with 70 alarms during the same time period in 1973. With the extra hazard of dryness, Fire Marshal Spain feels the ban is especially welcome to this area right now.

About the only ill-effect of the ban will be to civic organizations that operated fireworks stands in the past during the Independence Day holidays as fund-raising projects.

Cited For Conservation

Arthur Duggan of Littlefield congratulates Billy Wayne Sisson and the High Plains Undergruond Water Conservation District for leadership in the regulation of water. Sisson, president of the Board of Directors, accepted the plaque from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at their recent convention.

In his remarks prior to the presentation, Duggan cited the significant contribution West Texas has made to the increased agricultural production of the past year, and the effect this effort has had on the United States' balance-of-payments record on the world trade scene.

Speaking of the importance of water to this activity, Duggan said, "The life of water production from these great underground reservoirs already has been extended until importation of water can be achieved to enable production, perhaps, for all time to come."

"For this notable achievement, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce hereby presents an award for conservation water."

UPDATE AND REMOUNT
This is the season of weddings and anniversaries. Are you looking for an unusual gift for your wife on the occasion of your anniversary?

Let me suggest that you give the lady a distinctive new mounting for her engagement ring. If you have been married for some years, it is probable that her engagement ring could do with a new look.

The look of your wife's rings may be dictated by fashion. But improved family circumstances may take a more impressive ring within budgetary reach. Consider the addition of other stones to the original, sentimental choice. This could create a ring of striking beauty, yet maintain the romance of the engagement ring.

Heirloom and family gems can also lend themselves to modern mountings that can be proudly worn with today's fashions. A very good reason for having those turn-of-the-century pieces reset is wear! Often the prongs and ring shanks are worn down to the point where gems are in real danger of being lost.

In most fine jewelry pieces, the value is in the stone rather than in the mounting. Like a fine painting which may be reframed every few decades, it is the painted canvas which excites comment, which evokes the feeling of beauty. But a worn and dated frame can detract from the work of art. This is equally true in fine jewelry.

Rings aren't the only choice. Diamonds and colored stones of varying sizes from dated pieces lend themselves happily to distinctive pins, brooches and pendants. Whatever the mounting, let Cowans design and plan your remounting gift. We are American Gem Society Jewelers and as much, can be trusted to do the job correctly. This is something that can't be hurried if you are to be really pleased. So if you are planning a June anniversary gift of remounted gemstones, come in and see us real soon.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce (WTCC) recently paid tribute to the High Plains Undergruond Water Conservation District for "23 years of innovative pioneering leadership in local regulation and conservation of groundwater."

Billy Wayne Sisson of Hereford, President of the Board of Directors, was present to receive the plaque at the West Texas Chamber's Great West Texan Luncheon April 19 in Odessa.

Arthur Duggan, Littlefield

attorney and Chairman of the WTCC Water Committee, presented the award.

In his remarks prior to the presentation, Duggan cited the significant contribution West Texas has made to the increased agricultural production of the past year, and the effect this effort has had on the United States' balance-of-payments record on the world trade scene.

Speaking of the importance of water to this activity, Duggan said, "The life of water

Book Details Asian Doctrine

Religion and politics mix, both by plan and by human nature, according to a dozen experts, including Texas Tech University History Prof. Key Ray Chong. All 12 are contributors to a new book on "Religious Ferment in Asia."

Dr. Chong, a Korean American, traces the influence of Ch'oe Che-u's Tonghak Doctrine, beginning in Korea in 1860 when the doctrine was known as "Eastern Learning." It is one example, he said, of the political use of religion.

IT BEGAN AS a religious teaching composed of the major and minor existing cultures — Confucianism, Buddhism, Taoism, shamanism and traditionalism, all combined with elements of Christianity. The doctrine encouraged followers to rely on personal salvation with self-enlightenment rather than to rely on external authority for answers to the problems of life.

By the end of the Sino-Japanese War of 1895: the Tonghak Doctrine had become a popular political movement culminating in the form of a prototype of the Korean nationalist movement, Chong said.

The originator of the doctrine, Ch'oe Che-u, was remarkable for his ability to synthesize so many different religious concepts into one belief that has so grasped the minds of the people of Korea that today it is accepted as a way of life, according to the historian.

"It is ironic," Chong says in his article, "that Ch'oe Che-u's Tonghak Doctrine was branded as antigovernment and unacceptable to the ruling elite despite the fact that there was virtually no political content in the doctrine as he formulated it."

"EQUALLY IRONIC is the fact that after the sudden execution of Ch'oe in 1864 his followers found themselves and their interests drawn into the political and social arena against the initial wishes of their mentor."

The experience of the Tonghak Doctrine, Chong pointed out, exemplifies why religion and politics cannot be separated in practice.

"Government is a reflection of religious sentiment," he said. "Religion is a way of life. People are deeply immersed in it. All people are controlled by their way of life. In this way religion does affect politics."

Religion, however, never remains stable, Chong pointed out. What begins as a spiritual movement is always being secularized through politics and social events.

TODAY IN ASIA, there is ferment and change — sometimes almost imperceptible but always there, he said. In Chong's view religion is deliberately used by political leaders who emphasize deep-rooted religious traditions which are attractive to great numbers of people. Through identifying traditions with their own goals they can make change acceptable to the governed.

"In this way Asian leaders use religion to further their causes and cope with the challenge of the West. Traditions help them to reassert the nationalist spirit and nationalist values," he said.

It is particularly useful in thwarting the influence of the West which is primarily Christian, Chong said, because the Christian experience for Asians has been fraught with disaster.

"The missionaries have come, then the merchants, then the military and then bloodshed," he said. "By emphasizing the traditions of eastern religions, the peoples of Asia are called to a political loyalty through their religious loyalty."

"Religious Ferment in Asia" is edited by Robert J. Miller and published by the University of Kansas. Some of the essays included were papers originally presented in 1969 at a Midwestern Conference on Asian Studies held at Oklahoma State University, Stillwater.

Tech Opens Ranch

The Ranch Headquarters at the Museum of Texas Tech University will be open to visitors Sundays from 2 to 4:30 p.m. beginning Sunday, and continuing throughout the summer. The Ranch Headquarters is an authentic outdoor exhibit depicting the history of ranching.

There is no charge for touring the Ranch Headquarters and last year more than 12,000 visitors made weekend visits. Tour guides help interpret the buildings and the trappings.

Ten buildings have been moved from ranches and restored at the site and are authentically furnished for their time and place. Four other buildings are in the process of being restored and furnished. Eventually there are to be 22 buildings at the Ranch Headquarters.

Band Takes Honors

Hereford High School Band students Darla Payne and Lynn Lauderback show the plaque given for a first division rating in concert the Whiteface Band won in Corpus Christi. The band competed in the Buccaneer Music Festival.

Band Reaps 1st Ranking

The Hereford Whiteface Band traveled to Corpus Christi last week to compete in the Buccaneer Music Festival, and came home with a first division rating in concert. The festival, says Hereford Band director Randy Vaughn, is for the better bands, and is about one division or two harder than the more traditional University Interscholastic League competition. Seventy-five bands competed in the festival, held in conjunction with "Buccaneer Days", a jubilee-type festival for Corpus Christi. Lake Highlands of Dallas was named the outstanding band of the festival. Commenting on the "First Division" rating of the Hereford Band, Judge William A. Schaefer of the University of Southern California said, "A well, fine-trained band. I enjoyed your performance." Judge Edwin C. Kruth of California State in San Francisco went into more detail about the band, "A truly fine-looking group. Sounds very clean and well-modulated. All details obviously worked out with meticulous care and effort. Congratulations a very musical performance. Your community and school can be proud of you."

Children, Pets Endangered By Rabies

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the first in a series of articles concerning the existence and danger of rabies in the Hereford area. These news pieces will explain the procedures necessary for the prevention and medical treatment of the disease in animals and humans.)

BY JANIS LOCKHART
Staff Writer

Hereford schools will close for the summer very soon, and the resulting influx of children playing outdoors could create some serious problems unless citizens are cautious of the potential dangers.

One of the more serious problems could be the presence of many stray dogs in all parts of town. The city dog catcher has collected approximately 260 dogs in the past 45 days. The large total is logged into three categories: no tags, owner cannot be located, abandoned.

Dogs are beginning to form into packs in some areas, and this is one problem the dog catcher attempts to eliminate as quickly as possible.

responsibility of helping to prevent rabies outbreaks. This responsibility includes cooperating with community-sponsored rabies control programs, understanding the basic signs of rabies, and knowing what to do if bitten by a pet, stray, or wild animal.

"WHAT IS RABIES?" Rabies is one of scores of both human and animal diseases known to be caused by a virus. The rabies virus attacks the central nervous system and, if the disease is not prevented, causes the death of its victim.

"Rabies is transmitted from animals to man by a bite from the rabid animal. The wound is contaminated with the virus found in the saliva of the infected animal. Usually, the signs of rabies develop within two weeks to three months after the bite has been incurred.

"However, if the bite has been on the head or face and is of a severe nature, symptoms manifest themselves in as few as 10 days.

"With slight wounds the period extending from the time of a bite until symptoms of rabies occur is longer and has been known though rarely to have covered a year or more."

THE CITY OF Hereford is planning a Rabies Clinic in the near future. Make yourself familiar with this problem and follow these instructions:

1. Have your pet vaccinated if you haven't already done so.
 2. If bitten by an animal, thoroughly cleanse the wound with soap and irrigate with profuse quantities of running warm water. Contact your physician, Board of Health, or police department immediately. Confine do not kill the animal.
 3. Obey leash and licensing laws in your community.
 4. Make sure your pet is identified by a license tag and a rabies inoculation tag.
 5. Report stray dogs to the police or local pound department.
 6. Finally, teach children not to play with strange pets and to avoid handling any wild animal, particularly when it appears to be tame. This is especially important when you are camping, instructs, Linda Hagar, City Dog Catcher.
- "Do not permit your un-cared-for pet be responsible for biting a child," added Mrs. Hagar, "and watch for the dates and time for the local Rabies Clinic to have your dog vaccinated if you have not already taken care of this."

Funeral Held In Amarillo For J.R. Overstreet

Funeral services for James R. Overstreet, 70, of Route 4, were conducted Saturday morning in Blackburn-Shaw Memorial Chapel at Amarillo, and burial was in Llano Cemetery there. The Rev. Cecil Works, pastor of Adrian Baptist Church, conducted the service. Mr. Overstreet, a resident of the Texas Panhandle since the age of five, died Wednesday morning in an Amarillo hospital.

He was a native of Oklahoma, born in Duncan, and was a member of First Baptist Church at White Deer. A retired cattle and horse breeder, he has been listed among the Top Ten Farmers of the nation.

Surviving Mr. Overstreet is his wife; two stepsons, Glenn Rusk of Hereford and Don Rusk of Houston; a stepdaughter, Janet Moore of Houston; and four sisters, Leola Bank, Geneva Fraley and Artie Morrow of Berger and Iva Lee Upham of Fritch.

Family Attends Relative's Rites

Mr. and Mrs. A.R. Foster of 212 Douglas have returned from Silver Springs, where they attended the funeral of his stepfather, C.V. Robinson, 90, a resident of that city for most of his life. He was born in Polk County and was a retired Carpenter.

In addition to the stepson here, he is survived by his wife, three sisters and a brother. Other Hereford residents who attended the funeral were Mrs. Foster's son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Savage and son.

THE AMERICAN Veterinary Medical Association has informed the city of this information: "RABIES: Although today rabies seldom results in human fatalities in the United States, it remains a potentially dangerous public health problem.

"Each year, more than 30,000 Americans are being vaccinated against rabies. And almost every year a majority of the states report to the U.S. Public Health Service cases of laboratory confirmed rabies in animals.

"Nationally there were 3,689 confirmed cases of animal rabies in 1966, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"All warm-blooded animals can spread rabies. The majority of the animal rabies cases in the U.S. are found in wildlife, particularly in skunks, foxes and bats, and in domestic farm animals.

Small Grandchild Dies In Arizona

Funeral services for five-year-old Robin Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Patterson of Casa Grande, Ariz., and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Patterson of 508 Ave. G, were conducted in the Arizona city Wednesday.

Fried Chicken

Hello:

We are sure you will prefer our delicious crisp taste and become our regular customer. An order (only 79¢) is ¼ of a 2½ lb. chicken boxed with a roll. We also have three family size orders starting at $2.99 for 8 large pieces which will enable you to feed a family of 4. for less than $5.00.

We are certainly not a copy of our fine competitors. Unlike fried chicken companies entering the field today, Hobo's does not pressure cook then try to cover up the lost flavor with a greasy, soft spicy batter. We marinate fresh whole chickens overnight, (The way you do fine wild game) to enhance the natural flavor, then cut it ourselves into eight peices. (Some competitors get ten cuts making pricing deceptive.) We then deep fry it. No short cuts with pressure cookers for us. Our method is harder and requires more labor, but the result is incomparable. The end result is so crisp and pleasing that our customers rarely even use salt.

Thanks
Lynn Roberts

Tech Will Offer Workshop

A summer workshop on "Teaching Writing in the Secondary School," designed primarily for in-service and pre-service teachers from the schools of Lubbock and surrounding communities will be conducted at Texas Tech University July 15 through Aug. 2.

The three-hour credit course is being offered by the Department of English, with Dr. Vivian I. Davis, assistant professor of English, as the teacher.

Dr. Davis, with 10 years of high school teaching experience, said the course will allow teachers to create plans which they can use in their classrooms next fall. It will provide a demonstration class of secondary school students who will work with teacher-participants for one week.

Participants may register at graduate or undergraduate level, Dr. Davis said. Undergraduates, who are not Texas Tech students, must have their schools send either a transcript or a statement of good standing to the Admissions Office at Texas Tech.

Registration is scheduled for the first class day July 15.

Cost of the workshop to Texas residents is $50. Non-residents will be required to pay $143.50.

The course will meet from 9 a.m. until 12 noon daily, Monday through Friday, during the three and one-half weeks.

Dr. Davis pointed out that the course comes at a time during the summer after teachers have had a rest from the school year and before the fall term begins, and that it has no sensitivity sessions, no outside consultants, and no field trips.

Additional information may be obtained from either Dr. Davis or Dr. Marion Michael, Chairman, Department of English, Texas Tech University, P.O. Box 4530, Lubbock, Texas 79409 or call (806) 742-2258.

Special Health Course Offered

A short-term health course in cardiopulmonary resuscitation will be offered by Amarillo College beginning Tuesday.

The four-week course will meet from 7 to 10 p.m. in Room 211 of Building A at the AC School of Vocational Arts, 6222 W. 9th.

Bill Young, respiratory therapy department chairman at AC, will review students on the anatomy and pathophysiology of circulation and respiration. This will pertain to resuscitation, airway management and the cardiac massage skill.

"There will be an introduction of drugs used in the treatment of the patient with cardiac arrest," said Young.

According to Mrs. A.L. Crawford, supervisor of Short-term health courses, "This training will enable the student to recognize respiratory and cardiac arrest, perform resuscitation and effectively maintain a patient who has had a cardiac arrest."

For a fee of $6, those interested may enroll at the registrar's office in the Administration Building at either the Washington Street campus or SVA campus.

Bike-A-Thon To Strike At Cancer

Dale F. Jones has announced that entry is now open to participants in the Deaf Smith County Bike-A-Thon on May 18 as a benefit for the American Cancer Society.

Prizes totaling over $136 will be awarded to the cyclists chalking up the greatest distances. Each participant must have at least one sponsor who will pledge more than 15 cents for each mile his candidate completes.

The charity event is open to any age group on non-motor-powered vehicles. All proceeds will be given to the local county chapter and forwarded to the state organization.

Entrants are urged to obtain as many sponsors as possible with each signing both copies of the sponsor's record and pledge form. These forms can be obtained at the following locations: Radio KPAN, First National Bank, Hereford State Bank, the principal's office at any Hereford school, or Jones' Motor (Chrysler-Dodge). Included in the form is a waiver which must be signed by a parent or guardian if the rider is under 18 years old.

Participants will leave Sugarland Mall parking area at 9 a.m. May 18, proceeding through Downtown to La Plata Junior High (checkpoint #1) south along city streets to Park Plaza parking area north of TG&Y and Ideal Food Stores (checkpoint #2) along city streets back to Park Plaza (checkpoint #3) south towards Holly Sugar and returning to Park Plaza (finish). The event is an endurance contest and riders are certainly eligible to exceed the 20 mile distance.

Prizes will be awarded to the cyclists adding up the greatest distances with 1st place winner receiving a high-quality 10 speed bicycle, retailing for $110. Other winnings will include: 2nd place - a generator enabled to power headlights and taillights on bicycles, worth $8.49; 3rd place - a Condor horn for bicycles, worth $4; 4th place - a six-way bicycle reflector kit worth $2.98; 5th place-bike service at Swede's Cycle Shop worth $12.98. Sixth and 7th place contestants will receive trophies.

Police protection will be provided throughout the entire ride. Participants and spectators are urged to respect traffic regulations and private properties along the route.

Jones stresses that the Bike-A-Thon is not a race and that cyclists should pace themselves.

At the end of the ride, the total number of miles completed by each individual will be computed and recorded. Any cyclist who drops out is requested to stop at a checkpoint rather than between checkpoints.

A rest period will be given after the completion of the trek. Following this recuperation time, cyclists should return to sponsors and show them a validated checkpoint card in order to collect their pledges. All pledges should be in check form payable to the "American Cancer Society". Each sponsor will receive a receipt with contributions being tax deductible. These checks will be turned in at Jones Motor Company, 345 East 1st.

Funds raised at the Bike-A-Thon will be used to fight cancer through research, education and service to cancer victims. Only five per cent of the collected money will go to administration of fund-raising drives.

Prizes will be announced May 30 and all money must be turned in by May 25 in order to be eligible for contest winnings.

The Texas Farmers Union Board of Directors, which met in Waco recently, adopted a series of resolutions to be taken to the Texas congressional delegation on subjects ranging from the administration of disaster wheat payments to the need for higher loan and target prices on the basic commodities.

One group of resolutions asked that the federal government take immediate action to assure that "independent commercial family farmers receive realistic market price guarantees to meet escalating input costs."

Another resolution asked that "disastrous livestock price levels" be corrected by "action immediately to halt all imports of redmeat products, initiate direct purchase program for welfare, school lunch program and Public Law 480, giving preference to suppliers that certify that a fair and realistic price is paid to the producer for livestock."

The resolution also asked that legislation be passed to limit large packers, food processors and feed companies from feeding livestock. According to the farm organization board of directors, an emergency loan program is needed to provide low interest loans to cattle feeders who have suffered economic losses.

The governing board of the statewide farm organization called on the U.S. Department of Agriculture to hold area hearings for the purpose of getting farmer and farm organization input into the planning for the consolidation of USDA offices for the "one stop" agricultural service centers. It also asked USDA to relax some of the restrictive interpretations of the Farm Act which make drought disaster payments for wheat "virtually impossible."

Another appeal to USDA endorsed by the Texas Farmers Union board was a request that the national production goal for the basic commodities coincide exactly with the national production base. The farm leaders said that this was the intent of Congress. According to Farmers Union, such action is necessary to insure that all acreages of major commodities which farmers are requested to produce are supported under the target price system. Without this, according to Farmers Union spokesmen, there is no incentive for farmers to produce adequate supplies.

Herd Loses Two To Monterey

Mike Crim gets a hit off Lubbock-Monterey pitcher Scott Gardener in the second game of a doubleheader Friday. Hereford lost both games, and the wins assured the district title for Monterey.

Monterey Blanks Herd in Twinbill

The Hereford Whiteface baseball team played host to Lubbock Monterey Friday, and Monterey swept a doubleheader 10-0 and 28-0. Both games were called after five innings by the 10-run lead rule. Larry Horn pitched the first game for Monterey, allowing the Herd only two hits, one by Steve Loerwald and the other by Mike Crim. Crim was tagged with the loss in the first game. Scott Gardener, 6-6 hurler, opened the second game for Monterey, and the blazing sophomore only gave up two hits, one by Harvey Torres and the other by Mike Crim. The strong Monterey right-hander struck out 10 Hereford batters in five innings. Steve Loerwald was given the loss. The two wins clinched the district 4-AAAA title for Monterey. Hereford played a makeup doubleheader Saturday against Lubbock High, but results were not available at press time.

Hereford Spring Session To Open

Spring is a time for rebuilding, and that's what Coach Larry Dippel and his staff will be doing when the Hereford Whitefaces officially open spring training Monday. Graduation will see 28 seniors take leave of HHS, and Dippel will have only seven lettermen back to see the '74 football campaign. Among the seven only four were starters in '73, three on defense and one on offense. Coach Dippel and crew will probably spend most of the spring just looking at what talent they do have, and work on how best to utilize it when fall comes around. Talent sometimes lurks on the bench and needs only a little work to uncover it and put to good use on the football field. The Herd used the wing-T formation last year, working with pro-type sets. This year, trapping add the option will be seen more from the Whitefaces in an effort to improve on the wing-T style. Coach Dippel will stick with the Oklahoma 5-2 defense, as will many coaches almost everywhere. It's a defense that's tried and proven and pretty hard to best. Although some of the "superstars" will get their chance to prove themselves, and it will be coach Dippel's job to find them during the spring drills.

Baseball keeps on changing

By AL AMES
Copley News Service

They say baseball doesn't change, that its big problem is being mired down in stodgy tradition. Well, that's not necessarily so. The grand old game has a history of innovations, not the least of which is the recent American League endeavor of the designated hitter.

Actually, baseball has recently undergone such startling changes that it has started going around in circles. Until last year, the No. 1 unwritten rule was the ban on facial hair. Mustaches had been forbidden since the turn of the century.

That barrier was broken with an impact that was seen throughout the nation when the hairy Oakland Athletics went on to win the World Series. Now certain managers have ordered neater appearances in the way of shorter locks and clean shaven faces. Bobby Winkles of the Angels, Sparky Anderson of the Reds and Charley Fox of the Giants have cracked down.

Other than giving the manager a chance to play dictator, it is hard to see what purpose will be accomplished. There's no apparent way it will help the Angels, Reds and Giants perform on the playing fields.

The American League's plunge into the designated hitter has been called "as radical a change as the switch from the fire horse to the fire engine." The author of that comparison is Tom Monahan of the AL front office. He has reason to be enthusiastic because this is at least a revolutionary step. Whether it's in the right direction remains to be seen. Baseball has made other changes through the years. The grand old game isn't quite as static as some people think. In fact, the new rule is in the tradition of the two major leagues not seeing eye-to-eye on a new rule. There will be no designated hitters in the National League. Back at the turn of the century, the NL adopted the foul ball as a strike unless there were two strikes on the batter. That was in 1901 and the AL didn't favor this change until 1903.

Later in 1907, the Americans counted all appearances by a player as a game played, but the Nationals ignored this stipulation until 1912.

Among the changes over the years have been:

- 1887: The strike zone established as top of the shoulders to the bottom of the knees.
- 1891: The permission to substitute for a reason other than injury.
- 1893: The distance between the plate and the pitcher's rubber set at 60 feet 6 inches.
- 1895: Adoption of the in-field fly rule with one out and first and second base or first, second and third bases occupied.
- 1901: Revision of the in-field fly rule to no outs as well as one out.
- 1920: Abolishment of the spitball.
- 1926: A ground rule double if the ball is batted over a fence less than 250 feet from the plate.
- 1931: A fair ball bouncing through or over a fence or into the stands ruled a ground rule double and not a home run.
- 1950: The strike zone defined as from the armpit to the top of the knee.
- 1963: Strike zone defined as from the top of the shoulder to the bottom of the knee.
- 1969: The strike zone

Comment On Sports

GOLF

BY PETE FRITCHIE

AUGUSTA, GA. -- The big unreported story at the recent Masters was that the great Sam Snead, well into his sixties, finished near the top with a sub-par 286.

Sam won $2,550 for his finish, having shot a 72-72-71-71. That total score of 286 has been good enough to win many a Masters.

Jack Nicklaus won with 286 in 1972 and 1963, and won with 228 in 1966. Ironically, old Sam won the Masters with an identical score

(286) in 1951. He won with a 289 in 1954!

Altogether, Snead has won the Masters three times (the other year was 1949). So in 1974 Snead shot a better round than he did winning the famous Masters twenty years earlier!

In 1956 he wrote Cliff Roberts and Bobby Jones. "I hope I'll never be too old to take part in this event." That still seems a long time away.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCullough celebrate 50th Anniversary (Bradly photo)

McCulloughs Are Golden Wedding Honorees Today

The Golden Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCullough, 139 Texas, is the occasion for a reception in their honor this afternoon, with children of the couple and their families as hosts in Hereford Country Club.

Residents of Hereford since 1928 except for a few years in Amarillo, the McCulloughs were married May 9, 1924, at Cordell, Okla. Mrs. McCullough was Ann Helen Halek of Fairbury, Neb., before the marriage. Their home was in Lawton, Okla., until they moved here.

Hosts for the reception from 3:30 to 5 o'clock this afternoon will be their daughter, Norma, her husband, James Killian, and daughter Julia, of Clovis, also their son, Pat, his wife and their sons, Clay and Don, of Wichita, Kan.

The couple's older son, Donald Ray, lost his life in U.S. military service in World War II.

McCullough is a retired automobile dealer and real estate developer. Mrs. McCullough, who taught business skills in a high school in Oklahoma while they lived in that state, was employed for a similar job in a school funded by the government and conducted in the county courthouse here in depression days of the 1930's.

When federal funds ran out, she continued to teach without pay to allow students to complete the course, and later taught in her home for students who could not afford education beyond high school. She is a longtime member of both Pioneer Study Club and Hereford Garden Club.

Mr. and Mrs. McCullough are members of First Baptist Church.

Just-Wed Couple Goes To Home In Idaho City

The marriage of Miss Judy Patricia Bezner, daughter of Frank J. Bezner and the late Mrs. Bezner, and Kevin David LaFleur of Boise, Idaho, son of Mr. and Mrs. David LaFleur of Plainview, was solemnized Saturday afternoon in St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

The Rev. Bernard McGorry, S.A., pastor, officiated for the nuptial mass. A background of flowers in rainbow shades, massed in green foliage, was arranged at the altar with yellow chrysanthemums on side altars.

Family members were among the couple's attendants. Mrs. Ron Matthews was her sister's matron of honor and Colette LaFleur of Omaha, sister of the bridegroom, maid of honor. John Leach of Jefferson, South Dakota, was best man.

Bridesmaids were Miss Diane Crume of Bula, college roommate of Miss Bezner; Miss Mary LaFleur of Plainview and Mrs. Martin Urbanczyk of Colorado Springs. Ushers were Frank Bezner Jr., Joe LaFleur of Plainview, Jerry Shelton and Urbanczyk.

Junior attendants were Terri Vaughn of Canyon, niece of the bride, and bridegroom's younger brother, Dave LaFleur of Plainview. Another niece, Suzanne Kalka, daughter of the Melvin Kalkas, was the flower girl and Dean LaFleur, son of the Ray LaFleurs of Jefferson, carried the rings.

Guests were ushered to their pews by Donnie Fangman, cousin of the bride, and Ron Matthews of Hereford, Charles Fangman and the bride's nephew, Larry Vaughn of Canyon.

Eddie Warren served as lector; mass servers were Melvin Kalka Jr., Russell Fangman, cousin of the bride, and Lynn Vaughn of Canyon, her nephew.

Wedding music was by Mrs. Jim Crapner, organist, and Mrs. Joe Reinauer Sr., vocal soloist. Selections included Walk Hand In Hand, Somewhere My Love, Hawaiian Wedding Song, Whither Thou Goest, Wedding Prayer and Mother, At Thy Feet.

The bride's gown was of silk-faced organza, its high rise bodice overlaid with lace in rose pattern, the flower centers embroidered with clusters of seed pearls. Roses cut from the lace circled the standup collar, were scattered over the full sheer sleeves caught to deep lace cuffs, and down the skirt front.

A deep border of the pearl embroidered lace edged the bottom of the carpet length skirt and the circular train which was attached with a lace bow at center back waistline.

Lace scallops bordered her veil which fell over the train from a Juliet cap ornamented with seed pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of white chrysanthemums with carnations and daisies in the rainbow colors and English Ivy tendrils.

Bridal attendants were dressed in the varying colors, empire style gowns. Three-tiered circlet sleeves had daisy trim dyed to match each gown. Bell skirts were finished with deep ruffles which continued up center back to the high waistline, where daisy-trimmed bows and floor-length streamers were attached.

Mrs. Matthews wore deep pink, the bridesmaids mint green, violet, sunshine yellow, peacock blue and jasperine. Their bouquets were of daisies in the rainbow colors, and each had a cluster of the daisies in her hair. The dress color of each attendant was repeated in shirt and boutonniere worn by her escort.

The flower girl's frock was styled like the bridesmaids', of petal pink. She carried a basket of daisies and trailing ivy vines twined with the blossoms.

The bridegroom's mother chose for the wedding a powder blue empire dress with long-sleeved jacket, its cuffs accented with pearl design like that down the jacket front.

After the ceremony, the bride's father was host for a dinner and dance in the Knights of Columbus Hall. Music for dancing was by Young Country Sounds of Canyon.

Mrs. Donnie Houle and Miss Doris Fangman, cousin of the bride, registered guests. In the houseparty were the bride's sisters, Mrs. Lynn Crabtree of Canyon, Mrs. Melvin Kalka, Mrs. Teddy Bedwell of Borger and Mrs. Charles Schaff of Dedham, Mass.

The wedding cake was served from a table covered with white net, skirted to the floor. On a base of five heart-shaped layers, four tiers of the cake were topped with bride-and-groom figurines and a cascade of roses in rainbow colors. It was set between paired candelabra with the bridesmaid's bouquets laid at the base.

For the honeymoon trip which will take the couple to points of interest on their way to a home at Boise, Mrs. LaFleur changed to a pantsuit in apricot color and white sandals. She wore a corsage from her bridal bouquet. The LaFleurs will reside at Overland Park, Apartment 7, Curtis Road in Boise.

The bride has been employed as a secretary for West Texas Rural Telephone after attending West Texas State University. LaFleur is a foreman, with Missouri Beef Packers in Boise. Both are 1971 graduates of Hereford High School.

Pre-nuptial entertainment honoring the couple ended the evening before the wedding with the rehearsal supper in K-Bob's Steak House, with the bridegroom's parents as hosts.

Editorials

Out of Step

Just to set the record straight, The Brand does not endorse the editorial on Health Care which appeared in last Sunday's issue. Editorials and columns which appear on this page do not necessarily reflect the views and opinions of the newspaper.

We believe in presenting differing views on questions, and prefer to identify the sources of these opinions. The editorial in question, from a syndicated service, commended both the Nixon administration's new health care bill and the Demo bill introduced by Kennedy and Mills. It called both bills "a step in the right direction."

Since the editorial was not identified, we'd like to report that we cannot agree that socialized medicine is a step in the right direction. The cost of the Kennedy-Mills bill is estimated at $40 billion, and most Americans would be paying a big added tax to protect them against a catastrophic illness.

One Man's Meat

There is an old saying, "One man's meat is another man's poison."

Thus the prediction by government economists that lower prices for meat, milk and eggs are coming this fall has to be greeted with mixed emotions.

This prediction is based upon a record breaking wheat crop and a record corn crop which will bring the prices of grain down and also lower the price of meat that depends upon grain for feeding.

The prediction is hailed by consumers and deplored by producers.

Not everybody is tickled with lower farm prices. The farmer certainly isn't.

There has been some sort of conviction in this nation that there is something in the U.S. Constitution that guarantees cheap food and cheap gasoline. This is because we have always had it.

When food prices began a spectacular rise last year, people thought there must be something crooked going on. The Russian wheat deal got most of the blame and market manipulation was also cited.

What happened was that U.S. Agriculture was released from government subsidy and control and the free market went into operation. It became apparent that the decades of government subsidy to farmers was actually more of a subsidy to consumers in the form of cheap food.

Gasoline prices changed just as quickly. In a matter of a few months, service stations that were having price wars and giving free glasses to attract customers found themselves weeding out customers in order to conserve their stock of gasoline on hand. Demand was terrific at much higher prices. Consumers figured this was not only immoral but illegal so there has been a hue and cry to do something about oil companies and their huge profits.

Right now it appears that the price of food and of gasoline might level off somewhat but we have seen the end of cheap food and cheap gasoline. We might have a hard time convincing our grandchildren just how cheap things were in the old days.

Marijuana News

For a time it was fashionable to be lenient and undisturbed about the growing use of marijuana.

Many prominent individuals at that time were constantly reminding us no one had proved the use of marijuana to be permanently harmful.

In the past two years, however, various experts have replied rather effectively to those claims.

The latest indictment of use of the weed comes from the Reproductive Biology Research Foundation in St. Louis. Researchers there, who studied twenty young men over a period of time, found that heavy use of marijuana often has a depressing effect on production of male sex hormones and sperm, can cause sterility.

Added to now-accepted findings that the weed is harmful physically in other ways, and psychologically, of course, in that it puts users in a dream world, this report should help lay to rest claims that the habit is harmless.

Pitfalls Await Consumer

Sometimes things turn up in the mail that are coincidentally related, even though from totally unrelated sources. I received two such letters recently.

One was from a California man, angry because he felt his young daughter had been deceived. She entered a nationally advertised contest and won a prize. Her excitement on learning she was a winner quickly turned to bitter disappointment, however, when she found out her "prize" consisted of a discount on one of the sponsor's products. The discount "coupon" was designed to look like a check,

I know from personal experience that many businesses use the imitation-check ploy to advertise their wares. Although this practice is legitimate if the discount isn't phony, it may be irritating.

The technique must result in some sales. If it only angered people, I can't imagine why anyone would continue to use it.

The other letter concerned a column I wrote a few weeks ago to warn people of a debt adjustment racket. The president of a legitimate debt adjustment company in the State of Washington wrote to point out that such companies are rigidly regulated in his state (true, and that they perform a valuable service to people who need it. (Debt adjustment companies help debtors set up a practical plan of repayment, intercede on the debtor's behalf with his creditors and administer the negotiated schedule of payments, all for a fee.)

MY CORRESPONDENT said he believes retail businessmen are under too much pressure to meet sales quotas, which causes them to sell to people who cannot really afford to buy.

"We agree that it is the responsibility of the buyer to purchase only that for which he can afford to pay," he said, "but few are aware of budgeting procedures and our schools fail miserably in this area to prepare the average person for the routine of daily living.

"The opportunity to buy is made all too easy," he continued. "The net result being that few clients we counsel realize the extent of their indebtedness until too late."

An official of the Washington state government explained that its difficult for such companies to make any money because most of their potential clients are either so far gone that no one can help them or so irresponsible that they just don't care about their debts.

THE LETTERS illustrate both halves of a continuing problem for our business system: 1. Businessmen who push too hard for that sale and take chances with the good name of all business, with the financial stability of the customer and with their own financial stability. 2. Consumers who are irresponsible in the management of their money.

What's the answer? I don't think there is any panacea. I can certainly agree with the suggestion that we provide better courses in our schools in practical, everyday money management.

And I certainly believe that the consumer is entitled to know what he is getting, and to get what he pays for. By law.

But I do not go along with laws designed to save the consumer from himself. It is dangerously patronizing for a government to assume that its citizens are too stupid to take care of themselves without a public official looking over their shoulders.

In the final analysis, an alert, informed consumer is a better guardian of the legitimacy of the market place than all the regiments a totalitarian society can muster.

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith grass farm on Bootleg Corner gets all twisted up in economic theories this week, his letter indicates.

Dear editor:

A neighbor of mine who works all the time except when he's seeing a doctor about his ulcer brought me a newspaper clipping the other day and said, "Look at this."

The article reported on the plight of a young married couple which it said was typical of a lot of young people today. They're head over heels in debt despite the fact they make about $12,000 to $14,000 a year.

It went on to describe the situation. The couple needed a car so, not having any cash on hand, borrowed $500 from a loan company for the down payment and financed the rest in the regular way through the car dealer. They bought gas with credit cards, and when a bank sent them a new-style credit card, they used that to buy other things, like a TV set; etc.

Anyway, they soon found out their monthly installment payments were almost equal to the husband's pay check.

NOW WHAT interests me about this is the husband's notion of where the blame lies.

"I'll take 10 per cent of the blame," he said, "but the stores and credit companies should take the rest because they never once turned me down even though they must have known I was bumping my credit ceiling."

This is the kind of economic theory I've been looking for all my life. Up to now, if you hadn't paid your bill at a store, the store blamed you, when all the time it was the store's fault. Instead of sending nasty letters the store should have been getting them.

What this I guess is a domestic adoption of our international economics policy. Internationally you know we've lent billions and billions of dollars to foreign countries and when the money comes due they've gotten madder and madder at us.

Everything is confusing. Right now we're trying to lend Egypt a lot of money to re-build the Suez canal and its bombed cities, and at the same time are lending Israel even more to replenish its military hardware which it used up fighting Egypt.

If my subscription to The Brand is past due, you know who's at fault. Yours faithfully, J.A.

Talk Of Texas

BY JACK MAGUIRE

IT'S A FACT — The only operating railroad in the world that is a park instead of a train is located in Texas.

At least that will be true early in 1975 when the Texas State Railroad resumes operations between Rusk and Palestine in East Texas. The 26-mile right-of-way has been designated a state park.

Unlike any other railroad, this one also welcomes trespassers. In fact, a trail for hikers is being built down the middle of the tracks.

Uniqueness always has been a hallmark of the 80-year-old railroad. It was built by convict labor in 1896 as a five-mile line to haul wood and ore to a foundry in Rusk. By 1908 it had been extended to connect with the International & Great Northern at Palestine. The Rusk foundry was closed in 1921, but the Texas State Railroad—so named because it actually was owned by the state—continued operations until 1970.

In 1972, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department acquired the property and began converting it into a recreational area. Instead of abandoning the tracks and simply turning the right-of-way into a hiking trail, the Parks Department decided to restore train service and designate the entire operation as a state park. The job of restoration, again assigned to convicts from the state prisons, will be completed next year.

IT'S A WOMAN'S WORLD — In 1914, the Gunter Hotel in San Antonio proudly announced that a section of its lobby would be reserved for women only!

TRAVELING TEXAS — One of the state's finest examples of a water-powered mill and gin is being restored at Luling, Caldwell County.

It is the century-old Zedler Mill and Gin which for decades was a center of commerce in Central Texas. The huge structure has been purchased by Dr. and Mrs. Bill R. Westbrook of Houston and is being converted into a restaurant and shops. Architects are retaining the integrity of the original installation and the restaurant will overlook the dam and mill wheel.

Much of the restoration will be completed in time for Luling's centennial celebration later this year. By 1976, the old mill, looking much like it did in 1876, will be welcoming diners and shoppers.

FACTS WORTH NOTING — Maybe the energy crisis is the reason. At any rate, the horse population of Texas is on the increase again.

In 1930, Texans owned almost 750,000 horses. Within 20 years, however, there were only some 325,000 in the state. Now the number is up to 650,000 and still rising.

Houston now counts about 30,000 steeds pastured in its environs and 26,000 others are stabled in and near Dallas. At least that's the report from Texas A.&M. University which has a horse specialist on its staff.

THE CHANGING TIMES — Immigrants brought to Texas to work on farms in the 1860's got $90 for their first 12 months of work. The second year they received $100 and $110 if they lasted 30 months.

Women doing the same work were paid $20 less than men.

Out of this wage, they also had to repay the cost of their passage from Europe to Texas.

"A country can't be... too bad when over a thousand people will turn out, some traveling up to a hundred miles, to search for a little 4-year old girl who had wandered away from home on a winter day. Nor, a country where over a million drivers will ease up on the accelerator when a president, not exactly at the peak of popularity, asks that drivers slow down to conserve gasoline: It's a pretty good country after all." LINN, MO., OSAGE COUNTY OBSERVER

"The thoughts of people are more valuable than money. When two people exchange dollar bills, then each still has only one dollar. When they exchange an idea, each then has two ideas." MANNING, IOWA, MONITOR

"One of the contributing factors to the energy crisis and to other economic problems of the day is the withering influence of too many politicians in putting obstacles in the path of business, destroying incentives to push ahead with progress. These politicians seem to stay up nights figuring out how to make it more difficult for business to function properly, destroying some of the very foundations of the free enterprise system. They seem to forget that it was this system that built the American business framework through the years, starting at a time when there was genuine encouragement and a favorable climate for investment." FINDLAY, OHIO, REPUBLICAN COURIER

"Sometime soon the public will recognize that the current shortages in the capacity to produce many basic commodities have not resulted from an act of God, or from an act of King Faisal, but rather are a direct consequence of the dearth of investment in new productive capacity over the past five years. Niggardly as investment has been over the past five years, much of it has gone into 'unproductive' additions in the form of investment in pollution control and safety equipment." JOHNSONBURG, PA., PRESS

MAY BIRTHDAYS MARKED — Birthdays were celebrated Wednesday by residents of Westgate Unit at Kings Manor retirement home who were born this month. Women of St. Thomas Episcopal Church were hostesses at the Maytime party, where Virginia Holmes played piano solos during the tea hour. May baskets made by Suzie Gilliland, Annette LaFuente and Reecie Willson of Ti-Tawa Campfire Group were given as favors and decorated the table with its central Maypole. Mrs. John Gilliland, group leader, and Mrs. George Warner directed the work.

Cancer Seminar Well Attended

BY ARGEN DRAPER, HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT

DEAF SMITH County came through again in leading the attendance at the Cancer Seminar. We've estimated 50 persons from the county who were in Amarillo Wednesday. The warning signals were stressed and to act when even suspicious of a warning. The program will prove helpful for family health in the Panhandle. Conclusion to our PEP effort the last year: The Panhandle Economic Program (PEP) is designed to help area families have a better way of life in all phases of economics. Good family health is a real asset to family financial security. In Texas the leading causes of death are heart disease, cancer and strokes. To help combat this, health programs in the 25 PEP counties are available through Texas Agricultural Extension Service home economics programs.

SEW FAIR plans are being made. This is a release from the clothing specialist, Becky Culp. Mrs. Culp will be here May 16 to give part of the program.

TODAY'S CASUAL, unlined jackets need a "finishing touch" to make them as attractive on the inside as the outside. For a "completed" look, finish all raw edges attractively, using one of many techniques. One way to finish a seam, hem or facing on knit or stretch fabric is to bind it. Using double fold tape, pin the wider half of the tape to the wrong side of seam allowance or facing, with the narrower half to the right side. Stitch through all thicknesses from the right side. Or, cut a true bias strip one inch wide from a lining fabric and use it instead of tape. With right sides of seam allowance and bias strip together, stitch bias strip to seam allowance, making one-eighth inch seam. Then turn bias strip to the wrong side of the seam allowance, encasing it with the strip. Stitch again in groove of original stitching line. Finally, trim away excess bias strip. Another attractive finish utilizes stretch lace—which is ideal for knits and woven fabrics that tend to ravel. Using this method, fold lace in half to encase the seam. On hems or facings, apply lace flat—it isn't necessary to encase them with lace. A different type of seam also can improve a garment's overall appearance. For example, French seams make a neat appearance when using sheer fabric—such as chiffon, lace, voile or eyelet. Flat-felled seams, on the other hand, give an attractive finish to sportswear that features topstitching. To make a flat-felled seam, first stitch wrong sides of fabric together, creating a five-eighths inch seam. Next press seam open and trim one seam allowance to one-eighth inch. Press the wider seam allowance over the narrow one and fold the edge under narrowly. Then topstitch on the folded edge.

THIS WEEK'S consumer "zingers":

- 1) Whether it's built or remodeled, the bathroom is usually the second most costly room in a house.
- 2) Once wild game meat thaws, cook it right away—and cook thoroughly. Wild game has a greater chance of bacterial contamination than meat bought at a supermarket.
- 3) Last year, the nation's overall health bill totaled $94.1 billion—up 11 per cent from 1972. On a per capita basis, each person averaged spending $441—with direct out-of-the-pocket payments averaging $132, a $9 increase over the previous year. This is reasonable for the good medical care our citizens receive.
- 4) ACCORDING to a Federal Trade Commission ruling on labeling and advertising, all shoes must be labeled with the names of materials used in various parts of shoe construction—including soles, insoles, linings, heels and uppers.

ANOTHER aim of the open house so far as the Auxiliary is concerned, is promoting acquaintance with needs of residents in the retirement home and enlisting members to help meet those needs. That's one of the continuing service projects here which always can use a few more pairs of hands. There are others, of course, and a brand-new one is the Hospital Auxiliary that was organized Friday. In fact, if anybody in this county is ever heard to complain of feeling unneeded, he is likely to be

IT HAS BEEN a real pleasure to become acquainted with Dixie Martin and Cathy King. These young ladies are the student teachers in Dimmitt. They are home economic majors who will receive a degree from Tech next week. It is exciting for a new graduate to begin a career in the field which they have dreamed about for so long. Good luck, girls, and we hope you will come our way again.

IT IS THAT time again. Kitty Cat has brought her family of four little round furry kittens to her people and has presented them to us with a flourish. She is always so secretive of their whereabouts until they are ready to start eating. When they are little, if we find them, she will immediately move them to another hideaway. Anyway, there are some of the most precious little creatures, that are looking for homes. A grey, a calico and two yellow kittens are ready to take over some families. So, if you need a little furry ball to brighten your household, we could part with them Call 276-5263. They aren't housebroken but they are smart and willing to learn. THIS afternoon the folks out at Kings Manor are at home to visitors in the annual open house sponsored by the Manor Auxiliary, whose members will help the residents act as hosts. Hereford has reason to be proud of the Methodist retirement home and those who are not so well acquainted with its physical plant, its staff and its residents should take the opportunity to go out between 2 and 4 p.m. and learn more about it. If you haven't visited at the Manor in the last year or two you'll find it larger, maybe surprisingly so. The Auxiliary wants the town to know Kings Manor in all three of its divisions, the Manor proper, Westgate hospital unit and the cottages which cluster on its campus and spread out across Sunset Street. They will all be open to visitors today.

swamped with invitations to help here and there. Right now the summer youth program based at Community Center is ready to start as soon as enough volunteers are recruited. Clubs and churches are hearing about its needs from Bunny Watts, the Center director. They are also hearing from JoAn Dwyer about the Big Brothers-Big Sisters program that is getting underway, and naturally needs volunteer workers. Anybody looking for some way to do some community service can find a use for just any talents, from baby sitting to teaching art — or coaching volleyball. You've heard often that a case of the blues is best cured by doing something for somebody else, so don't just sit there feeling sorry for yourself!

VISITORS again in Hereford are Isabel and George Wilson of Clarksburg, Calif., house guests of Pat and Wes Fisher. They are Pat's parents and have made a lot of friends here on previous visits. It's a pleasure to welcome them again.

Sweet

Those who viewed such television offerings as "Hans Brinker" this month realized, in their enjoyment, how badly U.S. commercial television needs shows of that quality. No adjective describes the story better than sweet.

It was the story of a hard-pressed, devoted family, of love, sensitivity and genuine goodness—a story to warm the heart. How much better it would be for America and its future if the commercial networks stressed such uplifting and inspirational themes, offering youngsters and other impressionables this sort of moral uplift to imitate, rather than the present flood of crime, sadism and immorality, all glamorized, and thus too often imitated in real life.

When one has the chance to view—occasionally—what television can do for the young, for education, moral uplift and inspiration, the shame and disillusionment of this country's vast wasteland (commercial television) is difficult to accept.

A grown-up is someone able to keep from talking.

Fashion

It has been truly said that if we wait long enough, all styles come back in fashion. Three of these that are having a come-back are more curves for women's figures, hats and marcel waves for the hair.

Marcel waves used to be put in with electric curling irons but we hear that a steam gadget is used for these new waves.

Club Hears Poem As Memorial For Longtime Member

A memorial to the late Mrs. Fred Barrett, a longtime member of North Hereford Extension Club, a Mothers Day poem was read by Roberta Campbell at the club luncheon Thursday in Mrs. A.E. Hodges' home. The poem was titled A Mother's Farewell.

Members elected Mrs. Gaylon Bryan as club delegate to the Texas Home Demonstration Association meeting to be held in Amarillo next September.

Officers for next year were elected, to be installed with those of other county extension clubs in June. Mrs. T.E. Brisendine was returned for another term as president; Mrs.

Cliff Johnson was named vice president, Mrs. Paul Hoff secretary with Bonnie Hartley as assistant, Mrs. J.A. Crofford treasurer, Miss Campbell delegate to the County HD Council and Mrs. Bryan reporter.

A program on fitting patterns for home sewing was given by Argen Draper, county extension agent. Mrs. Mack Tucker discussed fire prevention measures for safety in the home.

Others present were Mmes. Iva Saltzman, O.L. Williams and Viola Williams.

By The Garden Gate With Glad

By Mrs. Art Manjeot

370 Coral Sea Drive, Ft. Lee,

"Out of a sound heard, and a merry throat, the songbird's song is a sweet welcome note" — Ralph Waldo Emerson.

I am awakened each morning by the serenade of the birds. Their sweet notes fill the air and give promise of a new day of happiness.

I can distinguish the cooing notes of the morning dove, the beautiful melody of the mockingbird, the call of bobwhite reminding the farmer that it is time to plant cotton, the mating call of the blackbird and the shrill music of the chickadees. All intermingled together remind me it is time to get up and go for a walk in the woods.

June should see them developing this color. It is during this period that they produce food by the process of photosynthesis. The bulbs gain in size and ripen, forming flowers for the next year's blossoms.

CAUTION: Do not tie up or braid the foliage to make a neater appearance. When tied up, it cannot produce as much food as it could if left spread out in its natural growth pattern. Do keep weeds or other foreign plants out of the bulb beds. The healthier the foliage, the more food it will produce, insuring a lovelier crop another spring.

Do not fertilize the spring flowering bulbs until the flowers have completely faded. When dead blossoms have been removed, they will benefit by an application of liquid fertilizer.

If you make your own liquid fertilizer by using barnyard manure in a barrel of water, use sparingly. Would be well to dilute the liquid some; if a commercial fertilizer is used, read carefully the instructions and percentages. Nitrogen should be the lowest percentage.

In our area it is not necessary to lift the bulbs often but every three or four years, if they were planted deep (10 to 12 inches). They can be lifted and replanted if you prefer them in a better location (should have good drainage).

If this is done lift them with the foliage attached, and plant at once in the new bed. If it is desired other flowering bulbs may also be lifted and replanted.

Caution: Be sure the soil has been properly prepared and is ready before the bulbs are lifted. However if this is not possible, then bulbs can be dug and "hilled" out until all preparations have been made. To hill out, dig a ditch six to eight inches deep. Place bulbs close together, cover bulbs and part of lower stems, tamping the soil to them. Water if needed, before replanting.

INFORMATION: If the asparagus beds were planted this year, do not cut spears until the third season, that is, until the crowns have had at least two years growth after planting. If spears which were planted were two years old, then the spears could be cut during the third season.

As the seasons lengthen cutting may be done oftener; three years old, three to five weeks, four year old plants or older can be harvested every six to eight weeks, depending on growth. Do not let spears become hardened, cut when tender and sweet.

Fresh cut spears are delicious when added to tossed salad, or can be eaten with salad dressing or a bit of salt. They can take the place of celery or other fresh vegetable tid-bits. I recommend them for weight watchers.

ourselves approved, a workman who needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing truth and knowledge."

Be alert, busy and glad that you are a gardener.

NOTICE: To those desiring to attend the flower show school in Amarillo Garden Center in May, information can be gotten from any member of Hereford Garden Club or Bud to Blossom Club. I recommend the school highly, both instructors are good. If interested in gardening, horticulture, and flower arranging it will be beneficial.

I am continually glad that I have taken the flower show schools (five of them as well as refresher courses and symposiums). Knowledge gained is valuable. For instance since coming to visit my son and family I have had many occasions to use some of the things learned.

Monday I was honored by being asked to make the table arrangements for the quarterly banquet of directors of the Troop Support Agency. Twelve arrangements were made. The affair was most enjoyable, a highlight of my visit.

Have also found that knowledge gained through study of plants, trees, flowers and farm crops has been valuable as I joined tours to gardens, plantations, parks and homes.

We should all ever be mindful that "We study to show

Here's How BEEF Is Best

JANE'S SPECIAL
Mrs. Tom White

- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1 large onion, finely chopped
- 1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 1 lg. can can be used
- 1 lb. fresh or frozen spinach chopped
- Salt and pepper
- 2 beaten eggs

Heat olive oil in a heavy skillet. Sauté beef and onion in hot oil until beef is brown and onion is tender. Add mushroom and saute until tender.

Add spinach, salt and pepper and saute lightly, turning constantly with a fork. Add the well beaten eggs and continue turning with the fork until eggs are set and evenly distributed throughout the mixture. Serve four.

REMINDER: Be sure there is plenty of water in the bird baths or the watering stations. Dry hot weather makes the needs of our birds greater. Their feeders will not need as much attention since seed of grasses and berries will be more abundant.

Don't forget to plant flowers that will attract hummingbirds as they will be coming through before long. Red flowers attract them, but they appear to like to feed on tubular flowers, as their long needle-like bills permit them to feed there.

Some they like best are blossoms of the red cypress vines, gladiolus, petunias, butterflybush, iris (we will have an extended period of iris blossoms because of the varieties) morningglory, honeysuckle, nasturtiums (the leaves and stems of these are delicious when added to tossed salad, the blossoms are lovely decorations and are also edible; columbine, canna, mimosa, larkspur (I hope mine are in full bloom).

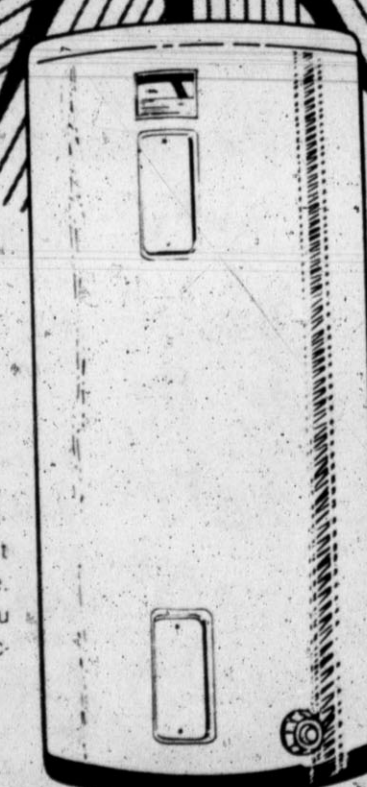

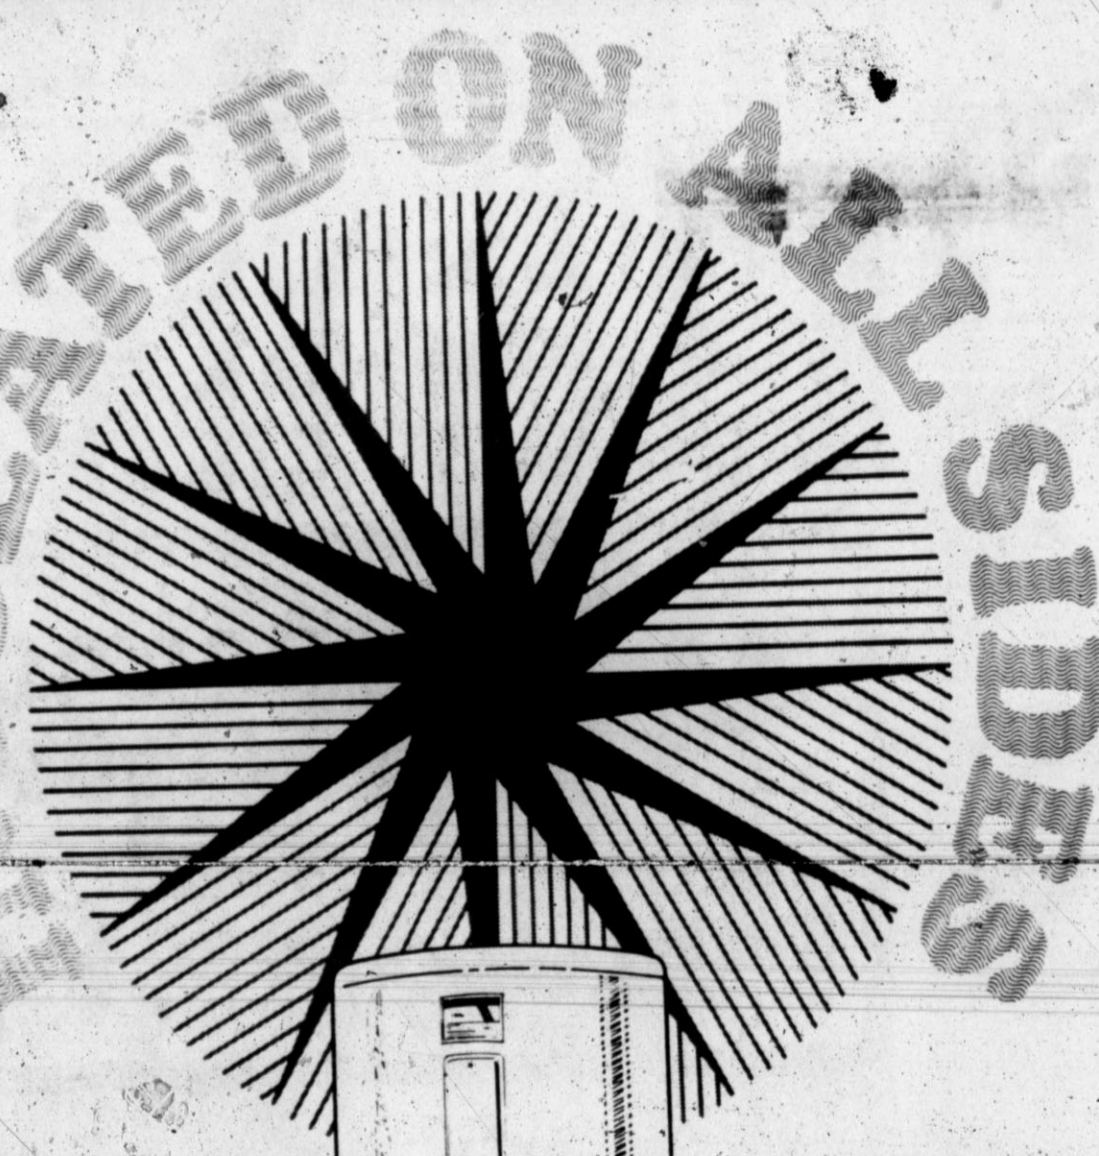

Also clematis (a vine which does well in our area) lilac, lantan, (annual and perennial) phlox (annual and perennial) and black locust. This is a good variety to choose from. As you plant make plans to hang your hummingbird feeders. It is a real delight to have the hummingbirds visit the garden, so make ready for them.

All birds are the gardener's friends. They eat and destroy garden enemies, add color, beauty and their cheery songs. They are truly our best friends.

TULIPS: A last reminder to make frequent checks of the tulips which have bloomed. Remove all faded blossoms by pinching off the bloom tip. If left on, seed pods will be formed, which will take food which otherwise would be used to produce next year's flowers.

Leaves and flower stems should not be removed until they turn yellowish green. Early

H³ HUSTLE HUSTLE HUSTLE

By Bill Albright, Executive Vice President
Deaf Smith County Chamber Of Commerce

Have just returned from the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of The United States held in Washington, D.C. This was a very important meeting and an extremely impressive one.

The meeting was initiated with an outdoor reception on Sunday afternoon. This gave us an opportunity to meet and visit with many of the delegates from all over Texas and the other 49 states as well as the officers and staff of The National Chamber. I was pleased to find so many owners of small businesses and their wives in attendance.

A major attraction all during the meeting was a very expensive exhibition of business industry and education portraying the theme "Interpreting Business". I spent several hours on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday gathering material from these exhibits and much of it is available at The Chamber Office for anyone interested. My bag actually doubled in weight with all the literature I brought back.

Monday morning our first general session was preceded by a concert by the United States Marine Band, "The Presidents Own". This performance thrilled everyone and made us feel a wfully proud to be Americans.

We were welcomed by President Rust who opened the 62nd annual meeting. A panel discussion entitled "Doing Business in a World of Shortages" was conducted by Mike Wallace of CBS. Lunch was highlighted with Allan Shivers presiding and Jenkin Lloyd Jones of The Tulsa Tribune, moderating "The 1974 Elections and Your Business."

THE AFTERNOON session provided a choice of "Politics", "Inflation" and "Energy". I was selected for Politics and was well pleased with the subject matter.

The evening activities consisted of State Congressional Receptions and Dinners-The Texas Reception included a wonderful buffet and an opportunity to visit with many business and professional leaders. I was privileged to have dinner with our own George and Helen Mahon. The Hardin Simmons University Singing Men entertained us royally with their vocal arrangements.

We met early Tuesday at The Annual Prayer Breakfast and again the Hardin Simmons group provided musical stimulation. The 2nd general session was a discussion on "The New Government, Environment", presented by Senator James Buckley of New York.

At lunch, we separated into three groups. My group was included in a discussion on the Nations Health Care Needs.

The afternoon provided some thought provoking ideas on exports and foreign investments and how they can aid our economy.

We had three hour break before the Annual Banquet so I paid a visit to the headquarters of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. It's quite a busy place and a much larger operation than I had assumed.

TUESDAY EVENING provided us a wonderful and inspiring annual banquet and of course we were honored by the attendance and brief address by President Nixon. Some 3,200

Real Estate Today
By Lee Umsted
REALTOR

Real estate, like many other segments of American business, has been through some trying times. First there was tight money. And now there's the energy crisis, which has caused a lot of people to be hesitant about making changes. Especially major ones, like buying homes. But frankly, real estate is still the best all-around investment you can make. One thing's for sure. It's a much sounder situation to be putting your money into a personal investment every month than to be putting it into someone else's pocket. Texas REALTORS are working hard these days to make the purchase of Real Estate easier because we have faith in the ability of our country to flourish for a long time to come. We think America is still on solid ground. Shouldn't you be, too? We'd like to talk to you about home ownership. Give us a call today.

LEE UMSTED is president of the Hereford Board of Realtors. If you have any questions on Real Estate, please feel free to phone or drop in PROPERTY ENTERPRISES 205 S. 25 MILE AVE. or 364-6633. WE ARE ANXIOUS TO HELP.

ON DISCHARGE CODE
Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger has abolished a numerical code which permitted employers to identify military misfits even though they received honorable discharges from the service.

ON GAS COUPONS
With the oil embargo off, the government is locking up 4.8 billion ration coupons printed at a cost of $12 million in hopes they'll never be used. The government's biggest worry is security.
