Wholesale Prices Take Leap

By MICHAEL DOAN Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) · Wholesale prices, spurred by soaring prices for beef and veal, rose by 1.3 percent in January the biggest monthly increase in four years, the Labor Department reported today. The report means consumers can expect hefty increases in grocery prices in the next few months.

Last month alone, wholesale beef and veal prices rose 13 percent, the department said. That was equal to about half the beef and veal increases in all of Wholesale price boosts last month were widespread and included sharp gains in gasoline, fuel oil, cosmetics, tobacco, autos, tires, machinery and a variety of other products.

Not since November 1974, when the increase was 1.8 percent, have wholesale prices risen so rapidly in one month. Those prices usually are harbingers of trends in retail prices.

Last November and December. wholesale prices were climbing rapidly but at a slower rate of 0.8 percent. If the January increase continued for a year, the rate would be more than 16 percent.

The report was a not-unexpected disappointment to the Carter administration, which is soliciting help from consumers in its anti-inflation fight.

Alfred Kahn, director of President Carter's four-month-old anti-inflation program, said Thursday, "We have to depend on alert consumers to monitor prices." He sugested that consumes demand explanations from retailers for stiff price boosts that seem unjustified, and that they refuse to buy products that seem to be over-priced.

The administration has cautioned that results of its program to curb wage and price increases probably will not become evident until late spring or summer.

Banks Owe Error Refunds

WASHINGTON (AP) · Hundreds of banks will have to hand out cash refunds to many of their borrowers, but you won't know if your bank is one of them unless it tells you.

Because of mistakes in arithmetic, banks will have to refund millions of dollars to many customeres who borrowed money in the past five years, federal officials said Thursday.

The banks will start notifying people by mail, probably in about six months, that they will get refunds because the banks inadvertently misstated interest rated. the officials said.

WASHINGTON (AP) - After a face-to-face session, militant farmers say they find Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland courteous, good-natured, willing to listen - and zealously unwilling to yield to their demands.

Nonetheless, when a 90-minute meeting between five protest leaders and Bergland ended Thursday, much of the week's accumulated tension seemed dissipated.

Farmers said just the fact that their encounter went so well was encouraging.

"We're talking, and maybe that's the first step," said Gene Schroder of Campo, Colo., a leader of the protest

Said Gerald McCathern of Hereford, Texas: "He listened, and listened well." Both sides seemed conciliatory, though

Bergland said he remains opposed to the farmers' demands for higher grain support prices and he feels in no mood to take back his characterization of some of the protesting farmers as "greedy."

The word, he said, was "carefully chosen." Farmers and a few congressmen have taken offense.

Relaxed and in good humor, Bergland lunched with some reporters following the meeting, recalling his own days as a farmer protesting the policies of Ezra Taft Benson, the secretary of agriculture in the Eisenhower Administration.

Today the farmers are laying their case before a friend - Sen. George McGovern. D-S.D., who is acting chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee in the absence of Sen. Herman Talmadge. hospitalized for treatment of alcohol

McGovern has sided with the farmers and is cosponsoring a resolution to raise crop support prices to their legal limits. Bergland is dead set against any such step, contending it would dry up the export market for U.S. grain and leave (See FARMERS, Page 2)

. . . But He Hasn't Changed His Stance

WASHINGTON (AP) - Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says he isn't budging from his view that demands by American Agriculture protesters for higher price supports are not justified at Neither is Bergland retracting a word he said earlier this week about some supporters of the protest movement being motivated by greed.

And with hundreds of farmers moving from the tractors, vans, trucks and other vehicles that police have penned into the Mall area, Bergland is playing it safe by not going to his office.

Security officials told Bergland it would be best for all concerned if he worked elsewhere. That is what he has been doing since farmers began their demonstrations on Monday. Appearing relaxed and in good humor, Bergland visited with reporters over lunch Thursday, talking about a meeting with five AAM leaders earlier in the day and reminiscing at times about his role in farm protests in the 1950s when he was a farmer in Minnesota. The meeting with the AAM farmes was in the Executive Office Building, part of the high-security area of the White House. Neither side agreed to anything, but no harsh words or insults were exchanged. Gerald McCathern of Hereford, Texas, who was among those meeting with Bergland, said, "We did not go in there with the intention of getting into

Earlier this week on network television,

Bergland said that some of the protesting farmers from Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska were "in real trouble because of the high and rising cost of irrigation and the depleting water reserves.

But, he said, "there are others who have made bad business judgments, paid too much money for land. I know some people in that category. Others are seeking publicity and others are driven by

The reference to "greed" triggered immediate outrage among the protesters, and at a congressional hearing on Wednesday it was brought up again.

After first ignoring demands by Rep. Richard Nolan, D-Minn., and shouts of support by farmers in the audience, Bergland later said, "I want to take this opportunity to apologize to anyone who has felt insulted by anything I've said. It was not intended.'

At his luncheon meeting Thursday with reporters, Bergalnd was asked whether he would say exactly the same words that he used on television if he had it to do over again.

"I would," Bergland replied. "They were carefully chosen.'

Then, to whom did he direct the apology at the hearing conducted by the House Agriculture Committee, Bergland was asked.

"To the innocents that thought I was maligning them," he said.

Bergland continued: "I'm not about to name names, but I tell you I know some people that are here and that have been (See BERGLAND, Page 2)

Vanderbilt Murder Charge Dismissed

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Capital murder charges against a former Amarillo policeman, already sentenced to death once, were dismissed Thursday after a state judge ruled the man's confessions were not admissable evidence in court.

An appeals court overturned the first conviction of Jimmy Paul Vanderbilt in the 1975 slaying of a then-state legislator's daughter. Vanderbilt had already spent four years on death row when the new trial was ordered. District Judge Howard Fender dismissed the charges against Vanderbilt following four days of pre-trial hearings.

The trial was transferred to Fort Worth from Amarillo on a change of venue.

The ruling seemed to fall hardest on Potter County District Attorney Tom Curtis whose alleged failure to testify and refute defense contentions at the hearing brought on the rulings.

"I feel the state has no choise but to dismiss the case," Curtis told Judge Fender, adding that without the confessions prosecutors had little evidence to convict Vanderbilt in the slaving of Katina Elizabeth Moyer.

Fender agreed and dismissed the capital murder charge.

Vanderbilt, however, still faces charges of kidnapping Miss Moyer and could be sentenced to five to 20 years in prison if convicted.

Miss Moyer, daughter of then-state Representative Hudson Moyer was abducted at gunpoint from the parking lot of an Amarillo high school on April 1,

Her body was found outside the city limits later. Police said she had been shot

Americans' judgment of Carter's work in foreign policy and energy and his trust rating have also suffered as a result of the problems in Iran. In foreign policy - where Carter scored a triumph with the Camp David summit in 1978 - his rating has plunged, now standing at only 35 percent good or excellent, down from 45 percent in December and from the 56 percent found right after he worked out a "framework for peace" in the Middle East with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

And his rating on handling energy policy slipped four points to 19 percent good or excellent - its lowest point ever after months of relative stability.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The message is clear - the public wants schools to go back to teaching reading, writing and arithmetic, says State Education Commissioner M.L. Brockette.

Brockette also told the Senate Finance Committee on Thursday textbooks and other teaching materials cost the state only $12.41 per student per year yet Texas schools are better supplied than schools in any other state:

Nevertheless, committee member John Traeger shook his head and whistled softly when Deputy Commissioner Alton Bowen read the 1980-81 education budget recommended by the Legislative Budget Board.

"Don't read those figures," interrupted Sen. Grant Jones. D-Abilene, smiling.

To teach over 3 million children over the next two years, the budget board has recommended spending $6.5 billion from all funding sources. This includes $314 million in teacher salary increases and $450 million to make up for losses in local property taxes caused by the 1978 Tax Relief Amendment.

"I go along with the majority of legislators who are insisting that we go back to basics," said Sen. Raul Longoria, D-Edinburg. "The question is, are we returning to basics?"

State District Judge Preston Dial, whom the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals said erred in Henley's first trial here, granted the change of venue Thursday morning in a brief hearing in the well-guarded Bexar County Court-

Numerous Bexar County sheriff's deputies and bailiffs escorted Henley to the courtroom and stood guard in the outside halls. The courthouse was the scene two weeks ago of a wild stabbing spree in which a man wounded three persons, including a prosecutor.

A prisoner was also fatally shot last summer during a prisoner transfer at the courthourse.

Henley, 22, had been moved to the Bexar County Jail on Tuesday and confined to an isolation cell. During his 1974 trial here, a metal detector was used to screen those going into the courtroom. Such a device was not used Thursday, Garza said.

Bill Would Raise Teachers' Salaries

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Sen. Pete Snelson, D-Midland, has introduced a bill raising teacher salaries 15 percent over the next two years and increasing state aid to school district by $1.4 billion.

Over half the new state aid - $852 million - would go toward raising minimum teacher pay under the Foundation School Program

Snelson said his bill embodied recommendations of the Texas State Teachers Association.

He said "the $64 question" is passing it in an economy-minded session, where Gov. Bill Clements is insisting on $1 billion in cuts from the already tight appropriation bill written by the Legislative Budget Board.

"I think we will have to play a prioritizing game of whether to put funds into education, indirect tax relief or other agencies. This would not require an additional tax bill but would necessitate some reprioritizing of how we spend our money," Snelson said.

Snelson's bill would maintain local fund assignments - the local taxpavers' share - for the foundation program at

Woodcock Confirmed

As Ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is linking the confirmation of Leonard Woodcock as ambassador to Peking with congressional demands for guarantees of the future security of Taiwan.

The committee voted 12 to 1 Thursday to recommend to the Senate that Woodcock be confirmed as the first ambassador to mainland China in 30

But the committee chairman, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, indicated there would be no Senate vote until the panel has acted on Taiwan security legislation.

Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., put it bluntly. He said President Carter and his aides want Woodcock confirmed. "That's what they want," he said. "We are considering legislation on Taiwan's security. That's what we want." Carter has said he will not accept a congressional statement about Taiwan's security if it interfers with the new relationship with Peking.

One result of the controversy is an almost certain delay on Woodcock's confirmation until shortly before he is to be installed as ambassador March 1.

Spending Debated

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A House-Senate conference committee apparently will cast a critical eye - belatedly, some believe - over the Texas Railroad Commission's request for emergency funds.

Senators quickly voted Thursday to reject House amendments that pared the emergency appropriation bill from $581,682 - the amount sought by the commission - to $245,509.

The action means five senators and five representatives will be named to negotiate the differences.

One member of the House Appropriations Committee said the panel simply rushed through the Senate-passed bill without making sure all the money was needed.

"We sure were a bunch of sleeping beauties," he said.

The House passed the reduced bill, 127-4, on Thursday, and the Senate quickly rejected the change and called for a conference committee to negotiate

"Overall, it will be helpful that this happened because not only will they (the commission) be more definite in the future, but other agencies will too." said Rep. Joe Hanna, D-Breckenridge, the House sponsor.

While relatively little money is involved, the 75-66 vote Wednesday to siash the bill was notable as a defeat for the commission and the approrpriations

Speaker Bill Clayton's harshest critics, lately dubbed "The Gang of Four," led the drive to prune the bill.

Railroad commissioners asked for the money after taking on the task of assigning each Texas gas well to one of 28 price categories under the 1978 federal natural gas policy act.

Opponents, however, said the bill was excessive for that purpose.

"We are going to go to conference with it, and the railroad commission will have to explain in more detail and also go to members of the House and explain. I want it explained in more detail," Hanna

He said if the commissioners can't justify the full amount he would favor keeping the stripped down version.

Clayton said that since Wednesday's vote, railroad commissioners "have been more actively informing the members of their needs...I frankly wanted it to go to conference committee and make them justify their needs."

He said his conference committee members would include not only representatives from oil-producing areas like Hanna and Rep.Tom Craddick. R-Midland, but also Rep. Ron Coleman, D-El Paso, who pushed through the amendment cutting the bill.

Senators passed, 27-0, and sent the House a bill enabling reporters to file lawsuits to prevent violations of the Texas Open Meetings Act.

The law currently says "interested persons" can sue, but a court of civil appeals decided a newspaper in Abilene was not "an interested person." The court held that an interested person was one that would be affected economically by an action taken in violation of the act.

Members present were Doris Coffin, Bea Cox, Frances Green, Dora Lee Howell, Erma Loving. Peggy Oakes, Frances Parker, Bessie Saulcy, Carmie Scott, Helen Sowell, Doris Wilson, Mabel Yocum and Marie

Oboist to Perform In Recital at WT

CANYON - Robin Hough, principal oboist with the Forth Worth Symphony Orchestra, will be heard in recital and present a master class at West Texas State University Feb. 16.

The recital will begin at 8 p.m., in Northen Recital Hall and will include works by Vivaldi, Paulenc, Franck, Pierne, Faure, Auric and Molique.

The master class will be in Room 219 of Northen Hall at 4 p.m., and will be of particular interest to instrumentalists. This class will involve several WTSU oboe majors who will play, and Hough will give critiques on their performances. Dr. Hough is a native of Camden, S.C. and received a bachelor's degree in music from East Carolina University where he studied with David Serrins. At North Texas State, where he completed his master's and doctoral degrees in music, Hough was a student of Charles Veazey, formerly of the WTSU music faculty.

He has studied with Roger Lord, principal oboist with the London Symphony Orchestra. and Ray Still, Principal oboist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Dr. Hough has taught at North Texas State University. East Texas State University, Texas Christian University and the University of Texas at Arlington.

Recently he was a soloist in the Richard Strauss Oboe Concerto with the Texas Little Symphony, a core group of the Fort Worth Symphony. Both events are open to the public without charge. They are sponsored by the lota Pi Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia and made possible by a grant from the WTSU Special Programs Committee.

Sex For The Young

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My sister-in-law and I are expecting babies in a couple of months. Our four-year-olds were born the same week. They attend the same nursery school.

My little niece hasn't asked any questions. My Melanie is very inquisitive about everything. Last week she asked why I was getting so fat in front. I told her I was growing a baby sister or brother for her. She was very happy.

This morning my sister-in-law phoned -- screaming with rage. growing a baby in your stomach and now Alice wants to know if I am, too. A four-year-old is too young to be told the facts of life. She has already asked me how the baby got in there."

Was I wrong? Is four too young? Please give me your candid opinion. -- Caldwell.

DEAR CALDWELL: Any child who is old enough to notice a physical change in mama is old enough to hear the truth. The story can be told in simple language with no clinical detail.

Any mother who can't find the right words should buy one of a number of books on how to tell a young child where babies come from. I suggest you get a copy for your sister-in-law.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In these days of high inflation. high wages, and high everything else, how about equally high standards for people who produce goods and services? For example, why can't the clothing manufacturers hire competent help to inspect garments and make sure the knots are tied?

Two weeks ago I bought a pair of slacks to wear to a very special outing given by the president of our firm. The slacks cost $39.95, which is not cheap. didn't expect them to last forever, but neither did I expect the center seam to rip from top to bottom when I bent over to tie

This embarrassing incident occurred at a barbecue in the presence of the firm's top executives. What has happened to the pride of workmanship? Where are the people who used to get satisfaction out of doing a good job? It burns me up the way so-called skilled labor just puts in time, pushes for higher wages and doesn't give a damn about the quality of the product turned out.

Please print this letter as a warning to others who may be placing too much confidence in their seams. -- Unscheduled Performance In Westchester

DEAR WESTCHESTER: There's a great deal of validity to our complaints, but I try to view every problem from as many angles as possible.

You give me no clue as to your dimensions and the size of the slacks. Even the most flawless workmanship will take just so much stress and strain. I've seen an awful lot of women with size 14 fannies jammed into size 10 slacks.

3 Share First Round Lead In Hawaiian Golf

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) Andy Bean had just fired a greens 11 times. Heas - who headed another large group at most cases - and casually shrugged it off.

"Just trying to keep my two cents-worth in." he said.

In the incredible scoring that was produced in Thursday's first round of the $300,000 Hawaiian Open, that's all he did. Got his two cents worth in. It wasn't good enough to lead.

That spot went to a trio of 65s posted by Lanny Wadkins, Jay Haas and rookie Lindy Miller. While this scores were the same, they arrived at the lead by different routes over the beautifully conditioned, 7,234yard Waialae Country Club now has led or she round lead in three of five events on the tour this year . didn't make a bogey, missed only one green and chipped in for birdie that time. And Wadkins hit two drivers to the green on the 566-yard 18th and holed a 20-foot putt for a finishing eagle.

A bulky group of 11 shared the next position at 66. Tied with Bean were Charles Coody, J.C. Snead, Fuzzy Zoeller, Gil Morgan, Wally Armstrong. Larry Nelson, Kermit Zarley, Mark Lye, Wayne Levi and Bob Gilder.

Hale Irwin and rookie Tom Chain, who was playing his first

Miller one-putted the perfect round in his first tour event,

In all, 91 of the 144 men in the field broke par 72, believed to be the lowest overall scoring in a decade of tour compeition.

Another 16 were at par on the long flat layout.

Playing conditions were perfect. The temperature was in the 80s and - unusual for Hawaii there wasn't a breath of a breeze to disturb the palms and banyan trees.

And, as usual, the greens were ideal.

Miller took full advantage. Birdie putts of 15 and 30 feet got him started and he made his round with a string of seven holes in the middle of the round. He one-putted six times in that stretch. The only one he missed was from 18 inches.

Haas had a near-flawless effort. His only lapse came on the second hole, the only green he missed. And he promptly chipped it in for birdie. He got it very close on two par-5 holes, scored three times from the 8-10 foot range and holed another putt of about 18 feet. Wadkins was only 1 shot under par at the turn, but made his move with a brilliant 30 on the back nine. He birdied three in a row at one stretch, then capped it off with the spectacular eagle on the final hole that lifted him into a share of the lead.

SMU Rips TCU Frogs In SWC

DALLAS (AP) - The Southern Methodist University Mustangs basketball team is well again. If you don't believe it, just ask the Texas Christian Horned Frogs.

The Mustangs trounced TCU Thursday night, 96-77, in a game matching two of this season's SWC have-nots. The Mustangs now have a 4-7 SWC record and the Frogs are 1-10.

The game, the only one for SWC teams Thursday night, was added to the schedule to replace a game scheduled for Jan. 6 and postponed because of icy road conditions.

The other SWC teams return to action Saturday with a full slate of games. TCU will meet Arkansas in the weekly regionally televised game Saturday afternoon. In night games, Baylor will be at SMU. Rice goes across town for a game with Houston, Texas A&M is at Texas Tech. The Texas Longhorns are idle.

"So many thoughts were going through my mind. I was kind of on cloud nine. I didn't know what to think, but I was really honored," she said.

She has three world records in the 200 and 400-meter individual medleys and 200meter freestyle - and 13 American records.

The AAU never announced names of those suspended, but Caulkins said she was suspended for being out of her room past curfew. Her mother said earlier some of the girls attended a birthday party for a swimmer.

"I'm lucky it (the suspension) didn't affect this award." Caulkins said after the dinner. "It didn't affect my swimming. They (the AAU) had to keep their discipline. At first I was a little angry, but then I realized they had to do something about it. It was all a mistake, and we had to pay for it."

Getting rid of her braces is one of Caulkins' goals. And, in the horizon is the Olympics.

"This year isn't quite as big to me, although I plan to compete in the Pan American Games. But 1980 and the Olympics are already on my mind. And after that I want to keep swimming at least until I'm through college," she said. The other nine nominees this

Flores Named As Coach

OAKLAND (AP) - Tom Flores has stepped up to a coaching job that, as John Madden learned over 10 football seasons, can put a lot of pressure on a man.

"It's a tough, demanding job. But it's what I want, what I love," said Flores, named as the new head coach of the Oakland Raiders after serving seven years as an assistant to Madden.

"Will I get an ulcer like John did? I don't know. There's a lot of pressure, and it mounts every year," he said Thursday after being introduced at a news conference by Al Davis, who will be applying much of that pressure.

Madden retired Jan. 4 with one of the best coaching records in National Football League history, 103-32-7 in regular season games. The Raiders' 9-7 record last season was their worst under Madden and they missed the playoffs for only the second time in 10 years.

In his retirement announcement. Madden cited an ulcer problem and said he was burned out as a coach at age 42.

Flores will be 42 on March 21. but he said Thursday, "I have a different character than John."

Madden seemed pleased to hear that Davis, managing general partner of the team, had picked Flores as his successor and he predicted, "Tom will be a lot more calm than I was." Flores showed Thursday that he has something in common with Madden - a good sense of humor.

When asked to comment about recent speculation that the Raiders might be interested in moving to Los Angeles, the new coach said he wasn't worried because, "Al promised me if we move to Los Angeles. he'll buy me a home in Beverly Hills.'

Davis chose an organization man in Flores, who was a quarterback on the first Raiders team in 1960, just as he did in promoting Madden to the job 10 vears ago.

Davis said he considered others, including job-hunting former NFL head coaches, but decided that "Tom's qualifications were as good as any, and certainly his belief in our organization was very important along with the belief of our organization in him." Flores said he understood that Davis narrowed the list of candidates down to just Flores and Bud Carson, now an assistant with the Los Angeles Rams, before making his choice.

Defense Wins Rockets Game

HOUSTON (AP) - Although all five Rocket starters scored at least 20 points apiece, Houston forward Rick Barry says it was defense that gave his team its latest victory.

"I think our team defense was good overall," said Barry, who scored 22 points in the Rockets' 134-129 win over the Milwaukee Bucks Thursday night in a National Basketball Association

"We went for steals and made them put the ball on the floor," Barry said. "We stopped their inside game, but they were still able to shoot 56 percent from the field, and most of those were from 20 feet out. That's a super percentage."

The Rockets rang up a club-record 77 points in the first half, with Moses Malone contributing 24 of them, as Houston built a ten-point lead at the half.

The Rockets increased the lead to 91-78 midway through the third quarter, but the Bucks scored the game's next 11 points to narrow the margin to Houston led 107-106 with 8:55 to play, then scored 12 of the game's next 16 points to put the contest out of reach and send Milwaukee down to its sixth straight defeat.

The triumph moved the Rockets to win 11/2 games of first-place San Antonio in the NBA Central Division.

"Normally, if you choke up the middle, you can force a team to shoot from the outside," said Houston Coach Tom Nissalke. 'That's pretty much what we did tonight.

"We had some defensive lapses early in the second half, but I think we played pretty well defensively overall," he said. Malone finished the game with 32 points and pulled down 19 rebounds for the Rockets.

Calvin Murphy added 22 points.

Rudy Tomjanovich hit 26 points and Mike Dunleavy got 20. Junior Bridgeman came off the bench to pump in a season-high 36 points for the Bucks. Brian Winters added 29 for Milwaukee.

ASU Leads Pan Am Golf

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) -Mark Mattingly fired a three-under par 69 Thursday to pace Arizona State into the lead after 18-holes of the Pan American Univesity International Intercollegiate Golf Tournament here.

Mattingly's play helped Arizona State compile a 289 score, one shot better than the Oklahoma State team. Brigham Young and Texas A&M were tied at 292, followed by Texas Christian at 293 and Wake Forest and the University of Texas, each at 294. Mattingly was tied for individual honors with Texas A&M's Steve Bowman, who also had a 69 over the 7.150-yard, par 72 Club Campestre golf course. Giff Moody of Texas Christian. Bobby Tway of Oklahoma State and Bill Israelson of Lamar all shot 70s.

Davis Holds Pressure Job

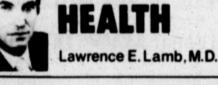

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Four Amendment. months after his heart attack Rep. Bob Davis competed hard for the high pressure chairmanship of the House Ways and Means Committee and won it. Davis, R-Irving, feels the pressure acutely this week as the committee opens hearings on implementing tax reductions

As chairman, he will try to balance the urban interests he represents and the rural interests defended by Clayton.

City dwellers want their "intangibles" - stocks, bonds and bank accounts - exempt from taxation, and rural legislators have introduced bills promised by the 1978 Tax Relief

True Blood Pressure

DEAR DR. LAMB - Why is there a difference in taking blood pressure when you are sitting or standing? What do you consider to be

DEAR READER - The two main factors controlling your blood pressure are how much blood is pumped out by your heart and how small (open or closed) your small arteries are. The artery size offers resistance to the blood flow, and if they are small, the blood pressure goes up.

The size of your arteries is affected by your posture. When you stand, the small arteries in your legs all contract, so all the blood won't run down into your legs. It's a reflex we've developed to adapt to the influence of gravity. Without it, we earth creatures would be in trouble.

Some people have a tendency to have lots of blood pool in their legs when they are standing. These people will have a marked drop in blood pressure if blood pressure is taken while they are standing.

The standard method of taking blood pressure is with the person seated and with the arm held at the level of the heart. If the arm is too high or too low, it will influence the blood pressure reading. The reading will also be influenced by whether the hearing piece is directly over the artery in the arm or not, and even by how the cuff is applied.

Actually, the most accurate blood pressure reading is probably taken with the patient lying down, because the entire artery and vein system is about level with the heart and so is the arm. This way you avoid a lot of the influences of gravity.

To give you more information about what affects your blood pressure, I am sending you The Health Letter num-24-year-old son recently passed away from left intracerebral hemorrhage. He was in perfect health, having just had a thorough physical examination in the past year. Although he was an engineer, he exercised faithfully several times a day, watched his diet carefully and did not smoke. Is this deadly affliction hereditary or does it mainly strike young people? I'd appreciate any information you can give me about this problem.

DEAR READER - I know your son's death must have been a shock to you. Such a hemorrhage is usually caused by a birth defect in one of the arteries. This defect usually doesn't affect the brain function and there's no way you can see it physically, so no one ever knows it's there until the sudden hemorrhage occurs. Rarely an enlarged artery in the brain may cause headaches and symptoms.

Since this is a birth defect, diet, physical fitness and not king doesn't have much to do with it. The sudden hemorrhage can occur at any age, but it does often occur in young people. If the individual is lucky, the hemorrhage is reasonably well controlled, and immediate medical assistance is available, the outcome may be happier. But often the sudden, severe hemorrhage inside the brain with no prior warning makes it impossible to do anything about it.

Davis makes no secret that he asked Speaker Bill Clayton for the chairmanship again and

"I talked to Clayton nearly every day after we got down here," says Davis, 37.

Rep. Tim Von Dohlen. D-Goliad, a rural representative like Clayton and sponsor of the Tax Relief Amendment, also wanted the chairmanship badly.

Davis said friends in the insurance lobby urged him to take a third term as chairman of the House Insurance Committee if he didn't get the ways and means appointment. "I said no, that if I couldn't be the ways and means chairman, I would like to help the governor with legislation or be free to run and sting like I did in 1973,"

Davis said. "Running and stinging" keeping House opponents off-balance with surprise attacks and devastating amendments in floor debates - has been Davis' style since 1973, when he arrived as a freshman legislator. Davis is a slightly overweight redhead, whose usually laidback manner conceals an intense dislike for being on the losing

"I don't play bridge any more. I am too competitive to play socially," he admits.

He regards himself virtually a full-time legislator. and says, "It's no secret I enjoy what I am doing." He also complains of the lack of time for reflection.

"I like to think. This pace down here isn't geared to that," Davis said in an interview.

Davis, father of five sons, had been water skiing with his family at Grapevine Lake on Labor Day when chest pains struck. He was rushed to a hospital, where doctors diagnosed an occlusion in the coronary artery:

He spent about 10 days in the hospital, and before election day was out campaigning again, this time at a pace prescribed by his doctors. He stopped smoking, but aides say he started again about two weeks after reporting to Austin for the legislative

Davis' committee will deal with easily understood questions such as wether to exempt two cars per family from property taxes.

'I imagine we'll probably do

But its biggest problems are complex ones.

What happens, for instance, if intangibles are left in the formula for deciding state aid to school districts?

Or, what is the fairest way to tax agricultural land on its productivity instead of its value on the real estate market?

It is generally assumed that intangibles will be dropped from the school aid formula, but only rural legislators get a generous deal on taxing farm and ranch land.

Most bills base productivity values on the five-year potential cash return per acre from a crop, divided by a capitalization rate. The most widely used capitalization rate is tied to interest rates on farm loans made by the Houston Federal Land Bank. The higher the capitalization rate, the lower the taxable value of a farm or ranch would be, and Davis says he favors a point or, two above the land bank's rate. That would be 10-12 percent.

But Von Dohlen has introduced a bill, apparently with Clayton's blessing, setting the capitalization rate at five points above the Federal Reserve discount rate, currently 9 percent.

Davis has the eye for detail and the quick recall that it takes to deal with the intracacies of taxation.

As chairman of a special committee that heard an election contest at the start of the session, he astounded observers with the way he could rattle off precinct numbers and vote totals.

During a recent briefing for ways and means members, one asked the size of the Permanent School Fund and its annual earnings. A Legislative Budget Board staffer couldn't answer, and before an expert could come forward, Davis said, "It's $2.1 billion, and the income is $300 million. It's in this little green book the comptroller's revenue summary here."

Born in Fort Worth, Davis moved as a child to Memphis, Tenn., and staved in Tennessee long enough to get chemical engineering and law degrees from Vanderbilt University.

"I decided in my junior year that I wanted to go to law school. Test tubes and fractionating columns don't talk back to you," he said.

Furniture Vote Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP) . A government safety agency put off a vote Thursday on regulating fire hazards in upholstered furniture to give the industry a chance to develop safer furniture on its own.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission gave the furniture industry until Monday to present an alternative to the federal regulation recommended by the agency staff. The alternative promised by the Upholstered Furniture Action Council will then be subject to six months of testing by the agency staff to see how effective it is before the commission decides whether to endorse it or promulgate a regulation.

"There is a very high incidence of injury and death due to fires caused by smoldering furniture," commission 'Chairwoman Susan King said. Usually, it is lighted cigarettes dropped onto sofas and chairs that cause these accidents.

The action by the fire commissioners came after a 15-minute recess in a meeting to deal with the furniture safety question. Commission staffers met with industry representatives during the recess and came back to tell of the industry commitment to deliver its alternative.

'We want to allow the industry to avoid a mandatory standard if it can come up with its own way of making furniture safe. But our patience is wearing thin," Ms. King said.

The government has been working on the problem since 1972. The Commerce Department was considering the problem before the safety commission was established in 1973 with jurisdiction over it.

Before the recess, Ms. King said, with industry members in the hearing room, "We've got to either fish or cut bait. We cannot delay indefinitely."

The regulation the commission was to have voted on would take effect a year after action by nother of those special events which is falsely assumed to be somewhat religious in origin is Valentine's Day, merely because of the martyrdom of two saints by the Roman Emperor Claudius on February 14th. However, despite this assumption and the overcommercialization of its present form, Valentine's Day has come down to us as an occasion for the expression of love, aimed at old and young alike. With the symbol of the heart, we are encouraged to show our affection and thereby bring a measure of happiness into the life of another person. Love in all its unselfish forms, mentioned throughout the Bible, is a priceless thing at any time; and by attending the Church of your choice you will learn the many beautiful aspects of it, beginning with God's love for all of us.
