Rain 'Springs' into Local Area

By JIM STEIERT Brand Farm Editor

Spring officially arrived in the Panhandle Wednesday, and Mother Nature proved generous on the first day of the new season, unleashing scattered thundershowers over widespread portions of Deaf Smith County.

Intermittent clouds and clearing were the order of the day Wednesday as brief cloudbursts were accompanied by periods of open skies.

Appreciable rainfall accumulations were scattered, but moisture fell within a wide radius of the City of Hereford, and should help a wheat crop here which has been smiled on by the elements since its planting last fall.

The heaviest rainfall accumulations in yesterday's rainstorms were recorded in Hereford proper.

A heavy downpour got the day off to a wet start in the morning hours, and the clouds opened up with another brief soaker during the afternoon.

Intermittent sprinkles continued through most of the day, and the day's moisture added up to 1.20 inches. according to KPAN radio.

The Holly Sugar Corporation's Hereford plant recorded .60 inches of rainfall, while Summerfield Fertilizer just west of the city reported .75 inches.

Rain was spotty over some sections of the dryland wheat ranges to the west of the city, with the Clint Homfeld farm 47 miles northwest of Hereford, near the New Mexico border reporting .50 inches of moisture from an afternoon shower. A total of .75 inches of precipitation was reported from Dawn Co-Op in that community, east of Hereford. Rainfall picked up again to the south of the city, with a spokesman for Easter Grain reporting one inch of rainfall in that community resulting from an all day soaker.

To the north of Hereford, a spokesman for Pioneer Fertilizer at Milo Center reported .30 inches of rain.

The Robert Lloyd farm 281/2 miles northwest of Hereford recorded .60 and Mrs. Lloyd indicated that heavier clouds moved off to the north and probably deposited greater amounts of Wednesday's showers were characteristic of spring and early summer weather here, complete with deep, rumbling thunderclaps and pea-sized hail.

While rainfall remained moderate in the local vicinity, heavy rains across other portions of the state prompted a flurry of flood warnings as forecasters predicted another round of evening storms to cap the first day of spring.

Texas highway 127 near Concan on the Frio River was closed because of flooding, as were several farm roads in Uvalde and Real counties.

Flash flood warnings were issued for the Corpus Christi and Aransas Pass areas after storms lashed those areas.

The heaviest rainfall report came from just north of Hondo, where 4 inches fell. The only dry part of the state was the southwest corner.

In Panhandle, rain was mixed with hail around Dalhart.

Temperatures were mostly in the 60s

Knesset Says Yes to Pact

JERUSALEM (AP). - Israel's Parliament gave its landslide endorsement to the peace treaty with Egypt early today, clearing the way for Prime Minister Menachem Begin and President Answar Sadat to sign the historic pact on Monday in Washington.

Capping an often-raucous 28-hour debate, the 120-member Knesset voted 95-18 in favor of the treaty that will end the 30-year state of war with Egypt, Israel's most populous Arab foe; return the Sinai Peninsula, captured from Egypt in 1967, and pave the way for limited Palestianian autonomy on the West Bank of the Jordan River and in the Gaza Strip.

Most of those voting against the treaty were nationalists, many from Begin's own Likud Party, who oppose return of the Sinai and the creation of a palestinian council to govern the .West Bank and Gaza. The tiny pro-Soviet Communist Party also opposed the pact, claiming it did not go far enough toward Palestinian independence.

Two deputies abstained, three others voted "present," and two were absent. Begin, grinning, told reporters the vote was "the largest majority the Knesset has ever given on a political issue."

President Carter sent congratulations saying, "Israel's Knesset spoke with a voice heard around the world - a voice for peace."

A few hours after the vote, Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan left for Washington to wrap up negotiations on a memorandum of understanding between Israel and the United States.

The question is....would the U.S. assume the responsibility and take not honor the agreement," Dayan told reporters as he left.

He said Defense Minister Ezer Weizman would follow him on Friday to negotiate the remaining dispute between Israel and Egypt - a timetable for giving up the offshore oil wells the Israelis developed in the Gulf of Suez off the Sinai

Israeli officials have repeatedly said the oil issue is unlikely to hold up the treaty signing, but the Jerusalem Post reported the issue is proving difficult. It said Israel wants to keep pumping oil from the wells until it begins its pullout from Sinai nine months after the treaty is signed. Egypt wants the pumps stopped immediately and has asked Israel to hand over the field in six months, the Post said.

Begin stepped to the Knesset's rosewood rostrum shortly before 4 a.m. -9 p.m. EST - to deliver a speech concluding the emotional debate.

"There is joy that we have reached this day," he said. "There is worry for the future. There is trembling in our hearts it is perfectly natural.

"With all this, there is recognition that we have reached a certain turning point...all of us together want to achieve that goal, there is none more simple or more humanitarian: Shalom - Peace."

Begin proposed that he and Sadat shuttle between Cairo and Jerusalem on Monday, April 2 to sign Hebrew and Arabic trety texts. Asked whey he chose that day, Begin quipped, "Because Sunday is April Fool's Day." He said he would take up his proposal with Sadat in Washington.

In Cairo, Egyptian Vice President Hosni Mubarak discounted the possibility of Begin visiting Cairo to sign the treaty.

"Let us leave his visit to circumstances," he said. "....Let us first sign the treaty in Washington and start the talks for Palestinian self-rule."

Egypt and Israel have agreed to start those negotiations one month after the treaty is signed.

Feds Try To Assure Farmers That Food Programs Won't Hurt

WASHINGTON (AP) - In an attempt to calm fears and in decision among farmers, the administration is assuring them that they will not be sacrificed in a scramble to dampen food price increases and curb inflation.

Alfred Kahn, the president's chief inflation adviser, says he is cooperating with the Agriculture Department in what he called "very intensive, monitoring activity and prices to determine what is making them go higher. "We have no quarrel with the American farmer." he said. "The anti-inflation program depends heavily on American farmers having ample incentives to expand production. Kahn, appearing Wednesday at a news conference with Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland, discounted rumors that the administration might be ready to set price controls on beef and other agricultural commodities. "We are not prey to the illusion that we can solve the problems of inflation in food prices ... by imposing price controls. which are surely counterproductive, or by creating uncertainties in the minds of farmers." Kahn said.

Bergland, also attempting to clear away some rumors that have persisted about farm programs, outlined how he and Kahn are working together to "trace the increases in farm commodity prices from the farm gate to the grocery store" and to identify where unjustifiable increases occur.

Asked what effect consumers might expect from his and Bergland's efforts, Kahn replied, "I'm not in the business of

"We intend to take a balanced approach to examining ways in which we can reduce the high inflation rates in food prices," Kahn said.

Senate To Consider College-Loan Program

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - John Ackley of the U.S. Office of Education says, for the first time, the federal government is admitting Texas and other states can do something better than it can.

Ackley promoted a proposal Wednesday that would establish a public non-profit corporation to guarantee college student loans from private.

The Senate Education Committee approved the bill, 9-0, and sent it to the full Senate.

Committee chairman Osca Mauzy, D-Dallas, offered the measure. He said it had been recommended by a special committee set up by the 1977 Legislature.

Texas already has a state-financed loan program for students who are unable to obtain money from private lenders.

Congress voted in 1976 to provide states with incentives to administer private loan programs after so many problems developed in the federal program that many private lenders refused to participate. Those incentives include the federal government's guarantee that it will cover all the state's costs when a student defaults on a loan, as well as provide start-up money and an allowance for administrative expenses. Ackley said 39 states are administering private loan guarantee programs, and Washington and Missouri are expected to do so within four months. Only Wyoming, he said, "has initiated no action or shown any inclination" to develop such a "Why should Texas do this?" he asked. "Well, my testimony might come

Corporate Profits

Incorrectly Stated

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Associated Press erroneously reported Wednesday that corporate profits increased 26.4 percent in 1978. The actual increase for the year was 16.2 percent.

Commerce Department figures showed that profits in the fourth quarter, which totalled $225.3 billion at a seasonally adjusted annual rate, were up 9.6 percent over the third quarter and 26.4 percent over the fourth quarter in 1977.

However, a fourth quarter to fourth quarter increase of 26.4 percent means only that profits were that much higher when comparing those two periods. without taking into account the profits of the intervening quarters.

Profits in the first quarter had declined from the final quarter of 1977, then rose sharply in the second quarter. They eased slightly in the third quarter before increasing to the $225.3 billion seasonally adjusted annual fourth quarter figures.

The Commerce Department said actual profits during 1978 were $202.1 billion. which was an increase of 16.2 percent over actual 1977 profits of $173.9 billion.

The computation of fourth quarter profits at an annual rate of $225.3 billion means that if that level of earnings were maintained for a year, the profits would equal $225.3 billion.

The records were to have been presented to a special session of the Tarrant County grand jury Wednesday afternoon and returned this morning.

Pork Prices May Ease in Future

WASHINGTON (AP) - More hogs are on the nation's farms now than at any time in the last eight years, meaning producers and consumers can expect prices to ease somewhat in the coming months, says the Agriculture Depart-

But the meat-price updraft caused by soaring cattle prices the last year is so strong that department officials say they are uncertain about the overall effects of the larger pork supply.

It appears likely, however, that retail pork prices soon will be declining at least slightly while beef prices continue up or at least hold near their current record

"We may want to eat porkburgers" instead of hamburgers once in a while," one official said.

As of March 1, hogs and pigs on farms in 14 key states that produce about 85 percent of the nation's pork, had inventories totaling 50.5 million head, a 13 percent increase from a year ago, the report said. That was the largest March 1 total since 1971.

More significantly for producers and consumers, were figures that showed the 'pig crop' born during the winter - from Dec. 1 through Feb. 28 - totaled 18.3 million head, up 17 percent from a year

British Ambassador Killed in Netherlands

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) - The British ambassador to the Netherlands, Sir Richard Sykes, and his valet died in a hospital today after being shot outside the ambassador's residence by two unidentified men who escaped, the Dutch radio reported.

The two gunmen opened fire as Sykes, 57, was about to get into his Rolls Royce for the 10-minute drive to the British Embassy and the valet was holding the door open for him.

Police said three shots were fired, the ambassador was hit at least once and one bullet struck the valet.

The two gunmen made their escape through a nearby alley and disappeared into the morning rush-hour traffic. Eyewitnesses said they were between 35 and 40 years old and were dressed in dark

There was no immediate indication of the motive for the attack.

"We have not received any threats, and there have been no claims since the shooting," a spokesman at the British Embassy said.

However, officials in London considered Sykes an expert on security for British diplomats abroad, and in 1976 the government sent him to Dublin to investigate the killing of Ambassador Christopher Ewart Biggs by a land mine at the entrance to the grounds of the embassy residence.

No More Service Stations

There will be no more service stations.

There will be more and more do-it-yourself "filling stations," but the two-bay service station where you got gas, oil, grease, air, radiator and battery water and most minor repairs - that kind of service and that kind of station is phasing out forever.

The day when any gas station attendant could tune your car with a $35 timing light and a $50 dwell meter is gone!

Then, with $100 worth of tools, you could work on any car.

The petroleum industry is weary of being unfairly and publicly mean-mouthed despite stifling over-regulation. It has gradually learned to make itself comfortable with some regulatory practice, even unethically to take advantage of them.

Phaseout of Oil As Fuel Foreseen

MEXICO CITY (AP) - A United Nations expert predicts that oil and natural gas producing nations will use increasingly less of those valuable resources for fuel, channeling them instead into lucrative chemical production.

'Oil is too valuable to burn as fuel," Dr. Mohamed E. Halfawy of Egypt said in an interview. He was one of 250 experts from 80 countries at a recent meeting on the petrochemical industry sponsored by the U.N. Industrial Development Organization or UNIDO.

Approximately 4.5 percent of the crude oil now produced is used to make petrochemicals. A report issued by the U.N. conference said the percentage will go up to 10 by 1985 and keep growing at a huge rate until the turn of the century.

Petrochemicals include a number of synthetic materials - especially plastics - that have large worldwide use. Ethelene and propylene, derived from crude oil, are basic components of plastics. Aromatics, benzene and xylene are used in fibers like nylon, dacron and rayon. Butadiene is used in synthetic rubber. Methanol. also derived from crude oil, is the ingredient for formol, a key constituent of adhesives. World consumption of ethelene is roughly double that of propylene or benzene.

Halfawy predicted that developing nations - which produce the bulk of the petroleum now used as fuel by industrialized countries - will expand their petrochemical industries, despite efforts that he and other experts claim are being made by multi-national corporations to resist that.

"Western nations must realize that oil-producing nations are going to set up petrochemical plants. It is their legitimate right. It is their raw material," he said. Currently,

Mexico is one leading oil and gas producer that is expanding its petrochemical industry.

Halfawy claims these nations aim to have 25 percent of the world petrochemical market by the turn of the century and warned there could be a glut in petrochemicals if the industrialized nations do not cooperate in coordinating production.

"Most of the world's oil is in developing countries. Industries based on those raw materials should be natural choices to substantially increase the Third World total of petrochemicals production," he said.

"Does it make sense to take natural gas from the Middle East, liquify it at great expense transport it thousands of miles, store it, re-gasify it and then use it as feedstock for petrochemicals?" Halfawy asked.

"Why don't the multi nationals go into joint ventures with developing nations build plants close to the site of the raw materials?" That way there would be full utilization," he added.

"Instead, most of the best stock for petrochemical plants is being flared."

Halfawy claimed that "industrial nations are more understanding of the plight of the Third World than they were 10 years ago. But they will too often use the argument they are free-market societies and they have no control over what policies their multi - national

Reading is encouraged at Stanton in marry ways. Some teachers order paperbacks regularly for students. This allows the students to purchase books at a lower than usual rate. Our library has new titles quite often and most of our English and Social Studies classes read books and short stories during classtime from time to time.

Quite often, students receive extra credit for reading and reporting on books.

In a recent poll at SJH, these books were among those selected as SJH bestsellers: 'The Amityville Horror,'' 'Karen," "Beyond and Back," 'Brian's Song," "Death Be Not Proud." "Miracle Worker." A seven-year-old Philadelphia girl, Claire Huckel, has been named the 1979 National Easter Seal Child.

A first-grader in the Pen Ryn

School in Cornwells Heights, Claire is an active youngster and a living testimonial of the value of early diagnosis and treatment of a disabling condition. Her father, Charles Huckel, is a high school teacher and also coaches soccer and basketball as a playground leader with the city's department of recreation.

Her mother, a registered nurse, said she "knew something was wrong with Claire when she was three months old. She was unable to roll over and was spastic."

Ann Landers First-Kiss Story

DEAR ANN: I'd like to say a word to the girl whose boyfriend laid a sloppy, wet goodnight kiss on her. She signed her letter "Turned Off." Maybe this letter will help her as well as other young girls. They need to understand a few basic things about life, and maybe I can

When I was 16, I was terribly shy, but more of a man physically than a boy. I was awfully crazy about a certain girl and I had been dying to kiss her for three months before I finally got up enough nerve to try. It was a beautiful moonlit night and I was driving her home from a party. When I walked her to the door, I lingered a while making small talk. Finally I said good night. She turned her face up and closed her eyes. I read this as the invitation I'd been waiting for. When I bent down for my first romantic kiss, my nose hit her nose, my front tooth bumped her lip and I bit her.

Thank the good Lord she had a wonderful sense of humor. She also knew I was embarrassed to death. The dear girl started to laugh and so did I. At that moment I was so grateful for her compassion and understanding that she endeared herself to me forever. Eight years later we were married.

When I read the letter in your column from the girl who complained because the guy's first kiss was like amateur night, I knew I had to write in defense of every shy, awkward Romeo in the world. -- Constant Reader

DEAR READER: What a heartwarmer! And now if anyone else has a first-kiss story with a moral, let's have it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That letter signed the "Other Woman" reminded me of the hell I went through for seven years. My case was a little different, however. The Other Woman was my mother-in-law.

Harry and his mother discussed everything. The only way I could hear about our or weekend n to listen to Harry talk to his mother on the telephone. Strangely enough, she was not a widow. Her husband was alive and well -- and living with her.

Every time we had an argument, Harry would get mad and move back to his mother's place. This happened so many times I lost count. Whenever he left, the children and I would go into panic and we felt helpless and abandoned. Two years ago, I got so sick and tired of his moods and his

All are good values. FRESH VEGETABLES --Among most economical items are carrots, sweet potatoes, squash and rutabagas. Also. onions, potatoes, cucumbers, and broccoli.

Broccoli, reaching its quality 'peak", is best when the bud clusters are tightly closed with no yellow or purple color showing. Choose dark-green or purplish stalks and leaves, and be sure stalks are tender-firm but not tough and woody.

Cooking greens -- collards, spinach, mustard and turnips -have larger supplies and better quality with prices a bit lower.

Eggplant shows larger supplies and some lower prices. Cabbage has high prices and just ordinary quality.

Final Four Coaches Discuss Possibilities

By DOUG TUCKER AP Sports Writer

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) -Michigan State Coach Jud Heathcote says he's got the best team in the NCAA Final Four, but he hates being favored and his players are off-limits to the news media until after their semifinal game Saturday against Penn.

The Spartans arrived in Salt Lake Wednesday, a day ahead of the other three finalists in the NCAA Basketball Tournament. and Heathcote immediately served notice their practices would be closed.

"We are out here early to get away from all the distractions surfacing at this time," he said Wednesday in a telephone news conference with the head coaches of the other three finalists.

"We've had a number of columnists in our area indicate there is no need even to come out here...that we've won it already. We hope they're right, but we don't think that's the kind of columns that we want our players reading at the present time."

When the Spartans were ranked NO. 1 during the regular season for two weeks, Heathcote said, "we lost four of six games."

"I'm not blaming the accolades heaped on the club at that time." he said. "but I think there was a tendency to think we could win without defense and intensity, which have been our strengths the entire year."

Despite Heathcote's claims that top-ranked and unbeaten Indiana State should be favored, he feels his 24-4 Spartans. energized by brilliant guard Earvin "Magic" Johnson and high-scoring forward Greg Kelser, should win.

"We're coming into the tournament with the worst won-loss record of all the teams, Heathcote's Spartans are favored by as many as 17 points in their Saturday tipoff against lvy League champion Penn, and Indiana State is favored over DePaul in their semifinal. Saturday's losers will play for third-place Monday followed by the championship game.

Penn Coach Bob Weinhauer said he's figured out how to stop Johnson and Kelser.

"We're going to play three on Magic and two on Greg," he said, "and try to leave everybody else alone. Quite honestly, I think Johnson is a great player. He's a much more dangerous person when he's putting the ball on the floor and trying to make something happen. Kelser is a tremendous leaper. The thing I don't like about him is it looks like he shoots equally well from the outside and the inside."

"We have not settled on any direct matchups as yet." Weinhauer said. "In fact, we'll probably zone more than man. The thing that's important for us to remember is that they are not a two-man team."

DePaul, which zipped through three tournament victories with its starting five playing virtually every minute, may not have forward Curtis Watkins at full strength, said Coach Ray

The 6-foot-6 senior forward, Meyer's choice to guard Indiana State All-American Larry Bird, suffered strained knee ligaments in the final minutes of DePaul's West Regional victory over UCLA last Saturday.

"He extended all the ligaments on the inside of his knee," said Meyer. "It's very painful and he's been working on weights trying to build up the strength. He can run around the gym, turning left, but he has a Mayor Richard Daley.

lot of pain turning to his right. But each day he says it's getting better and better. I don't know how well it will be by Saturday. Yesterday I would have said he would not play Saturday. But he ran today for the first time, and shot a ball today for the first

"I know we're taking an awful gamble on Mark fouling out," Meyer said. "But Mark is such a great athlete he always rises to the occasion."

Indiana State's first-year head coach, Bill Hodges, the Associated Press Coach of the Year, admitted he feels strange doing battle with the esteemed Meyer, a 37-year coaching giant who will be enshrined into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame next month.

"Ray Meyer has probably forgotten more about basketball than I've learned yet," said Hodges. "There isn't anyone I've ever met in coaching who has more class than Ray does. He's probably the most renowned man in Chicago since the Whitefaces, Derek Dirks and Charlie Kerr were top golfers with a 168, followed by Greg Robinson-172, Dee Hairgrove-180 and Curt Beard-182.

District play will resume this Friday in Hereford with a round of 18 holes being played at the municipal course, After two rounds of district, Monterey has a commanding 617 lead over second place Coronado with a 641. Hereford is in sixth with a 676. The JV squad is in eighth with a 717 total.

Knight Strategy Wins NIT For Hoosiers

NEW YORK (AP) - The Indiana Hoosiers wanted to stop Joe Barry Carroll and they succeeded, but that isn't what gave them the championship of the National Invitational Tournament.

Carroll was held to 14 points after scoring 42 in Purdue's semifinal victory over Alabama. But while the Boilermakers' all-Big Ten center was held in check. Indiana's own all conference performer, Mike Woodson, got only 10 points on 5-of-6 shooting.

Obviously, since the two teams had already played each other twice before Wednesday night, they knew exactly what to do to stop the other.

So in the end, one Indiana shot that went in and one Boilermaker shot that didn't determined the outcome.

Butch Carter hit a 20-foot jumper with six seconds left to give Indiana a 53-52 victory, a triumph not clinched until senior Jerry Sichting's baseline shot bounced off the back of the rim at the buzzer.

"They concentrated on Woodson and we obviously improved their road record to and it showed in the statistics." said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight, who won the NIT in his seventh try, twice as coach at Indiana and five times at Army, dating back to 1964.

concentrated hard on Carroll,

Woodson, whom Knight called "the best player ever who didn't even get honorable mention All-American," was supposed to get the final shot for the Hoosiers, although Knight said Carter and Randy Wittman were alternate choices if Woodson was covered.

That was the case, so Carter, who scored 12 points along with fellow Most Valuable Player Ray Tolbert, launched the game -

A little more than a minute earlier and with Purdue ahead 52-51. Carter had climaxed a 31/2 minute stall by Indiana that ran the clock from 4:30 to 1:10 by throwing an interception. But he insisted he wasn't thinking of the error in the closing seconds.

"I was taught that if you make a bad play you don't think about it or you'll make another bad play," said Carter. "So I wasn't about to redeem myself with that shot. If you think about a bad play you might made a bad foul or another pad pass."

But Knight said of his 6-foot-5 junior guard, "I think he was really upset after the interception, but he came back and two good plays - the foul on Carroll and the shot."

The 7-foot-1 Carroll, who hit only two of eight free throws. was fouled by Carter near mid-court after Carter's bad pass. But with a chance to salt the game away for the Boilermakers, Carroll missed the first of a 1-and-1 free throw opportunity and Indiana got the rebound.

Knight said of the unorthodox stall, "I've never held the ball like that when I was behind. But with us one point down I was content to hold the ball and reduce it to a 20-second game

Cunningham To Resign

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Gary Cunningham, who guided UCLA to Pacific-10 basketball championships each of his two years as head coach of the Bruins, was scheduled to announce his resignation at a press conference today.

It was confirmed Wednesday that Cunningham was quitting the coaching job, and sources close to the Bruins' athletic program said he will take an administrative post at the

His decision came as a surprise, and an informed source said Cunningham did not like the pressure of the UCLA coaching job, where success is still measured against John Wooden's 10 NCAA championships in 12 years.

Cunningham's Bruin teams had a two-year record of 50-8, but lost in the NCAA West Regional playoffs each year. This year's team made it to the NCAA regional finals before losing to DePaul.

By JIM O'CONNELL Associated Press Writer

You really can't blame Atlanta Hawks Coach Hubie Brown if he refuses to leave his spot in front of the Hawks' bench in The Omni.

After Wednesday's 111-104 Hawk triumph over the Detroit Pistons, Atlanta has won 13 consecutive home games and 31 home contests during the season. The 31 home wins breaks a franchise record that dates to 1962-63.

The credit for the Hawks has to go to reserve forward Steve Hawes. He scored 10 of his 19 points in the fourth quarter, including three straight field goals that gave the Hawks an 87-83 lead, one they never relinquished.

In other National Basketball Association action Wednesday, Washington defeated New York 119-105; San Antonio beat Kansas City 123-116; Philadelphia swept the Texas teams on consecutive nights, beating Houston 114-108; Phoenix blasted Boston 134-113; San Diego eliminated Golden State from the playoffs 106-103, and Portland scored a rare road win in Los Angeles, 114-110.

Bullets 119, Knicks 106

Although missing two starters and their top reserve, the Bullets rallied behind Elvin Hayes' 30 points and 22 rebounds to beat the Knicks. Kevin Grevey, Bobby Dandridge and Mitch Kupchak all missed their second straight game but Greg Ballard and Dave Corzine each chipped in with 15 points as the Bullets won their fourth in a row. streak.

The 76ers took a 45-34 advantage midway through the second quarter before Calvin Murphy and Moses Malone led a Rocket comeback to give Houston a 54-53 halftime lead.

The score was tied twelve times in the third period before Philadelphia scored the last eight points of the quarter to take an 87-81 lead.

Houston pulled within one point three times in the final quarter, but the 76ers outscored the Rockets nine-to-two late in the quarter to break the game

"I think we're gaining momentum," said Erving. "We have played well this season, but there's always room for improvement."

The loss dropped Houston two games behind San Antonio in the NBA Central Division.

Malone led Houston with 26 points and 21 rebounds and Murphy added 24 points.

The triumph left Philadelphia one game behind the Atlanta Hawks in the race for the home advantage in the qualifying rounds of the playoffs.

Suns 134, Celtics 113

Walter Davis, Paul Westphal and Alvan Adams combined for 84 points as the Suns swamped the Celtics, who played without player-coach Dave Cowens. Phoenix built a 22-point lead midway through the second quarter and coasted the rest of the way.

Clippers 106, Warriors 103 Lloyd Free hit the 30-point mark for the 29th time this season and became the secon player to reach the 2,000 point mark as the Clippers sailed past Golden State.

COMMENTARY

Donald F. Graff A fighting question

To draft or not to draft?

That is a question which could shortly become a major public issue. It is already being raised seriously in Congress, where House hearings have begun on several proposals to reinstitute either limited conscription or, at a minimum, compulsory registration. There is a good chance that one or more will be reaching the floor for debate within the next few months.

The draft, which for a third of a century was a rite of passage for American males entering adulthood, may now seem like ancient history. But it was not until 1973 that the system was laid to rest.

It did not go unmourned. Questions even then were raised as to the wisdom of trading what in theory at least was a citizen's Army for a professional force, the allvolunteer Army which succeeded it. Wouldn't it be too expensive? Wouldn't it have difficulty meeting manpower goals and draw so heavily for recruits on blacks and the economically underprivileged blacks that it would be in effect "ghettoized?"

Although the official stand of the Pentagon is that the volunteer Army is working, many critics today would say that time has provided an answer to all of the above: Yes. A major problem - "crisis" is the way some are putting it - is in the Ready Reserve, the manpower pool which would provide immediate replacements for combat units in the event of hostilities. According to some estimates, it is a half-million men below strength.

Proposals now under consideration range from the minimal - merely registering all men 18 to 26 - to a comprehensive program for men and women. Eighteenyear-olds of both sexes would be required to serve the nation for one year either in the military or in a civilian capacity along the lines of the present Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA) program.

The question so far is one for study, but it has the potential of generating considerable heat, particularly if prolonged congressional debate should spill over into next year's presidential election.

Congress is likely to find it considerably easier to sell itself on a new draft than the public. To a new generation of conscriptable Americans that has come of age and to its parents, the draft is indeed history and most probably much prefer that it remain exactly that

One casualty of the general upheaval in the Mideast is not likely to be mourned, if even noticed outside of a handful of foreign offices.

Iran says it intends to pull out of the Central Treaty Organization and neighboring Pakistan has just done so. That leaves just three nominal members - the United States, Britain and Turkey — of CENTO, once envisaged as the vital link in Free World defenses between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on the West and the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization in the East.

It was a grand scheme, a product of former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' fervent belief that the Communist threat could be contained by a wall of paper alliances. But that's about all it ever amounted to — a scheme.

CENTO lost much of its meaning shortly after it was formed in 1955 by the revolution in a key member, Iraq, which switched allegiance from the West to the Soviets. SEATO - with the United States, Britain, France, Pakistan, Thailand, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand as signatories — disintegrated under the strains of the Vietnam war.

The grand scheme of alliances is now back to square one - NATO - which is probably where it should have remained.

T-S Cattle Raisers Assn. Defines Beef Prices, Target Issues During 102nd Annual Convention

FORT WORTH - The average American consumer. despite inflation and rising beef prices, can buy more beef today with one hour's wages than he or she could 30 years ago.

This startling statistic did not fall on deaf ears at the 102nd annual convention and trade show of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers analyst with Cattle-Fax, Den-Association March 11-13 in Houston at the Albert Thomas Convention Center. TSCRA President John B. Armstrong of Kingsville, Texas, who speaks for 13,000 cattlemen in Texas, Oklahoma and surrounding states, told the 1,550 cattlemen in attendance that "the American public needs to be aware that one hour's wages, er taxes, will buy one and p-thirds pounds of beef ay, compared to nine-tenths pound in 1949.

I'm talking about average capita disposable income ," he said. Refuting claims beef prices at the retail are "too high," the South as rancher said, "Beef today a better buy and more tritious than at any time in ent history.'

Insure of what cattle and prices may do in the ths ahead and concerned ut consumer reaction to ail prices, the cattlemen rd conflicting reports from omists and market analysts speaking at the convention.

University, predicted that cattle prices will drop sharply in the next few months and will recover to about the $65 mark for fed cattle in the second and third quarters of 1979. currently, fed cattle are selling for $72 per hundredweight.

Deanna White, marketing ver-based marketing arm of the National Cattlemen's Association, agreed live animal prices will drop soon, but predicted a very strong rebound--$80 per hundredweight for fed cattle.

For consumers, either prediction means beef prices at the supermarket will not drop below current levels for the rest of the Cattlemen, who have endured "bankruptcy" prices for their cows and calves for the last five years, however, can look forward to a strong market for the next three or four years, while they rebuild their herds.

Texas Governor Bill Clements, also a cattleman and the first Republican governor of Texas ever to speak to the cattlemen's association, said 'The final and only long-term answer for prosperity for our farmers and ranchers is open, free markets of the world, at fair market prices." Clements said that U.S. Trade Ambassador Bob Strauss had assured him that farmers and ranchers were ahead in the economist from Texas A&M added, "I'm waiting for him to prove it to me."

The governor revealed plans to take a Texas agricultural trade mission to Russia in 1979. His entourage would include Tobin Armstrong, his state agency appointments advisor, a South Texas rancher and TSCRA director, he said.

Also addressing the convention's general sessions were Shana Alexander, the distaff side of CBS News' "60 Minutes" and "Point-Counterpoint"; Dr. Charles Jarvis, humorist; and John Armstrong.

U.S. Congressman Tom Foley (D-Wash.), chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, told the board of directors Sunday that passage of a counter-cyclical meat import bill is quite likely this year. President Carter vetoed similar legislation last year because it restricted his powers to manipulate import levels. The new legislation, favored by cattlemen, provides for more foreign beef when domestic supplies are low, and less imports when American cattlemen are producing more beef.

In Tuesday's final session, the cattlemen approved resolutions calling for the National Cattlemen's Association to join chemical companies and other user organizations in filing a lawsuit against the Environmental Protection Agency for banning the use of the herbicide international trade talks, but he 2,4,5-T on forest, cultivated pastures, rights-of-way and in domestic areas. Ranchers, who 1976 Tax Reform Act be use the chemical agent in brush control, are challenging EPA claims linking the herbicide to an incident in Oregon where women allegedly exposed to it plan to reorganize the U.S. had miscarriages.

TSCRA members also urged that the carryover basis of the repealed because it is "an administrative nightmare and an unfair tax burden."

The Carter Administration's Department of Agriculture also came under fire. TSCRA strongly opposes the transfer of the U.S. Forest Service and other agencies to the Department of Interior and recommends, instead, that the Bureau of Land Management be transferred from Interior to USDA to improve and consolidate land management related agencies. Reorganization of USDA is considered as further erosion of the department's cabinet status.

TSCRA voted to support passage of a cooperative rangeland research act which would provide funds to qualified state universities on a matching basis for research in rangeland management. Rangelands occupy 50 percent of the surface area of the United States and produce large quantities of forage inedible by man, but readily convertible by grazing animals into high quality protein for human consumption. The cattle raisers re-elected Armstrong as their president, along with John S. Cargile of San Angelo as first vice president, Frates Seeligson of. San Antonio as second vice, president, and Don C. King of Fort Worth as secretary-general manager. They elected as new board members Chip Briscoe of

Deaf Smith Water Table Shows 1.44 Ft. Decline

By JIM STEIERT Brand Farm Editor

The water level changed an average of 1.26 feet from January 1978 through January 1979 in a network of 800 wells measured annually by the High. Plains Underground Water Conservation District in its 15 county service area.

The water table declined an average of 1.44 feet in the 89 wells measured in Deaf Smith County, bringing the total decline from the 1969-1979 period to 22.31 feet, and the total decline for the past five years here to 13.11 feet. according to the district's Average depth-to-water below land surface in the water level observation wells measured in 1979 was 166.01 feet.

"The overall 1.26 feet change measures favorably with the five year average change of 1.64 feet and the 10 year average change of 1.45 feet," according to a water district spokesman. Water district officials attribute the reduced rate of decline in the water table to improved water conservation practices utilized by farmers and other users, and the fact that high energy costs are prompting a reduction in irrigation pumping. Other district counties and their average decline or gain for all water level observation wells measured for the 1978-79 period

Armstrong, plus .05 feet; Bailey, minus 1.47 feet; Castro, minus 1.87 feet; Cochran, minus .10 feet; Crosby, minus 2.28 feet; Floyd, minus 1.64 feet; hale, minus 1.35 feet; Hockley, minus .82 feet; Lamb, minus 2.70 feet; Lubbock, minus 1.36 feet; Lynn, minus 1.29 feet; Parmer, minus 3.28 feet; Potter, minus .40 feet; and Randall, recently. plus 1.07 feet.

The 10 year average of water depletion for the district amounted to a decline of 14.57 feet, while the five year average waterholes dry up.

Water district studies of observation wells throughout its 15-county service area help to chart the rate of decline in the Ogallala Aquifer, which is the major water bearing sand formation supplying irrigation region. . Information on the decline rate is used in tax tables and other business-related manners, and is also a factor in efforts to secure a new source of water for the High Plains to replace the diminishing Ogallala.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says he intends to push hard in coming months to make the structure of agriculture a prime topic for debate by the time Congress takes up new basic farm legislation in 1981.

Moreover, he said, this has the support of White House officials who have been advised of Bergland's concern that government farm programs are not working well to help smaller family farmers.

Bergland disclosed his concerns about the future of agriculture in a speech March 12 in Kansas City, Mo. In it, he asked for a "full-scale national dialogue" about the structure of agriculture - how it is made up and where it is heading.

"The government's farm policy has never been based on any kind of objective structural analysis." he said at an Agriculture Day program.

"It's only been reacting to problems that develop on a short-term, ad hoc basis."

As he did in Kansas City, Bergland explained that one of the first things to be decided is whether "family farming" should be maintained as the basis for agriculture policy

If the family farm is to remain paramount in policy decisions, 'then we've got to re-examine the role of price supports" made available by the government, Bergland said.

"I mean who benefits most by high price supports? A farm that sells half a million bushels of wheat or a farm that sells 200: The answer is obvious."

Bergland said that big farms - most of them family operated - have production advantages and economies of scale and are able to use tax laws to such advantage that "no starting farm family can compete in that

China Purchases U.S. Soybean Oil

WASHINGTON (AP) -China has bought an additional 20,000 metric tons of soybean oil from the United States, according to the Agriculture Department.

The oil had been reported as going to China from "optional origins," which means it could come from sources other than the United States.

But officials said Monday private exporters had reported the soybean oil has been shifted to U.S. origin. That boosted the amount of oil China has bought from the United States to 40,000 said.

metric tons in 1978-79. An additional 40,000 metric tons still is listed as coming from optional origins.

A metric ton is about 2,205

China also has bought about 2.9 million metric tons of U.S. wheat for delivery in 1978-79 and another 1.5 million for 1979-80. About 3.1 million metric tons of corn for delivery this year also has been sold, along with 118,000 metric tons of soybeans and 549,000 bales of U.S. cotton, the department

Friona Industries Has 25% Dividend

DALLAS - A 25 percent stock dividend on the common shares of Friona Industries, Inc. was approved by the company's board of directors at a meeting in Dallas March 16.

The stock dividend will be paid April 13, 1979, to shareholders of record as of March 31, 1979. Fractional shares will be paid in cash. Currently, the company has 1,257,300 shares outstanding. Following the 25 percent stock dividend, there will be a total of 1,571,625 common shares out-

Directors also voted a 10 cents per share quarterly cash dividend on the common stock. It is payable May 3, 1979, to under the symbol FI.

shareholders of record as of April 18, 1979. This represents a 25 percent increase over the previous quarterly cash dividend based on the new shares issued as a result of the stock

For the six months ended December 31, 1978, Friona reported net income of $2.3 million, or $1.80 per share, on $892,000 or 71 cents per share, on revenues of $32.6 million in the same period of last year:

On December 14, 1978, trading in the common shares of Friona Industries began on the American Stock Exchange

Cotton Growers Attack Ag Research Cutbacks-

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, is joining other cotton interest organizations across the Cotton Belt in protest of the Administration's proposed reductions in Federal cotton research for 1980.

The President's 1980 budget calls for cutting $3.42 million out of agricultural research funds, with $1,647,000 of that, almost half, to come from research on cotton and cottonseed.

These severe cuts contrast sharply with the 7.7 percent overall increase in the President's budget and with a proposed increase in the budgets of seven of ten other Federal research agencies.

"So we can only conclude," says Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President, "that agricultural research in general has been singled out for more than its share of the sacrifice that may be necessary to the Administration's drive for a balanced budget, and that within agriculture the President would make cotton a special whipping boy."

In 1973 a joint USDA-State-Industry task force recommended that the number of scientist years devoted to cotton research be increased to 691. In 1977 Title XIV of the Farm Act recognized research as a high priority government function and authorized five $115 million annual increases in Federal research funds for that purpose.

All of this has been ignored, along with the generally accepted principle that research is one of the most effective ways to improve efficiency and therefore fight inflation. Instead of an increase, the number of scientist years in USDA-State cotton research efforts where Federal funds account for almost 80 percent of the total has dropped from 504 in 1970 to about 400. The current proposal would reduce scientist years another 15 to 20 if it gets Congres-

"Cotton needs more research, not less." says Johnson. "And our research needs have been made even more urgent by government itself - through ill-advised administration of the current cotton program and by government-imposed pesticide restrictions, cotton dust and flammability standards and other regulatory actions."

Hearings on the President's proposal are to be held in late March or early April by both House and Senate Agricultural Appropriations Subcommittees.

the family farm."

Bergland said, "I think on a close examination we'll find that those benefits tend to flow to the very largest farms in greater proportion than to the smallest

A review of this kind, he said, should be made "to get set for serious farm debate that we've undertaken in my generation" when the present Food and Agriculture Act expires in 1981.

Bergland said the White House was "fully aware" of what he said in Kansas City before the speech was delivered and that "they thought it made good sense and were delighted that we're starting to talk seriously about some basic structure issues" in agriculture.

AMPI to Probe Food Price Issues

SAN ANTONIO Combatting vital to the dairy industry and charges that dairy products are which will be considered by the expensive will be the major issue to be considered at the annual meeting of the Associated Milk Producers, Inc. April 5-7 in suburban Chicago.

"Milk would cost $1.09 a quart if it had increased as much as medical costs since 1967," said Irvin Elkin, Amery, Wisc., president of the regional dairy

The constant harrassment of farmers over food costs by consumers and the media each time the cost of living index goes up is an insult, according to Elkin. Attacks upon Federal Milk Orders as being inflationary ignore dairy's performance in holding food prices down.

"The fact is that the average U.S. factory worker for the same time investment can buy a third more bread, four times more chicken, twice as much milk, butter and eggs, and 50 percent more pork than in 1950 and milk products have increased in-price less than have all foods." Elkin AMPI will throw its resources into a new year-long effort to educate consumers, Congress and the media about the efficiency of the American farmer in keeping food costs at reasonable levels, he revealed. More than 2.500 persons.

They are the price support level, imitation dairy product labeling, dairy imports as proosed under the Multilateral Trade talks, and changes in co-op laws to weaken the bargaining power of farmers.

The 10 year old milk marketing cooperative is comprised of three operating regions, including the Southern, North Central and Mid-States. Corporate headquarters is in San Antonio, Texas.

Milk Price Support revenues of $51.4 million. This compared with net income of Boost Forthcoming

WASHINGTON (AP) -Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says dairy farmers will get an 8.2 percent boost in federal milk price supports beginning April 1.

The increase, announced Tuesday, is required by a law that says milk supports must be boosted to offset rising production costs.

An adjustment must be made midway in the marketing year that began last Oct. 1 to reflect changes in a complicated? "parity index" used to link farm production expenses with supports. The milk price supports were raised 4.7 percent Oct. 1.

Bergland's announcement is preliminary, however, because the Agriculture Department will not know the final support formula figures until a monthly price report is issued March 30.

However, officials said the way it looks now the basic support will be raised to $10.44 per 100 pounds of milk from the rate of $9.64, which has been in effect since Oct. 1.

The prospective increase is the equivalent of 7.1 cents a gallon in higher support prices, the amount the government guarantees to dairy farmers. It does not mean, however, that consumers soon will be paying. that much more for milk in "Present market prices are either at or above the current support level, and thus the projected increase will have little immediate effect on consumer prices." Bergland's announcement said.

"However, in coming months the increase will prevent retail prices from falling when more milk becomes available.

The higher support announced by Bergland is for milk containing an average of 3.5 percentage fat.

Dairy farmers do not get direct cash subsidies from the government. Rather, USDA buys "surplus" butter, cheese and nonfat dry milk from processors at prices high enough so they in turn can pay farmers at least the minimum specified by the supports.

larger output plus the higher support prices are expected to Joest dairy farmers "cast receipts" - their gross sales of milk - to around $14.1 billion. up nearly 15 percent from $12.3 billion last year, officials said.

Alcohol Project Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department has approved a $15 million loan guarantee for a Kansas firm to finance a pilot energy project for converting sorghum grain and sugarcane molasses into alcohol for industrial uses.

The department said its Commodity Credit Corporation board approved the guarantee for Midwest Solvents Inc. of Atchison, Kan.

Earlier, USDA approved guarantees to help three other firms finance projects to convert agricultural wastes into useful energy sources.

Program Sign-Up Deadline Announced

Young Corn Growers Honored

By JOHN FUSTON Executive Director SIGN UP PERIOD

1979 FARM PROGRAMS: April 30, 1979 is the final date to file an intention to participate in the 1979 farm programs. You will need to certify your wheat acres when you come in, and also need to sign an intention on feed grain acres. You will need to certify set-aside at the time you certify your feed grains.

NOTICE OF YIELDS AND NCA: Notices have been mailed.

You have 15 days from the date of the notice to file an appeal on your yield or on your NCA. PROVEN YIELDS FOR 1979

A change in the proven yield procedure for 1979 states the three year proven yield period will be 1976, 1977, and 1978. April 1st is the deadline to prove a yield for 1979. One thing also, if you are farming more than one farm, you will have to prove the yield on all farms if you want a proven yield on one farm.

WHEAT HAYING AND

GRAZING PROGRAM You can graze out an acreage of your wheat up to 40 percent of your intended wheat, feed grains and upland cotton, and receive deficiency payments in December of 1979 if there is a deficiency payment. (National average market price during June, July, August, September and October 1979 vs. $3.40 per bushel) EXAMPLE: 600ac NCA: 200 a whose intended 100 acmilo and 100 ac corn equals 400 ac. x 40 percent equals 160 acres of wheat you could graze out. This 160 acres of wheat that you graze out would not require a set aside; just the 40 acres of wheat for harvest would require a set aside. This does not mean that you could not graze out all of your wheat, but you would just have deficiency protection on the 160 acres.

Avoid strain on knee

DEAR DR. LAMB - Our 2-year-old son has been diagnosed as having Osgood's disease. Our physician explained that this mostly occurs in boys when they are going through the growth spurt, but he has noticed it in some girls as well.

We've tried to find out some information to help our son understand his restrictions, but we're not certain how restricted he should be. The X rays of his knee show no significant changes, so, apparently, we've caught the problem early.

We need to know if being overweight can aggravate the problem. Should his legs be propped up when he is sitting? Is prolonged standing a problem? Will climbing a flight of stairs three times a day create any difficulties? We were told that walking is OK. During school, should he prop his legs if it can be arranged with his teachers? Are we correct in assuming that any action which causes the knees to bend should be curtailed? Our physician is very optimistic about our son overcoming this without requiring any surgery and we want to make sure of this by doing what is beneficial.

DEAR READER -You're talking about Osgood-Schlatter's disease. sometimes think this should be called "adolescent knee" because that's when it occurs. The whole problem is related to the bony knob just under the kneecap over the surface of the shin bone (tibia). This is the spot where the tendon from the huge muscle group over the front of the think attaches to the shin bone. The kneecap is in this tendon. This is also the area where there is quite a bit of cartilage in the shin bone during the growth phase. That may have something to do with the reason this area is easily injured. The pull on this point is made when you straighten the leg. Bending the leg wouldn't be such a problem if it weren't that bending it is followed by straightening it. During a knee bend, for example, the pull on this spot just below the knee as the leg is straightened when the person stands up is tremendous. Pain is the main feature of this disease. There may be some swelling. Some doctors think a small piece of the bone is literally pulled loose from the shin at the point of attachment.

activity is required. Ordinary walking is perfectly all right. Some doctors insist on a straight leg cast to prevent bending and straightening the knee, pulling on that spot. It follows that knee bending motions such as climbing stairs or kicking a football are the ones that could cause the most trouble. For mild cases I don't think you need to concern yourself too much about the boy when he is in a sitting position. He should learn to avoid heavy strain on his knee area when he is getting up. Standing upright won't be any worse than walking.
