Iranian Demonstrators March En Masse

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Hundreds of thousands of demonstrators marched in Tehran today in response to Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's call for massive anti-American protests under the guise of religious observances, but the demonstrators stayed away from the U.S. Embassy and the 49 Americans held hostage there.

Khomeini's Revolutionary Council fired Abolhassan Bani Sadr as Iran's foreign policy spokesman Wednesday and replaced him with Sadegh Ghotbzadeh, a hard-line member of the council, apparently dooming U.N. Security Council efforts to ease the U.S.-Iranian

The huge crowds in Tehran converged initially around the capital's Revolution Square, some four miles from the U.S. Embassy where pro-Khomeini militants have been holding the hostages since Nov. 4 in a bid to get the U.S. government to extradite the shah.

They then marched to the towering Shahyad monument near the airport, in the opposite direction from the embassy, about 10 miles away. Some in the throng wore white shrouds emblazoned in red letters with the words: "Yankees, We Will Cut Off Your Hands," and "We Are Ready To Die For Islam.'

Marshalls wearing lapel buttons. controlled the movements of the hundreds of separate marching groups men at the front of the various processions followed by women clad in chadors, the traditional black veils. Some women carried babies.

Militants with bullhorns set the tone for the marchers.

As the crowds chanted praise of Allah and Khomeini, the city thundered with "Allahu Akhbar, Khomeini Ragbar!" -"God is Great, Khomeini is the Leader!" and "Islam Up, Carter Down!"

Mixed with the green flags of Islam and religious banners, were banners declaring "U.S. Imperialism Surrender the Shah." "The United Nations - Tool of the U.S.A." "Death to Carter and His Guest" and "Iran Does Not Recognize the Security Council Vote."

Khomeini has yet to announce whether Ghotbzadeh will go to New York to attend the emergency session of the U.N. Security Council on the U.S.-Iranian crisis. The session was set for Saturday, and Bani Sadr, who wanted to mediate an end to the crisis, had been scheduled to address the U.N. meeting.

Bani Sadr had been trying to arrange a compromise between U.S. and Iranian positions on the 49 Americans held hostage at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran since Nov. 4 by Moslem militants demanding the U.S. government extradite Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi to Iran to stand trial as a war criminal.

But Bani Sadr's attempts at seeking some sort of middle way out of the impasse only stiffened the resolve of the embassy occupiers and Khomeini.

On Wednesday, the militants condemned the U.N. Security Council effort to mediate the crisis and Bani Sadr's plans to represent Iran at the scheduled council debate.

Area Farmer Says Allocation Necessary

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Elimination of the diesel fuel allocation system would hasten the demise of the family farm, a Muleshoe dealer told a House subcommittee Wednesday.

Jerry Wiedebush, who said he has both Mobil and Conoco dealerships, appeared before a House subcommittee probing diesel shortages in farming areas.

Fuel shortages have curtailed harvests and delayed planting of crops in various parts of Texas, the subcommittee's hearing notice said.

Wiedebush criticized oil company allocations, which he said deny dealers flexibility in selling diesel to farmers.

Mobil sets the prices and tells me what I can do," he said. Wiedebush said if he loses a customer.

Mobil will not permit him to take on a new one or sell anybody more diesel than he bought the year before.

He predicted a severe problem in coming months.

"No customer is completely out, but I am afraid this is going to get progressively worse. When the farmers get to doing their heavy work, tilling the land to put in their crops, I am afraid we are going to be in a sad situation up there." he said.

Rep. Foster Whaley, D-Pampa, asked why not simply put diesel on a "supply and demand basis and let the high dollar

Wiedebush said large dealers and large farmers would end up with all the available fuel because they could pay the

"The big guy would black market the fuel to his neighbor. ... It would still escalate the prices. ... The big ones are getting bigger and the small ones are getting out," he said. Larry Webb, manager of the Bovina Wheat Growers Cooperative, said several farmers in his area could not get diesel. He said he was unaware of any black market in unallocated fuel in his area. Webb said diesel could not sell at black market prices, reportedly as much as 30 cents per gallon above normál.

"Even -though diesel might be available, it is not practical to expect a farmer to pay that kind of price and get a profit from his crop," Webb said.

Oil-State Senators In Tax Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) - Qil-state senators, fearing a setback in their efforts to weaken President Carter's "windfallprofits" tax, are trying to block an amendment that would cost the oil industry $22.5 billion over the next decade.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., and his allies began a a talkathon Wednesday after the Senate, on a 58-39 vote, refused to kill the amendment.

Dole and Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd said they expected to break the stalemate sometime today. The amendment, sponsored by Sens. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., and John Chafee, R-R.I., would raise from 60 percent to 75 percent the tax on future price increases of "new" oil, which generally is any oil discovered between 1973 and 1978. Earlier this week, the Senate approved an amendment that would slash the impact of the tax by $10 billion by exempting the first 1,000 barrels of crude oil pumped daily by an independent west. South and southern Great Plains should brace for another onslaught of colder than normal weather this winter. says the National Weather Service.

But the northwest quarter of the country should bask in milder than normal temperatures, along with that portion of New England generally east of the Connecticut River.

And those living in an area stretching from Tucson, Ariz., to the Pacific and then northward to San Francisco also are likely to enjoy a milder season.

Weather service official Donald Gillman said the experts simply have not been able to collect enough information to make a winter forecast for the rest of the East Coast south to South Carolina, southern Florida and much of the northern Great Plains.

In its annual winter prediction, issued Wednesday, the weather service said the Midwest, South and southern Great Plains face 2-1 odds of suffering through a fourth straight nasty winter.

areas should have lower than normal temperatures, they will not necessarily experience the intense cold of the last few winters

While acknowledging that freakish weather "blew away" his prediction last winter, Gillman said his long-term forecasts generally have been 65 percent accurate or better. He described last winter's unpredicted cold in the eastern states as an "exceptionally rare occurrence."

Milder than normal weather is predicted for much of the Northwest, he said. This includes areas stretching from Denver and Rapid City, S.D., to Northern California and the Pacific

Turning to snow and rainfall, Gillman said there is a 55 percent chance of heavier than normal precipitation in the Rio Grande Valley, the Gulf Coast states, along the Appalachian Mountains, the upper Ohio Valley and all of the East Coast except southern

Likely to remain drier than usual is an area extending from California northeast through the Great Basin to the Northern Rockies and east to the Great

If the prediction comes true, Gillman noted, some western ski areas may not have enough snow. But he said the dry winter should not lead to a serious drought unless next winter is also dry.

Gillman said much of the accuracy of the prediction depends on the strength of a ridge of high pressure over western Canada. His forecast anticipates that the high pressure ridge will not be strong this year, and thus warm Pacific air will blow into the Northwest while arctic winds from Canada enter the central part of the nation.

The circulation flowing north along the East Coast, meanwhile, remains hard to predict and the closeness of this high level wind to the coast will determine whether the East has a dry or stormy winter, he said.

Carter Won't Set

Deadline for Release

WASHINGTON (AP - President Carter says he cannot set a deadline for the release of 49 American hostages by Iran and he's asking the American people to be determined but patient.

"Excessive threats" of military action could cause the death of the hostages, a calm, deliberate Carter said in a nationally broadcast news conference Wednesday night.

The president's position won nearly unanimous congressional backing, despite some sentiment in favor of setting a deadline in the event peaceful means are exhausted.

"It would not be possible or even advisable for me to set a deadline about when or if I would take certain action," Carter said. "I never forget for one moment that I'm awake about the hostages whose lives and safety depend on me.'

Carter refused to discuss the military options he is considering. "I'm determined to do the best I can, through diplomatic means and through peaceful means, to insure the safety of our hostages and their release.

"Other actions which I might decide to take would come in the future, after the means have been exhausted," he said, refusing to elaborate.

Antarctic Crash

Blamed on Pilot

Iran-

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP) -The New Zealand airliner that carried 257 persons to their deaths in the Antarctic was on the wrong side of the volcano it hit, and the pilot apparently was to blame, the director of the recovery operation said today.

"It would seem there has been a substantial error in navigation by the pilot," said Roy Thompson, chief of the Antarctic division of New Zealand's Department of Scientific and Industrial Research.

"The plane was basically on the wrong side of the mountain. It crashed on the northeast side of Munt Erebus. It should have been passing the mountain on the northwest side."

The DC-10 was on a sightseeing trip along the Antarctic Coast when it crashed Wednesday, killing all aboard including 21 Americans. Thomson said he could almost certainly rule out the possibility of structural or mechanical failure.

"In my opinion the plane was certainly in the wrong place to come down so low,' Thomson, one of the country's foremost authorities on the Antarctic, told reporters in Auckland before leaving to head up operations to try to recover the

It was the third fatal DC-10 crash this year and the fourth largest death toll in aviation history.

WASHINGTON (AP) - After listening primarily to men for most of its 117 years, the Agriculture Department is seeking farm women's opinions and suggestions.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland said Wednesday his department is providing $280,000 to the National Opinion Research Center of Chicago for a $305,000 study. The center will provide the balance.

"The intent of the survey is to provide a record of farm women's experience with USDA services and farm programs, and their perceptions of the department." Bergland said.

"It will also provide us with a knowledge of women's roles in making farm management decisions."

The survey will be among 4,100 farm women and will involve questions now being developed by the department and the Chicago-based center.

U.N. mediation, they condemned the world forum as the "Satanic Council" and "Carter's mouthpiece," and said again they will settle for nothing less than return of the deposed shah in exchange for the hostages.

Tasua and Ashura, the twin days of mourning today and Friday, mark the high point of the Shiite Moslem holy month of Moharram, a period of ritual mourning commemorating the 7th century assassination by Moslem rivals of 8 the Iman Hossein, a grandson of the Moslem Prophet Moha: amed and founder of the Shiite sect, the dominant community in Iran.

Khomeini, Iran's Moslem patriarch and leader of the revolution that ousted the shah's government in February, exhorted his followers to mark the time of mourning with massive anti-American demonstrations.

"All your force and shouting should be concentrated against the United States." said Khomeini, while his fellow clerics said the mourning period should "make clear to the U.S. aggressors we welcome martydom."

Khomeini's supporters turned the Moharram demonstrations into protests against the shah's government last year, and more than 100 were killed when imperial troops opened fire on crowds. Khomeini's followers claimed this marked a turning point in the revolution because it wrecked army morale.

In Washington, meanwhile, President Carter urged Americans to be determined but patient as he seeks the peaceful release of the American hos-

"In the days to come our determination may be even more sorely tried." Carter said Wednesday night in the opening statement of his first news conference since the crisis began. "We will continue to defend the security, honor and freedom of Americans everywhere. We will not yield to blackmail.

"The government of Iran must recognize the gravity of the situation it has itself created and the grave consequences that will result if harm comes to any of the hostages," he warned.

Carter also took full responsibility for the decision to allow the shah to enter the United States for cancer treatment and said it was up to the deposed monarch to decide when he would leave.

Doctors at the New York City hospital where the shah has been treated since Oct. 22, told him that the operation Tuesday to remove a gallstone from his bile duct was a success and that he was free to travel. "We told him he can leave anytime he wants," said one of the doctors, who asked not to be identified.

A spokesman' for the shah said he would return to his exile home in Cuernavaca, Mexico, within 10 days.

The Iranian government, meanwhile, filed a civil suit in New York against the shah and his wife, seeking $20 billion it claims he took from the country through the Pahlavi family foundation, plus $36.5 billion in punitive damages.

An American bank, Morgan Guaranty Trust, went to a West German court and got an order for the seizure of Iran's 25 percent share of the West German firm Fried Krup GMBH, reportedly to guarantee payment of a $40 million claim the bank has against the Iranian government, which has announced the repudiation of foreign debts.

Tax -

The Senate version of the tax would cost the oil industry some $129 billion from 1980 through 1990. In contrast, the tax passed by the House and favored by Carter would cost $277 billion.

Meanwhile, other senators stepped up demands that Carter reimpose price controls on domestically produced crude oil until Congress approves a tough tax.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, DWash. chairman of the Energy Committee, said the watered-down tax being considered in the Senate amounts to little more than an effort to "whitewash" a huge oil industry windfall.

Because of the weakening of the tax. Jackson told colleagues, it is up to Carter to protect consumers. "Anything short of price control reimposition will cheat the American people for the benefit of the oil industry." he said.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who is challenging Carter for the Democratic presidential nomination, called again on the president to pledge to veto the tax bill unless it takes at least 50 percent of the oil industry's "windfall" over the next 11

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Investigators are working on the theory that more than one person was involved in the brutal slayings of a Fort Worth couple discovered bound and shot in the bathroom of their northside home, police said. But officers have released few details concerning possible motives the killer or killers may have had in the deaths of Cecil Lancaster, 56, and his wife,

Police found the abandoned car Wednesday on the parking lot of a Fort Worth motel - a discovery that led investigators to believe more than one person may have been involved in the killings.

Geeslin said the killer or killers had to have some mode of transportation to reach the home, and one person could not have driven away two cars.

Construction Site Scene of Theft

The theft of $1,835 worth of goods from an Amarillo builder's homesite, a house burlgary and two other break-ins highlighted police investigations Wednesday. Mike Ferguson, an Amarillo builder, reported that someone stole cabinet hardware, a gas range, light fixtures, paint and doors from a construction site at 916 Brevard. Gloria Orozco, 504 W. 5th, reported that someone entered her house, stole her keys and vandalized the residence Wednesday. Police are investigating the theft of a scanner radio from Crossroads Shamrock Center, 80 W. 1st. Entry was gained by breaking a window. Bill Bradly, 904 E. Park, reported a broken window at his photography studio. Four juveniles were arrested for shooting a pellet gun behind Paul Sims Safeway Wednesday evening. Bob Nigh

Former Miss America to Run for Javits Seat

NEW YORK (AP) - When not yet decided whether to seek Bess Myerson was crowned Miss America of 1945, a headline described her as "A Very Serious Type." Today she is being taken very seriously indeed, as an all-but-announced candidate for the U.S. Senate.

her early career. "That's who I was, not who I am now," she said firmly.

She entered the Miss America contest, she said, as a "lark," and to try to win the $5,000 prize for a music scholarship and a piano. She still has the Steinway baby grand, although marriage and a child kept her from finishing her masters' degree studies in conducting at Columbia University.

In 1969, then-Mayor Lindsay plucked her out of the TV world and gave her a job as New York City's first commissioner of consumer affairs. She accepted, admitting she knew nothing about consumerism.

But she studied, and by general consensus she did a good job - pushing through a unit pricing law for groceries, cracking down on sleazy installment contracts and shortweight merchants and gaining the fledgling consumer moveless well-known commissioner might not have commanded.

After leaving the city post, she hired out as a consultant tosuch corporations as Bristol-Myers, Citicorp, and Warner Communications. Some say that has tarnished her consumerist image, as when a booklet she edited for Bristol-Myers denied evidence linking dyes used in the company's profitable Clairol products to

Record Number Of Crane's Seen

The loud trumpeting of rare whooping cranes heralded their counts the rare cranes from a descent to the marshes of the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge and delighted the scientists who have studied the large white birds' rise from the brink of extinction.

Wildlife officials said so far a record 75 cranes have migrated from their summer nesting grounds in Canada to their winter home near the Texas coast.

"That's the most we've ever had." said an elated refuge manager Frank Johnson.

Houston Slips Past Cleveland in Overtime

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston rookie guard Allen Leavell can't get a car loan from his bank but he had what it took Wednesday night to drive the Rockets to a 113-111 overtime victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

Leavell, the 104th player selected in the 1979 National Basketball Association draft, made his first pro start a memorable one, scoring 21 points, including four in overtime, as the Rockets evened their record at 11-11.

Forced into a starting assignment by the injury of starter Tom Henderson, Leavell proved to Rockets Coach Del Harris he was worth the fifth round investment.

"He's the only fifth rounder that made it." Harris said. "He'll still have a hard time making rookie of the year but he has a good chance to become a very noticeable player.'

But Leavell had more success with the Cavaliers than he did with his banker.

After Houston fell behind by 10 points in the third quarter, it was Leavell who used his phenomenal leap to block two shots and can two fast break baskets to ignite the Rockets.

Houston took an 85-84 lead into the fourth quarter but the shooting of Kenny Carr, who scored 19 points, forced the Rockets into an overtime with a 104-104 deadlock at the end of regulation play.

Carr tied the score at 111-all with 38 seconds to play but missed the next two charity tosses that would have put the Cavs ahead.

Then with 24 seconds to go. Rick Barry sank a side jumper for the final points.

Moses Malone led the Rockets with 35 points and 16 rebounds and Calvin Murphy. who fed both fast break baskets to Leavell, added 18. Mike Mitchell led Cleveland with 24 points a and Dave Robish added

"I'm sorry that I will not have an opportunity to take part in the realization of that dream," Wilkinson added. "I feel that progress has been made. I think we were very close to being a contending team."

The firing of the 63-year-old Wilkinson was announced at a news conference three games before the collegiate coaching legend was to have completed his second pro season.

"I have determined to take immediate action...in what I consider to be the best interest of the football team," said Cards' owner Bill Bidwill, who named director of pro personnel Larry Wilson an interim replacement.

'This decision was made when it became apparent Coach Wilkinson and I had opposite positions on the subject of our program for the remainder of the season."

Bidwill labeled Wilkinson's refusal to use backup Steve Pisarkiewicz, "our quarterback of the future," as the "catalyst" to the final breach.

The two met Monday to confer over the owner's request, said Bidwill. "I suggested that he play Pisarkiewicz, and he indicated he did not intend to.

"He seemed to think that Pisarkiewicz could do the job. He probably had a reason, but I wasn't told it."

- Bidwill indicated the two also had other differences in matters of personnel but declined to be specific, noting that "I'd prefer not to at this time.'

"I didn't look at it that way," Wilkinson responded when asked if Bidwill's request to use Pisarkiewicz on Sunday against the San Francisco · 9ers was an ultimatum.

Wilkinson, a former collegiate coaching legend at Oklahoma, was a surprise choice to coach St. Louis as he was lured out of a 15-year retirement to succeed Don Coryell in March,

He guided the Cardinals to a 6-10 record last fall. This year, the team has lost six of its last seven games. It has a 3-10 record and little chance of escaping last place in the National Conference East.

Wilkinson said his plans, other than remaining in St. Louis for the time being, were indefinite - particularly in respect to further coaching.

Bidwill said Wilson, a 41vear-old-NFL Hall of Famer, will direct the team only through the remainder of the 1979 season and then return to the front Pisarkiewicz joined a majority of St. Louis players who declined to discuss their reactions to the firing.

Dolphins Play Tonight

MIAMI (AP) - For the New England Patriots and the Miami Dolphins, it all comes down to tonight. With a victory, the Patriots can fulfill the championship potential that's expected of them. With a victory, the struggling Dolphins can salve the pains of a rebuilding season. The winner of the nationally televised National Football League game will virtually lock up the American Football Conference East Division title. Both teams are 8-5. If the Patriots win, they will be one victory from clinchin the title because they whipped the Dolphins 28-13 earlier this season.

If the Dolphins win, they would need only a Patriots' loss to the New York Jets Dec. 9 or a victory over the Jets here Dec.

"It's ironic that we've been struggling and haven't won the big game this year," Miami Coach Don Shula said, "but it comes down to us needing the one big game Thursday night. We're due in that situation.'

In Shula's 10th season at Miami, the Dolphins are a sometimes unsteady mix of the old with the inexperienced. Tenyear center Jim Langer will be placed on injured reserve tonight because of a knee injury, and veteran linemen Larry Little and Mike Current both say they'll retire at season's Don Strock, 28, will start at quarterback replacing Bob Griese, 34, who was benched last Sunday. The Dolphins are hoping that Strock, stronger and more mobile than Griese, will handle the Patriots pass rush. The Pats lead the NFL in sacks, while Griese, who prefers to stand in the pocket and pick apart defenses, has had less time to throw this year and has been sacked 21 times.

The Dolphin pass rush, meanwhile, has been punchless in recent weeks. Pats' quarterback Steve Grogan, probably the best running quarterback in the league, "presents a particular problem to the defense. He was obviously the difference in the last game," Shula said.

The game has been sold out since Monday. Over 70,000 fans are expected for the 8:30 p.m. EST kickoff at the Orange Bowl, where the Patriots last won in 1966. They last scored a touchdown here in 1975.

Title Fight Being Held

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) -Wilfred Benitez is well aware of Sugar Ray Leonard's fighting credentials, but he is hardly in awe of boxing's current glamor

"Remember, everybody says he's looked tremendous, but this time he's fighting a champion," said Benitez.

At age 21, Benitez is a twotime world champion who conquered Antonio Cervantes and Carlos Palomino.

He outpointed Cervantes, the legendary Kid Pambele from Colombia, for the World Boxing Association junior welterweight (140-pound limit) title in 1976. Last Jan. 14, he outpointed Palomino for the World Boxing Council welterweight (147 pounds) title, which he will defend against Leonard Friday night at Caesars Palace.

Noting the popularity of Leonard, who has fought on national television 20 times in his short career, Benitez's manager, Jimmy Jacobs, called the 4-1 odds against his fighter "an emotional odds."

Benitez said simply, "I'm the champion."

Yet Leonard is an overwhelming favorite to win the richest non-heavyweight fight in history. Benitez is getting $1.2 million and Leonard $1 million. In a real oddity, a parlay bet on Benitez and Vito Antuofermo. who will defend the universal middleweight title against Marvin Hagler, will get you 14-1. That means you can bet $10 to win $140 on two world champions who have combined record of 81-3-2.

The two title fights here will be part of a nationally televised triple-header with the WBA light heavyweight championship bout in New Orleans between champion Victor Galindez and Marvin Johnson, the former WBC light heavyweight champ. ABC will televise from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. PST.

"I think my ambition is to retire financially independent and unharmed," Leonard told a press luncheon Wednesday. He is well on the way to financial freedom, having earned almost $4 million in posting a 25-0 record since turning pro in 1977, about six months after winning an Olympic gold medal in

But Leonard has another goal, one that concerns pride,

"I don't want to be remembered as just a good fighter." said the 23-year-old resident of Palmer Park, Md. "I want to be something great, something special."

"When I have to fight somebody...he's better than anybody I ever faced," said Benitez, meaning he doesn't take opponents lightly. He has been accused of showboating rather than fighting in some previous fights, but they were not title

Sugar Ray Leonard Moves

His Show To Prime Time

By FRED ROTHENBERG AP Sports Writer

Sugar Ray Leonard, a highly successful daytime series. moves to prime time Friday night in a test of his boxing ability and promotional talent.

Leonard, whose quick fists and big smile parlayed an Olympic gold medal into a steamrolling pro career, will be had won the 1976 Olympic gold fighting for Wilfredo Benitez' medal in the 139-pound World Boxing Council welterweight title in Las Vegas.

. And ABC will be there, as it has been nearly every time Leonard has laced on the gloves. More than any fighter today, Leonard's rise in the rankings has been paralleled by a rise in the ratings. Make no mistake about it, Leonard is a superbly gifted fighter, deserving a shot at the fitle after 25 bouts. But he also is a TV star.

Leonard wouldn't be making $1 million to Benitez' $1.2 million if ABC didn't think Friday night TV watchers would be interested. This championship bout marks the first time since the demise of boxing as a weekly staple that a non-heavyweight match will be headlining a prime time fight card.

Also on the ABC program will be the middleweight title bout from Las Vegas between champion Vito Antuofermo and Marvin Hagler and the World Boxing Association's light heavyweight title fight from New Orleans between defender Victor Galindez and Marvin Johnson. These two fights were both supposed to originate from Las Vegas, but the WBC would not sanction Leonard-Benitez if a WBA title fight was on the same card.

ABC's investment in Leonard began less than a year after he boxing champions to strut out of Montreal three years ago. The others were Leon Spinks. Michael Spinks, Howard Davis Leo Randolph. Heavyweight John Tate was beaten by Teofilo Stevenson in a semifinal bout.

'Sugar Ray was clearly the most attractive based on his personality and fighting ability. The Spinks brothers were next," şaid Jim Spence, senior vice president of ABC Sports.

ABC signed Leonard to a sixfight, $400,000 contract, outbidding CBS, which had televised Leonard's first pro fight in February 1977. In that bout, Leonard outpointed Luis Vega in Baltimore, near Leonard's hometown of Palmer Park, Md. Leonard proved to be good box office right away, luring over 10,000 fans into the Baltimore Civic Center and getting smashing ratings on TV.

For his efforts, Leonard earned a hefty $40,000 $10,000 from CBS.

After not landing Leonard, CBS signed Howard Davis to a 15-fight, $1.5 million contract that has been a series of headaches for the network. Although a talented fighter. Davis has not progressed as fast as Leonard. He also hasn't wanted to fight as often, causing CBS scheduling problems. His record is 12-0.

But the biggest embar-Prassment to CBS was the scrutiny its exclusive contract with

Davis received from the House subcommittee that was examining TV's involvement in box-

It was revealed that CBS would pay Davis either $200,000 or $167,000 per fight. If Davis chose the larger figure, he would pay his opponent's purse. There was a real possibility of a fighter taking a dive, in return for more money. CBS rewrote the contract, taking away Davis' power of the purse and removing its exclusive control

ABC, meanwhile, signed Leenard to a second contract -a five-fight package worth more than $1 million - which has since expired.

NBC is the only network that hasn't made this type of deal. "It's very difficult to avoid a conflict of interest if you're both promoter and telecaster." said Art Watson, president of NBC

Watson is not suggesting that ABC has engaged in anything illegal with Leonard, but asks: "What if Sugar Ray reached a plateau and lost some fights? ABC might then evaluate things a little differently and look for easier fights. I sleep better at nights knowing we buy fights one at a time. That way, we know what we're buying."

Spence points out that ABC never has picked Leonard's opponents. "We get involved only in exercising responsibility in determining that his opponents have been credible." he said.

ABC ran into problems with its U.S. Boxing Tournament because of phony records, which provoked the House investigation. It has been careful with Leonard's opponents. Two days before Leonard's fight against Hector Diaz in late 1977, ABC discovered that the promoters had inflated Diaz' record. The fight was not televised.

Boxing Is More Violent

NEW YORK (AP) - Ed "Too Tall" Jones has been socked in the jaw by an angry fist encased in an eight-ounce glove and felled by a rock-hard helmet used as a battering ram by an enemy blocker.

"Which is the more violent sport - boxing or football?" The 6-foot-7 former defensive end of the Dallas Cowboys repeated a question. "Boxing. In football, you are protected by all that gear. In boxing, your head is naked."

Neither of these macho sports creates any trepidation in the chest of the hulking Tennessee native, who forsook a successful pro football career to pursue the heavyweight boxing championship of the world.

He is undeterred by unfavorable criticism of his first three bouts and the somber headlines surrounding Willie Classen's fight for life after suffering a brutal beating Friday in Madison Square Garden's Felt Fo-

"I've seen films of that fight." Jones said. "I wish people would drop the whole thing. I've seen other fights which were allowed to go on with a guy is far worse shape. Everybody - officials, corner men and doctors - should learn a lesson but all this publicity is bad on the guy's family."

The gargantuan gladiator an inch and a half taller than the Italian ring freak Primo Carnera but leaner and quicker and with a two-inch longer reach - was whipping through a workout at the walkup Times Square Boxing Club under the watchful eye of veteran trainer Murphy said Jones. "Because of my height, I stayed low to get leverage. I butted all the time. I jarred a few heads, gave a few headaches but never really hurt a guy.' It's different in the ring. Launching his career on television with a great deal of fanfare, Too Tall won an unimpressive six-round decision Nov. 3 over Jesus Yaqui Meneses. He knocked out Abdullah Muhammad in six at Phoenix two weeks later and last Saturday stopped Fernando Montes in 4l seconds. His next fight is Dec. 14 in Dallas against an as vet unnamed opponent.

Ex-champ Smokin' Joe Frazier has joined the growing chorus urging that Jones give up boxing and return to football before he gets seriously hurt.

"Who is Frazier to give such advice?" fumed Griffith, a wiry, bald-headed man who is an uncle of former welterweight champ Emile. "Has Joe forgotten how he got slaughtered by a big, slow, raw fighter named George Foreman in Jamaica in 1973?

"People expect too much of Too Tall. Remember he had only been in a gym once before taking up boxing last June. They think he ought to be as good a boxer as he was a football player. It takes time."

Jones is equally unmoved by such criticism.

"How many people saw Joe Frazier in his first fight?" he asked. "Or his first 10?"

A bearded giant with arms like wagon tongues, the 28year-old graduate of Tennessee State said he is determined to "I never got hurt in football," win the heavyweight crown

Lionel Lane reports. Deaf Smith Co. Results

Again this year Pioneers brand seeds are delivering outstanding yields in field after field. But we know it takes more than one year's performance to tell the whole story. Look at these results, then ask your Pioneer dealer to show you records from several years. You'll see for yourself why Pioneer brand seeds have become famous for their consistency.

Deaf Smith area reported excellent performance in 1979. Rocky Kay, who farms near Hereford, recorded a yield of 11,638 lbs./A. Oscar Bronniman, who also farms in the Hereford area, recorded a yield of 10,809 lbs./A. with 3311. Roy Kuper reported a yield of 10,621 lbs./A. with this hybrid near Westway. In 37 locations in this area, 3311 averaged 611 lbs./A. more than the competitors. 3311 has excellent drouth tolerance with good stalks and roots for very good standability. As these Hereford farmers proved, 3311 is a good choice for the Deaf Smith area.

In corn hybrid evaluation tests in this area, this hybrid has been a consistent performer for several years. In 1979 tests it averaged 10,690 lbs. /A. in 35 comparisons. In the Hereford area, Oscar Bronniman reported a yield of 10,964 lbs./A. with 3360. A tall, semi-upright leafed hybrid, 3360 has proven its consistency in the Deaf Smith area over several years. And it'll be one of the leaders again in '80.

PIONEER

This year's yields give dramatic proof why this is one of the most popular corn hybrids in the Deaf Smith. area. 3184 averaged 10,810 lbs/A. in 37 hybrid comparisons in this area during 1979...387 lbs./A. more than competitive varieties. It has outstanding drouth tolerance with strong stalks and roots for excellent standability. It has medium-textured grain on strong stalks. Tolerance to MDMV and head smut is outstanding.

Taxing propositions

WASHINGTON (NEA) - Inflation and energy clearly dominate the political agenda heading into Campaign '80, but that doesn't mean the tax revolt of yesteryear has necessarily run

Two of the three tax-related measures that appeared on

Two of the three tax-related measures that appeared on ballots during elections earlier this month were overwhelmingly approved, while a third was narrowly defeated.

Voters in California slapped a constitutional limit on increases in state and local spending by a margin even greater than that garnered in 1978 by Proposition 13, the tax-cut initiative that triggered a national revolt. A different but related spending limitation was adopted in the state of Washington by spending limitation was adopted in the state of Washington by

Only in Oklahoma did the voters go the other way, rejecting — barely — a measure to lower the state's personal income

Although filing deadlines for 1980 ballot propositions are still months away, up to a dozen more tax-related items seem likely to qualify for voter consideration next year, according to the Coalition of American Public Employees.

Leading the way once more is Howard Jarvis, the "father" of Prop. 13, who is now pushing a constitutional amendment to slash California corporate and personal income-tax rates in half. An alternative proposal, which would lower taxes for low- and middle-income Californians while raising them for upper-income individuals and businesses, may also qualify for the hallot.

Other measures to reduce state income taxes are circulating in Alaska, Massachusetts, Michigan and Montana. Spending limits have been proposed for the 1980 ballot in Arizona, Florida, Massachusetts and Ohio. And property-tax reductions have qualified for the ballot in Florida, Nevada and South Dakota and have been proposed in Massachusetts, Ohio and Utah.

These are just the measures most likely to qualify for voters' consideration, in the view of CAPE. All told there are more than 40 tax-related ballot items being proposed in 14

Operation Big Vote

CBS News

Bewitched

A coalition of black organizations has launched a major drive to increase black voter registration and participation in the 1980 elections in an effort to gain greater political cout. Operation Big Vote will seek to increase black registration by at least 20 percent in targeted areas of the following states: Alabama, California, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas and Virginia.

Organizers also hope to achieve a 75 percent turnout of registered black voters in the targeted areas.

Research has indicated that black voters, once they are registered, tend to turn out at a rate almost equal to whites. But their registration rate regularly lags 10 to 15 percentage points behind that of whites.

The U.S. Census Bureau projects that 16 million blacks will be of voting age by November 1980, a figure that represents about 10 percent of the electorate nationwide.

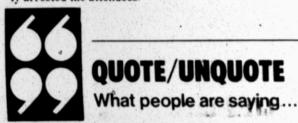

The sweet Sting of success

For pure cost effectiveness, it's hard to beat the return on the dollar achieved by The Sting, a federally financed anticrime program in which cops around the country have posed as fences to "buy" stolen goods.

The federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration has put up just under $6 million over the past five years for "buy" money, and the bogus fences have recovered some $226.5 million in stolen property, 90 percent of which has been returned to the rightful owners.

Sting operations have been conducted in 47 cities. The most famous took place in Washington, where 191 suspects were arrested and $2.4 million in goods recovered in 1975 when the bogus fences threw a party for their "customers" and promptly arrested the attendees.

"These students' only crime is that they were born in Iran, or, at worst, that they have expressed their political convictions. Yet, Mr. Carter has ordered their most basic civil liberties to be violated We believe that freedom of speech and residency are human rights - not privileges granted only to those born in America.'

- Jeff Friedman, assistant director of the Students for a Libertarian Society, who asked college administrations throughout the U.S. not to cooperate in the deportation of Iranian students.

SS United States Has New Look

ARLINGTON, Wash. (AP) -The S.S United States will return to sea with a new look financed in a novel way, says owner Richard Hadley. The luxury liner is going condo, with staterooms going for as much as

Hadley - who lives in this farming community near the foothills of the Cascades when he's not building condominiums in Hawaii or office buildings in Seattle - hopes the 990-foot ocean liner will become "the greatest cruise ship in the world."

The ship, the last luxury liner to fly the U.S. flag, was placed in service in 1952 and sailed for 17 years before its owners defaulted on a federal mortgage and the government seized the property. Now it's in mothballs in Norfolk, Va.

Hadley bought the ship a year ago through his newly created corporation. United States Cruises Inc., for a $500,000 down payment toward its $5 million price. That was a steal. he says, because the liner cost 580 million when it was built. and building it today would cost $400 million.

The company will spend another $30 million to $35 million on refurbishing. Below decks, the ship will be transformed into a one-class - first-class cruiser for 1,300 passengers instead of the 2,000 it was designed to carry.

'We don't want a pack-'emin operation," Hadley says. 'We'll have the lowest passenger population for a ship of our size by far. If a person likes to cruise and is affluent, it's the only thing that makes any sense.

Passengers could dine in their choice of six restaurants, swim in three pools, play racquetball on two courts or lob tennis balls on the only full-size court afloat. To finance refurbishing, Hadley plans to sell one-sixth of the ship's space as, in effect, timeshare condominiums.

Investors, who would be members of the United States Cruising Society, could buy staterooms ranging in price from $11,500 to $149,500.

Members would have exclusive use of the rooms two weeks each year for 20 years guaranteeing future vacations at current prices - and travel at 40 percent of the published public fare. Members could spend as many as 200 days cruising at the reduced rate on a space available basis. Hadley said 100 memberships had been sold or were "in the works" and expects his regular prices to be competitive somewhere around $165 a day. perhabs.

The ship, which will be fueled by a liquid converted from coal, will spend half its time sailing between Los Angeles and Honolulu and half on voyages to such ports as Stockholm, Singapore and Rio de Janiero. The ship will carry an all-American crew. "I think a lot of people feel as I do, a lot of people would prefer to be on a U.S. ship," he says.

Flag Display

The U.S. flag should be displayed on all days when the weather permits, especially on legal holidays, on official buildings when in use, in or near polling places on election day and near schools when in session. A citizen may display the flag at any time he wishes.

DPS Officials Criticize Graduates

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texans will be protected by an inferior brand of Department of Public Safety trooper until the Legislature comes up with a healthy pay raise, according to DPS officials

"We are graduating people - I'm sad to say - who 10 years ago would not have been accepted; much less graduated," Jim Jordan of the DPS training school Monday told a house subcommittee.

Officials from several stateagencies told the House Subcommittee on State Personnel Policy that low pay is forcing their best employees to look for new jobs Texas Employment Commis-

Barry Love reports. Deaf Smith Co. Results

Again this year Pioneer brand seeds are delivering outstanding yields in field after field. But we know it takes more than one year's performance to tell the whole story. Look at these results, then ask your Pioneer dealer to show you records from several years. You'll see for yourself why Pioneer brand seeds have become famous for their consistency.

Rocky Kay of Hereford reported a yield of 11,637 lbs./A. with this corn hybrid as it out-yielded five other hybrids in his hybrid evaluation test. This kind of outstanding perormance was seen in 48 tests throughout the Central High Plains with 3311 showinga yield advantage of 495 lbs./A. over competitive hybrids.3311 has shown excellent drouth tolerance and will adjust kernel depth to match growing conditions It's one you should count on for dependable performance in 1980.

In 38 tests on the Central High Plains, including several in Deaf Smith County, this excellent corn hybrid showed a yield advantage of 269 lbs./A. over competitive hybrids. A very popular hybrid, 3195 has earned its reputationby delivering top performance under a wide range of conditions. High seedling yigor adds extra appeal to make 3195 a top choice for silage or grain in Deaf Smith County.

A tall, semi-upright leafed hybrid, 3360 showed a yield advantage o 268 lbs./A. over competitive hybrids in 45 tests on the central High Plains in 1979. 3360 is one of the most consistent performers you can plant in the Deaf Smith area and has outstanding tolerance to head smut and MDMV. Standability is better than most of the upright leafed hybrids, too.

Outstanding drouth tolerance contributes to the consistency this hybrid has shown over the years. In 47 tests on the Central High Plains, 3184 averaged 10,390 lbs./A. in 1979. Over the past four years 3184 has averaged 387 lbs./A. more than competitive hybrids in 148 on-farm comparisons. 3184 has strong cobs that helped speed harvest and it holds ears of medium-textured grain well to minimize field losses.

A sister in college lost a cholarship. "So we picked up hose expenses."

A death left another family member in trouble. "And we ended up helping him."

All in all, recalls Susan, "We ust stretched our income too

Susan and her husband Jeffrey don't want their real names used, but they are real people. They live in a relatively small Midwestern town and have two children. Both of them work in white collar jobs.

Together, they earn more than $45,000 a year. Together, they owe almost $45,000 in installment debt.

"We weren't actually being dunned, but we were getting all these letters in the mail all the time," Susan said. She read a newspaper article about nonprofit credit counseling centers and decided to ask for help. "It was almost exactly a year ago. just before Christmas," she

Today, Susan and Jeffrey are on the road to recovery. It will take them more than three years. Each month, they set aside $800 and give it to a counselor who divides it among the couple's creditors. "Over a dozen of them," said Susan.

How do two people with an income that is more than twice the national median get into that kind of trouble? Did Susan and Jeffrey just throw the monev away?

Credit experts say Susan and Jeffrey are not unusual. The more money you have, they say, the more temptations there are to spend.

Robert Gibson, director of the National Foundation for Consumer Credit said that in a strange sense the poor are less likely to run into credit prob-

"Many of the poor have been denied access to the credit markets," Gibson said. "In terms of credit cards and bank loans and things of that nature, the middle and upper-middle income people have had greater access to the market and have problems.

Susan and Jeffrey are victims of success. They both come from large families. They are members of a minority group that traditionally has strong family ties. "We were the first ones in the family to more or less make it." Susan said. "It seemed like every time somebody else would have a problem, we were the ones they'd come to."

Jeffrey agreed: "It wouldn't have made any difference if we made $45,000 or $145,000 a year ... You can't take on the world."

The couple's troubles began when they were building a new house - a house that they should have been able to afford. "Nothing that was bid came out the way it was supposed to," said Susan. "It was only supposed to cost $70,000. It ended up costing us $80,000."

Then came the lost scholarship. Another sister got into trouble with drugs and Susan and Jeffrey took on new loans to help pay the cost. Susan's mother died and her father couldn't support the six children left at home. "I don't want it to sound like I'm using other people as excuses," Susan said, but "we ended up supporting

The annual percentage rate - sometimes listed as the APR - is the relative cost of credit on a yearly basis. Again, suppose you borrow $100 for a oneyear period and pay a finance charge of $8. If you can keep the entire $100 for the full year, paying back the whole amount at once, the annual percentage rate is 8 percent.

It is more likely, however, that you will pay back the money in 12 monthly installments of $9 each. You don't get to use the $100 for a full year; you get to use less and less of the money each month. The annual percentage rate is 14.5 percent.

The law also requires lenders stop to think about which way we should go."

Susan and Jeffrey never got turned down for credit. "People will assume that because you're doing what you're doing, you've got a good job, you should be able to handle it," said Susan.

The new budget leaves the family with "enough to get by," she said. They have managed to keep up the payments on the mortgage, but there are no curtains on the living room windows. New furniture will have to wait.

She and her husband have changed their spending habits. "I find myself doing more predicting on what's coming up ... I'll go back over my checks and see what we spent last year and anticipate what to expect and what we can do and what we can't..."

Susan and Jeffrey have learned to say no. To family members. To salesmen. To friends who urge them to spend for things they can't afford. "If I had one recommendation," said Susan, "I would say to people: at what time of year and can 'Do not react under pressure." **********

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

Shop for credit before you shop for gifts this Christmas. HOW you pay affects WHAT you pay for goods and services and you can waste hundreds of dollars if you don't know what to look for

'Sensibly used, credit is an important financial tool," says the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in a consumer guide. 'Misused, it can result in default, bankruptcy and loss of reputation.

There are two major types of credit: closed and open.

A closed-end loan is a onetime arrangement. You borrow a fixed amount for a fixed period of time and repay it in regular installments - usually mon-

Open-end credit, also called revolving credit, is reusable. You can borrow over and over, up to a pre-set level, without making a new application each time. Bank cards, retailers and overdraft checking programs involve revolving credit.

The federal Truth-in-Lending law requires creditors to tell you how much you have to pay to use their money. There are two important figures: the finance charge and the annual percentage rate.

The finance charge is the dollar amount you pay for the credit. It covers interest charges and any service fees, insurance premiums, etc. Suppose, for example, you borrow $100 for one year and have to pay $7 in interest, plus a $1 service fee. The finance charge is $8.

who grant open-end credit to tell you how they calculate interest. They may base charges on the adjusted balance, on the average daily balance or on the

The adjusted balance method is the simplest and it is also the cheapest for the customer. The creditor takes the unpaid balance, subtracts any payments, then figures out the interest on the difference. Suppose, for example, you have a balance of $400. You pay $300 during the billing period. The creditor charges interest on $100. At 11/4 percent a month - the most common basic rate for revolving credit - you would pay $1.50 in

The average daily balance method is more complicated and more costly. It takes into account when you pay as well as how much you pay. The creditor adds up your balances for every day in the billing period, then divides by the number of days to get an average. The interest charge is applied to the average. Take that same $400 balance. Again, you pay $300. The creditor gets your payment on the 15th day of a 30-day billing period. Your total balances for the month will be $7,500 - 15 days at $400 and 15 at $100. Divide by 30 and you get an average daily balance of $250. The interest, at 11/4 percent, is $3.75 - more than creditor uses the adjusted balance method.

The previous balance method is the worst deal of all. You get no credit at all for payments made during a billing period. You pay interest on the full amount outstanding at the end of the last billing period. Under this system, you would pay $6 in interest on the $400 account no matter how much you paid during the month.

If you have a problem with a credit card or charge account, you may be protected by the Fair Credit Billing Act. The act sets down rules for creditors and consumers to follow in case of disputes over billing errors. Here's how it works:

If you get a bill that has a mistake, send a written notice to the creditor within 60 days of the time you get the bill. The creditor has to acknowledge your letter within 30 days after he or she gets it unless the error can be cleared up sooner than that. Within 90 days, the creditor must resolve the dispute. If the creditor says there is no error, you can demand copies of documents proving you owe

You don't have to pay the disputed amount until the argument is settled. If the original bill turns out to be right, how- me-red Republican basis.' ever, you not only have to pay the amount that you questioned, you also have to pay any finance charges that accumulated in the twice as much as you pay if the meantime.

NOW Gives Clements 'Award'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Local feminists have taken their "Not Quite Annual Barefoot and Pregnant Award" out of the attic, dusted it off and presented it to Gov. Bill Clements. The Austin chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) announced the award at a news conference Wednesday.

Clements had this comeback: "You can see I'm not barefoot and obviously I'm not pregnant."

Vicky Worsham, coordinator of the NOW chapter, said Clements earned the award by:

-Firing the staff of the Texas Commission on the Status of Women without hiring replacements.

'The commission exists legaly but it doesn't have a staff." Ms. Worsham said.

-Vetoing $230,000 appropriated to the Texas Rehabilitation Commission for services to 'displaced homemakers'' women re-entering the job market upon divorce or widowhood. Clements said there was plenty of money in various other state and federal programs to provide the necessary job training for such women.

-Reportedly wisecracking at Texas A&M that women should go deep-sea diving to exercise birth control." An A&M scientist had just explained a research project that indicated deep-sea diving could damage a fetus.

"I didn't think it was funny," Ms. Worsham said of Clements' reported remark. "It was an indication of a callous attitude."

The text of the award said, 'It would be reprehensible to encourage childbearing women to endanger the health of their unborn children."

Ms. Worsham said Clements receive a "suitable-forframing certificate," probably by mail.

She also said the award despite its tongue-in-cheek name - is meant to be taken

"I am angry with the govershe said.

Ms. Worsham said nominations were solicited from all members of the chapter, which has about 200 people on its mailing list.

"No one else was nominated." she said.

The last time the award was presented was in 1974, when University of Texas athletic director Darrell Royal received it for allegedly saying nobody would pay to watch women's athletic events.

Ford's small "Tin Lazzie" became so popular that the average price of automobiles dropped from $3,000 in 1900 to $605 by 1916. Ford's four-cylinder models were raised from $345 to $645 in 1917. Standard mass production enabled Ford to turn out his cars faster than other auto makers.

Three Business Firms Re-locate

Blackout Got Their Attention

OSCEOLA, Ark. (AP) -There's nothing like a little demonstration to liven up a speech. Ask Rita Baker, who was lecturing on what to do in a blackout when - you guessed it - the lights went out.

The director of Mississippi County's Energy Office was addressing a winter survival workshop Tuesday night when the lights and power in the auditorium and most of Osceola went out.

"Now, the first thing to do in a situation like this is to find a light source." she said, seizing the chance to make her point. "Does anybody have a flashlight?"

Several cigarette lighters flared, a flashlight was finally found and the lecture continued until the lights were restored with the audience's undivided attention.

Real Estate Tips by Tommy Bowling

My neighbor has a storage shed which sets just inside my property line. He's used it for years and it is fine with me, but I'm getting ready to sell the property and am afraid the new owners will want it removed. Is there a simple solution?

An easement may be the answer. An easement gives someone other than the owner of the land the right to enter or use the property for a specific reason. Easements are most commonly granted to utility companies for the purpose of erecting or maintaining lines and poles on privately-owned property. Usually the easement stipulates their right to enter the property for required maintenance. If you have in mind a specialpurpose easement (such as allowing a neighbor certain access to the property after you sell you home) it might be wise to consult an attorney about executing a properly written and recorded agreement to that effect.

Here we are in the middle of an energy crisis when we're getting pressure from all sides to lock our thermostats in at 65 degrees and fashion designers are pushing to bring back the

Is it my imagination or is someone's brain in a holding

The problem is that many of the leading designers are men who have never known how the human anatomy works. It's relatively easy to explain.

The miniskirt covers at best 1/6 of a woman's lower extremities. When the woman bends her knees to sit down, the tension releases and the skirt in the front goes DOWN. However, because of the angle of the body, the stress in the back becomes more acute as the body bends and the back goes up. By the time the derriere makes contact with a seat/chair/bench is made of plastic, stone, wood or metal, she could slip right into a coma.

We're going to have to approach the problem carefully as some women actually liked the miniskirt. I talked the other day to my friend. Donna, who has terrific legs. The only reason I keep her around is for a role model.

"Well, I, for one," she said, "am tickled to death about miniskirts. I've hated those old lady skirts that swirl around your ankle and cover up everything.

"That's easy for you to say, Donna, you didn't carry your babie low and get left with flabby knees."

"I don't see why we can't wear what we look terrific in." she pouted.

Then it hit me. "We do it for our country. Heaven knows I've had to sacrifice. I've been buying silk because I can wear it winter and summer and save. I've given up polvester for ultrasuede because polyester is made from petroleum and my country needs the oil. I've bought lush sweaters in natural fibers because they're warmer, and I've given up my entire last year's wardrobe and replaced it with new clothes because they're warmer, and I've given up my entire last year's wardrobe and replaced it with new clothes because they were impractical for the thermostat. How can you indulge yourself in miniskirts when your country needs

When I told my husband about our conversation he said, "Too bad you talked her out of it. Donna could have worn a miniskirt and raised the body temperature of every man in her office building.'

Chairman of the project is Mrs. Leander Reinart.

CHICKEN FRANCES French family-style dish. 212-pound whole frying chicken

Salt and pepper to taste garlic cloves, peeled 1 tablespoon corn oil 4 small new potatoes, pared 4 small carrots, pared 4 small onions, peeled

Dry well the surface of chicken and inside cavity; sprinkle inside and out with salt and pepper; drop garlic cloves into chicken cavity. Choose a casserole large enough for chicken and vegetables to just fit; swirl oil around to coat casserole; add chicken and arrange vegetables around it. Cover and bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until chicken and vegetables are very tender - about 11/2 hours. Chicken will not be brown. Makes 4 servings.

AUSTIN--I . have ceived a great deal of mail from many citizens concerning the storage of nuclear waste in Texas. am also very concerned about the operation and management of nuclear power plants and nuclear storage facilities. Nothing less than a first class program for the operation of any nuclear facilities will be sufficient. Texas industries and institutions, both academic and medical, are producing inthe State economy expands and as the nuclear reactors. now under construction start up, the yearly production of low-level waste will accelerate signif-

Unfortunately, the three licensed low-level waste disposal facilities in the United States present difficulties for disposing of low-level wastes from Texas. Two of the facilities are located west of the Mountains, Rocky in Washington, and Nevada, thus making the transportation costs expensive. Storage at these facilities is now being limited. The third facility is located in South Carolina, and Chem Nuclear, the operator of the facility, is also now required to restrict the volume and type of waste it receives. facilities are rapidly approaching their storage limit and are having their storage fees sharply in-. creased, due mostly to higher state and local taxes. Consequently, Texas industries and institutions have no. disposal facility space available for the increasingly large amounts of low-level waste being produced.

The first problem that should be faced is the problem of technical management and review of our present nuclear facilcreasing amounts of low- ities. Since the accident at level radioactive waste. As Three Mile Island, this review has and is making progress both at the state and federal levels.

At the state level a special subcommittee on Nuclear Energy of the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council has recently held statewide hearings in an effort to obtain information for possible state policy. At future meetings of the T.E.N.R.A.C. many possible policy directives will be recommended. I will look closely at all of these recommendations with the state interest in mind.

Texas as well as many other states are now under consideration as possible national storage sites for nuclear waste. A great deal will have to be done to convince me that high level nuclear waste produced outside of Texas should be In addition, all of these stored in Texas on a permanent basis.

of the eye. Your eyeball is filled with a semi-solid, jellylike substance. Fluid is constantly secreted into the eye and also drains out of the eye. Glaucoma is associated with a defect in drainage of fluid from the eyes and so the fluid accumulates inside the eyeball and increases the pressure inside the eye. As the pressure increases, it can result in eye damage which, in its ultimate form, can produce blindness.

The fact that blindness can occur does not mean that properly treated ordinary glaucoma will always cause blindness. In fact, 'modern treatment begun early enough can usually control the pressure inside the eye and prevent blindness.

I certainly think your nephew should see an eye specialist who puts him on regular treatment and examines him periodically. The case you describe of the lady in your office is relatively typical. Eye drops are commonly used to help control the increased pressure in the eye. Finally, if the pressure can't be controlled with medicines, there are some surgical procedures that can be used to help relieve the pressure.

There are some other forms of glaucoma. A mature cataract may create pressure on part of the drainage mechanism inside the eyeball and cause glaucoma.

Frequently, people do not have any symptoms of glaucoma until the disease is far advanced and starting to cause significant damage to the eye. The common form usually doesn't occur until after 50 and an ordinary eye examination won't reveal its presence until it's far

DEAR MARY O. - Liquid shoe dye is impossible to

eye. After age 50 individuals should have an eye examination at least every two years and perhaps every year which includes a measurement of pressure inside the eye. Ordinary visual acuity may be perfectly normal wille the pressure is starting to increase inside the eye itself. There's nothing which you can do in terms of diet or various aspects of your lifestyle that will prevent glaucoma. The best approach is early diagnosis. This will enable early treatment to control the pressure and prevent the damage that could lead to blindness. TO GIVE YOU some additional information about eyes. I am sending you The Health Letter number 13-6. Your Cataracts Are Coming Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long. stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB -- I'd like some information about heart rate. I'm a female, age 50. At night after I have been in bed my heartbeat is only 55. During the day when I'm doing housework, it varies between 60 and 70. I'm a farmer's wife and I've always worked hard and long hours Can your heart beat too slow? I sometimes have light pain in my chest. In summer's extreme heat when working outside I sometimes become weak and break out in a cold sweat. I need to lose about five pounds.

DEAR READER - First. about the heart rate. A person who is physically fit, as you may well be from doing a lot of work on the farm, and who has no medical problems or bad habits often has a relatively slow heart rate. I often cite the example of Dr. Roger Bannister, the British neurologist. When he was a young man and not in peak physical condition, his resting heart rate was in the middle 70s. When he was in top physical condition just before being the first man to break the four-minute mile, his resting heart rate was only 38 beats per minute. I repeat this history because it emphasizes the point that vigorous athletes in optimal health often have relatively slow resting heart rates. It can be a sign of a high level of physical fitness. Certainly a heart rate of 55 per minute at rest lying down in a person who is physically active all the time is quite within the range of normal

Now it is true that there are a few heart conditions that can cause a very slow heart rate. One of these is called heart block and it's more apt to occur in older people. although it can occur in younger people with certain disorders of the heart. I doubt you have that because your heart rate during the day is entirely too normal.

Your other symptoms may have nothing to do with vour heart but would require an evaluation by your physician and a more complete story to assess what they mean. You may be suffering from heat problems rather than heart problems. Or you may be starting to faint for any number of reasons. I would suggest you have a medical check-up, but I'm not very much concerned about your heart rate To give you more information about how the heart rate can vary. I'm sending you The Health Letter number 9-8. Your Heart Rate What It Means. New York, NY 10019. In a person who does not have any illnesses the pulse rate is a good simple indicator of a person's level of fitness and lifestyle. Many people would have much slower resting heart rates if they didn't smoke or use coffee or other beverages that contain caffeine. Both of these bad habits lead to a faster heart

Individuals who are in poor physical condition also tend to have a fairly sharp increase in heart rate when they stand op as opposed to when lying

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am the mother of five and the grandmother of six. I didn't take my children to the doctor for everything - just for emergencies. And I don't insist that my children do either. My youngest grandchild looked yellow to me and since babies do get jaundice. I suggested to my daughter-inlaw that a visit wouldn't hurt. She took the baby and was told it was from eating carrots and squash. I don't think I've ever heard that before. Why does that happen with a vellow or orange vegetable and not with others like beets or peas' just can't believe that food can change the color of your skin. I do hope you can give me an answer DEAR *READER - The yellow pigment in carrots can cause an orangish-yellowish discoloration of the skin. That does not mean that a reasonable amount of carrots in the diet isn't good for a child. But whenever you see any color change, such as you've described, it does mean that the child is getting too much of those kinds of vegetables. You don't see a discoloration with beets or peas because they don't have an orangishvellowish pigment that the body absorbs and uses in this

The pigment that causes the problem is called carotene. It's also found in sweet potatoes. When there's too much in the bloodstream, it's called carotenemia. It is not at all the same thing as jaundice and it's very easily cured by simply cutting back on the carrots and yellow vegeta-
