Schacher, Mason Receives Top Honors At Lazbuddie Banquet

Hoppy Jennings, president of the Athletic Boosters, served as master of ceremonies Tuesday night for the Lazbuddie Longhorns Athletic banquet. He welcomed the athletes, parents and guests and expressed his appreciation to all the Athletic Boosters, who worked in the concession stand, which is their only money making project, and made it possible to have the banquet.

Jennings introduced the guest speaker, Wayne Morre who has coached Women's basketball at Eastern New Mexico University for the past seven years. He previously coached on the high school level 16 years and according to Jennings he is one of the most respected coaches in this area.

Speaking to the large crowd which filled the cafeteria, Coach Moore told about some of his humorous experiences as a coach. On a more serious note he spoke to the athletes on the advantages and disadvantages of attending a small high school.

From his own experience, after having attended a high school about the size of Lazbuddie, he said that the main advantage is that you get to participate in everything, football, track, basketball, band, etc.

Afternoon Rain

Friday afternoon, a large black cloud lingered in the Lazbuddie area long enough to deposit varying amounts of spotty, welcome moisture.

From Foster Fertilizer, some three miles east of Lazbuddie, the report was one inch.

Bob Templar reported from two miles north of Lazbuddie at Gene Smith's shop, 9.

South of Dodd no rain was received, but Nickels Gin on the Pleasant Valley Road got a 'good rain.'

Although the highway department had to put out flares and warning lights on Highway 70, at the turn off for SPS Tolk Plant and the Pleasant Valley community due to high water, no rain was recorded at the SPS Tolk Station.

Thursday afternoon, Muleshoe recorded .16 in moisture, but no moisture was recorded on Friday.

Rain chances had diminished for the Muleshoe area by Saturday, and fair skies were predicted through mid-week.

Rene Garcia Sentenced For Murder, Assault

A 23-year-old Muleshoe man, Rene Garcia, pleaded guilty to murder and felony assault Thursday in Farwell. The charges resulted from a crime spree that ended in the death of a Muleshoe woman, the shooting of another woman, and the abduction of a third Muleshoe woman.

Garcia, who became the subject of one of the largest 'manhunts' on the South Plains, entered his plea in a plea bargain in 287th district court in Farwell before District Judge Jack Young, and was sentenced to 50 years for murder and 10 years for aggravated assault.

Judge Young said the sentence will be served in the Texas Department of Corrections and will run concurrently. Garcia became a fugitive following the shooting death of Christy Sotelo, 25, last August 3, on a road six miles west of Bovina in Parmer County. At the time, Tonya Parkinson, 23, was wounded by the gunman, two others escaped, including one Sotelo sister, who was pregnant at the time, and a younger brother.

He then abducted 17-year-old Ida Sotelo, and escaped in the Sotelo car.

Initially, the indictments against Garcia were for capital murder, aggravated kidnapping, aggravated assault and unlawful use of a motor vehicle.

During the plea bargain before Jack Young, all charges were dropped except the murder and felony assault charges, according to Sam Medina, Garcia's Lubbock attorney.

Medina said Garcia was pleased with the sentence on Thursday, as he could have

Victim Jim Moralez Died Enroute Portales Hospital

Muleshoe City Police Department Patrol Sgt. Richard Bonham was on routine patrol duty early Saturday morning, when he noticed a small crowd of men circled in a front yard on West Avenue B.

Since it was 1:49 in the morning, he suspected some type of disturbance.

Sgt. Bonham was on the radio almost immediately after initially checking out of his vehicle, calling for an ambulance and back up officers.

What the sergeant found was a stabbing victim lying in a yard, surrounded by several young people.

Lt. Wayne Holmes, who woke up when the stabbing was announced, was on the scene within less than five minutes, followed by paramedics and EMT's from the Bailey County Ambulance Service.

Loading the victim into the ambulance, the ambulance personnel, including Paramedic Jim Fitzgerald and EMT's Todd Ellis, Joe Don Prather, Curby Brantley and Wayne Wauson, worked in an attempt to stabilize the victim for transport to Roosevelt General Hospital in Portales.

However, it was to no avail. Jim Moralez, 19 or 20 years old, went into full cardiac arrest at just about the state line, and was officially pronounced dead on arrival at the Portales hospital.

His body was transported to Albuquerque for an autopsy, which was to be performed on Saturday.

In the meantime, officers were taking witness statements, contacting the District Attorney Johnny Atkinson and Justice of the Peace Jack Bates to obtain an arrest warrant and a search warrant, and staked out a house where the suspect was reported

Young people are beginning to move back to Muleshoe. At least, that is so in the case of the former Jacqueline Turner, now, Mrs. Tom Boutell.

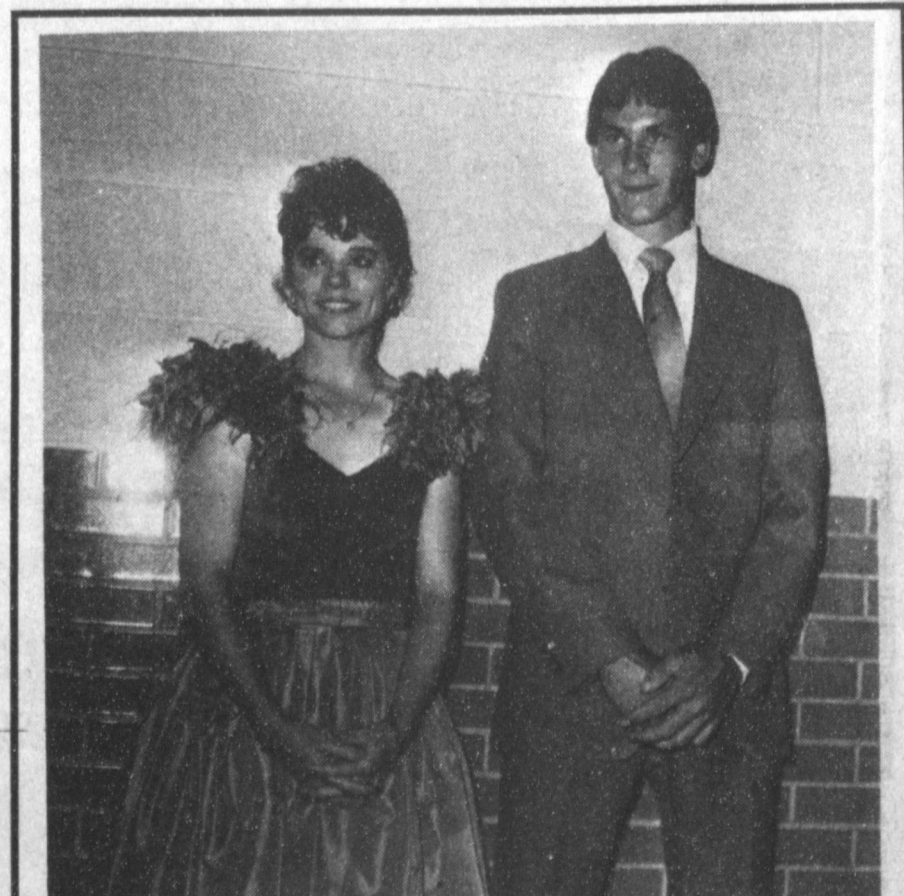

On graduation from Muleshoe High School in 1973, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Turner, moved her away. She married, has pursued a career in Dallas, and now, she and her husband are moving to Muleshoe to open a new business.

They have purchased the former Lee's Western Wear building on West American Blvd., and are residents of Muleshoe again, having moved back here today, Sunday.

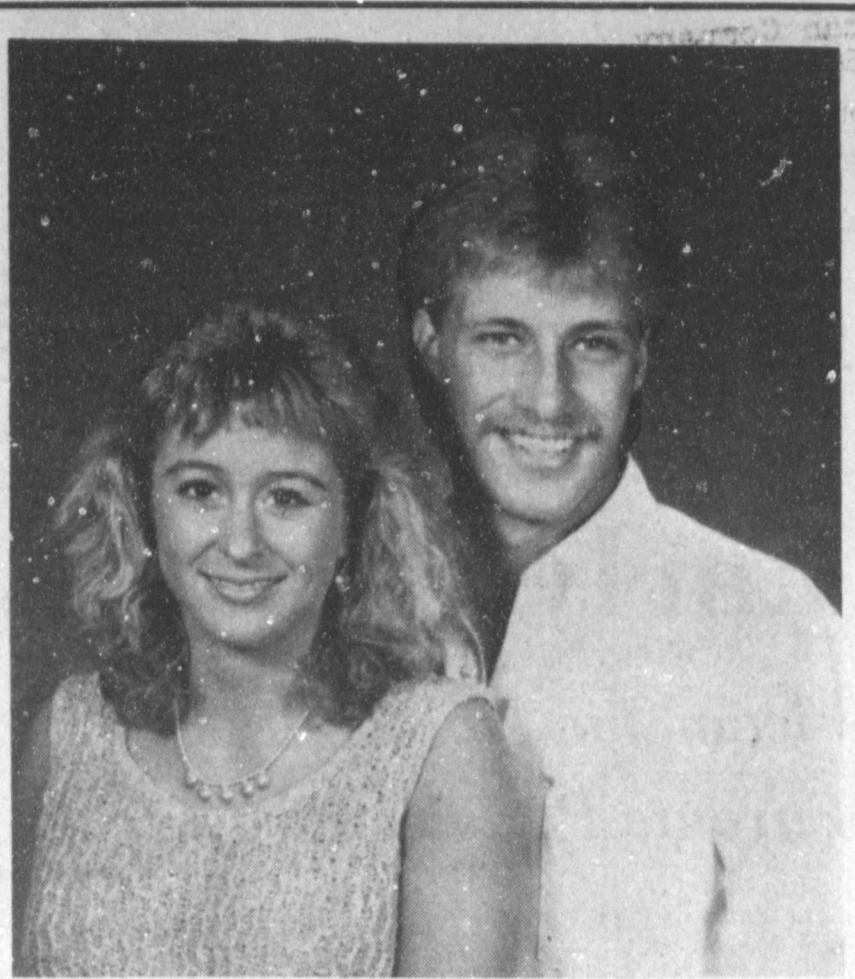

In the new business, as yet unnamed, the Boutells will be carrying a line of casual and western wear.

The Boutells do not plan to concentrate heavily on western boots, although they will be selling boots in their store. Instead, they will be spotlighting tennis shoes, of all types.

The new store will open around August 1.

Texans Facelifting Weathered Woods

Spring is paint-and-fix-up time, and that means sprucing up naturally weathered wooden fences, decks, roofs and siding.

"Texans unhappy with their naturally weathered wooden fences, decks, roofs and siding are giving them a facelift," says Chuck Stayton of Overton, a wood products specialist. "Not only does the wood look new again, but it will last longer."

Stayton, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, advises people who dislike weathered, mildewed looking wood to clean and refinish it. "Cleaning removes mildew and discoloration so that you can refinish uniformly and naturally," says the specialist.

Cleaning is achieved by power washing or bleaching. Apply bleach solution with a plastic garden pump sprayer. Use expensive commercial sprayers only if designed for spraying chlorine, cautions Stayton.

"Folks want exterior wood to have a natural look. So once it's cleaned, apply a pigmented natural wood finish," recommends the specialist. "Most natural finishes provide inadequate protection against mildew and weathering. What you choose will dictate whether you refinish yearly or every three to five years."

Tests conducted at Lufkin by Texas Forest Service wood technologist Brian Buchanan have shown which natural wood finishes work best in the Texas climate. "Most fail within 7 to 18 months, showing pigment breakdown and mildew. There are a few, however, that give three to five years protection before reapplication is necessary," notes Stayton. Pigmented wood preservatives work best. Some have water repellents and some don't.

The best natural wood preservative choices will vary de-

Afternoon Ceremony Unites Miss Terrie Martin, Smith

MRS. RANDY RUSSELL SMITH
(nee Miss Terrie LaDonna Martin)

Miss Terrie LaDonna Martin and Randy Russell Smith were united in marriage on Saturday, May 2 at 3 p.m. in the Lazbuddie Baptist Church. Elder K.B. Martin, grandfather of the bride, read the double ring vows.

Parents of the couple are Elder and Mrs. Don Martin of Muleshoe and Mr. and Mrs. R. Dan Smith of Lazbuddie.

Vows were exchanged before an arch of brass candelabras accented with greenery and white tapers. On each side of the altar was additional brass candelabras with greenery and white tapers. Pews were marked with red satin bows.

Coralynn Jarman, pianist, accompanied Gary Wilcox, Alba Wilcox, Tiffany Parham, Scott Hicks, Brad Johnson and Blane Smith as they sang "Time In A Bottle", "Evergreen", "If", "The Twelfth of Never", "Longer", "Can't Help Falling in Love With You", "I Don't Know About Tomorrow".

Given in marriage by her father and mother and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose to wear her mother's wedding dress. It was made of lace and tulle, designed with a scalloped portrait neckline, accented by sequins and pearls. The long sleeves tapered to petal points over the hands. From the fitted bodice flowed a tulle floor length skirt, featuring a wide band of lace at the hemline. The bride wore an antique watch pen pinned to her shoulder that belonged to her great-great-grandmother Wright. She also wore pearl earrings belonging to her future sister-in-law, and a pearl necklace that belonged to her grandmother Wright.

Her ivory headpiece was a chiffon off-the-face hat. The crown was covered with Alencon lace, seed pearls and sequins that matched the dress. The upsweep was decorated in sprays of seed pearl design. A puff in the back held a fingertip veil with a pencil hem.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of silk red and ivory roses, arranged in greenery trimmed with red, ivory and white satin streamers. The bouquet was atop a white Bible from Jerusalem, given to the bride by the groom's mother.

In keeping with tradition, she wore a watch for something old, something new was her headpiece, something borrowed was the pearl earrings, and something blue was her blue garter that her mother wore. She carried pennies minted in the year of their birth.

On the way to the altar, the bride presented her mother with a long stem red rose and on her way out she presented the groom's mother with a long stem red rose.

Lezlie Smith of Lazbuddie, sister of the groom, served as maid of honor and Kanda Mason of canyon served as bridesmaid. They wore tea length dresses of red taffeta with sweetheart neckline and puffed sleeves, a fitted bodice holding a peplum at the waist over a gathered skirt. Each attendant carried white silk roses with red and white streamers. They each wore a comb of white silk roses as a hairpiece.

Lisa Huckert of Hereford was flower girl. She wore a dress of red satin with capped sleeves, fitted bodice attached to a gathered skirt. She carried a basket containing tiny red and white fabric rose buds.

Brian McKinzie of Longview, cousin of the groom, served as best man and Charles Martin of Muleshoe, brother of the bride, served as groomsman. Ushers were Ken Wilhelm, Wes Jarman, Blane Smith and Scott Hicks. Tyler Black served as ringbearer.

The groom wore an ivory tuxedo with an ivory bow tie and ivory cummerbund. He wore a single red silk rose bud as a boutonniere. All of the other male members of the wedding wore black tuxedos with red bow ties and red cummerbunds. They wore a single silk white rose bud as a boutonniere.

Theresa Sims of Floydada, cousin of the bride, and Gina Jarman of Muleshoe, cousin of the groom, served as candle-lighters. They wore tea length dresses of red satin with capped sleeves, a fitted bodice attached to a gathered skirt. Each wore a white silk rose corsage.

Tiffany Angeley of Muleshoe, registered the guests at a table covered with lace cloth over red underskirt. A brass bed chamber candle holder with red candle adorned the table.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table held a four-tiered cake adorned with cascading red roses. The top of the cake was a Precious Memories bride and groom under an arch of red and white roses and baby's breath. A centerpiece consisting of brass candlesticks topped with red votive candles with the bridal bouquet arranged around them adorned the table. On the table were pictures of the bride and groom when they were children and a picture of them now. The table was covered with a lace tablecloth with a red underskirt. Serving at the bride's table was Suzanne Williams and Lorre Johnson.

The groom's table was covered with a lace tablecloth. Coffee was served from silver appointments. The strawberry cake had a replica of a strawberry basket filled with strawberries on it. Serving at the groom's table was Wendy Jarman and Tazia Smith.

Members of the houseparty included: Tammy Black, Melissa Bass, Lois Ziegler, Priscilla Hicks and Joyce Johnson.

Following a wedding trip to New Mexico, the couple will make their home in Muleshoe.

The bride is a graduate of Muleshoe High School and Jessie Lee's Hair Design Institute and is presently employed at The Honeycomb. Smith is a graduate of Lazbuddie High School and is presently employed at Joe Shipman and Son Body Shop.

told Florida law enforcement officers that Garcia continually threatened her and her family during the three months before his capture.

According to Ida Sotelo's statement to Florida officers, the duo traveled to Louisiana after leaving Texas, and the stolen vehicle was found burned outside Livingston, La. on August 18.

After leaving Louisiana, Ida told officers they traveled to Ohio and Florida, with Garcia telling her, "If you run off, I'll get you. I'll get your family."

The Sotelo family has moved from Muleshoe since the August 3, 1986 shooting and abduction.

Keeping the house under surveillance from all directions were Sgt. Dominguez, Lt. Holmes, Patrolmen Jay Livingston and Gary Maddox, Bailey County Sheriff Bob Henderson and Deputy Sheriff Steve Bearden.

After the warrants were obtained, the officers moved into the house, and took a suspect, Raul Aguilar, into custody. Aguilar declined to give a statement to officers, and would not even tell them his age. Relatives of the suspect said he had arrived in Muleshoe on a fcy dafy bex're the stabbing.

Officers said the victim had been stabbed about three times while in his own front yard, and he ran about 300 yards before collapsing in a neighbor's yard.

At 4:58 a.m. Saturday, Sgt. Bonham informed MPD Dispatcher Mary Vasquez that he had a prisoner in custody. Officers also recovered clothing believed worn by the suspect at the time of the stabbing, along with several knives.

Sgt. Bonham said the victim was still conscious at the time he initially arrived at the stabbing site, and ambulance personnel said he talked "a little" on the way to the hospital before his heart stopped.

At presstime, officers were surmising that Moralez, who was in the 1985 graduating class from Muleshoe High School, had died from loss of blood, although the autopsy will determine the actual cause of death.

"Four areas are critical to the athletic program. Community--- promotion and good commitment. School--- Commitment to education, if athletes is not education we need to kick it out. 'Shine' In TEAMS Tests Lazbuddie Students

Lazbuddie ISD Board of Education, in its regular meeting Monday evening, heard the results of the state-mandated Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills (TEAMS) which was given state-wide to students in grades 3, 5, 7 and 9, in February.

School officials and the Board of Education were pleased with the results reported by Anne R. Farris, elementary principal and high school counselor. The report showed that 100 percent of the students in grades five and seven mastered reading.

Strengths were also shown in the area of mathematics where over 93 percent of the students in grades 5, 7 and 11 demonstrated mastery; at the third and ninth grade levels, 83 percent and 89 percent demonstrated mastery in mathematics.

In writing, the seventh graders led the district with 93 percent mastering. At the ninth grade and eleventh grade levels, 83 percent and 88 percent of the students mastered writing, while 61 percent of the third and fifth graders demonstrated mastery.

There was a significant improvement in the district's overall scores from previous years. The state originally encouraged districts to strive for 85 percent mastery. Lazbuddie students have exceeded the state's original expectations at every grade level in math, in four and five grade levels in reading, and in three of five grade levels in writing.

"Reaching the 100 percent mastery in reading is a goal every school district strives for," said Mrs. Farris. "It's very exciting to see that 100 percent of the students in two grades in Lazbuddie demonstrated mastery in reading."

Joe A. Hall, superintendent, cited a strong instructional program as part of the reason for the district's success. "Teachers at every grade level are aware of the TEAMS objectives and have prepared their curriculum documents to include intense instruction in reading, writing, and mathematics."

Following is a grade level report on the 1986-87 TEAMS results:

Ag Diversification, Profit Conference Set

Many Texas agriculture segments are currently experiencing serious financial problems. One reason is that most agricultural producers are growing and marketing only one or two commodities. This has caused producers statewide to consider alternative crops as a means of diversifying their operations to increase profits.

Producers wanting to evaluate the potential for increasing profitability and diversifying their farm operations by growing crops such as grapes, blueberries, nursery crops and gourmet vegetables will have a unique opportunity to do so on May 26.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service will simultaneously conduct 10 regional conferences on that date entitled "Horticultural Alternatives for Texas Agriculture" at key locations across the state.

Conference site for our area will be at the Extension and Research Center in Lubbock, located north of Lubbock just off of Highway 87 to Amarillo.

Portions of the educational program will be broadcast via satellite to each conference site. In addition, information concerning regional opportunities in horticulture will be presented by Extension specialists and industry leaders from throughout Texas.

Adult Basic Classes Over For This Year

Watson Junior High Library was the setting for the Awards Program for the Adult Basic Education Thursday, May 14, at 7:00 P.M.

Classes including Adult Basic Education, English as a Second Language (ESL) and G.E.D. have been in session since September 30, 1986. 148 students have been enrolled in the three classes. The average attendance each night has been 31 students.

Certificates were given to 12 students for regular attendance; 8 students received superior attendance awards and 1 student received a perfect attendance award. 14 students received achievement certificates and 15 received G.E.D. certificates (equivalent to a high school diploma).

Mary Nell Bleeker, Dean Black and Eneida Saucedo have been the instructors and Elizabeth Watson has been the director.

"Muleshoe I.S.D. is a member of the Lubbock Cooperative for Adult Basic Education," says H. John Fuller, superintendent.

Each conference will open with local introductions, announcements and a welcome. The program will begin at 8:45 a.m. with a discussion by Extension Director Zerle L. Carpenter, who will discuss "Diversifying Texas Agriculture--Potentials for Future Growth," followed by Dr. Lawrence Lippke, Extension economist-management, who will discuss "Horticultural Crops--Making the Right Decision."

After these two satellite presentations, the morning program at each site will focus on "Regional Opportunities for Horticultural Crops" and will be presented by Extension horticulturists, economists, and other production and marketing experts.

The afternoon program will offer a mix of local and satellite programming that covers direct and wholesale marketing of horticultural crops--presented by national, state and local authorities. Direct marketing topics will deal with "pick your own" operations, roadside stands, farmers' markets, marketing through retail outlets and pricing products for profit.

Other topics of interest to producers will include developing a business plan, identifying and evaluating potential markets, processed agricultural products for Texas and wholesale marketing techniques.

Producers desiring more information regarding the program should contact the local county Extension agent or Dr. Sam Corner, Extension horticulturist, at Texas A&M's Horticulture/Forestry Building, College Station, Texas 77843. They can be reached at telephone (409) 845-7341.

Thank You

The Junior Class would like to thank the Merchants of Muleshoe, the Parents of the Jr. & Sr. Class, the Muleshoe High School Faculty and the people of our community for helping with the Junior-Senior Banquet.

TOUCH OF HISTORY

'Doc Indian' Colorful Resident Of Early Bailey County

(Editor's Note: Some stories have been repeated throughout the making of Muleshoe's history. It is up to a few to hand-down these colorful word-pictures, many as humorous and fun to tell today as they were in the 1920's. Dave Coulter, one of the keepers-of-history of this area's early days, has related a few of the more printable stories of Doc Indian for recording in The Journal's Anniversary Edition.)

In every area's pioneering history there are a few outstanding, well-remembered colorful characters.

Among those who lived around Muleshoe and Bailey County and live today in the stories of early-day life on these high plains, are some of the enthusiastic "boosters" such as R.L. Brown, early real estate dealer. Others are so vivid in the remembrances of so many oldtimers that their names live on, not for their civic contributions but because of their personal being. Four are mentioned here, more are brought into other pioneer stories, the hermit - white-bearded Josh Blocher, the cowboys Ollie (O.W.) Laurence and "Buttermilk" Smith, and then "Doc Indian".

"BUTTERMILK" SMITH
One story of an early cowpuncher called "Buttermilk" Smith is typical enough to give a thumb-nail sketch accuracy in portraying this Irish local jester. He was one of the first cowpunchers in this area and worked for the Sixty-nines.

"Buttermilk" Smith said to a one-armed chap one day on the Main Street of Muleshoe: "If you were not one-armed, I'd whip 'ya..." after a small squabble that nearly became a fight.

"...but it t'aint the arm ya lost I'ma 'fraid of - 'tis the one ya have left that scares me..."

Smith worked for many of the early day ranchers in the county.

DOC INDIAN
Bet nearly everyone who was in this area back first decades of the 1900's remembers ole "Doc Indian", who lived around these parts until 1921 or '22...

Toyah Bean was his real name, but everyone called him Doc Indian, because he was a full-blooded Indian (no one knows for sure what tribe) and Doc? Maybe "Doc" came from some of the doctorin' liquid-medicine-drinks he liked so well?

W.E. Halsell brought the Indian with him out of Oklahoma when he established the Mashed O Ranch near Muleshoe in 1901. Doc Indian, who continued to be a Mashed O employee throughout his life regardless of where or for whom else he worked, had his check waiting each month at the Halsell headquarters.

The stories go that he was "a friend of all the ranchers, the settlers - and the women too". He worked for all the ranchers in the area, including the LFSs, the 69s, Muleshoe Ranch, et al.

In Muleshoe's early days the 69 Ranch hands drove some 600 head of cattle to load them and tried to get them across the town of Muleshoe's railroad crossing (the same present 1st street crossing). Some person turned their car lights on, the cattle stampeded through town, and it took a week to get them back. This made Doc Indian so mad that he really abused his (dialected) English language and scoured with words that "ole dumb man..." He told the boys: "Let's go put our horses in the corral and go to the Gupton hotel, (which was located where Ike Robinson's boot shop is now). When he got in his room, he shot the lights out, went down to the dining room and told Mr. Gupton "I wanted to be sure I could eat 'um when I got to the dining room," and eat he did!

Another time Doc Indian got on his horse, rode to Texico, went into a salon, and after a bit, asked the proprietors if they'd sell the salon to him. He stayed around all day, they made the trade for $8,000 - a good sum of money, especially in those days. He gave a check on W.E. Halsell on a Kansas City Bank, told them to check on it with Halsell if they wanted. They wired Halsell; he wired back "Pay the check". But, by that time Doc Indian had gone to sleep; they woke him, he groaned and said, "Don't believe takum," rolled over and went back to sleep.

Once he got into a fight at Friona, after it was over he called Mr. Halsell and asked "What shall I do - kill him?" The answer was "Get on your horse and get back to the ranch." Doc Indian did.

On a fourth of July celebration back before the buffalo left this country, on the LFD ranch he got on his horse, drove buffalo up for the crowd to see, then killed it with his bow and arrow. Then, to the bewilderment of his audience, he sat on top of the animal, stripped off some hide and got some raw meat. He just sat there and ate the raw buffalo meat in front of the crowd!

In Doc's later days, Lud Taylor was a bachelor and had a room in the Gupton hotel. Doc one night went to Lud's room; later Lud saw him, decided just to go elsewhere to spend that night.

The two last stories reflect Doc Indian's "Doctor Jeckle and Mr. Hyde" colorful personality best:

Standing on Main street in Muleshoe with a pint of liquor in his hand, Doc was told by one of his cowboy friends: "Sheriff Douglass will come get that liquor from 'ya..."

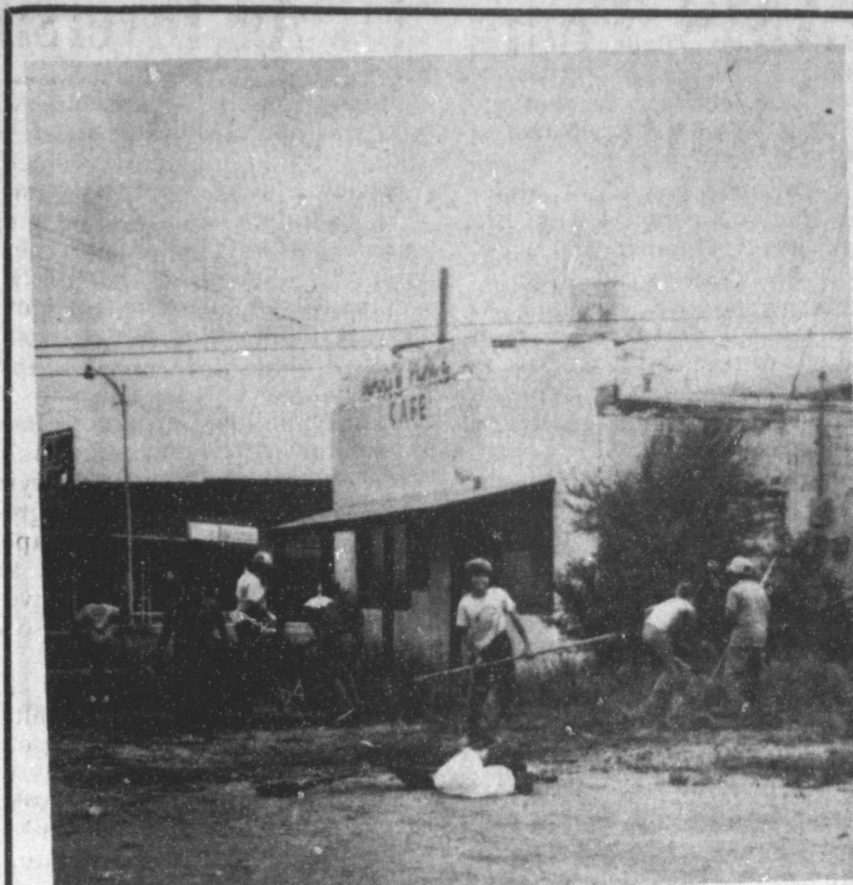

Doc Indian's reply was "No, he'll no gettum my liquor," as he turned up the bottle, emptied it with relish, then threw the bottle down in the street and said, "He can come get ME if He wants me...ugh".

On the other side of his personality, his friends remember the story when Mary Snyder's horse ran away with her on a morning ride to school. Doc Indian thought his horse might have caused her horse's scare, so he came up later to the Snyder home, inquired politely if Mary, then about ten, "gottum home OK?"

So - it seems there are several facts gained from these stories: Doc Indian couldn't express himself without profane language, but he respected Bill Halsell and women in general. It is said he never said "cuss words around any woman". He liked his liquor and he liked to "sleep it off" - and most didn't like to tangle seriously in a quarrel with him. Everyone liked him, enjoyed him, and "showed respect" to him...

These are just a few of the stories of ole Doc Indian, nee Toyah Bean, who lives today as "one of those characters" of early-day Muleshoe.

"Doc Indians" are scarce 'round these parts these days, aren't they?

DESHAZO TEACHERS, AIDES HELP-Donning working and gardening clothing, teachers and aides from the fourth grade at DeShazo Elementary School helped students in a massive clean-up effort Friday. They also hoed, raked and hauled weeds and trash, right along with their students.

Texas' Rural Hospitals In Financial Crisis

Rural hospitals in Texas are in a financial crisis which has steadily worsened in the 1980's. Twenty-one rural Texas hospitals have closed since 1984, with a large number of those closing in the last twelve months.

The problems faced by rural hospitals have been studied for several years by the Southwest Center for the Study of Hospital and Health Care Systems, based on Houston. In a recently released study, the Center claims that the downward economic spiral for rural hospitals can be tracked back to the early 1980's. The cause of the problem is complex.

According to Gerald E. Sussman, PhD, director of the Center, "The combined effects of low occupancy, Medicare certification problems, and lower operating margins in small rural hospitals present a pessimistic outlook for the continued viability of many of these rural hospitals, particularly in a poor economy." Dr. Sussman suggests that more recent data and continued study are needed, focusing on the effects of hospital management, community support, and the state's recent higher unemployment rates.

Because rural hospitals depend heavily on Medicare reimbursement, hospital administrators blame tighter Medicare accreditation standards, peer review requirements, and reduced Medicare payments for their financial instability. The Center's study does not bear this out. Dr. Sussman states, "More objective data suggest these factors are secondary, mainly aggravating the existing financial problem but not providing its root cause. In particular, hospital performance didn't appreciably worsen between 1983 and 1984 when Medicare's prospective payment system and peer review were introduced." The Center will continue to monitor the rural hospital situation to see if these trends continue.

While the Center tracks the cause of the financial problems for rural hospitals, Dr. Sussman and his staff also are actively seeking solutions to the crisis. Commenting on the Center's interest in rural hospitals, Dr. Sussman stated, "We are trying to discover what it is that makes certain hospitals perform better than others and how hospitals with similar problems can be organized and managed to improve their present status." The Center is pursuing the concept of hospital networking as an economical approach to providing needed medical services to the people of Texas, particularly those in the sparsely populated, rural parts of the state.

The Southwest Center for the Study of Hospital and Health Care Systems is a private, nonprofit research corporation, funded by grants from organizations interested in health-care issues. The Center's mission is to study factors which affect the growth, development, and delivery of health-care services.

The year of 1987 has been a good year for the Sudan Fire Dept. Each month we have ambulance and fire runs to make.

In January, we put out 3 fires (55 man hours) and in Feb. had only one (9 man hours). In March, we answered 2 fire calls logging 82 man hours. In April we answered 2 fire calls.

We keep the ambulance busy. In January there were 3 emergency runs and two transfers which totaled 280 miles. We put in 410 miles in March with 6 emergency runs and 4 transfers and in April 310 miles with 4 emergency & 7 transfers.

The department continues to update their education and training. There has been a Server Weather Spotting class to help the department in the spring weather approaching. We also had 5-6 members attend the Lubbock Fire School.

The dept. is always thankful for the donations and memorials that continue to come in. They are always appreciated.

State Budget Disputed By Comptroller

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Monday said he would not certify a state budget based on the idea that "the-check-is-in-the-mail."

"The document must be workable, practical and spell out in black and white how the state intends to pay its bills. It can't be filled with a lot of 'ifs,' 'ands' and 'buts,'" Bullock said.

The state's next budget must be genuinely and realistically balanced before it can be approved, he said.

Bullock who is required by the Constitution to certify the state's budget is balanced before it can become law said a variety of finance ideas pending in the Legislature cause him concern.

"Every suggestion to balance the budget we've seen has enough bells and whistles, contingencies and ornaments hung on it to make it a potentially defective piece of work," he said.

"Land sale plans, bonds, payment transfers, payment delays and voter-approved tax increases may be useful tactics in writing a budget," but the sheer number of them increases the chance that if one part fails or falls the total product will be out of whack," he said.

Accounting tricks were used to balance the last budgets and the state has about run its string on those gimmicks, he said.

Lawmakers need to pass a budget that will cover the state's bills and do so in a timely manner, he said.

Simply put, an incomplete budget, won't balance and can't be certified. Bullock said.

The maximum loan allowed is $5,000, and funds are available for major repairs such as roofing, electrical wiring, plumbing, insulation, storm windows and doors, handicap accessibility and some foundation work.

Income, credit history, need for repairs and ability to repay will all be considered. Income limits will be based on family size and combined yearly income. Loans are repaid on five percent interest, with length of time for repayment to be on a sliding scale.

Priority will be given to elderly, handicapped and to low income individuals. Each applicant should bring proof of home ownership such as the deed (must have been living in the home for one year immediately prior to applying); income verification for 1986, such as W-2 or Social Security determination letter; and, Property Tax Receipts (taxes must be current).

GESC has also been designated as an approved counseling service by HUD and the Texas Veterans Land Board to provide information, assistance, and advice to prospective and current homeowners regarding housing questions or problems. These services are open to everyone and there is no charge to the client for them.

Anyone wishing more information or wishing to apply is encouraged to phone Mary Baiza or Margy McMennamu at 1-800-692-4425 or locally, 1-744-4416.

Senator Gets 'Thanks' For Bills

Texas Civil Justice League officials today publicly thanked Sen. Bill Sarpalius for his staunch support of a package of tort reform bills that passed the Texas Senate on Wednesday.

League officials said Sarpalius' decision to co-sponsor the package played a key role in the package's overwhelming victory in the senate.

"Senator Sarpalius made an important and courageous decision when he decided to co-sponsor the tort-reform package," said Rusty Kelley of Austin, a spokesman for the League. "He recognized that tort reform was controversial but that it also desperately was needed in Texas."

"He stood up to the opponents of tort reform and put himself and his senatorial district on record as supporting the package. That sent an important message to his fellow senators, a message that could not be ignored," Kelly said.

Tort reform is being sponsored by the League and numerous other groups as a means of ending the liability insurance crisis in Texas. The package of bills that passed Wednesday made several major changes in Texas' tort law, that part of the law that allows people to sue when they have been injured by another person's wrongful actions.

Among other things, the package would cap the amount juries can award in most tort cases and restructure payments in case of an award. The package in no way restricts the right of an individual or groups with a legitimate grievance to sue.

"This tort reform package is a good starting point," Sarpalius said of the bills. "It puts an end to the outrageous and unfair jury awards that are driving up the cost of insurance for all Texans while still protecting the basic legal rights all Texans enjoy. It has been an honor to co-sponsor this package."

bock, author of the bills, indicated Sarpalius' enthusiasm was important to the packages success.

"It is important to have co-sponsors like Bill Sarpalius working for tort reform," Montford said. "His signing on to the bill told everyone that an important part of the state was solidly behind our tort-reform effort."

League spokesman Kelley agreed with Montford's assessment, saying, "We cannot overstate the importance of Senator Sarpalius' action."

"He did not rush into this issue half-cocked," Kelley said. "He studied the package carefully, made sure it was good for his constituents, then signed on. His integrity in joining the effort proved this wasn't a piece of narrow, special-interest legislation. It showed tort reform was something beneficial to all Texans."

Nursing Home News

by Joy Stancell

J.C.Shanks came Sat. to give hair cuts and shaves to our men.

Lona Embry, Joyce Turnbow, and Mrs. Stonecipher visited Tues. afternoon.

The Nursing Home will continue to do the Nursing Home project. Please don't forget us.

We were so pleased that a great number of our residents family and friends attended our Mother's Day Party Thurs. We thank each one of you for coming.

Curtis Shelburne from the Ave. D. Church of Christ brought fresh cut carnations for our ladies. We thank him for this.

Louise King and Lula Maye Shanks and Mrs. Gilliland baked home made pies for the residents Tues. We thank them for doing this. Also to Louise for serving them. I hear they were "just out of this world".

Lois Ethridge was a guest of Laverne James for the Mother's Day luncheon at the Progress Baptist Church Sat. Lois received a big bouquet and a corsage from her children on Mother's Day.

Berdie Warren was visited by James and Fern Warren, Richard and Ricki Warren and children. She received a corsage and bouquets of flowers from her family to honor her on Mother's Day.

Cordelia Cochran was visited by her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Coffman, of Rotan, Sun.

Ora Roberts was a dinner guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sim Clark Sun. She was visited by Dolly Spell of Farwell and her son, Sun.

Our thanks to the Truth Seekers and Mary Martha S.S. Class from The First Baptist church for their donation to our Activity Fund.

Clara Weaver went to her home in Lazbuddie Mother's Day. She received flowers and gifts for Mother's Day. She was visited last week by her friend Eula Dale.

The Nursing Home has some tomato and pepper plants. We appreciate the T.L.C. that the residents are giving them. They appear to be thriving on it. Mr. Coffey is out there every day giving them a good watering.

Ora Roberts, Allie Barbour, Emma Schuster, Beryl Hall and Mildred Nieman, all were out on Mother's Day with their family.

Mary Sesimore received several phone calls and a pot plant for Mother's Day.

We would like to welcome our new resident. She is Prudence Martin, she was born in Indian Territory, Okla., Nov. 21, 1906. She is a member of the Methodist Church.

Stella Morgan received phone calls or visits from all of her eight children over the Mother's Day weekend.

Velma Gwyn came Fri. afternoon to play the piano for the residents. She played some well known Gospel songs and some fun songs while the residents sang along. Special guest was M.E. Hickman.

Olin Whitmire was visited by Zeffie Shafer and Wanda Shafer Wed. afternoon.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

What's Happening In This Area

FOURTH GRADE STUDENTS IN CLEAN-UP--Wielding hoes, rakes, shovels and wheel barrows, fourth grade students from DeShazo Elementary spent Friday on a "field trip." The field trip entailed participating in the May Clean-up and Beautification project in the City of Muleshoe.

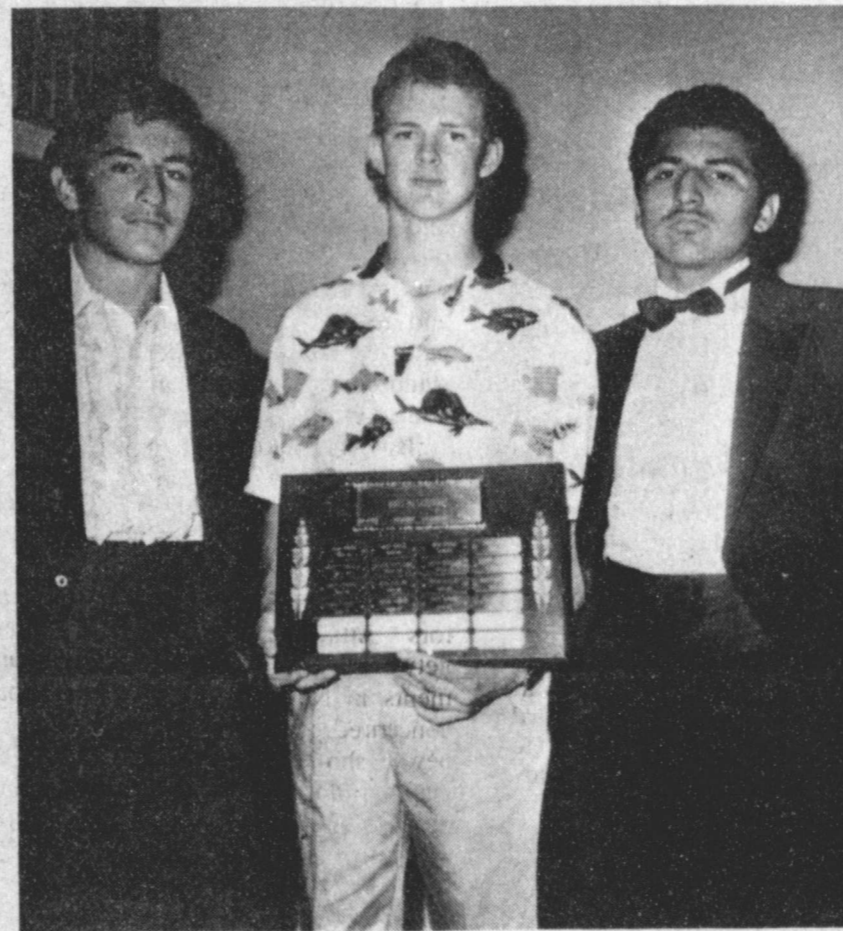

SPIRIT AWARD RECIPIENTS--Shane Mason and Cathy Schacher were the recipients of the "Spirit Award" Tuesday night at the Lazbuddie Longhorn Athletic banquet. Both Mason and Schacher are seniors at Lazbuddie High School.

MAKING THE WEEDS GO AWAY--Industrious, ambitious fourth graders spent Friday cleaning lots, planting flowers and hauling trash. The young people had a "brown bag" lunch at the fire station and popsicles when they finished their work day.

SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENT--Isreal Infante was the recipient of the Study Club scholarship at their annual dinner Thursday night. Shown with Infante Lois Witherspoon, left, and Joyline Costen.

GOLF WINNERS--Winners of the golf awards for the 1986-87 school year were Greg Young for the boys, and Heather Hutton for the girls. They were awarded during the annual All-Sports Banquet at Muleshoe High School.

CLEANING UP-ALL DAY--Fourth grade students spent the day "putting the adults to shame" on Friday, when they spent all day in a clean-up and beautification project along American Blvd. and in the city parks. The students left things looking a lot better when they finished what they had time to do.

TV Newsmen

A major flap was kicked up in the media recently when CBS News laid off two hundred employees. Of course that was tough on those fired and fellow citizens sympathize. One can understand the strike and related efforts.
But the hard truth is that the news departments of the three commercial networks are all bloated. There are hundreds of writers and editors sitting around in network news departments in New York City concerned with a few news shows daily and very few documentaries.
With new owners of the networks, who look at production and costs cold-bloodedly, layoffs were certain.

KNOW THE WEATHER

Do inverted air masses cause tornadoes? Are the causes of tornadoes known and understood?
Many weather experts agree that inverted air masses make for tornado conditions. This is logical from the standpoint that heavier air falling through to lower altitudes is likely to set off all kinds of disturbances and whirls.
The varied causes of tornadoes are not fully understood—even with all the modern scientific knowledge at our disposal. The theory that inverted air masses produce tornadoes is one of several. This theory holds that heavier air, pouring down, gets turned or twisted in a whirlwind manner and creates one or more tornadoes.
The inversion and the rushing and falling air masses might cover an area of a hundred miles or more, while the small tornadoes created might be separated by many miles, each less than a mile in diameter and some never touching the surface of the earth. One small tornado, either bouncing off the surface or staying above, is often the result of an inversion—though several are more often produced.
