

Wheat, Corn Loan Rates to be Boosted

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is giving the nation's farmers a billion-dollar boost in federal price-support loan rates in a move that administration officials say will have little impact on food prices for American consumers.

Officials said retail food prices will edge slightly higher as a result of Carter's action.

Carter told farm leaders at the White House that he felt "deep concern about the unfortunate plight of farmers and ranchers in particular this year with the unbelievable pressure on them from the cost-price squeeze."

"Increases in the cost of fuel, fertilizer and other production items have out-paced increases in farm receipts, causing net income for many farmers to fall this year," he said, noting that some of the nation's farmers also have been "hit by the effects of drought."

Jack Felgenhauer, president of the National Association of Wheat Growers, said he was "just elated" by the announcement.

"I think this is the best thing that has happened to the wheat industry in two years," Felgenhauer said, adding that it will put more money in farmers' pockets "and we certainly need it."

Price-support loan rates determine the amount of money farmers can borrow from the government using their grain as collateral.

Agriculture Department officials said retail food costs will be slightly higher because of the move, but they noted that "more grain will be in reserve to protect against crop shortages" in the future.

"Consumers of wheat products will pay about $150 million more for those products — less than 0.3 cents per loaf of bread," a background paper said. "If the higher feed (corn and other grains) were all passed on to meat consumers, meat prices would rise by less than 0.5 cents per pound."

Overall, it said, the higher crop supports could boost the government's consumer price index by about 0.1 percent.

The higher loan rates will be available to farmers for their 1980 crops as quickly as new regulations can be put into effect, officials said.

The price-support loan rates for wheat are being raised to $3 a bushel from the $2.50 previously in effect for 1980. The rates for corn, with adjustments also for other feed grains, were raised to $2.25 a bushel, up from the previous $2.10 a bushel. Soybean loans, at $4.50 a bushel for the 1979 crop, were announced at $5.02 for the 1980 harvest.

The package also will raise "release" and "call" levels for the government's grain-reserve program to reflect the increased loan rates.

Almost A Hit

Hereford batter Brian Taylor (10) follows through with his swing and almost looks as if he expects to see the ball sailing over the left field fence in Saturday's first championship bracket Babe Ruth All-Star contest in deciding the region's representative. Taylor added up three singles in that first semifinal game as the Hereford squad rolled over Plainview 12-4 (a game Hereford had to win in order to compete against the Plainview team in the finals of the tourney). Hereford then won the second bout of the day over Plainview by a margin of 12-7 in order to win the tournament with a 5-1 playoff series mark, and as a result will compete in the Region Tournament in New Orleans at an undecided date. Shah Gets State Funeral

CAIRO (AP) — President Anwar-Sadat gave his old friend deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi a Moslem state funeral today surrounded by one of the heaviest security guards ever seen in Cairo to protect the dead man's family from assassination.

White-uniformed police armed with semi-automatic rifles and carbines lined the 1-mile route along which Sadat and the Pahlavi family walked behind the closed, flag-draped coffin to the Al Rifai Mosque where it was to be entombed.

Most of the police stood shoulder to shoulder and held ropes to contain the expected crowds. But there were few spectators behind the police lines as six horses pulled the coffin on a caisson through the streets.

Sadat led the procession behind the caisson, flanked by former President Richard Nixon and the dead man's oldest son and heir, former Crown Prince Reza, 19.

Plainclothesmen were in side streets and on rooftops along the route. Machine-gun crews were stationed on the roofs at strategic points. Truckloads of riot police were parked in side streets, and military police and riot police were deployed throughout the area.

The body of the 60-year-old former monarch was brought in a closed coffin this morning from the military hospital where he died Sunday to the Abdeen Palace, where Sadat's offices are located in the center of Cairo.

Draped in the red, green and white imperial flag of Iran, it was placed on a two-foot-high dais in the center of the 100-foot-square marble central hall and lay in state. Four Egyptian officers in khaki dress uniform from the commandos, army, navy and air force stood at each corner, and a brass incense burner seven feet from the head of the catafalque perfumed the hall.

The shah's widow, former Empress Farah Diba, arrived in a black limousine with Prince Reza. The shah's twin sister, Princess Ashraf, came after her in a separate car. Both women were dressed in black, with black scarves on their heads.

They were met by Sadat, wearing the uniform of the commander-in-chief of the Egyptian armed forces, and his wife, Jihan, in black with a long black scarf around her head.

The two families paused briefly by the coffin, went upstairs to Sadat's office, then came back down again for the silent reading of prayers from the Koran after the arrival of other relatives and close friends of the Pahlavis, Egyptian officials and representatives of foreign governments.

The most prominent foreign mourners were two out-of-power former allies of the dead man, Nixon and ex-King Constantine of Greece. Foreign governments either designated their ambassadors in Cairo to represent them or sent no one to the funeral for fear of angering the revolutionary regime that drove Pahlavi from his throne 17 months ago.

Nixon came as a private citizen, to pay his "last respects to a friend for 30 years, a loyal friend and ally of the U.S."

Picketing Calmer Monday

By JIM STEIERT
Farm Editor

Picketers for the Texas Farm Workers Union returned to "vegetable row" along Hereford's New York Avenue Monday afternoon and resumed their activities at the Barrett-Fisher Co. packing shed for a brief time before moving westward to target the T.J. Power & Co. facilities here.

TFWU picketers numbering only about 20-30 were on hand at the Power shed at mid-afternoon Monday waving their red banners and attempting to lure employees of the vegetable packing firm from their jobs and into the farm strike.

The taut nerves accompanying picketing activity here Friday were not in evidence as TFWU supporters began another week of their strike as the onion harvest winds down toward its conclusion.

Picketers were present at the Barrett-Fisher shed for only a minimal time Monday before moving on, and failed to effect an interruption of work at either local packing shed.

Perhaps some of the most tense moments of the farm-worker strike, which has continued since mid-June, occurred Friday afternoon when pickets targeted the Barrett-Fisher shed and voiced demands for a guaranteed 40 hour work week for shed employees, a wage of $6 per hour, time-and-a-half for overtime and an arbitration committee to discuss complaints with local growers.

Approximately 14 workers at Barrett-Fisher failed to return to work following the lunch break Friday, prompting TRIA attorneys to contact the packing shed asking for a meeting with shed officials to discuss "worker grievances," according to spokesman for B-F.

The request was turned down. Tension mounted Friday when picketers blocked the path of loaded potato trucks after the drivers had washed down their loads across the street from the B-F shed.

Police were summoned to the scene and escorted loaded potato trucks to the shed amid a barrage of taunts and name calling.

Despite the verbal barrage, officers at the scene remained restrained.

Wes Fisher of Barrett-Fisher reported that at least three truck drivers were struck in the head by rocks thrown by children with the picketers Friday.

"There is a point that must be made in the minimum wage issue, and that is the fact that many of these sheds are paying the minimum wage and are also paying the rent and utilities for employees," stated Fisher concerning the demands of picketers.

"We've had one real busy week and one slow week, and this week will be a busy one again for potatoes. We weren't ever shut down by strikers," stated Fisher, whose firm has been the previous target of picketers in the area onion strike.

Picketing activities remained peaceful Monday afternoon with Hereford police officers on hand to keep an eye on proceedings.

Harvesting of the area's onion and potato crops continues at a good clip with only about two weeks left in this year's onion harvest.

TFWU strike organizers and supporters have vowed they will return to the area next year, possibly during the spring onion planting season, to continue their battle, and may also carry it into the region's lettuce fields this fall.

A number of area growers are giving early indications that they may drastically reduce or even abandon onion production for next year, however.

Prices for High Plains onions remain on the skimpy side for growers this year, with most producers doing well to meet their cost of production at the $4 to $5 per 50 pound bag rate being paid in the market.

The potato market, off to a strong start in early July, is still holding up for local growers who are looking to move through their crop quickly to take advantage of the market peak.

Harvesting of red potatoes in the area is expected to close out within a week, while white potatoes are coming on stream now.

Even "stripper" potatoes which fail to make the premium grades are going at a strong $10 per hundredweight clip locally at this time, while premium grade potatoes boxed in count cartons are selling at $22 per cwt.

Commission Votes to Seek Bids, Eyes Fireworks Resolution

By JIM STEIERT

Deaf Smith County commissioners moved through a full agenda Monday morning considering several items pertaining to bids and county maintenance work, then turning their attention to explaining an increase in county taxes in an afternoon public hearing.

County fathers approved a motion to adjust the salaries of county Extension employees, boosting those salaries by seven percent.

Commissioners opted to advertise for bids for a backhoe for Precinct 2 and a pickup for Precinct 3 with bids on both items of equipment to be opened August 11.

Revenue sharing money, in addition to funds left over from county road topping work will be used for the purchases.

County fathers also approved a project to seal coat 1 3/4 miles in an area known as the Deaf Smith County Feedyard road with the project to be funded through revenue sharing monies.

Travel expenses for county officials and employees received the attention of the commissioners, who gave the nod to an allowance of 22 cents per mile.

Commissioners also accepted a bid from Jake Diel Dirt & Paving Contractors for caliche for 15th Street. The bid was $4.75 per cubic yard, delivered.

A discussion on a civil defense communications system was tabled until the Sept. 8 meeting of the commission.

The contract for the county probation office was also given approval for 1980-81 during Monday's session.

By-laws for the child welfare board were also approved.

Commissioners voted Monday to send a resolution to the state legislature seeking a local option to control the sale of fireworks in the county.

The action comes in the wake of a fire-plagued July 4 holiday period here

In another matter, commissioners gave time to the discussion of a resolution concerning rabies control in the county before approving the resolution.

County fathers also approved paying attorney's fees in a civil action over redistricting here.

Following Monday morn-ing's regular meeting commissioners returned at 5 p.m. for a public hearing on intent to increase taxes.

Approximately 18 individuals were on hand for the one hour meeting and questioned commissioners on the new tax rate, which will represent a 33.3 percent increase in county taxes.

Alien Admittance Asked

DALLAS (AP) — Lawyers for a group of illegal Mexican alien children have asked a federal judge to order the Dallas Independent School District to admit alien pupils this fall.

U.S. District Judge Robert Hill took no action on the request filed Monday. He said he had not yet received a copy of a ruling made last week in Houston that declared a Texas law prohibiting the use of state funds to educate illegal aliens is unconstitutional.

The ruling by U.S. District Judge Woodrow Seals last week serves to open Texas public schools to illegal aliens since school districts had cited the state law in either charging tuition or turning aliens away.

Seals did not actually rule in a case filed by a group of illegal aliens in Dallas, but sent the case back to Hill for final disposition.

The Dallas case was to be heard by Hill until it was consolidated with 16 similar cases and assigned to Seals.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says profane language is a device for making ignorance audible.

Time isn't so scarce. What is rare is the proper and intelligent use of time.

Some folks are surprised to learn that 98 percent of America's young men are registering for the draft without fuss or fanfare.

From reading about the protestors and seeing accounts of the protests on television, one might think it was a widespread, strongly-backed movement. Such is not the case. While the protestors make the most noise and get the publicity, most young American men are going about their business, registering and preparing for what could be military service in the future.

The same thing happens in many other protest movements. Small self-interest groups have learned how to use the news media—especially the tv cameras—to get their views before the public. Too often, the media stresses the actions of the protestors, who are anxious to get the publicity.

In many cases, the protest groups are not doing anything when the cameras are not around. What we need, perhaps, is more selective reporting by the media.

A member of the older generation called us yesterday to report an incident which restored his faith in the younger generation.

The man was taking his afternoon ride on a bicycle when he turned a corner, hit a wet spot, and lost control. He went sprawling on the pavement, but sustained little damage—except to his pride.

A car loaded with happy and talkative teenage girls happened to be passing at that time and witnessed the mishap. The car turned around, reports our story teller, and came back to the scene.

"The girls showed real concern and asked if I was hurt, or if there was anything they could do. They didn't know me and I didn't know them, but it made me feel real good to see their concern about a bald-headed old man."

This, too, is Hereford.

We have all heard the old saying, "your actions speak so loudly, I can't hear what you say."

In this year of political promises, we must remember that it is possible for a candidate for political office to say he is in favor of one thing, then vote for laws or appoint persons to regulatory positions that are in direct opposition to that position.

Where possible, it's always better to look at deeds, results and past records than to listen to words and promises.

Rain Day Fete Makes Big Splash

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP) — At 1:10 a.m. today, Waynesburg became "Rainsburg" and townsfolk knew their "Rain Day" celebration would be a real splash.

The early morning shower made it the 92nd time in the past 105 years that it has rained here on July 29, according to local weather watchers.

Local newspaper correspondent John O'Hara reported it wasn't raining "heavy amounts, but it is a shower, splattering around all over the place, enough to get you wet."

This southern Pennsylvania town of 5,000 has turned the odd tradition of a July 29th rainfall into an annual festival that's celebrated rain or shine. The National Weather Service said skies would clear later today.

In the old days, farmers would kill a black snake and hang it over an oak post to guarantee rain.

But Waynesburg residents tried a more modern form of hocus-pocus this year — they washed their cars and left the lawn furniture out in the yard.

"They figure that's a sure fire deal to bring rain," said O'Hara.

Abortion Funding Cutback is Nixed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The state Supreme Court has ordered California officials not to curtail funds for abortions for welfare recipients until the panel can rule on the issue.

Under the 1980 state budget, funds for abortions sought by women who receive Medi-Cal benefits, a form of guaranteed health insurance available to the state's lower income residents, would be severely reduced as of Aug. 16.

Opponents of the cut filed a petition Thursday, saying 8,000 women a month would be deprived of safe abortions if the reduction occurred.

Stays similar to the one granted Monday by the high court had been granted earlier on petitions filed by the Committee to Defend Reproductive Rights and others against restrictions in the 1978 and 1979 budgets.

After holding hearings, the high court postponed oral arguments on the 1978 and 1979 budgets to September. The 1980 budget issue will likely be added to the calendar, court observers say.

Mediation Seen In Actors' Strike

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Federal mediation may begin within a week in an effort to settle a Hollywood actors' walkout that also is producing pink slips for thousands of behind-the-scenes workers.

"We've been in touch with both parties," Phyllis Cayse of the Federal Mediation Service said Monday. "It appears that I will have to bring them back together. We will be scheduling a meeting in the near future — I would suspect not longer than a week from now."

Ms. Cayse cautioned, however, that mediators cannot force a resolution to the strike, which has virtually shut down the $1.5 billion film-TV industry.

"The only power that we have is to call a meeting. We have no legal way of forcing the parties to that meeting," Ms. Cayse said.

Before a meeting can be scheduled between producers, the Screen Actors Guild and the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists, a new musicians' union pact must be signed, she said.

The producers broke off talks with the actors last week — three days after SAG called its strike July 21 — to negotiate with the American Federation of Musicians. The AFM agreement expires Thursday.

Car Output Least In Two Decades

DETROIT (AP) — This year's domestic car output could be the smallest in almost two decades, according to a trade publication.

The five major manufacturers plan to make fewer cars in the fall quarter than at any time since 1970, Ward's Automotive Reports said Monday. The tentatively scheduled output of 1,679,000 cars for October, November and December would be 10 percent below the fourth quarter of 1979.

That would make 1980 production 6.44 million, 23 percent below the 8.42 million cars built in 1979 and the fewest since 5.52 million were built in 1961.

In the 1975 and 1970 recession years, 6.71 million and 6.55 million cars were produced, respectively. In 1970, 1,365,000 cars were produced in the fourth quarter.

Third-quarter production, always the lowest of the year because of the annual model change, was estimated at 1,342,000, down 19 percent from last year's third quarter.

Weather

By The Associated Press
Widely scattered showers were forecast today for West Texas and South Texas.

The remainder of the state was to have clear to partly cloudy skies and continued hot temperatures.

Highs were to range from the 90s in East Texas and Southeast Texas to 105 in West Texas and up to 108 in Northeast Texas.

Temperatures were expected to climb above the 100-degree mark for the 37th consecutive day in Wichita Falls and in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

A few thunderstorms were reported during the night in the Panhandle and South Plains, but the activity died out long before dawn. A few showers were reported early today along middle sections of the Texas coast and some fog was reported along the coast.

Taco Villa Opens

One of Hereford's newest businesses, Taco Villa, had its formal grand opening here Saturday morning with the Hereford Hustlers conducting a ribbon-cutting ceremony. The Hustlers, a chamber of commerce group, welcomed the new firm and executive vice-president Mike Carr presented the manager with a C of C plaque. Taco Villa is located on west Hwy. 60. Several Taco Villa officials were on hand for the opening.

Suspects, Police Collide

A Hereford Police patrol car collided Sunday night with a 1977 Pontiac Trans Am, driven by two Hispanic 16 year olds, following a chase of the stolen car by officers.

The car, owned by Richard Dickson, 828 S. Texas, Apt. 7 was reported stolen Monday night. Dickson had left the car parked in front of the bowling alley.

Shortly after receiving the report, officers spotted the car, and gave chase. The collision occurred when the Trans Am made a u-turn, police said.

The youths have been charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, evading arrest, and have been issued a traffic citation. Damage to the patrol car is estimated at $600.

A fight Sunday afternoon at 224 Ave. H resulted in one man being hit in the head with a cinderblock, police said.

Danny Castillo, 303 Witherspoon, is currently in stable condition at Deaf Smith General Hospital after having several stitches taken in his head.

Police said they thought the fight occurred over a woman. Over $1000 worth of merchandise was hoisted from El Chiflo record store, 134 N. Main.

After gaining entrance by breaking out a back door window, burglars made off with nine stereos, three guitars, a T.V., a ring set, and two gold necklaces.

Police said they are currently investigating a reported case of child abuse. The case involves a six month old boy who had bruises about his face and back, according to police.

Five other cases of theft were reported by police over the weekend.

Lucy Lovington, 422 Long Street reported the theft of an adding machine.

The theft of two bottles of rubbing alcohol and a bottle of liquor was reported by Mrs. Eulogio Valdez, 511 Knight. Police said entrance to the house was gained by breaking a window and removing the screen.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of a person who left the Chateau Inn, 505 W. 1st Street, without paying a bill of $36.95.

LeRoy Tohm, 123 Quince, reported the theft of a tire. The tire was in the back of his pickup, parked in the front yard of his residence.

An undetermined amount of cash was taken from the Greyhound Bus Station, 923 E. 21st St., where burglars entered by breaking out a glass door.

Three cases of vandalism were also reported to police over the weekend.

Coby Lessiter, 247 Hickory, who has a paper route, advised police that when he went out to pick up his papers, usually delivered between 3:30 and 4 a.m., they were scattered all over his yard and the yards of his neighbors.

A mail box belonging to Walter Warren, 801 Baltimore, was knocked down, and three young boys attempted to tear down a stop sign at 13th and Blevins.

Two prowler reports were taken, police said, and one harassing phone call was reported.

Police issued five traffic citations Monday night, and investigated five non-offense reports.

Vesco Said Engineer Of 'Billygate' Affair

WASHINGTON (AP) — As Senate investigators try to find out whether the Billy Carter-Libyan affair is merely a case of a "boob" brother or one of White House influence peddling, two senators say fugitive financier Robert Vesco claims to have engineered the whole deal to embarrass President Carter.

Sens. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., and Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, who interviewed Vesco in the Bahamas over the weekend, said Monday they were skeptical about the Vesco story.

DeConcini said he wasn't convinced, but Hatch said Vesco has been right before and he thinks further investigation might bear out the allegation that Vesco arranged Libyan payments of $220,000 to Billy Carter that the president's brother said was a loan.

The two senators said Vesco maintained his motive was vengeance for the administration's refusal to drop federal fraud and embezzlement charges against him.

Dr. Plummer Feted At Clinic

Dr. Dennis Plummer, a family practitioner, was honored with an appreciation luncheon here last week at the South Plains Health Providers Clinic.

Approximately 25 persons attended the luncheon to express gratitude to Dr. Plummer, who has been coming to the clinic since March of 1979. The clinic is located in the San Jose community.

Dr. Plummer will continue coming to the clinic on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. He and his wife, Leone, have one daughter, Mrs. Plummer is clinical director of the medical-surgical units at Northwest Texas Hospital.

"I want as many persons to receive quality health care, and so I'm here to do my part," stated Dr. Plummer. "Our staff here at the clinic has been of great assistance to me."

Mrs. Witherspoon Retiring from Bell

Inez Witherspoon of 121 Greenwood is retiring from Southwestern Bell after 30 years service. She commutes to Amarillo where she has worked as group manager-operator services for the past four years.

Witherspoon joined Southwestern Bell here as an operator in 1936. She resigned in 1941 during the war to raise her family. She then returned temporarily in 1954. A week later she had a permanent position.

"I started back to work just until I saved enough money for a sewing machine. I got my machine and I've been with Bell ever since," Witherspoon said.

Witherspoon is active in the First Baptist Church and the Hereford Study Club.

Retirement plans include travel with her husband James. They have four daughters.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

This note is only to say "thank you" to the staff at Deaf Smith General Hospital for the help and consideration given my child, Kimerly Padilla.

The doctors and nurses were very helpful and thoughtful, and to me that is a rare thing in this time and age. My daughter says that if she ever gets sick, she wants to go get better at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Respectfully,
Parents of Kimerly Padilla
Dear Editor:

Thank you, TRIA and TFWU, for insuring us a harvest in the future.

We very likely will not be harvesting any kind of vegetables ten years from now. But with the dragon's teeth you are sowing now, we will be assured of having to reap a harvest ten years from now of hatred and lawlessness.

The cop-cussing, obscene-gesturing little children who will be 15 to 20 years old by then will still be with us, while you who work for "progress" will have moved on to safer and more comfortable regions.

Our town and area will be a great deal more "bi-cultural" than it has ever been, thanks to the introduction of "confrontations" instead of working together mutually on problems.

William Blake, who was a great theologian as well as poet, said "He who would do good to another must do it in minute particulars; general good is the plea of the scoundrel, hypocrite, and flatterer."

Mrs. Beryl Fish

Dear Editor:

Can people really be that ignorant? Any person knows that if you stand or walk on the street right-of-way, you are liable to get hurt by oncoming traffic.

Who's the "Pig" or "Dog"? Is he the peace officer who tries to keep our town a nice community in which to live, or is he a person who believes in violence? Is he a person who tries to prevent crime or is he a person who wants to start a crime?

Is he a person who gives good advice to your children or is a "Pig" the militant who wants your children to do wrong? I personally think that our community is blessed to have peace officers of the law, that know right from wrong and that try to carry out justice.

Next time you need a policeman, call a peace officer. And next time you need a "Pig", call a militant.

Another point of interest—everytime that I have felt I needed an increase in wages, I personally would ask my employer for a raise. I have never needed or asked someone else to do the talking for me. My employer and I have come to understand each other. Whenever there's a problem that needs to be solved, we just sit down and discuss it.

We all believe in earning a decent wage, and striking is not the best way in the world to ask for a raise. I think if the local farm laborers would have gotten together and gone before the local sheds, an agreement would have probably been reached. I know the local farm laborer doesn't need an "outsider" to come do the talking for him or his family.

My wife and I have seven children and it is our responsibility to feed them and bring them up the best way we can. They work, but it's because they want to work and not because I tell them. They may not work in the fields next year, however. Why? Because of some things the union organizers have failed to mention to the people.

1. Union dues will have to be paid.

2. All unions require that employees be over 18 years.

3. If you are not a member of the union, you may not be able to get a field contract.

These are just three good reasons. Think about them and remember machines are replacing people every day.

I know a person, or union organizer, who gets $250 a week. Yes, he gets paid $250 a week just to brain-wash people and stir up trouble.

If this letter is printed in your paper, Mr. Editor, I thank you for the space for it. Because tomorrow or the day after, the strikers will leave Deaf Smith County and it will be up to people like us—who care about the community—to patch up things that others have messed up.

Another thing, my family is not going to put up with any "bad mouthing" from a union organizer or anyone else.

A Concerned Citizen,

School Work
College work-study plans are mushrooming. In 1961, there were only 63 of these programs, which alternate classroom study with off-campus jobs. There are now 1,000 throughout the United States and Canada. Their main purpose: to help students meet rising tuition costs while giving them practical work experience.

Art Soiree Draws Good for BB/BS

An Art Soiree, sponsored by Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Hereford, was held Sunday evening at Hereford Country Club with approximately 180 persons attending.

Twenty-nine pieces of art were given away during the dinner with JoAnn Dwyer, BB-BS executive director, serving as mistress of ceremonies.

Special entertainment for the event was provided by Bobby and Bera Boyd, Sharon Hodges, Beverly Bryant, and Ray Owens. Dinner music was provided by Jennifer Jesko and Jean Marie Dwyer.

Margaret London and Glenda Keenan served as co-chairmen for the annual event. An Art Show and Sale preceded the event Sunday afternoon.

Art works for the show were displayed during the week at the two local banks and at the Funny Farm.

Proceeds from the soiree will help fund the operation of the BB-BS organization here in Hereford.

Art Soiree Recipients

Miss Willis Feted At Shower

A bridal shower honoring Elizabeth Willis, bride-elect of Roger Jesko, was held Saturday in the home of Mrs. Edgar Jesko, 148 Oak St.

An arrangement of fresh white and apricots with peace roses and touches of baby's breath furnished by Mrs. R.L. Wilson was the central attraction of the table, covered with a lace tablecloth of apricot over an ivory underliner.

Ann Landers

Using Names In Conversation

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have never had the nerve to speak out and tell people when they do something that bothers me. So, like many of your writers, I am using you as an intermediary for my "dirty work."

This person wants to be a super-salesman. He is taking a course on how to win friends and influence people and has gone off the deep end.

Somewhere in the book it says, "Everyone likes to have his or her name used in a conversation." So this is what it's like: "Hello, Betty." "How are you, Betty?" "What's new, Betty?" From then on he Bettys me to death. I want to jump out of my skin. I can understand a person wishing to be called by his or her name once or twice, but every other sentence?

You would be doing many people a favor by printing this letter. Super-achievers who are guilty of this will surely recognize themselves. Thank you. - I'm Betty

DEAR BETTY: The next letter might make you feel better. Read on.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been married to my husband for 29 years. I have yet to hear him call me by my name. It's almost as if he doesn't know what my name is.

I have told him at least 40 times that I am not "Hey, you" or "Kiddo." I am Marie, and I would appreciate it if he would call me Marie when he speaks to me. Even when he is speaking ABOUT me to someone else he avoids using my name. It's always "the wife." What can I do about this? - Nameless In Short Hills, N.J.

DEAR NAMELESS: Probably nothing. Obviously your husband has a psychological hang-up about using your name. After 29 years he's not likely to change. Too bad you didn't come up with a nickname years ago - something off-beat and catchy. Maybe it's not too late. Give it a try. Friends started to call my darling dad "Skippy" when he was at least 50 years old - and it stuck!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: According to everything I have ever seen, read or heard, the bride's family should supply all the attire to be used in a formal wedding by the attendants. I realize many things have changed (I am 40), and young people do things differently, but suddenly to tell people in your wedding party that they are expected to pay for their own gowns, shoes and rented tuxedos seems awfully nerdy. Why should it cost a person money to be in a wedding party? They must buy a gift besides.

Most of the people in this particular wedding are college students. This means their parents will be stuck with the bills. Please tell us how to handle this upsetting problem. - Stumped In The Wheat Belt

DEAR WHEAT BELT: I don't know where you "read, saw or heard" that the family of the bride is obligated to supply the formal attire worn by the bridesmaids and ushers. That information is incorrect.

Each member of the wedding party is responsible for his or her own outfit - this goes for the best man, maid of honor, flower girl and ring-bearer - as well as the bridesmaids and ushers. The men usually rent and the women hopefully can wear their gowns as party dresses later on.

CONFIDENTIAL to Where Is Everybody?: Apparently you haven't yet learned that success has a thousand fathers but failure is an orphan.

Parents, what should you do if your teenager is having sexual relations? Ann Landers' new booklet, "High School Sex and How to Deal With It - A Guide for Teens and Their Parents," give non-nonsense advice on how to handle this delicate situation. For each booklet, send 50 cents plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to supply the formal attire worn by the bridesmaids and

The Newspaper Bible

HAVE YOU SIGNED THE CONTRACT YET?

But Christ, as a minister in heaven, has been rewarded with a far more important work than those who serve under the old laws, because the new agreement which He passes on to us from God contains far more wonderful promises.

The old agreement didn't even work. If it had, there would have been no need for another to replace it.

But God Himself found fault with the old one, for He said, "The day will come when I will make a new agreement with the people of Israel and the people of Judah.

This new agreement will not be like the old one I gave to their fathers on the day when I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt; they did not keep their part in that agreement, so I had to cancel it.

But this is the new agreement I will make with the people of Israel, says the Lord: I will write My laws in their minds so that they will know what I want them to do without My even telling them, and these laws will be in their hearts so that they will want to obey them, and I will be their God and they shall be My people.

And no one then will need to speak to his friend or neighbor or brother, saying "You, too, should know the Lord," because everyone, great and small, will know Me already.

And I will be merciful to them in their wrongdoings, and I will remember their sins no more."

God speaks of these new promises, of this new agreement, as taking the place of the old one; for the old one is out of date now and has been put aside forever.

Annual Social Slated

Summerfield has scheduled their 10th annual ice cream social for new and former resident's of Summerfield to be held Aug. 7 beginning at 8 p.m. in the Summerfield Church Fellowship Hall.

Each family attending needs to bring homemade ice cream or cakes. Utensils and beverages will be provided.

Entertainment is provided for the afternoon of the social, and all residents are encouraged to attend.

Managing

While U.S. executives are famous for their difficulties in adapting to foreign cultures, managers from other countries have even poorer records of adjustment, according to The Conference Board. Foreign nationals report that the Japanese, Germans and French have a harder time than Americans in overseas environments. The British appear to adjust the best, and Russians seem to find it toughest.

IF YOU DON'T HAVE CABLE TV YOU'RE GOING TO MISS OUT ON THE BIG SPLASH OF FREE HBO MOVIES.

It's on August 9th and 10th. And only cable people can get it. A whole weekend of free blockbusters from HBO - Grease, Moonraker, National Lampoon's Animal House, and The Deer Hunter. And much more. Without a single cut or commercial.

That's why there's never been a better time to sign up for cable TV than right now. So don't miss out. Cable gives you a much wider choice of channels, crystal clear reception with beautiful, vibrant color. And you won't miss your old rabbit ears, ugly antennas or the constant adjustments either.

So don't wait, call right now.

At Wits End

By ERMA BOMBECK

My kids think a pioneer is someone without a clothes dryer. They've been raised in a world of electrical outlets, miracle fabrics, one-size-fits-all and just-add-water. They don't know what an alley is ... a washer wringer ... a piece of coal ... a plain white T-shirt ... a pen wiper ... or a doily.

Some of them have never had personal contact with a basement, bus transfer, a screen door that didn't have a glass replacement, or for that matter a person who didn't have a checking account.

I never look at my children that I don't fall on my knees and say, "Thank You, God, for making these children in the 20th century where technology prevails. They would never have survived without it."

"Thank You for making doors that close automatically behind them. Otherwise large office buildings, schools and department stores would be open to all the elements."

"Thank You for drip-dry and permanent press. Without them I'd never permit my children to give their right names anywhere."

"Thank You for headphones for stereo or I'd have gone deaf long before last year."

"Thank You for electric dishwashers. It takes a lot to admit the first model made with two hands and feet didn't work out."

"How kind of You to assess their limitations and give them ovens, refrigerators, and pets that clean themselves."

"Thank You for 40-gallon hot-water heaters that take them through a complete shampoo without waiting for new water to heat."

"Thank You for pocket computers where they no longer have to find out so soon what I don't know."

"My gratitude for aerosol cans of pine and lemon scents to surround gymshoes that have not left the feet in three years."

"Thank You for digital watches that eliminate a lot of teaching about which hand is before and which one is after."

"Thank You for Dial-a-Prayer for the woman who can't cope until Sunday."

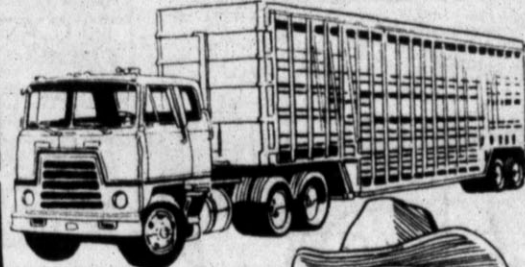

In looking over modern technology, there is possibly only one thing that was missed. A dial tone on mothers that indicates, "I'm busy."

Today in History

By The Associated Press
 Today is Tuesday, July 29, the 211th day of 1980. There are 155 days left in the year.
 Today's highlight in history:
 On this date in 1959, Hawaii held its first election as a state.
 On this date: —In 1883, Italian dictator Benito Mussolini was born in Dovia, Italy.
 —In 1890, Dutch painter Vincent Van Gogh shot himself to death.
 —In 1914, transcontinental telephone service began with a conversation carried between New York and San Francisco.
 —In 1940, Germany began its all-out blitz against Britain during World War II.
 —Ten years ago: A crippling two-week dock strike was called off in Britain.
 —Five years ago: The Organization of American States ended its 11-year embargo against Cuba.
 —One year ago: Basque separatists in Spain dealt one of their bloodiest blows to the ruling government, with bombing blasts that left four dead and more than 100 wounded in Madrid.
 Today's birthdays: Choreographer and dancer Paul Taylor is 50. Attorney Melvin Belli is 73. Cincinnati Reds' first baseman Dan Driscoll is 29.
 Thought for today: When you have got a thing where you want it, it is a good thing to leave it where it is. — Sir Winston Churchill, British statesman (1874-1965).

Advance To Louisiana Tourney With Combined 12-4, 12-7 Wins

Hereford All-Stars Maul Plainview

By MAURI MONTGOMERY
Brand Sports Editor
DIMITT - The Hereford Babe Ruth All-Stars had been pushed around once too often here in the West Texas Babe Ruth All-Star State Tournament.

And they pushed back here Saturday as they fought their way up through the loser's bracket and canned Plainview in the semi-final and final matches of the state playoff series by margins of 12-4 and 12-7 (a feat that earned the team a stint in the regional playoff tourney in Holma, Louisiana).

In all actuality, the only earnest shove the Herd did receive was mounted ironically enough - at the hands of the Plainview Herald All-Stars, as the squad provided Hereford with its only clipping of the tourney by a score of 7-4 earlier in the playoffs (a clipping the Herd didn't take lightly considering the loss kept the crew from gaining easy admittance to the winner's bracket of the tournament and added two more games to the team's scheduled play.

And in route to the elimination of Plainview in that first semi-final clash, Hereford distributed an eight run seventh inning finale that capped the Herald All-Stars in much the same manner as it had put away Hereford in the earlier tournament duel. Plainview had capped its previous win over the Herd with a similar seven run late inning rally.

But the key to Hereford's semi-final win stood on the mound, as hurler Rod Simon (3-0 for state series play) shuffled 10 Plainview hitters away without any batting practice, and granted the Herald squad only six meager hits through the duration of the tilt.

Simon, after fanning pitcher Ronnie Ortegon as the first in the Plainview lineup, had trouble early as Bardo Trevino whipped a double off him to center field and then in turn was driven home following Steve George's grand slam to left for two first inning Plainview scores. Simon then placed a full count on second baseman Michael Flores and allowed him to walk before outfielder Moses Castillo grabbed a base hit to bat in Flores for a 3-0 Plainview lead in the first frame.

But the All-Star hurler ended that first stanza melee by permitting only one run in the second and no more throughout the remainder of the contest.

And that plugging effect created for Plainview by Simon and the outstanding fielding plays ground out by first baseman Brian Taylor and third baseman Mark Collier opened the door for homer in the third - his fourth of the series as that time) Hereford took the edge on the lead in the fifth as Robert Martinez singled to left field-stole to third and was driven in on a sacrifice hit by Raymond Martinez. Raymond then advanced to base on Plainview miscue and was batted in for the

the Hereford wood box.

But the Hereford squad hadn't quite gotten its due when it came to the Plainview squad. The Herd wanted that trip to Louisiana pretty bad, and therefore went on to land yet another victory over the Herald All-Star club in the final and decisive clash of the day 12-7.

Robert Martinez took over duties on the mound and oiled up his second of three triumphs in that position for the state playoff series, while Hereford bats again riddled the Plainview team beyond all recognition.

Following a scoreless first inning, the Herd punched nine hits past Plainview in the second frame to take a commanding 9-0 lead and added insult to injury during the sixth and seventh stanzas as the diamond crew put three more runs across in the final segment of the game.

Plainview racked up one in the third, three in the fourth inning and three more in the final slot for the loss and right to represent the state as the outright victor in the Louisiana Region Tournament.

The Hereford wins over Plainview pushed the squad's state tournament mark to 5-1 and extended its overall mark for the playoff series campaign to 9-1. As a result of this tournament victory is scheduled to pair off against the All-Stars of Arkansas at Holma, Louisiana at 6:00 Saturday night in continuing tournament play.

Hereford's scoring thrust, and the squad walked in unannounced.

After trailing the contest by a one point 4-3 margin at the end of the third frame's play, those three scores for the Herd were brought about by Taylor and Simon singles, a Raymond Martinez double and Ricky McCracken's game breaking run with Ronnie Collier's double to center field.

The Herd strolled on to pinch two more runs off the Herald squad in the fifth and capped seven in the finale following another McCracken homerun, a double by Robert Martinez and singles by virtually every other batter in the Hereford wood box.

Lost Handle

Plainview catcher David Rivera bites his lip in frustration after losing the handle on the ball during the semi-final contest between the Plainview Herald All-Stars and Hereford Saturday. One Hereford runner has just scored following the miscue in the West Texas Babe Ruth All-Star clash, and several more Hereford scorers would follow later in the duel which saw the Herd roust Plainview 12-4 in the semi-final and then cap a 12-7 victory in the final clash of the tourney. The Hereford squad, as victors of the state tournament, are slated to battle with the All-Stars of Arkansas during the Region Babe Ruth tournament in Louisiana Saturday. YOU AUTO KNOW

By Don Henslee

Q. Lately, I've noticed the appearance of some rather large and definitely suspicious oil spots under my 1976 Granada. How can I locate the culprit?

A. First, clean the engine with steam or kerosene and hot water containing detergent. When the engine is dry, place the car on stands. Start and rev up the engine for a few minutes; then shut it off and inspect for leaks. If oil appears around rear main-bearing housing or pan, be sure it is not running down from rocker-cover gaskets in upper section of the engine. Also, check oil filters, fuel pumps, oil lines and the oil gauges' ending unit. After the leak has been discovered and gasket replaced, avoid future trouble by being sure plugged breathers or a malfunctioning positive crankcase ventilation system did not cause pressure buildup, resulting in oil blowing out.

Soviets Rely On Spain for Gold Medal

MOSCOW (AP) - The once-favored Soviet Union now must depend on help from Spain to reach the gold medal game in the Olympic basketball tournament.

The Soviets, overwhelming favorites to take the gold in the absence of the boycotting Americans, can reach the gold medal game only if Spain should beat Italy today. The Russians, twice upset victims over the weekend, also must win, but they're expected to have little trouble against winless Cuba. Brazil plays Yugoslavia in today's other game, which completes semifinal action.

Yugoslavia, unbeaten in the semifinal competition, already is assured of a spot in the gold medal game. Italy can gain a spot with a victory over Spain, Spain and Brazil.

because of critical losses to the Soviets, can only reach the bronze medal game.

While the Soviet men's team is struggling, their women's team is well on its way to a successful defense of the Olympic title it won in Montreal four years ago. They scored another lopsided victory Monday, 120-62 over Hungary.

In other women's semifinal games Monday, Bulgaria defeated Yugoslavia 81-79 and Cuba beat Italy 79-62.

The Soviet women, led by 6-foot-11, 284-pound Iuliyana Semenova, walloped opponents by margins of 35 to 66 points. Semenova is the top scorer of the women's tournament with 105 points, mostly little flips from beside the basket.

The women's final will pit the Soviets against Bulgaria, which succumbed to the host team 122-83 in the early round. Yugoslavia and Hungary will play for the bronze in the all-Communist finals.

Italian men's Coach Alessandro Gamba said momentum was the key to the big game against Spain, a team the Italians have beaten twice this year. "It's very difficult for us to play our best all the time," he said.

Led by veteran center Dino Meneghin and including a native born American in their lineup - guard Michael Sylvester of Cincinnati - the Italians pulled off the upset of the tournament by beating the Soviets 87-85 Saturday, but 24 hours later they lost to Brazil 90-77.

Spain, also featuring American native Wayne Brabender of Minnesota, has seen more consistent.

Sylvester and Brabender have changed their citizenship to play for Italy and Spain.

Olympic Stars Discuss Future Plans Concerning Track Careers

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Two track stars who stand today with Olympic gold medals around their necks are at different stages in their athletic careers. After receiving the highest recognition in amateur sports, one is talking retirement and the other is looking forward to his next major meet.

Pietro Mennea of Italy is 28. The gold medal he won Monday in the 200-meter dash was the culmination of a decade of sacrifice and dedication. His is the perspective of the man who has won the war but has grown tired of the fight.

"I won the race I wanted to win. This caps my career. I've won everything. Now I can consider retiring," he said. "After 10 years of competition, if they offered me $6 million dollars to start all over again, I wouldn't accept."

Lutz Dombrowski is a 21-year-old from East Germany, a nation fiercely devoted to excellence in sport. From the age of nine, when he started jumping, Dombrowski has been on a schedule programmed to winning Monday's Olympic long jump competition. His is the perspective of the warrior who lives to fight.

"My next ambition is to compete in next year's World Cup," he said.

Meanwhile, while Mennea and Dombrowski were reaching their goals, America's disenfranchised Olympic team arrived in Washington for a 5-day honor program as guests of the U.S. Olympic Committee. The U.S. team is boycotting the Moscow Games as a protest against the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan.

In a statement signed by 81 members of the team, the athletes said there is no greater honor for an amateur athlete than to represent his country at the Olympics.

"While we strongly deplore overt aggressive acts by one nation against another, we question whether the boycott of the Olympic Games is the best means available to assist the cause of peace," the statement said.

The Games, the first ever without an American team, moved into today's program with the Soviet Union the runaway medals leader with 46 golds and 124 total, one short of their Olympic record haul at the Montreal Games. East Germany, with one-fifteenth the population of the Soviet Union, was second with 88 medals, including 34 golds.

Today, the Soviet basketball team, the pre-tournament favorite, needed to beat Cuba and have Spain beat Italy to advance into Wednesday's gold-medal game against Yugoslavia. Both Italy and Yugoslavia upset the Soviets over the weekend.

Another highlight of today's schedule was the second bout for two-time defending heavyweight champion Teofilo Stevenson. The 29-year-old Cuban has won all eight of his fights, over the course of three Olympics, inside the three-round limit. He was matched against Grzegorz Skrzecz of Poland.

Today is an off day for track and field.

A new Olympic category, food-throwing, was unofficially added to the program Monday. About 30-40 athletes in Australian, British and Brazilian jackets, frustrated by the 11 p.m. closing of the disco, went on a rampage in the dining hall at the Olympic Village. They left a mess, but no real damage.

"They came through the exit and started hollering 'Music, Music, Music,'" said Mike Perry, the American coaching the Swedish basketball team who witnessed the incident. "Then they went to one end of the dining hall hollering 'Russians out of Afghanistan, Russians out of Afghanistan.'"

Perry, who said there were an equal number of male and female athletes, involved in the food fight, attributed the rowdiness to Olympic steam-blowing and boredom.

"It's really the first thing that's happened here in terms of excitement at the Village. One of the reasons, I think, is that many athletes have finished competing, and now it's partytime."

"I'm afraid for the rest of the week it's gonna be a lot like this. There's nothing for them to do — the disco closes at 11. All the cartoons and movies are in Russian."

"They wanted something to do. What you had was a lot of young people with a lot of energy."

But most of the athletes expended energy in more conventional ways Monday. Dombrowski recorded the second longest jump, winning the event with a leap of 28 feet and one-quarter inch. Mennea blew by 100-meter champion Allan Wells of Great Britain in the final strides to win the 200 title in 20.19.

Dombrowski didn't know until three weeks ago that he would be able to compete here. He had suffered a pulled leg muscle earlier in the year, and he did not compete until the East German Athletic Federation arranged a special meet July 5 to test his condition.

He responded with a leap of 27-8/4, third best in the world, and moved into second place alltime on Monday, actually becoming the first athlete to land near the 28-foot mark.

World record holder Bob Beamon of the United States didn't touch down until he had reached 29 feet, 2 1/2 inches in his mind-boggling leap into never-never land at the Mexico City Games in 1968.

"I never thought of challenging Bob Beamon's world record and I don't think I ever will break it," Dombrowski said.

Mennea is the world record holder in the 200 at 19.72, but he was not at peak mental form for these Games. He has said that he would not have objected if Italy followed America's lead and supported the Olympic boycott.

"The responsibility of being the heavy favorite after the American boycott, and the bitterness for having to compete in a crippled event, have just cracked my nerves," he said.

"It was all here, starting with my defeat in the 100 meters," he said, touching his temple. "It had to do with what's inside. But coming down that final stretch I wanted to win. I wanted it very badly."

Wells, with a clocking of 20.21, added the silver medal to his gold and Don Quarrie of Jamaica, bidding to become the first two-time sprint winner in Olympic history, finished third at 20.29. In the long jump, another East German, Franck Paschek, was second with a leap of 26-11 1/2 and Valery Podluzhnyi of the Soviet Union was third at 26-10.

Viktor Rashchupkin of the Soviet Union won the men's discus, tossing it 218 feet, 8 inches, far short of American Mac Wilkins' best throw of the year, 232-10.

There were three Olympic records set at the sold-out, 103,000-seat Lenin Stadium. Vera Komisova of the Soviet Union won the women's 100-meter dash in 12.54; East Germany's Marita Koch took the gold medal in the women's 400 meters in 48.88 and Natalya Bochina of the Soviet Union won her 200-meter heat in 22.26.

Miruts Yifter of Ethiopia followed his victory in the 10,000 meters with a big burst to win his 5,000-meter heat in 13.44. Cuba's Alberto Juantorena, 400 and 800 winner at Montreal four years ago, reached the finals of the 400 after not competing in this year's 800.

The silver medalist in the 800, Sebastian Coe, Monday echoed the statements of his British compatriot Steve Ovett, saying their rivalry was merely a press buildup and that they didn't hate each other.

"The rivalry is obviously on the track," said Coe, who waited too long to make his move and was beaten by Ovett on Saturday. "Nothing spills over into the Village or away from the running track."

Falk Hoffman also had something interesting to say after winning the men's platform event. The East German said he was wrong to have questioned his loss in last week's springboard competition.

It had been announced that Hoffman had protested the victory of Aleksandr Portnov after the Soviet diver was allowed to repeat a dive because of crowd noise. The protest was disallowed.

But, after beating Soviet divers Vladimir Aleinik and David Ambartsumyan Monday, he said last week's problem concerned the angle of the lights, which bothered him.

Wind Up

Hurler Rod Simon kicks in preparation for an ensuing pitch to a Plainview batter Saturday as the Herd capped two wins over the winner's bracket team to advance to the Louisiana Region Babe Ruth All-Star Tournament. Hereford had fallen shy of the winner's bracket of the tournament following a 7-4 decision with Plainview earlier, but rebounded with 12-4 and 1-7 wins over the Herald squad to win the tourney in a come-from-behind fashion. (Brand photo by Mauri Montgomery)

No Chance Leap

Plainview's third baseman Bee Terrell leaps up in the air in an attempt to pull down an overthrown relay as Hereford runner Robert Martinez (5) takes off for home. Several such errors in the closing segment of the semi-final game between the two teams allowed Hereford to jot down eight winning runs in the final frame of the contest in order to advance further in tournament play. (Brand photo by Mauri Montgomery)

Padres Defeat Chicago Despite Bizarre Late Inning Miscue

By The Associated Press

It finally happened: San Diego's loquacious manager, Jerry Coleman, was lost for words. Still, it seemed understandable after the bizarre double play the Chicago Cubs pulled off against his Padres.

It came in the 10th inning of a game eventually won 4-2 by San Diego Monday night. The bases were full of Padres when Dave Winfield tapped to Chicago third baseman Mick Kelleher.

Kelleher stepped on third to force Gene Richards and had a double play on his mind when he threw to catcher Tim Blackwell in an effort to get Dave Cash at home.

That's where things got muddled. When Kelleher stepped on third, he eliminated possible force plays at any other base but first. That rule seemingly escaped the memory of Cash, who simply stopped running when Kelleher's throw reached Blackwell at the plate.

Cash, assuming he was out, headed across the diamond toward the San Diego dugout and ended up being out for running out of the basepath.

"When you threw it to me, I figured you didn't touch third," said Blackwell to Kelleher, citing one possible explanation.

"I didn't see the play. I just saw him throw home and assumed I was out," said Cash.

"It was a crazy play. I've never seen it before," said Coleman, who then was asked if he said anything to Cash.

"I said nothing," said Coleman, who usually has something to say to everyone about everything. "What can you say?"

Coleman argued Cash would not have run out of the baseline if the umpire hadn't incorrectly signalled he was out. The Padres, however, did not file an official protest of the game.

Cubs Manager Joe Amalfitano, a former infielder and the voice of reason in all the confusion, may have said it best.

"If it had been me," he said, "I would have touched third and thrown to first base."

In the other National League games, the Cincinnati Reds beat the Montreal Expos 3-2 in the opener before losing the nightcap of their two-nighter 5-4, the Houston Astros edged the Philadelphia Phillies 3-2 in 10 innings, the Atlanta Braves beat the New York Mets 6-3 and the Pittsburgh Pirates topped the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-4.

The Padres won the game in the 11th inning on a two-run homer by Gene Tenace off Cubs reliever George Riley.

Reds 3-4, Expos 2-5 Dave Collins cracked a two-run double with two out in the ninth inning to give Cincinnati its victory in the opener before 37-year-old Fred Norman combined with three relievers on the seven-hitter that boosted Montreal to victory in the nightcap.

The Expos carried a 2-1 lead into the ninth inning of the first game, but starter Charlie Lea allowed Reds runners to reach first and second before being replaced by Elias Sosa. Sosa then fumbled a bunt by Ron Oester, loading the bases for Collins.

Astros 3, Phillies 2 Cesar Cedeño's 10th-inning triple drove in Jose Cruz with the run that gave Houston its victory over Philadelphia.

Jose Cruz collected a two-out walk from Ron Reed before Cedeño rifled a 1-1 pitch to the right-field corner.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN--What does redistricting mean to Texas in 1980? The redistricting process to be accomplished next year is very important to the future of the state. It is assured that Texas will have 90 days of adjournment of a regular session and has 60 days in which to formulate a plan.

With the census data due to arrive in April during a legislative session which concludes at the end of May and with the complexities of meeting federal guidelines, the job will be a difficult one. Much preparation must be made.

The House Committee on Regions, Compacts, and Districts has already begun work. Hearings will be held to determine what the public sentiment is regarding this issue; hearings on census awareness have taken place throughout the state this year. Legislative staff members are preparing, and a computer-assisted model is being developed to help speed the process after the census data is delivered to the states.

If the Legislature is unable to complete the task by the end of the session, the Texas Constitution provides for the creation of the Legislative Redistricting Board.

DEAR DR. LAMB -- I have a very small chest. I don't want plastic surgery and bust expanders don't work. I've tried them. I read somewhere that if you rotated your arms around in circles, it will help your chest grow. This exercise didn't help much. Is there any advice you can give me?

DEAR READER -- You might as well forget about all those claims of enlarging the breast itself. Almost all of them are totally false. In my opinion, almost without exception such advertised claims border on being fraudulent and are really not to help the public but to exploit the public for money.

Now, of course, you should see a physician to make sure that you don't have an underlying endocrine problem. If you happen to be low in certain hormones, a normal amount will help you develop a normal bosom. If you're in good hormone balance to begin with, additional hormones aren't going to help either and could be harmful.

Now about rotating your arms. You probably read that in relationship to exercises that enlarge the muscles over the front of the chest. It is true that the two major muscles (the pectoralis major and pectoralis minor) that lie behind the breast can be enlarged with exercise. The kinds of exercises that are required, however, are strength exercises, those that develop strong muscles.

This is why if you put the palms of both hands together in front of your face and push one against the other with strength that you can sometimes improve your bustline. That straining exercise strengthens the chest muscles behind the breast.

Weight lifting-type exercises or even the use of weight training machines that put a load on these muscles will work. The trouble with swinging your arms in a circle is that there's not enough resistance against the muscles and unless there is a resistance, the size of the muscles will not grow. The other thing you could do is gain body fat. Much of the breast tissue itself is fat but that's not necessarily physically appealing either. In addition, it's not very good from a health point of view.

What does that leave you with? It means that if you have a serious problem and really want to do something about it, that plastic surgery is probably the most effective method as far as increasing the actual measurement of the breast itself is concerned. Don't forget that you can improve the appearance of your figure quite a bit by improving your posture. That means standing upright with your shoulders back and your chest out. A slumped posture will hide an attractive bustline.

Many people, particularly men, lose hair because the individual hair follicles produce a special type of male hormone. You may be surprised to know that the hair follicles of both men and women produce male hormone. Which type is produced is determined by inherited characteristics.

structure is essentially the same as the muscles in your legs or arms except that they are smaller muscles. The spasm of these muscles usually is responsible for the chest pain that people complain of when they say they have pleurisy.

I can understand that the spasm of these muscles that you're experiencing is quite painful. It would be helpful to know what's causing the spasms but sometimes there isn't any answer. The heating pad is a very good idea and when your muscles are warm, you might try to take very slow, deep breaths to stretch the muscles in that area.
