Search on for man's identity

BY ANDREA HOOTEN
Staff Writer
A farmer found an unidentified man that was frozen 19 miles northwest of Hereford Sunday morning, said the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Office today.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN
He was found Sunday morning near Hereford

Dr. Ralph Erdmann, forensic pathologist for the county who performed the autopsy, said the man died of a heart attack after being exposed to sub-zero temperatures. Multiple bruises and scratches were found on the knees, face, and wrist, but sheriff's deputies could not determine exactly why the man was lying in the ditch with only a short-sleeved shirt and pants on.

"We found no vehicle, no identification or anything," said deputy Jimmy Hudgens. "None of the farmers knew who he was and they know every hired hand around here."

The white male was about 60 years old, 5 feet 10 inches, and weighs about 180 pounds. He has a double-heart tattoo on his right forearm and a tattoo spelling "Murill" on the left forearm.

Justice of the Peace, Johnnie Turrentine, said that when she arrived at the scene, she could smell alcohol on the man.

The sheriff's office sent the man's picture to the Department of Public Safety missing person bureau and his fingerprints were sent to the FBI.

Fired up and ready for test
Students at Northwest Primary School in Hereford react to a cheer from the Hereford High School junior varsity cheerleaders during a TEAMS test "pep rally" held at the school on Monday afternoon. Other students in grades 1, 3, 5, 7 and 9 in Hereford and throughout the state will be taking the test, which assesses reading, writing and math skills, today through Thursday.

Langehennig chosen to fill council seat

By Andrea Hooten
Staff Writer
By a 4-2 vote Monday, attorney Terry Langehennig will fill resigned city commissioner Jerry Walsh's shoes even though two city commissioners think a Hispanic man would serve better on the commission.

"I would have really liked to have seen Herb De La Rosa in that position," said Commissioner Irene Cantu, who voted along with Commissioner Sylvana Juarez against putting Langehennig in the slot.

"I feel it's time to get a Hispanic man on the commission. I'm not saying Langehennig is not qualified, but I think Herb is highly educated and qualified to be on it, too, and we need to take into consideration more than just race and color."

Commissioner Paul Hamilton, who voted for Langehennig, said he had nothing against De La Rosa or Joe Soliz (another candidate), but he just didn't know the two men.

"Herb was not all that well-known around Hereford," Hamilton said. "I'm sure he's an outstanding man, but I just didn't know him. Langehennig is an attorney and legal advice on the commission will be very helpful."

Langehennig will be a commissioner beginning the next commission meeting until May 6, 1990, when his place will be up for election.

Langehennig is a lawyer with Cowser, Line, Easterwood & Langehennig Attorneys at Law, 320 Schley Ave.

The city commission also voted to allot $2,000 for a waste water treatment study at the vacant Swift plant southwest of Hereford.

Commissioner Bud Eades, the newly named director of the Economic Development Council, requested that the city pursue revamping the waste water treatment at the plant because prospective industry interested in locating at the plant gave a thumbs-down on its waste water treatment.

"If we really want to be competitive in going for these food processing-type industries, we'd better have the waste water treatment on line before they start looking at moving into the plant," said Eades. "A week ago, we had a food processing industry look at locating there along with three other locations, and we came in fourth because of this point."

Eades said the food processing industry is one of the hotter industries that cities pursue. The industry is the third largest manufacturing group in the United States, employing 1.7 million people.

The city voted to hire Bill McMorris & Associates in Amarillo to perform the study.

The city commissioners also voted to award Amarillo car dealer

Bush plan gets cautious praise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional leaders are offering cautious praise for President Bush's plan to bail out the savings and loan industry, but many are wary of his proposal to sock the taxpayers for about half the $90 billion initial cost.

Bush on Monday offered a complex financing scheme mixing tax dollars with higher insurance premiums paid by banks and S&Ls.

He also called for an overhaul of the financial regulatory system aimed at prevention S&L problems from recurring, vowed to pursue wrongdoers in the industry and pledged to protect insured deposits. He recommended no direct fee on depositors.

"In all the time since creation of the deposit insurance, savers have not lost one dollar of insured deposits and I am determined that they never will," the president said at a news conference.

Under the Bush plan, which must be approved by Congress, the government would sell $50 billion in 30-year in bonds as needed over three years to finance the cost of closing or selling about 350 failed institutions. That's in addition to the $40 billion pledged last year by regulators to rescue and prop up 223 institutions.

Insurance premiums paid by financial institutions, combined with tax dollars, would pay the interest on the bonds and met regulators' 1988 commitments. Money to pay off the principal on the bonds would come from the S&L industry.

Sen. Donald W. Riegle, D-Mich., the chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, said Bush had presented "by and large a sensible proposal" and that "the structural reforms make sense."

However, Riegle said the taxpayer cost was "a substantial amount of money" and said he was concerned it would cut into other programs such as the fight against drugs and education.

Bush's budget director, Richard Darman, said the public would shoulder 54 percent of the burden over the 30-year life of the plan. He estimated the cost to taxpayers at $28.1 billion from 1989 through 1994. Over 10 years, the cost would be $39.9 billion.

Bush's plan also would increase the insurance premium paid by S&Ls from the current $2.08 per $1,000 of deposits to $2.30 from 1991 through 1994, dropping to $1.80 after that. Banks' premiums would rise from 83 cents now to $1.20 in 1990 to $1.50 after that.

Administration officials who spoke after Bush left the news conference stressed that the money raised by the higher bank premiums would go into the banks' own insurance fund, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., and would not directly pay for S&L problems.

However, the money raised by the bank premiums would count as revenue on government balance sheets. Thus, the government would be able to spend several billions of taxpayer dollars a year without adding to the budget deficit.

At first, I thought the cold spell was a windfall. My wife didn't want to get out in the chilly weather or take a chance on being involved in a fender-bender. The real benefit, in my mind, was that she wasn't out spending money.

But now Lavon has cabin fever. The past few evenings when I got home from work, all she wanted to do was talk, talk, talk. Usually, she lets me watch a tv show without interruption. But lately she's seen the tv "talk shows" all day and she's ready to do some talking of her own.

It's no big deal, of course, but after a few of our conversations on different topics, it got me to thinking. You know you've been married a long time when:

--You begin to speak in your own private language, such as: "Remember the guy who did that thing with that whatchamacallit at that place?" and your spouse understands every word.

--The biggest "my hero" glance you've gotten all month came when you emptied the trash without being asked.

--Your spouse no longer even bothers to say, "Do you mind?"

--You remember your wedding date, but have to think a moment to remember the year.

--You accept the fact that your wife never closes the kitchen cupboards, and she doesn't say a word when you leave clothes lying around.

--There's no discussion about going to church on Sunday, or to special banquets during the year--you just get ready and go.

--And, despite the things you haven't been able to change about your spouse, you'd dread the thought of trying to break in a new one!

Bay View Study Club learns about crime by juveniles

Bay View Study Club met Thursday, Feb. 2, at the home of Mrs. N.C. Hays.

Mrs. J.A. Burran introduced the guest speaker, Lupe Chavez, Juvenile Peace Officer for Deaf Smith County. Chavez spoke about the nature of his work, the case load the office handles, and the options he can consider in investigating and counseling youth offenders. All cases come to Mr. Chavez' office by referral from law enforcement agencies. At the close of his remarks, Chavez showed a film on crime by young people, and the consequences of the crime.

Following the program refreshments were served to Chavez and members present by Mrs. Hays. After the refreshments were served, the meeting was called to order by Mrs. Kenneth Halbert, president. The Club Collect was read and approved. Mrs. R.W. Eades read a letter of thanks from Mrs. Charles Watson.

Mrs. Halbert announced the resignation of Mrs. B.H. Futrell as treasurer and reported that the Executive Committee has asked Mrs. Dudley Bayne to take over the duties of treasurer. Mrs. Bayne has agreed and reported the current balance to members present.

Following motions and discussion concerning honorariums by the club, Mrs. Eades gave the report of the Nominating Committee. The following officers were elected by ballot to serve during the 1989-90 club year: Mrs. Kenneth Halbert, president; Mrs. J.A. Burran, vice president; Mrs. Earnest Langley, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charlie Holt, recording secretary; Mrs. Dudley Bayne, treasurer.

Members present were: Mmes. Wesley S. Fisher, Alton Fraser, Abel Ruga, Howard Gault, James R. Allison, Lee Benefield, D.N. Garner, W.K. Golden and Austin C. Rose.

Serve creamy low-fat soup

By NANCY BYAL
Better Homes and Gardens Magazine
Food Editor

You won't believe a soup this rich tasting is made with skim milk. It has only 268 calories per serving but you'd swear it was made with cream.

To give the soup extra body, we pureed part of the celery in a food processor or blender. Try the same trick with pureed carrots or potatoes to thicken soups or sauces.

CREAMY CHICKEN-CELERY SOUP

- 1/2 of a 2-pound bunch celery
- 1 medium whole chicken breast, skinned
- 2 medium carrots, peeled and halved crosswise
- 1/4 cup sliced green onions
- 1 cup chicken broth
- 1 tablespoon margarine or butter
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 2 cups skim milk
- 1 teaspoon snipped parsley
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme, crushed
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper

Trim and slice celery (should have about 3 1/2 cups). In a large saucepan combine celery, chicken, carrots, onions and broth. Cover and simmer until chicken and vegetables are tender, about 25 minutes. Transfer chicken and carrots to a bowl. When chicken is cool enough to handle, cut meat into bite-size pieces. Slice carrots. Set chicken and carrots aside.

In blender container or food processor bowl blend or process broth mixture until smooth.

In the saucepan melt margarine; stir in flour. Add milk all at once. Cook and stir over medium-high heat until mixture is thickened and bubbly. Add pureed mixture, cut-up chicken, sliced carrot, parsley, salt, thyme and pepper. Heat through. Makes 4 servings.

Pancake supper tonight

St. Thomas Episcopal Church will be the site of Shrove Tuesday's Pancake Supper set from 5-8 p.m. today.

The annual event will feature pancakes, syrup, sausage, apple sauce, coffee and milk. Prices for the all-you-can-eat meal are $3.50 for adults and $2.50 for children six and under.

Tickets are available from any church member or may be purchased at the door.

Proceeds from the event will benefit the church.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a 4-year-old son. His father is on parole after serving time for burning down my house when I refused to let him in. He is a drug addict, a dealer and an alcoholic. He has committed several armed robberies since he's been out of jail, but luck has been with him and he's never been caught.

Like many criminals, he "found God" in prison, conned the authorities and got an early release for good behavior. His "good behavior" lasted about a month. When I realized that he hadn't really changed, I stopped seeing him but he continues to call and keep me informed of his activities.

He hasn't mentioned seeing our son. There's no way I'd let him anyway. How can I teach my child to be straight and stay away from people like that? What do I tell the boy when he starts to ask, "Do I have a daddy?" "Where is he?" "Why can't I see him?" He doesn't know his father. We separated when Junior was 6 months old, and his father went to jail when Junior was a year and a half. The word "Daddy" never comes up because nobody talks about him.

My son has a scar on his thigh from when his father burned him with a cigarette. He was 3 months old at the time. His father was beating me. I got away but he grabbed the boy and held the cigarette to his leg to make me come back to him. What do I say when the boy asks about the scar? As you can see, I need some answers. Please help me. —Columbus, Ga.

DEAR GEORGIA: You are lucky that your husband has no interest in the boy. Let's hope it stays this way.

When Junior starts to ask questions about his Daddy, and he will one day, simply say he is living somewhere else because living together did not work out. This explanation will hold him for a while. If he wants to know more when he is older, you can tell him Daddy broke the law and went to prison.

Some children nag a parent to take the other one back so they can "be a family". If this happens make it clear that Daddy is impossible to live with and you are better off apart. If Junior asks about the scar, tell him a long time ago someone accidentally burned him with a cigarette, then change the subject. It serves no useful purpose to depict his father as a monster.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read in the paper that a Catholic priest from Philadelphia won over a million dollars ($1,077,777.77 to be exact) playing a slot machine in Donald Trump's casino in Atlantic City.

A casino executive said Father Giliberti comes in regularly on Fridays to play the slot machines and that he fed this particular machine for an hour and a half before he hit the jackpot. I was surprised to read that the priest said he was going to buy a car for a friend and use the bulk of his winnings to set up a fund for teenagers to attend Catholic high school in Philadelphia.

I was under the impression that Catholic priests take an oath of poverty and everything they have belongs to the church. How about this?—Big Q in L.A.

DEAR BIG Q: Catholic priests who belong to orders such as the Jesuits, Dominicans and Holy Cross take a vow of poverty. Father Frank Giliberti is a diocesan priest and he is not bound by any such restrictions.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was especially interested in the letter signed "Perplexed Parents in Kansas." (They caught Betty and Rick "resting" in bed together). Since I have had firsthand experience with this sort of thing, I feel qualified to give them some advice.

When I was 17, I "rested" in bed with my boyfriend, too. Of course, we ended up doing things we had no right to do. After a few "naps" I discovered that I was pregnant. I was 17. My baby was born when I was a senior in high school.

My "Rick," who always said he'd stick with me if anything went wrong, decided he was too young for fatherhood so I was left with the responsibility of raising our son alone. It was a terrific struggle, but with the help of God and my parents I made it.

Please tell Betty and Rick to think twice before "resting" in bed together. Nothing will tire out a teenager faster than raising a child. Sign me—Ben There and Know the Scene in Denver

DEAR DENVER: Beautiful. You've given the Bettys and Ricks of the world some wonderful advice. Let's hope they have sense enough to take it.

My laugh for the day: I know a man who gave up smoking, drinking, and rich food. He was healthy right up to the time he killed himself. (Johnny Carson)

What are the signs of alcoholism? How can you tell if someone you love is an alcoholic? "Alcoholism: How to Recognize It, How to Deal With It, How to Conquer It" will give you the answers. THE STING

NEW YORK (AP) — For centuries, many South American people provoked insect stings in the belief that the venom helped alleviate painful symptoms of arthritis, says AIMplus magazine.

Researchers now confirm such stings may possess anti-inflammatory properties and are working to discover the elements in the venom responsible for this effect.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS STORY

"Everybody Already Knows My Store And What I Carry."

Sound Familiar?

Advertising is news about the marketplace, if you don't advertise, you're telling consumers there's no news from your store. But your competition is fighting for the public's interest with regular ads; if you want to keep your share of the market, you need to be in the same arena, bidding for the business. You need to advertise in the newspaper. Plus, people move out of the area and new people move in. Advertise to bring new customers into the store. Sell your store and your service through newspaper advertising.

NOT CONVINCED?

Newspaper advertising is unlike any other media choice. You're reaching a friendly, receptive audience with your advertising message. So receptive that they pay to have the paper delivered to their home. No wonder consumers consider newspapers the most believable advertising medium.

Newspaper advertising can help your business. It can increase sales and in a competitive market, it can give your business and edge over the other guy.

Don't tempt fate. Join the many successful businesses who know what works for them and what doesn't. Advertise in the newspaper and get results.

Girls close season tonight with Estacado

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces will close out their 1988-89 season tonight when they host Lubbock Estacado at 6:30 p.m. at Whiteface Gym at Hereford Junior High School.

In the 8 p.m. game, the Hereford whitefaces will try for their third district win of the year against another squad that has run into a long bad-luck streak when they face the Matadors.

While nothing is at stake for either team in the girls game, it could be a big night for Carmen Brockman: she could become the first Hereford girls' basketball player to score 1,000 or more career points.

In her three years on the varsity, Brockman has scored 989 points. Last Friday, she broke the old career record of 966 points set by Louise Mays, who played from 1978 through 1981.

"We'll need to have a great effort tonight against Estacado," said Hereford girls' coach Frank Belcher. "Estacado has some great athletes and they are a very capable team. It may be same type of game as it was the last time we played."

"Last time" was Jan. 10, when Brianna Townsend hit a last-second shot to give the Lady Whitefaces a 56-55 win at Lubbock.

"Alicia Isaac (point guard) had 10 points in the first quarter down there, but we held their post girl, Deidre Brown, to just five points. They have a lot of weapons."

"We need to have one more effort like we've had when we played well.

It will take a great effort to win."

In the boys' contest, the Herd will face an Estacado team that was picked to challenge for the District 1-4A title but has had a tough road against the league's leaders.

"They'll be tough," said Hereford coach Mike Fields. "they'll have some height, and that'll hurt us on the inside, and they have some good shooters. It'll be a challenge for us."

"I'm proud that we haven't given up against anybody all year. We've played with a lot of pride, and I hope we'll play hard tonight."

The JV teams will be in action in the west gym at HJHS. The JV boys will play at 6:30 p.m., while the JV girls will close out their season at 8 p.m.

Ellison returns, but Louisville loses to FSU

By The Associated Press

Louisville got what it wanted, sort of. The fourth-ranked Cardinals also got what they deserved.

Pervis Ellison, the team's star center, returned to action after missing two games with a knee injury and played well. But the rest of the Cardinals hobbled, losing to No. 12 Florida State 81-78 Monday night.

"We got what we earned, and that's a loss," Louisville coach Denny Crum said. "Florida State played their hearts out for 40 minutes and we played hard for about 10. Our guys just didn't want it as bad as Florida State and that's shame."

Ellison, who did not start, led host Louisville with 19 points.

Florida State, 18-2, leads the Metro Conference at 6-1. Louisville is 16-4 and 5-1.

"We had our skeptics about our position in the Top Twenty, yet our youngsters never questioned it and knew they could play with anybody," Seminole coach Pat Kennedy said.

In other games, No. 5 Oklahoma trounced Iowa State 126-97, No. 9 Syracuse got past No. 11 Seton Hall 85-79, No. 16 Ohio State beat Purdue 70-58, No. 19 Nevada-Las Vegas downed UC Santa Barbara 77-61 and Virginia stopped No. 20 Georgia Tech 78-71.

George McCloud scored 20 points, including two foul shots with five seconds left that gave Florida State a three-point edge. Louisville's LaBradford Smith then took the inbounds pass and drove the length of the court but missed an off-balance, 3-point try from the top of the key.

Tony Dawson led the Seminoles with 21 points and Irving Thomas had 18 points and 17 rebounds.

Smith and Felton Spencer each scored 12 for Louisville.

Ellison went directly to whirlpool treatment after the game without comment. Smith thought the 6-foot-9 senior did fine.

"I don't think he's 100 percent right now," Smith said, "but he played a good game."

Florida State led 68-57 with five minutes remaining before the Cardinals rallied to 77-76 with 1:34 left.

No. 5 Oklahoma 126, Iowa St. 97

Stacey King scored 33 points and Oklahoma broke away with 81 points in the second half, most ever in a Big Eight game. The Sooners, 19-3 and 6-1 in the conference, rebounded from a loss to Oklahoma State that knocked them out of No. 1.

Skeeter Henry scored 16 of his 18 points in the second half as Oklahoma pulled away from a 55-50 lead. The visiting Cyclones, who made 31 turnovers, are 11-8 and 2-5. No. 9 Syracuse 85, No. 11 Seton Hall 79

At the Meadowlands, Sherman Douglas scored 28 points and Stephen Thompson got 23 as Syracuse held off Seton Hall.

The Orangemen, 20-4, won their sixth consecutive game overall and 17th straight against Seton Hall. Both teams are 6-4 in the Big East, three games behind Georgetown.

Syracuse led 65-49 with 13:41 remaining before Seton Hall rallied within 78-76 with 2:10 left. Thompson responded with two foul shots and a dunk to stop the Pirates, 19-4.

No. 16 Ohio State 70, Purdue 58

Ohio State, behind Jay Burson's 26 points, fought its way past visiting Purdue in the Big Ten.

A brawl broke out midway through the second half when Purdue's Kip Jones and Ohio State's Grady Maten exchanged elbows and were ejected. The Buckeyes, leading by five points at that point, quickly increased the margin to 14.

Ohio State, 16-5, is in a four-way tie for second place in the conference at 5-3 behind Indiana. Purdue is 10-12 and 3-6.

No. 19 Nevada-Las Vegas 77, UC Santa Barbara 61

David Butler scored 21 points and Greg Anthon' added 19 as Nevada-Las Vegas ended its first two-game losing streak since 1984.

The Runnin' Rebels are 15-5 and 10-1 in the Big West. Santa Barbara fell to 15-4 and 6-4.

Tisdale could be a Maverick

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana's Wayman Tisdale would be sent to Dallas for either Mark Aguirre or Sam Perkins, according to a published report.

It said the Pacers are discussing possible trades with the Mavericks. One deal would send Tisdale to Dallas for Aguirre, and another would send Tisdale and Herb Williams to Dallas for Perkins and Detlef Schrempf, The Indianapolis News said Monday, quoting an unidentified NBA source.

"I wouldn't say it's close, but it's definitely on the table," The News quoted the source.

Dallas General Manager Norm Sonju was not immediately available for comment on the latest report, but has in the past declined comment on any trade reports. Mavericks coach John MacLeod, asked about the report after Monday night's game in Los Angeles, also declined comment.

All of the players involved are forwards.

The News said the deals hinged on what the Mavericks chose to do with Aguirre, the object of trade rumors involving other teams, including the Detroit Pistons.

Pacers General Manager Donnie Walsh would not comment on the report.

UWALS are provided to interexchange carriers for their use in the provision of interexchange interstate and intrastate long-distance and WATS-type services. Similarly, WALS are designed for use in the provision of interLATA and intraLATA WATS services. The UWALS and WALS were not intended to allow local exchange calling.

If these proposed tariff changes are approved, the blocking of local exchange calls over intrastate WATS access lines and UWALS will take place within 30 days. This proposed tariff change will not result in the blocking of local calls placed to an 800 Service number.

The Public Utility Commission (PUC) of Texas has assigned this matter to Docket 8421. A hearing on the merits of these proposed tariff changes is scheduled for March 13, 1989.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should mail a request to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757 by February 27, 1989. Further information may also be obtained by calling the PUC Public Information Office at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

Davis, Balboni get grand slams at arbitration

NEW YORK (AP) — Houston's Glenn Davis and Seattle's Steve Balboni, a couple of long-ball-hitting first basemen, have outslugged their respective front offices and won their salary arbitration cases, with Davis becoming baseball's newest millionaire.

Davis, who batted .271 last season with 30 homers and 99 RBIs, was awarded $1.065 million for 1989 Monday instead of the $875,000 offered by the Astros. He made $340,000 last year.

Balboni, who batted .251 with 21 homers and 61 RBIs, made $350,000 in 1988 and will earn $300,000 this year instead of the $500,000 offered by the Mariners. Arbitrator Stephen Goldberg made both rulings, which left the players and owners tied at 2-2 in cases decided so far.

Three other players who had filed for arbitration settled with their clubs, leaving 34 cases still scheduled to be heard.

Kansas City Royals outfielder Danny Tartabull more than tripled his salary by negotiating a one-year contract for $1.035 million. He made $330,000 in 1988.

Tartabull, who batted .274 last season with 26 homers and 102 RBIs, can earn up to $175,000 in incentive bonuses. He would get $100,000 if he is named the American League's Most Valuable Player, $25,000 if he is elected to start in the All-Star Game, $15,000 if he is named an All-Star reserve, $25,000 if he wins a Silver Slugger and $25,000 if he wins a Gold Glove.

Outfielder Ivan Calderon agreed on a one-year contract with the Chicago White Sox for $320,000, a raise of $180,000. He can earn an additional $60,000 in performance bonuses.

Calderon, who will be 27 next month, batted .212 last season with 14 homers and 35 RBIs. He was on the disabled list from June 27-July 13 and again from July 27 to the end of the season and underwent shoulder surgery after the season.

The St. Louis Cardinals satisfied outfielder Milt Thompson with a one-year contract for $455,000, a raise of $215,000 over his 1988 salary with the Philadelphia Phillies. He can earn an additional $25,000 in performance bonuses.

Thompson batted .288 for Philadelphia with two homers and 33

RBIs. He was traded to St. Louis in December for catcher Steve Lake and outfielder Curt Ford.

Also, free agent first baseman Danny Heep agreed to a one-year contract with the Boston Red Sox for $285,000, with an additional $40,000 in incentives. Heep batted .242 for the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers last season with no homers and 11 RBIs in 149 at-bats. He made $300,000 last year and became a free agent when the Dodgers failed to offer the utilityman a contract for 1989.

No hearings are scheduled for today. Cincinnati Reds relief ace John Franco has a scheduled hearing on Wednesday in Chicago. Franco is seeking $1.3 million and Cincinnati is offering $950,000.

Franco was 6-6 in 1988 with a National League-leading 38 saves and a 1.57 ERA. He made $675,000 after losing an arbitration request of $925,000.

The two arbitration cases won by the owners involved Atlanta Braves outfielders Albert Hall and Dion James. Hall, who asked for $310,000, was awarded $250,000. James settled for $400,000 after asking $540,000.

Going to the basket

Pat Mercer (32) of the Hereford Whitefaces goes to the basket in front of Dunbar's John Elliott during last Friday's game at Whiteface Gym. Hereford will try to rebound from a 12-point loss to league-leading Dunbar when the Herd takes on Estacado tonight at 8 p.m. at Whiteface Gym. It's the last-home game of the season for the boys' team.

Arizona takes its turn at top

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — For the second straight year, Arizona has made it to the top of The Associated Press college basketball poll, as the No. 1 round-robin kept going.

It's an honor that Coach Lute Olson just as soon would have declined, at this point. Not that he's an ingrate, but Olson said his Wildcats, 17-2, have been there before, and that there are other teams that are better right now.

"I guess I would really just as soon

LOOSE AND LIMBER

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Anthony Carter, the loose and limber touchdown maker of the Minnesota Vikings, loves to play in big games.

The sure-handed wide receiver says he gets psyched up for the important games.

"I know it's a great feeling to be playing for big stakes. It's the main reason you're a ball player. There is nothing else in the world like it," he said.

MEDALS DONATED

MISSION, Kan. (AP) — The NCAA reported that Bobby Morrow, the sprinter who won three gold medals in the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne, has donated each one of the awards to a different institution.

Morrow sent one of the medals to his alma mater, Abilene Christian University. Another was donated to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington and the third to the Texas Hall of Fame.

Morrow won the James E. Sullivan Award as the outstanding amateur athlete for 1956.

have stayed about where we've been ... where you don't get all of the exposure that you would want without putting the additional pressure on, but maybe it'll be good to see how well our people handle the pressure of it anyway," Olson said Monday from Seattle.

A day earlier Arizona beat Washington, after defeating California, to vault from No. 4, as the previous top three, Oklahoma, Illinois and North Carolina, all tripped up at least once last week.

The Wildcats received 30 of 65 first-place votes from a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters and 1,226 points, 46 more than No. 2 Georgetown.

The Hoyas, 17-2, jumped from sixth, while Missouri, 20-3, climbed from fifth to third with 1,169 points, the Tigers' highest ranking this season. Georgetown, second in three earlier polls, had 17 first-place votes, Missouri 12, while Louisville, 16-3, moved from seventh to fourth and claimed three top votes and 1,090 points.

Louisville lost 81-78 to Florida St. Monday night.

Oklahoma, 18-3, fell to fifth, getting two first-place votes and 1,076 points. North Carolina, 18-4, received the remaining first-place vote and had 911 points, but dropped to sixth from third after losing to Clemson.

Illinois, No. 2 last week, lost to Purdue and Iowa and dropped to 18-3 and seventh place with 832 points.

Iowa, 17-4, climbed to eighth from ninth with 747 points, seven more than Syracuse, 19-4, which jumped to No. 9 from 14th place last week by pounding Villanova and Pittsburgh.

Michigan, 17-4, rounded out the Top Ten with 726 points, switching places with Seton Hall, 19-3, which collected 656 points. Syracuse beat Seton Hall, 85-79, on Monday.

Arizona was the fourth team to claim the No. 1 ranking in as many weeks. Duke, which led in the preseason and for the first nine weeks, lost three in a row and was supplanted two weeks ago by Illinois. The Illini promptly lost to Minnesota and Oklahoma succeeded them last week — then lost Saturday at Oklahoma State. On Monday night, the Sooners crushed Iowa St. 126-97.

"In our situation people are aiming at us anyway without having the added incentive of being No. 1," Olson said.

He said last year he felt "that we really played better once we got there, but it was the first time ever, so I think it was a real shot in the arm for us," and the No. 1 ranking gave the program needed national exposure. "And I don't think that's the case now."

Wildcat starting forwards Sean Elliott and Anthony Cook are back from that team, which was No. 1 for six of seven weeks.

Olson said their experience might enable the Wildcats to handle being No. 1 better this time, and called the selection "a tribute to the play of Sean and Anthony that they could lose three of their starting companions from a year ago and still get back to that level."

"It's sweet," said Elliott, a senior All-American. "You figure it's due in large part because of the seniors. Now, someday we can sit back and say we were No. 1."

Of the quick exits from No. 1 by Illinois and Oklahoma, Elliott said, "It's not a jinx, it's parity. You can't say one team is really dominant. There are several No. 1 teams out there. We just happen to be it this week."

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

- All 172 pages in full color
- Each page measures a large 15 x 11 inches
- Presents the entire state in stunning detail
- Appendices and specialty maps of many different features

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Become one of the first in our community to own a copy of this magnificent atlas.

Senator Bivins Reports

The tables were set up in the center aisle of the Senate Chamber. Three tables were placed horizontally so as to make an elongated T formation. They were old leather top tables covered with glass. Each table had six two inch diameter holes in the center to accommodate cords for the microphones that were before each chair. Seated around the tables were Senators Chet Edwards, Ike Harris, Ken Armbrister, Chet Brooks, Don Henderson, Robert McFarland, and Hector Uribe—all veterans of the Texas Senate.

The Senate Nominations Committee was meeting to consider appointments made by Governor Clements to various boards and commissions. All gubernatorial appointments must be confirmed by the Senate. The Nominations Committee is the first step in the confirmation process.

It is customary for the Senator from the nominee's district to accompany him to the committee hearing and introduce him to the committee members. This was the reason for my presence this morning.

As the nominee and I awaited our turn, we watched the committee grill two prospective nominees to the Texas Water Development Board with tough questions. Finally, after about forty minutes of questioning, the committee approved both nominations.

It was then our turn. Senator Edwards called for the nominee and me to come before the committee. We took our seats at the bottom of the T-shaped tables.

I began my remarks, "Mr. Chairman, members of the Committee, it is with some irony that I introduce to you Billy Clayton, Governor Clements' nominee for the Board of Regents of Texas A&M University. Mr. Clayton is a farmer from Springlake, Texas in Lamb County. I think it is altogether appropriate to have a citizen from the 31st Senatorial District serve on the Board of Texas A&M University in that over 35-percent of the agricultural production in Texas comes from this District. Mr. Clayton is an alumni of Texas A&M University and the immediate past president of the Texas A&M Former Students Association. Oh, and by the way, some of you remember Mr. Clayton from the Texas legislature. He represented the 85th District from 1962 to 1983. You also may recall that he served as Speaker of the House for four terms, the longest tenure as Speaker of anyone in the history of the House longest tenure as Speaker of anyone in the history of the House of Representatives. I believe Speaker Clayton would make an excellent member of the Board of Regents of Texas A&M University. I encourage your confirmation of his nomination."

Following my introduction of Speaker Clayton, another Texas political figure—whose reputation is somewhat broader than my own—sought to make a statement in support of the Speaker's nomination. Being granted permission by Chairman Edwards, Lt. Governor William P. Hobby pulled up a chair and sat next to me.

Before Governor Hobby could begin his remarks, Senator Armbrister jokingly stated that the committee need not hear Governor Hobby's remarks because the vote was already 7-0. Hobby, without missing a beat, looked up and asked Armbrister if that was 7-0 for, or 7-0 against, confirmation. After Governor Hobby had completed his remarks the Nominations Committee, to no one's surprise, voted 7-0 confirm the appointment of Speaker Clayton to the A&M Board of Regents.

Once the Nominations Committee has passed on the Governor's appointment, Senate rules require that notice of this action be posted for 24 hours before the entire Senate can act on the nomination.

When the Nominations Committee has approved the nomination and more importantly, once the Senator from the nominee's district has indicated he supports the nomination, approval by the entire Senate takes place as a matter of course. The support of the Senator from the nominee's district is an important role in the process.

Though it is not written in the Texas Constitution, nor the laws of the State of Texas nor the Senate rules, senatorial courtesy is a strong unwritten "rule" of the Texas Senate. It's tradition that holds if a Senator opposes the nomination of the gubernatorial appointment from his district then all of the members of the Senate will join that Senator in opposing the nomination.

This, of course, would result in the Senate failing to confirm the nomination of the Governor and thereby forcing the Governor to nominate a different person. It is not common for gubernatorial nominations to be opposed by the Senate, but certainly such opposition has occurred in the past. The tradition of senatorial courtesy is still very much alive in the Texas Senate today.

Alpha Iota Mu Chapter hears about eating disorders

The Alpha Iota Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met at the Energas Flame Room on Thursday, Feb. 2, at 7 p.m.

The minutes of the January 19 meeting were read and approved. Thank you's were extended to Secret Sisters by Janice Betzen and Dona Hendrickson. Hendrickson, Kathie Kerr, and Glenna Calaway expressed thanks for flowers they received and food that was brought when they were ill.

Dee Ann Matthews, president, thanked the members of the chapter who attended the Sweetheart Brunch on Saturday, Jan. 28. She also expressed appreciation for those who helped with clean-up.

The social committee announced plans for a get-together to be held before the Valentine Dance on Feb. 11. This get-together will take place at 7 p.m. at the home of Matthews.

The membership committee reminded members of the upcoming rush party on Feb. 19. Chairman Marrie Leverett asked for names to be turned in as soon as possible in order that invitations might be mailed.

The service committee regretfully announced the death of the chapter's adopted grandmother, Lucille Carter. It was decided to send a donation to King's Manor Methodist Home in Mrs. Carter's memory.

Wanda Huseman reminded members to meet on Thursday, Feb. 9 at the home of Gay MacLasky to work on decorations for the Valentine Dance. Members will also meet at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 11 to decorate tables at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Preceding the meeting, Camille Beville gave a program on nutrition. She emphasized the problems of anorexia nervosa and bulimia.

After the meeting, a disposal diaper shower was held for Dona Hendrickson and her daughter, Meghan Renee.

Members present at the meeting were Betzen, Camille Beville, Calaway, Hendrickson, Huseman, Kerr, Leverett, MacLasky, Matthews, Ruby Lee, and chapter advisor, Kay Williams. Special guest, Meghan Hendrickson was welcomed.

Boost dull, lifeless wintertime hair

Top hair stylists from around the country agree that a change in season means a change in the way you care for your hair. Once sleek, bouncy, manageable hair can turn dull and lifeless as suddenly as the seasons change.

The winter season can be particularly brutal, the extremes of temperature, lack of humidity and dry heat taking their toll on our tresses.

The spring goes out of our curls. Once-easy-to-style hair becomes flat and unresponsive. The simple task of slipping into our favorite sweater can shock our locks with static, while central heating can cause dryness and tightness in our scalp, leading to the flaking many of us confuse with dandruff. In short, winter hair can give us one big headache!

To help us cope with some of the most common winter hair problems, the experts at Neutrogena offer some helpful tips and advice to rescue our manes from the winter doldrums:

-For a dry, tight scalp, massaging with warm almond oil or a combination of wheat germ oil, lavender oil, rosemary and warm olive oil is a simple, but effective remedy.

Just section your hair into one-inch widths and dampen your scalp at the partings with a cotton ball moistened in the oil mixture.

Next, dip your fingers in the oil and massage your scalp. When the area tingles and feels slightly warm, continue on to the next section. For the best results repeat this regiment every two weeks.

-If the dry heat of central heating is making your hair limp and flat, try using a humidifier. Not only will this give your hair a lift, it will help relieve dry, flaking winter scalps.

-Your favorite everyday shampoo may be weighing your hair down. Try switching to a residue removing shampoo like Neutrogena for 14 days. A single wash reduces residue from 70 to 90 percent. Lightening up on mousse and gel can also work wonders for flat, limp hair.

-To help keep your scalp in good condition throughout winter, use a natural bristle brush to distribute the oils throughout the hair, and loosen dead cells and falling hairs.

Next, pour the shampoo into your palm, mixing it with water to build up a lather. Rub your hands together and then through your hair, using your fingertips to massage. Rinse well afterwards to remove any residue.

-In the summertime, blow-drying your hair is an optional activity but, in the winter, cold and lack of humidity make it the law.

To help give your hair more volume, hang your head down while you blow-dry your hair. Then, flick it back and style with your fingers. Too much brushing will weigh your hair down again.

-If your curls lose their spring and your permanent wave is a wash-out, residue buildup from your conditioner may be the culprit.

-To combat static electricity and flyaway ends, try rubbing your hair with (would you believe?) a fabric-softening sheet or spraying your hairbrush with hairspray.

Conditioning your hair regularly also will help reduce static electricity and encourage unruly ends to lie smooth on your head.

For healthy, manageable winter hair, follow the advice of the experts and modify your regular hair care routine as the temperature plummets. It may take a little extra effort and time, but the shining, bouncy results are worth it.

Scalloped Potatoes

February is Potato Lover's Month and also Heart Month. Be good to your heart and palate with this scrumptious dish.

- | | | | |
|---------|------------------------------------|------------|-----------------------------|
| 4 cups | thinly sliced, peeled raw potatoes | 3 tbsp. | flour |
| 1 | onion, peeled and sliced thinly | 1 tbsp. | curry powder |
| 1 tbsp. | chopped parsley, if desired | 3 tbsp. | freshly ground black pepper |
| | | 1 1/2 cups | margarine |
| | | | skim milk |

In a lightly oiled casserole, place a layer of potatoes. Sprinkle with flour and curry powder, then place a layer of onions. Sprinkling each layer with flour and curry powder alternate potatoes and onions until all are used. Season with pepper.

Heat the milk and margarine together and pour over the potatoes. Cover casserole and bake at 350 degrees for one hour, then remove cover and bake another half hour to brown.

Although the name hippopotamus means "river horse", this animal is really related to the pig.

Keywanettes hold annual spring rally, elect officers

The annual Spring Rally of Hereford Keywanettes was held Jan. 30 in the Community Center.

Laura Kerr, president, opened the meeting. Bridget Baker, vice president, led the pledge and Ronda Fuston, secretary, led the prayer.

Renee Sublett, Lt. Gov., gave an update on the convention which will be held March 31-April 2 in Austin.

Election of the 1989-90 board and beaus was held. The new board will include: Jayme Moore, Lt. Gov.; Gina Alley, president; Brenna Reinauer, vice president; Ann Weaver, secretary; Angela Banner, treasurer; Vicky Mongold and Krista Ansley, senior board members; Hema Gajiwala and Lesha Deyke, junior board members; Chelli Cummings, sophomore board member; and John Malouf and Russell Backus, beaus.

Special guests included Gene Brock, Terry Sparks, David Workman, Bobby Owen, Stuart Mitts, Cody L. Wilson, Jim Andrews, Chad Schroeder, Chris Solomon, Brian Wagner, and Kristina Kerr.

John Malouf will be vying for District Beau and Renee Sublett will run for District Treasurer at the convention.

Club program on spring planting given by Fuhrmann

The Bud to Blossom Garden Club met Feb. 2 in Mildred Fuhrmann's home.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the U.S. Flag opened the meeting. Roll call was answered by members naming their favorite summer flower.

Condolences were extended to club members Ursalee Jacobsen and Billee Johnson, both of whom recently lost sons-in-law.

It was announced that Johnson will be honored on her 90th birthday with a party to be held at Hereford Senior Citizens Center on Feb. 18.

Delegates were elected to the District I Spring Convention to be held March 6-7 in Lubbock. Delegates are: Wilma Bryan, Fuhrmann, Pat

Robinson, and Jacobsen. Alternate delegate is Naomi Hare.

Members planned to hold a work day and plant sale at the Garden Center on April 21.

Fuhrmann presented a program on spring planting for summer flowers and plants for instant landscaping.

Other members present were Joanne Blackwell, Maria Escamilla, Phyllis Brown, and Jane White.
