

City Election Is Set Tuesday

For the second time in four days, Deaf Smith County voters will go to the polls to decide on their representatives—this time for the city commission.

After voting Saturday on three school board elections, voters will be called on to pick two city commissioners from a field of five. Voting will be at the Community Center from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday.

The two posts on the city commission are both contested with three persons seeking election to Place 3 and two persons seeking election to Place 4.

Running for Place 3 are James "Dub" Boyd, Paul Schroeter and Mack Tubb and running for Place 4 are John J. Chavarria Jr. and incumbent Frank Barrett.

Bartley Dowell is the incumbent for Place 3, but he did not file for re-election.

It is too much to expect a foolish person to acquire wisdom merely by growing old.

With some fruit trees blooming and local residents beginning to get interested in yard or garden work, the snow this week came to some as something of a shock. You don't have to go back far in the records, however, to be reminded that it can snow in April.

We recorded freezing temperatures and snow here as late as April 5 last year, when the temperature dipped to 26 degrees. It was 22 on April 4 and two inches of snow accompanied that cold front. Most oldtimers probably expect the annual "Easter spell" of weather!

C of C president Melvin Jayroe set a goal this year of trying to get more members involved in the activities of the Chamber. We think his quarterly membership meetings will serve a fine purpose by informing members as to the organization's activities. There was a good turnout for the first meeting this month—why don't you try to make the next one?

Have you ever paused to think about the vital role the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department plays in this community? Dan Martin, 206 Ranger, came by to tell us that he thinks the fire department is "great" and he wants other citizens to know. Martin reports that he had a small fire at his home Tuesday night and he wants to compliment the fire department for a "fantastic job." He said when the firemen came on the scene, he had visions of men with axes and water hoses, putting out the fire but leaving much other damage. "They put out the fire with a minimum of damage, and an insurance man agreed that they couldn't have done a better job," he added. "The experience reminds me that we're always quick to criticize, but very seldom praise, and I just want Hereford citizens to know that I appreciate our firemen," he concluded.

Do you think it would be easy to fold a piece of paper 50 times? According to a statistician, you may find that when you have folded a sheet of paper three times, it is eight times its original thickness. If you fold it 20 times, it will be about 20 yards thick.

The truth is, according to the figures, a sheet of paper large enough to fold 50 times would cover the surface of the United States!

"If I ever reach Heaven," said John Newton, "I expect to find three wonders there: first, to meet some I had no thought of seeing there; second, to miss some I had expected to see there; and third, the greatest wonder of all, to find myself there."

Veigel, Clearman, Arney Elected To Board

Deaf Smith County voters re-elected Bobby Veigel and Hugh Clearman to the Hereford Independent School District Board of Trustees Saturday and picked Jim Arney as the third member to take the place of retiring board member Olin Parris.

Only 1,430 persons voted in the three elections held in the county on Saturday. Some 1,367 persons cast their vote in the city of Hereford, 35 did so at Dawn and 28 at Walcott.

Veigel received the largest number of votes in the Hereford election, drawing 844. A close second was Clearman with 832 followed by Arney with 649.

Other candidates and the votes they received were:

John Thames, 536; Dean Stallings, 332; Donna Smith, 263; Douglas Nix, 213; Don Lowder, 154; Clyde Whitaker, 70; Bernie Griego, 68; Ester De La Cruz, 63; and Sylvia High, 58.

Charlie Holt received on write-in vote in the election.

Veigel, 31, was appointed to the school board last year to fill the unexpired term of Lowell Sharp, who moved. He is engaged in farming and is a long-time resident of Deaf Smith County.

Clearman, 61, has been a member of the school board for eight years. He is a seed dealer and has lived in this county for a number of years.

Arney, 36, is the owner of Edwards Pharmacy and has lived in Hereford for 12 years. In the Walcott School Board race, where two seats were not contested, Jim Monroe received 28 votes, Bill Butler received 25 votes and Willis Duggan received three write-in votes.

Duggan held the seat on the school board during the past term, but did not seek re-election. Also in the Walcott area, Floyd Brown received 28 votes and was named to the County School Board for Precinct 3.

Only those persons living in Precinct 3 were eligible to vote for that position.

Vernon Innon, who also was unopposed in the race for the County School Board, Trustee-at-large, received 28 votes from the Walcott area. He received 576 votes from the ballots cast in Hereford.

More Cellars Being Built

With memories of the April, 1971 tornado still fresh in their minds, Hereford residents began making preparations for the forthcoming tornado season as evidenced by an unusual number of storm cellars being constructed.

Some eight building permits were issued during March for the construction of storm cellars as residents prepare for the dangerous season that began this month. It was a year ago this month that a tornado swept through the south and eastern portions of the city and caused more than $1 million in damages.

Storm cellars constructed during March ranged in cost from $400 to $1,500.

In addition to the storm cellars, new home construction also began to pick up. The total number of building permits issued during March was $252,100 which reflected a large number of new homes.

While none of the new home starts exceeded the $30,000 mark, there were nine permits issued between $20,000 and $29,000.

The March permit total was down by more than $250,000 from the February total, but still represented a good month for growth in the city. The March total, added to the first two months of this year, brought the yearly total to $874,400.

The January total was only $109,350 while the February total reached $512,950.

Of the permits issued during

March, nine were for new homes, two were for relocating mobile homes, eight for new storm cellars, one to alter and repair a business, one to demolish a building and two to add and repair homes.

Oregon Quarantine Said To Have Originated Here

Deaf Smith County, one of 34 Texas Panhandle counties under quarantine against the shipment of cattle, was said Friday to be the origination point from which 38 bulls now in quarantine in Oregon were shipped.

The Oregon State Agriculture Director, Irvin Mann, in an Associated Press interview

Friday, said the bulls were shipped from Deaf Smith County, according to information he received from the U. S. Animal Health Service at Salem, Ore.

He also was quoted as saying he would seek prosecution of "those receiving the cattle and arranging for the shipping. Deaf Smith County is one of 34 counties in the Panhandle under a quarantine that prohibits the shipping of cattle to other states because of the recent outbreak of "scabies," a disease in cattle that cause considerable weight loss. Just this week, the state health department said it was considering increasing the number of quarantine counties (See "OREGON" Page 2)

NORM Seeks To End 'Frustrations'

BY MARSHALL DAY
News Editor

An attack on the "frustration economics" of the past five Presidential Administrations began in Denver, Colo. last week when bankers, economists, businessmen, raw materials producers, farmers and clergymen joined together to incorporate National Organization for Raw Materials, Inc. (NORM).

Harlan VanderZee, president of Hereford State Bank, was elected president by representatives from 24 states. The organization will be headquartered in Hereford and will launch a nation-wide crusade for public support to challenge the present economic policies and to construct an economic rebirth of the nation.

Purpose of the new organization is to educate the public of the "inequities of government programs that brought about imbalances between farm prices, raw materials, labor and interest costs as the foundation cause for poverty, depression, inflation, social unrest and wars."

"The reason this organization was formed," VanderZee said, "is because of the complete and inaccurate image being given all raw material producers throughout the nation, the lack of knowledge of some of our nation's policy-makers, plus the fact the general public does not know what agriculture contributes to the economy. "We are just trying to tell the story of the life-blood of our nation. Raw material producers — and that includes mining, agriculture, timber and fisheries and whatever comes from the air, water and soil — are the ones that keep this country going. We want the people to know where the new, true wealth comes from — wealth that does not have to be repaid.

"There is no way to repay Mother Nature." VanderZee said NORM hopes to raise as much money as possible for national advertising to get its story told. "Wednesday, a member of the Price Commission blamed the farmers for the increase in the price of foods. They say food is higher today than it was 20 years ago, but, what isn't? "Those idiots think food should be down when everything else is up," he said. VanderZee pointed to the national debt and the adverse effects being felt because of that increasing debt the government has little intention of repaying.

There has got to be a national debt, he pointed out, but the nation has to have a way of paying it back. The private and public debt now stands at $2,250 billion. Along the same line, the NORM president pointed out the income of farmers as compared to that of workers in industrial states.

"The income of the 36 agriculture states is about $4,000 per family less than families of the industrial states," he said. "If we are going to buy back from these people the things we need, how are we going to do it with $4,000 less per family?"

One of the major target-areas of the new organization is a move to do away with all rural towns under a "mercy death" (See "NORM" Page 2)

Economic Stabilization Questions and Answers

Q. Do landlords need approval from the Internal Revenue Service before increasing rent?

A. Aside from requests for exceptions to the rent regulations, landlords must obtain approval of rent increases in only one case. That is plan. The plan was introduced by John D. Rockefeller III which calls for the government to "kill" all "ailing" rural communities, move the residents into large cities, give them jobs and get them started again.

"NORM"....

The Presidential Commission on Population and the American Future stated "many places have simply outlived their economic function and now (we) propose mercy deaths for our nation's ailing towns."

"What are they going to do with indebtedness in these rural communities?" VanderZee asked.

Arnold Paulson of Granite Falls, Minn., who was named NORM'S Executive Director and researcher, also was at the Denver meeting. Paulson is one of the nation's leading authorities on economics and has presented programs in Hereford several times during the past two years.

"Unless this nation suspends efforts to deal with the economic crisis through public debt expansion, inflation will become unmanageable," he said. "Debt expansion has taken on the color of chain letter economics due to the fact that public and private debt now double and redouble once each decade.

where the rent increase is based on a capital improvement not required by local law or the terms of a mortgage or deed of trust and 1 1/2 percent of the cost of the improvement allocable to the residence would result in an increase of over 10 percent in the monthly rent. Approval should be obtained from the landlord's District Director of Internal Revenue.

Q. Will the import surcharge have to be refunded to customers at all levels of distribution?

A. No. The lifting of the import surcharge imposes no requirement that refunds be made. The surcharge paid on inventoried items is an allowable cost and may be considered in pricing.

Q. Are cost increases as a result of the revaluation of the dollar allowable?

A. A company may apply its base period markup to the inventoried cost of imported items plus transportation costs of such items. Since the cost of items added to a company's inventory may vary to reflect the revaluation of the dollar, there may be like items of inventory which differ in price, depending upon whether the company seeks to pass through the costs it paid as a result of the revaluation of the dollar. Tier 1 firms must prenotify before raising prices to reflect these revaluation costs.

Q. Can an employer take advantage of the Pay Board's exception for cost-of-living increases by giving his employees such increases any time he chooses?

A. No.

RETIREES AFTER 14 YEARS — Johnnie Fotheringham, program assistant in the Deaf Smith County ASCS office, retired Friday following more than 14 years clerical service in the compliance department. Jack C. Vanderburg, county executive director, is shown presenting Mrs. Fotheringham an engraved charm and decorated cake, gifts of office employees. Miss Carmen Rodriguez will take over Mrs. Fotheringham's duties of calculating crop acreages and field measurements for the farm programs administered by the ASCS department.

The 38 bulls were imported from Deaf Smith County in the Texas Panhandle, which he described as the center of the infected area. He said the animals are under quarantine at the ZX Ranch in Paisley, Ore., the AP report said.

A ban was put on in Oregon in January against the shipment of cattle to that state from the state of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. Colorado later was added and the Oregon director said similar action is being considered against cattle from Kansas and Nebraska.

The 38 bulls were shipped to Oregon with some 200 rodeo steers. All the animals were placed in quarantine and cannot be moved.

Four Local Boxers In Finals Of AAU Tourney

The Hereford Boxing Club, organized only one month ago, was doing well Saturday in the Southwestern Amateur Athletic Union Boxing Tournament in Amarillo.

Four Hereford boxers were scheduled to fight in the finals Saturday night, and another, Mike Castro, fought Saturday afternoon, and with a win also advanced to the finals.

Kenneth Patzald of Hereford fought in the junior division finals Saturday night, as did Ernest Castro, in the 75-80 pound division.

Richard Rodriguez of Hereford competed in the high school division finals Saturday night against John Jenkins of Lubbock. The two high schoolers fought in the 146-pound division.

In an open division bout, Jessie Martinez of Hereford fought Eloy Benitez of Amarillo, with a berth in the National AAU Tournament at Los Angeles at stake.

Martinez was expected to have his hands full, however, as Benitez is this year's Golden Gloves State Champion and was third runner-up at the National Golden Glove Tournament. The winner will advance to Los Angeles, and with a win there gain a spot on the American team at the Olympics.

Boxers from five states are taking part in the Amarillo tournament. Hereford's entry is coached by Paul Ramirez, with Harold Wheeler as manager, Glen Nelson, Ed Wilson, Sam Long and several others have been working with the program.

Volunteer Fire Dept. Gets Check

The Hereford Volunteer Fire Department received a check for $75.00 recently from Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies as an expression of thanks for the department's work on the property of Mrs. D. Pulliam of 146 Nueces Street in Hereford.

The money will be used for the purchase of equipment.

The Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies pay volunteer fire departments this amount when the department works at a fire in rural areas, involving property insured by them.

The Insurance Company believes volunteer fire departments have contributed to reduce the amount of loss involved by fire and more important, to prevent fires. It is their hope this money will help the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department in their program.

Tornado Safety Rules

1. On the street or in a car, seek inside shelter in a tornado cellar, underground excavation or a steel-framed or reinforced concrete building or substantial construction. Stay away from windows.
2. In homes, the corner of the basement nearest the tornado usually offers the greatest safety. If there is no basement, take cover under heavy furniture in the center part of the house. Leave some windows open, but stay from them.
3. In office buildings, stand in an interior hallway on a floor, preferably in the basement.
4. In factories, post a lookout. Workers should move to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection, away from windows.
5. In schools, go to storm cellar or underground excavation, if available. If there is no storm cellar, but building is of reinforced construction, stay inside away from windows. Whenever possible, go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor. Caution: Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums with large, poorly-supported roofs. If a building is not of reinforced construction, go quickly to a near-by reinforced building or to a ravine or open ditch and lie flat.

In open country, move away from the tornado at a right angle to its path. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest ditch, ravine or other depression.

Do not call the weather bureau except to report a tornado. Local radio station KPAN will broadcast the latest tornado advisory information.

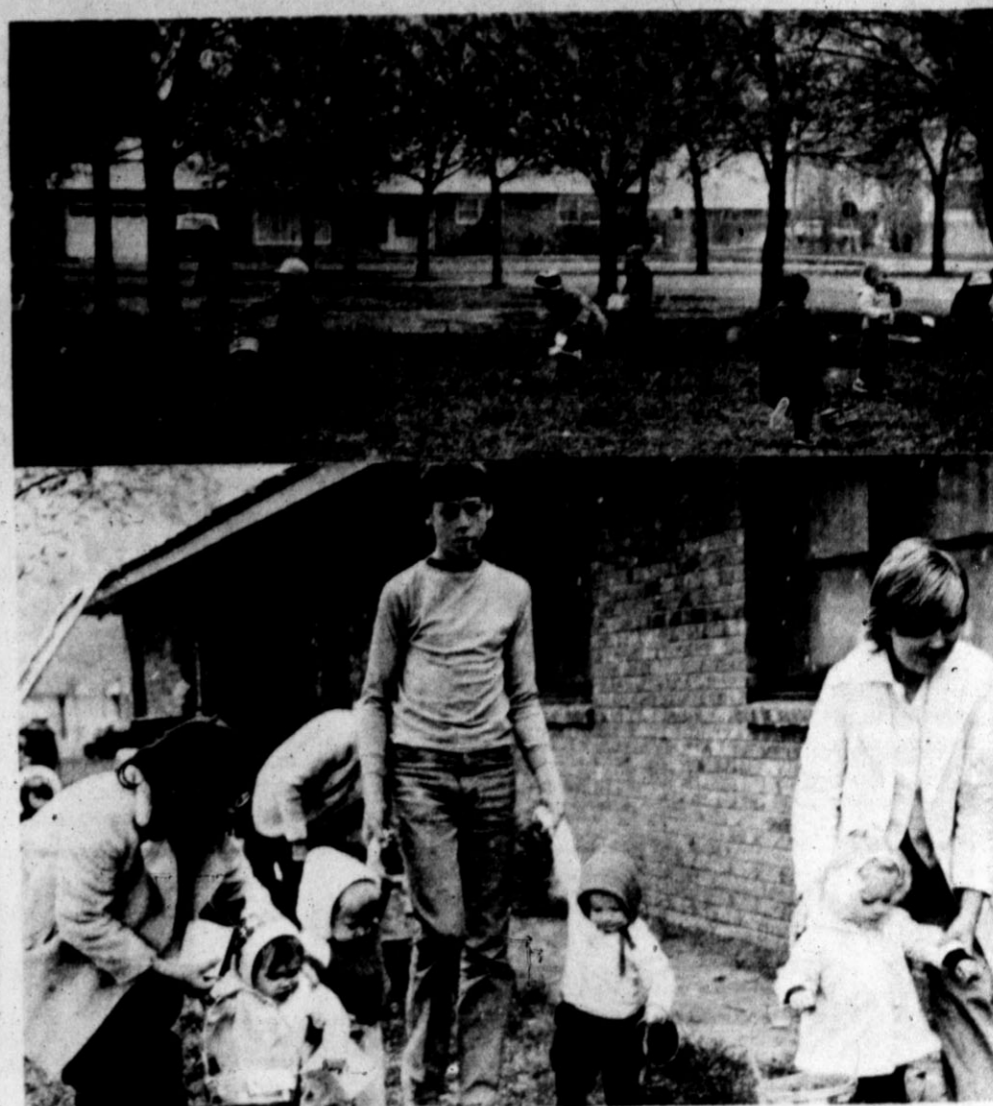

Note: There are no public tornado shelters in the city of Hereford. Any shelter maps a person now has are for fall-out protection only — not for tornado protection.

Traffic Deaths Increased Slightly During Past Year

Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said today the final tabulation of 1971 were injured and the total economic loss was $1.045 billion.

"The death figure of 3,594 represents a 1 per cent increase over the 1970 toll of 3,560. Actually, with all factors considered, the rise in deaths could have been greater," Speir said.

"For example, vehicle miles driven increased from 68 billion in 1970 to over 70.7 billion for 1971. This represents a rise in total driving of 4 per cent. From another standpoint, the number of licensed Texas drivers rose by nearly 324,000 during the past 12 months to a total near 7 million.

"Despite these sizeable increases in both miles driven and numbers of drivers, actual deaths increased only slightly. This means that our death rate per 100 million miles of travel—the nationally accepted indicator of traffic safety effectiveness—decreased 3 per cent from 5.2 in 1970 to 5.1 in 1971. As recently as 1966, our death rate in Texas was 6.2 so progress is being made," the DPS director added.

Of the 3,594 deaths, 2,184 occurred on rural roadways and 1,410 in urban areas. There were 2,993 fatal accidents and total accidents reported for 1971 was 394,166.

Speir said driving too fast for conditions and driving while intoxicated continued as the primary law violations contributing to fatal mishaps. Other major violations included driving on the wrong side of the roadway and failure to yield the right-of-way.

Teams Set For LDs' Championship Games

Three championship games will conclude Little Dribblers' Inc. basketball play in Hereford Monday night. After another successful season ended Friday night, zone champions were decided in two races by season point totals because of a tie.

Monday night the championship game for the Pee Wee League will begin at 6 p.m., with the Minor League championship following at 7 p.m. and the Major League game at 8 p.m.

The Pee Wee League zone champions were decided last week, with the Hornets claiming the North Zone title with a 4-1 record, and the Mustangs capturing the South Zone with a 4-1 mark also.

The Minor League play concluded Friday night. The Rockets were named champions of the North Zone over the Raiders, after each team finished the season with a 4-1 mark.

The Rockets had a 104-102 point advantage, however, after defeating the last place Owls 37-12 Friday night. The Rockets will be battling the tough Coyotes, who finished with a 4-1 mark for the league title. Their only loss was in overtime.

Everything ended as expected in the Major League, as the Knicks, 10-0, won the North Zone and the Warriors, 10-0, took the South Zone.

THIS WEEK'S RESULTS
In the Minor League the Raiders tripped the Badgers 26-10 Tuesday night, with Cochran

Lubbock High Gets 7-5 Win

After spotting Lubbock High School seven runs in the first two innings, the Hereford Whiteface baseball team tallied five runs in the late going, but lost 7-5 for its third loss of the District 4-AAAA campaign.

Ricky Locke absorbed the pitching loss for the Herd, permitting seven Lubbock hits and walking seven. He fanned one enemy batter.

The Herd's scrappy center fielder Eugene Suttle led an eight-hit HHS attack by rapping one single and booming two doubles. Terry Poindexter, Terry Scott, Steve Loerwald, Ricky Locke and Frank Bezner all added singles for the locals. The contest, played on the Hereford diamond, ran the Herd's season mark to 0-3. 4-AAAA leader Lubbock Monterey hosted the Hereford team Saturday afternoon.

making 12 points. Friday night the Rockets blasted the Owls 37-12 with Ramirez tallying 23 points.

Also Friday the Wranglers closed out the season with their second straight win, 13-11, over the Aggies. McCustian had three points for the winners. The Coyotes put the topper on a championship season with a 12-7 defeat of the Frogs. Suarez had eight points.

The tough Wildcats ended with a 27-10 win over the Rebels. Even though the Wildcats didn't win the championship, and finished the season with a 3-2 record, they did defeat two of the league's top teams, and played good basketball throughout the season. They scored more points, 112, than any other team in the league.

MAJOR LEAGUE
Weemes made 21 points and pushed the Knicks to a 50-8 whitewashing of the Hawks, the

Pistons won 2-0 over the Lakers on a forfeit, and the Warriors, paced by 20 points from Del

Torro, whipped the Celtics 34-12. The Royals won 24-17 over the Suns, with Holbert making 10 points. The Knicks edged the Celtics 24-22, as Arney made 10 points. The Bucks prevailed 22-19 over the Bullets, with Douglas making eight points and the Bucks stung the Lakers 34-13. Olsen had 18 markers for the winners.

Ortiz banged in 16 points and led the Bullets to a 29-26 win over the Hawks. The Warriors won 2-0 over the Suns in a forfeit, and the Royals defeated the Pistons 30-24. Holbert made 17 points.

HS Tracksters Take Fifth At Relays

Hereford High School's track team continued to compete well Friday at the Mustang Relays, in Andrews, grinding out a fifth place finish with a 44-point production. Hereford had one first place in the five division track meet.

Keith Kitchens posted a 41.2 clocking in the 330-yard hurdles for first place, and Luther Mays had a third in the 880-yard dash. His time was 2:00.6.

Pampa continued to dominate the area track scene, also winning at Andrews. The Pampa cindermen tallied a tremendous 152 points.

Complete track meet results will be featured in The Thursday Brand.

Baseball Team Sponsors Needed; Registration Set

The Hereford Boy's Summer Baseball Program jumped into high gear Friday night with the appointment of a committee to sell sponsorships for the 33 Hereford baseball teams. Registration and try-out dates were also set.

Because of a lack of funds, sponsors will be needed for each local baseball squad this year.

Each boy needs to bring proof of his age and a $3 fee for insurance with him to the registration. At least one parent is also urged to accompany the ball player. Applications will be published in The Brand.

Boys 8-12 years of age will play in the Bronco League, while 13 and 14-year old boys will compete in the Pony League, and the Colt League will include boys 15 and 16-years-old.

There are still two coaches needed in the Pony League and six needed in the Pee Wee conference of the Bronco League. Anyone wishing to fill these positions can contact Bunch, or attend the league's next scheduled meeting April 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the Pioneer Natural Gas warehouse.

Registration dates and times have been established, with Bronco League baseballers registering from 12 to 5 p.m. April 8 at the Hereford Community Center. Pony Leaguers will register at the same time, but on April 22. Prospective Colt Leaguers will register May 13 at the Community Center.

Pinckert Wins Angling Award

Chub Pinckert, of 119 South Avenue K in Hereford has recently been named to the "Best In Species Angling Award" by Sports Afieid, popular hunting and fishing magazine.

Pinckert pulled a six pound Walleye Catfish, which was 24 1/2" long, out of Conchas Lake in New Mexico on May 29, 1971. The successful fisherman will be listed in the April issue of Sports Afieid as a winner. This is the second year which Pinckert has claimed the award, also winning it in 1969.

Who ever said Rome couldn't be built in a day? How about the Hereford High School track team, which has rebounded from a couple of poor showings earlier this season to one meet win, a close second and a very close third place finish in the last three weeks.

Coach Don Cumpton's squad has certainly picked up a few steps in recent action, and now appears to have a good showing to look forward to in the upcoming District 4-AAAA meet at Lubbock Coronado.

Cumpton feels that Luther Mays has a good chance to take the district 880-yard dash title, after a string of first places in recent meets. Keith Kitchens in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles, and Joe Coleman in the high jump are also two HHS athletes who Cumpton feels have a good chance to advance to the regional meet.

An All-Star team will be announced at the Jaycees-Harlem Stars basketball game Tuesday night, which will advance to the Little Dribblers' Basketball Inc. regional playoffs in Lubbock later in April.

The team will be composed of boys in the Major League of the local Little Dribblers' and will be selected by their coaches. All boys who play Little Dribblers' are asked to attend the contest. First and second place ribbons for the champions and second place teams in each league will also be awarded Tuesday.

All proceeds from the game will go to finance the team's trip to Lubbock, which will include at least one night's stay, at the tournament. The tourney is a double elimination affair.

Coach Mike Mitchell's HHS Whiteface baseball team lost two heart-breakers this weekend, both by one run, and both in district play.

Friday the Herd began district with a 5-4, 11 inning loss to Plainview on the local field, and Saturday fell to Coronado 1-0. The Whitefaces just can't seem to get the hits they need then like when the bases are loaded.

Friday after the contest went into extra-innings, the Herd had many opportunities to score and win the contest, but just couldn't quite cross the plate. Some people have all the luck!

THE POOR KANGAROO
WASHINGTON (AP) — Kangaroos are big business in Australia.
About 1 1/2 million are killed yearly in a $23 million plus market, reports the National Geographic Society.
The roos are turned into cans of pet food, athletic shoes and high-fashion boots. Their fur covers toy koala bears and hat bands. Kangaroo tail soup delights gourmets.
Sheepmen in Australia insist kangaroos compete with sheep for the sparse bush and grass.
Despite the killing, kangaroos are prolific breeders.
Big game hunters took 458 black bears in New York state during the 1971 season.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights
by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Texans have just a few days more — until April 5 — to register to vote in the May 6 primary elections.
Major state candidates, including Governor Preston Smith, have viewed with alarm registration totals so far. They noted that less than 3.8 million had registered as of last weekend, although there are nearly 7.7 million qualified voters in the state.

Present registrations are trailing the corresponding period in 1968 by 294,000 and the 1970 figure by more than 370,000.

In 1968, observed gubernatorial candidate Frances Farenthold, 64 per cent of all qualified voters were registered before the primaries. This year, only 48 per cent of the potentially-eligible are registered.
Former U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough pointed out that 63.4 per cent of those qualified registered in 1970, and the 1972 dropoff is reflected in many "working class" neighborhoods.
Nearly one million more should register by April 5 if previous patterns are followed, Smith said.

Under the state's new voter registration system, which candidates Farenthold and Yarborough lauded as one of the nation's best, citizens have until 30 days before an election to register and become eligible to vote.
The U. S. Supreme Court threw some confusion over the registration system with a ruling that 12 months' state and six months' local residency requirements for voter eligibility (like those of Texas) are unconstitutional.
The high court said 30 days' residency is sufficient for any state. Secretary of State Bob Bullock took the case under study, and special legislative attention may be necessary.

TPA POLLS NORTH AND EAST TEXAS — Editors and publishers were polled at the annual meeting of the North and East Texas Press Association in Palestine last week.
First question was — "Who will carry your county in the primary?" In the Democratic Governor's race, the newsmen voted: Barnes, 25; Briscoe, 20; Smith, 8 and Farenthold, 3. Republican gubernatorial candidates rated were: Fay, 12; Grover and Reagan, 9 each. In the Lieutenant Governor's race it was: Hall, 27; Connally, 14 and Hobby, 12.
The editors selected Sanders 28 to 19 over Yarborough in the U. S. Senate primary.
Asked whom they would vote for personally, the tally read: Briscoe, 19; Barnes, 14; Smith, 8 and Farenthold, 5.
They selected Hall 26, over Hobby, 10, and Connally, 7. In the U. S. senate primary they voted for Sanders 18 to 7 over Yarborough. In the 1972 General Election poll they voted for Tower 21 to 5 over Sanders.

SPEAKER'S BATTLE
The State Supreme Court declined to issue orders under which an Austin investor sought to require a deposition from a San Angelo Savings and Loan Association president which may touch on stock scandals.
A $55,500 claim by a Houston couple against the city as the result of their son's drowning in a garbage dump was refused by the Supreme Court.
HOSPITAL BUDGET COMPILED — Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation will seek $141.8 from the legislature for its 1973 fiscal year operations.
Major requests will include a new children's psychiatric unit at Austin, alcoholism and drug abuse programs at Big Spring, maximum security buildings at Rusk and a critically needed 100-bed treatment facility for drug abuse patients at San Antonio.
Other major allocations are sought for the Rio Grande State Center for MH/MR, construction of an El Paso State Center for Human Development, community-based MH MR services, funds to meet Medicare-Medicaid certification requirements, a new drug dependent youth program at Vernon Center South and new intensive treatment centers in Houston and Dallas.

LOOMS — House Speaker Gus Mutscher, appealing a bribery consent conviction in Sharpstown stick scandals, has announced he will step aside as speaker.

The long-expected has set the stage for a battle for the key pro-officer's post when Gov. Smith calls a special legislat. session.

Reps. Rayford Price of Palestine and L. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi both claim majority support to take over the gavel during the special session. Hale has agreed to serve only as interim speaker and pledges he will not seek the job in the 1973 regular session. Price is considered the leading candidate for speaker in 1973, but he wants to take over at the first opportunity to enhance his long-term chances.

Most other speakership hopefuls line up behind the Hale interim bid. Rep. R. B. McAlister of Lubbock, radio-television executive, announced he also will seek the speaker's position in 1973.

INSURANCE RATES AGAIN — Insurance Board Chairman Larry Teaver lambasted two Board colleagues for proposing a $27 million homeowners increase which he termed "unnecessary, unjustifiable and an insult to the intelligence of the people of Texas."

Board members Ned Price and Durwood Manford denied any new rates have been finally adopted and said they likely won't be before June 1.

Teaver, who advocates a $14 million decrease in fire and other building coverage, called another meeting for March 29 to review Board actions and to recommend an "economic trend factor" be kept out of rates pending a study of the price freeze and inflation.

DEMOS LEAVE OFF DST — Democrats ignored a legislative resolution directing a May 6 statewide (non-binding) vote on daylight - saving time. Republicans put the issue on their ballots.

Authors of the resolution, Reps. Hilary Doran of Del Rio and John Poerner of Hondo, blasted Democratic Chairman Roy Orr of DeSoto who accepted responsibility for the omission. They also petitioned the State Democratic Executive Committee to reconsider and overrule Orr.

COURTS SPEAK — The State Supreme Court April 26 will hear a lawsuit concerning invasion of privacy and whether a telephone company owes customers protection from a wiretap by an employee.
Court of Criminal Appeals granted a new trial for a Smith County man convicted of raping his sister-in-law.

The State Supreme Court declined to issue orders under which an Austin investor sought to require a deposition from a San Angelo Savings and Loan Association president which may touch on stock scandals.

A $55,500 claim by a Houston couple against the city as the result of their son's drowning in a garbage dump was refused by the Supreme Court.

SPECIAL ELECTION SET — A special election has been set for June 13 in Jefferson County to fill the unexpired term of the late Rep. Will Lee Smith of Beaumont.

Couple Married Recently

Forest Hill United Methodist Church in Amarillo was the setting for the wedding of Miss Katie Anne Cummings of that city and Charles Frank Cogdell of Hereford March 17.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. C.T. Cummings of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Cogdell, 915 East Park Avenue.

The Rev. Roger Loyd, pastor of the church, officiated for the wedding ceremony. Church decorations were in lavender and yellow.

Sisters of the bride, Mrs. Dan Shackelford of Odessa and Mrs. Michael Russ of Amarillo, were her attendants. Russ acted as best man and Shackelford as groomsmen. Kip Burnett was the usher.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin with long-sleeved lace overdress. A satin bandeau held her bouffant short veil.

A reception was held after the ceremony, with the wedding colors repeated in table decor. Mrs. Cogdell is a high school student in Amarillo and Cogdell is to graduate from Hereford High with the 1972 class.

Vows written by the couple were read by the Rev. Jim Bethell, Episcopal minister at Canyon. I Am a child and Happiness Runs, songs composed by friends of the couple, Neil Young and Donavan Leitch, were sung by Jackie Anderson, Monte Black and Johnny Weems.

Wedding attendants were Miss Donna Dufek of Amarillo, maid of honor, and Tim Tresslar of Bloomington, Ind., best man.

Guests, family members and close friends, were registered by Felicia and Andrea Meridith, sisters of the bridegroom, and were served supper following the ceremony.

The couple will make their home of Cincinnati following Meridith's graduation from WTSU in August.

At The Library William R. Morley And The Santa Fe

For the story on William R. Morley and his famous works with Santa Fe Railroad and the Southwestern frontier, check this week at the Deaf Smith County courthouse. The era of his spectacular career in the 1870's.

THE MORLEYS, YOUNG UPSTARTS ON THE SOUTHWEST FRONTIER

by Norman Cleveland and George Fitzpatrick
William Raymond Morley's spectacular career in the 1870's made him one of the most colorful figures on the Southwestern frontier.

It was Morley who won the Raton Pass for the Santa Fe Railroad, and Morley again a few months later who won the Royal Gorge for the Santa Fe in the famous race of man and horse against a work train. (The Santa Fe later gave up this route for other concessions.)

Before he achieved fame as a railroad locator, Morley had been manager of the nearly 2-million acre Maxwell Land Grant and editor of the Cimarron News and Press, which was torn up by a mob led by Clay Allison.

While editor of the paper, he was the near victim of a death plot, and here at Cimarron he waged a different kind of battle than for railroad right-of-way. The News and Press was one of the few New Mexico newspapers not under the domination of the Santa Fe ring, and he became champion of the people of Colfax county and the anti-rings elsewhere in their political battles with the Santa Fe ring, which controlled local, territorial and federal government agencies in virtually every county in the state.

Because of the assassination of a Methodist minister and an unusual combination of events in Cimarron, Morley's mother-in-law Mary Tibbles McPherson initiated efforts to have the governor and other officials removed from office.

A campaign that finally resulted in the removal of Governor Axtell and the appointment of General Lew Wallace, who later gained fame as author of Ben Hur.

Events of the lives of Morley and his "golden haired Ada" offer more exciting fare than even the usual fictional Westerns.

Though he made a deep impress on New Mexico of the 1870's, Morley has become an almost forgotten figure of New Mexico history. In a combination of personal family stories and documented history, this volume brings his spectacular story to life in heroic proportions.

Brewer Attends Managers Meet

Movie patrons can look forward to a brighter year in 1972, with stepped-up production of more entertaining and exciting film fare, guaranteed to have a broader appeal for families, as well as the teen-age group and older, according to Scott Brewer, Manager of the Star & Tower Drive In, here in Hereford.

This was the overall reaction and feel generated at Commonwealth's annual Manager's Meeting in Colorado Springs, recently which Brewer attended.

Elmer C. Rhoden, Chairman of the Board for Commonwealth Theatres, in speaking before the group of two hundred at the first day's luncheon, emphasized the importance of community involvement. He urged each manager to make an honest and sincere effort to make himself known in his respective area by participating in civic, social and business affairs especially created to benefit the community.

His remarks, entitled, "You," stressed the importance of each manager as an individual and the fact that the parent company is a "service" organization.

Business at the meeting included general discussions of special selling campaigns, concession merchandising, audience building concepts, plus the announcement of Commonwealth's new rating extension to be used in conjunction with the present film industry rating system. Under the new symbol extension plan Commonwealth will use these additional letters: "D" to indicate scenes with immoderate language in the dialogue; "N" signifying scenes with partial or total nudity; and "V" representing scenes of extreme violence.

Poor Big Winner

The scene is a stock ingredient of grade "B" Westerns: The camera takes us through the swinging doors of the saloon. Within, a tense group of hard-eyed men sits around a smoky, green-felt-covered table, playing poker. One of them is losing heavily.

Suddenly, the big loser accuses another player of cheating. As he makes the accusation, he jumps up, knocking over the table and going for his gun. The lights go out. There's an exchange of gunfire.

In the confusion, it's very hard to tell who's right and who's wrong. And that's exactly what the loser had in mind when he breaks up the game.

George Meany followed the script pretty closely when he quit the Pay Board, dragging three of the other four labor members with him. The only substantial deviation is that instead of being a big loser, his problem seems to be that he wasn't winning enough. And a look at the record makes it quite plain that "winning enough" for the AFL-CIO means cleaning out everyone else in the game.

Meany's first demand was that the Pay Board be completely independent of the Administration's Cost of Living Council. The President agreed. Meany's second demand was that the Pay Board be tripartite, with equal representation from business, labor and the public. The President agreed. So organized labor started the game with a deck stacked to its specifications.

Not surprisingly, the subsequent decisions of the Pay Board favored the big unions. After announcing that 5.5 percent would be the maximum permissible annual wage increase — with 7 percent allowed in special "catch-up cases" — the Board granted the following increases in excess of its own rules: Soft coal miners, 15 percent; aerospace workers, 8.3 percent; United Transportation Union, 10 percent; West Coast dock workers, 14.9 percent. The Board also acquiesced in construction industry wage set-lements averaging about 11 percent a year. But even that wasn't enough for organized labor. The dock workers wanted 20.6 percent, not a "little" raise like 14.9 percent.

So, kick over the table, douse the lights, and start shooting.

Labor fired two wild shots. The first was the charge that wage controls are "unfair" if profits aren't controlled. The second was the charge that profits are "soaring."

Profits were better in 1971 than in 1970, but then, they could hardly have been worse. In 1970, after-tax corporate profits, as a percent of sales, were 2.3 percent. That was the lowest profit for any year since the end of World War II. In 1971, the figure rose to 2.5 percent. An increase? Sure — but still the second lowest profit for any year since World War II. Only 1970 was lower. These are official, U. S. Government figures, by the way.

But it's a mistake to try to control profits in any case. Profits are a reward for efficiency. Tax revenues come from profits. So does the money to invest in new businesses, which could provide the new jobs we need so badly now. That's why the government chose to control prices, rather than profits. After all, prices are what concern you, as a consumer. And prices — for the big corporations, anyway — are very firmly controlled. The limit on annual increases is 2.5 percent. Only the "little guys" and the farmers are exempted. Whether such an exemption is wise is arguable, but it certainly isn't an example of favoritism for the "big business."

The labor czars obviously hope to deceive people by appealing to vague fears of "big business," to cover up their own sordid record. In an election year, they will have a lot of help from politicians seeking their support. It's safe to predict that the situation will get more confusing, rather than less. And, unfortunately, we won't be able to spot the "good guy" by his white hat.

HUD's Hang-Ups

Housing and Urban Development chief George Romney made a commendable and important admission to the Economic Club of Detroit Monday, that the programs his agency administers are not capable of solving inner city housing problems.

It is an admission that would be quickly supported by many other knowledgeable housing and urban affairs specialists. It deserved immediate attention from Congress before HUD sinks deeper into a morass that the nation's housing subsidy laws have created.

"I acknowledge with deep regret the things that have gone wrong with our housing subsidy program," Mr. Romney said. Deep regret is indeed in order, but the blame for HUD's troubles need not be borne by Mr. Romney alone. A far larger share belongs to the 90th Congress, the Johnson administration, the HUD bureaucracy and to some faulty notions about how to employ federal money to cope with inner city poverty.

The dimensions of the housing mess become more apparent every day. An FHA scandal in Detroit could cost the government over $100 million in losses, Mr. Romney said. On Wednesday, a U. S. attorney in New York brought a massive housing case against Dun & Bradstreet, nine other corporations and 40 individuals, charging wrongdoing that involved 5,000 houses and $200 million in potential FHA losses. Nationally, it has been estimated that the FHA's losses to housing frauds could cost the government over $500 million. And the FHA scandals are only a part of HUD's troubles.

The troubles can mainly be attributed to the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, which President Johnson proposed and a friendly, and somewhat naive, Congress approved.

In typical Johnsonian rhetoric, the President posed a "massive national need" for 26 million new homes and apartments in a decade to replace "shameful substandard units of misery where more than 20 million Americans still live." The new bill not only relaxed FHA standards for insuring central city home purchases but also provided direct mortgage interest subsidies so that families both below and somewhat above the poverty line could buy their own homes.

The scandals in Detroit and elsewhere can be credited heavily to the ensuing pressures from Washington to guarantee and subsidize central city housing. Local FHA offices apparently became easy marks for land speculators who lined up families that qualified for the new subsidies and sold them substandard housing at inflated prices. Some of the families were so poor or transient that they couldn't or didn't make payments on their mortgages, despite the subsidies. So they moved out or where foreclosed, leaving the FHA stuck with large mortgages on low-value property. Nationally, the FHA had to repossess 36,000 houses last year, a sharp rise from 1970.

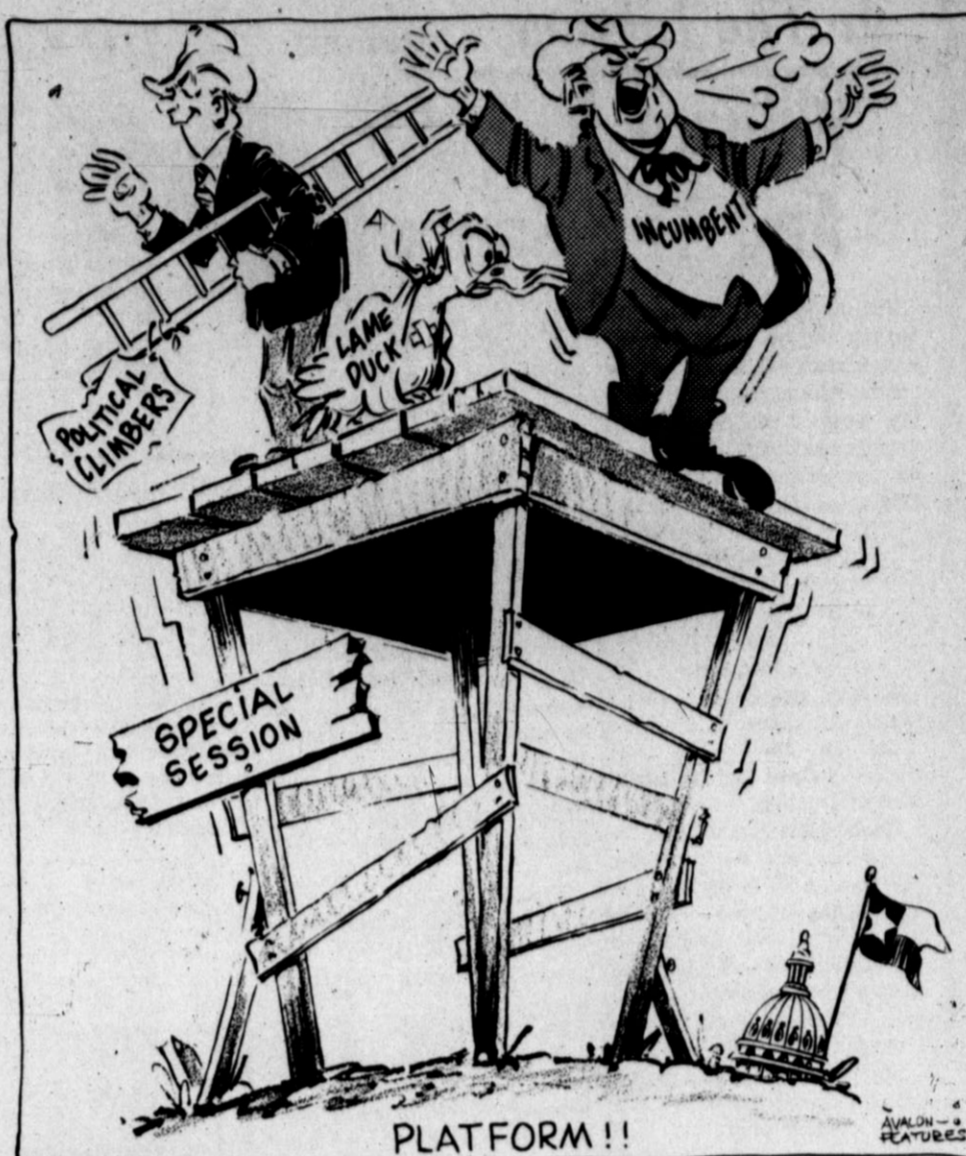

Irving Welfeld, an attorney who has worked for HUD in various roles, writes in the forthcoming issue of "The Public Interest" that the liberal features of the 1968 act allowed it to benefit almost everyone more than the truly poor builders, speculators, lenders and home buyers and tenants who were not really poor. The usual anomalies developed between subsidized families who were enabled to live better than more industrious but unsubsidized families. Finally, Mr. Welfeld cites statistics showing that the presumed general housing shortage was largely a myth, since housing construction has been outpacing new household formations for two decades. The empty housing in Detroit offers testimony to this idea.

The reason the HUD problem deserves immediate attention is that the mortgage interest subsidy commitments provided by the 1968 act rise geometrically as new subsidies are granted. HUD granted $1.3 billion in subsidies last year but since the subsidies cover interest on 30-to-40-year mortgages, its long-term commitment already is $30 billion. By 1978, federal officials estimate, it will be spending $7.5 billion annually but its long-term commitment will be staggering $200 billion.

All of which suggests that Congress should move quickly to foreclose the present HUD subsidy system. Mr. Romney has suggested that it might be cheaper for the government to pay housing supplements directly to poor families and let them find their own accommodations. It sounds like a good idea, relatively at least, and HUD intends to give it a test.

There is no denying that it will take some doing to untangle the mess, given the special interests involved. However, when the man in charge of a program is himself willing to admit that the program is faulty, and when massive scandals are surfacing, how long should it take for Congress to get the message?

MAIN STREET, U. S. A.

Externally, Washington Shows Its Best Face

By Bert Mills
WASHINGTON, D. C. — Spring in Washington means cherry blossoms, a horde of tourists, a series of parades on the broad avenues, and a congregation of protesters seeking to change governmental policies.

Externally, Washington shows its best face in springtime. The famed Japanese cherry blossoms come and go quickly but are soon replaced by flowering magnolia and dogwood trees. Soon the blood red tulips in the middle of the White House lawn will add another splash of color to the scene.

The spring riots of yesteryear are not expected to recur, and discontented college students are no longer flocking to their nation's capital to spend their spring vacation protesting the Vietnam war. However, a long list of groups did usher in the season by staging a Children's March for Survival to protest legislation to reform welfare programs.

One traditional April event in Washington will be missed — opening day of the baseball season. Not only will there be no first ball thrown by the President of the United States, there will be no games all season. Alas, the Washington Senators are now the Texas Rangers and for the first time in 92 years Washington is without big league baseball.

Another change that may be noted by spring visitors is that a subway is finally being built in Washington. Some downtown streets are closed off while the digging goes on, as it will for several years to come.

Nixon Plans Trips

Inside the White House, President Nixon is preparing for spring trips to Canada and Russia. His dramatic visit to China was adjudged a success and the President will continue his personal diplomacy. Nixon is not talking politics these days but you may be sure he is aware that he will be running for re-election next November.

On Capitol Hill, the politicking is more obvious. The Democrats have gained some mileage out of the I.T.T. case and will continue to search for scandals calculated to embarrass the administration. Congress is stalling on most reforms proposed by the White House and the forecast is for more of the same.

As usual, Congress is behind in its work. The pace should quicken after the Easter recess committees have been busy of late and will be sending legislation to the floor for final action. Appropriation bills providing funds for the next fiscal year are supposed to be passed by midyear but the deadline seems sure to be missed, as usual.

Congressional leaders face the prospect of giving the Republicans a campaign issue if they do not increase their legislative output. Harry Truman proved a generation ago that charges of a "do nothing" Congress can be a potent weapon.

Parking Tax Proposed

Most of those who toil in Washington live in the Maryland or Virginia suburbs, and thousands of these commuters travel by private car. This group is now up in arms over a proposed tax on all-day parking in the central city.

The Washington City Council seeks to impose a $1 per day tax on all-day parkers. The main idea seems to be not to increase revenue but to force commuters to ride the bus and leave their cars at home. Many commuters now pay up to $3.50 per day for parking space, and are not happy at the prospect of an extra $1 charge each day.

Americans love their cars and the privacy and convenience they afford. Any attempt to coerce them to change their habits is bound to be strongly resisted, even if it would bring prosperity to the bus lines, reduce air pollution, and improve the movement of traffic.

Washington belongs to the entire American public. The marble halls and the parks, and the memorials and monuments, are great. But the residents have the same mundane problems as city dwellers everywhere.

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maguire

BANK NOTE — Because both coins and paper currency were scarce in early Texas, checks often were circulated as money. Sometimes a check would pass through half a hundred individuals and be worn out when it finally was presented for payment.

Sometimes checks were never cashed. In the 1870's, a Texas cowboy named Tom Rivington had trailed a herd into central Kansas. The trail boss paid him off with $200 in cash and a $50 check drawn on a San Antonio bank. No paper was available, however, so the terms of the transaction were burned into a piece of sheepskin with a red hot awl.

Rivington tried to cash the unique check in Abilene, Kansas, but was told that it wouldn't be honored because the San Antonio bank was too far away. From then on, he carried the check with him always, using it for stakes in a poker game and as collateral for loans. He became so attached to it that he once refused an offer of $1,000 from a Denver man who wanted the sheepskin as a collector's item.

PROMOTION NOTIONS — The developer of a small real estate addition in the Oak Cliff section of Dallas must have been hooked on automobiles.

Streets named Cadillac, LaSalle, Pontiac, Buick and Chrysler serve the area.

TRAVELING TEXAS — Brownsville's new Gladys Porter Zoo has a unique purpose: To serve as a refuge for birds and animals marked for extinction by the human race.

The zoo, one of the 36 in the U. S. approved by the Department of Agriculture, is the first major zoological exhibition built, stocked, staffed and given to a community by a private foundation. The Earl C. Sams Foundation picked up the $5.5 million tab for the project. It is named for Mrs. Sams' daughter. Mrs. Gladys Porter was the first president of the Rio Grande Valley Zoological Society and took a personal role in building and stocking the zoo.

IT TAKES ALL KINDS — Those who keep track of such things say that the two best poker players in the world call Texas home.

Johnny Moss, who resides in Lubbock when he isn't in Las Vegas, Nevada, was crowned the world's champion poker player in a 1970 tournament. No champion was named in 1971, although Moss did win two trophies for his play.

Jack Straus of Houston, an ex-basketball player at Texas A & M, usually is regarded as the second best in tournament play although he has not won the coveted world championship handed out at Las Vegas.

THE CHANGING TIMES — The long trail drive has been replaced by the jet airplane for some Texas cattle.

Amarillo is one of the points where jetliners now drop down, pick up 160 head of registered Herefords and deliver them to market in a few hours.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Anthony Harrigar

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

Not many Americans have heard of Ellettsville, a tiny community 4.5 miles outside of the university and industrial city of Bloomington in the Indiana hill country. But that isn't likely to be the case for long. A dilapidated farmhouse in this community is the editorial headquarters of "The Alternative," an amusing journal of ideas and politics edited by and for young conservatives. Discerning readers from Harvard to Stanford are discovering the wit and wisdom of editor R. Emmett Tyrell Jr. and his colleagues.

This is the way it should be: Good writing and fresh thinking should emerge from the American heartland. "The Alternative," however, is not just another little magazine for a student audience. It has a respectable nationwide circulation of 30,000 and attracts the ablest of the young conservative writers such as David Brudnoy and John Coyne Jr.

"The Alternative" is unique among conservative journals in that its favorite instrument of iconoclasm is humor. The style of the magazine is what William F. Buckley Jr. has termed "liberated-disrespectful." Tyrell & Co. make fun of the orthodoxies of the liberal establishmentarians who control the media and cultural institutions.

The correspondence section of "The Alternative" is worth the price of admission ($4 a year.) Some of the letters to the editor are planted parodies of the type of letter ritualistic liberals write to "The New York Times" and "Washington Post." Indeed the editors of the magazine are delightfully outrageous in their handling of personalities and issues. That's what the country needs. Humor is the best way to deal with such synthetic statesmen and public pretenders as George McGovern and Ralph Nader. As I see it, "The Alternative" is giving the conservative movement a transfusion of enthusiasm and energy. Let's hope that it will retain the prankish touch and avoid an excess of ponderous comment.

The Alternative is published at Rural Route 11, Box 360, Bloomington, Ind. 47201. I don't hesitate to urge readers to sample the magazine's contents. The magazine is a breath of fresh air in an intellectual and political environment polluted by stale liberal doctrines. In order to survive and become better known, the magazine needs more readers. It should be in every college library and every fraternity lounge.

Emmett Tyrell, Baronn Von Kannon and Ronald Burr — the prime movers of the magazine — are planning new ways of acquainting young Americans with conservative ideas. They have started an educational news service (a counter to the radical news services that feed mis-information to college papers) and have conducted a couple of conferences for students. Tyrell also has a weekly TV talk show in Indianapolis.

These young men in their twenties are proof of the vitality of the conservative movement in America. They are demonstrating that a new generation has the capacity and desire to accent the positive about the United States and its civilization.

Tyler Thompson Receives Studies Grant Of $3,600

Tyler B. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Thompson, residents of Hereford before their move last year to Leavenworth, Kan., has been awarded a $3,600 fellowship by the National Science Foundation.

Thompson, one of 998 students to receive the fellowship for which more than 5,600 students competed, was named salutatorian of Hereford High School in 1966.

A graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Thompson will continue his studies at the University of Illinois at Urbana where he is a first-year graduate student majoring in organic chemistry. The recipient's father, W. T. "Bill" Thompson, served as manager of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce for more than 12 years. He and his wife left Hereford last June for Leavenworth where he is executive vice president of that area's C. C.

THE EASTER SEASON
When the crab-apple trees burst into hues of pink beauty, and the planting of gardens becomes our duty. Tiny golden dandelions dot the lawns (much to our dislike) Jeweled dew on the verdant grass blades sparkles each dawn. The delicate tulip in her colorful hue Gives forth her part to the breathtaking view. And the sweet fragrance of the hyacinth's purple dress

Fills our hearts with joy we cannot express. Then it's spring in our hearts as it is on the earth, Time for us, like the earth, to experience rebirth: I'm sure God gives us these splendors of spring To help us listen to the call of our King of Kings; So this Easter, let us more clearly see

The world's hope is our answer, "I will follow Thee." Gardening, and the new awakening of the earth, is one of the best ways to be drawn nearer to the Heart of God. As we turn the brown sod, and listen to the birds songs, and catch the beauty of the fitting butterfly, may we think deeply and make new resolves. As I lay in bed at the hospital, one of the lovely things I noted was the unfolding of the beautiful roses. They came to me in tight buds, then with each day there was a noted change. Soon the rose reached its fruition, a beautiful full-blown rose, still with sweet fragrance. All making more indelible the impression that our lives unfold in such a way. What of the full-blown life?

Happy, blessed Easter to one and all. May new strength be given which will prepare us for the days ahead. Yes, there will be busy days because there is really no time for a let down in gardening during the month of April.

CARE FOR EASTER CUT FLOWERS
Nothing gladdens the heart more than a bouquet or a well made arrangement of fresh cut flowers. Easter is a special time for the giving of cut flowers as well as potted plants.

It is the desire of the recipient that the life of each be as long as possible. The following are some measures that can be used to aid in prolonging the life of cut flowers.

Do not place them where they will be in the sunshine or in a draft. They will last longer if an average temperature is kept, not exceeding 60 degrees.

Do not pour out the water in which they have been delivered, if from the florist. They have added preservatives. If water is needed add some to the container. If the flowers have been arranged in oasis, add enough water that it will continually be wet. Use water from the hydrant and if a bit warm it will help.

Check to see if bits of foliage are under the water line. If so remove the foliage. If left it will cause decomposition which creates bacteria and this is harmful to the flowers.

Do not add more cut flower food, the florist has added sufficient to meet the needs of the flowers.

When flowers have faded and the time comes to discard them, it is always wise to give proper care to the container. Thoroughly scrub and clean the vase or container so it will be clean for the next use.

In arranging home grown flowers, exercise care in their selection. Select blossoms which have not reached full maturity, cut a long angle, groom carefully and submerge in warm water (not hot) for an hour or two before placing in the vase.

When arrangement has been completed, fill the container with warm water (100-110 degrees.)

If flowers have woody stems, such as the flowering branches, take a stone or small hammer and pound the end of stem. Sear with burning match then submerge in water.

If soft stems, such as tulips or hyacinths, remember these are not as good to last as other types because the water content is heavy and this causes decomposition when pressed into the oasis. A needle-point holder is better for the soft stems, or other type mechanics that you have proven best. In case you receive potted plants such as lilies and hydrangeas remember they both like cool temperatures and protection from full sun while they are in blossom.

This is applicable to all potted plants. It will not be necessary to add plant food, because they have been well grown and have sufficient food for duration of bloom.

However it is especially well to remember to check water intake. Hydrangeas, especially NEED a lot of water, sometimes twice a day. In watering, use care that the water in not poured on the foliage or blossoms, place it directly on the root soil.

Perhaps it would be advisable to water from the bottom. Place in a container of water after checking as to stoppage. of the hole in the bottom of the pot. Remove trimmings, such as foil and ribbon, before submerging the potted plant in the water.

Remove discolored florets and bruised foliage, also the blossoms as they complete their bloom. A carefully groomed and cared-for potted plant should last for some time.

MOON GARDENING

At the request of readers am giving facts pertaining to planting under the signs of the moon.

The basic rules are: First Quarter (New Moon) increasing. Plant leafy vegetables, barle, oats, rye, and wheat or plants which give produce above ground.

Second Quarter-Plant seeds of things which give their yield under the ground, such as potatoes and beets. This is also good for planting tomatoes, flowers and cereals and is the time to start leaves from gloxinias or violets and to plant summer flowering bulbs.

Third Quarter or Full Moon-Also a good time in which to plant tubers (dahlias, cannas etc) and other root-bearing crops.

Last Quarter or "Dark of Moon"-The time to do weeding and destroy noxious growths (dandelions etc) also poison ivy.

New Moon to First Quarter-The time in which to transplant. Good Luck!

OTHER MEMBERS of West Hereford Home Demonstration Club are thinking of calling for an investigation, trying to find out how Evelyn Bell has been their lucky member the last four meetings to win the hostess gift four times in a row.

At each meeting there is a drawing for the gift, which is usually something the hostess has made. There doesn't seem to be any way this event can be rigged, and nobody is mad about Evelyn being so lucky, but well, how can you be so lucky?

AFTER THE Easter holidays recitals and special programs at WTSU will resume next week. A senior recital by Carolyn Sims, piano, and Lewis Unger, voice, is scheduled at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Fine Arts Theatre on the campus, and another by Max Mayse, organ, in Polk Street Methodist Church at Amarillo next Sunday at 3 p.m.

An exhibition of student art works will be open from 2 to 5 p.m. next Sunday, and continue through April 21 in the formal lounge of the fine arts building. And the Opera Workshop will stage Tales of Hoffman, by Offenbach, in an English language version April 19-22; tickets are on sale now.

Literature Sales For Church Are Up

Christian literature sales by Seventh-day Adventists totaled over $48 million in 1971, church world headquarters in Washington reports.

In releasing the figures William A. Higgins, associate director of the denomination's publishing department, stated that there is a growing interest in things religious. Since the American Bible Society came out in 1966 with its New Testament version "God Speaks to Modern Man," some 31 million copies have been sold. "People are more serious-minded," Higgins declared. "They are fed up with permissiveness, and there is a swing to religion. For instance, a book on death recently published is almost a best-seller."

Most popular among books being sold by Adventist publishing houses is a children's series of 10 volumes called "The Bible Story."

"Liberty," a magazine of religious freedom, which has greatly revised its format and content under the present editor, has seen its circulation zoom from 168,000 in 1959 to more than half a million.

bridegroom, was a bridesmaid also. Paulo Esteves, exchange student from Andradina, Brazil, who lives in the Newsom home this year, was one of the ushers. Best man was Roger Thompson.

The bride designed her gown made by her mother of snowflake miramist over peau de soie with horizontal rows of lace ruffles from the Peter Pan collar to the empire waistline. Daisy appliques were scattered over the skirt and train. A cap of daisies held her tiered veil, which her mother wore as a bride, and she carried a cascade of daisies.

The reception was held in the church parlors. Mrs. Earl Gunther and Mrs. Charles Frye of Hereford, aunts of the bride, were in the houseparty.

Other guests attended the wedding from Hereford were the bride's grandmother and Mrs. C. F. Newsom, Charles Frye, Earl Gunther, Traci Frye, Janice and Nancy Newsom.

After the bridegroom's graduation in June the couple will live in Denver, where he has been accepted by Denver University graduate school of journalism.

The bride, who has been attending Colorado State University, is a 1971 graduate of Fort Morgan High School. Tauber graduated from high school in Lahore, Pakistan, while his father was on assignment there with a geological firm.

HISTORIC FASHIONS
NEW YORK (AP) — First-year costume design and illustrating students of the Traphagen School of Fashion here have been researching since last October historic costumes of fashions from the 12th century. It is part of their training for a future showing during which they will wear the historic garments.

One of my observations in our watch repair department is the various types and qualities of watches brought in to be serviced. As you know everyone is trying to get into the watch manufacturing act. There are German, Japanese, Canadian as well as Russian watches being sold in the states today in addition to our Swiss watches. Not all Swiss watches are good even though their quality watches have an enviable reputation. There are cheap Swiss as well as American pin lever watches (not jeweled) that are bought for a short duration and known as disposable watches.

Not knowing watches you should buy from a jeweler with competent watchmakers to advise you on the different qualities that he recommends. For instance we have some good Swiss watches in all steel cases with screw backs that retail at $19.95 and are far superior to a large percentage of promotional watches even after they are discounted to say $35.00 to $45.00 from a high price. Should you not buy a watch from a dependable jeweler I would like to list some helpful hints for you to analyze the watch you are buying and help you determine value you will receive for the dollar.

- 1 Stamped on the back of watches, you'll find case quality — All steel or stainless. Indicates all steel case (which resists acids in system). Stainless back indicates the back only is stainless — the rest of the case being some base metal covered by chrome plate. Chemicals and acids will eat this case and it is short lived.
- 2 See that the back is screw on, not a snap on back. This assures a tighter case, better service and longer life.
- 3 Check the tightness of the crown on case tube. These crowns have small O-ring gaskets in them that exert pressure on the tube. (Which helps keep dirt out as well as moisture.)
- 4 All known brand watches does not indicate that the same quality exists today as it did years ago. Personnel has changed due to retirements and mergers and etc. and old reputations as to quality no longer are true.
- 5 High prices on promotional watches (known brands or otherwise) with drastic discounts is not indicative of a bargain or saving. You usually get what you pay for (sometimes a lot less!) if the price is low so is the quality. Trusting that the above is informative and will assist you should you buy a watch from those interested only in making sales with no service. Don't forget those counterfeit watches are available too. Con men so to speak have names put on cheap non jeweled pin lever watches that bear a resemblance to a quality name watch. For example, LONGINE for a LONGINES, BELOVE or BULOVA for a BULOVA and OMEGA for an OMEGA. Usually with the selling of a counterfeit watch a good distress story is given. These watches should sell at about $8.00 and usually bring in to the con artist $20.00 to $30.00. After hearing his story, wipe the tears from your eyes and pass up this deal!

Westward-Moving Family

Pioneer Life Recalled

BY SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

THAT WINTER of 1918 was a bad one. Plains residents remembered, with the death-dealing flu epidemic at the close of World War I followed by months of extreme cold and snow that stayed on the ground until spring.

The R. A. Fullwoods moved to Hereford from Tucumcari that year and can tell of the lingering cold that caused heavy losses to ranchers; many cattle survived only because their owners were able to get cottonseed cake shipped in by rail, and sledged out to the ranges where snow and ice covered the grass.

Bob Fullwood bought out his brother's business, a battery shop on West Third, and he is still operating the firm, now Fullwood Electric, on the same block. He has no plans for retirement; now in his eighties he says, "I don't want to quit work because I still like to find the trouble in a car's wiring when somebody else can't, and fix it."

THE 1918 MOVE to Hereford wasn't his first; as a boy he was one of the pioneer E. H. Fullwood family who came in 1899 to a dugout home near the present intersection of Highways 60 and 385.

After the family had moved on westward, he met Allie Fenton in Tucumcari and they were married there April 7, 1912. Three of their children were born in Tucumcari before they came here to settle.

Their wedding was on Easter Sunday, but the anniversary has never fallen on Easter in the 60 years since. They plan no special observance of the 60th anniversary next Friday; Mrs. Fullwood's health has not been so good the past year or so, and she says "Crowds and excitement make me nervous now."

Her family was living in Tucumcari when the Fullwoods went there after westward migrations that started from Waco in 1891. E. H. Fullwood was typical of many pioneers who kept wanting to move on to newer country and his wife might have been the prototype of the pioneer mother.

"SHE WAS A little bitty thing but she was sure a hustler," Allie Fullwood says admiringly of her mother-in-law. "She could do anything and outwork anybody."

Bob Fullwood adds with a grin. "She was a hard driver; she saw that all of us did our share of the work and she certainly did hers, whatever was to be done."

Emergencies of pioneer living and his mother's resourcefulness in meeting them emerge from Fullwood's relation of incidents from his childhood.

When a neighbor died and no preacher was available to conduct the funeral, his mother did that. When she was accidentally shot in the ankle and the nearest doctor was 35 miles away, she removed the bullet with a razor and then used home remedies to combat the "blood poisoning" that developed.

ON THE ISOLATED ranches of the 1890's, funerals were often purely family matters. A baby in the Fullwood family died of whooping cough and was buried in a coffin made by the father.

Bob Fullwood remembers that his mother laid the child on the ironing board to dress it for burial, and that he, a small child, feared it would fall off.

Most of his recollections are more pleasant, and he chuckles about the time a Panhandle lawman stopped by their ranch at 4 a.m. on his way to arrest a suspect who was camping nearby. When his mother offered coffee and the officer hinted he would like something stronger, she brought out some tomato wine she had made.

"That man stayed around most of the next day, but he never did get down to make the arrest!"

THAT INCIDENT happened when the Fullwoods were living "on North Creek, just halfway between Amarillo and LaPlata on the mail route to old Endee, N. M."

The Fullwoods had moved from Waco to Amarillo, where the father worked as a carpenter, then he filed on land in northeastern Deaf Smith County and they moved there. Then he had the opportunity to buy improvements and rights of a settler named Dean for the land on the creek, at a big spring which kept water in the creek.

There was a two-room boxed house and three sections of land. Dean had been postmaster and that job fell to the Fullwoods. The Dean school in that community was named for the original settler.

FISH FRIES on the creek brought neighbors from far ranches in the summer, usually on the Fourth of July. The men would seine the holes in the creek, some of them 15 feet deep, and catch all the fresh catfish they wanted.

"Everybody brought some lard to put in the big wash kettle where the fish were fried, and we'd spend the day under the hackberry and chinaberry trees that grew along the creek and have a fine fish dinner," Fullwood says.

From the ranch, the family moved at the close of the century to the new town of Hereford and lived until 1902. E. H.

Fullwood operated a dairy, and Bob as a boy rode in a buggy with two big milk cans in it and filled buckets or pitchers which housewives brought out when they heard the dairyman's bell.

HIS MOTHER had a good garden, Fullwood says, and they raised big watermelons, one a whopper weighing 83 pounds.

Another move west put the Fullwoods on a "dry claim" in New Mexico. After they had proved up the claim they lived in Bard, where they operated a broom factory since broomcorn was a major crop in that area.

"I made over 50,000 brooms before I was 21 years old," Fullwood avers. He was proud of the larger factory, with up-to-date machinery, which the family later operated in Tucumcari.

And Mrs. Fullwood smiles as she tells of the specially made broom that was among her wedding presents, with a verse attached advising her to use the brush in fair weather "and in storm the other end."

ANOTHER of her stories concerns her claim in New Mexico. As a good many women did, she filed on land and planned to live on it enough to prove her title. A small house was built and she completed one term of residence. When she went back, the house had been stolen!

That hazard of homesteading was something she hadn't expected, and she decided the free land wasn't for her.

In early years of her marriage, Mrs. Fullwood says the family usually had a garden, kept a cow and chickens, and so produced much of their own food.

"That wouldn't do now," she comments. "If anybody heard a rooster crow in town now, they'd call the sheriff!"

SHE LEARNED much about raising and storing food from her husband's mother, who grew yams and kept them for months by storing them in layers of ashes, mixed jackrabbit meat with pork to make sausage and otherwise used the tricks of pioneer housewives to feed their families from the land.

Bob Fullwood talks of thrashing dried beans on a wagon sheet on the New Mexico claim, where he often stood in the door of the dugout home and saw herds of antelope. As he and his brother drove 15 miles in a two-wheeled cart to Endee for the mail, they carried guns ready to shoot game.

In their home now at 206 McKinley, the Fullwoods talk of past days, remembering more of the pleasant times than of hardships and are happy that they could bring their children up in easier times, enabling them to get education denied to themselves.

Their children are Mrs.

Charlie Noland of Hereford, Mildred Walser of Amarillo, Kate Slay of Houston, Ed Fullwood, who is vice president and manager of a chemical company in Madison, Wis., and Ralph, "the one with the most schooling," who has a doctor's degree in nuclear physics and is at Los Alamos.

Ahmed, a famous old bull elephant that roams Marsabit National Reserve in northern Kenya, receive presidential protection.

Some chess sets commemorate battles.

60-YEAR MEMORIES — Bob Fullwood had just come home from work when he talked about life on ranches in his childhood, and posed for a photo with Mrs. Fullwood recently in their home. The couple's 60th wedding anniversary will be next Friday. In their collection of old photos is the one of a float which won first prize in a Tucumcari parade in 1911, the year before their marriage. The Fullwoods operated a broom factory, and young Bob left, used one of the machines as the horse-drawn float driven by his future wife moved in the parade. She wears a costume made of broomcorn, which also trims the wheels and sides of the wagon.

Spring Food
Is Plentiful

By Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

The April spotlight shines on eight foods in unusually good supply. Eggs are the featured item on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's April plentiful foods list. Milk and dairy products are in the listing, along with potatoes and potato products.

Make the list complete by adding canned cranberry sauce and cranberry juice cocktail, canned and frozen concentrated grape juice, canned applesauce and apple juice, prunes and prune juice and canned pears. Spring remains the traditional time for plentiful supplies of milk and dairy products, and they're familiar items on the "plentifuls" list of USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service this time of year.

So, you'll want to keep a good supply of whipping cream and ice cream on hand for special springtime desserts.

An abundance of eggs is always good news to the busy homemaker. Utilize the ample stocks by featuring a variety of out-of-the-ordinary egg dishes on the menu.

Through its plentiful foods program, the USDA keeps consumers and all segments of the food industry informed about foods expected to be in abundant supply and in need of marketing aid.

The monthly list is compiled by USDA commodity specialists from fact finding sources available in government and the food industry.

Most people declare there's nothing like a good homemade beef and vegetable soup. Hearing such a statement makes most homemakers groan to think of all the work and time involved in preparing a good homemade soup.

Making soup certainly needn't be nearly the chore that you believe it to be. Set aside some time one day to start your soup, and then you can have a convenience homemade soup for many a meal afterwards. Start with beef, a ham bone, pork hocks, fish, chicken, or any other meat base. Cover it with water, add salt and other seasonings as desired, then simmer until all the meat flavor is drawn out into the liquid.

Nothing takes the place of this long, slow simmering. This means you'll have to stay around the house for several hours, but you can do other things since the meat requires only an occasional peek.

Add the family's favorite vegetables to the finished soup stock and perhaps a thickening agent like barley, macaroni, potatoes or rice. When these items are cooked, the soup's ready to serve. Freeze any extra soup, and it's ready for almost instant meals.

Or if you wish, just fix the meat stock and freeze it. Then you can finish the soup just prior to serving it.

Homemade soup can answer the dilemma caused by those ENGAGEMENT TOLD — July wedding vows are planned for Miss Virginia Vargas and David Campos Jr. It is announced by parents of the bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Vargas, 1163 Park Avenue. small amounts of vegetables left over after meals. Often, there'll be too many peas or beans to throw away, (and don't dare eat the leftovers to save them) but not enough to have for another meal.

Keep a container in the freezer just for these leftovers. Then, when the family's ready for soup, get out the frozen meat stock and the frozen leftover vegetables. Combine and heat. It'll be ready in a few minutes.

If you like homemade meat and vegetable soup fairly often, you may want to keep a container of soup stock in the refrigerator. Whenever you have leftovers which would be appetizing in the soup, pour them into that container. Then for any meal you wish, out comes the container and — the soup's on!

Scabies Quarantine Could Be Expanded

The cattle scabies quarantine on 34 Texas Panhandle counties may possibly be expanded to nine more counties with stricter dipping requirements, according to Dr. Bill Clymer, Extension area entomologist at Amarillo.

He has received word from the Texas Animal Health Commission that as of June 1, the quarantine may be extended to cover another tier of counties south and east of the current control area. Those that may be added to the list are Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, King, Knox, Baylor and Wilbarger counties.

Clymer reports that official dipping will be required of all cattle in movement except those animals that:

- (1) are moving directly to slaughter;
- (2) are moving to slaughter through a livestock market;
- (3) are moving to a livestock market for sale and dipping

A survey shows that 4,351 married women are working on hospital nursing staffs in Western Australia.

prior to release:

- (4) are released from a livestock market to a dip point with an official permit;
- (5) are moving to an official dip point;
- (6) have been dipped within the past seven days;
- (7) are from a non-control area moving through the control area with no stopovers;
- (8) are being moved by the same owner from one place to another within the quarantined area;
- (9) have been dipped within seven days from scabies-infested states with permit or leader in agricultural chemicals from Texas A&M University, will give producers the latest information about limitations on the use of pesticides.

The talk is part of a conference on control of perennial weeds that will begin at 1:30 p.m. at the USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center, according to Dr. Allen F. Wiese, weed researcher.

"Perennial weeds are becoming worse since herbicide use to control annual weeds has reduced the practice of cultivating," he says. Among the biggest trouble-makers are field bindweed, silverleaf nightshade, blueweed, johnsongrass and woollyleaf burgrass.

"Since the last weed control conference at the Center in 1967, research has given us some new leads for controlling perennial weeds," Wiese reports.

Other topics on the afternoon program will include root systems of perennial weeds, Silverleaf nightshade research, control of field bindweed, new herbicide practices, a report on Banvel as a new chemical for perennial weeds and control of woollyleaf burgrass and Watergrass.

The symposium is being sponsored by the USDA, Texas A&M University, the Texas Weed Control Association, and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Prince Valiant
IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
BY HAL FOSTER

Our Story: AND SO THE WAR ENDED. AS SOON AS THEIR WOUNDS ARE DRESSED KING GIAN AND ARN RIDE BACK TO DONDARIS. WHILE SILAS, IN CHAINS, TREADS THE DUSTY MILES TO THAT AWFUL FATE THAT AWAITS DEFEATED GENERALS.

"THE GODDESS OF FORTUNE SMILED ON YOUR ARMIES TODAY, KING GIAN," ARN REMARKS, "FOR YOUR COMMANDERS BLUNDERED AT EVERY TURN. FORTUNATELY THEY CONFUSED OUR ENEMIES AND LED TO PANIC AMONG THEM."

THE WAR HAS SHOWN THE RULING NOBLES OF DONDARIS TO BE INCOMPETENT, EVEN COWARDLY, AND THEY WISH TO AVENGE THEIR GUILT WITH TORTURE FOR THEIR ENEMIES. "LET US HEAR THE OTHER SIDE OF THE STORY," SAYS KING GIAN, CALMLY. "WILL YOU SPEAK FOR YOUR SIDE, SILAS?"

"WE HAVE LIVED AS SERFS. OUR YOUNG MEN LEAVE BY NIGHT, CLIMBING OVER THE MOUNTAIN TO SEEK FREEDOM. YOU TOOK OUR FINE CATTLE AND HORSES AND NOW THE THORNBUSH GROWS WHERE ONCE THERE WERE LUSH MEADOWS. OUR VINEYARDS AND ORCHARDS LACK WATER, AND THE DESERT CREEPS INTO OUR GARDENS. SO WE FOUGHT FOR OUR LIVES... AND LOST!"

"AND WHAT WOULD YOUR WISE KING ARTHUR ANSWER TO THAT?" HE ASKS ARN. "HE WOULD SAY THAT THE WEALTH OF DONDARIS CAME FROM TRIBUTE DEMANDED OF POLDIS, DORAIN AND FAR HAPLION. ON THE DAY THE DESERT CLAIMS THOSE LANDS, DONDARIS WILL BE NO MORE."

"STRIKE OFF THEIR CHAINS!" ORDERS THE KING. "RETURN HOME AND WE WILL SEND ENGINEERS TO REPAIR YOUR VIADUCTS, CATTLE FOR BREEDING, AND WHO KNOWS, ONE DAY OUR FOUR LANDS MAY BECOME ONE."

PONYTAIL BY LEE HOLLEY

Hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
When my daughter began dating, I, like mothers since time began, stewed, fretted and fussed till I heard her key in the lock.

Since I get up at the crack of dawn to get my gang of seven children off, I was coming up short on sleep and therefore irritable as a bear with a sore foot.

I hit upon the idea of setting the alarm clock to go off at the curfew hour. The clock is placed just outside our bedroom door. If my daughter is on time, she just shuts down the alarm switch and I get a night of uninterrupted sleep. If she is late, I am awake, stewing, fretting, and fussing to be sure. Have only heard the clock go off twice. Knock wood! Mrs. Alsduff

That's a slick trick! I have heard of many ways to keep tabs on dating children, but you can bet your bottom dollar, this gal will dash home to kill that alarm before the curfew hour. Heloise

FOR WALLS
DEAR HELOISE:
I have found a unique and inexpensive way to decorate bare walls or painted surfaces. I cut out birds, flowers, stars or whatever strikes my fancy from plastic wrappers. Just wet the back of the design and put it on the flat surface. With a dry cloth very gently wipe away all the excess water and smooth out the wrinkles, and lo and behold, you have a beautiful decoration.

Right now in my bathroom I have red cardinals cut from a package of wild bird seeds. Another great thing about this is they peel off easily and you can change them to your heart's content.

Almost forgot, they can also be put on windows.

Marjorie Alois

IT'S GRATE

DEAR HELOISE:
Hate to clean the grater after using it for cheese or lemon?

If you'll set the grater aside (no rinsing or soaking) while you finish the recipe, then at "wash-up" time you'll find that a thorough brushing with a dry vegetable brush, followed by a light tap on table or counter, will get out every bit of the "leavings."

Your grater will be spick and span with little washing needed. Fifty-two-year Bride

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

RAINY DAY DRESS

DEAR HELOISE:
Bet you can't guess how I used the material from an old umbrella that was no longer good enough to use. (This particular one happened to be a beautiful floral-print material.)

I made an adorable evening gown for a twelve-inch teenage doll!

First I took the material off the frame of the umbrella. This left a hole where the cloth was attached to the umbrella. And this is where the doll's head will go through.

Next I cut two armholes right beneath it (You may have difficulty getting the doll's head through the hole. If so, a slit may be cut down the back of the gown.)

Then add trimming like rickrack, buttons, or even a matching sash could be made. 13-Year-Old

RUB IT OUT!

DEAR HELOISE:
My father installed carpet tiles in my bedroom and I found that the small waste pieces make excellent blackboard erasers for the bulletin board in our kitchen. Joy Batty Age 14

CALLING ALL MEN!

DEAR HELOISE:
Because I'm occasionally conned into helping my lovely wife with household projects like washing windows and cleaning screens, and because I'm basically a little on the lazy side, I'm always looking for the easy way.

Cleaning screens, that is really cleaning these screens mounted in metal frames, can be an easy procedure all men should know about.

Take the screens out of the window, place them on the carpet and vacuum with an upright (rotary beater-type) vacuum sweeper. First on one side, then the other. No problem.

One can do all the screens in a normal house during the commercial breaks of a TV program. Charlie

TEN L'L FINGERS

DEAR HELOISE:
Cutting a young child's nails can often be a problem if the child won't sit still.

To make things easier and safer, I sit in front of a mirror with the child on my lap.

Their attention is caught by the mirror and usually I can get the job done quickly and with little fuss. The mirror keeps them distracted for a time. Mrs. K. Berasutti

OFF THE RECORD

DEAR HELOISE:
We have stereo components and were unable to find a bookcase that was deep enough to hold them.

We bought an unfinished door, varnished it to match the speakers, laid it across the speakers to make a shelf and put the components on top. It looks like one unit. Mrs. D. W.

CROCHET TRICK

DEAR HELOISE:
I crochet a lot. When I lay my crochet work down to do the housework, etc., I enlarge the loop on the hook and pass the ball of yarn through it. Just like I was finishing it.

That way, if one of the youngsters picks it up it doesn't unravel... and if they feel like crocheting some for me it's O.K.

It is much simpler to pick at that one loop and pass the ball of yarn through again than redoing what was unraveled. Or trying to figure where their crochet begins and mine ended. Mrs. J. E. Ellis

GOOD MANNERS

DEAR HELOISE:
Teaching children to write thank-you letters can be somewhat of a chore.

Here's how I solved this problem after my daughter's birthday party.

I was removing the paper tablecloth and noticed that only the middle part was soiled and the border was still good.

I cut the border into sections with a picture on each one and let my daughter write her "thank-you" notes to each guest at the bottom. Mrs. Barbara

Now, holding up the sheet of paper, challenge onlookers to pass a 25¢ piece through the dime-size hole. Here's how it's done: Simply fold the paper in two across the diameter of the opening. Place the quarter in the fold over the hole. Now, bend both sides of the fold upward and the larger coin will slip through with ease.
