Runoff election forced in sheriff's race

As many observers predicted, Deaf Smith County will have runoff elections in three local Democratic Party races June 2.

Dean Butcher and Joe Brown finished 1-2 in the hotly-contested sheriff's race, with Butcher just 102 votes ahead of Brown. The third man in the race, Paul Ramirez, garnered only 406 votes. Butcher had 2,117 and Brown 2,015 in the unofficial tally.

Incumbent Bill Bradley and challenger Larry Ulibarri will be pitted in the June 2 runoff election for County Commissioner, Precinct 1. Troy Don Moore and Lynn Jones will face off for the County Commissioner, Precinct 3, post in the second Demo primary.

In the only other contested local race, Leroy Johnson got 64 percent of the vote in defeating Mark Campbell for the constable's post. The county has not had a constable in many years. Nell Miller was unopposed for county tax assessor-collector.

Hereford's Justin McBride surprised some political observers by winning the Demo nomination for State Representative, 86th District, by polling about 71 percent of the vote. The post includes Deaf Smith and Randall Counties. McBride took his "home" county by 3,244 to 821 margin, and the unofficial count in Randall County was 2,161 for McBride to 1,390 for Charles Crow. The total was 5,405 to 2,211.

McBride will face Republican John Smith in the November general election. Smith barely escaped the vote and Brown with 44.4 percent.

Moore came close to winning the Precinct 3 commissioner's post without a runoff, garnering 48.4 percent of the vote. Jones had 17.8 percent and will face Moore in the June 2 runoff election. Ron Crist was third in that race with 12.3 percent of the votes. Five candidates were in the 10.3 percent of the vote; Don Cherry drew 7.8 percent, and Nancy Hill trailed with 4.9 percent.

A chart of the 12 Democratic voting precinct results, along with the absentee voting box, is reproduced on Page 2 of this issue. It contains the contested races of interest.

Both the sheriff's race and one county commissioner race drew some "flak" over the Saturday activity. Brown supporters complained of a political notice inserted in the Amarillo newspaper here Saturday morning, while the Butcher campaign committee disavowed knowledge of the action.

Jones, who finished second in the Precinct 3 race, complained publicly that a rumor was circulated Friday that he had cancelled his membership in the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. Jones said he had changed a draft from one bank to another.

"I believe this premature and untrue information has been detrimental to my campaign," stated Jones. He said "confidential information was reported at a chamber meeting, making it appear that I was not supportive of Hereford and the chamber's efforts."

a runoff in winning over Roger Ponce and Hereford's Garth Thomas. Smith drew 2,211 votes; Ponce had 1,611, and Thomas had 555. Deaf Smith voters favored Thomas with 121, while Ponce drew 22 and Smith 16.

The sheriff's race had figured to be a close contest between Brown, appointed to the post last fall, and Butcher, a former chief deputy. The unofficial tally showed Butcher, with 46.7 percent of the vote, and George Zetsche was fourth with 11.5 percent of the votes, and Larry Bain had 10 percent.

The winner of the Precinct 3 race will face Republican Bill Allen in November. Allen was unopposed in the GOP primary and drew 64 votes.

Bradly won 28.8 percent of the votes in Precinct 1, compared to 26.9 percent for his runoff foe, Ulibarri. Bussy Kaul was close behind with 21.3 percent. Tex Rhodes had

Commission decides against fees

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

No fees are to be collected from package liquor stores in Hereford, city commissioners decided Monday evening during a regularly-scheduled meeting.

According to Earnest Langley, city attorney, the most the city could charge each alcohol merchant would be around $150 per year. That figure represents half of the maximum state fee.

"I say forget the fees," remarked City Manager Dudley Bayne. "They're not worth justifying the bookwork."

"I think it's restraint of trade, anyway," commented Wes Fisher, Hereford's mayor.

Emory Browlow, recently reelected commissioner from Place 4, agreed. He also thought the city should not try to decide what store hours should be, or whether liquor firms are allowed to remain open on Sundays. "I think we ought to let the state laws prevail," he said.

For package liquor stores

In other matters, commissioners decided Hereford should pursue a grant from the Texas Community Development Program. Bayne explained the Tyler firm of Barber, Brannon, Traylor and Company, Inc. would like to handle the application at no cost to the city.

The application would initially be for $250,000, Bayne said. That money would be targeted for road paving work. The streets likely to receive the work would be those between North Street and Park Avenue - west of 25 Mile Avenue - which now have dirt surfaces.

Among the city's other unpaved roads include some in the northeast, southeast and some south of North Street. Bayne said the area above North Street has been determined to be the most needing due to its congestion and population density.

There is $1.6 million available to Panhandle counties this year through the federal grant program, Bayne said. He has heard applications for water and sewer system improvements are to be given priority this year, though more roadwork aid requests will probably be granted in one or both of the next two years.

Bayne estimated $1.2 million would be needed to complete the paving of Hereford streets.

Meanwhile, commissioners voted 3-1 to approve a $10,921 golf course tractor bid from Case Power and Equipment. The terms include an extended factory warranty of three years or 4,000 hours - whichever comes first - for $550. The tractor's list price was given as $18,900, meaning the city was being offered an $8,000 discount.

"It's dirt cheap," Brownlow said. "I think you've got to accept it.

Other bids were received from Oglesby Equipment Company, Inc. ($10,316.94) and Amarillo Ford Tractor, Inc. ($10,975). Neither offer included an extended warranty.

Fisher was authorized to request bids for one truck apiece for the health and street departments.

An industry from Hart was selected to handle the application of insecticides within city limits. Approximately 3,600 acres are to be sprayed at a cost of 86 cents per acre, Bayne said. Deaf Smith County will also use the firm for spraying approximately 1,400 acres.

Southwest Aerial Services, the only one to bid on the work, has handled the application of insecticides for several consecutive years, according to the city manager.

The next regular gathering of the commission is set for 7:30 p.m. Monday, May 21 in City Hall, 224 N. Lee Ave.

Walcott school alterations eyed

By KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

Parents and taxpayers in the Walcott Independent School District Monday night voted down all but three of 13 suggested capital expenditures presented by the board of trustees.

"The neat thing about it," said Superintendent Eddie Derr, "is that everybody went home friends."

Ernest Brown, school board president, said he called the public forum because the board wanted to know how the people felt. More than 400 letters went out to parents of children in the district, residents of the community and those who own property in the western part of the county and pay taxes to the school district.

An informal poll was conducted among the 42 persons who went to the 8 p.m. meeting, with strong support shown for purchasing microcomputers, and videotape equipment and adding a new water system as the budget would allow. The audience indicated disapproval of such proposals as adding a $40,000 wing to include rest rooms and a storage facility, along with a new cafeteria and tornado shelter which would cost nearly $200,000.

"I was disappointed that the persons in attendance were not supportive of the needed restrooms and cafeteria addition," Derr said this morning. "But at the same time I understand that we need to give our taxpayers as much consideration as possible in holding back our tax rate." Either of those two projects would probably require a substantial tax increase.

Derr said he was especially pleased that the purchase of items directly relating to classroom instruction were favored.

School board members had met March 22 to compile the list of suggested improvements. Brown said some of the ideas had been kicked around for as long as 10 years, but there never seemed to be enough money in the budget for any of the things on the list. The board decided that night to rate the suggestions in order of need, placing the two remodeling projects at the top of the list.

Other suggestions presented Monday night included a new hardwood or synthetic gymnasium floor to replace the existing tile surface, carpet for the hall and classrooms in place of the current tile floors and the addition of running water in the classrooms.

School district patrons also voted on whether to replace the outside doors, buy new stage curtains, add a utility room to the superintendent's house and acquire an additional employee home.

Walcott now maintains

"teacherages" for school district employees who might otherwise be making long drives to work. The district said the attraction of free housing is necessary to attract the quality of personnel it is looking for.

One last item, which the board placed at the bottom of the list but a few voters thought a good idea, was building backyard fences for the teachers' homes. The houses are situated close together, near the school building, and Brown said it "would be nice for them to be able to go into their backyard without the whole neighborhood watching."

"We're not here to try to sell anything," Brown announced as the meeting began. "We need input, and we want everybody represented."

Brown added that the meeting was not a required one, and that the board could have decided on its own to put

Tuesday's Local Roundup

Agriculture in good shape

Agriculture in Deaf Smith County is "in pretty good shape," John Fuston said.

Fuston, executive director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said moisture from the heavy rains the county received last fall is still stored in the ground. Consequently, crops are looking healthy.

"The farmers are doing a good job of saving the moisture, and the dryland wheat looks good," he added. Fuston said about the only thing farmers have to complain about is the usual abundance of high winds. "We had a lot of trouble getting the sugar beets to come up," he pointed out, "because the winds dried out the soil." He said the wind also damaged the tiny plants when they did come up.

Driver side window broken

The driver's window of a 1977 Dodge was broken sometime Friday night in the Knight of Columbus parking lot on Country Club Drive, Hereford police reported.

Cynthia Barrera, 200 Lake, is victim of the $250 crime. It occurred sometime between 10:30 p.m. Friday and 12:30 a.m. Saturday. Police said there have been no witnesses found.

Only two people were arrested over the weekend: one for public intoxication and assault and the other for public intoxication. Among the incidents investigated were three assaults, two domestic disputes and a pair of vandalisms.

Hereford Volunteer Firemen handled two accidents, a brush fire and false alarm.

Shots again offered here

Immunizations against several childhood diseases are to be offered again this month by the Texas Department of Health.

The free services are to be provided every Tuesday and Thursday from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3:45 p.m. Deaf Smith County Public Health Clinic, located at 914 E. Park Ave., is to host the clinics.

Shots to be given are to help provide protection against diphtheria, lock jaw (tetanus), measles, mumps, poliomyelitis and whooping cough (pertussis).

Manure-fueled plant plan okayed

By KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

Permission to construct and operate a manure-fueled electrical generating plant has been granted to Valley View Energy Corporation of Dallas by the Texas Air Control Board.

The decision was made in Austin late last week. Valley View Operations Manager Bobby Ferris said Monday site preparation should resume within a month.

Several families who live near the tract of land six miles northeast of Hereford had objected to its location, complaining mostly about a large stockpile of manure that would be maintained near the factory.

Ferris said attached to the approved permit were several "conditions" that would have to be met by the company. He declined to comment on the nature of those stipulations, except to say that the ACB is asking the manure be stored in two smaller piles instead of one large one.

"That was my idea," Gerald Hudson commented.

Hudson, regional director of the ACB office in Lubbock, was in Hereford March 27 for a public meeting with opponents and proponents of the plant.

Monty Adams, who lives across Highway 60 from the site, took the most active stance against the project. Directors of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, who earlier in the month had endorsed the plant, voiced their support during the rather lively meeting.

Hudson said dividing up the manure, to be obtained from local feedlots, would make the storage area less of a fire hazard.

"We are pleased that the permit was issued," Ferris remarked. "We hope to start construction by July 1."

Ferris said he believes the plant will be in the best interests of the community as well as Valley View.

Valley View expects the facility to cost more than $50 million to build, with a two-year construction payroll of around $9 million. About 80 persons will be put to work once the plant is in operation.

News Roundup State

Krueger comforted by playwright
AUSTIN (AP) — Bob Krueger, an Oxford-educated Shakespearean scholar, turned to the English playwright for solace after concluding that he likely had lost his second bid for the U.S. Senate.

Krueger, who finished about 1,161 votes behind Lloyd Doggett and 2,237 behind U.S. Rep. Kent Hance in Saturday's Democratic primary, said Monday he had found some lines in "Hamlet" which summed up his feelings after his latest loss.

"They are lines in which he says he would like to be that man who is not passion's slave but who can take the buffets and rewards of fortune with equal thanks," Krueger said, adding that he had hoped to quote the passage in a victory speech.

"I wanted to show I could take rewards equally as well as I had taken the buffets. It looks as though we have taken the buffets again."

Texas caucus system under fire

AUSTIN (AP) — The caucus system that gave Walter Mondale a big Texas win is under attack from within and without.

Presidential contender Jesse Jackson, with his Texas campaigners citing "irregularities and rule violations," wants a federal investigation.

State Democratic Executive Committee member Mel Phillips of Amarillo wants to scrap the system he said left Texans confused.

"They thought they were going in to vote," Phillips said Monday. "They didn't realize they were going to a caucus. They found a caucus and didn't know what a caucus was."

"If the primary system is good enough for congressional, state representative and county sheriff races, it's good enough for president," he added.

Phillips plans to ask the state Democratic committee at its May 17 meeting to approve a resolution calling for a binding presidential primary in 1988.

Nurse-dispatcher planning appeals

DALLAS (AP) — The attorney for Billye Jean Myrick says he has filed an appeal for the nurse-dispatcher after the city manager's office upheld her dismissal for delaying an ambulance to a dying woman.

Assistant City Manager Richard Knight upheld the previous decision against Ms. Myrick and her former supervisor, Donald Greene.

The nurse was fired by the Dallas Fire Department on March 16 for not sending an ambulance immediately, and Greene was demoted from captain to lieutenant over the Jan. 5 incident.

"It didn't surprise me because I didn't expect that much out of the decision to begin with," Ms. Myrick's attorney, Roger Joyner, told the Dallas Morning News. "It's difficult to ask someone to look at his own system and say it fouled up."

National

More defense cost-slicing needed

DAVENPORT, Iowa (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee said that with all the attention given to waste in military spending, more publicity is also due the measures that have succeeded in reducing that waste already.

Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, said several changes have been made to help cut out waste, including more fixed-price contracts under which the contractor has to absorb any cost overruns.

Work on the battleship USS New Jersey was completed six weeks ahead of schedule and $50 million under budget, Tower said in a speech Monday before the Davenport Chamber of Commerce.

He was the guest of Sen. Roger Jepsen, R-Iowa. He also spoke Sunday night to the local chapter of the Association of the United States Army and at the Monday noon luncheon of the Davenport Rotary Club.

Hundreds flee from floodwaters

Wailing sirens warned residents of Williamson, W. Va., to head for high ground as floodwaters up to 10 feet high forced more than 1,000 people in six states to flee their homes and tornado-packed thunderstorms spread today from the Gulf Coast to the Appalachians.

At least 24 twisters touched down in the Southeast on Monday, leveling a shopping center in Paris, Tenn., flipping mobile homes in Alabama and slashing power lines in Mississippi. More than three dozen people were injured.

Five people were known dead in the three days of flooding caused by heavy rains moving slowly across the mid-Mississippi and Tennessee valleys since Sunday. Three people drowned in Tennessee, one in Kentucky and one in South Carolina.

U.S. troops won't fight: Duarte

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Jose Napoleon Duarte, jubilantly claiming election as president despite an incomplete vote count, says he would welcome U.S. aid but would never let foreign combat troops fight the leftist rebels.

Duarte, candidate of the moderate Christian Democratic Party, was carried on the shoulders of cheering supporters to a news conference Monday at which he stressed he would seek a peaceful end to his nation's 4½-year-old civil war.

"We will not accept any foreign troops, whether they are U.S., Cuban or Nicaraguan. I believe the solution is a democratic solution, not one of violence," Duarte said.

Duarte said unofficial results compiled by his party showed him ahead, with 55 percent of the vote, while his challenger in Sunday's runoff election, ultra-rightist Roberto d'Aubuisson, had 45 percent.

Violence mars Panama's election

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Supporters of the two main presidential candidates clashed outside the building where votes were being counted in the closely contested election. Authorities said at least one person was killed and 50 were injured.

The violence, which included gunfire and fire-bombs, broke out Monday afternoon outside the national legislative palace, where thousands of supporters of the military-backed governing party and the main opposition candidate had gathered.

The two rivals, opposition candidate Arnulfo Arias and official candidate Nicolas Ardito Barletta, had assured their supporters of victory, based on unofficial vote counts.

Hart preferred over Mondale

Congressional votes mesh with state

Deaf Smith went with the winners in the Democratic primary races for U.S. Senator and U.S. Representative, 19th District.

Rep. Kent Hance, a Dimmitt product seeking the senator's post, garnered 3,538 votes here, or 83 percent of the ballots cast. Hance was a close winner statewide and will face Lloyd Doggett in the June 2 second Demo primary.

In the 19th district race to succeed Hance, it will be Richards vs. Richards. Don Richards, 36, a former Hance aide led the ticket and will face Thomas Richards, 43, oil and gas attorney in the runoff election.

Don Richards was the front-runner in 10 of the 15 counties in the district. He was first in Deaf Smith with 1,291. The unofficial district total showed Don Richards with 18,360; Tom Richards with 17,448; Dr. John Selby with 10,841; Delwin Jones 7,961; and Gary Condra 4,826.

Condra, an agricultural economist, ran strong in Deaf Smith, taking second place with 1,064.

In the Republican congressional races, Rep. Phil Gramm was an easy winner statewide and he led the voting in Deaf Smith with 123 votes, compared to just 28 for Ron Paul, for U.S. Senator. In the 19th District race, Larry Combest led the local ballots with 81 votes and Ron Fleming was next with 43. Combest and Fleming will be in a GOP runoff election June 2.

Meanwhile, Walter Mondale appears to be the victor statewide, Deaf Smith County Democrats showed strongest support for presidential candidate Gary Hart at Saturday night's precinct conventions.

The meetings, part of a controversial new caucus system, were held shortly after the polls closed at 11 of the 12 voting precincts. The Bippus community, Precinct 9, did not have a convention.

Deaf Smith County Democratic Chairman, Roy Dale Messer said the precincts will send a combined 78 delegates to the county convention May 19. Of those, 42 expressed support for Hart, 33 are in favor of Mondale and three will go to the convention uncommitted.

There were no delegates signing in for Jesse Jackson, who came in a distant third statewide.

Messer said around 4,600 persons voted in the Democratic primary, which cost the party $4,864.44 for labor alone.

Sixty-six delegates were elected at the Republican precinct conventions held at La Plata Junior High School. Jane White, who had acted as county chairman after Garth Thomas resigned to run for the state representative nomination, said the delegates were chosen from the four precincts represented.

She said 176 persons voted in the Republican primary on Saturday. Republican delegates go uncommitted to the county and state conventions. Only Ronald Reagan's name appeared on the Republican primary ballot.

Krueger won't seek re-count

Hance, Doggett ready for runoff

AUSTIN (AP) — Conservative U.S. Rep. Kent Hance and liberal state Sen. Lloyd Doggett apparently will meet in a runoff election June 2 to determine the Democratic U.S. Senate nominee.

Former congressman Bob Krueger, conceding that his middle-of-the-road philosophy had pulled in too few votes, decided Monday not to seek a statewide recount after finishing 1,161 votes out of the running.

Although Krueger said he would ask for computer and machine vote verification, he said he doubts the outcome will change.

On Central American aid

Reagan to speak

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, hoping to prod Congress into approving his request for aid to Central America, addresses the nation Wednesday night in a speech designed to explain why his administration is so concerned with the turmoil in its neighboring region.

"It will be a speech in which the president talks about the history of Soviet and Cuban involvement in Central America, the current situation in El Salvador and Nicaragua and Costa Rica," said one White House official, speaking on the condition that he remain anonymous.

In addition, the official said, Reagan will discuss efforts at negotiations in the region "and our need for congressional support for security and economic funding for the region."

But perhaps most important, the speech will also be aimed at the American people, who can influence the outcome of the congressional vote. The official said it was designed to "give the people an overview of the problem and issues and more background as to why there is a problem there."

a bond issue or tax increase to a vote. "Let's mull it over," he suggested, "so that what we come up with is what this community wants."

"I don't mean to criticize," Charles Hoover remarked early in the meeting," but I'm not sure everything on this list pertains to education." Hoover owns land in the district.

Homer Rudd, another landowner, asked "At what point do we say 'We can't afford any more?' Agriculture has just about carried it all can."

Several persons agreed the suggested additions would be nice to have, but they were not sure the taxpayers could afford an increase. The tax rate now is .73, with a total school budget of $380,000.

Sixty-five children are enrolled in grades kindergarten through eighth at the school, with that figure expected to increase slightly each year. Derr said there should be 80 students by 1987.

"I felt a consensus of the community of trust in the decisions the school board will make," Derr said. "And I felt a receptiveness by the board to those in attendance."

Derr said he appreciates the strong support the school is given, and he believes the community was grateful for being given the opportunity to voice opinions before the school board.

The microcomputers would cost around $2,200 each and the board was asked to "purchase them as needed."

Videotape equipment, which Derr said would eliminate the expense of buying 16 millimeter film and save $600 a year in postage for borrowed films, was estimated at $3,800.

The water system would serve both the school building and employee houses and eliminate a water pressure problem which Brown said "is a real nuisance for the teachers at night." That was figured to cost $15,000 at the most.

Brown said the board will meet on May 22 to consider Monday night's comments.

it's going to be Hance and Doggett," said Krueger, who in 1978 lost the Senate race to Republican Sen. John Tower by just over 12,000 votes.

Hance said he was ready for the race, and an aide said Doggett also was prepared for the runoff.

"We feel like we're in good shape. We'll be in the process of trying to raise enough money to run a media (advertising) campaign," Hance said.

"Clearly, Hance is a hard campaigner. But so is Lloyd Doggett. We think we'll win," said Doggett spokesman Richard Paul.

Results tabulated by the secretary of state's office changed from Sunday to Monday, and they shifted more during rechecking on Monday afternoon. But none of the tabulations changed the order of the finish.

Out of some 1.46 million votes cast, the latest unofficial final results showed Hance first with 455,837 votes or 31.25 percent. Doggett was second with 454,761 votes or 31.18 percent, and Krueger garnered 453,600 votes, or 31.10 percent.

The initial set of results tabulated by the secretary of state Saturday night and early Sunday had indicated that Hance finished with 455,768 votes. Doggett was second with 454,807, and Krueger third with 454,497 in those tabulations.

Three other candidates shared about 6.5 percent of the total vote.

Krueger, who had been picked as the frontrunner by most opinion polls during the campaign, said his own campaign's polls never indicated how close the race was.

Noting that he lost the 1978 Senate contest by margin of less than one percentage point, Krueger said, "That ain't nothing compared to this ... How can you measure disappointment?"

Krueger also said it appeared that Hance and Doggett were better able to generate support from their wings of the party than he was by trying to appeal to the middle ground.

"They evidently had more support at their ends of the spectrum than we did," he said.

Doggett spokesman Paul said the philosophical difference between Hance and Doggett "is probably good."

He predicted that Doggett would get more of Krueger's supporters than would Hance.

Meet Your Neighbor

By LINDA CAUDLE
Lifestyles Editor

Attending a modeling school in Amarillo has proven interesting as well as educational for young Hereford resident, Diana Ford. It was something which had interested her for some time, but she had never actually taken classes in modeling.

Diana, who has resided in Hereford since her marriage in October, is to graduate from Diane Dick's School of Modeling May 19 at Westgate Mall in Amarillo.

The 15-week course in basic modeling covered basic walks and turns, makeup, hair care, wardrobe, and lectures on voice control and audio-radio and television commercials, plus workshops featuring guest speakers.

"I've really enjoyed it and have learned a lot," stated the tall, slender brunette, Diana added that she will probably go on to the advanced modeling course.

She hopes to visit the Apparel Mart in Dallas with several classmates later this month.

Diana was born and raised in Dallas, and met her husband, Dan, a Hereford native, at Texas A&M University. He majored in business and she studied computer science engineering.

The couple moved to Hereford last fall after they were married in Dallas. Dan has been engaged in farming, and is currently working with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Greg Skypala, who own Energy Electric Company.

Diana is also helping part-time at the newly opened business, and she works on Tuesdays (sale days) at the Hereford Cattle Commission.

Moving from a large city to a small town has been quite an adjustment for Diana, but it has become easier as she started getting involved in the community.

"I like it here," she commented. "Everywhere I go I meet new people."

She and her husband attend the Church of the Nazarene, and Dan is playing softball with the church league. He arrived in time to play basketball, one of his favorite sports, for part of the season.

"I would like to start a Bible study with high school girls," said Diana. She was a program participant at her first Church Women United luncheon last week, giving a scripture reading at the May Fellowship Day celebration.

Diana takes exercise classes and is looking forward to starting aerobics. She likes to sew and cook, and enjoys refinishing antiques. Dan enjoys woodworking and building things for their home.

They both like sports, taking their two dogs hunting, and traveling. At the end of the summer they are planning a trip to Jamaica, where they went on their honeymoon.

"It is really nice—the water is so clear," she remembered. Dan has been scuba diving and Diana said she'd like to give it a try.

Dan and Diana went snow skiing in Ruidoso, N.M., a couple months ago and they both enjoy the mountains. They have also been to Dallas several times to visit Diana's family, and she is looking forward to having her mother, sister and brother-in-law here this month for her graduation.

Around the County

By BRAD MORRISON
County Extension Agent
American Bike Month—is a great opportunity for 4-H'ers to get their communities involved in bike safety.

With bicycling growing by leaps and bounds, bicycle safety programs are becoming more important. An estimated 105 million bicyclists travel our streets. This means nearly half of the U.S. population ride bikes for fun, fitness, energy conservation and transportation.

Bicyclists need to ride defensively to protect themselves in today's traffic. 4-H clubs can help educate communities in bicycle safety in a variety of ways.

Here are some things 4-H'ers can do regarding bicycle safety:

—Hold an auto-bike rodeo to promote safe driving, including competitions in auto and bicycle skill-driving and testing participants on their knowledge of road safety.

—Hold a bicycle safety workshop covering the proper way to give hand signals, driving on the correct side of the highway, the correct way to cross an intersection, and bike maintenance. The workshop can include a bicycle skill-driving contest with bicycle reflecting flags, 4-H ribbons and trophies as prizes.

Other activities could include a special bike ride, a free bicycle safety inspection, a bike film viewing, or a bike-a-thon to raise money for a charity. 4-H'ers might also work with community leaders to establish bicycle routes or remove traffic hazards.

Remember, the more community leaders that get involved, the greater the chance of reaching a wider audience.

The American Bike Month Committee offers materials to help promote American Bike Month. Write the American Bike Month, 1055 Thomas Jefferson St. N.W., No.316 Washington, D.C. 20007.

For more information about the 4-H bicycle program, contact the county extension office.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Ann Landers
 Dinner guest all hands

DEAR ANN LANDERS: At a small dinner party last weekend my wife was seated next to Antonio. He has a charming smile and that Continental flair that women go for. She appeared quite nervous throughout the dinner.

On the way home she told me Antonio had Roman hands and Russian fingers. In fact, she said she had to hold his hand to keep it away from other places. I told her she would have given Antonio a fat lip. She replied, "That's easy for a man to say."

What is your opinion, Ann? -Handcuffed In N.Y.

DEAR N.Y.: Holding a man's hand to "keep it away from other places" is the dumbest thing I've ever heard. One sentence could have immobilized the creep. Sample: "If you don't keep your hands off me, I'm going to tell my husband I want to change places with him and explain why."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The woman who expressed disappointment in the privileges of adulthood said a lot about herself that you didn't pick up on.

For example, she described her husband as "a lot more demanding and tougher" than her parents ever were. Is that a marriage or did her husband adopt her? She worries about getting home from work in time to fix dinner and getting to work on time because he will "kill her" if she loses her job.

Her final statement was most revealing: "If I were a kid again I'd be less critical about the rules my parents laid down. I'd enjoy my childhood and not be in such a hurry to grow up."

I don't mean to be unkind, but her real problem is that she never did grow up. She merely traded dependence on her parents for dependence on her husband. -XYZ depends on me to take care of her kids. I feed them when she's spaced out and I keep their clothes in shape so they will look decent in school.

I am only 21 years old, newly married and have no children. I don't want to raise anybody's else's, but I feel so sorry for those kids I can't say no. Please tell me what to do. -Sick Of It In Chicago

DEAR SICK OF IT: You sound like a wonderful, warm-hearted person, but you do that woman no favor by making it easy for her to dump her responsibilities on you.

Call (1-800)-252-2873, the hotline for the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services. Report this situation. That mother needs help and her children deserve to be protected against her negligence.

Going to a wedding? Giving one? Or standing up in one? Even if you're already married Ann Landers' "New Bride's Guide" will answer questions about today's weddings. CANCER ANSWER LINE American Cancer Society
 M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute

QUESTION: Is testicular cancer a rare form of cancer?

ANSWERline: No. Cancer of the testes, the male reproductive glands, is the most common cancer in men 15 to 34 years of age. It accounts for 12 percent of all cancer deaths in this group. When detected and treated early, testicular cancer has a 50-year survival rate of about 70 percent. Men who have an undescended or partially descended testicle are at a much higher risk for the disease. All men, though, should practice a monthly self-examination in which they check for hard lumps or nodules. If any are found, a doctor should be notified immediately. Other symptoms of testicular cancer include a dull ache in the abdomen and groin, and a sensation of heaviness.

QUESTION: Do more men than women get colorectal cancer?

ANSWERline: This is a common misconception. Actually, about the same number of men as women develop the disease, with slightly more cases occurring among women. Men, though, report being tested for colon and rectum malignancies more often than women, according to the American Cancer Society.

DEAR X: Thanks for cleaning up after me. You're right. I should have told the woman that age does not automatically confer adulthood. She should have long since abandoned the role of the little girl who does as she's told and deserves to be punished if she fails to please.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My neighbor had a baby on New Year's Day. While she was in the hospital I kept her three children, ages eight, seven and five. The father offered to pay me but I refused to accept the money. (They are not married.)

Now it's an everyday thing. The woman is an unfit mother. She drinks, smokes pot, runs the streets and

Federal judge says

Private detention unconstitutional

HOUSTON (AP) — A civil liberties lawyer says a federal judge's ruling in a lawsuit over private detention of a group of Colombians marks the first time U.S. constitutional rights have been awarded to illegal aliens. U.S. District Judge John V. Singleton ruled Monday that a group of Colombian aliens were deprived of their constitutional rights when they were imprisoned at a Houston motel and guarded by a private security service. Another company filed a separate lawsuit on Monday seeking the closing of a newly opened detention facility north of Houston, the first operated by a private company under contract with the government. In the ruling Singleton issued on a suit filed for the illegal aliens by the American Civil Liberties Union, he said the aliens were entitled to the same constitutional protection afforded American citizens who are detained. "This is the first time that constitutional rights have been given to those people," said Stefan Presser, an ACLU lawyer who represented two of the Colombians held at the motel. Twenty-six Colombian stowaways were discovered by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service on a Colombian ship. The agency ordered the Colombian government to detain the aliens. The Colombian government hired a private agency, Danner, Inc., which fortified a Houston motel and detained 16 of the aliens there.

The other 10 Colombians were sent to the Galena Park jail. After two days of detention, the Colombians being held at the motel attempted to escape. Ramon Garcia, 24, was shot and killed by a guard. Two other Colombians were injured. A Harris County grand jury no-billed a guard in the shooting of Garcia. The private detention, said Singleton in a written opinion, deprived the aliens of "the most fundamental rights: life and liberty."

"The court has found that the plaintiffs' constitutional rights to due process were deprived when the INS ordered detention, but failed to assure they were detained in a facility that due process dictates," Singleton ruled.

The Colombians were later removed from Danner's custody by a federal magistrate and eventually deported. Singleton ordered lawyers to file briefs so he can decide on a damage award.

Presser said he has not decided how much to request in damages, but said he would confer with the Houston brother of one of the plaintiffs he represented.

Defendants in the lawsuit included INS District Director Paul O'Neill, Danner and Texas shipping agent E.S. Binnings Co. Officials for Danner and Binnings could not be reached for comment late Monday, the Houston Chronicle reported.

Another lawsuit was filed Monday against a newly opened illegal alien detention center in north Houston, the first to be operated by a private firm under a U.S. government contract.

Imperial Interplaza II Inc., a Houston-based corporation that owns property adjacent to the facility near Intercontinental Airport, sued the government, saying it has no right to use a private firm to run a detention facility.

The center, a $2.2 million, 350-bed facility built by Corrections Corp. of America of Nashville, Tenn., opened April 30.

Imperial's lawsuit, filed against INS and three of its officials, says the detention center should be shut down.

"The U.S. does not have the right to delegate to private persons the power to imprison people," said Joe G. Roedy, a company lawyer.

INS officials counter that the detention center is not a prison.

"It's a detention facility where aliens are held for short periods pending a hearing before an immigration judge or until arrangements for voluntary deportation are made," said Clarence Putnam, an INS supervisory deportation officer.

Putnam, who works at the detention facility, said the average stay there is three to four days. The center has dormitories, rather than cells, and "a much more relaxed environment than a prison," he said.

O'Neill said about 200 detainees are now housed at the minimum-security facility.

"The facility is very attractive and low-key," he said.

The Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Mark Traenkler, who has served as counselor to the pack. The awards were presented by cubmaster Ann Lueb and Kurt Claussen, Tierra Blanca District Scout Executive.

Parvuli Dei means "children of God," and the boys were required to show service to their families, communities and church to earn the award.

The recipients and their families were honored with a reception in the Antonian Room of the church following the Mass.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Gas and bloating

DEAR DR. LAMB — Is there a cure for excess gas and bloating? This problem has tormented me for several years and the doctors are unable to find out the cause. It has me running to the bathroom continuously.

My bowel movements are normal. I've had a barium enema and X-rays of the small bowel, allergy tests and a lactose tolerance test. The lactose tolerance test was normal, but actually caused tremendous gas during the latter part of the test.

I'm a female, early 30s, in good health otherwise. DEAR READER — Your problem is more common than you might think. Some reports indicate that as many as half of the patients who consult a gastroenterologist do so because of gas and its symptoms of distention and abdominal cramping.

There are two main ways gas problems can occur. One is from swallowing air. Many people do this and it's been proven by measuring the gas. If it includes a lot of nitrogen, it's from swallowed air. A person may not be aware of swallowing air.

The other way gas develops is from fermentation of foods. That's usually undigested foods fermented by bacteria in the colon. Milk and milk products are frequently offenders. In that case it's the undigested milk sugar — lactose — that causes the problem.

If you had so much gas during the lactose tolerance test I'd be suspicious of a problem with lactose, regardless of the other measurements that may have been done during the test. You can check this out by eliminating all milk and milk products from your diet. If your symptoms subside you may have solved your problem.

Herd spring football practice officially began Monday with some 110 players vying for spots on the varsity and two junior varsity grid squads.

The Whitefaces are losing more than 30 seniors from the 1983 team which posted a 8-3 season record while advancing to the playoffs but lost in bi-district playoffs, 40-13, to Odessa Permian.

"We're working on basic fundamentals, blocking and tackling," head coach Jerry Taylor said during Monday's workout. "We're trying to discover who the players are and set them in the right positions, put them where they will help the team the most."

There are 14 returning lettermen for the 1984 season which begins at home Sept. 7 against powerhouse San Angelo Central.

The offensive unit is in for heavy rebuilding as District 3-5A offensive player of the year quarterback Mike Scott will be the only returning starter, according to Taylor.

A key offensive starter leaving the Herd is all-district running back Ronnie Terry. There are also three second-team selections departing. They are tight end Eric Walterscheid, guard Melvin Kalka and wide receiver Mickey Stengel.

Although Hereford will be losing two all-district selections on defense, defensive backs Jeff Streun and Ronny Collier, there are five returning defensive starters.

All-District linebacker Lee Brockman and second-team lineman David Parsons are expected to pace the defensive unit. They will be joined by returning starters August Castillo (defensive end), strong safety Sammy Suarez and defensive tackle Dennis Chandler.

Chandler will not practice full contact this spring due to a broken arm he suffered running the hurdles this past track season.

Spring practice will wrap up about May 25 and regular season football practice will begin in August. The Herd is scheduled to play 10 games in addition to any playoff games it may qualify for. Homecoming is slated for Oct. 19 against Amarillo Caprock.

Besides the San Angelo game, Hereford will play one other non-district game when it hosts Clovis Oct. 12.

Right now "we're looking for a group of guys who want to establish themselves as a football player," Taylor added.

Tiger victory lifts road record to 12-0

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers are taking no prisoners this year.

"How can it get any better than this?" said Chet Lemon, the hottest hitter on the hottest team in baseball, after helping the runaway Tigers crush the Kansas City Royals 10-3 Monday night.

The victory extended the Tigers' road record to an incredible 12-0 and their overall mark in the American League East to 23-4.

"I don't know what tomorrow will bring," said Tiger Manager Sparky Anderson, "but for now we are playing super. It's hard to contain our lineup. From top to bottom, we don't lose a thing. We keep coming at people whether it's with our leadoff guy or our No. 9 guy. We're playing with the same confidence we left spring training with."

In other AL action, it was New York 5, Cleveland 2; Milwaukee 7, Chicago 3; Minnesota 11, California 1, and Oakland 6, Seattle 5. The Toronto-Baltimore game was rained out.

Lemon knocked in three runs in the Tigers' latest victory, while Darrell Evans unloaded a two-run homer.

Juan Berenguer, 2-1, struck out two and gave up six hits through 6 2-3 innings as the Royals lost their 10th game in 12 starts. Rookie Mark Gubicza struck out six of the first nine batters he faced but wound up with a third loss in three decisions.

"That young kid really throws great," Lemon said of the hard-throwing rookie. "He has an exceptional fastball. It took a second time round to adjust and know how hard he was really throwing."

The Royals' slump is reaching dangerous proportions. The once-dominant team of the American League West is only two games out of the cellar.

"When you're not scoring runs, everyone wants to jump on you," said Manager Dick Howser. "We're just going to have to do whatever it takes — get several well pitched games and figure a way to score some runs or just outscore some teams for a few days."

Yankees 5, Indians 2

Don Mattingly and Steve Kemp hit New York's first home runs in 11 games while Shane Rawley allowed one hit in five innings, leading New York over visiting Cleveland.

Rawley, 1-2, who failed to last more than two innings in two of his three previous starts, walked five, struck out four and allowed only Carmen Castillo's second-inning single in his five-inning stint.

Curt Brown and Jay Howell finished up with Howell going the final 2 1-3 innings for his first save.

The victory was only the Yankees' third in their last 12 outings while Cleveland suffered its fourth straight setback and eighth in nine games.

"I started swinging the bat a little better in Milwaukee over the weekend," Kemp said. "Right now, I feel good."

Brewers 7, White Sox 3

In Chicago, Jim Sundberg and Ted Simmons each clubbed two-run homers to carry Milwaukee over the White Sox.

The Brewers' power display was a welcome change for winner Jaime Coanower, 1-4, who had received only seven runs in his previous five starts this year. Coanower gave up six hits, struck out two and walked one in seven innings before giving way to Rollie Fingers.

"This is the first game this year that I've really hit the ball," said Simmons. "I haven't hit a ball like that in a long time. Last year, probably. But you never really know."

Twins 11, Angels 1

In Anaheim, Gary Gaetti and Houston Jimenez each knocked in three runs and Mike Smithson scattered six hits as Minnesota defeated California.

Smithson, 4-3, walked two and struck out six in completing his third game of the season. The strikeouts gave him 38 for the year, second in the American League to Bert

Dallas faces uphill battle against Lakers in playoffs

By The Associated Press

The Dallas Mavericks face what Michael Cooper of the Los Angeles Lakers calls "a long uphill road to travel" in the National Basketball Association playoffs, and the road could be even longer if Mark Aguirre can't play.

The Mavericks' high-scoring forward is listed as questionable for tonight's fifth game of the NBA's Western Conference semifinal series with the Lakers in Los Angeles.

A victory by the Lakers would end the best-of-seven series and send them into the conference finals against the winner of the other Western semifinal between Utah and Phoenix. It would also be no surprise, considering that the Lakers won the first two games of the series at the Forum by a combined total of 59 points.

Aguirre traveled from Texas to California with the Mavericks Monday, but didn't practice. A spokesman for the team said his status for tonight wouldn't be known until shortly before tipoff time, which is 8 p.m., PDT.

However, Aguirre was held scoreless in the fourth quarter and left the game when he suffered a badly bruised right hip. He was in-Blyleven's 43 with Cleveland. Gaetti hit a three-run homer off reliever Frank LaCorte in the seventh to give the Twins a 6-1 lead at that point, and Minnesota added five insurance runs in the ninth, two on a single by Mickey Hatcher.

With a 3-1 lead, the Suns can wrap up their series against Utah as well tonight in the game at Salt Lake City. In the Eastern Conference, the New Jersey Nets visit the Milwaukee Bucks tonight in a series that is tied 2-2, and the New York Knicks play the Celtics in Boston Wednesday night after splitting the first four games.

The Jazz face tonight's game with grim determination.

Perez returns with 8-6 win

By JOHN NELSON AP Sports Writer

One down, 19 to go. Pascual Perez has returned to action after three months in jail and an on-again, off-again suspension for drug use, posting his first pitching victory of the year for the Atlanta Braves.

"Now I need only 19 more to win 20," Perez says. Perez pitched 5 2-3 innings Tuesday in a sometimes rocky outing, allowing five runs on seven hits, but the Braves slugged out an 8-6 victory over Philadelphia.

"He doesn't show the effects of no spring training," said Manager Joe Torre, whose Braves have won three in a row.

Perez actually made his first start on May 2 against San Diego, but that game was rained out after three innings.

Perez spent three months in jail in his homeland, the Dominican Republic, before being convicted of a misdemeanor charge of possession of cocaine and released. Commissioner Bowie Kuhn suspended the pitcher until May 16, but after Perez filed a union grievance, the suspension was lifted by an arbitrator.

"I feel I'm in good condition," the 27-year-old Perez said. "But I haven't pitched in a long time and need to get my control."

Atlanta scored four of its runs in the second inning, erasing a 1-0 Philadelphia lead. Dale Murphy, who hit his seventh homer, and Claudell Washington each drove in two runs for the Braves.

Sixto Lezcano homered once and Von Hayes twice for Philadelphia, which committed five errors to boost its total to 41 in 26 games for 32 unearned runs.

"I've never seen anything like it, not even in the minor leagues," Phillies Manager Paul Owens said.

In the rest of the National League, Montreal defeated Houston 4-1, Cincinnati clobbered New York 11-2, St. Louis beat Los Angeles 5-1 and Chicago defeated San Francisco 10-7. San Diego at Pittsburgh was rained out.

Expos 4, Astros 1

Steve Rogers worked 5 2-3 innings, allowing just three hits before leaving with a blister, and snapped a 1-1 tie with an RBI double in the Montreal fifth. Andre Dawson later hit a two-run single in the inning to give the Expos a three-run lead over Houston.

Terry Francona, who has seven hits in his last 10 at-bats, started the Expos' fifth with a triple. One out later, Rogers doubled off Joe Niekro, scoring Francona. Miguel Dilone singled, sending Rogers to third, and, one out later, Niekro hit Tim Lincecum with a pitch to load the bases. Dawson then grounded a single past shortstop, driving in two more runs.

Enos Cabell provided Houston with its only run.

In State Meet

Moreno finishes fifth

Selma Moreno placed fifth at the Girls State Track Meet Saturday in Austin.

Miss Moreno, a HHS sophomore, ran the 3,200-meter run in 11:40.6 which was only seven seconds off her personal best. She had run 11:33.01 in the 3,200 meters at the Girls Regional Meet to qualify for state.

Moreno, the only athlete from the city to compete at state in track, holds the school record for the 3,200 meters with the time she ran at regionals. The old mark was 12:56.9 set in 1982 by Kellie Howell.

The state winner of the 3,200 meters was Kathy Smith of San Antonio Central, who won the event with a time of 10:50.9.

Tribesmen trek from jungle

By SAMUEL KOO
Associated Press Writer
MOUNT HAGEN, Papua New Guinea (AP) — Spear-carrying tribesmen and bare-breasted dancers cheered Pope John Paul II today as he came to a golf course carved out of the jungle highlands and celebrated Mass for 200,000 natives.

"Mi laikum yu Pop! (I love you, Pope), the crowds chanted in pidgin English. They toasted the pontiff by singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and "Happy Birthday." John Paul turns 64 on May 18.

Days of torrential rains made the island waterlogged, but the sun broke out when the pope came to Mount Hagen to say Mass, in pidgin English, on a soggy golf course. Tribesmen, most of them barefoot, stood in as much as 10 inches of mud.

John Paul slipped as he was getting off his open white limousine but kept his balance and did not fall.

The two-engine Fokker-28 jet that brought John Paul to this highland town from Port Moresby developed an electrical fault in the unit that supplies power to the craft's lighting and air conditioning while on the ground, said spokesmen for the Vatican and the airline, Air Niugini. They said the problem did not jeopardize the pope's safety.

Natives traveled for days, some of them for weeks, through jungle and cloud-capped mountains to this town, 5,500 feet above sea level, to attend the "sing sing" in honor of the pope.

Fearing that excitement during the pope's four-hour visit might cause simmering tribal feuds to boil over, the government banned warriors of the primitive highlands from bringing their bows and arrows to the gathering.

Hundreds of warriors, however, clutched ceremonial spears and axes as they cheered on the pope.

Policemen with clubs and whips chased away some people climbing trees.

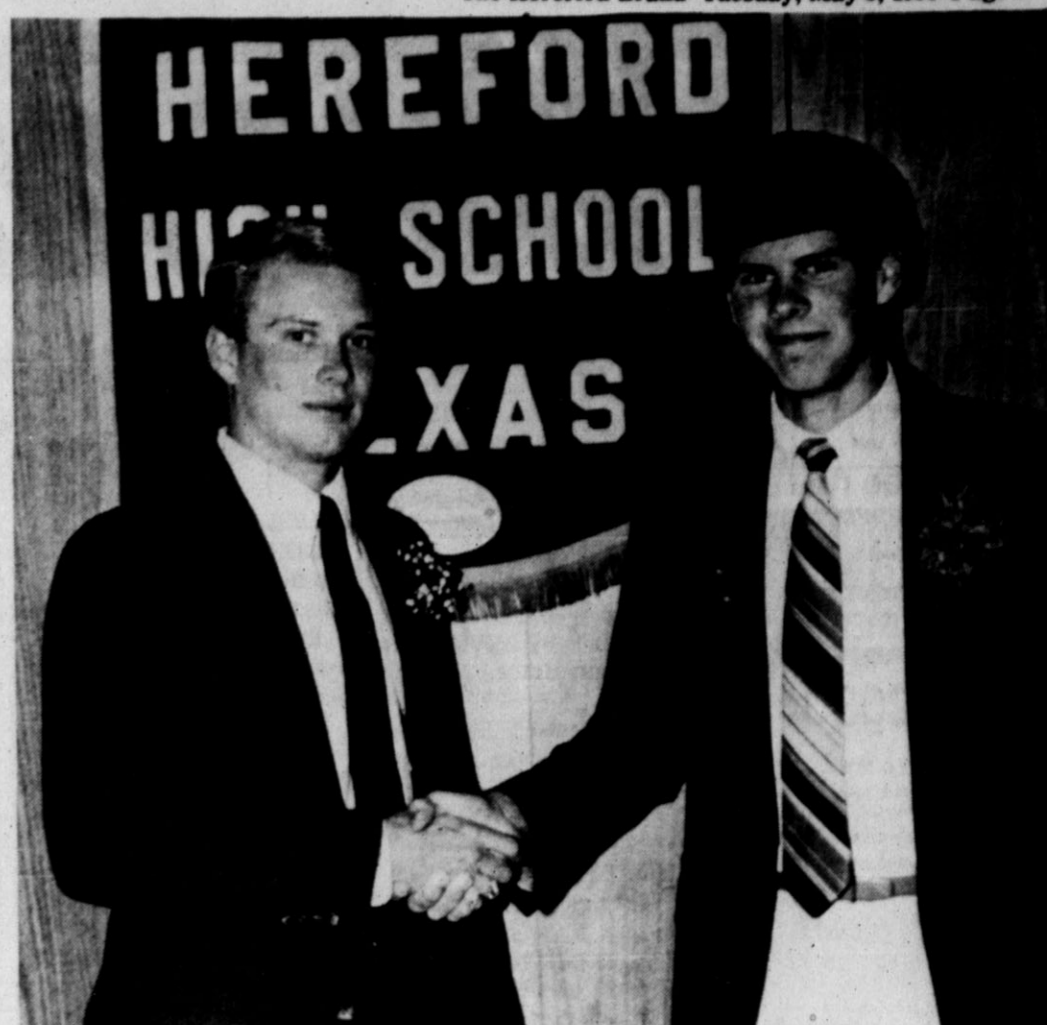

At least two groups of tribesmen from remote villages dragged 30-foot-high crosses to the Mass to get the pope's blessing. They will drag the crucifixes home to erect them in their villages.

Most of the tribesmen came from villages without electricity, telephones or radios. Fewer than one-third of them can read and local officials say that 90 percent are unemployed.

While many in the crowd sang hymns and took communion, others were fascinated by the cameras, typewriters and television equipment lugged by reporters.

A tribal dancer who got a rosary from the pope at the airport tried to sell it to a reporter.

Tribal dancers with their faces and bodies smeared black, red and white with ashes and pig grease, executed a circle dance before a makeshift altar under a thatched roof.

Of the war

Photographer publishes his record

By DICK STANLEY Austin American-Statesman

AUSTIN (AP) — James McJunkin's first job in Austin was doing photographic portfolios for strip-tease dancers.

It was 1974 and "Austin was then a major stop on the strip-tease circuit," recalled McJunkin who still uses the laughing face of one stripper as a background for his business cards. "Later, it all died out. I don't know why."

McJunkin, who grew up mainly in Colorado in an Air Force family, was then a few years out of the U.S. Army after a year in Vietnam as a Signal Corps photographer. He wanted an artistic career but, because of the war's extreme unpopularity, never thought to trade on his hundreds of Vietnam negatives.

"It was like being angry and somebody was trying to cheer me up while I was still wanting to be angry," McJunkin, now 35, said of his readjustment to life as a civilian.

"By 1981, I'd kind of forgotten about the war, really. But I was trying to get a show together and I heard of one for Vietnam veteran artists. It started bringing back memories. I got real excited and printed my stuff all up."

The roundabout result was "Visions of Vietnam," a black and white photographic view of the war published last year by President Press, a military book publisher in Novato, Calif.

The thick, $25 book is coffee-table sized and is unusual in the growing literature of the Vietnam War because it is almost completely apolitical — a feature McJunkin said has angered some reviewers.

"It's had mostly favorable reviews, and the unfavorable ones usually have political overtones," said McJunkin who now works as a cable-splinter for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

"It's been criticized for a lack of blood," said McJunkin's co-author, Max Crace. "But we wanted to do something that veterans would remember."

Crace, 28, is a former drummer with Austin's Van Wilks rock 'n' roll band. Although he did not serve in Vietnam, he, too, grew up in an Air Force family and began drawing military subjects for the Air Force Art Programs. Using his collections of military insignia and uniforms as a check for accuracy, Crace provided line drawings of soldiers and weapons for the book from photographs and stories supplied by Austin Vietnam veterans.

Divided into three sections — "The War Machine," "The Civilians" and "The Grunts" — the book records the peculiarities of weapons and uniforms, tactics and terrain. Although tanks and helicopters figure in its pages, the book concentrates on the faces and experiences of unidentified members of the 25th Infantry Division, the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment, the 1st Cavalry Division and Special Forces units and the civilian residents of the II, III and IV Corps military districts of South Vietnam.

McJunkin's Signal Corps job — which took him into one ambush and "a few short firefights" — was, as he put it, "to put the Army in a good light." Most of the photographs chosen for the book are neutral on the point but the lack of any overt "message" or attempt to portray the war as right or wrong gives a haunting power to the boyish faces of the soldiers and the weary expressions of the civilians — from rice farmers and street urchins to hoodlums like the famous Saigon "cowboys."

The book led McJunkin into participation in the Time-Life series, "The Vietnam Experience" and the Vietnam Veterans Arts Project, recently displayed at the LBJ Library and now on an East Coast tour. But McJunkin, who was drafted for the Vietnam war, says finding new uses for his old war pictures was not a personal catharsis.

He never pulled a trigger in Vietnam, he said, only pushed a shutter button.

Thurgood Marshall was sworn as the first black Supreme Court justice on Oct. 2, 1966.

Convicted murdered threatened spectators

HOUSTON (AP) — A teenager who was convicted of capital murder in the robbery-slaying of a prominent Houston attorney threatened to kill everyone in the courtroom and "make it look worse than the Charlie Manson murders," a court bailiff testified.

A defense attorney said his client believed some prosecution witnesses had lied and "expressed some desire to get them for that." Rodney Wayne Davis, 18, was found guilty last week in the May 10, 1983, robbery and shooting death of attorney Sam Lucas Jr., 63, outside a fashionable restaurant. The same eight-man, four-woman jury now must decide whether Davis should spend the rest of his life behind bars or to die by a deadly combination of drugs.

Court bailiff Ross Tinch testified Monday that he noticed an "attitude change" in Davis after testimony started in the punishment phase of the trial. Davis later had an "outburst" in a holding cell near the courtroom, Tinch said.

"He was very agitated," Tinch said. "Rodney said all those peckerwoods (had) been told what to say by the district attorney."

When he was told to calm down, Davis cursed and accused Tinch of telling a prosecutor of some of Davis' problems in the Harris County Jail, the bailiff said. "You better give me the needle because a young man like me can't survive in TDC (Texas Department of Corrections)," Tinch said Davis told him. "If they give me life, I don't care how long it takes, when I get out I'm going to kill those peckerwoods in the courtroom."

When he was taking Davis to the jail later, Tinch said, the teenager threatened to kill him and other courtroom spectators.

"I'm gonna find you. I'm gonna kill you. You'd better be looking over your shoulder. I'm gonna make it look worse than the Charlie Manson murders."

"I don't care how long it takes, I'm gonna kill all those people in the courtroom," Tinch quoted Davis as saying.

Defense attorney J. Philip Scardino, who was present during part of the conversation, testified he never heard Davis use the word "kill."

"I never heard Mr. Davis say he wanted to kill anyone. He said — the essence of it was — he wanted to get them," Scardino said.

The first watches produced about 1580 had only hour hands since their movements were too slow for minutes.

"A" Frame Economy

HOME DESIGN by Larry Farnsworth

Excitement, atmosphere and spaciousness are usually costly, but this 863 square foot house provides all three, plus an exceptional amount of versatility, yet is surprisingly inexpensive to build.

Its A-frame styling and imaginative interior design deserve credit for this accomplishment.

Note carefully how the open space arrangement of entry, living room, dining room and kitchen contribute to the spaciousness of each, permitting greater freedom of movement and decor and, as a bonus, cutting interior finishing costs.

Note, also, the large and well organized storage area and the kitchen, bath and laundry arrangement, utilizing backed up plumbing for maximum economy.

Upstairs are two spacious bedrooms, both with the drama of beamed ceilings. The front bedroom also has its own private balcony which echoes the lines of the front elevation and sheltering the main entrance.

It is just such combinations of practicality and styling excitement that make this 863 square feet of living space a noteworthy design. This plan also has an optional basement.
