Harvest Time

Scenes like this from a field near Summerfield are common in the Panhandle as wheat harvest is into full swing. Dryland fields are yielding up to 35 bushels an acre or more, while that of irrigated wheat wasn't hailed out is yielding about 80 bushels an acre.

Wheat yields good

There's good news and bad news about the 1985 wheat harvest.

The good news is that, of those farmers who didn't get hailed out, the yield is good.

The bad news is that the price is about 43 percent of parity.

"Every combine available is cutting wheat," according to John Fuston of the ASCS office here. Fuston added that some farmers are not even bothering to harvest, because hail damaged more than estimated.

"Some of the wheat that was hailed out, the irrigated wheat, made 14 to 15 bushels an acre where it should have been 75 to 80 bushels," Fuston said.

About 30 percent of the crop is harvested, according to Fuston.

"Dryland has been excellent," he said, noting that some yields have been 35-plus.

Reports from Bootleg give an average of about 30 bushels an acre, considered very good for dryland. Weight reports from that area are ranging near 61 and 62 pounds.

At Dawn, harvest is considered to be about 40 percent complete, with weight running 58 to 60 and some loads even higher.

Prices early this week were near $2.93 a bushel. Fuston said the price was at about 43 percent parity. He said a recent article he read set prices in the Depression Era at 50 to 52 percent of parity.

Commission tables two items, only minutes left on agenda

By SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

With only three items on the agenda, and two of them being tabled, the regular meeting of Hereford City Commission was a brief one Monday night.

City commissioners briefly discussed the annual audit report and a petition to close a portion of a street before tabling the two matters. Rick Brown, a local developer, had requested that a portion of Sunset Drive be closed.

The audit report, prepared by Brown, Graham & Company, had just been completed Monday afternoon and commissioners had their first look at it Monday night. Commissioneres agreed to study the audit and take it up at the next meeting, when a management letter will also be available.

Brown, who plans to build some apartments on 15th Street near its intersection with Hwy. 385, was not at the meeting. City Attorney Earnest Langley explained that the deed to the property was being signed in Las Cruces, N.M., Monday and had not been delivered.

Since the property in question was not technically owned by Brown, said Langley, he advised the commission to table the request until the next meeting. Mayor Wes Fisher said the commission "felt there is no problem with the request", but they decided to wait until the paper work is completed.

In the only other business, commissioners approved the minutes of the previous two meetings. Dudley Bayne, longtime city manager, was a spectator at the meeting—his last regular session before retiring. He has been assisting the new city manager, Darwin McGill, during a transition period. Mayor Fisher and commissioners Joe Reinauer, Tom LeGate and Bud Eades were present for the meeting. Emory Brownlow was absent. Others attending were McGill, Bayne, Langley, David Emerick of Brown, Graham & Co., Mike Carr, and O.G. Nieman.

Reagan lobbies for chemical weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, hoping to finally win support for renewed U.S. production of chemical weapons, is lobbying the House of Representatives to approve the only weapon denied him as part of his defense buildup.

Reagan met at the White House with 40 legislators Monday with the House about to begin debate on the bill authorizing Pentagon spending for fiscal 1986.

Approval for new nerve gas is part of the hugest major fights are also expected over "Star Wars" research, the MX missile, and proposed cuts in military pensions.

Reagan's meeting Monday was to receive the report of a chemical warfare review commission he appointed earlier this year. The panel, composed of pro-nerve gas members, supported the president's request to end the U.S. nerve gas production moratorium, which dates back to 1969.

Zbigniew Brzezinski, national security adviser to former President Carter, was part of Monday's White House meeting and told reporters later he supports new chemical weapons.

"We need to go ahead with it," Brzezinski said, explaining he supports the program because the Soviets have built a large and threatening gas weapons stockpile.

For three years, the Democratic-controlled House has refused Reagan's request for nerve gas and opponents say they have the votes to defeat the program again this year.

The defense spending bill that passes the House will have to be reconciled with the version that passed the Republican-controlled Senate two weeks ago. That bill includes $163 million for the Army to prepare to build a new generation of nerve gases, a proposal approved 50-46.

The current proposal calls for building binary weapons, so named because they would be composed of two non-lethal chemicals kept apart until a shell is fired or bomb dropped, when they would then mix to form a deadly gas.

The Senate approved a defense package of $302 billion, which would permit spending to rise at the expected inflation rate next year. Reagan had first sought a 5.9 percent hike beyond inflation, but reluctantly supported the Senate measure.

Welcoming each hostage release

Officials edgy over hijacking

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States welcomed the release today of three more hostages from the hijacked TWA jetliner. But a top presidential aide said he feared it could be some time before 40 or so Americans still held captive are released.

"It's three more out. Add that to 106," White House spokesman Robert Sims told reporters. Asked if the release meant Shiite Moslem leader Nabih Berri, who announced the development in advance, does in fact control the fate of the hostages, Sims replied:

"Control of three, anyway."

Earlier, President Reagan's national security adviser, Robert McFarlane, was asked if he foresees the episode dragging on for some time.

"I'm afraid that's right," he replied.

Meanwhile, the Wall Street Journal reported today that Berri last week told Reginald Bartholomew, the U.S. ambassador in Beirut, that Israel's prolonged detention of more than 700 Shiites could have what the newspaper termed "dangerous consequences" and urged Bartholomew to help obtain the prisoners' release as a means of diffusing growing Lebanese tension.

The newspaper quoted U.S. and Lebanese officials as saying most of the hijackers are relatives or friends of the prisoners, who were taken into custody during Israel's recent withdrawal from southern Lebanon.

The three hostages freed today were Greek folk singer Demis Roussos; his American secretary, Pamela Smith, and Arthur N. Targontsidis, an American studying in Greece.

The release came at the Beirut residence of Berri, leader of the Amal Shiite militia, who said yesterday he had taken responsibility for the hostages. Most were believed being held around Beirut, but the three-man crew and, perhaps, some of the hostages were still thought to be aboard the Boeing 727 at Beirut International Airport.

Attempted homicide reported to police

Over 40 reports were filed by Hereford police since Saturday.

The reports included that of an attempted homicide filed from an incident in the 100 block of Avenue E early Sunday morning. A report filed by a resident in the block said that a shotgun made a hole through a bedroom around 12:22 a.m. The vandalism was reported to have been the result of a person shooting at another party who missed and hit the house. The incident is still being studied, however charges have not been filed.

Also in the stack were reports of: An arrest on a simple assault, a complaint of assault by threat, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, an open door at a vegetable shed, pellet holes in a mobile home, and theft of a stereo from a vehicle.

Also, loud music on the 200 block of Ave. I, criminal trespassing at the Federal Land Bank where trash and bottles were left from the weekend, a juvenile problem at Sugarland Quads, theft of a three-month-old pit bulldog from the yard at 711 Lee, another vandalism and criminal trespassing report, and discharging of a firearm in the city limits.

And, more juvenile problems in the 100 block of Ave. H, theft of meat from Moore's Jack and Jill, $299 in beer taken from Quick Stop Beer and Wine, and a prowler in the 200 block of Ave. J and the 300 block of Ave. K. Plus, a brick which was thrown through a windshield, a residential burglary which left victims without mini-blinds and other general household items, and a dog problem in the 700 block of Country Club Drive.

Also, theft of a spare tire, a motorbike which was vandalized, a petty theft from a convenience store, two reports of reckless driving, a hood dented by a beer bottle thrown from a car, an incident in which persons at

TSTA challenges teacher testing

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' largest teacher organization says it has retained three law firms in preparation for a possible lawsuit challenging the 1984 state law requiring teacher competency testing.

TSTA President Becky Brooks said Monday she expects suits to be filed this summer in state and federal courts to halt teacher testing.

The State Board of Education agreed June 8 on an unprecedented reading and writing test for all Texas teachers. The historic teacher test will be administered the week of March 10, 1986.

"We want to ensure that every teacher has the basic skills to see that every child in Texas gets the best education possible," State Education Commissioner W.N. Kirby said of the teacher test.

TSTA said the National Education Association had joined TSTA in retaining the law firms of Bredhoff and Kaiser of Washington; Schwartz, Waterman, Fickman and Van Os of Houston and Austin; and Daves and Hahn of Tyler.

Ms. Brooks said if the TSTA should lose in court, or if the case has not been decided by next March, the teacher organization would offer workshops free of charge to prepare teachers for the test.

The teacher organization claims 96,000 of Texas' 150,000 teachers are members.

Sally Ride picked again

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Sally K. Ride, America's first woman in space, has been selected for her third flight on the space shuttle, the Johnson Space Center announced.

Ms. Ride was among five astronauts named as the crew for space shuttle flight 61-I set for launch in July 1986.

The mission will be commanded by Loren J. Shriver, who will be making his second flight. Others are pilot Bryan D. O'Connor and mission specialists Dr. William F. Fisher and Mark C. Lee.

Officials said plans call for the flight to be on space shuttle Challenger. The crew will launch two communications satellites and operate a materials science laboratory.

Ms. Ride has flown twice before on Challenger. She became the first American woman in space in 1983 and made a second flight in October.

Officials praise drug sentence

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas (AP) — Local authorities praised a Stephens County jury that sentenced a Breckenridge man to 50 years in prison and fined him $25,000 for attempting to manufacture methamphetamines.

Officials said by convicting 46-year-old Don Baxter and levying the harsh penalty on Monday, the jury made a statement that drugs were clearly unwelcome in Stephens County.

"They sent the word that they won't tolerate this type of criminal activity in their jurisdiction," said District Attorney Tim Eysen. "My office, and all the law enforcement officials we work with, will continue to seek out these violators."

Baxter, who kept his head bowed as District Judge R.E. Thornton announced the sentence, was arrested Dec. 20, 1984, shortly before authorities raided his house and business. Chemicals and equipment that officials said were necessary to make methamphetamines were confiscated in the raids.

Baxter was videotaped by Drug Enforcement Administration officials during "Operation Dry Gulch" — a Dallas sting operation run out of Metroplex Scientific and Laboratory Equipment Co. — in which he bought equipment and chemicals.

But defense attorneys Jim Lane and Mike Ware of Fort Worth maintained Baxter couldn't have made methamphetamines if he wanted to because of a mislabeled chemical bottle.

Family mourns hijack victim

WALDORF, Md. (AP) — Robert Stethem, the young Navy diver killed aboard TWA Flight 847, was shot because the hijackers "needed to make an example of somebody, and he was a symbol because he was military," says his brother, who is also a Navy frogman.

Navy Petty Officer Robert Dean Stethem, 23, was badly beaten and then shot in the head at Beirut airport Saturday fundamentalists Shiite gunmen who seized the plane after leaving Athens for Rome with more than 100 Americans aboard.

His body was being flown home today and was expected to arrive at nearby Andrews Air Force Base early this evening.

"He died for his country," Kenneth Stethem, 24, said Monday, holding back tears. "And he died trying to save the people on that plane. We are all very proud of him."

Navy officials said Stethem, a steelworker 2nd Class and member of a Navy family that included both his parents and a brother, came home for a few days two weeks ago before leaving for an assignment in Greece.

"He called us from Kennedy Airport and told us he was catching a TWA flight out and that he'd be back in a short period of time," recalled Stethem's father, Richard, who spent 26 years in the Navy. "He just told us that he loved us very much."

Richard Stethem, standing in front of his split-level home in this community about 20 miles south of Washington, described his son as "a very good kid. He was very proud of being in the service."

Corpse may have been mutilated

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Citing broken bones and other abnormalities, police suspect that someone may have mutilated the corpse that they believe belonged to Nazi fugitive Josef Mengele in an attempt to disguise its identity.

"There is a suspicion that someone may have tried to deform the cadaver," Romeu Toma, federal police chief in Sao Paulo, said at a news conference Monday.

"We believe the purpose was that the corpse not be identified."

An 18-member forensic team planned to do tests today to determine whether the bad condition of the body was caused by violence or by water and earth.

Tuma said the team hoped to have a final identification by the end of the month of the skeletal remains, exhumed June 6 in the town of Embu, 17 miles from Sao Paulo. Police believe the body belonged to Mengele, the "Angel of death" of the Auschwitz concentration camp in Poland who is blamed for the deaths of 400,000 people.

Italian president won't run again

ROME (AP) — With the election less than a week away, President Sandro Pertini says he will not offer himself as a candidate for another seven-year term as Italy's head of state.

However, in a statement issued Sunday by the Quirinal Palace, the 88-year-old Socialist president did not rule out the possibility of accepting the position if he is elected.

The presidential election begins next Sunday. The head of state is chosen by a joint vote of Italy's 1,011 deputies, senators and representatives of the nation's 20 regions.

A candidate must receive a two-thirds of the vote to be elected. If no one receives two-thirds during three separate ballots, legislators continue to vote until someone receives a majority. Pertini was elected on the 15th ballot seven years ago.

Bodies of three youths found

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Two sisters and a male teen-age boarder have been found stabbed to death in a duplex in this North Texas city, police say.

Officers said all three bodies were bound and had multiple puncture wounds.

The sisters were identified as Renee Lemieux, 12, and Danielle Lemieux, 14. The name of the male victim was not immediately determined, officers said.

Joann Lemieux, mother of the victims, said she returned home from work at about 10:15 p.m. Monday and found her youngest daughter bound and gagged in the bathroom. The second body was found in a bedroom by paramedics who responded to the mother's plea for help.

Police were searching the home more than an hour later when they located the body of the teen-age boy. He had been found and was hidden beneath dirty linens in a laundry room, police said.

Police spokesman Jim Willett said the boy could not be identified immediately.

"All we know is that he is a young man who didn't have anywhere else to go, so a church sent him over here," Willett said.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

The past week has been one of the most moving exciting weeks of my life.

Thirty teens and sponsors from Hereford went on a missions trip to Haiti to construct a school building. The teens showed so much real character as they labored together in the Haitian heat. Most of us had never worked that hard before. Through their hard work an open air church, a school, a windmill and swine project were paid for and nearly completed.

My deepest appreciation goes to our super team of sponsors: Joe and Kathy Paetzold, Sheila Thames and John and Sally Taylor, my parents. These people are the kind who help to make dreams come true.

The entire community of Hereford has been so supportive. Many businesses and individuals donated pencils and school supplies, plus clothes and money. We can assure all who helped that the Haitian people are appreciative and are still in need.

The pastor there told us, with tears in his eyes, that no group had ever made the impact that this group had on his church. He said groups had come before, but no one has ever loved his people like these teens.

The spiritual and social impact can only be measured in eternity. Hereford is a wonderful community to be part of.

We invite the public to view our group's slide presentation of the Haiti trip on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Hereford Church of the Nazarene.

In gratitude,

Olympic physician urges opposition to doping

CHICAGO (AP) — A doctor who investigated members of the U.S. Olympic cycling team's efforts to improve performance by drawing blood and reinjecting it later says the American Medical Association should oppose the practice.

Dr. Daniel F. Hanley of Brunswick, Maine, and one of four physicians who investigated the incident for the U.S. Olympic Committee, is one of a group of doctors urging the AMA to take a stand against the practice of blood doping.

Hanley urged an AMA committee Monday to recommend a resolution against blood doping to the organization's 370-member House of Delegates.

The House is meeting this week to decide policy for the 260,000-member organization, the largest association of physicians in the country, which is holding its annual meeting this week.

A colleague of Hanley's, Dr. Brinton T. Darlington, the Maine delegate to the AMA's annual meeting, sponsored the resolution, along with doctors from the five other New England states.

Darlington said blood doping purportedly gives the same effect as training at a high altitude.

Ann Landers

Finally reunited

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My parents were divorced when I was an infant. Mom raised me but my dad was a part of my life until I was 11, when he moved to another state. I hated him for running out on me.

It wasn't until recently that I found out why Dad left. He remarried when I was three and had two children with his second wife. Mom resented this and made his life hell. The whole story came out when my grandmother died. I saw Dad at the funeral for the first time in 15 years. We sat together during the services and became reacquainted. I liked him instantly and felt very close to him.

It was awkward, but I got up the nerve to ask why he abandoned me. He said Mom took everything when she left him. He paid alimony and child support, but the alimony stopped when she remarried, so she kept increasing the child support to get even. She then hauled him into court whenever he was a little late with the payments just to embarrass him.

Dad never had much money. He worked on construction most of his life and had a hard time making ends meet. He ended up bankrupt trying to meet my mother's demands. He said there was no alternative but to go someplace where she couldn't hound him anymore.

Dad and I are good friends now. When I asked Mom why she was so vindictive, she said she wanted to wring every last nickel out of "the rat" for my sake. She admitted she didn't need the money, but it was a matter of principle.

I love Mom, but now I know her greed deprived me of a father. All those years without him certainly did not make up for the extras she dragged out of him.—THE TRUTH IS OUT.

DEAR TRUTH: I'm glad you and your Dad have reunited. Too bad it took so long. I hope your letter will encourage other children of divorce to insist on maintaining relationships with both parents, regardless of how the parents feel about each other. The ugliest part of divorce is the attempt by some parents to poison their children's minds against the other spouse.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I cannot believe I'm writing because I never thought this situation would arise in my household.

My daughter, in her 20s, is dating a young man who is extremely jealous and possessive of her. He has no friends of his own and follows "Gloria" everywhere she goes. He wants to be with her every living minute. He won't leave our home many nights and sleeps on the porch. When he gets into a jealous rage he thinks nothing of phoning or coming over at any hour of the night and disturbing the entire household.

I have tried to tell Gloria that his behavior is not normal but she says she loves him and I should mind my own business.

I am about to see her to move out. My husband feels as I do, but won't say anything. What should we do?—NO NAME OR CITY OR MORE TROUBLE IN N.J.

DEAR N.J.: The guy sounds bonkers and your daughter needs to get into counseling to find out why she tolerates such bizarre behavior. Make her a deal. If she'll get help you'll let her stay. Otherwise tell her to pack her bags.

Going to a wedding? Giving one? Or standing up in one? Even if you're already married Ann Landers' "New Bride's Guide" will answer questions about today's weddings. For a copy, send $2.00, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

4 Around the County

By DAVY VESTAL and SUSAN RANEY
County Extension Agents

Wow! We've just returned from State 4-H Round-Up and things are really buzzing around the 4-H office this month.

First of all, we wish to congratulate the 4-H'ers who performed so well at the State 4-H Round-up down at Texas A&M. Jeff Hicks, received a second place for his illustrated talk entitled "Dogs that Wear Sheep's Clothing."

The 4-H livestock judging team brought home a 16th placing out of the entire state's 4-H livestock judges. The team consisted of Kelly Burrus, Joni Hicks, Chris Urbanczyk and Rickie Vogel. 4-H leaders, Susan Hicks and Loretta Urbanczyk, assisted in chaperoning the State wide event which was held June 4-5 in College station.

Today, our county is being represented at the District 1 4-H Fashion Show by five young 4-H ladies. They are juniors: Jennifer Hicks, Lori Urbanczyk, Susan Rickman, Shelia Teel, and senior, Kristi Powell. Each of these girls constructed a garment for the County Fashion Show and received honors for their sewing ability, enabling them to participate in the district contest.

The theme of this year's district fashion show is "Focus on Fashion" and is being held today at the Activity center on the WTSU Campus. A public fashion show will be held this evening at 7 p.m. in the Mary Moody Auditorium. All parents, friends and relatives of the 4-H'ers are invited to view the show, which will feature approximately 220 4-H youth modeling hand made garments.

Record Book Workshops are being conducted throughout this month and next in preparation for County 4-H Record Book Judging on July 12. All 4-H'ers are encouraged to attend the sessions in order to learn about the new project record-book forms.

Workshops are scheduled for June 17, July 1, and 8 from 10 a.m. until noon in the game room of the Community Center. If 4-H'ers are unable to attend these workshops, please contact the County Extension Office and set up an individual appointment. Remember, Record books are due July 11.

The Extension Office held a 4-H Tractor Driving School last Tuesday at the County Bull Barn. Extension Agents Davy Vestal and Jimmy Walker of Oldham County instructed the in-class training while Bill Craig of Oglesby Equipment Company of Hereford trained the kids with hands-on experience. Oglesby Equipment supplied a brand new Case International tractor for the training. Eight boys received a certificate of completion and are now eligible for employment to drive a farm tractor.

The 4-H Horse Club is preparing for District competition to be held

Wednesday and Thursday of this week in Amarillo. Twelve Deaf Smith County, 4-H'ers will participate in the show this year. The Horse Club Drill Team is continuing their fund raising project of selling chocolate, if interested in purchasing, contact this office. Money raised by this club will help purchase 4-H flags for the team and help with expenses to the state horse show in July at Abilene.

The State steer validation will be held Monday, June 24 at the Vogel Barn in North Hereford. If you plan on showing steers next year you must have steers purchased before this date.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Darden presides at meeting

Members of the Hereford Chapter Order of the Eastern Star met recently for the new year at the Masonic Temple.

Worthy Matron Dottie Darden presided and was assisted by Worthy Patron Larry Knowles.

Reports were given by the junior past matron, secretary, treasurer, auditing committee and chairman of benevolence and cheer committee. Twenty-nine visits were made, 17 gifts and flowers sent, 18 cards sent and five meals served to families who had a death or bereavement in their family.

Darden has for her project for the year to replace the PA system in the hall. She assigned a committee to investigate the best system to be installed. They included Wayne White, Ed Hartley and L.J. Clark.

The charter was draped in memorial for Leota Good and Bessie Saulcy. Refreshments of homemade ice cream and cookies were served by L.J. and Wilma Clark in the dining room.

Emigration from crowded European centers soared in the first decade of this century. Nine million migrated to the United States, and millions went to Siberia, Canada, Argentina, South Africa and Algeria. In the century before 1914, 70 million Europeans emigrated. In Asia, several million Chinese, Indians and Japanese migrated to Southeast Asia.

Red Sox are hot team in A.L. East

By BEN WALKER AP Sports Writer

Forget about the Detroit Tigers defending their World Series championship, skip the Baltimore Orioles rehiring Earl Weaver, ignore the New York Yankees and their squabbles with Manager Billy Martin and don't worry that the Toronto Blue Jays have the best record in baseball.

The real story in the American League East right now is the Boston Red Sox.

"We've played very, very well," Boston Manager John McNamara said Monday night after the Red Sox extended their winning streak to six games by rallying past the Tigers

3-2. Dwight Evans hit a two-run homer in the ninth inning to give Boston its 17th victory in its last 19 games.

The Red Sox, who were in sixth place and 10 games behind Toronto on May 26, are now in second place and trail the Blue Jays by 2½ games.

"We just have the attitude not to quit," said winning pitcher Al Nipper. "A little luck is involved, but there's some skill, too."

In other AL games, New York hammered Baltimore 10-0, Milwaukee beat Toronto 2-1 and Kansas City blasted Minnesota 10-3.

Mike Easler started the Boston ninth with a single off Detroit relief ace Willie Hernandez. Evans then connected on an 0-1 pitch and sent it just over the screen atop the right-field fence for his seventh home run of the season.

"I just swung and the thing went 326 feet, four inches," Evans said. "I know it didn't clear the fence by any more than that."

Yankees 10, Orioles 0
Rickey Henderson went 5-for-5 and Ron Guidry pitched a five-hitter for his sixth straight victory as New York sent Baltimore to its first loss under new Manager Earl Weaver.

The Orioles had won four straight games — three under Weaver — before the visiting Yankees jumped all over Scott McGregor, 5-6.

Dave Winfield drove in four runs and Henderson's first career five-hit game keyed a 17-hit attack. Henderson also drew a walk, stole a base, scored three times and drove in a run.

Brewers 2, Blue Jays 1
Moose Haas pitched a three-hitter and Milwaukee used an appeal play in sending AL East-leading Toronto to its fifth straight loss.

The host Brewers led 2-0 when Len Matuszek led off the eighth with a single for the Blue Jays. One out later, Lou Thornton hit a ball that skipped past right fielder Ben Oglivie and rolled to the fence.

Matuszek scored on the play and Thornton reached third. But, the Brewers appealed that Thornton had missed first base and umpire Terry Cooney called Thornton out.

Royals 10, Twins 3
Steve Balboni, just 1-for-14 with six strikeouts against Minnesota's Frank Viola last season, got his revenge at Royals Stadium.

Balboni tagged Viola for a home run leading off the third inning and then hit a three-run homer with two outs in the sixth to cap a five-run outburst that put Kansas City ahead 6-3. Balboni now has 12 homers this year.

Bret Saberhagen, 7-3, got the victory while Viola, 7-6, took the loss.

Women's Volleyball Champions

Men's Volleyball Champions

Gamblers earn playoff spot

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Gamblers quarterback Todd Dillon says he got angry after one of his passes was picked off by the San Antonio Gunslingers and returned a United States Football League record 103 yards for a touchdown.

Dillon, starting his third consecutive game for the injured Jim Kelly, completed 25 of 33 passes for 365 yards and ran for another touchdown as the Gamblers routed their cross-state rivals, 49-21 at the Astrodome Monday night.

The victory gave the Gamblers, 10-7, the eighth and final spot in the USFL playoffs.

Dillon said he felt relaxed during the game, but he became angry when Charles Armstead picked off his pass and returned it 103 yards for a touchdown to give San Antonio a 7-0 lead in the second quarter.

"That interception was enough to tick you off and say, 'Dammit, we have to win this game, so let's get out and get into the playoffs,'" Dillon said.

The Gamblers had lost two in a row and four of their last five games.

Gambler receivers' coach Bob Ford said last week that Dillon had to throw more often to his inside receivers, Richard Johnson, Clarence Verdin and Ricky Sanders.

Verdin caught two touchdown passes and Johnson and Sanders caught one each.

"I figured if I couldn't win one of four games, I'd go back to selling insurance in California," Dillon said.

The Gamblers quickly wiped out the 7-0 San Antonio lead as Dillon threw two touchdown passes and ran for one himself and the Gamblers held a 28-7 halftime lead.

"They came easy after the interception," Dillon said. "You could see it in San Antonio's eyes. They didn't know what they were doing."

Dillon's touchdown run came after Todd Fowler's 6-yard run and Tom Fritsch's extra point tied the game at 7-7.

Three Gunslingers collided in midair as they attempted to tackle Dillon, clearing the way for him to dash 36 yards up the sideline for the go-ahead score.

"The guys almost cut me off," Dillon said. "I figured I could fool them once with that."

"We responded to a game we needed to win to get into the playoffs," Gamblers coach Jack Pardee said. "I'm proud of the way we came back after that (interception) touchdown."

"Todd moved around well and made the super effort with that run of his. He emerged from this game with a good taste in his mouth," Pardee said.

In the third quarter, Dillon threw two more touchdown passes. One was 20 yards to Verdin and the other 19 yards to Johnson that made it 49-14 as the quarter expired.

Luther Bradley picked off two Rick Neuheisel passes and returned one 36 yards for a Houston touchdown in the third quarter that gave the Gamblers a 35-7 pad.

San Antonio got two second-half touchdowns from fullback Scott Stamper, who scored on runs of 9 and 1 yards. It was the most points the Gunslingers have ever allowed in USFL play.

Rangers' DH

undergoes surgery

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Texas Rangers designated hitter Cliff Johnson, sidelined since Friday, underwent arthroscopic surgery Monday on his right knee, which resulted in removal of some torn cartilage and smoothing of some rough edges on the kneecap, the American League team said.

Johnson, 37, will begin exercising by the end of this week and is expected to be out a minimum of three weeks. He may be placed on the disabled list in the next day or two, a team statement said.

The 12-year major league veteran, signed as a free agent in December, is batting .255 with nine home runs and 40 runs batted in in 54 games this season.

Cosmos soccer team is nearly broke

By TOM CANAVAN

AP Sport Writer
EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Less than a decade after becoming the flagship team of soccer in North America, the Cosmos are nearly broke and ready to cease operations unless more financing can be found, team officials say.

The prospect has many in the United States wondering whether the sport has any future in the country that calls baseball its national pastime.

"I hope the Cosmos will be around until my own kids' kids can watch them play," said Peppe Pinton, who resigned Monday as the team's managing director. "The last six or seven months have been atrocious. I love the Cosmos, but one has to be realistic about the future."

The resignation came just one night after Pinton said the team's coffers were near empty and that the program of having the Cosmos play international exhibition matches was losing money.

"The bottom line is money and we don't have it," Pinton said Sunday night. "I had a dream when we started this thing. I thought it might work, but the fans don't seem to want the program."

"On the whole, the Cosmos will be around as long as Cosmos fans want them to be around, no matter who the management is."

Recent crowds lead one to believe the fans don't want the Cosmos around. Playing the international exhibition schedule this summer, the Cosmos have averaged less than 15,000 fans per game in three games, including one against Independiente of Argentina, the world club champions.

It was games like that back in the middle to late 1970s that filled Giants Stadium with crowds in the 60,000 to 70,000 range. Back then, it was trending to go to soccer games. Mick Jagger did. So did former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger — to see international soccer stars such as Pele, Beckenbauer, Alberto and Chinaglia.

The Cosmos name and its stars carried the North American Soccer League to a peak at the beginning of the decade when its membership reached 24 teams. But the number this year had dwindled to two when the league suspended operations.

Pinton said he was at a loss to explain how the Cosmos could draw between 60,000 and 75,000 fans per game during their heyday in the 1970s and fail to match that total over three games this year.

Astros' relief ace, Dave Smith, earns 11th save

By JONATHAN VITTI

Associated Press Writer
Houston's Dave Smith retired all seven Atlanta Braves' batters that he faced for his 11th save, but he felt retiring Glenn Hubbard for the last out was especially important.

"A one-run lead in this ballpark is nothing. That is why I wanted to get Hubbard out," Smith said. "I hated to see (Dale) Murphy and (Bob) Horner come up (the next two men in the batting order). Even with Murphy not hitting the way he can, he's so strong he can hit it out any time, and besides he owns me."

Alan Ashby had three hits, including a double in the sixth inning that broke a 3-3 tie, to lead the Astros to a 4-3 victory over Atlanta Monday.

Smith, who has become the ace of the Houston bullpen this season, replaced winner Nolan Ryan, 8-3, in the seventh inning after Horner singled to move Hubbard to second base. He got Terry Harper to ground out, ending the threat.

Ryan scattered nine hits in 6 2-3 innings while striking out eight batters and walking two.

He now has 100 strikeouts for the year and ran his all-time record career total to 3,974, only 26 short of becoming the first pitcher in history to record 4,000 strikeouts.

"They (the Braves) are kind of like us. They've had a lot of injuries and their lineup has changed. They had three guys I have never seen before," Ryan said. "It's (still) hard to get enough runs in this ballpark."

Ashby's sixth-inning double came with two outs and the score tied for the third time. Phil Garner, who had homered in the fourth, and Glen Davis singled, chasing Atlanta starter Steve Shields, 1-1. Ashby greeted Jeff Dedmon with a drive to center, scoring Garner.

Shields said he was hampered by a cut finger on his pitching hand that began to bleed in the second inning.

"It got worse and worse and I kept wiping the blood off it," Shields said. "When you try to compensate for not having velocity, you get behind (in the count). Then they wait for your fastball and beat your brains out."

Brad Komminsk led off the Braves' first with a triple and two outs later scored on a double by Horner.

Houston tied the score in the third. Ashby singled with one out, moved to second on a sacrifice, to third on an infield hit by Bill Doran, and scored on Craig Reynold's single.

A one-out double by Hubbard and a run-scoring single by Harper put the Braves ahead again in the third, but the Astros tied it in the fourth on Garner's third home run of the season.

Houston took its first lead, 3-2, in the fifth when Ashby led off the inning with a single, went to second on a sacrifice and scored on Doran's double. But the Braves tied it once more in their half of the fifth when Murphy singled and scored on a triple by Horner.

Following Harper's run-scoring single in the third, the Braves loaded the bases on a walk to Ken Oberkfell. But Ryan prevented any further scoring by striking out Larry Owen.

"We had ample opportunities to win the ballgame," Horner said. "We had runners in scoring position but we didn't capitalize on many of them. When you're struggling like we are, that's when you need to take advantage of any scoring opportunities, but we haven't been doing that lately."

Mets 2, Cubs 0
Ron Darling pitched a five-hit shutout and Gary Carter hit a homer and cut short a Chicago rally with a fine defensive play. They said Rick Sutcliffe's remarks, in a story taped to their clubhouse wall, didn't get them mad. Well... sort of.

"That kind of thing is great when you're in a high school atmosphere and you pin something like that on the board and talk about it all day," Darling said after pitching the New York Mets to a 2-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs Monday night.

"But for me, it's no extra motivation. I don't need any extra motivation to pitch against the Cubs."

Sutcliffe had been quoted as saying that, alone among the Mets, pitcher

Dwight Gooden could play for the Cubs. Sutcliffe said he wouldn't take Carter in exchange for his catcher, Jody Davis. Sutcliffe also said Montreal and St. Louis, rather than New York, were the teams to beat in the division.

The victory snapped the Mets' four-game losing streak and extended the Cubs' skid to six straight defeats.

Padres 3, Dodgers 2

Los Angeles and Pedro Guerrero lost their four-game streaks. The Dodgers failed to win, and Guerrero failed to homer, for the first game since June 9.

Steve Garvey doubled, singled twice and scored the decisive run.

Eric Show, 5-4, Craig Lefferts and Rich Gossage combined to restrict Los Angeles to eight hits. Show pitched seven innings, allowing six hits, striking out seven and walking three. He also singled home Graig Nettles in the second inning.

Lefferts retired Greg Brock to start the eighth, then Gossage came in and recorded his 15th save. Brock had hit his 10th home run of the season in the second inning.

Pirates 5, Expos 2
Tony Pena hit a two-run homer and a run-scoring single as Pittsburgh ended Montreal's five-game winning streak. Pena's fourth homer this season broke open a 3-2 game in the sixth inning.

The Pirates, last in the NL East, moved within 15 games of first-place Montreal with the victory.

Giants 4, Reds 0

Jeff Leonard knocked in a pair of runs with a homer and a single and left-hander Atlee Hammaker pitched a four-hitter. Hammaker, who walked two and struck out six, breezed to his first shutout since June 26, 1983. He allowed more than one runner on base in an inning only once.

"Give Hammaker all the credit," said Dave Concepcion, who had a 17-game hitting streak snapped. "He kept throwing sinkers away and I didn't hit anything good."

The longest game in major league baseball history, according to innings, is a 26-inning game played on May 1, 1920. Brooklyn and Boston of the National League played to a 1-1 tie in a game that lasted three hours, 50 minutes. But a 23-inning game between the San Francisco Giants and New York Mets on May 31, 1984 lasted seven hours, 23 minutes (won by San Francisco). That record for the length of a game according to time was broken in 1984 when the Chicago White Sox defeated the Milwaukee Brewers in a game that lasted eight hours, six minutes, and two nights. The game was a suspended one that was finished on May 9, 1984.

Potted plants

DEAR POLLY — To put your potted houseplants up and out of the way, purchase an oblong wire basket (made for storage) and turn it into a hanging basket. Attach strong wire to each corner and hang it from the ceiling or curtain rods. You can get several plants in one of these baskets. It makes an attractive display and it's easy to care for the plants. — MRS. I.A.

I find it alarming and sad to see the number of cars carrying unrestrained children and adults. Often, children can be seen riding standing up in the back seat, playing freely in the backs of station wagons and in other hazardous positions. This is extremely dangerous, and I can only conclude sadly that parents who allow their children to ride unrestrained don't care very much about the safety of those children.

DEAR POLLY — My husband, other passengers and I used to forget to use seat belts when we got into the car. I printed "Buckle Up" on a piece of adhesive tape and stuck it on the dashboard. Now we don't forget. It really works! — VERA

In addition, adults who ride without seat belts must not care very much about their own welfare. In my state, New York, it is now illegal to ride without seat belts. I urge every reader of this column to write to state legislators requesting seat-belt and safety-seat laws.

DEAR VERA — I'm for anything that will help folks remember to buckle up. Wearing seat belts saves lives! And all children should be strapped into federally approved child safety seats or restrained with seat belts that are appropriate for their size and age.

Rhode Island is distinguished for its battle for freedom of conscience and action. It was established by Roger Williams, who was exiled from the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1636, and Ann Hutchinson, who was exiled from there in 1638. Rhode Island gave protection to Quakers in 1657 and Jews from Holland in 1658.

Want to be a recording star?

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — You, too, can be a recording star. And for only $9.95 a pop.

"Thanks to photography, we all know what we look like. But most of us have never had an opportunity to hear what we sound like when we are singing," says Brenda Aviard, who aims to remedy that.

She runs a Sound Tracks Recording Studio franchise at King's Island amusement park, one of only eight in the nation so far. But Ms. Aviard thinks recording songs by amateurs will be the next fad in America.

"We all fancy ourselves as singers, you know. We sing in the shower and we sing along with our car radios when we're out for a drive," she said.

For $9.95, customers get to sing their choices of more than 100 ditties with recorded instrumental backing in one of Ms. Aviard's nine recording booths. Fifteen minutes later, they walk away with the evidence on tape.

Eating right still best way to get variety of vitamins

SAN FRANCISCO — From television commercials to cereal boxes, consumers get a daily dose of information about vitamins. Foods can be fortified and enriched, while their packages extol the virtue of their vitamin content.

"For most individuals, the days of suffering from disease due to a vitamin deficiency are long over," said Dr. Dee Graham, director of technology development for Del Monte Corporation.

But Graham said just consuming a lot of food won't guarantee an individual the proper amount of vitamins. "It may sound silly, but such admonishments as 'eat your vegetables' and eating foods from the basic four groups everyday represent some of the best advice around."

Vitamins help the body assimilate elements necessary to good health, like protein and calcium, Graham said, and are used in special pathways to assist chemical reactions.

Less than 75 years ago, before vitamins were discovered, scientists attributed many diseases that are caused by nutritional deficiencies to bacteria.

Vitamin deficiencies were more frequent then they are today. A team of explorers to the North Pole died in a 1912 expedition, for example, not because of the weather, but because food they brought with them contained no canned fruits or vegetables. Autopsies revealed that all the men had scurvy.

Today, most people know vitamins are important, though they may not understand what it is they do. Graham offered these insights into the role of vitamins:

-Vitamin A is one of the chemicals used in the eye's sensing mechanism that helps convert light into messages to the brain. It is found primarily in butter fat and leafy green vegetables. Deficiencies can cause night blindness, even total blindness. Vitamin A is soluble in fat. Excess vitamin A is stored in the body. Too much of it over several weeks can cause liver damage.

-Vitamin B-1, or thiamine, helps in the process of supplying energy to the body needs for muscular movement or nerve transmission. A deficiency can cause Beriberi, a form of paralysis. Meats, liver and whole grain cereals are good sources of this vitamin.

-Vitamin B-2, riboflavin, helps synthesize energy rich material in the body to get oxygen to cells, and may retard the formation of cataracts. Good food sources are meats, including liver, and milk and eggs.

-Vitamin B-6 may help maintain normal emotional health, increase energy levels and improve resistance to stress. Deficiencies can result in depression, extreme nervousness, lethargy and water retention. Good food sources are salmon, beef, chicken liver, white-meat chicken, and brown rice.

-Vitamin B-12 promotes healthy skin, and helps in the formulation of hemoglobin in the blood. Hemoglobin is responsible for carrying oxygen in the blood. Deficiencies can cause depression or other psychiatric symptoms, tiredness, loss of appetite and irregular breathing. Vitamin B-12 is found in such products as meats, milk and eggs.

-Vitamin C is instrumental in the formation of strong tissue bonds. It forms collagen, the protein glue that helps hold body cells together. It also aids in the healing of wounds. The best food sources of vitamin C are fruits and vegetables, although it's important to prepare vegetables correctly to minimize vitamin loss during cooking.

-Vitamin D is important in the absorption of calcium. Insufficient amounts can cause rickets, a softening of the bones, and extreme tooth decay. Vitamin D is often added to milk and is found in butter fat, when exposed to sunlight, human skin produces some vitamin D.

-Vitamin E seems to retard the aging process by protecting unsaturated fats from breakdown. Vitamin E may boost the immune system and can promote a healthy circulatory system. Food sources include vegetable oils and whole grain cereals.

Rieves receives award

Carolyn Rieves, daughter of Don and Alice Rieves, has been named an Academic All-American by the National Secondary Education Council. Rieves, who attends Stanton Junior High School, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Nino of Dimmitt and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Polk of Slaton.

The NSEC has established the Academic All-American School Award program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. The scholars must earn a 3.3 or better grade point average.

Only scholars selected by a secondary school instructor, counselor or other qualified sponsor are accepted. Rieves was nominated by her math teacher.

Why can't they formulate a mustard for ballpark hot dogs that sticks as tenaciously to the wienie as it does to your fingers and shirt?
