Whitefly Plagues Produce Markets

The whitefly infestation in California and Arizona is plaguing the winter produce market, sending prices of lettuce and melons up, said an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"This area is the primary source of lettuce and melon crops that are sold during the winter months," said Dr. Dick Edwards.

"The whitefly has caused farmers to plow under many acres of crops that were planted last November. What's left is only about 25 percent of the normal yields," Edwards said. Prices of head lettuce will hover around the dollar mark and melons will cost about three times their normal price during January, he said.

There still is much good news for consumers, however. Edwards said that alternatives to head lettuce, such as the leafy varieties of Romaine and red leaf, as well as fresh spinach and broccoli florets, are less expensive substitutes. Cabbage also will be in abundant supply. Other greens, such as kale, turnip and collards, can be put onto the table to replace less plentiful green vegetables, he said.

Other domestic produce that will be discounted are avocados, brussels sprouts, celery, cucumbers, and bell peppers. Yellow squash, carrots, onions, sweet potatoes and white potatoes will be featured January items.

Orange and grapefruit crops should be about the same size as last year, but Texas production will lag for the next two or three years because of the 1989 freeze. The amount of citrus from other states will be plentiful as the season hits its peak in late January. Pears and apples also will be good buys because of exceptional fall crops.

Since the barriers to the entry of Chilean fruit are completely removed during January, its peak production month, there will be plentiful supplies of grapes, peaches, plums, nectarines, raspberries, and kiwis. Prices will be lower and quality higher than last year because of more acreage and fewer weather problems, he said.

However, the same results cannot be projected for winter tomatoes from Mexico.

"These will, once again, be disappointing in texture and hardness," Edwards said. Supplies and prices, however, will be at acceptable levels.

The Super Bowl will give consumers another chance to snack and take advantage of promotions geared at that sporting event, he said. The biggest discounts will be in the drink and "finger food" snacks, such as chips, dips, cold cuts, soft drinks and beer.

January is National Frozen Pizza Month, so an advertising blitz of price reductions and coupons can be expected, he said.

The cold of January will be offset with historically low prices on coffee. Prices at around a dollar per package will continue to be seen.

"Over the past few years, the package size on many brands has been cut from 1 pound to 13 ounces. The manufacturers say the product content is the same because the grounds are more concentrated and fewer scoops per cup of coffee are needed," he said.

The cooler weather also will bring an extensive advertising campaign by pasta makers. These companies have seen consumption grow by about 50 percent over the last 10 years.

"They want this trend to continue. Ads will center on using pasta items as substitutes for potatoes and vegetables served with heavy creams."

Discounts on spaghetti and macaroni packaged alone or as the primary base in a convenience item will be plentiful.

Other cool weather menu items such as soups, biscuit dough and hot chocolate will be featured as well.

Lower beef and pork prices will continue in January. The meats discounted the most are, again, those that fit into cool weather menus. For beef, this means chuck roasts between $1.50 and $1.75 per pound and ground beef at less than $1 per pound in 3- and 5-pound prepackaged chubs. Boneless shoulder roasts, stew meat, and sirloin tip roasts also will be featured, Edwards said.

Pork specials will be on chops, shoulder roasts, and boneless loins, with the best prices on pork steaks at about $1.50 per pound and bacon at $1.25 to $1.50 per pound. Sausage prices will vary, depending on fat content, but will still be discounted by about 50 cents per pound.

Seafood sales in January are traditionally slow due to reduced consumption. The old standbys—shrimp and catfish—will have lower prices. The best shrimp buys will be the medium (51-60 count) at about $3.50 per pound. The large (31-40 count) black tiger shrimp at $5 also is a good bargain, he said.

This past year was not as good to catfish growers as 1990 due to lower prices and expansion. However, better management is reducing their costs,

Cap Being Put On Credit Card Interest

An interest rate cap on credit cards could lead to the failure of five or six major banks, according to a Texas Christian University finance professor.

"Banks are in almost the same position as the S&L's, and the FDIC is out of money," explained Dr. Stanley Block. "A ceiling would lead to a greater cut into profits of major banks."

A study of the credit card industry has been proposed in legislation introduced by U.S. Reps. Charles Schumer, D-New York, and Esteban Torres, D-California.

Block said a move to limit credit card interest to "help" the economy could actually sideline any recovery that may be under way.

"It's a question of Congress tampering with free-market forces," Block noted. He said he does not understand why the United States would move toward government price controls at a time when the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe are moving away from them.

Consumers, not Congress, should be seeking lower rates, Block said. "Government has a role in such things as approving drugs when people have no way of protecting themselves," he explained. He noted, however, that credit card rates are easy for consumers to identify and that consumers should shop around for the lowest rate.

"If we were going to do anything to help consumers, I think it could be reinstating tax deductions for credit card interest," he suggested.

"If we were going to do anything to help consumers, I and production is back on the rise. Fillets at $2.50 to $3 per pound are the best buys, the economist said.

After New Year's Day, sales on several items will be worth investigating. Poinsettias still around will be cut in price by more than half. Cards, wrapping paper, cosmetics, and men's fragrances are usually left over in the nonfood department of large food stores and prices will be slashed, he said.

"Most people look for these sales at department and discount stores rather than food stores, so the choice and selection may be better at your local supermarket," he said.

Cough and cold remedies and flu medications will be hot sellers in January. The flu season started early this year and is expected to last a long time, he said. Also, holiday eating and New Year's resolutions trigger questions about weight. Diet aid promotions will proliferate in January.

think it could be reinstating tax deductions for credit card interest," he suggested.

While such a move would reduce tax revenues, it could save the potential major expense of the government bailing out of several large banks, Block said.

TEC Serves As State's Official Employment Agency

"The economy has not been very friendly to anyone in Texas lately," said Texas Employment Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers, "but we certainly are going to try our best to make the holidays a little bit brighter for some individuals." TEC employees announced today that they are committed to administering the Emergency Unemployment Compensation Act, which extends unemployment benefits to unemployed individuals as quickly as possible.

"State employees are working very hard to get as many checks as possible in the mail by Thanksgiving because we know what a difference this money can make," Nabers said.

The new federal law, signed recently by President Bush, will extend benefits for up to 13 weeks for unemployed individuals who have exhausted all benefits under this insurance program. Commissioner Nabers said today that 117,000 notices have already been sent to Texans identified as potential recipients. The legislation also has a "reach back" provision that includes people whose benefits expired any time between March 1 and November 16 of this year, and continue to be unemployed.

"Texans can receive extended benefits for periods of unemployment beginning November 17," said Nabers. "But to get the benefits mailed quickly, it's necessary for those we contact to respond promptly." According to Nabers, millions of dollars will be pumped into the state's economy by December. "That will benefit businesses as well as the people receiving the money. Many Texans don't realize what a stabilizing force unemployment insurance benefits tend to be in a faltering economy," she said. "These benefits will have a huge impact on the state as recipients purchase food, clothing and other necessities."

Nabers said employers' state tax rates will not be affected by this new federal legislation.

TEC serves as the state's official employment agency serving both employers and employees.

Square Dancing Explained

Here are a few things you may not know about square dancing and the local square dance club. First it is fun, good exercise, (One of the best for the heart I am told), an opportunity for wonderful fellowship and a chance to make many life long friends.

The Muleshoe Squares have been a club for eleven years. You have watched them dance for the 4th of July festivities, the Muleshoe 75th birthday celebration as well as many other activities. They are Civic minded and have donated in the past to the Food Bank, Heritage Center, Civic Center, Legion Hall, EMS Toys for tots, Farwell Community Center and the hospital.

We enjoy many club activities: salad suppers, barn dances and visiting neighboring clubs.

Our dancers range in age from 12 years to ? Recently, couples from the Littlefield Club joined, and we now have members not only from Muleshoe but Farwell, Springlake, Earth, Lazbuddie, Clovis, Littlefield, Needmore and Lariat.

We have great plans for our Club and hope that they will include you.

Lessons will start January 9 at the American Legion Hall in Muleshoe 7:00 CST. The first two lessons are free. This is good, clean fun, no drinking or brawls. So bring your partner and let us show you how much fun it is and what you have been missing. For information, you may contact any Muleshoe Square Dancer or call one of the people in your area: Jones 257-2038, Hubers 385-3907, Trimbles 225-6989, Kalbus 825-3635, Ramm 925-6421, McCamish 272-4884.

Rotary Seeks International Program Applicants

The West Texas District of Rotary International seeks applicants for a study exchange program designed to promote international goodwill and understanding.

Area Rotary clubs will be sending a group of area business and professional men to visit with South Korea in the spring of 1992 under the Group Study Exchange program of the Rotary Foundation.

The Group Study Exchange will send a team of Americans to South Korea for approximately five weeks. Through the reciprocal program, West Texas Rotarians hosted a team from South Korea for a month-long tour in October.

During the exchange, team members learn about the culture, economy, education and language of the host country. The Rotary Foundation and participating Rotary clubs pay expenses for team members.

Eldon Davidson, GSE chairman, participated in a similar exchange in Switzerland in 1986. Davidson said the program is valuable because it promotes international understanding.

"Through the program, you learn about value systems, and you learn how these value systems are reflected in government policy and international relations," Davidson said.

The GSE program strives to improve international understanding by enabling people to learn from each other. While abroad, team members will meet their professional counterparts, observe their hosts' way of life, and study the nation's economic, social and cultural characteristics through travel and discussions within the participating Rotary district.

Nearly 15,000 persons from some 100 countries have participated in the program since its inception in 1965, at a cost of more than $24 million.

The Rotary Foundation pays for all trip expenses including international travel. While visiting in Korea, team members will stay in the homes of Korean Rotarians to learn about family customs and culture.

The Rotary Foundation is voluntarily supported by Rotarians and others in 164 countries and geographical regions in which some 24,000 Rotary clubs are located. The Foundation's objective is to further international understanding and friendly relations among peoples of different nations through projects of an educational or charitable nature.

The 1992 touring program is open to men between the ages of 25 and 35. Rotary members cannot apply for the exchange. Deadline for completed application forms is January 31, 1992.

Application may be made through local Rotary clubs throughout District 5730. For more information or to receive an application form, contact Davidson, GSE chairman, at the Texas State Technical College campus in Amarillo 806-335-2316 extension 350 or write 6408 Cromwell, Amarillo, Texas 79109.

Aging Can Diminish Safe Driving

Safe driving during the holidays includes avoiding alcohol and drugs, using seat belts as required by law, and being especially aware of increased traffic and possible weather-related hazards. According to health officials, safe driving also includes knowing the limits of one's own driving skills and using caution against other drivers' possible impairments.

Carla Baker, at the Texas Department of Health (TDH), explained that increasingly more traffic injuries and deaths involved drivers impaired by the effects of aging. "Statistics from the U.S. Transportation Research Board show that the likelihood of a serious auto accident increases among 55 and older drivers. As an age group, those 55 and older are involved in more traffic accidents, many of which are deadly, than any other adult age group except the youngest (age 15-25)," she said.

Baker, who coordinates older driver education for the TDH Public Health Promotion Division, said that the increased risk of auto mishaps among older drivers stems from several factors.

"Federal studies indicate that aging processes cause changes in the individual's sensory, physical and intellectual skills required for safe driving," she said. "Since those changes usually are gradual, an older driver may not notice them. Also, the age when potential impairments begin varies from one to another."

She said that measurable deficiencies may begin as early as age 55. Between 55 and 75, a driver's skills may decline rapidly and be further hampered by vision problems, arthritis, chronic diseases or medications. Also, an older person's ability to survive and recover from severe injury is less than that of a younger adult.

Baker said that 28 percent, or about 42 million drivers in the U.S. are 55 or older. To encourage those drivers to assess their abilities and learn techniques for safer driving, several resources are available.

The TDH Safe Riders Program offers a booklet, Aging and Driving Successfully in Texas, about such subjects as safe driving tips, the effects of medications or alcohol, and suggestions for choosing cars. It also lists courses and driver assessment programs conducted by the Texas Safety Association, the American Automobile Association (AAA), the American Association of retired Persons and the University of Texas Medical Branch.

Copies of the booklet and other free information about driver and occupant safety are available from the Safe Riders Program, (toll-free at 1-800-252-8255).

Companions Hold Luncheon

The South Plains Senior Companion program had a recognition luncheon and meeting on December 18 in Levelland. Companions from the eight counties came together to celebrate the season and the 10th anniversary of the Companion Program in this area.

Special recognition for service to the program was given to those who have been with the program seven years or more. Lamb County residents Mrs. Henry Bill Brown, Carrie Solsebee, and Earl Williams and Hockley County resident Ferrell Echols celebrated 10 years with the program. Nine years of service were celebrated by Cochran county resident Jimmie Lee Hill and Lamb County's Bula Humphreys and Gracie Smith. Hockley County residents Josie Guerra, Adolfo Martinez and Opal Shipman; Lamb County residents Ruby Chamberlain and Charlotte Woolever, Lynn County's Trudy Scuknecht and Terry County's Lizzie Warren have all completed eight years with the program. Della Hagin and Ben Juarez of Levelland and Paula Casteneda of Brownfield have all worked 7 years on the program. These people recognized have a total of 150,336 hours of service to adults in their home counties.

A total of 75 companions were recognized for their contribution of service ranging from a few months to ten years in the South Plains counties of Bailey, Cochran, Garza, Hockley, Lamb, Lynn, Terry and Yoakum. Each companion works up to 20 hours a week with any adult that has a physical, mental or emotional need and yet wishes to retain independent living.

The Senior Companion Program is sponsored locally by South Plains Community Action. The program is federally sponsored by ACTION which was established as an outcome of the Domestic Volunteer Act of 1973. To help celebrate the tenth anniversary of the Program in this area, a cookbook was produced by the Companions. The 100 plus page cookbook is on sale through the Companions for $5. Proceeds will be used to benefit the companions.

The Staff of the Program would like to extend a heartfelt thanks to the many area merchants and individuals who contributed to the success of this year's recognition luncheon through donations or items to be used for door prizes.

The Companions in Muleshoe are Oneida Cornelison, Vernice Garth, Edith Lee and Bessie Whisenhunt.

SCP Director in Levelland is Patricia Hartin and Girtrude Moss is a member of the staff there.

Home chefs know that holiday leftovers can be turned into holiday fun when a little creativity is used. Here's a recipe that blends two All-American favorites together: Manwich® Sloppy Joe Sauce and holiday turkey! Manwich sandwiches are fun for the family to eat and this recipe will create a new tradition for them to enjoy during the holidays.

Turkey Croissant Sandwiches
*1 1/2 lbs cooked turkey, sliced
1 (15 1/2-oz.) can Hunt's Manwich® Sloppy Joe Sauce
4 large Croissants or hamburger buns
4 slices any favorite cheese
1 red onion, sliced in rings
1 sliced butter or dill pickles

In medium size saucepan combine sliced turkey and Manwich Sloppy Joe Sauce, simmer 5 minutes or until heated through; stir occasionally. Meanwhile, cut croissants in half and top bottom half of each croissant in the following order; 3/4 cup turkey mixture, 1 slice cheese, 1 red onion ring, and 2 slices of pickle. Cover each sandwich with top half of croissant. Makes 4 large sandwiches.

*When you find how great Manwich and turkey taste together, you may also want to try ground turkey and Manwich to make delicious sloppy joe all year-round! Substitute 3/4 lb ground turkey for the sliced turkey. Follow the same preparation instruction on the label for ground beef; brown the turkey until no longer pink. Make 4-6 sandwiches.

Five delicious additional Manwich sloppy joe sandwich variations are included among the 17 recipes in The Manwich Sports Survival Guide Cookbook available for free while supplies last.

The Manwich Sports Survival Guide Cookbook not only gives tasty recipe ideas to serve hungry sports fans but also gives home chefs a few "sports pointers" along the way to help them get greater enjoyment out of watching sports. DPS Warns Motorist

About Holiuday Travel

Drunk driving continues to be one of the nations most serious health and safety problems. However, Major V.J. Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety says that Federal, State, Local, and private efforts to reduce the incidents of drinking and driving are having an impact.

Major Cawthon says with the approach of New Year's Eve that this trend can continue if each of us will do our part in pre-planning our New Year's Eve celebration.

It is recommended that if you are going to host a party, that soft drinks be available for your guest so they will have a choice. Introduce people to one another, a good host is not just a bartender. Don't rush refills, don't double up because it's not generous, it's rude. Attempt to have a meal or snacks available throughout the evening and, above all, if someone drinks too much at your house, you are responsible. Provide lodging or get them a safe ride home.

If your plans include traveling this New Year's Eve, then make plans that only allow a totally sober driver to be behind the wheel. It's a good idea to check with your local media outlets to see if any organizations will be providing ride home programs. For those who think that it will never happen to them, the Department of Public Safety, along with other local law enforcement agencies, will have stepped up patrols and DWI enforcement over the New Year's Eve holiday.

Major Cawthon went on to say that one of the best defenses against a drunk driver is to fasten your safety belt, but it's only effective if the driver and all occupants take time to do so.

Let's all work toward making this the safest New Year's Holiday ever.

LET'S NOT FORGET THIS...

"And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus: for he shall save his people from their sins." Matthew 1:21.

For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

"For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through him might be saved." John 3:16, 17.

We invite you to celebrate the birth of our Saviour by attending church this week, and by spreading good will everywhere you go.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Heavy Rains Cause Problems For Farmers

When Texas farmers look back on 1991, many will recall it as a year in which the rain was too abundant.

Statistics from the National Weather Service's Southwest Agricultural Weather Service indicate that much of Texas will finish 1991 with 25 percent to 64 percent more rain in a normal year. While that benefitted some crops in some areas, the rain brought problems to producers of rice, wheat and cotton, three of Texas' five major crops, according to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the weather service.

"The rice growers were really late in planting because of large amounts of rain, which led to problems with diseases," said Richard Wynne, a weather service meteorologist.

State rice yields totaled 18.8 million hundredweight in 1991, compared to 21.2 million hundredweight in 1990, said Mark Waller, an economist with the Extension Service.

Cotton was affected in the Panhandle area, where crops were planted late and then harmed by early freezes. That resulted in losses of 25 percent or more of the area's yield, originally estimated at 3 million bales.

Earlier predictions for a state-record yield of 6.1 million bales were revised downward to 5.4 million bales following freezes and heavy rains. The rains harmed cotton yield and quality throughout much of the rest of the state during critical late-summer or early-fall growth and harvest periods.

Heavy spring rains delayed planting of wheat crops and cut yields in the Panhandle, the state's primary wheat region. Fall rains also delayed planting in scattered portions of the region, which could adversely affect the crop, Waller said.

The latest wheat-yield figures showed a drop from 130 million bushels harvested in 1990 to 84 million in 1991, he said.

Not all crops fared poorly. Because rain varies widely in quantity and timing from region to region, some did well.

"In South Central Texas they had a real good corn crop this year simply because they got the rain at the right time," Wynne said. "It was so wet early that there was just enough moisture to carry it through, so they had a pretty good year."

Waller said Texas corn yields for 1991 are estimated at 179.2 million bushels, up from 130.5 million in 1990. The state's grain sorghum production should total 99.1 million hundredweight, up from 75.7 million hundredweight in 1990, he said.

Meteorologist George Bomar of the Texas Water Commission, who tracks historical trends in Texas weather, has estimated that 1991 will finish as one of the five wettest since 1951.

Of the 31 Texas stations comprising the weather service's weekly precipitation report, 23 have received 120 percent or more of their normal rainfall through Dec. 11, led by the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport at 46.7 inches, or 164 percent.

Beaumont had reported the greatest total rainfall--72.42 inches (145 percent of normal).

Only three of the 31 stations have reported amounts below normal for the year. Zapata, in Zapata County in far Southwest Texas, had received 10.72 inches, or 53 percent of normal. Uvalde had received 15.04 inches, or 64 percent of normal.

"For the most part, there are only a few areas along the southwest border behind by any significant amount," Wynne said.

Amarillo, at 13.68 inches, was the only other station reporting below-normal rainfall (73 percent). However, other Panhandle and High Plains weather stations have reported much larger amounts. Dalhart had received 22.76 inches (140 percent of normal and Childress had 29.29 inches (151 percent),
