Hunt On For Robber Linked In Numerous Store Raids, Car Thefts In This Area Part Of Loot Taken Here Recovered

Liquor Store Added To Growing List Of Theft Victims

Officers threw a dragnet over the South Plains area Saturday night in an effort to trap a bandit who continued his depredations over a wide territory, specializing in drug store burglaries and car thefts.

Chased Here
Burton S. Burks, district attorney at Lubbock, believed the man was one he had convicted at Crosbyton on a burglary charge. Burks made his identification of the suspect from pictures found in an abandoned car at Lamesa.

On Friday night hijacked a Colorado drug store of $200 and narcotics, the suspect was chased by City Policeman Alford Moody here Friday night in a thrilling run 10 miles north of here. The police car was finally outdistanced and Moody returned here to broadcast a warning over the short wave police radio transmitter.

Sheriff Jess Slaughter connected the suspect with the burglary of the Rex Liquor store here Friday night. Slaughter recovered 47 of 172 pints of liquor stolen from the store here, together with about $50 of merchandise taken from the Collins Bros. Drug store here Tuesday night. The goods, along with items taken from several drug stores and filling stations in the South Plains area, were found in the car abandoned by the burglar in favor of another machine. The Lamesa car was later abandoned for another at O'Donnell, 10 miles north.

Women With Him
The man sought by officers was believed to be traveling with two women who, reports said, were with him at Colorado. Lamesa Sheriff O'Donnell. He was arrested while hijacking a Colorado store Friday evening, but made good his escape. Officers watched her until early morning before Moody jumped the suspect car.

Sheriff Slaughter and Moody went to Lamesa Saturday to recover the loot. Entrance into the Rex Liquor store was gained by prying open a back door. A suit of clothes belonging to Harry Nell and taken from the store was recovered as were fountain pens and other articles missed in the $500 burglary of Collins Bros. Drug store here earlier in the week.

At Lubbock an airplane joined in the search for the fugitive Saturday evening. Local officers were maintaining a sharp watch for the bandit trio.

REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK

BY JOE PICKLE

The local school problem reared its head again during the past few days to become, once more, the foremost issue of the week. The same basic elements were involved in the revival of discussions—pressing housing needs and finances. However, there are two new conditions to be weighed by the people in deciding on the course for the Big Spring school system, conditions of a PWA grant (gift) and of time. These were not injected into the previous attempt to hike taxes and vote school bonds.

Those who have followed the situation know that it can be summed up thusly: PWA will grant funds in the amount of $5 per cent of construction and equipment cost of two new school buildings contingent upon demolishing the top two stories of the now condemned high school auditorium and gymnasium. The school district must post the remaining 55 per cent, plus funds for the work of demolishing part of the gymnasium, and money for placing additional footings on the east wing of the high school building. PWA will credit the school with materials from the razed structure as a part of its 55 per cent. The time element simply is this: whatever is done, must be started within 41 weeks.

There would be two new buildings raised—one a gymnasium, the other a ward school for southwestern Big Spring. Additional classroom space would be provided in

SLEEPING SICKNESS AMONG HORSES STILL SPREADING

Cool weather of the past week failed to check the spread of sleeping sickness among horses, Dr. Otto Wolfe, Big Spring veterinary surgeon, said here Saturday night.

In the past 10 days the number of cases reported to him has increased from 47 to 70 through Saturday. There were two new cases Friday and an additional five Saturday.

Limitation of serum is hampering the fight, but Dr. Wolfe believed that it would take a freeze to successfully check the scourge. This county is limited to 100 doses of serum a day.

The disease, which is confused sometime with the blind staggers, had spread to Sterling county during the week and reports of several cases in that area were heard.

Italy Makes Gesture On Recalling Troops

France, Britain Skeptical Of Duce's Offer

LONDON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Italy today offered to make a conditional "token" withdrawal of part of the Italian volunteers fighting with the Spanish insurgent armies, but delegates of other powers hear the offer with skepticism.

Count Dino Grandi, Italy's spokesman, made the gesture at the session of the subcommittee of the 27-nations nonintervention committee, summoned to seek means of preventing the Spanish war from becoming a European conflagration.

But he insisted withdrawals be in "equal numbers" from both sides, which competent diplomatic quarters declared would mean a withdrawal of only a small proportion of the black shirts now in Spain even if all foreign volunteers were taken from the Spanish government's ranks.

Russia vs. Italy
Ivan Ruzsky, Soviet Russian spokesman in the nine-nation subcommittee, made a slashing attack on the role Italy has played in the Spanish war.

The only hopeful sign after today's brief, bitter meeting, informed sources said, was the willingness of all delegates to ask quick instructions from home capitals on the Anglo-French "last effort" to end foreign intervention through committee action.

The subcommittee agreed to reconvene Tuesday.

Informed quarters declared the Italian offer would be "entirely unsatisfactory" to Great Britain, France and Russia since withdrawal of equal numbers from each side would harm the Spanish government much more than it would harm the insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

Diplomatic sources said 100,000 blackshirt warriors are now fighting for the insurgents while government foreign troops total only 15,000 of mixed nationality.

Cotton Again On The Move

Cloudy, damp weather holding over this section for the past week lifted long enough Saturday to save the county from complete inactivity in the cotton fields.

Saturday the parade of cotton to gins had resumed on a very meagre scale and the estimated total for the season reached 10,900 bales. For the week five Big Spring gins reported only a total of 180 bales processed. To date they have handled 5,146 bales.

Ginners warned Saturday evening that much of the cotton brought in during the day was being picked too soon following cessation of rains. It was, they said, trashy, damp and stained in some instances. They strongly advised farmers to wait until the sun has a chance to dry out and bleach cotton before resuming picking.

Top price of the week, thanks to the announcement of a special session of congress to consider crop control, brought 87.80 for 15-16 strict middling.

Encouraging, too, was a one dollar rise in seed price, boosting the per ton figure to $18. Cotton prices compared with a top of 10.40 a year ago and seed prices with $29 per ton at the same time last year. The total of Big Spring gins at the same date in 1936 was 4,652.

SUPPOSED CLUE IN ROSS KIDNAPING PROVES A DUD

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (AP)—The search for kidnaped Charles S. Ross—dead or alive—led to a deep water hole in suburban Schiller park today but failed to yield a trace of the wealthy victim.

Officers sped to a water-filled clay pit in the Bohnsack brick yard after obtaining information the body of Ross might have been submerged there.

The informant was John Hoffman, a watchman at the yard. He reported on the night of Sept. 30—five days after the retired manufacturer was abducted—three men had driven a car about the property.

But Captain Daniel Gilbert of the prosecutor's staff said a check on the license number furnished by the watchman showed it was issued to a real estate salesman who had visited the yard on the night of Sept. 30 with two clients interested in buying the property.

Judges Advocate Sterilization Of Criminally Insane Persons

AMARILLO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Texas county judges and commissioners want a law requiring sterilization of criminally insane persons.

The county officials voted at the close of their annual convention here today to urge the legislature to pass such a law with the view of curbing crime and preventing a high of potential criminally insane persons.

Although the action was the first on that particular matter ever taken by the judges and commissioners association, the resolution drew very little comment from the

Delegation To Conference Selected

Davis Expected To Press For Agreement On Mediation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The United States moved swiftly today to insure its cooperation with other nine-power treaty signatories in a conference designed to halt the undeclared Sino-Japanese war.

Speedy Action
Five minutes after the Belgian government's formal invitation to the parity at Brussels October 30 had been received, Secretary Hull announced this government's acceptance and named a delegation of five to represent it.

Norman H. Davis, of New York, President Roosevelt's "ambassador-at-large," was designated America's chief spokesman.

Secretary Hull wrote Senator Walsh (D-Mass.) he did not think "this government need or should show tolerance towards actions inconsistent with treaties to which this country is a party."

Davis is expected to press for an agreement to mediate the Sino-Japanese conflict in accordance with a policy already outlined by the president.

With Davis will go the state department's top-ranking expert on Far Eastern and European problems—Dr. Stanley K. Hornbeck, special political advisor to Secretary Hull on Far Eastern affairs, and Jay Pierrepont Moffat, chief of the department's European division.

To Sail Wednesday
The delegation also will include Robert T. Pell, an attaché of the European division, who will act as press officer, and Charles E. Bohlen, secretary.

Secretary Hull announced the delegation would sail Wednesday.

The United States government, in common with the seven other signatories of the nine-power pact guaranteeing China's territorial and administrative sovereignty was invited to the conference by Belgium to "examine the situation in the Far East and to study peaceful means of hastening the end of the regrettable conflict" there.

CITY NAMED IN PATENT SUIT IN US COURT

ALBANY, Oct. 16 (AP)—Charges of patent infringement were faced Saturday by the city of Big Spring in an equity case filed here in federal district court by the National Electric Signal company.

It was alleged by the plaintiff that "the city of Big Spring, without right or license, unlawfully and in infringement" of a patent held by the signal company "did manufacture and cause to be manufactured and used x x x such traffic signals, systems, structures, devices and appliances."

A further claim was that the defendant had been given notice of the asserted violation. A preliminary injunction was sought, and the plaintiff asked that "the defendant be decreed to account to the plaintiff for all gains, profits and advantages realized by the defendant, and that the amount of damages be increased to a sum not exceeding three times that amount."

Both City Manager E. V. Spence and City Engineer B. J. McDaniel were out of the city Saturday night, and no authoritative comment was available concerning the patent suit filed Saturday in federal court in Albany.

It was understood the allegation was based on a certain system of switches used in flashing the amber lights on the city's traffic signals, the National Electric Signal firm complaining that the method in use here is an infringement of patent rights.

China Accepts; Japs Continue Air Raids

SHANGHAI, Oct. 17 (Sunday) (AP)—The Chinese government at Nanking announced today receipt of an invitation to attend a meeting of the nine-power treaty signatories at Brussels Oct. 30 and an official spokesman said China would accept.

Belgium has asked the nations adhering to the pact, guaranteeing the territorial integrity of China, to meet to consider the Chinese-Japanese conflict.

The Japanese North China command at Peiping reported the capture of Shuntshui, walled Hopeh province city 55 miles north of the Honan provincial border.

This victory gave the Japanese

Narcotics Hearing In A Deadlock

GALVESTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Hearing on 15 Galveston and Houston narcotic case defendants, indicted recently in New York, before U. S. Commissioner George W. Coltzter, reached a deadlock today when defense attorneys tried to force the government's hand and were adjourned until Monday pending a ruling from Judge T. M. Kennerly of Houston.

Statement of Emory W. Clapper, federal narcotic agent and first government witness, that he had seen one of the defendants in front of a Houston hotel "with a dope peddler from St. Louis," was his chief development.

His refusal to tell the court what the defendant and the dope peddler did during the two hours in which he claims to have had them under observation, on the grounds that he was under oath not to reveal testimony before the federal grand jury in New York, brought on the deadlock.

Allred Renews Appeal For More Revenue; Taxes, Economy Measures Are Pending

Declares Age Pension Payments Will Be Suspended Unless Money Provided

AUSTIN, Oct. 16 (AP)—Governor James V. Allred, warned tonight that unless the legislature quickly provided additional revenue, age assistance payments would be suspended for two or three months after Nov. 1.

The warning was in an address prepared for delivery over the radio, a means by which he took his often-urged case for more money to finance Texas' social security program and retire a treasury deficit directly to the people.

Even after the payments were suspended for several months, he said, the amount of each check would have to be reduced unless the legislature, called in special session three weeks ago, made new revenue available.

He stated the people had ordered the social security program, denied he wanted to tax the masses but said he favored taxing those able to pay, specifically, natural resources and oil pipelines; declared he had repeatedly recommended economies in government had seen those recommendations ignored and was opposed to the "wrecking type" of economy.

The "hullabaloo" against the suspension and provision of additional revenue, he charged, had been raised by "selfish interests."

At the outset, the governor said the "strife and tumult of angry contention" doubtless had confused the people, and appealed for "cool, temperate and measured appraisal."

First Fund-Raising Measure Passed By House Up For Hearing On Monday

AUSTIN, Oct. 16 (AP)—More important scenes will be played by the legislature next week in the special session-drama of revenue-raising and governmental economizing.

A committee of the senate was working on a general tax bill, passed by the house of representatives and estimated to raise approximately $5,000,000, preparatory to a public hearing on it Monday afternoon.

The senate finance committee had arranged a public hearing for Monday night on a bill originating in the upper house and calling for reductions in the educational appropriations for the current biennium.

Another bill favored by the "economy" bloc in the senate and proposing to turn to the general revenue fund parts of certain occupational tax proceeds now going to the available school fund faced consideration on the senate floor, having been reported favorably by committee.

On the house side of the capitol, the appropriations committee set a hearing for Monday night on a bill passed by the senate and slashing department appropriations $5,000,000.

There was a possibility bills levying additional taxes on corporation franchises and oil pipelines would come up soon on the house floor.

A bill to legalize and tax liquor sales by the drink, passed by the house, will be referred to a committee of the senate for hearing and recommendations.

Testing 'Lucky Bathtub'

Miss Mary Snyder, a visitor to the former home of the Duchess of Windsor at Baltimore, tries out the superstition that sitting in the bathtub brings good luck. Mrs. W. W. Matthews, "hostess" at the house which was turned into a museum, said an Englishwoman started the "good luck" story soon after the house was opened.

UNDERGROUND BLAST KILLS 33 MINERS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 16 (AP)—Thirty-three coal miners perished today in a terrific explosion four miles underground.

Crushed, burned and suffocated, the victims were moved from the blasted shaft at Mulga, Ala., to a morgue in nearby Bessemer.

Ignition of coal-gas was blamed by Fire Marshall Sam Williams.

Governor Bibb Graves ordered State Mine Inspector W. B. Billhouse to "spare no expense" in "getting all the facts."

To Report On Cotton Breed CIO Calls For Peace Parley

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 16 (AP)—The C.I.O., acting on a request from the A.F. of L., took the initiative today in calling a conference at Washington October 25, to discuss the possibilities of a reconciliation and a united labor movement.

Answering a telegram from the American Federation of Labor saying "please advise when you are ready to meet," John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization, and his leaders again proposed a meeting in the capital "if you decide to cease quibbling."

This telegram went from C.I.O. leaders to Frank Morrison, secretary-treasurer of the federation in Denver, which, like the C.I.O., ended a war council yesterday.

"Our committee will meet your committee Willard (hotel) Washington Oct. 25 with or without commitments as you prefer. If you decide to cease quibbling and attend conference advise me Pittsburgh."

There was every indication, however, the C.I.O. would not compromise its stand that industrial unionism must continue to be the backbone of labor progress.

Youth Admits Slaying Pair

NORTH ARLINGTON, N. J., Oct. 16 (AP)—A sleepy-eyed youth of 18 faced quick removal to Maine tonight after Prosecutor John J. Breslin announced he confessed killing an elderly physician and his wife, stuffing their bodies in a car and driving his gruesome cargo through six northeastern states.

The youth, Paul Dwyer, South Paris, Me., high school junior and son of a widowed nurse, was arrested shortly after 4 a. m. by two patrolmen, who saw his shoes sticking out of the window of a parked automobile where he slept—so tired he did during the two hours in which he claims to have had them under observation, on the grounds that he was under oath not to reveal testimony before the federal grand jury in New York, brought on the deadlock.

WESTEX TEACHERS ASSN. TO MEET HERE MARCH 4-5

George Gentry, high school principal, returned from a meeting of the executive committee of the West Texas Teachers association Saturday in Lubbock and announced that the annual meeting of that body would be held here March 4-5.

An attempt will be made by local schoolmen to have the largest attendance on record for the association. Last year Lubbock had well over 2,000. W. C. Blankenship, city superintendent, said he would ask all schools in the area, contiguous with the 30th senatorial district, to dismiss on Friday, the first day of the meeting. It would be planned to keep Big Spring schools open for inspection by the teachers in this territory.

GIFT AWARDS ADD INTEREST IN FREE COOKING SCHOOL

Interest in The Herald's free cooking school slated next week is taking a two-way turn. Housewives of Big Spring and surrounding area not only are looking forward to helpful instruction from Miss Jessie Hogue, famed kitchen economist who will conduct the school, but are attentive to announcements of gift awards which will be made during the three day session.

The cooking school will be held at the municipal auditorium next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 25, 26 and 27, with sessions starting at 2 p. m. daily. Doors will open at 1 o'clock, to provide ample time for registration of guests.

At the conclusion of the lectures, which Miss Hogue will illustrate with actual cooking demonstrations, awards will be made each day. In addition to daily prizes, there will be grand awards, topped by a $17.50 Magic Chef gas range, from the Empire Southern Service Gas company.

All women in this area are invited to attend the lectures. The entire program is free.

BANKER CHIEF

Orval W. Adams, newly-elected president of the American Bankers Association, in a convention address demanded a balanced federal budget and called upon bankers to make "all of people difficult conscious."

2 COMPLETIONS IN S' EASTERN HOWARD FIELD

Humble-Douthit, Magnolia-O'Daniel Are Finished For Good Yields

Two completions in new pools of southeastern Howard county featured oil developments for this area during the past week. Humble finished its No. 1 Douthit in the Chalk extension area far twice the yield of its north offset, the discovery Noble No. 1 Chalk, and Magnolia No. 1 O'Daniel, easternmost well of the new Snyder pool, equalled pool yields on a 24 hour flowing test.

Treated with 1,000 gallons of acid, Humble No. 1 Douthit, 390 feet out of the northwest corner of section 115-29, W&NW, rated a daily potential of 1,182 barrels. This was more than twice the 545 barrels for the discovery Noble No. 1 Chalk, one location north of the southwest corner of section 94-29, W&NW, and added impetus to operations in the Chalk extension. Four other tests are drilling in that area.

Gauges 618 Barrels
Magnolia No. 1 M. H. O'Daniel, 330 feet out of the northwest corner of section 34-30-1s, T&P, tested 618 barrels flowing in 24 hours for the most important development in the Snyder pool. It filled available storage and the well was shut in for a connection with the Shell pipeline. Bottom is 2900 feet in lime.

The company's No. 2 O'Daniel, south offset to the No. 1 well, had a show of oil at 2610-15 feet in lime and drilled ahead to 2635 feet.

Coden was digging pits for two outpost tests in the area. One was to be its No. 1 O'Daniel, 1,630 feet from the north and 2310 feet from the east lines of section 34-30-1s, T&P, about a half mile east and slightly south of the Magnolia No. 1 O'Daniel. It is on a 20 acre tract. The other test is to be Coden No. 1 TXL, on a 20 acre lease, the west half of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 33-30-1s, T&P. It is about a half mile south of the Moore Bros. No. 2 TXL, second well in the pool.

Snyder Pool Location
Another location for the Snyder pool was Sun No. 1 Snyder, 330 feet from the east and 1650 feet from the south lines of section 28-30-1s, T&P, a north offset for Iron Mountain's 80 acres in the southeast quarter of the section.

Ajax No. 1 Snyder, 330 feet from the northeast corner of section 28-30-1s, T&P, northern outpost to the pool, was under reaming at 750 feet and will set the 10 inch string at 758 feet. Iron Mountain No. 5 Snyder, 2310 feet from the east and 990 feet from the south line of section 28-30-1s, T&P, was drilling at 1805 feet in lime.

In the Harding pool, southwest of Big Spring, the W. & E. No. 2 Wilcox estate, 960 feet from the east and 640 feet from the south lines of section 20-33-1s, T&P, was drilling below 2,500 feet. Test figures on the company's No. 1 Willcox estate, half a mile east and slightly north, have not been disclosed.

Drills To 3,765
Ray Albaugh, et al No. 1 Dewey Hogg, southeastern Dawson county wildcat, located near Sparenburg, 1,122 barrels daily.

Price Outlook On Wool Uncertain

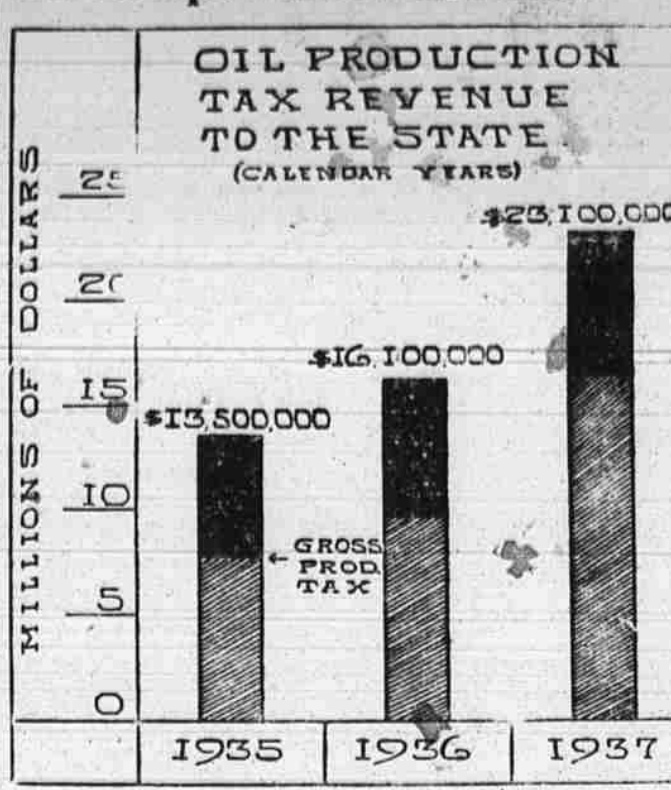

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The bureau of agricultural economics said today the domestic wool price outlook for the next few months is somewhat uncertain because of the unsettled condition in foreign markets.

Domestic stocks of raw wool are below average, the bureau added, but mill demand for wool in this country is somewhat weaker than a year earlier. Prices in 1938 are expected to be lower than the relatively high prices this year.

Prices declined in the domestic market in September, according to the bureau's report, but quotations were largely nominal in view of the tight trading.

Summarizing the wool situation, the report said total supply of apparel wool in the United States on September 1 plus the part of the domestic production which will become available in the next few months was about 15 per cent larger than a year earlier, but smaller than the average for September 1 in other recent years.

State Taxation Revenue From Oil Will Be Up 7 Million This Year

Seminole Pool Is Extended 1-4 Mile

Pipeline Connection To Wasson Pool To Be Completed Soon

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 16—A quarter mile west extension of the Seminole pool in Gaines county by Ohio No. 1 Averitt, after it had appeared a failure, and the scheduled running of the first oil late in the week through Humble's 6-inch, 2 1/2 mile pipe line from the Wasson pool to the northwestern Gaines in Humble's station at Hobbs, N. M., were among this week's principal West Texas oil developments.

Loffland Bros. No. 3 Tub in the Sand Hills district in western Crane county attracted the attention of geologists by striking granite from 7,115-18 feet. As the result it was abandoned at 7,135. Sulphur water was encountered in the Ellenburger lower Ordovician, which was topped high at 5,802 feet, 3-262 feet below sea level, after only a 12-foot Simpson section was logged. Location is in the northwest corner of section 9-B27-pal, 1 1/2 miles southeast of Gulf No. 5 Waddell, the larger of Gulf's two major Ordovician producers in the area.

Eight Barrels Hourly
Ohio No. 1 Averitt, quarter mile west of the Seminole discovery and 660 from the north, 1,980 feet from the east line of section 223-G-WTRR, flowed into the pits an estimated eight barrels of fluid hourly, 4 per cent basic sediment and two-tenths of one per cent water, the remainder oil, with an estimated four million cubic feet of gas daily. Testing at 5,073 feet followed treatment with 10,000 gallons of acid in two stages. Amerada staked a location for No. 1 Averitt, 1,530 from the north, 660 feet from the east line of section 223, a south offset to Walsh & Adams (formerly Amerada's) No. 1-A Averitt, Seminole's first oil producer.

Producer Added
The Wasson field added a producer in Carter and Phillips No. 1, B Wasson, which flowed 107 barrels of oil the first hour and 90 barrels the second hour after treatment with 3,000 gallons of acid, bottomed at 4,990 feet. Re-treatment with 5,000 gallons of acid followed. The well is in the southwest corner of section 417-G-CCSD & RGNG.

Standard of Texas No. 1 Sawyer one-half mile northwest of Bohago and Bond No. 1 J. L. West, six miles southwest of Plains and most northerly of southwestern Yoakum county's three discoveries, had a possible increase in oil in deepening from 5,265 to 5,295 feet and was making a swabbing test. It is in the southwest quarter of section 567-D-John H. Gibson.

Skelly and Sun No. 1 Kiser topped the Yates sand at 2,980 feet, 677 feet above sea level and 58 feet higher than the Bohago and Bond well, one mile to the northeast. James L. Greene's No. 1 E. D. Newsel, in the southeast quarter of section 709, topped the anhydrite at 2,177 feet, 1,518 feet above sea level, and topped the Yates at 3,120. It is 108 feet higher on the anhydrite but flat on the Yates with Moore Bros. No. 1 Cleveland, a failure three miles to the east and one-half mile to the north, and 24 feet lower on the anhydrite and 61 to 91 feet lower on the Yates than The Texas Co. No. 1 Walker, four miles to the southeast.

Area Blocked For Tests In Fisher Co.

Verdict Is Near For Outpost To The Roman Field

ABILENE, Oct. 16—Announcement of completed lease blockings involving the drilling of several wildcat tests in Fisher county and location of projected Ordovician wildcats in Callahan and Shackelford counties gave oil activity in this area a new impetus this week.

Focus point of interest during the week was drilling of plugs on the British American No. 1 White, Roman field outpost in Fisher county, three times delayed in completion.

Contract was let to Robinson Bros. of Miami, Okla., for drilling of a 3,600-foot southeastern Fisher county wildcat in the center of a 5,300-acre block surrounding the town of Longworth into which Magnolia Petroleum company purchased 1,500 acres as protection. The block was assembled by Nat and R. O. Anderson and C. W. Harkrider of Abilene for the Inland Oil & Gas company.

John B. Strubling, Fisher county ranchman sold 640 acres to Magnolia at $12.50 per front a 4,500 acre block on which he proposes to drill a 4,500-foot wildcat. Tentative location for the Strubling No. 1 fee is in the southeast corner of section 110-3-H&TC survey, western Fisher county.

Magnolia took over 4,800 acres in commercial leases from W. T. Patterson of Abilene adjoining the Strubling block on the east and west of the town of Roby. Geology for both assemblies was done by E. H. McGuigan and Paul Kohn of Abilene.

Ben Rogers of Midland has taken another large block adjoining the Shell 12,000 acres in southern Fisher and Jim Turney of Midland is reported to have assembled a block on the Fisher-Nolan line.

Stanney, fell below estimates because of declining gas pressure, and the well pumped only 425 barrels. It had been treated with 8,000 gallons of acid at 1,580-87 feet.

Robert H. Isaacson No. 1 Colker, wildcat five miles west of the Sandy Ridge field in Jones, was shut down for orders in eight-inch hole at 2,865 with a hole full of water.

Derrick is being erected for a west offset to the Will McKemie No. 1 W. W. Toombs, Noodle Creek field northeast extension which pumped 362 barrels in 24 hours this week.

McKemie will use rotary in drilling his No. 1 Gerald Derrick, 330 feet from the north and east lines of the east half of the southeast quarter of section 51-18-T&P survey.

R. H. Roark of Waco has contracted to drill the north offset his No. 1 Toombs to be 350 feet out of the southwest corner of section 52-18-T&P survey.

Spudder has been moved on location of the southeastern Steneval Crude No. 1 Harrison estate. The test, a tight well, was reported to have cored above the Fisher county pay horizon in 13 1/2 inch hole, taken a Schlumberger, and run in cable tools for drilling through the expected first pay zone. Located a mile and a half north of the same company's No. 1 Bryan, abandoned, it is in D. Hardecrow survey adjoining a large block owned by Shell on the west.

The double hull type of submarine is sometimes called "submersible."

George Bond, Martin county agent, said here Saturday that compliance work in his county was all but completed. There are a few "stragglers" left to be cleared up, he said.

Meanwhile, work in Howard county was in full progress with only 50 transmittals dispatched to College Station. The county agent's office here, however, estimated that bulk of the work would be cleared by the end of the week.

A New Protection for First National Bank Depositors

MORE AND MORE, THESE DAYS, your cancelled check takes the place of receipted bill as evidence of payment. But sometimes a cancelled check is lost or mislaid just when you need it most to prove a disputed item.

In such cases the new "Recordak" Service of the First National Bank in Big Spring may save you considerable annoyance and perhaps an actual loss.

Each check passing through our hands for payment is now photographed on a moving picture film. These permanent picture-records of your checks are always available to you.

Should you wish to see any particular check, its photograph is thrown on a screen for your inspection, or if you desire a reproduction of the check to submit as evidence, this will be furnished at the cost of making the print.

The First National Bank in Big Spring is the first bank in the city to install this protection for depositors... photographic records... the most recent addition to our up-to-date service facilities.

PIGS TO PICTURES

From pigs to pictures is the route fourth and fifth grade students of Garner school are traveling in an effort to decorate their rooms.

Selling ice cream at the school cafeteria, they obtained enough money to buy a pig for each class. Now they are feeding the pig with scraps from the cafeteria and with feed donated by class members. When the pigs have become hogs, they plan to market them, using proceeds to buy pictures and other equipment for their rooms.

THEY HAVE THE LAW IN THEIR HANDS

Legal forces of Howard county wore broad smiles Saturday. Reason: The commissioners court had provided a much needed set of annotated statutes. Legal minds predicted Saturday that they would answer the many inquiries promptly with: "The law reads—"

Amnesia Case Is Studied

Seek To Establish Victim As Roswell Youth

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Hospital authorities and a physician reported no progress today in their efforts to establish the identity of a 20-year-old amnesia victim as Clyde Butler of Roswell, N. M.

The youth showed "no more signs of remembering who he is and where he is from than he did last Tuesday when he walked into the office of Dr. J. A. Cousins and told the physician he didn't know his name.

Dr. Cousins said his investigation in several quarters thus far had led to dead ends. The name

Clyde Butler, was found among the youth's personal effects and on his linen and persons who struck up acquaintances with the youth last week said he was known to them as Clyde Butler of Roswell, N. M.

From Roswell, the doctor said he learned a Clyde Butler was graduated with honors from the high school there in 1936. Dr. Cousins said the youth wore a ring inscribed "R. H. S. '36," indicating it might have been his class ring.

In a book the youth had with him when he registered at a hotel here last week under the name "Oppenheim," Dr. Cousins said he found the name and address, L. H. Weller, 801 N. Washington street, Roswell. He sent a collect telegram to that party, the doctor said, but it was not accepted.

Dr. Cousins said he learned the youth had been employed in a Kansas City department store and that he boarded a bus to Chicago at Kansas City. The doctor said he would communicate with the store and with two other Roswell resi-

Plenty Grief Ahead For Congress

Many Issues Due To Create Storms Of Controversy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Troubles galore were predicted for the new and special session of congress today—not all of them originating in the program requested by President Roosevelt.

The items for which he asked—crop control, more natural resource planning regions, wage and hour legislation, government reorganization and an anti-trust bill—are all loaded with controversy, it is true. But there are other disputes lurking nearby.

The first of these is the continuing row over the appointment of Hugo L. Black of the supreme court, a dispute involving both his admitted former membership in the Ku Klux Klan and the question of his technical eligibility.

President Roosevelt apparently has determined to say nothing more about the case. But that does not go for some members of congress. An impeachment effort before the session is a few days old would not surprise many.

Row number two is a congressional perennial—the question of enacting anti-lynching legislation. Before congress adjourned in August, an agreement was reached making an anti-lynching bill, the senate's second order of business, after the current recess.

Gauging the prospects for controversy, Washington was prone to add to these the disturbance with-

Only Three Foreclosures In 20 Years; That's Record Of Farm Loan Assn., Ending Two Decades Of Service

Big Spring National Farm Loan Association will observe its twentieth anniversary, here Monday, looking back on two decades of loaning which necessitated only three foreclosures.

Because most of its constituents, the farmers, will be busy in their fields after a week's enforced idleness due to bad weather, no formal celebration will be attempted at this time, Ira Driver, secretary-treasurer, said Saturday.

In the 20 years it has been serving the agriculturists of Howard and surrounding counties, the association has handled Federal Land bank and Federal Land Bank Commission loans for more than 600 individual borrowers.

Today it has $1,839,005 of loans in force, more than the combined total of $1,599,550 for both local banks on the last call as of June 30. In effect are 532 Federal bank loans amounting to $1,488,505 and 237 commission loans totaling $350,500.

Organized In 1917

When the local association was organized on Oct. 18, 1917, R. V. Guthrie was president and Clyde E. Thomas the secretary-treasurer. J. M. Coleman became the first borrower, negotiating a loan at five per cent interest.

Since that time the interest rate has varied to five and a half to six per cent until now when the rate has been reduced to three and a half per cent per annum.

In depression years the practice was adopted of not requiring principal payments on loans backed by places which are otherwise clear. Driver believed that this practice, together with the interest rate, "enabled many to carry on where they could not have done so had they had to pay principal installments and higher rates of interest."

The loans are made for five principal purposes, he said, including purchase of land for agricultural use; purchase of equipment, fertilizer and livestock; refinancing; buildings and improvements and funds for general agricultural uses. The borrower takes out stock in the association at the rate of $1 per $100 borrowed and may pay for it at the time of the loan or add it to the face of the note. On repayment of the loan, the stock is surrendered for its face value.

Arthur Woodall is president of the association now and E. B. Fox, Walter Robinson, L. H. Thomas and C. E. Anderson are directors. Driver has been secretary-treasurer for the past two years, succeeding Grover Cunningham.

"It is planned to celebrate the occasion of our twentieth anniversary when the rush of this harvest season is over," Driver stated "and we are hoping that our stockholders will make their plans to attend."

Arab Agitators In Holy Land Are Arrested

JERUSALEM, Oct. 16 (AP)—British officials tonight moved English women and children from Herod's a Holy Land trouble spot, and arrested 150 Arab agitators in the campaign to stamp out violence in Palestine.

All train services were cancelled to avoid further attacks against railroads. Telephone lines from Jerusalem to Haifa were cut by rioters and a road bridge between Jerusalem and Ramle was mined.

British seized control of Moslem charitable and religious funds after Haj Amin Affendi Al Huseini, grand mufti of Jerusalem, fled to Syria. The grand mufti was the only member of the Arab high committee not deported since it started violent reaction to the British plan to divide Palestine into Jewish, Arab and British-mandated areas.

The mufti's arrival at Damascus where other Arab leaders had taken refuge, led police to believe Damascus might be the center of further Arab intrigues.

Hollywood

Sights and Sounds By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—The son of the Duce went to the movie capital, painted studio in town, when he came to the movie colony with Hal Roach, who is showing his around.

But the brightness and freshness weren't necessarily in honor of Vittorio Mussolini (of Rome, Italy), who's in Hollywood—strictly speaking in Culver City.

MUSSOLINI to learn about American movies so he can go back to papa and tell.

Those gallons of paint weren't in honor of Hal Roach, either. Roach didn't know about it until he got back from his Roman expedition. If then, almost anything passing the lot can tell things have happened, but Roach never was around as he drives through the studio gate. So maybe it won't be until after Christmas that he knows he has what looks like a new movie factory on his hands.

The old homestead of "Our Gang" has been done over in New Orleans Colonial. The Roach garb points that out when it is intimate for Vittorio. "For him—Italy, Renaissance," they insist. Why, is this work started before we've heard the Duce's boy was coming.

What does it mean, then? "Topper," of course.

Three years ago you saw the same thing happen to Columbia, once the queen of Poverty Row. From a drab, scaly brown eyes, the place was transformed into a shining stucco monument to "Happened One Night," and "One Night of Love."

The Roach studio was not poverty-stricken. It was just plain along, rather loudly, turning on two reels for laughs. It wasn't a eyesore. It was just plain, old-fashioned and comfortable-looking. Big stars didn't work there—just comedians. The atmosphere was somewhat goopy with custard.

So one day Roach started hurrying pies out the window instead of at the faces of Laurel and Hardy. He got "big ideas." Progress changing times, and forward march! Ah, feature pictures!

There've been several feature made there. Some hit and some missed. Until a year ago, the couldn't get a "name star" with a block of the place. About this time Roach signed on a 33-year-old executive named Milton Bren. And whether it's Bren, or Roach, or the combination, the studio has gone places.

A studio, to get names in the Hollywood slave market, needs names to exchange. They signed Roland Young and Alan Mowbray, both much in demand, on writing contracts. They started paying writers real money, and working on production values. They turned out "Topper." They hooked Car Grant, persuaded Connie Bennett that here was her opportunity, borrowed Billie Burke, and called Young and Mowbray. They got Norma McLeod to direct.

If "Topper" went over, Roach figured he'd be in the big feature class. "Topper" already has renovated the studio, figuratively and literally speaking, and you get the idea. This is just the beginning.

Around that lot now they're bandying "names" about as though they were as easy to buy as paint. They can't be exactly casual about taking on Ronald Colman (for "Fancy Free") but then Metro Paramount, and 20th Century don't nip-ups too when they get Colman. Could you expect the home of "Our Gang" to be calm about it?

Improvements In Engineering And Style Design Announced For New Buick, Now On Display

Four outstanding engineering developments, with major improvements both in style and mechanical design, feature the new Buick 1938 cars publicly announced in dealers' showrooms throughout the country Saturday. The new cars are being shown in Big Spring by the Keeling Motor company.

The new cars have one of the most important engine developments of the past 10 years by which power has been substantially increased and gasoline economy bettered without increasing the bore and stroke or otherwise changing the size of the engine.

At the same time, a startling new rear suspension, as revolutionary in its advantages as knee action and involving the use of coil springs on the rear wheels, has given new riding and steering qualities to the cars not heretofore achieved with former designs. Both the engine and rear coil spring features are exclusive to this make for 1938.

Body Mounting
A new method of body mounting, by which body bolts are located in quiet zones, or zones of least vibration on the frame, likewise contributes to the riding comfort and effectively dampens noise and vibration within the car bodies.

A fourth major improvement, which will be optional at extra cost on the Series 40 Buick cars, is the new self-shifting transmission which automatically shifts gears and provides a gear ratio effecting marked improvement in performance and economy.

The new Buick cars will be offered in four series for 1938—the Series 40 Special, in the lower medium price field, the Series 60 Century and the Series 80 Roadmaster in the medium price field and the Series 90 Limited, a deluxe car offered in limousine and touring sedan types, in the upper medium price class. They are being produced in a total of 21 body types.

Prices, according to the Buick management, are lower than originally anticipated, with increases over 1937 prices ranging from less than one per cent to a maximum of 4.1 per cent for all closed car types. In the popular Series 40 and Series 60 groups, the two lower priced lines, standard four-door trunk sedans are $26 and $31 higher than the corresponding 1937 models, representing an increase of 2.5 per cent and 2.4 per cent respectively. The Series 40 Buicks account for about 70 per cent of total production.

In styling, the new car hits a new high in the popular Buick streamline motif which has established a style precedent in the industry. New die-cast radiator grilles are in two sections with the color line of the hood carried down through the center, surmounted by the Buick crest. Long bullet-shaped headlamps are faired into the radiator shell, giving a compact, racy appearance. Similarly shaped fender lamps are mounted on the front fenders which have been redesigned to give a more streamline effect.

The rears of the new Buicks likewise are completely restyled, the gas tank filler cap this year having been placed under the left rear fender completely smoothing up the rear end. Access is through a small door in the fender. An unusual arrangement of tail lights, dense illumination and stop light is used on all sedans and convertible phaetons.

Buick bodies on all four lines are Fisher up-draft top and are equipped with Fisher no-draft ventilation, outstanding comfort and safety features.

New Buick Hood Symbolizes Power

MORE ATTRACTIVE than ever before, the new design of the 1938 Buick hood symbolizes power and performance as well as beauty. Radiator grille is die cast in two pieces and protected by heavy bumpers in front with large bumper guards. This distinctive front end identifies the car in any line of traffic.

Price List On New Dodges Announced

Added Qualities In 1938 Models, Officials Declare

DETROIT, Oct. 16—Following closely the release of information giving detailed descriptions of the new 1938 Dodge passenger-car models and an enumeration of the 47 progressive improvements and refinements which they incorporate, prices for the new Dodge line were announced today by A. vanDerZee, general sales manager of the Dodge division of Chrysler corporation.

These prices relate to vehicles which represent in every way increased values to our customers, said vanDerZee in making the price announcement. "These cars are equipped with larger and more costly hydraulic brakes, six-piece die-cast radiator grilles, more luxuriously appointed interiors, simplified driving control and many additional new or improved features which enhance their beauty of appearance and further increase their efficiency, comfort and economy of operation."

It will be noted that these prices in the $800 range place Dodge in the same relative position, price-wise, it has occupied with recent conspicuous success during these years—just above the cars of lowest price range, the price-leader in its own field, and fourth largest seller among all cars in the market.

The prices of these new models are "ready to run" delivered at Detroit, including federal excise taxes; safety glass, bumpers, spare tire and tube, and fenders, and sheet metal colors to match body color; any state or local taxes and dealer's transportation charges to be added. Four-door sedan $898; two-door sedan $858; coupe $808; rumble seat coupe $858; four-door touring sedan $910; two-door touring sedan $870. Prices on convertible models and seven-passenger sedans will be announced shortly.

Cries Of Grief Heard As Bodies Taken From Mine

MULGA, Ala., Oct. 16 (AP)—An occasional broken cry of grief pierced the chill morning air as the full meaning of tragedy reached some member of the group huddled about the tipple of Mulga's biggest-shattered mine.

Distraught natives, most of them womenfolk, feared to learn the fate of the approximately 400 men who went underground at the change of shifts near midnight.

They came over Mulga's rutted dirt roads, several with babies in their arms, after the explosion shook the countryside and took the lives of 33 men.

Spectators were not allowed to see the battered, smoke-grimed bodies, many of them mangled and burned, as they were brought two by two from the mine.

SCHOOL NETS $40 ON BOX SUPPER

Patrons of the Garner school reported a net profit of approximately $40 from a box supper held at the school building Friday evening. Proceeds from the supper, attended by a large crowd, will go to retiring indebtedness on the school's lighting system and other minor obligations.

A Halloween carnival is being planned for the school on the evening of Oct. 29.

Street Sweeping Aids Poet
BUDAPEST (UP)—Proof that the muse of poet does not confine herself to the loftier spheres is seen in the career of Josef Fodor, one of Hungary's most promising poets. Fodor, a streetsweeper, says that his better inspirations come to him while at work.

'38 Chevrolet Is Inspected By Dealers

Plans Launched At Dallas For Great Sales Program

Plans for introduction of the new 1938 Chevrolet cars, with the most extensive advertising program in the company's history, were revealed this past week at a special preview and business meeting attended by 1,075 Chevrolet dealers and their personnel, from all points in the Dallas zone.

The new product with which they will undertake to exceed the current year's high volume was received by the dealers with the liveliest enthusiasm, according to reports from Dallas.

A party of 11 Big Spring men attended the Dallas showing. From the Lone Star Chevrolet company, local dealer, went Cliff Wiley, Johnny Miller, Mack Stallings, W. Bennett, Buddy Davis, Fowler Paulson, Jay Stripling, Milton King, and Loy Porter. They were accompanied by R. T. Piner of the First National bank and M. K. House of The Herald.

The features of the new car were explained in detail at a morning session at the Pan-American Casino. The afternoon session was devoted to a presentation of the plans for the public announcement of the 1938 Chevrolet and a detailed explanation of Chevrolet's fall advertising campaign. A showing of the new models concluded the meeting.

"The reception accorded the new Chevrolet by our dealer organization points to the most successful new-model announcement we have ever had," R. W. Keizer, manager of the Dallas zone, declared. "That the advances made over previous models will meet with the immediate approval of the public is an assertion of which there can be no doubt."

COUNTY INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE UNIT ORGANIZED

Harshal Summerlin, principal of the Midway school, was named president of the Howard County interscholastic league at an organization meeting held here Saturday morning.

Organization of the Howard County Teachers association was deferred until a future date when teachers elected to devote the major portion of their attention to formation of the league.

W. C. Blankenship, Big Spring superintendent and member of the state teachers executive committee, explained the details of the teacher retirement plan which went into effect the first of the month.

About half of the teachers in the county chose to enter the plan when their initial pay checks were received.

Matter of seeking memberships in the state teachers unit was delegated to the individual schools. Encouraging reports on the membership drive were heard and several schools thought they might be 100 per cent.

F. L. Bass of Sonsh was named director of league activities in the rural school division. Teachers voted to sponsor rhythm band work, not as a part of the league set up, with Mrs. Albert Smith of Gay Hill as director.

Other officers in the county league for the year are: Ira L. Watkins, Forsan, extemporaneous speaking; Carl Blackwelder, Forsan, music memory; J. R. Hale, Elbow, spelling; Dan McRae, Elbow, arithmetic; Arsh Phillips, Moore, one act play; Floyd Burnett, Garner (Knott), athletics; Mrs. Noel Y. Burnett, Garner, choral club singing; Mrs. Porter Motley, Garner, picture memory; Mary Mathis, Garner, essay writing; Mrs. G. T. Guthrie, Coahoma, typing; Pearl Forrester, Coahoma, art; Edythe Wright, Coahoma, tiny tot story telling; Mrs. George Boswell, Coahoma, declamation; and Laverne Brown, Garner, debate.

The animals, ranging from 160 to 238 pounds when placed on feed in April, now vary from 610 to 790 pounds. They are being fed rations of corn, oats, barley, rye and other grains calculated to give good finish.

Former Angelo Boy Counts Touchdown For Norntornen

BY FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
FORT WORTH, Oct. 16 (AP)—Four minutes remained when Ken Mills sent a perfect pass swishing through the rain for a touchdown that gave Texas A. and M. a 7-7 draw with Texas Christian in a mad battle before 27,000 here today.

In trotted Watson Price, a low-headed steady stringer, for the try at the extra point. His kick was perfect.

Until that last four minutes, Texas Christian held a lead edge, principally due to eight Aggie fumbles, but Mills, until just weeks ago a third-stringer who could pass and kick, kicked that edge into nowhere with a cool passing attack that brought the Aggies 45 yards downfield in five plays to a touchdown.

Little Davey O'Brien threw all of his 150 pounds into a classical passing and running spree in the third period that gave the Christians their score. He started on the Aggie 42-yard stripe and contacted Durwood Hornet, Christian end, with a pass that carried to the cadet 15.

There he chose to shoot himself off the big Aggie tackles and it took him just three trips to score. He dropped back for the try for point, and, ironically enough, an Aggie was responsible for the point.

Turner Helps
His kick started low and Joe Turner, husky Aggie center, partially blocked it—but it hit his shoulder, shot crazily upward and skimmed over the bar.

The Christians, through slight superiority in kicking and untimely Aggie fumbles, kept the Aggies back in their territory until that last-minute surge.

Aggie fans had almost given up when Dick Todd, their great half-back, was taken from the soaked field with a leg injury in the last four minutes. He had been a constant threat all afternoon, once breaking away on a 45-yard broken field jaunt that almost produced a score.

But Mills started to work back on his 45. Twice he found Jo-Jo White, substitute end, for ten-yard aerial gains, then ducked over center on a pass fake for another five-yard gain. Then he dropped back, surveyed his eligible receivers and sent the slick ball straight into Herb Smith's arms just across the goal line.

Texas Mines Fights To Draw With N.M.U.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 16 (AP)—Evenly matched in power and trickery, the Texas Mines and the University of New Mexico Lobos battled to a 7-7 tie here today in a fumble-filled Border conference football game.

Both teams took to the air for touchdown passes in the first half. Kenneth Heineman, brilliant little Miner halfback, tossed a 23-yard pass to Boyd Arnold, end, to score late in the opening period, and the Lobos virtually duplicated the thrust on a heavy drive from Hassett to Murphy early in the second.

Both teams missed field goal tries in the final period.

RICE OWLS CONTINUE TO GO SCORELESS BUT TIE TULSA

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS

HOUSTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Fourteen thousand fans sat in the rain today to see the Tulsa University Hurricanes and the Rice Institute Owls battle to a scoreless tie.

Evenly matched in every department, the teams fought tooth and nail in the 20-yard stripes with Morris White, elusive Tulsa back, getting away on a couple of nice runs and one punt return.

Olle Cordill, Rice sophomore, was superior in punting, and Red Vestal, Rice back, piled up yardage for the Owls through a quick opening line play. Both teams blocked to perfection.

Rice made nine first downs to Tulsa's six and outgained the champions of the Missouri Valley conference 128 yards to 104.

Rice gained 37 yards and Tulsa 24 in aerials attempted.

The game saw Rice, at the first of the season potentially a strong team, go scoreless for its third consecutive weekend. Last Saturday Louisiana State university whipped them 13-0 and the Saturday before Oklahoma university downed them 6-0.

Chi Teams In OC Golf Lead

SMITH AND COOPER COP 4 BALL MATCHES FROM SOONERS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 16 (AP)—Two all-Chicago teams provided the big noise in Oklahoma City's $5,000 four-ball golf tournament today, but when the pros came in at the end of the fifth round, Horton Smith and Harry Cooper were back in the lead they relinquished temporarily to Ky Laffoon and Dick Metz.

With only two 18-hole rounds left to play, officials tonight extended the tournament an extra day because of the weather. Under the revised schedule, 18 holes will be played tomorrow afternoon with the final 18 holes Monday afternoon.

Smith and Cooper put together a pair of lowball 63's, eight under par, to take the lead in the 18-hole combination score of the tournament, and forged back into the lead with 11 points on the plus side of the score board.

They picked up five points on the fifth round when they defeated Oklahoma City's team of Zell Eaton and Francis Schieder, 5-up.

They won their fourth round match from Ed Dudley of Philadelphia and Jimmy Hines of New York 2-up, but were pushed out of the lead for a short time by Laffoon and Metz, who scored the most overwhelming victory of the tournament by defeating Tommy Armour of Chicago and Jimmy Thomson of Shawnee-On-the-Delaware in the fourth round, 8-up.

PIRATES COP 6-0

GEORGETOWN, Tex., Oct. 16 (AP)—Led by Bob Knight, the Southwest University Pirates defeated the Southwest Texas State Teachers College Bobcats 6 to 0 on a muddy gridiron here tonight.

Southwestern scored in the second period on a drive through the line by Knight, and offered scoring threats in every period.

BAYLOR WINS EASILY, 20-0, OVER CENTENARY GENTS

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 16 (AP)—Miley Jennings of Baylor's Golden Bears took the blankets off his forward passing ace, Bullet Billy Patterson, just long enough in the first half to run up three touchdowns and then allowed the little chunker to sit on the sideline and watch his club coast to a 20-0 victory over the Centenary College Gents.

The local collegians, who two weeks ago defeated Southern Methodist University Mustangs, were no match for the Bears in any department of play, the Texans leading in running and aerial plays, punting, passing, interception of passes and covering fumbles. Centenary's only real scoring threat was made in the first quarter when they moved down to the 10-yard line on a series of plays following the receiving of a kickoff.

Blaine's Outstanding Performance Last Year Was at the Texas Regs

Blaine's outstanding performance last year was at the Texas Regs, where he showed his heels to Venske in a surprise win. The time was 4:20 on a slow track.

Delmer Brown, Teacher, sprint star who last year finished second in the 100-yard dash, was the nation's best in the 440 at Princeton's National Invitation meet, will compete in the quarter at New Orleans together with his twin brother, Elmer, who is only slightly the slower of the two.

Sportsman had cause for worry early this fall when the Brown twins were dubious about returning to school. But last week Elmer enrolled and a letter from Delmer stating that he would be here next semester finished erasing the furrows from the Eagle mentor's brow.

In the Browns and Alvin Christman, Sportsman has back three members of the lightning quartet which last spring blazed its way to fame by winning three national titles at the National Championship Penn Shoes. He will have to fill the shoes of Johnny Stovall, fourth member, who received his sheepskin this summer, but a host of speedy material is at hand and Sportsman should have no trouble filling the vacancy.

Gansett Race Track May Not Open Monday

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 17 (AP)—(AP)—Adjutant General Herbert R. Dean early today announced 200 Rhode Island national guardsmen would be mobilized shortly after daylight as a result of Gov. Robert E. Quinn's proclamation that "a state of insurrection" existed at the Narragansett race track.

The "state of insurrection," the proclamation asserted, also included territory one mile in all directions from the palatial race track of Walter E. O'Hara, with whom Quinn has been violently at odds for several weeks.

George Mackie, the governor's secretary, said the proclamation meant that troops of the Rhode Island national guard would be stationed around the track "not later than Monday morning."

Even as the chief executive promulgated his order, workmen laboring to get the track in readiness for the track's opening.

O'Hara, who has been in New York for several days, was expected to return to Providence late tonight.

The proclamation contended that the "danger" of attendance of "gangsters, criminals and persons of ill repute," at the fall meeting "will cause serious breach of peace" and result in "injury to our citizens" with which civil authorities would be "unable to cope."

Quinn, in his proclamation, charged that O'Hara had "imported" known criminals into Rhode Island "to intimidate public officials" and that he had "caused large numbers of Pawtucket police to intimidate and prevent public officials from performing their duties."

The $2,000,000 racing plant is located in Pawtucket.

Earlier Quinn had charged the Narragansett Racing association, operators of the track, had failed to file a list of officials 10 days before the opening of the meet, as required by state law, and asserted "it is now too late to comply with that rule."

Hogs Return After Herd Kicks Goal

By WILLIAM T. RIVES

DALLAS, Oct. 16 (AP)—In a dramatic setting matched only in the movies, Ray Morrison's Vanderbilt Commodores today smothered a Southern Methodist university team captained by his son, 6 to 0.

Brief rain flurries soaked the turf and bogged the overhead attack of the Mustangs but the crowd of 7,000 saw a hard-fighting Vanderbilt eleven which did not need the razzle-dazzle football for which the former S. M. U. coach is famed.

The contest was minutes old when Vanderbilt, taking the ball on its own 25-yard line, drove straight down the field without calling for an aerial and scored in surprisingly easy fashion.

Three fine backs—Hollins, Hinton and Ford—took turns at punching through the holes their men opened and Hollins went over from the 11-yard line on a tricky double lateral.

Franklin missed the try for point. The Methodists came back in the second period with a fine passing sign that carried to the 3 before it was smothered.

From his own 42, Jack Morrison heaved to Pete Acker, range end on the 33. Another pass failed and then the son of the Vandy coach fired to Acker on the 8. More passes failed and a final desperate try to Acker was broken up behind the line.

Hereafter the game resolved itself into a punting duel, with Morrison and Bert Marshall of the Commodores, former Greenville, Tex., high school flash, getting off long boots despite the slippery ball.

Morrison, who has dodged his father's schools for three years to prevent any possible charge of favoritism shown him, was bothered by the wet pigskin and fast-charging Vanderbilt line, but performed creditably and without him the Mustangs might have fared worse.

Late in the third period, Keith Ranspot, Mustang end, set the crowd on its heels with some brilliant defensive work. He roared through two straight times to throw Vandy backs for 10-yard losses and hit a back so hard another time he dropped the ball, bringing the Commodores a 22-yard setback.

His work was nullified, however, when he drew two penalties for roughness and was tossed from the contest.

Vanderbilt had a wide edge in offensive play, scoring 12 first downs to Southern Methodist's 7. Southern Methodist gained but 43 yards rushing as the Commodores picked up 136.

McMurry, Denton Teachers In Scoreless Tie

ABILENE, Oct. 16 (AP)—North Texas Teachers and McMurry college pushed each other over 86 yards of football territory here this afternoon in a scoreless inter-conference game.

The Indians punched to the Teachers' five-yard line in the second period, but a fumble cost them their opportunity. A pass brought McMurry back to the 10 stripe in the same period, but running plays bogged against Denton's strong tackles, Hershon and Duley, and Brookshire's place kick from the 18 hit the goal post and bounced wide.

After blocking a punt on the McMurry 22 in the final quarter, North Texas passed to Hester, but Richard Dunlap, Indian halfback, saved the day by intercepting a pass in the end zone for a touch-back.

Statistics gave North Texas a slight edge. The Eagles made four threats to McMurry's three, led in first downs, nine to eight, in yards gained rushing 112 to 110, and yards gained passing, 67 to 65.

Breckenridge Shows Power In Swamping Bovines, 34-7

Locals Score On Settles' Jaunt

Hogan And Kribbs In Spotlight, Bucs Line Play Outstanding

By HANK HART

Relying on straight football initiated way back yonder when Alonzo Stagg was coaching his first year at Chicago university, Eck Curtis respected Breckenridge Buckaroos pushed over five touchdowns, booted four extra points from placement, powerhoused their way to 17 renewal in downs, moved along to 320 yards from scrimmage and, in general, let some 1,600 people know that they were the superior team in the 34-7 rout of the Big Spring Steers Friday night at Steer stadium.

Only consolation the local eleven received from the most one-sided kicking they had taken this year came from the fact that they managed to maintain their record of having scored in every game this season. That fact, however, assured when Charles Ray Settles, as shifty a boy as there is in Texas high school football, snake-kipped his way off the Breckenridge left tackle and through the green and white secondary for some 14 yards and the only Longhorn score. O'Dell Womack, who isn't as large as the seventh grader's mascot, dropped the extra point but the Murphy outfit wasn't riding the "gravy" train in every other part of the game.

The expected aerial battle appeared alright, but the local ten might as well have let the enemy take pot shots at the flaps for the rest of the game. They completed five passes, good for a 36 yard total but they threw 12 besides that and had five of those intercepted.

The 320 yards the Bucs picked from rushing the ball came on 75 running plays which made the Steer line look woefully weak. That represents more than four yards per try each time the Breck backs picked up the ball.

Johnny Hogan, whom it was said could almost beat the Longhorns single handed before the game, compiled 47 more yards himself than the whole Big Spring secondary could push across and George Ramsey was almost as good in totting the old pig skin.

The Bucs made 11 of their 17 first downs during the first half and tallied three of their touchdowns before the half game caught them while the Bovines came out with but three renewals during the first 30 minutes and as many during the final two periods.

Coch. Curtis employed about every man he brought along except the water boy and couldn't get in because he happened to be in the press box helping the broadcasters.

Breaks at first representatives were placed to two had holes at the beginning of the game when Captain Weldon Bigony, aiming for the side lines, punted far short of his mark and the ball changed hands deep in Steer territory. The locals recovered from one of those disadvantages when the Breck attack bogged down on the nine yard line but the opposition got the machine to working on all cylinders on the second try and this one proved successful.

With Hogan, Ramsey and Kribbs remaining at carrying the mail the Bucs picked up two first downs to shave within the Longhorns' ten yard line again. Two tries netted out two yards but on the third attempt, Kribbs carried it into the end zones.

They were back knocking at the doors in less than five minutes and using the same plays to do it with. The teams changed ends with the termination of the quarter but, after Harris had intercepted an attempted pass by Womack and returned it some 20 yards to the Steer's 20 yard marker, Kribbs and Ramsey set the ball into scoring position for Hogan who went over on the two yard line for the second tally. Bagwell failed to find the same success he had had in the first score and missed the goal on placement, leaving the score 13-0.

Back they stormed toward the Longhorn end zones and about three minutes before the half time Hogan again went across and Bagwell booted the extra point for tally that stood 20-0 at the half.

Bovines opened up for the first time.

Finally Go Across Two passes and an off-tackle stab by Settles advanced the ball over into the opposite end of the field and, driving steadily at a newly found weakness in the Breck line, the Longhorns came up with a penetration and a first down when Bigony grabbed the ball and raced to the 14-yard marker before being brought to earth. It was at this point that Settles received the snap-back, stepped off tackle, got past the line and beat the defensive wingback to the goal line.

A 26-yard retaliation by Hogan gave the visitors their final score of the evening. The long jaunt came at the end of two pretty sweeps from midfield. Bagwell ran the score to 34-7, when he made good his fourth kick in five tries.

NEW SCHEDULE IS ADOPTED

DALLAS, Oct. 16 (AP)—Representatives of Texas league baseball clubs met here today and voted to open the 1938 campaign on Wednesday, April 13, and close on September 11, the Sunday following Labor Day. Details were left to the schedule committee which will report to the scheduled meeting at Fort Worth early in 1938.

Oklahoma City was selected as the site for the 1938 all-star game. It was voted to give players on the Texas league entry in the 1938 Dixie series all of the players' share instead of dividing the monies between the first and second clubs on an 80-20 basis as was done in 1936 and 1937.

League rules were changed to allow 17 players on the active list instead of on the salary list. This was done to enable clubs to carry injured players on the pay roll. The league will seek at the national association meeting in Milwaukee in December to increase the maximum playing list in A-1 leagues to 18 men.

Woman Lands Whopper TULSA, Okla. (UP)—Mrs. Charles Casler, 65, of Tulsa, claims to be Oklahoma's prize fisherwoman. Recently, while fishing in Mowhawk Lake, near Tulsa, she caught a 37-pound blue catfish. The fish was so big that it almost pulled Mrs. Casler into the water before she obtained help in landing it.

Cornell Loss Features Grid Games Irish Fail In Carnegie Battle

Army, Georgia Tech, Tennessee Fall In Day Of Upsets

By HERBERT W. BARKER

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Cornell, Army, Notre Dame, Georgia Tech and Tennessee passed out of the undefeated picture today in another dazzling series of football exploits before the biggest spectacle of the season. More than 550,000 fans saw the day's 20 leading games.

Cornell was spilled by an under-rated Syracuse array paced by the Olympic sprinter, Marty Glickman, 14 to 6. Army, with its line crumbling in critical stages, bowed to Yale's opportunists, 15 to 7, with Clint Frank once more directing the Eli offensive.

Georgia Tech lost a heart-breaking 20 to 19 decision to undefeated Duke as Fletcher Sims fumbled a punt in the closing minutes of play and paved the way for the Blue Devils' final score. Alabama's combined passing and running attack, built around Joe Kilgus, carried the Crimson Tide to a 14-7 decision on Tennessee's Vols. hitherto undefeated.

Notre Dame met its Waterloo on familiar grounds and at the hands of a familiar and respected foe—Carnegie Tech. The Engineers won 9-7 on the strength of Coleman Kopsak's field goal from the 16-yard line in the third period.

Powers Tied Although they escaped defeat such gridiron powers as Pitt, Fordham, Navy, Harvard, Nebraska and Texas A. and M. ran into ties for the first time. Pitt and Fordham hauled and mugged at one another in grueling fashion but when it was all over they had played their third scoreless draw in as many years.

Navy and Harvard matched running attack against passing attack without either gaining a score. Nebraska, early season conqueror of Minnesota, was the victim of another scoreless stalemate with Oklahoma. Texas A. and M., hailed as possible Southwest champions, had to pull a touchdown out of the air in the last few minutes to get a 7-7 draw with Texas Christian.

Holy Cross and Dartmouth kept pace with Yale and Syracuse in the East. Holy Cross edged out a 7-6 victory over Georgia whose Bull dogs finally pushed over a touchdown in the last four minutes at play but "blew" the try for point. Dartmouth outclassed Brown, 41-0. Tulane nosed out Colgate at Buffalo, also by a 7-6 score. Sid Luckman's passing and running carried Columbia to an easy 26-6 victory over Penn while John Wyszok scored three touchdowns as Villanova upset Manhattan by a surprising 26-7 margin.

Wildcats Win Again As Northwestern continued its drive for the Big Ten crown by out-punting Purdue in a bitterly fought battle, 14-7. Minnesota signaled its return to form with a 39-6 rout of Michigan.

Wisconsin remained unbeaten and untied after a 19-6 victory over Iowa while Indiana scored its first victory over Illinois since 1935. Princeton invaded the mid-west and trampled Chicago, 16-7, outclassing the Maroon in the second half.

While Nebraska and Oklahoma were playing their scoreless Big Six draw in the rain, Kansas surprised by beating Iowa State, 14-6. Kansas State won 13-0 from Marquette but Missouri, was spilled by Michigan State, 2-0. West Virginia pulled out a 17-7 victory over Xavier of Cincinnati in the last quarter.

In the South Auburn's Plainsmen, after successive scoreless ties with Tulane and Villanova, suddenly found the scoring combination and trounced Mississippi State, 23-7 in one of the most amazing results of the day. Florida defeated Sewanee, 21-0, in another southeastern conference engagement.

Kentucky gave the Southeastern conference a victory over the Southern by swamping Washington & Lee, 41-6. In the Southern conference, North Carolina easily defeated Wake Forest, 28-0; Citadel beat Furman, 8-0; South Carolina stopped Davidson, 12-7; and Virginia Military outpointed Richmond, 21-7. Virginia dropped a 3-0 verdict to Maryland.

Baylor, now a constant threat for the Southwest crown, ran up a 20-0 count on Centenary, a tough non-conference foe. Arkansas won a conference decision from Texas, 21-0. Southern Methodist was beaten by Vanderbilt, 6-0, while Rice held Tulsa to a scoreless draw.

The plague of ties struck in the Far West where Washington and Washington State, Oregon State and U.C.L.A. battled to 7-7 draws. Southern California, however, beat Oregon under a 24 to 14 count. California, the apparent powerhouse of the Pacific Coast conference, won a "breather" double-header from California Aggies, 14-0, and College of Pacific, 20-0.

Perseverance Falls Burglar VANCOUVER (UP)—A meager $2 was the reward for the astonishing patience and perseverance of Irwin Miller, arrested for breaking into a ballroom here. Evidence of his painstaking nature was a door panel, removed by boring 50 holes in it with a brace and bit.

LEADS HOGS TO VICTORY

One of the big reasons Arkansas crushed Texas University for their first conference victory of the 1937 season was Jack Robbins, ace quarterback who threw passes with reckless abandon throughout the four quarters. Pitt and Fordham, 21-0 handing Dana Bible's team its second setback of the year.

John Moreno Advances With Rus Ball In El Paso Net Tourny

EL PASO, Oct. 16 (AP)—John Moreno, calling on all the cunning which has carried him to high national rankings, blasted his way into the men's singles finals of the Southwestern Tennis association tournament Saturday with an upsetting five-set semi-final triumph over defending champion George Judson, Jr., of Phoenix.

Emerging from the unseeded ranks, the Los Angeles red-thatched youth mowed down Judson 6-4, 6-8, 6-2, 1-6, 7-5 to climax a blazing victory march which earlier in the day routed Charlie Mickle, Phoenix, 6-1, 6-2 in the quarter-finals. Joining Moreno was Russell Ball, El Paso, whose flawless and forcing strokes erased the bid of young Marvin Carlock, Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-3, in the quarter-finals and who outmaneuvered Robert Vancery of Riverside, Calif., for a brilliant 6-1, 6-7, 6-0, 4-6, 6-0 semi-final victory.

Ball is favored to sweep his way into the championship when he collides with Moreno Sunday on the clay courts of the El Paso Tennis club.

California Defeated Women's laurels were captured by Maura Morgan, University of Arizona, dark horse, who scored a stunning upset when she toppled Beatrice Lidel, defending champion from Hollywood, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1 in the quarter-finals of the women's singles event and annexed a final berth with a 6-1, 6-3 victory over Cynthia Ormsted in a brisk semi-final battle.

Mrs. Greta Dupont, favorite from Hollywood, kept pace with the victorious seed, defeating Miss Morgan's doubles partner, Maxine Holloway, 6-3, 4-6, 6-5 in the quarter-finals and her own diminutive doubles colleague, Cecil Minor, 6-2, 6-3, in the semi-finals.

Graig Davidson, Lubbock, Texas, captured the boy's singles title, defeating Sol Franklin, El Paso, 6-2, 6-1.

Carlock, in his dual role of competition in men's and junior events, chased Leslie Murray, Phoenix, 6-3, 6-2, to reach the junior singles finals. The husky 15-7 freshman will face Moreno in a final match Sunday. Moreno, also dual performer, gained his berth with a 6-3, 6-1, victory over Sid Genen, Tucson, Friday.

MISS HICKS IN FINALS

FORT WORTH, Oct. 16 (AP)—Helen Hicks, New York professional, and Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth will meet tomorrow in the 36-hole finals of the Texas Women's Open Golf tournament.

Miss Hicks defeated Mildred (Babe) Didrikson of Beaumont 5-4 today. Mrs. Goldthwaite won from Mrs. Det Henson of Little Rock 2-1.

Texas Tech Is Winner, 20-0

LUBBOCK, Oct. 16 (AP)—A slightly over-confident University of Arizona football team caught Texas Tech's Red Raiders in a "complete" frame of mind tonight and the result was a thrilling 20 to 0 victory for Pete Cawthon's team.

The victory carried with it favoritism in the Border conference, won by Arizona twice in a row. Arizona's defeat was the worst a wildcat team has suffered under the four-year regime of Coach G. A. (Tex) Oliver. Last year the teams played to a 7-7 tie at Tucson.

Tech's record late in the second period, after playing a wide defensive game against the widely advertised Wildcat backs, when Abe Murphy, Tech tackle, recovered an Arizona fumble on the Wildcat 33-yard line, Gene Barnett passed successfully to Elmer Tarbox and Charley Calhoun, and the latter carried over from the two-yard line.

Thomas Neely kicked goal. Sensational plays brought two touchdowns in the third period. Little Bobby Hojes, Barnett's replacement, took an Arizona punt on the Tech 38 and wiggled through a broken field 62 yards for a touchdown. Try for point was missed.

Late in the quarter, Dixie White, Tech sophomore, punned an Arizona punt. Davis, lumbering tackle, scooped it up and ran 45 yards to score. Babe Curfman kicked goal after touchdown.

Pitt, Rams In Third Tie

Panthers Come Out With Statistics Victory

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Dore better than 50,000 rousers but disappointed fans. Fordham and Pittsburgh today tugged, hauled and fumbled their way to a third scoreless tie in the three-year history of their football rivalry.

Their meetings have proved little beyond the facts that both are rough, tough teams and that lightning can strike not only twice but three times in the same place.

Pitt with virtually the same lineup that gave Washington such a terrific going-over in the Rose Bowl last New Year's Day, went into the game a 2 to 1 favorite. The Panthers came out of the right side of the statistics, but that was about all.

of the situation." He spoke of an "obligation" to help the blind and dependent children and assist in financing a teachers retirement program, saying failure to carry out the social security work was resulting in Texas losing more than $1,000,000 in federal matching money.

"I've never proposed heavy taxes upon all the people," he said. "I have only proposed a reasonable tax upon those who are able to pay; upon a few great pipeline companies, upon those who are draining our oil and sulphur and other irreplaceable natural resources."

The truth of the matter was, he continued, that most of those "who condemn me and who say we do not need any taxes at all are themselves advocates of 'laying heavy taxes upon the people.' . . . After a 'just' tax had been laid on natural resources, he said, was the time to talk of a sales tax.

hours and better working conditions. Government officials, from President Roosevelt down to small-town sheriffs, would be spared many a headache resulting from attempts to stay neutral in the fight.

Employers of organized labor also would be spared many of the strikes bound to result from the war between two huge groups of employees. The workmen in each camp would lose less time on the job and also stand to benefit by a united front against employers. If the fight continues, the workmen may become involved in battles that may well result in broken heads and bloody noses.

Lewis probably would become the federation's dominant figure. A.F. of L. leaders, however, in their private conversation, were not overly optimistic about the chances for the peace conference's success.

Japanese army advisers said its planes had bombed 49 North China towns since October 1.

Chinese airplanes early today made a raid on Japanese warships on the Whangpoo river, near Shanghai, and Japanese troop concentrations at Woussung, 12 miles north of here. Apparently little damage was done.

The Chinese air attack was in retaliation for damaging raids carried out by Japanese forces Friday and Saturday near Shanghai and at several points in the southern provinces of Kwangtung and Kwangsi.

Chinese dispatches listed at least 193 Chinese civilians killed in the Japanese bombing raids. Naval planes struck at railway centers and arm depots south and west of Shanghai in an effort to keep men and supplies from reaching the Chinese armies massed near this city.

Littlefield's battered body. The youth, police said, expressed a desire "to go back to Maine, because they don't have capital punishment there." Breslin said Dwyer waived examination.

The boy, police said, blurted out: "I didn't mean to do it. I just lost my temper, then I got scared. I'm glad it's all over."

Chief Shippee said the youth told him he called Dr. Littlefield to his home Wednesday evening to examine him for a social disease. He said the doctor told him he did not have the disease, but remarked, the girl "I was going with last winter was pregnant." Shippee quoted Dwyer as relating.

Hit Him With Hammer The youth declared that angered him, and he struck down the physician, finally strangling him with a belt and hitting him "with a hammer two or three times," Shippee said.

With the doctor's body stuffed into the automobile trunk, young Dwyer, Chief Shippee said, then related how he drove to the Littlefield home and told the doctor's wife her husband had killed two men with an automobile and had fled town. The youth proffered to drive Mrs. Littlefield to Boston, the chief continued, to meet her "fugitive" husband.

They made a long drive to several taverns, the youth related, until the woman began to get suspicious. They argued, the young suspect said in his confession, and "I grabbed her by the throat until she stopped fighting."

the high school. Probably not this year, but next, more teachers will be required. Further financial demands will be felt in 1938 when the minimum salary schedule for teachers here is to be pegged at $900 per annum. Therefore, Big Spring must debate the need against responsibilities and vote for or against more support at the tax office.

G. R. Hitley submits a clipping from the Marlin paper telling of the arrest of an itinerant peddler in that city for selling his wares without a license. This fellow, according to the article, hoped "to realize a profit of 1,000 per cent on one article which his invoice showed he bought for $1.40 and asked $14. His merchandise was (U. S. made) rugs and tapestry, purportedly smuggled in from some Oriental country. Big Spring, like Marlin, has such an ordinance, charging $2.50 for a foot peddler's license, but it takes more than an ordinance to protect gullible folks from dark-eyed gentlemen who seek to find the "one born every minute."

The Salvation Army, in closing out its campaign for financial support, announces that it is in dire need of about $1,000 to meet the amount set for the local budget. The average person spends lots of money on lots of things far less important than the Salvation Army's work. You will have to look a long time before you find a better investment for your money.

There are many occupations for those who engage in mental gymnastics during lulls in programs, but last week we found a new and engaging one. Rev. G. C. Schurman loves to sit at a banquet and figure how many persons are left-handed. He thinks the "southpaws" are the salt of the earth. Incidentally, Rev. Schurman admits using his left hand freely.

The Spanish idiom "poco poco" (little by little) "appropriately describes state hospital situation here. Every day now brings this city nearer the very imminent completion of its end of the bargain which will bring an eleemosynary institution with an original investment of $817,900 here. The "deal" should be closed this week, and bids asked by the state the following week.

Some of the city's good citizens express something akin to displeasure over the number of Mexican and negro cotton pickers incarcerated in the jails here over the week end. Their sympathetic turn tells them that fines are more than the "poor devils" make in the fields all week. They believe that unless the "drunks" and "crap shooters" create undue disturbance or get on streets and highways or over on the white sections of town, the colored offenders ought not to be punished so severely. Moreover, they see little percentage in ignoring pool halls, honky-tonks, etc. and pouncing upon small dice games. Officers, too, have their side of the question. Perhaps there could be a happy compromise.

O. D. Douglas, president of the Texas Association of Life Underwriters, outlined the elements of success for life insurance writers here at a dinner meeting of the local organization last week. Among the elements he cited were "ambition, enthusiasm, initiative, sincerity, confidence, good personality, and work for service as well as the dollar." Sounds like the formula is broad enough to be applied to any vocation. Achieving all those things is success within itself.

Gradually police radio broadcasts are clinching a case in their behalf. Friday evening a suspicious car was pursued until outdistanced, returning to headquarters, the incident was put on the air over the local police station. A few hours later, after it was learned a store had been robbed here, the car was discovered abandoned in Lamesa. That's pretty fast work and came near being the means of trapping some burglars.

And while on the subject of police, not a few of the local merchants, particularly those who have felt the brunt of night prowlers, feel that the night force here is under-manned. This condition, they believe, is particularly true in the autumn. Two and three men, they argue, are not enough to patrol the downtown section of Big Spring and the remainder of the town. The city understands this condition and likely is willing to talk it over with its constituents, the merchants.

Big Spring, by comparison, is better off than the average Texas city when it comes to per capita indebtedness. The local figure is $71 plus as against $114 for the state average. Still better off is Big Spring when it comes to county and city finances. The two agencies are not only on the right side of the ledger, but have combined cash balances of around $120,000. Not to mention an additional $20,000 in securities. And that's something of which to be proud.

BUDGET PROBLEMS OCCUPY PRESIDENT

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt gave further attention to budgetary, foreign and legislative problems today and then, with relatives and neighbors, spent the afternoon on a long drive and a picnic.

Repressed by callers an especially desirous of achieving an equalization of treasury income and outgo, he was expected to give this question a prominent place in his conference agenda when he returns to Washington the middle of next week.

The $118,000,000 deficit forecast last April for the current fiscal year may be offset somewhat by the impounding of ten per cent of departmental appropriations, but some officials are wondering what effect the recent stock market decline and consequent drop in earnings may have on prior revenue estimates.

LAMESA, Oct. 16 (Special)—This city closed its first three-day fair, operated under the recently organized Dawson County Fair association, Saturday night and pronounced it a success despite adverse weather conditions.

Total attendance for the three days was estimated at 11,000 people with a crowd of 7,000 thronging the grounds immediately south of town Saturday. Exhibits, an amateur contest, and a carnival kept a crowd of 5,000 milling about the grounds past 11 p. m. Saturday.

To Lou went the first place in the community exhibit contest with a total of 804 points. McCarty followed with 790 points and Wilson was third with 770.

The calf owned jointly by L. O. and H. T. Duff was adjudged grand champion of the show and also took premier honors in the heavy weight class. Van Green placed his calf second in the competition and Weldon Street of Borden county had the third place class of the division.

In the light weight calf contest, animals owned by Ted Turner and Weldon Bratcher placed first and second, respectively.

E. W. Wilkerson's gilt was champion in its class. Gilt was champion in its class. Gilt was champion in its class. Gilt was champion in its class.

There were poultry and other exhibits shown at the fair which opened Thursday.

A large crowd swarmed around the amateur contest finals Saturday night under the direction of Mrs. A. G. "Barney" Barnard. Winners, in addition to receiving prizes, were to be given additions by a Lubbock radio station.

The fair was promoted this year by the Dawson County Fair association, organized recently and capitalized at $5,000. The fair association has erected a $3,000 exhibit building on the grounds, just west of where the CCE camps are now located in south Lamesa. S. L. Forrest donated acres of ground for the fair space, and additional land is in prospect to the east.

Revolution Call In Mexico Is Reported

EL PASO, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Herald-Post said today that a call for an armed revolution against the Mexican regime of President Lazaro Cardenas was being circulated in Juarez, Mex., in the form of a manifesto attacking the government.

The paper said the manifesto appeared over the name of Pablo L. Delgado of El Paso, a former official in the Carranza administration.

Delgado, who has been pastor of a church here for several years, could not be reached today.

Mexican consular agents here said they had no word of the manifesto. They said that Col. Manuel Esparza, consular general, was in Mexico City on business.

Ickes Calls Colorado River Dams Examples Of What Democracy Can Do For Public Welfare

AUSTIN, Oct. 16 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes today pointed to Buchanan and Roy Irlins dam, first links in a $25,000,000 program to harness the Colorado river, as symbols of the national administration's principle that "democracy will work" in the public welfare.

In an address, dedicating the structures, he lashed also at efforts of some private utility lawyers to stop public projects. The dams, located 65 miles northwest of Austin and costing approximately $11,000,000, represent a phase of the administration's plan for putting resources of the nation to work for the common good, he said. Flood control, irrigation and power generation is the three-point program of the Colorado River Authority.

"But these efforts frequently have struck a snag in a host of lawyers representing the power companies or allied interests," the cabinet member charged.

"These lawyers, in their defeatist efforts, have overlooked no opportunity to delay the final adjudication of the issues that they themselves have raised. They have even made the ridiculous allegation of a conspiracy between government agencies."

Tablet Dedications Ickes' address was made at the Buchanan dam, a two-mile multiple arch span which has impounded a lake 15 miles long and three miles wide. Below it is Roy Irlins lake, impounded by the smaller Roy Irlins dam.

Dedications of a bronze tablet bearing the likeness of late Congressman J. P. Buchanan whose initial efforts resulted in formation of the Lower Colorado River authority was a part of the ceremony. Workmen whose labor reared the structures presented the monument.

Lieut. Gov. Walter F. Woodul, Congressman W. R. Poage of Waco, Manly Maverick of San Antonio and Lyndon Johnson of Austin, Buchanan's successor, and many state officials participated.

Secretary Ickes also urged creation of a great 735,000-acre national park in the Big Bend country.

He said the cost to Texas would be trifling and a far greater contribution would be necessary could be justified on aesthetic and patriotic grounds alone. On the material side, he suggested a large increase in tourist trade as a result of a national park in Texas.

Local Women Will Act As Happy Kitchen Cooking School Hostesses

Food Lectures To Be Given Here Three Afternoons

Adding a touch of formality and interest to the Happy Kitchen Cooking School which will be held here October 25, 26 and 27, is the fact that three leading local women will act as hostesses for the sessions to be held each afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock at the City Auditorium. Miss Nell Hatch, Mrs. Charles Koberg and Mrs. Ira L. Thurman have been chosen and will greet those attending the affair.

Miss Jessie Hogue, lecturer at the forthcoming school gives a startling illustration of what she means by "dressing up" familiar foods to make them more toothsome and appealing.

"Just consider," she says, "a dinner of pot roast, potatoes, carrots, bread and butter. Picture it first just as something nourishing and you will find it rather dreary."

"But if you see the pot roast to a dark brown with slices of onion and a tiny amount of garlic in the pan, then boil it slowly for hours in a small amount of water to which the juice of a can of tomatoes is added for flavor, it will be entirely different. Top the meat with parsley and serve the extra sauce separately."

"There is nothing quite so good with a pot roast as a baked potato, done to a turn, popped open and sprinkled with paprika and a bit of butter. The carrots, if cut in lattice shape or slender sticks, and pleasantly dressed. Bread sticks and butter balls bring an air of festivity to the dinner table."

Miss Hogue's lectures are of such simple, practical and inspirational illustrations. She is a past master at taking ordinary items of food and preparing them in such a way that every culinary task becomes the occasion of a happy kitchen triumph.

Each session of the Happy Kitchen School will begin promptly at 2 o'clock, and everyone is urged to be on time so that the full benefits of the crowded lecture hours may be derived.

Admission is free, as the school is being presented by this newspaper as a part of its program of public service. A number of firms are cooperating to make the school successful.

Miss Hogue has enjoyed a huge success wherever she has presented her lectures, and preparations have been made here for making large crowds comfortable each day.

Popular Book Reviewer Brought To City By 1930 Hyperion Club

Evelyn Oppenheimer To Be Heard At Hotel Settles

So popular with Big Spring audiences that each successive appearance here has attracted larger crowds, Miss Evelyn Oppenheimer returns Monday afternoon to give another book review under sponsorship of the 1930 Hyperion club. Appearing in the Settles hotel ballroom at 4 o'clock, Miss Oppenheimer will review the best-selling novel by Vaughan Williams, "And So—Victoria."

Heard here three times last season, Miss Oppenheimer inaugurates the Hyperion club's 1937-38 book review season with the Monday engagement. Club members, reporting success in ticket sales, stressed the 4 o'clock hour, since there had been an impression the program would be at night.

Miss Oppenheimer is recognized as one of the state's shrewdest literary critics. She has a crisp, straightforward style of discourse that carries her listeners to the heart of the writing being reviewed.

Holder of a Ph. D. degree from the University of Chicago—she was graduated from that institution with Phi Beta Kappa honors—Miss Oppenheimer "branched" her literary work in Chicago. Her degree was in literature and philosophy. She was a member of the Chicago Poetry club, and later served as literary critic on Chicago newspapers.

For several years she has been in Dallas, serving as a professional reviewer. Her programs there have attracted such attention that she is called regularly to other towns of the southwest. She spent the past summer in California, reviewing books under auspices of Los Angeles clubs.

"And So—Victoria" was one work she reviewed on the west coast. She has reviewed it some 15 times in Dallas, so that she is thoroughly acquainted with the work.

The Wilkins novel, lauded as a "fast-moving, exciting story," deals with historical and fictional characters in the time of the Georgians of England, before the accession of Victoria to the throne of England. It has been a top ranking seller in the field of summer fiction.

Proceeds from the Monday afternoon review will go to the Hyperion club's fund for a children's library.

Meeting Place For Youths Needed On West Side

Rev. E. E. Mason, pastor of the West Side Baptist church, Saturday voiced an appeal for a meeting place in the western part of town for boys and girls.

He had reference to the need of a place of the west side Boy Scout troop to meet. Lack of quarters, he said, was blocking an attempt to reorganize the work in that section.

Rev. Mason suggested the possibility of moving a structure from the scenic Mountain park to the A.B.C. westside park. Such a building, he speculated, might be used for night school courses for people of that section of town.

Persons interested in the move were asked by him to contact either him or members of the American Business club, sponsors of the west side park.

Top-Ranking Film Production Of Season, 'Lost Horizon', Opens Today At Ritz

Ronald Colman Is Star Of James Hilton Story

What is hailed—and perhaps with some justification—as one of the more important events of the current screen season will be the showing, at the Ritz theatre today and Monday, of Frank Capra's "Lost Horizon," a much-publicized production which is making its bow at popular prices after a sensational nationwide roadshow tour.

Starring Ronald Colman, and featuring Edward Everett Horton, E. B. Warner, Jane Wyatt, Margo, John Howard, Thomas Mitchell, Isabel Jewell, Sam Jaffe in the much-discussed High Lama role, the picture is an adaptation by Robert Riskin of James Hilton's celebrated novel of the same name.

Briefly, the story of "Lost Horizon" concerns five persons who are kidnapped in an airplane in China, and flown deep into the heart of Forbidden Tibet. Ticked up by a caravan headed by a myetic and elderly Chinese, they are escorted to what is perhaps the most unusual place on the face of the earth—the lamastery of Shangri-La.

Here, cloistered securely by mountains impervious to the uninitiated, is a setting of indescribable beauty and serenity, peopled by members of the strangest cult of modern times. Romance and adventure fall to the bewildered kidnap victims, and soon, all but one surrender to the utter contentment

STARRED IN 'LOST HORIZON'

Jane Wyatt, a comparative newcomer in films, gets a choice assignment as leading lady to Ronald Colman, in that celebrated actor's recent success, "Lost Horizon," offered at the Ritz Sunday and Monday.

The film, called one of the outstanding productions of the season, just now is being shown at popular prices, following a long period of road-show engagements.

and rare loveliness that is Shangri-La.

The personalities involved in the production of "Lost Horizon" give this picture a distinguished advantage.

On the technical side, there are Frank Capra and Robert Riskin, director and writer of such prize-winning films as "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," "It Happened One Night," and "Lady for a Day." James Hilton, author of the original novel, who also wrote "Goodbye Mr. Chips"; Joseph Walker, noted photographer of Capra's greatest successes; Harrison Forman, American explorer and author, who acted as advisor on the Tibetan phases of the film; and Dimitri Tiomkin, internationally known composer, who wrote the musical score.

Red Nichols Band Attraction At Dallas Casino

RED NICHOLS

DALLAS, Oct. 16—Texas' most beautiful revue at the Pan American Casino swings into its last three weeks with the opening of Red Nichols and his celebrated international Pennies orchestra to play for dancing.

Called by critics from coast to coast the "most perfect revue," the casino show headlines such stellar acts as Borrah Minneville's Harmonica Rascals; Stan Kavanagh, who juggles for fun; Earto and Mann, comedy team; and the sensational singing star of the year, Art Jarrett.

With Nichols' opening, the Casino show will remain unchanged until its close, October 31.

During the first seventeen weeks of its run, more than one quarter of a million Texans and out-of-state visitors have seen the Casino revue.

Featured with the stellar acts in the revue are the fifty precision dancers, a ballet of fourteen, Lyn Murray's twenty-four singing Gaudes, and Isabelle Kimpal, primera ballerina, and Leon Barte, maitre de ballet.

Minneville's Harmonica Rascals and Stan Kavanagh opened the show in June and return by popular demand.

AT THE QUEEN

Frances Farmer and Joel McCrea have two of the featured roles in "Come And Get It," stirring romantic story of the lumber camps. But top player is Edward Arnold, in this adaptation of the Edna Ferber story, "Come And Get It" is the Queen's program headliner for Sunday and Monday.

Lumber Camp Play Booked At Queen

Edward Arnold, Joel McCrea, Frances Farmer Featured

Portrayer extraordinary of those two-fisted, big-shot-businessman roles, Edward Arnold attempts a similar sort of characterization in "Come And Get It," vigorous story of the lumber camps which plays at the Queen Sunday and Monday.

The picture, based on the novel by Edna Ferber, has the colorful background of the lumber camps of the north woods. Arnold is seen as the ambitious lumberjack who works himself up to position of lumber baron, trampling a few people on his way up.

He gives up a lovely queen of the lumber camps who loves him, to secure his future by marrying the plain daughter of a magnate whose wealth and power he finally inherits. But the next years later, he meets and falls madly in love with the daughter of the woman he spurned. Matters are complicated by the fact that his son loves the girl, too, and all the older man's power and money give him no advantage.

McCrea has the role of the son, capable Miss Farmer is seen in the dual role of both Arnold's loves. Walter Brennan, an Academy Award winner for supporting players, again demonstrates his ability as the Swede lumberman. Mady Christians, Mary Nash, Andrea Leeds and Frank Shields are others in the cast. The part for Miss Leeds has started her on the road to fame, and in later pictures, notably "Stage Door," she has established a name for herself.

meantime he serves entirely without pay.

Lindbergh had the rank of captain in the Missouri national guard when he made his 1927 flight to Paris. He was made a colonel both in the guard and the army air corps reserve upon his return. Since he has given technical advice to the service.

When his original colonel's commission expired in 1932, he accepted reappointment, and followed the same procedure upon its expiration this year.

Arden is one of the featured personalities on the famous "Musical Moments" revue, presented over KBST every Wednesday and Saturday at 7 o'clock. Test Drivers Described As The Safest

Writer Takes Few Rides, Finds No Daredevil Stuff

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—The old idea of the automobile test driver as a rip-snorting daredevil who takes his life in his hands daily, is completely exploded by a report in the American Magazine which describes in detail the operations of the proving grounds which each year are producing better, safer and more comfortable cars.

Beverly Smith, who rode thousands of miles with the test drivers during a survey of proving ground practices, calls them the safest in the world. They don't take half the chances that the average driver does, he reports, although they blow tires at 70 miles an hour just to see how the cars stand up under the strain, and skid them around over all sorts of roads.

Cars are driven thousands of miles without stopping, under every kind of weather and road condition, then taken completely down and each part is measured with a micrometer for wear. Sensitive microphones are placed inside to measure noise, for the benefit of the soundproofing engineers. Twenty-four hours a day, year after year, the test drivers' speed and skid and brake, and the engineers check the results to correct faults and improve operation.

"Some companies," Smith writes, "put more emphasis on actual driving on the public roads than they do on proving grounds. And all companies send a certain number of test drivers out with cars to all parts of the United States. There was a time when most of the testing on a motor car was done by test driving. But every year the testing done in laboratories becomes more ingenious and important. This can never replace the final test of the road, but it is often the means of finding flaws more quickly, and can sometimes turn up a weakness that a million miles of driving might not reveal.

"As I went, day after day, to the proving grounds, and testing laboratories, as I saw every imaginable problem of the automobile attacked on a dozen ingenious fronts, as I saw the wealth of human ingenuity expended, as I talked with the devoted men responsible—I was able to understand how automobiles are made so much better year after year. Changes greater than the rest of us can imagine are on the way."

Adult Education

Through the crazy quilt pattern of the most of the government agencies for restoring the abundant life runs a thread of gold. Sometimes it is so tenuous that it can scarcely be seen, at others it is wide and prominent.

Such for instance is the CCC that is training youths to habits of industry that will be of benefit to most of them in after life. Such is the planting of the shelterbelt trees that even yet is being given the ha-ha by some self-appointed conversationists while the trees are growing and showing their usefulness. And in this class also is the WPA project for adult education, at least in the reading and writing lines.

Four and a fraction people in United States out of each 100 counted in the last census, seven years ago, were illiterate and it is estimated that seven hundred thousand of the more than four million at that date have been taught in the last four years to read and write. It is hoped to raise this total to a round million by next year.

Quotas have been set for the states and of these Texas is given 22,000. It would seem easy to teach reading and writing to that many adults in the next few months. For surely any man or woman who cannot read and write must have the desire to be given that much education. That they are now unable to do so is almost certainly due to lack of opportunity in past years to acquire these essentials. With the opportunity and the urge that every agency should give them, they should get at least that much education and be able to gather their own information from books and newspapers instead of depending on hearsay. Adult education is one of the greatest enterprises now under way, and worth more than it costs.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Broadway Quiz:
Q—What of Noel Coward's activities since he has been in New York?
A—He checked into a 5th avenue hotel but departed for his apartment on the East river a few days later—too many callers... He hasn't written a line in three weeks... Then John Cecil Holm wanted him to stage his (Holm's), new comedy, "4 Cents a Word," but he declined. Noel has been a busy handshaker and first-nighter. At the "Star Wagon" opening he sat next to Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers.

Q—What of Sheila Barrett, the singing mime?
A—She can be deliciously unidentified... One of her new takeoffs is a caricature of Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind"... This is for her Nth return engagement at the Rainbow Room... The other day she gave a party, and the invitations went something like this: "Listen, you mug, I'm throwing a brawl. It's for cocktails (slugs to youse), from six-thirty till unconscious. Signed, Sheila (Boots and Girdle) Barrett, That Old Cowhand."

Q—What, on Broadway, is meant by side-stepping?
A—Perhaps this item will illustrate the point... The hit song of the moment is "The Lady Is a Tramp," sung by Miss Mitzi Green, in the musical "Babes in Arms"... Miss Mitzi decided to accept an after-midnight engagement at the Versailles club, but the backers of her show forbade her to sing "The Lady Is a Tramp"... This presented a serious problem, as the number is considered Mitzi's identifying tag, currently at least... So Lew Brown wrote a special song for her, entitled, "Why I Can't Sing The Lady Is a Tramp"... The McCoy, of course, is included in Brown's lyrics... If this isn't neat sidestepping, we don't know what is.

Q—What provoked that outburst of guffaws at the opening of the Paradise's new revue?
A—In it is a tiger scene... 16 little biddies are dressed as lady tigers, and a dancer cracks the whip over them a la Clyde Beatty... Then is lowered a special platform on which are a dozen stately young women holding live tigers by leashes. The "tigers" are docile enough... It develops, suddenly, that the "tigers" are really dogs in tiger skins... And without warning one of the "tigers" lost part of his costume... From his middle to his head he was some "tiger". But the rest of him was Great Dane.

Brown Derby drama: Grace Moore and a woman companion were sitting at the bar. Miss Moore ordered, with just the proper savoir faire, a fancy dish of some sort, and her friend jestingly applauded. At that moment passed Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom, sometime fighter, presently movie actor. Applause? Slapsie Maxie smiled, beamed, and took a bow...

America's first Shirley Temple was Jean Davenport, who, 30 years before the Civil War, made her New York stage debut at the age of eight.

THE CORNUCOPIA CLUB MEETS

We had intended to take up the 19th century this afternoon, said Mrs. William J. Rattler, president of the Cornucopia club, "but so many of the ladies have asked me to take up the program for the next session of congress that we will put off the 19th century until next week. I hope that each and every one of you agree with me that it can wait."

THOMPSON

The members of the Cornucopia have always stood aghast for what might be called without fear of successful contradiction the more abundant life, and the very name of our club symbolizes the horn of plenty filled to overflowing with the fruits and flowers of the field, given us for our happiness by bountiful Mother Nature. We are all, I am sure, interested in agriculture, and nobody more than the members of our agricultural committee whose zinnia campaign last summer was one of the brightest chapters in the history of this club. Congress is going to take up agriculture as soon as everybody is settled down in Washington in November, and as one of our mottoes is to be forehanded is to be forewarned, we thought it would be nice to take up agriculture at this meeting.

"One of the first things we run across in agriculture is the farmer, and you all remember the beautiful poem read by Miss Lottie Mc-Bee at one of our meetings last winter. The one called 'The Man With the Hoe,' that began 'Home-ward the weary plowman plows his way'. Now, the farmer is a wee because he always tries to make a big crop, and when he succeeds it breaks his heart because he gets more for a big crop than a little one, but he doesn't get as much a bushel or bale, and his wife can't buy a new dress, but you take out here in the cattle country—Mr. Rattler was talking to me about it the other night—steers are $17.50 a hundred, and even if nobody has any to sell that's a high price, and of course, high prices make everybody prosperous from the supposed Golden Gate to romantic New Orleans. So, ladies, what is the government going to do? It is going to arrange everything so prices will always be high and what the farmer doesn't grow one year he will consume the next by putting the normal granary during the lean years, just like the Israelites, as we are told in the Bible, did in Egypt. I always say there's nothing you can't find in the Bible if you look for it."

"Of course, we ladies want to help the farmer all we can, but we are all jolly little budgeters with homes and children to look after, and if prices get too high we can do just like we do in a picture is shown at the Strand for $1.50 and we wait 'til it comes to the Rivoli, right around the corner, popular prices of 50 cents. So if the farmer puts his grain in the granary so prices will be high he will get the government to let it out again so they will be low. And that's the whole idea behind the ever-normal, ever-weather, ever-high, ever-low, ever-lasting, ever-normal granary, so in that way prices will be high for the farmer and low for us people in the city, and the abundant life will be had by all."

"Now agriculture is almost as complicated a subject as the time we took up Egyptian architecture, but it's here to stay and one of the bright spots in the history of the Cornucopia club is how its members look facts fearlessly in the face. First, we have the farmer. We've already talked about him: Then we have wages and hours, and that will help everybody, because the higher the wages and the shorter the hours everybody will have more money to spend, and more time in which to spend it, so the people will work half the week and run around the rest of the week, spending the money they've made, and the farmer will be helped because all the people who have more money will be able to buy more eggs and butter and everything and the farmer can turn around and buy more shirts and shoes at higher prices."

"I was talking with Mr. Rattler about this last night, and he said, 'Mary Rattler,' he said, 'I started making whortleberry crates in this town 20 years ago—that was just before we were married—and,' he said, 'we made them by hand then and we make them by machinery now, but I can't keep up with the whortleberry crates makers in the East, who don't think a crate of laying out a million dollars for a new straight line crate-maker, and if they make me pay more wages and work my men fewer hours I'll just go out of business and then the big fellows will have what the government is denouncing.' That is what Mr. Rattler said, and I asked him what it was the government was denouncing. I mean what special thing, and he said, 'Mary, it's a monopoly.' So I said, 'Well, William Rattler, what will the government do then?' And he said, 'Then it will break up the monopoly.' So, of course, I said, 'Well, then, you will be right back where you started, won't you?'

And he said, 'You bet I will.' He done well appoint a committee. "The most wonderful part of it is that the government is going to arrange it just like one of those dining dinners when the maid has a better off than I am now, at that, what with taxes and strikes and cares and all. Provided I get a job, and there's always W.P.A. Now, ladies, don't you think that's wonderful? And I'm sure we all agree with Mrs. Roosevelt in her saying that housewives ought to get wages and hours, too. I think that's wonderful."

"Now, let's get a little bird's-eye view of the program that will be undertaken by our devoted public servants, the congressmen and their wives when they get back to Washington. We haven't got much time, because we have got to take up the unfinished business and the report of the climbing wistaria committee. So I'll just say it in a few words. They're going to have a spring cleaning in Washington, ladies, only it will be in the fall, or, as the government calls it, reorganization, so we can do all these things quick. So instead of all the talk that we have been accustomed to, we are going to have a centralized administration to get things done, just like I always said in this club, if you want things

Chapter 15 HORSEFACE'S ADVICE

David left that night before dinner, refusing Hesters' offer of further hospitality with an easy grace. But before he went, he managed a word alone with Nina.

"I've not finished with you yet, young lady," he warned her. "When you kiss 'em, they stay kissed, my darling. More anon."

"More—kisses?"

"You bet. And wootings, and betrothal... and maybe a diamond-ship engagement ring, that you'll actually be able to see... if you look hard enough and use a magnifying glass."

David, you agreed that I hadn't committed myself, didn't I?"

"But certainly more kisses."

"I said 'you bet, didn't I?'"

"Thank you, for doing what you did, David."

But he only said: "Oh... Nina..." and turned away, abruptly.

She watched him walk down the hall, a little stiffly. There was a little cross of white court-plaster, where the blood had trickled out from his temple.

For some reason, Nina's eyes filled with tears.

One of Those Scenes?

In February, Aunt Carrie (Horse-face) Van Alstyne had a little talk with Nina. She had sent for her, and they were having tea in her extremely moderne apartment. There were chairs made of chromium plated tubes and silvered leather. There were black satin hangings and black glass tables, and everything that wasn't black or silver was green. Definitely green... You had to be careful what you gave Aunt Carrie.

Aunt Carrie thought it was all a huge joke, particularly the arty young man who had done it for her.

"Don't I look absurd in this place?" she had asked at her housewarming... and she did. But then, Aunt Carrie looked a little absurd, anyway, anywhere... so it didn't make much difference.

She was a tall, thin woman, a little older than Honey. She never gave a thought to clothes—usually accepting the garments asleashed hanging on her, and walking out with them.

Her greatest talents were a superficial sophistication that covered an extremely warm and simple heart... and a flair for getting the most possible fun out of life.

Today, however, she was unduly serious.

"Nina, my dear, this is going to have to be one of those little talks that are called (loathsome expression) 'woman to woman.'"

Nina began to feel uneasy, but she took a deep breath and said she was ready.

"It's about our mutual concern: Honey." Now Nina began to grow not, all over. "Get this clear in your head first, child. I think her marriage is a grand thing; but just at this point I think it needs a little supervising."

Was this going to be like one of those scenes you see on the stage, with each character knowing exactly what the other means, and yet talking in parables?

"I've noticed a very slight change in Richard lately," Carrie went on, "and I think I know what's the trouble. You can help me nip it in the bud, Nina, if you will."

Oh, it was going to be one of those scenes. So Horse-face knew it, all did she? Nina thought it was a miracle that everyone hadn't noticed... or maybe they had. Things had reached a stage where it was impossible for Nina not to realize that Richard was tremendously attracted to her... he made no effort to disguise it, and she supposed that if anything had pulled the wool over people's—Honey's—eyes, it was his very openness.

Some nights when she lay asleep from thinking about it, she thought that her stepfather himself, must be unaware of his feeling for her and some nights, particularly when she was worn out with conflicting emotions, she thought that he was being diabolically clever. You couldn't pin anything on him, if he took his coffee up to her room in the morning, he announced it beforehand, when he kissed her, he kissed her in front of Honey; if he was holding her hand when his wife came in, he continued to hold it.

All this could be interpreted in two ways, and Nina, loving him, preferred to think that he was not—deliberate. It made him a nicer person. It made her feel like a nicer person... if anything could, these days.

But Carrie was saying something that started her thinking. "Your mother is so completely out of her head about him, that she has reverted to her school days. I haven't seen such fawning over a man since I made a fool of myself falling in love with my biology professor... I fell out of love with him, incidentally, when he practically drooled at the mouth with delight over a juicy ox eye... but that is neither here nor there, is it?"

But it certainly was. Good old juicy ox eye... Horse-face was evidently on the wrong track.

"It's entirely to his credit, of course," Carrie continued, "that Richard is the finished product he is. You and I both know that he must have had a great many women in love with him, Nina, and frankly, I think he's getting a touch fed up with Honey's—adulation."

It began to be funny.

"My thought was, that if you would help me persuade your mother to accompany me on a little trip south, it would give Richard a bit of a breathing spell."

It ceased to be funny—immediately.

She said quickly: "I think Horse—er, Aunt Carrie..."

"Go on, say it. Say 'Horse-face'..."

"I think, darling, that you are on the wrong track. I mean, I think you're mistaken. I mean I think everything's just fine."

But Horse-face had the bit between her teeth.

"Well, you're crazy if you do," she said, in no uncertain terms; and she said: "A little lesson" as though it were: "A little arsenic!"

"Aunt Carrie, dear, here's the thing; you only see them at intervals. I'm with them all the time. Don't you really think I'm more in a position to see what's going on than you?"

Carrie frowned. "Not necessarily. Don't you know the way it is when a person's getting bald? He sees it and tends it every day, and thinks he's getting along fine. It takes an outsider to come along and tell him how much he's really lost."

"I'd Be Lost!"

Mrs. Van Alstyne's mild, humorous face was no longer a friendly, amusing thing to Nina. It had assumed dragon proportions.

Nina said: "Please don't think me rude, Aunt Carrie, or maybe I am... but I do ask you to leave this to me... Not to meddle."

"Dragon-face was not in the least put out."

"I've always meddled in Honey's life—for the best, Nina; and I always shall. You simply don't want your mother to go away. You're less mature than I thought, dear child. Some crumpets?"

"No!" Nina was getting excited. "How ridiculous for you to say I don't want Honey to go away! Let them both go away, that's a thought... a change for them both. That would fix it."

Carrie sighed.

"This isn't getting us anywhere, baby. I'm not going to abduct your mother, but if I can persuade her to go away with me for a few weeks, I shall certainly do so. I'm sorry we can't see eye to eye about this. Now let's talk about something else." Presently Nina left, and in half an hour she was talking to Honey.

All the way home she had thought: "I'd be lost!" "I'd be sunk!" "I'd lose my head, surely, surely. She can't leave us alone together!"

Honey, dear, please don't say I said anything about it, but Aunt Carrie mentioned something about wanting you to go south with her the other day... just you. You wouldn't do it, would you, darling? It would be an awfully dirty trick to Richard. Who's your still a bride?"

She waited in an agony of suspense for her mother's reply.

But Honey was noncommittal.

"Why, I don't know, baby—maybe she changed her mind; she hasn't said anything to me yet. We'll see."

The next day Honey brought up the subject again; herself.

"You know, I'm rather considering that trip idea, Nina. Richard told me last night that he thought I looked a bit peaked." She paused, and then went on, anxiously: "Do you think I look peaked, baby? Do you?"

Nina suddenly imagined that her mother did; although it was probably just that Honey was nervous at the thought... she was always so passionately anxious to look blooming for Richard.

"Why, I hadn't noticed it, Honey, dear. But I certainly wouldn't leave him, even if I did go away for a while. Takes him with you! I think he'd have every right to feel hurt..."

She simply had to let it go at that.
