

Christless Christmas Fought by Nation's Schools

By DAVID L. LANGFORD

A move to take Christ out of Christmas in schools and other public places is drawing protests reminiscent of the prayer controversy of another time.

"I am disturbed our country is falling apart from the inside before Russia or anyone else has had a chance to come after us," says one Tulsa, Okla., teenager.

He is Pat Calhoun, 16, one of about 400 people who turned out at a meeting of the Tulsa Classroom Teachers Association last week to argue over a recommendation that teachers avoid religious themes in holiday programs.

Nothing was resolved at that meeting, and elsewhere the American Civil Liberties Union has gone to court to try to silence the singing of "Silent Night" and other carols in classrooms.

In Baytown, Texas, the ACLU's actions prompted angry citizens to organize the United Legal Christian Association UCLA - that's ACLU spelled backwards - to help fight the lawsuits.

In other cities, the effort to ban religious symbolism has spread beyond the schools.

The city attorney of Des Moines, Iowa, has said city employees cannot depict shepherds and wise men at the annual nativity pageant at the Children's Zoo.

In a seven-page opinion issued after a year-long debate, Philip Riley said the city "may not legally sponsor or endorse such a religious pageant."

The debate began last year when Steven Brown, director of the Iowa Civil Liberties Union, said the pageant violates the U.S. Constitution's guarantee of separation of church and state. He said the pageant was effectively an endorsement of a religious celebration.

The city fathers in Traverse City, Mich., decided not to display the traditional nativity scene in a town park this year after the local Human Rights Commission argued the scene could provoke a lawsuit.

Similarly, the Texas State Board of Control is expected to rule this week on a proposed ban against religious displays or meetings in the state capitol.

For almost two years, a lawsuit against the Goose Creek school district in Baytown, Texas, has been in a federal court. The suit, filed by the ACLU in behalf of a Jewish woman with two children, seeking a ban on such practices as reading the Bible over the school's public address system and praying at football games and PTA meetings.

In the fall of 1977, shortly after the suit was filed, school officials sent out a directive prohibiting Christmas carols, manager scenes and any reference to Jesus of Christ in holiday programs.

When the word spread through the small community east of Houston, a hymn-singing crowd of 3,000 gathered to protest the directive.

The ban was lifted and the board hired a noted constitutional lawyer, David Gibbs of Ohio, to lead the court fight.

The case has not yet gone to trial.

The city fathers in Traverse City, Mich., decided not to display the traditional nativity scene in a town park this year after the local Human Rights Commission argued the scene could provoke a lawsuit.

Similarly, the Texas State Board of Control is expected to rule this week on a proposed ban against religious displays or meetings in the state capitol.

The church-state issue also surfaced in Sioux Falls, S.C.

where the ACLU wants a federal judge to ban carols in the schools.

ACLU attorney Stephen Pevar, who filed the suit on behalf of six Sioux Falls residents, says he agrees that less than one-third of the music sung in the school has a religious content.

"But if even one religious song was sung it would be unconstitutional," Pevar said. "If the judge finds that singing these songs is a religious exercise, then we win, because religious exercises are prohibited in schools."

Rae Underwood, a music teacher at Salk Elementary School in Tulsa, collected 637 signatures on a petition protesting the recommendation that religious programs be avoided. The petition charged the ban could be psychologically damaging to students of the Christian faith.

"Christian attorneys should be retained to uphold our wishes and letters should be written to our representatives requesting their support," them music teacher said.

But Claude Dyer, president of the Tulsa teachers' association, said he fears court action.

Bowl's Future In Doubt

ATLANTA (AP) - A decision to move the annual Peach Bowl football game to Christmas Day so it could be televised nationally may have backfired and put the bowl's future in doubt, according to a bowl official.

Poor ticket sales have put the future of the Peach Bowl in doubt, said George Crumbley, the executive director of the bowl committee.

"When we sought a national television contract, Christmas Day was our only option," Crumbley said. "But I think this date has turned out to be our No. 1 obstacle."

This year's Peach Bowl features hometown Georgia Tech against Purdue at Atlanta Stadium.

"Unless we sell 24,149 tickets locally, excluding what Tech sells, the Peach Bowl's chances of surviving are slim and none," Crumbley said. "Unless something happens soon, 1978 will be our smallest crowd." The stadium seats more than 60,000 persons.

Last spring, the Peach Bowl was warned by the extra events committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association that it must sell at least 40 percent of its tickets locally to keep its NCAA sanction. "It is the position of the NCAA that if a community doesn't support a bowl, it doesn't want the bowl," said Ralph McFillen of the NCAA's extra events committee.

Twins Sign Wynegar

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) - The Minnesota Twins have signed catcher Butch Wynegar to a two-year contract.

Club spokesman Laurel Prieb said Wednesday the 22-year-old Wynegar received a "nice raise" over his previous contract. No figure were given.

Wynegar joined the American League baseball team in 1976. He batted .229 last year with four home runs and 45 runs batted in.

Steelers Lead AFC All-Pro Selections

NEW YORK (AP) - Quarterback Terry Bradshaw, the leading passer in the American Football Conference, and nine of his Pittsburgh Steelers teammates were named to the AFC Pro Bowl team today that will oppose the National Football Conference squad Jan. 29.

Pittsburgh, the AFC's Central Division champion with a 13-2 record - the best mark in the National Football League - and heading for its seventh straight playoff appearance, landed four players on the offensive unit and six on the defensive team.

Wide receiver Lynn Swann and center Mike Webster will join Bradshaw on the starting offensive squad, while running back Franco Harris will be in reserve.

The Pittsburgh starters on defense will be tackle Joe Greene and outside linebacker Jack Ham, with end L.C. Greenwood, middle linebacker Jack Lambert, cornerback Mel Blount and safety Mike Wagner in reserve.

The 40-man team - 20 offensive players, 17 defensive players and three specialists - were chosen in balloting by the 14 AFC head coaches and the NFL Players Association members on each team. The players' vote from each team was a consensus of the entire team. The players with the most votes among the 28 voters were the designated starters for the nationally televised ABC game at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

The results of the balloting were announced by AFC President Lamar Hunt and the NFL Players Association.

Earl Campbell, the sensational running back from the Houston Oilers, was the only rookie chosen to either the offensive or defensive units.

The Denver Broncos, champions of the West Division for the second straight year, placed six players on the two teams, including four defensive starters - end Lyle Alzado, middle linebacker Randy Gradishar, cornerback Louis Wright and safety Bill Thompson. Other Broncos named were reserve outside linebacker Tom Jackson and kick return specialist Rick Upchurch.

The other division champion, the New England Patriots, will be represented by five players - starting offensive tackle Leon Gray, a starting guard John Hannah, reserve tight end Russ Francis, reserve running back Sam Cunningham and starting cornerback Mike Haynes.

Other offensive starters include wide receiver Wesley

Walker of the New York Jets, tight end Dave Casper of the Oakland Raiders, tackle Russ Washington of the San Diego Chargers, guard Joe DeLamielleure of the Buffalo Bills and running back Delvin Williams of the Miami Dolphins.

The remaining defensive starters will be end Elvin Bethea of Houston, tackle Louie Kelcher of San Diego, outside linebacker Robert Brazile of Houston, and safety Thom Darden of the Cleveland Browns.

The coaches and the NFC team will be announced later. The NFC won the 1978 game 14-13, tying the series 4-4. The list of players selected to the American Football Conference team for the NFL Pro Bowl Game to be played

Teaff To Remain At Baylor

WACO, Tex. (AP) - Baylor Coach Grant Teaff, strongly courted by Oklahoma State as the new head coach to turn around the sinking Cowboy football fortunes, was expected to announce today he will stay at the school where he brought a Southwest Conference championship four years ago.

Based on statements Teaff made Wednesday night in Houston before speaking at a high school banquet, Teaff apparently was leaning toward remaining at Baylor.

He was scheduled to make his plans known in a "clarifying" statement today.

When someone said Baylor fans "will be anxious to hear what your statement is," Teaff smiled and said, "I think they'll be happy."

"My plans as we talk right at this moment are to remain at Baylor. The program is in excellent shape. We have recruited well. We had some things happen to us last year, but it doesn't diminish where our program is now," Teaff said.

"It's all kind of gotten distorted. When I get back home, I'm going to talk with my family and I'll have a clarifying statement tomorrow," Teaff told The Associated Press Wednesday night in Houston.

Baylor's Bears lost their first five games this season, all by razor-thin margins, and finished with a 3-8 mark after upsetting Texas A&M and Texas. Teaff conceded that the disappointing year played a part in his considering the offer from Oklahoma State.

"Certainly if we were in the top five teams and going to a bowl, I wouldn't even have consented to visit Oklahoma State. But I am impressed with the athletic director up there and his desire to have a program," Teaff said. Jim Stanely was fired two weeks ago as the Cowboys' coach. Teaff's name surfaced promptly as one of the leading choices of OSU officials.

Baylor athletic director Jack Patterson said he and Teaff visited after lunch Wednesday about the offer from Oklahoma State.

"I told Carter that for our good he needs to reach a final decision as soon as possible," said Patterson, a longtime personal friend.

"I'm not a good mind reader. But I told Grant to try to put all things in the right spot to make a decision. I told him to make a balance sheet with all the goods and all the minuses. Put down what was best for him and his family and go from there."

Patterson was instrumental in bringing Teaff to Baylor seven years ago from Angelo State in San Angelo, Texas, making Teaff the nation's youngest head coach at a major college.

Teaff was the College Coach of the Year in 1974 when he led Baylor to its first Southwest Conference title in 50 years.

Swiss Take Special Slalom

MADONNA DI CAMPIGLIO, Italy - Martial Donnet and Peter Luescher scored a 1-2 triumph in the special slalom race, giving the Swiss men's team its first World Cup special slalom victory in nine years.

Donnet had a combined time of 1 minute, 31.59 seconds over two heats. Luescher's time was 1:31.87. West Germany's Christian Neureuther finished third with a time of 1:32.05.
