

Carter Urges Wage-Price Controls

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says most of us don't have to be led into temptation...we find it ourselves.

"STRICTLY BULL...and udder attractions" is the name chosen for the follies to be staged here Nov. 13-15 by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. Maestro Charlie Bell will introduce the Broadway director to potential cast members here Monday night in the HSB community room.

A PUBLIC RECEPTION to formally introduce Mike Carr and his wife, Janice, is scheduled from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Thursday. He's the new executive vice president of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. The Garden Beautiful Club's "Tour of Homes" is set Friday from 2 to 6 p.m. And, remember the Chamber Singers will be in concert Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

LAST YEAR AS the cool weather first made its presence felt, we made a report to consumers on the pitfalls of purchasing firewood. With the first hint of winter coming this week, it may be in order to repeat the cautions.

Since this is a section of the country where we don't usually go out and cut our wood, or know much about measurements in buying wood, we could get "burned."

Visiting Artist

Bluebonnet Elementary School has begun what it calls an "art experience" program in an effort to improve its fine arts program, according to Principal Rodney Laubhan. Amy Gilliland, above, this week is working with third graders in the program, which entails using local or area artists to work with each grade level. Last week, Anna Kovacs worked with sixth graders. Other artists who have agreed to help students include Steffani Job, a West Texas State University student, who will work with kindergarten pupils, Wanda Millican of Friona, who will instruct fourth graders. Art work done by Bluebonnet's sixth and third graders will be on display from 7-8 p.m. Thursday during the school's annual open house. Parents are invited.

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter says American workers who cooperate with his new anti-inflation program may qualify for limited federal cost-of-living insurance and businesses will be rewarded with eligibility for government contracts.

Carter used a carrot-and-stick approach in calling on business and labor Tuesday night to support new guidelines of 7 percent for wages and an overall 5.75 percent for prices next year.

He also said the federal budget deficit will be slashed to $30 billion or below in 1980 and that only one of every two federal job openings will be filled.

All Americans must be prepared to make some sacrifices in the fight against inflation, the president said.

"We must face a time of national austerity," he said. "Hard choices are necessary if we want to avoid consequences that are even worse."

White House inflation adviser Robert S. Strauss said Carter would announce later today who he wants to head the new anti-inflation program. The president is known to have offered the job to Alfred E. Kahn, 61, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

If successful, the wage and price guidelines would reduce inflation to between 6 percent and 6.5 percent in 1979, down from 8 percent this year, Carter's advisers said.

"This is a standard for everyone to follow. Everyone," Carter said in a 20-minute television address from the White House.

Referring to the 7 percent wage guidelines, Carter said, "From tonight on, every contract signed and every pay raise granted should meet this standard," which includes fringe benefits.

Workers with hourly wages below $4, about 26 percent of the full-time labor force, will be exempt from the guidelines.

To make the plan appealing to workers, Carter said he will ask Congress in January to approve a so-called real wage insurance program providing if inflation surpasses 7 percent in 1979 - tax rebates to those whose wage increases are limited to 7 percent.

Workers whose wage hikes exceed the guideline would not qualify for the rebate, which would be paid at year's end by the Internal Revenue Service. Those who agree to the guideline would get a rebate compensating them for the degree to which inflation exceeds 7 percent. For example, if inflation was 8 percent, the wage earner would be entitled to a rebate equal to 1 percent of his or her salary.

Reaction to the speech was mixed. "Voluntary controls don't work," former President Gerald R. Ford said. "Once you start down the road, you wind

Band Receives 20th Straight Division I

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Hereford High School earned its 20th consecutive Division I rating in University Interscholastic League marching band competition Tuesday in Frank Kimbrough Memorial Stadium near Canyon.

In the process, Hereford impressed one judge so much that he called Randy Vaughn's marchers "the best band I've seen today."

Bill Spencer, Abilene High band director and one of three judges who gave Hereford a "I", made the remark on a critique sheet after Hereford marched next to last.

Two other schools received Division I ratings—Pampa, which marched before Hereford, and Amarillo High, the last band to perform. Amarillo Caprock and Amarillo Palo Duro each earned a Division II, while Amarillo Tascosa scored a "III."

HHS performed "Winner's Circle," "Round and Round," "Español," "Basin Street Blues" and "American Folk Spectacular."

Harris Brinson, director at San Angelo State University and a judge, congratulated Hereford on his critique sheet and wrote, "This is a beautiful band. Some fine players and excellent teaching."

Dr. Charles Traylor, director at Abilene Christian University, stated, "I sure appreciate your power with constraint. Thanks for making pretty sounds with balance and blend."

Vaughn said his band "put it all together—we've played well this year at halftime shows, but we really came through in front of the judges."

The HHS band will march in the Homecoming Parade beginning at 2:30 p.m. Friday in front of the high school. Stanton and La Plata Junior High bands also will march in the parade, which will move from Union to Ave. F, left on Ave. F to Park Ave., right on Park Ave. to Ave. B, left onto Main, south on Main to 2nd Street and east past the intersection of 2nd and Schley.

The high school band also can be heard Friday night when Hereford hosts Plainview in the Homecoming football contest. The band will perform the same numbers that it played Tuesday.

Homecoming Festivities Surround Hereford Game

Bell ringing, a pep rally and a parade—they're all a part of Friday's Hereford High School Homecoming festivities which precede the 7:30 p.m. football contest between Plainview and the host Whitefaces.

Halls and classrooms are being decorated this week for the event. The best decorated rooms will receive prizes on Friday.

Students will ring the HHS victory bell continuously from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Friday. Classes will be dismissed at 2:30 p.m. Friday in all schools so students will be able to watch the parade.

A pep rally will begin at 2:15 p.m. in the high school gymnasium. The public is invited, according to HHS principal Jerry Don George.

The parade will begin in the high school parking lot around 3 p.m. and will move downtown on Main St.

"The route is changed for the parade," said Gene Brock, faculty coordinator of the event. "We'll be going east on 2nd this year instead of west. Otherwise, everything is the same."

Brock said the parade will have the largest number of entries "since I've been here."

There will be 27 car units, six floats, 12 marching units, which will include the high school band and junior high bands, and a horses' unit.

Prizes will be awarded to the most original float, most original car, most expressive of the theme (float and car) and best overall (float and car). Theme for the parade will be "Famous Songs, Today and Yesterday."

Entries must have their floats finished by 10 p.m. Thursday, Brock said.

At halftime of the football game, this year's Homecoming queen will be crowned. Candidates are seniors Denise Albracht, Lisa Duggan and Nora Urias. Junior and sophomore attendants are Mary Griego and Sharon Lowerie, respectively.

The Friday night football contest will be the District 4-AAAA opener for Hereford.

Plainview, for most of the season, has been ranked among the state's top Class AAAA teams.

Wildorado Women To Meet Bitsy

Women of the Wildorado area will honor Bitsy Hill, wife of Democratic gubernatorial candidate John Hill, with a reception at the home of Mrs. Glenn Allred of Wildorado tomorrow.

The reception is scheduled for 4-6 p.m., with Mrs. Hill expected to arrive at the Allred farm via helicopter.

Members of the Deaf Smith County chapter of Women Involved in Farm Economics are expected to be on hand to greet Mrs. Hill, and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Pipeline Blast Kills 5 Persons

BROOKSIDE VILLAGE, Texas (AP) - The explosion of a natural gas pipeline into a giant blowtorch seared flesh, killed five persons and turned a trailer park into a battle scene - wrecked homes, blackened fields, and the weeping, screaming injured.

"When we got here it looked like something from a war," said Frank Noe, a volunteer firefighter. "We found the first body in the field and it was still burning. We put it out."

"I went through World War II, but I never saw anything like this."

Hill, Clements Disagree Over Campaign Tactics

HOUSTON (AP) - Bill Clements, the Republican candidate for governor was complimentary of his opponent, Democrat John Hill, when asked during a televised debate if the campaign had been dirty.

"I have tried to keep the campaign on a fairly high level, and I think my opponent has tried to do the same," Clements said. "There are real differences between us, and I think we have been able to talk about these differences."

Hill could not say the same of Clements, however. "There have been a lot of allegations made by my Republican opponent that were false, and I'm not going to try to characterize what that is in politics," the attorney general said. "But I don't approve of that kind of campaign."

The unexplained explosion of the 30-inch pipeline ripped through the mobile home park as its residents slept: at 3 a.m. Tuesday. At least 50 residents and rescue workers were injured, and one woman was still missing a day later. About half the 23 mobile homes at the Royal Mobile Home Park were destroyed.

Jule Bertoth, the first police officer to reach the scene, said he was met by the screams of panicked residents.

"People rushed my car," the Pearl and police officer said. "A lot of them were screaming, many were in shock."

The injured, he said, had "flesh dripping from their bodies like water."

All around, the rural mobile home park was a twisted mass of metal and charred ruins, steel frames and trailer home siding and burned-out cars, their paint boiled away by the furnace-like heat.

A 30-foot crater smoldered after the gas fire burned itself out some three hours after it began.

One resident described the blast. "I thought it was a tornado," said Kathie Mahaffey, who had been asleep in her trailer with her two infant daughters. "Everything started falling off the walls and I knew it was time to get out."

Others felt the same fear, but died. The five victims were found face down in an open field - apparently fleeing for their lives.

Carr Reception Planned Thursday at Chamber

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce will conduct a public reception Thursday from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. in the C of C office to formally introduce the executive vice president, Mike Carr, and his wife, Janice.

Refreshments will be served by the welcoming committee of the Women's Division. Speedy Nieman, C of C president, noted today that all citizens are invited to go by and meet the new chamber manager.

Carr was named earlier this month to succeed Bob Duckworth as the chamber executive. Duckworth left Sept. 1 and Carr assumed the duties Oct. 16.

Carr is the former manager of Gibson's Discount and has lived in Hereford since 1972. He married the former Janice Newsom of Hereford. A native of Crowley, he lived in Pampa for many years and graduated from high school there. He earned a business administration degree at McMurry College in 1971.

The informal reception will be a "come-and-go" affair in the chamber board room. The C of C office is located at 701 N. Main St.

Thanksgiving Turkeys To Be Sparse, Costly

WASHINGTON (AP) - Some Americans may have to settle for cacklers rather than gobblers with their dressing and cranberry sauce this Thanksgiving. The Agriculture Department says there aren't enough turkeys to go around.

But cooks hunting for plentiful fixings shouldn't have any problem finding a broiler chicken. And for those really determined to make the most of what is in good supply, there is the option of stuffing the bird with onions and peanuts.

The USDA predicted Tuesday that November shoppers will find a "light" turkey supply, a measure the department translates as "less than adequate, not enough for normal needs."

Although officials weren't predicting figures for supply and demand, they said this is the first time in at least a decade the supply has been designated "light" this time of year.

USDA reported 361.7 million pounds of frozen turkeys held in cold-storage warehouses as of Sept. 30.

That's a lot of potential drumsticks, wings and breasts for American tables, but the total is down 12 percent from a year ago and 21 percent from 1976.

"Even if it goes up slightly, that doesn't mean we'll have enough," said Stanley Prochaska, information director of the department's Agricultural Marketing Service.

Supermarkets may not actually run out of turkeys, he said. Instead, it's likely the low supply and traditional high demand will send prices rising, convincing shoppers to play down tradition this Thanksgiving.

Department economists have been saying for months that turkey prices would be up this fall, perhaps by 10 to 15 percent from a year ago and maybe more for certain kinds of birds. But Tuesday's USDA report brought the shortage into sharper focus.

USDA officials said Tuesday that as nearly as they could figure, supplies of turkey in November had been plentiful or at least adequate back to 1969 or earlier. The problem isn't a cutback in production, department officials say. In fact turkey farmers have stepped up production this year.

But consumer demand all year has been heavy for all sorts of poultry due to high prices of red meat. And turkey producers can't suddenly gear up for the end of the year since "production is year-round now, not like it was years ago when there'd be a big slaughter late in the year," Prochaska said.

The USDA marketing alert for November said there will be plentiful supplies of broiler chicken, eggs, fresh apples, pears, cranberries, potatoes, sweet potatoes, onions and peanuts.

Arsonist Blamed For California Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP) - An arsonist using a paper matchbook and a burning cigarette - deliberately started the worst of 11 brush fires that burned 38,000 acres and swallowed up 186 homes in hills and canyons surrounding Los Angeles, authorities say.

"The evidence indicates the fire was intentionally set," said Los Angeles County sheriff's Deputy Wylie Burrow. "The investigation is continuing. It was definitely arson."

The arson blaze, which began in the rustic western suburb of Agoura, ravaged 161 expensive homes and 25,000 acres on its 10-mile trek across the Santa Monica Mountains to the sea at Malibu.

The fire damaged or destroyed homes belonging to actors Jack Lemons, Nick Nolte and Clint Walker, actresses Ali MacGraw and Katharine Ross, singer Neil Young and comedian Buddy Hackett.

Homes belonging to former Gov. Ronald Reagan, actors Steve McQueen and Peter Strauss, CBS sports commentator Jayne Kennedy and Los Angeles Rams owner Carroll Rosenbloom barely escaped.

County Fire Department Inspector Bill Hughey said the fire was 80 percent contained early today.

Another county fire official indicated other fires that also sent hundreds fleeing from their homes might also have been arsons.

Israelis Consider Crucial Decisions

JERUSALEM (AP) - The Israeli Cabinet headed toward crucial decisions on the draft peace with Egypt today as Cairo was reported pushing to strengthen the proposed treaty's link with the Palestinian issue.

Official sources said President Carter cabled Prime Minister Menachem Begin urging the Israelis to accept the draft, asserting the negotiators had produced a good agreement in Washington.

But after 11 hours of meetings Monday and Tuesday, the Cabinet made no announcement of its position.

Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan and Defense Minister Ezer Weizman, the Israeli negotiators, briefed Parliament's powerful Foreign Affairs and Security Committee.

Former Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin, a member of the committee, said afterward the draft left open "certain questions which require concrete answers."

Energy Minister Yitzhak Modai was quoted by Israel Radio as saying the text "raises doubts whether this means real peace or just a tactical step which is not peace."

While they gave no specifics, the newspaper Haaretz said doubts centered on military arrangements for Israeli withdrawal from Sinai and political formulas for normalizing relations with Egypt.

Senior Citizens Head Favors Amendment

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Elderly Texans need passage of the "Tax Relief Amendment" Nov. 7 as protection against inflated home values and taxes, committee of senior citizens organizations said Tuesday.

"This will benefit people who are on such very limited incomes and who are not profiting one bit by inflation in the price of homes," said Ernest Cabe, retired Austin school administrator.

Cabe and other representatives of the ad hoc Steering Committee of Texas Retired Citizens Organizations announced support of the amendment at a capitol news conference.

"We want it clearly understood that, even though we have an obvious interest in the benefits accruing to older citizens, we are convinced the Tax Relief Amendment is of benefit to all citizens in a fiscally responsible manner," he said.

The amendment would give homeowners a $5,000 exemption from school taxes and would authorize the Legislature to give the elderly and disabled up to an additional $10,000 exemption.

Cabe said the steering committee's member organizations represent between 600,000 and a million Texans, including members of the Texas Farm Bureau. The committee was formed after the Texas Legislature approved the amendment in special session this summer.

Lion Mauls Owner After Breaking Chain

TALLASSEE, Ala. (AP) - A pet lioness who broke free and fatally mauled her owner's wife had been restrained by a galvanized steel clasp that was inadequate to hold an animal of that size, says the Elmore County coroner.

Dr. Joseph Benson, the coroner, said the chain that held the lion was "more than adequate," but the clasp that bound the chain to the animal's collar "wasn't adequate at all."

Rickie Haynie, 28, the dead woman's husband, bought the lion from a Florida zoo last Sunday. He told officers he wanted to breed the new lion with a male lion he owned and sell the cubs to circuses.

Both animals were killed by officers following the attack.

Elmore County Sheriff Sidney Thrash said the lioness apparently broke the clasp when she lunged at 26-year-old Margaret Haynie as the woman walked past the animal's shelter near her home Tuesday.

Thrash said the lion killed Mrs. Haynie then dragged her body some 25 to 30 feet into the woods near her secluded home in rural Elmore County.

up with government wage and price controls.

"It may be good politics temporarily," he said, "but it's bad economics...I condemn the president for starting us down that path."

Ford Motor Co. pledged "to cooperate promptly and...to assist the administration in its fight against inflation."

"We are encouraged by the president's stated determination to hold the line on government spending," said Ford spokesman Fred G. Secrest.

Many leaders of organized labor, critical of those parts of the plan that had become known in advance of the announcement, withheld comment initially.

The guidelines approach had also drawn a negative reaction in advance from many business leaders.

Carter, admitting his past program to combat inflation has not worked, underlined the economic danger if inflation continues unchecked. He said it is reducing purchasing power, undermining the dollar and could worsen unemployment.

Just a couple of hours before he spoke, an administration official conceded that inflation has worsened in recent weeks and will probably be "somewhat" over 8 percent by the end of the year, the first time anyone in the administration has said it would top 8 percent.

That compares with inflation last year of 6.9 percent and an original inflation forecast for 1978 of 6.1 percent.

Carter said he continues to oppose using an intentional economic recession or mandatory wage and price controls as answers to inflation.

He said he also opposes any additional cut in federal income taxes, because of the potential that would have for spurring inflation, although a White House source said Carter has decided to sign the $18.7 billion tax cut bill approved by Congress.

Carter said additional measures will be presented to the next Congress, which convenes in January, but gave no clues, except for the inflation insurance for workers, as to what they would include.

Carter appealed to what is obviously a doubtful public to give the program a chance, saying public ridicule would reduce the possibility of success.

"If there is one thing I am asking of every American...it is to give this program a chance to work," he said.

To help monitor compliance with the guidelines, the Council on Wage and Price Stability will focus on price actions by the nation's 400 largest corporations with annual business of more than $500 million.

"We're not interested in Mom-and-Pop stores," Charles L. Schultze, the chairman of Carter's Council of Economic Advisers, told reporters.

Besides fringe benefits, rents and professional fees are covered by the guidelines, but dividends are not.

Carter said the administration will seek to force business compliance through such tools as the government's $80 billion in annual purchases from private industry.

The government, however, lacks authority to force anyone to roll-back a wage or price increase.

feet long, 4 feet wide, and 4 feet high...and that's a lot of wood. Since few fireplaces accommodate a 4-foot log, firewood is usually cut to shorter lengths, but if the logs are 2 feet long, it takes two rows of them 8 feet long and 4 high to make a cord.

A "rick" is a local fire measure, and it may or may not be half a cord. The standard definition is for a stack of wood 8 feet long, 4 feet high, and a width equal to the length of one stick. If those sticks average a foot-and-a-half long, your rick could add up to a lot less than half a cord.

Some of us don't know much about firewood except that it creates a place to get some quick warmth and to see the glow of embers on the hearth. Others are careful in their choice of woods. Naturally, they don't want green wood unless they are using it season a year in the back yard.

Hickory, oak and pecan are good long-burning hardwoods with high heat output, but hard to start burning. Pine, cedar and cottonwoods burn fast and bright, put out less heat, and make fine kindling. A good mixture of hardwoods and soft-wood is ideal, according to those in the know.

The best bet, on all counts, is to buy your firewood from some of the local people who are in the business and will cut, deliver, and stack it here and when you want it - and charge you a fair price. As the cold weather approaches, you can usually find local firewood dealers listed in our classified ad columns.

taping of the television show Tuesday at the studios of KPRC-TV, when the Socialist Workers Party candidate for governor, Sara Jean Johnston, confronted Hill.

He was telling the press entourage that he had "won" the "debate," which was actually a question-answer session between Miller and the candidates, and mostly a draw.

She stepped into the circle of reporters, demanded a reason why she wasn't invited to participate in the event and challenged Hill to set a date when he would debate her.

He declined, however, and told her to talk to his staff since it took care of his campaign details. He reminded her that she would have a chance to debate him later during a meeting of gubernatorial candidates in Dallas.

Clements had long since slipped out the door and driven away.

Texas, education and energy were the major subjects covered during the telecast.

Hill opened the show with a pledge to veto any state income tax or "any other tax bill," and to give voters property tax relief.

He promised to work for decrease in utility rates, the abolition of the sales tax on utility bills, and a cut in inheritance taxes.

Clements emphasized the fact that he is "a businessman, not a politician," and promised to improve education in the state by bringing the system "back to the basics of reading, writing and arithmetic."

Both men said they opposed President Carter's energy bill.

"It's not an energy bill at all," Clements said. "It's a tax bill and a bill for conservation. We've got to depend on those industries that would live up to the free enterprise system and really produce energy."

Hill emphasized the decontrol of oil and natural gas prices as the way to increase production of those commodities. He referred to his already announced plan to file suit, along with the attorneys general of Oklahoma and Louisiana, to stop the federal government from placing controls on intrastate natural gas.

Labor's Advice Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) - Jimmy Carter's White House is not snubbing Frank Fitzsimmons anymore. Nowadays, the Teamsters boss is getting plenty of attention from 1600 Pennsylvania Ave.

Until recently, President Carter's staff kept its distance from Fitzsimmons, whose union has been the subject of repeated federal investigations into alleged corruption and financial abuses.

As president of the nation's largest union, Fitzsimmons had been conspicuously absent from Carter meetings with labor leaders. In June, an offended Fitzsimmons complained that Carter's staff acted like the Teamsters did not exist - in sharp contrast to the easy access Fitzsimmons had to Richard Nixon's White House.

But inflation and the imminent start of talks on a new Teamsters contract have forced open the White House gates to the labor leader. Carter's economic advisers are now eager to chat with him.

Carter soon will unveil a new anti-inflation program that will include voluntary wage and price guidelines. To succeed, the plan requires cooperation from union and business leaders. The Teamsters will provide one of the first and most critical tests of the program.

Fitzsimmons opens talks in December on a new contract covering 500,000 long-haul truckers. If past practices holds, the contract he wins will set the pattern for other unions over the next three years.

That is why many Carter aides believe the Teamsters president will be instrumental in making or breaking the anti-inflation policy.

The administration wants unions to limit wage and benefit increases to 7 percent a year, down from the 10-percent-or-better settlements major unions have been winning since the Teamsters set that pattern in 1976.

In return, the administration is promising to try to slow inflation by proposing a 5% percent limit on annual price increases.

"If Fitz doesn't cooperate," signed one aide, "it'll be awfully hard to get any restraint out of any other unions."

The administration also is meeting with trucking industry officials, urging them to resist big wage demands. To stiffen the industry's resistance, the Interstate Commerce Commission has warned that companies cannot agree to a fat wage increase and assume the ICC will approve higher rates that pass all the added cost on to consumers.

But the industry bargaining group has been weakened by internal bickering and the administration is not confident management can stand up to the Teamsters. So, attention is focused on the union.

In their private meetings, the union leader has given the administration a poker-faced response.

"Frankly, we don't have any idea whether he'll go along," said one Carter aide. "But he's giving the administration a fair hearing."

Liquor Goes Metric, Costs More

WASHINGTON (AP) - If you think you're paying more by the drink for liquor bought in those new metric containers, you're probably right.

Reporting to Congress on the implications of conversion to the decimal measures, the General Accounting Office said the alcoholic beverage industry has gone farther toward conversion than any other.

And the congressional watchdog agency added: "Most wines and distilled spirits that were converted to metric sizes experienced unit price increases greater than those that did not convert."

It cited distilled liquor price increases ranging from 0.7 percent for those changing from the familiar fifth to 750 milliliters, through 6.1 percent for the half-gallon to 1.75 liter shift, to 11.4 percent for the half-pint to 200 milliliter change.

The GAO also noted increases in wine unit prices, except for a 0.4 percent decrease where the wine container was changed from four-fifths pint to 375 milliliters.

It all means that the consumer is paying more for less.

For example, the fifth contains 25.6 fluid ounces while the 750 milliliter container holds slightly less beverage - 25.4 fluid ounces. The half-gallon is equal to 64 fluid ounces, but the replacement 1.75 liter container is only 59.2 fluid ounces. A half-pint is 8 fluid ounces and 200 milliliters equal 6.8 fluid ounces.

The report said the Treasury's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, which approved the beverage industry's request for the new container sizes, "should have insured that its actions protected the public interest."

"Because it did not do this properly, consumers were not adequately served," the report said. "The Bureau should expand its public awareness program to better inform consumers about the size changes being made."

The GAO said the 200 milliliter and 1.75 liter sizes are the most difficult to make price comparisons with and are "the sizes in which the industry made the highest price increases when metrification took place."

Contrary to widely held opinions, the report said, the 1975 Metric Conversion Act does not make conversion mandatory nor does it even establish a national commitment to it. "The national policy is not to prefer one system over the other but to provide for either to be predominant on the basis of the voluntary actions of those affected."

Panama Close To Democracy

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) - After a decade in Gen. Omar Torrijos' firm grip, Panama is taking some halting steps toward democracy. It is with Torrijos' blessing.

In recent days the government, which Torrijos turned over to a new president last week, has approved measures that provide for:

- A return to the direct election of the president beginning in 1984. The president was indirectly elected by an appointed National Assembly during the Torrijos years.

- The scrapping of the Torrijos-appointed Assembly and creation of a National Legislative Council consisting of four representatives from each of Panama's nine provinces and one from the San Blas Islands. The council remains appointed now, but would be elected in 1980 and expanded by two more representatives from each province.

- An active role for political parties in the 1980 elections. Parties have not been allowed to participate since the national guard coup that brought Torrijos to power in 1968.

Opponents say that while the changes are long overdue, they do not go far enough and are designed to minimize any threat to the government.

But the opponents concede the measures will give the opposition a voice in government, and some say that given time, the reforms could lead to a government that Torrijos could no longer control.

But even if the reforms are successful, some political experts say they won't bring Panama a U.S.-style democracy.

"For one thing, you will not have the separation of power that exists in the United States," said one U.S. source on the isthmus, who asked not to be identified.

"In most Latin American countries where there is some democracy you have a strong leader and a weak legislature."

"It appears Panama will continue in that tradition. The legislative reforms appear to be a dubious improvement. There's no chance the legislature will present any effective opposition."

Torrijos stepped down as chief of government Oct. 11 as his hand-picked successor, Aristides Royo, 38, was sworn in as president. Torrijos, 49, will continue to head the national guard and is expected to exert a strong influence on Royo.

Doctor Innocent; Farber Released

HACKENSACK, N.J. (AP) - A jury Tuesday found Dr. Mario Jascavech innocent of murdering three hospital patients, while a judge released New York Times reporter Myron A. Farber from jail where he was confined for refusing to turn over notes in the case.

The jailing of Farber and leveling of fines against The Times had focused nationwide attention on the conflict between the rights to a free press and a fair trial. The case may still be taken up by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The jury had received the Jascavech case Monday after 1 1/2 hours of instruction by trial judge William Arnold. "Murder by poison is first-degree murder," he said. Premeditated murder, by law, carries a mandatory sentence of life in prison, he added.

Jascavech had remained free on $150,000 bail.

The 12 jurors and one alternate, after being sequestered overnight, returned to the Bergen County courthouse to review testimony by a toxicologist who said it is impossible to find "cure" - the muscle relaxant which prosecutors claim Jascavech used to kill three patients in the mid-1960s - 10 years after the deaths.

Proving the presence of cure was considered key to Jascavech's prosecution. Shortly before the verdict was announced, Superior Court Judge Theodore W. Trautwein ordered Farber released from the Bergen County Jail on a civil contempt penalty. Trautwein said a six-month criminal penalty would be suspended.

The Times, which was also convicted of contempt, has paid $265,000 in fines, including a $100,000 criminal penalty and $5,000 daily. Times attorney Eugene Scheiman said Monday.

Today In History

TODAY IN HISTORY

By The Associated Press Today is Wednesday, October 25, the 298th day of 1978. There are 67 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1971, the United Nations seated the Chinese Communists and expelled the Chinese Nationalists.

On this date:

In 1701, a city charter was granted to Philadelphia.

In 1854, Britain's heroic Charge of the Light Brigade took place near Sevastopol in Russia during the Crimean War.

In 1874, Britain annexed the Fiji Islands.

In 1938, the Chinese government, fleeing Japanese invaders, established itself at Chungking.

In 1936, Germany and Italy formed the Rome-Berlin Axis, pledging mutual assistance in case of war.

In 1954, a session of the U.S. Cabinet was televised for the first time, with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles reporting on a foreign ministers' meeting in Paris.

Ten years ago: Thirty-two persons were killed in the crash of a Northeast Airlines prop jet on a mountain in Western New Hampshire.

Five years ago: The United States ordered its military forces on a worldwide precautionary alert because of concern that the Soviet Union was planning to send troops to the troubled Middle East.

One year ago: The United States agreed in principle to support a United Nations arms embargo against South Africa. Today's birthdays: Ex-king Michael of Romania is 57 years old. Country music star Minnie Pearl is 66. Singer Helen Reddy is 37.

Thought for today: The business of America is business - President Calvin Coolidge, 1872-1933.

King's Manor Administrator Receives Honor from Board

Joyce Lyons, Administrator of King's Manor Methodist Home, Inc., was recently appointed to the Leadership Development Task Force, Aging Section of the National Association of Health and Welfare Ministries of the United Methodist Church. She also serves as a member of the Certification Council's peer team: The peer team's purpose is to review, for recommendation, homes seeking Certification with the Health and Welfare Certification Council of the United Methodist Church. King's Manor received their Certification in May of 1977.

Mrs. Lyons recently returned from a national meeting of Methodist Homes' Administrators in Richmond, Virginia, and reported that it was one of the best work shops that she has attended for Administrators of Homes for the aging. King's Manor's Administrator's work on the National Level is reflected in "the fine Home that we have for those of the Northwest Texas Conference of the United Methodist Church who have retired and are seeking a Christian community and clean healthful living in their retirement years," according to a Manor spokesman. The National Council has also selected King's Manor at Hereford for a mid-management seminar to be held February 22 and 23rd. A seminar for ministers of the Northwest Texas Conference will be held in conjunction with the mid-management seminar. It is hoped that this will help ministers in working with this age group and that they will benefit from National recognized leadership.

Bridge Meet
Attracts Big Crowd

Ann Bowling and Carlene Delozier won a $25 US Savings Bond last night as high scorers in the 12th annual benefit bridge tournament in the new wing of the Community Center. The event drew 30 tables of bridge players, the largest crowd in its 12-year history. The tourney was sponsored by Kappa Iota Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority as a benefit for Girlstown, USA. Finishing as the second high players were Judy Mitts and Mary Duggan. Taking prizes for the lowest score were Buel and Betty Monroe.

As a bonus for the evening, a card table and matching chairs were awarded to Clarence Betzen, in a drawing. Kathy Johnson was chairman of this year's tournament and Judy Wall is president of Kappa Iota chapter.

Local businesses which contributed prizes for last night's benefit were First National and Hereford State Banks; Flowers West; Chandelier Gift Shop; First Printing and Touch of Class Beauty Salon.

Dance Classes

Ann Landers

Advice for Women

DEAR ANN LANDERS: With all the talk about being free and open about sex these days, you'd think kids would be pretty darned smart on the subject, but the truth is they are NOT informed. In fact, they are pretty darned dumb when it comes to things they ought to know for their own good.

For instance, here I am, an 18-year-old girl, asking Ann Landers for advice on birth control. I've heard so many different stories, I can't keep them straight. I don't know who to trust and I'm sure other teenagers must have the same problem. I couldn't believe all the girls that had babies at my high school this year -- not to mention the ones who had abortions.

Can you tell us which are really the safest and most reliable methods? It's important that we know if what we are doing is right.

I have not seen this problem in your column since I've been reading it -- which goes back at least nine years. It is your duty to print this letter. Please don't fail us. -- We Need To Know

DEAR NEED: The Pill is best -- provided you hold it between your knees at all times.

I realize this is a very moldy joke, but the point of the gag has a great deal of validity because the only 100 percent positive way to protect yourself against getting pregnant is not to have sex.

Although this is true, it is also unrealistic because people ARE going to have sex, no matter what. It's the second strongest instinctual drive in every normal human being.

No method of birth control is best for everybody. The Pill is considered, by most physicians, very good, but it must be obtained from a doctor and taken according to his instructions because every woman is different. Menstrual periods vary (some last four days -- others five, six or seven). Also, some periods come every three weeks, others every four, etc. Only a physician, after consulting with you about YOUR periods, can tell you what days to lay off the Pill. They are NOT to be taken continuously. Also, if there is a history of cancer in your family, the Pill is definitely NOT for you.

Foams and douches are risky. The same for the "rhythm method" (Vatican roulette). The withdrawal technique is also very dicey and often frustrating.

The surest way to keep from getting pregnant is double protection -- his and hers. The diaphragm for the woman and the condom (rubber) for the man. Diaphragms must be fitted by a doctor, something of a drag back, but worth the trouble. The condom alone is quite safe, but they do break (and come off) and nobody knows when such calamities might occur.

Five years ago, a column such as this one would have been killed. As it is, I'm sure some papers around the country won't print it. If your does, please drop a line to the editor (no name necessary, just "Editor") and say, "Thanks for letting Ann Landers tell us what we need to know." I'd appreciate it very much -- and so will he -- or she.

Wildlife Discussed
By Chuck Cosper

Twelve members of Buffalo 4-H Club met Monday night at the Community Center.

Area game warden Chuck Cosper presented a program, including a brief film which depicted the capture of antelope. Afterwards, he discussed hunting and displayed several guns.

During a routine business session, members were reminded of the 4-H Awards Banquet to be held Tuesday, Nov. 2, at the Bull Barn.

Elaine Jones is adult leader of the club.

Community Carnival Saturday

Walcott Community Halloween Carnival is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m., Saturday at the Walcott School.

Festivities will include a costume contest for all ages, various booths, sandwiches and other refreshments. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

Various classes from Walcott School will be providing food for the Halloween Carnival.

Officers Elected
By Lapidary Club

Deaf Smith Lapidary Club members elected officers Monday night at Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room with Dale Henson, president, conducting the business meeting.

Assuming office were Jack Nunley, president; Dale Henson, vice president; and Betty Henson and Pauline Lady, secretaries.

In other business, Sam Morgan reported that he had made arrangements for a field trip to the Oklahoma Panhandle. The date of that excursion will be scheduled when weather is suitable.

Jake King announced that he had made initial steps in acquiring official badges, approved by the club at last month's meeting. Progress reports will be heard later.

Nunley announced that the club's Christmas party will be a covered dish supper will be held in the Flame Room. Members agreed to cancel a chili supper, to have been held in conjunction with the Nov. 27th meeting at the Flame Room. Betty Rice read a letter from her "sister, Vesta McKinney of Tucumcari, N.M., thanking the club members for gifts presented after a recent field trip to her home.

Frankie Ruland won the door prize, a book "Field Trips for the Rock Hunter," provided by Ruth Hickman.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bell were welcomed as new members. Guests present included Debbie Elmquest, Mildred Guinn and Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Broke.

Members in attendance were Messrs. and Mmes. Clarence Boots, Burt Brown, Wayne Elmquest, Preston Gee, Tim Dawson, Dale Henson, Jake King, Cecil Lady, Erwin Meyers, Sam Morgan, Roy Martin, Bub Newell, Weldon Roberson, Jack Nunley, Ralph Packard, Julian Perrin, Delbert Ruland and Garth Thomas.

Also present were Betty Rice, Rachel Henslee and Bud Cawthon.

Aid to Egypt, Israel Studied

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) - Diplomats report the Carter administration plans to get Egypt and Israel involved in joint economic projects funded by the United States as soon as they have signed a peace treaty.

The sources said administration officials plan to lose no time in getting the two countries working together in a relationship that will cement the treaty, but they are having trouble coming up with enough ideas to match the amount of spending envisaged.

The diplomats, who are Western and refused to be quoted by name, said there was favorable sentiment in Congress to increase U.S. aid to Egypt by about 50 percent to roughly $1.5 billion yearly. Aid to Israel would be beefed up similarly.

Much of the extra aid money would be earmarked for projects of common interest to the two neighboring countries, which have been in a state of war for the past 30 years.

"The trouble is there are not enough projects easily identifiable that the two countries could get interested in," one source said. Egypt and Israel are separated by the 140-mile-wide Sinai Desert, which Israel occupied in the 1967 war. Under the projected treaty it is to be returned to Egypt in a maximum of three years.

It would be easier to find projects involving Israel, Jordan and the occupied West Bank that lies between them, the diplomats added.

The diplomats said the White House, the State Department and the Department of Energy are involved in the preliminary planning.

"The kind of spending being talked about would have to be approved right at the top," one source said.

The United States will probably finance the construction of a road from the eastern Sinai across a narrow strip of Israel to Jordan, the diplomats said. The road was specifically approved in the Camp David framework.

Another possibility would be a "Fulbright scholarship program" for experts and technicians from Egypt and Israel, the diplomats said. The Fulbright program, named for former Sen. J. William Fulbright, brought students from foreign countries to the United States. The diplomats said the Egyptian-Israeli program would exchange technical expertise between the two countries but the United States would pay the bill.

A primary field of cooperation would be energy, the diplomats said. They predicted that Israel would be allowed to buy the oil they have discovered in the Sinai and offshore from it after the fields are returned to Egypt.

"But that would be a straight commercial transaction," one source said. He said the exact nature of Egyptian-Israeli cooperation on energy remains to be decided.

Capital Gains-Hot Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) - Will a restructuring of capital-gains taxes proposed by the tax-cut bill provide a needed boost for the economy or simply a windfall for the rich?

That is the battle raging over the most controversial section of the $18.7 billion tax cut measure awaiting action by President Carter.

If Carter signs the bill, taxpayers who profit from the sale of property are likely to benefit. The capital-gains section reduces from 49 percent to 28 percent the government's maximum share of such profits.

That would be done mainly by exempting from regular income taxes 60 percent of such capital gains, rather than the current exemption of 50 percent. The higher exemption would take effect Nov. 1, 1978.

According to the Treasury

Department, only about 5 percent of the 88.5 million couples or individuals who file tax returns claim capital gains. The only gain for many comes from the sale of their homes.

Backers of the reduction are predicting it will provide a shot in the arm for the stock market, encourage more people to invest in American business and create new jobs.

Opponents call this method of stimulating investment a wasteful windfall for the rich. They note that three-quarters of all capital gains arise not from the sale of stocks but from transactions involving art collections and land speculation, which do little for the economy in general.

The Treasury Department estimates that nearly 79 percent of the benefits from the $2.1-billion capital-gains reduction would be claimed by those with incomes above $50,000. Only 4.3 percent would go to those under $20,000.

Those calculations don't take into account a once-in-a-lifetime capital-gains exemption of up to $100,000 for persons 55 or older who sell their homes. The Treasury estimates that 92 percent of the $377 million involved in this exemption would go to persons making below $50,000.

Whatever benefits the new method of taxing capital gains might have for the economy, it will add considerable complexity to the tax laws.

In addition to the general reduction in capital-gains taxes, the bill would delay for three years a 1976 law aimed at increasing capital-gains taxes on persons who sell inherited property. Opponents of that delay view it as the first step in repealing the 1976 provision.

Lighter Side

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) - Wives of Gainesville firemen say they're upset because a female firefighter uses the same shower and bunkrooms as their husbands. But the woman's presence has apparently had a beneficial effect on the men.

"Having a woman around there has made the station a more pleasant place to work," said Assistant Fire Chief Freddie Miller. "The men have cleaned up their language quite a bit."

The wives see it differently. "It's completely immoral," declared one wife. "The men there sleep wearing only their underwear, and those bunks are only a foot apart."

"What are the kids supposed to think?" she asked.

The city's first female firefighter, Ellie Sorel, began work at the Main Street fire station about two months ago. Like the men, she is on duty 24 hours and off duty for 48. She sleeps at the station while on duty and uses the one bathroom. Miller said a separate shower period has been set aside for Ms. Sorel.

The wives, however, aren't satisfied and are petitioning for her transfer to another department. A spokeswoman, who didn't want to give her name, said that half the wives have signed and that they'll picket the City Commission on Monday night if they have to.

"If something isn't done, we're all going to go down there ourselves and apply for jobs," the woman said.

Executives Staying Put

WASHINGTON (AP) - Lyle Pichelman is general manager of a metal manufacturing company in Peoria, Ill. He and his family have moved 10 times in the last 16 years, always because he was offered a better job.

But times are changing for today's executives.

The last time Pichelman, 41, was offered a new job - which meant another move and about a $4,000 salary increase - he turned it down.

And it will take more than a few thousand dollars in pay to get Pichelman - and thousands of professionals like him - to move again.

"I left the decision up to him, but we both knew that this time there was my job to consider," said Mrs. Pichelman, who at 38 is the mother of two children, ages 12 and 15. "I had been at home for 13 years, but two years ago I decided I wanted a paying job."

She got one and now earns about $18,000 as a financial analyst for the City of Peoria, bringing the family income to $45,000-$50,000.

"If the right job for Lyle came along, we'd take it," she said. "But I wouldn't want to step down financially or professionally. I like my job."

The Pichelmans are not alone. Executive recruiters, management consultants and company personnel officers report that American professionals agonize more now over job transfers. And more people turn down jobs, even promotions.

Behind the wariness are myriad changing social attitudes. More wives are working, and they are contributing significantly more to family income. And couples are finding that uprooting a family has more hidden costs than once realized, psychological and financial.

"Back in the mid-1960s, the go-go '60s, there was a risk-taking tempo I don't see today," said Gerald R. Roche, president of New York-based Heidrick & Struggles, one of the largest executive recruiting firms. "People would go anywhere for an extra $4,000 and a new title."

"But there's been a swing back to the hearth. People are saying, 'I have a beautiful home; my kids are in school. I'd prefer not to uproot.'"

Carl W. Menk, president of another large recruiting firm, Boyden Associates, put it this way: "Five and 10 years ago, people were more inclined to change jobs. Today people have different goals and different values. Not everyone wants to be chief executive officer anymore. They get to a point where they say, 'I've achieved what I want to do. This kind of thinking didn't exist 10 years ago.'"

Dr. Eugene Jennings, a Michigan State University business management professor, said that with inflation growing, he finds people get choosier about whether and where they'll move.

"People are developing geographic tastes in ways I've never seen in the 25 years I've been monitoring mobility in corporations," he said. "A whole psychology has developed that says, 'I want to be environmentally free of congestion, pollution, commuting.' It's resurgence of the old theme - go West. Now it's not a direction but a spirit. People are saying, 'Get off my back. Let me live my life.'"

Jennings' research shows the most popular places in which to live are: San Francisco, Seattle, Boston, Connecticut, Denver, Dallas and Cleveland.

A study this year by the Employment Relocation Council in Washington shows that 30 percent of its member companies report problems with employees accepting transfers to high-cost or undesirable locations. However, only 3 percent reported serious problems.

"California was noted as a problem most frequently, generally due to housing problems," the report says. "The New York-New Jersey area followed, problems mainly attributed to the cost of living. Other problem areas mentioned were: Chicago; the northeast United States - New England; Washington, D.C.; Houston; Detroit; and Philadelphia."

The study shows the average cost of moving a homeowner in 1977 was $11,740 - up 12 percent from the 1976 average of $10,440 and 50 percent higher than the 1973 cost of $7,800.

And rising moving costs are only part of the problem. Researchers say executives who once demanded salary increases of 10 to 15 percent to move now are getting 20 to 30 percent.

One result of this shift in values is that many firms are balancing the benefits of moving an employee with the rising cost of transfers. Many others are looking more closely at such family considerations as a working spouse or a reluctance to change children's schools.

Some companies are luring good professionals to transfer with financial sweeteners - bonuses, stock options and helping with some of the chores of selling one house and finding another.

"We used to take the point of view that we were moving one person," said Felix Moletteri, employment manager for the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. "But now we're more and more concerned about the impact a move has on the employee's home environment."

Moletteri said AT&T offers various transfer incentives to employees. They help find a new home or rent an old one, with AT&T paying the management fee. It also has a cost-of-living formula to minimize the differences in real estate prices, as well as city and state taxes.

Moletteri insisted that AT&T has no trouble getting employees to move to its New York-area operations, but he conceded that he only hears about those who agree to transfer and that others may be taking themselves out of the transfer circuit before being asked to move.

"We're sure that out there in the companies there is a reluctance to move," he said. "But there are still sufficient numbers of people willing to move so that they are coming here in greater numbers than ever before."

Second Annual Arts and Crafts show

Landlords Using Renter Checks

DALLAS (AP) - Almost everybody who rents an apartment fills out a stack of forms, pays a deposit and signs a lease before moving day.

Pretty standard. What many renters may not know is that by signing certain leases, they may have authorized a "credit check" for lack of a better description - of their renting history.

More and more apartment owners and managers are using a 4-year-old Dallas company, Renter Index, to verify job and residence information. Managers want to know if a tenant paid the rent on time, if he broke the lease, damaged the apartment or disturbed neighbors.

Renter Index recently opened a branch office in Houston.

For a flat monthly fee to the managers, Renter Index checks with an applicant's boss and landlord, then reports back to the manager holding the application. Owner-president Diana Smith said renters who check out well usually don't know about the verification process, even though managers are advised to tell them. Many managers now pass the monthly fee onto the applicant in the form of a $5 or $20 application fee.

"We don't grade and we don't offer any recommendations or comments," said Ms. Smith. "The leasing personnel have met them (applicants) and probably formed a subjective feeling. We try to give them objective information."

"Far and above the majority check out well," she added. "We don't keep a bad list or have an intent or desire to do so."

But some applicants turned away by apartment managers because of a bad history, have complained to the Dallas Tenants Union, Inc. And some members of the union said they are afraid the service favors managers in manager-tenant disputes.

"Everything is stacked against the tenant," said Mrs. Dorothy Master of DTU. "The abuse we see in this is something like this: If people are evicted wrongfully, if the manager doesn't like them, or they are put out for some reason, it goes on this record, then they can't rent again."

Although Renter Index has not been designated a consumer reporting agency by the Federal Trade Commission, Ms. Smith said she operates under the Fair Credit Reporting Act.

Mike Curry of the consumer protection division of the Texas Attorney General's office said the Fair Credit Reporting Act "probably does not apply" to Renter Index.

A TAXPAYER'S BILL OF RIGHTS IS PAST DUE

Bill Clements believes we still have a chance to preserve our future by establishing constitutional protection against excessive taxation and runaway government spending.

Bill Clements believes the people of Texas should have the power necessary to ratify or reject tax policies made by legislators.

To establish this power (of the people), Bill Clements will introduce an amendment to the Texas Constitution that would give the people of Texas this right.

Bill Clements' "Taxpayers' Bill of Rights" would:

- Give Texans the right of initiative and referendum, a phrase that means we, the people, have a right to vote on the taxes to be levied on us.
- Place a ban on corporate or personal income tax in Texas.
- Require a two-thirds record vote of both houses of the legislature to pass a tax bill.
- Allow local taxpayers to call an election to ratify or reject a tax increase created by a local governmental unit.

Bill Clements believes in Texas and the people of Texas.

Bill Clements thinks that elected officials must work for the people and represent them properly.

As governor of Texas, Bill Clements will work for and with the people of Texas.

It's about time someone recalled that our form of government was conceived to be a servant of the people and provide the means to insure that principle endures.

BILL CLEMENTS, A GREAT GOVERNOR FOR TEXAS.

Spurs Gig The Celtics

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - The Boston Celtics' noble experiment was a failure - at least the first time.

Celtics Coach Tom Sanders had hoped to infuse some fire into his sagging club by shifting stalwart center Dave Cowens to forward Tuesday night against San Antonio. The switch did not have the desired effect, as the Spurs crushed the Celtics 132-109.

"We're not getting the defense we needed up front," said Sanders, who saw his team's record fall to 1-5 and last place in the National Basketball Association's Atlantic Division. "I thought by moving Dave to forward and putting Dennis Awrey at center, we could provide some more muscle up front, but it didn't work."

The Spurs threw no new wrinkles into their game plan. They did what has been their trademark since entering the NBA - run and shoot.

"Our fast break was really moving well tonight," said George Gervin who paced the Spurs with 28 points. "I think Boston came out a little hesitant at first and we were able to take control right from the start."

"They seemed too cautious," added center Billy Paultz. "You just can't expect them to come together right away, having had as many personnel changes as they had over the winter. They all seem to be trying not to step on each other's toes."

The Spurs, who defeated the Celtics for the fifth straight time over the past two seasons, trailed only once in the game and never after the first three minutes.

They shot nearly 60 percent from the floor, with Gervin connecting on 11 of 17 shots and Larry Kenon 11 of 15.

'Bum' Appreciates Good Football, Fans

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston Oilers Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips says Oilers fans appreciate good football and he does too.

"But I don't know if I'd go out to the airport at 4 a.m. to show it," Phillips said, reharsing the Oilers' 24-17 victory over Pittsburgh.

Phillips referred to a chanting throng of about 400 fans who met the Oiler plane early Tuesday at Houston Intercontinental Airport following their nationally televised performance against the previously unbeaten Steelers.

"This was a must game for us. We had to say 'Okay, let's see what we can do' and then we went out and did it. We met the challenge and that makes us a better football team."

Pittsburgh dropped to a 7-1 record and the Oilers improved their chances of making the playoffs by boosting their record to 5-3.

"The pressure was all on us and we played as well as we could play," Phillips said. "We had some errors but when you win a game, all the errors are forgotten."

The Oilers also ended Pittsburgh's string of 11 consecutive home victories against American Football Conference Central Division opponents.

The Oilers now have traveled from a season opening loss to Atlanta 20-14 in an uninspired performance, to playing well in a 21-17 loss to Oakland, to playing excellent against the Steelers.

"We did some good things at Oakland too but we lost the game," Phillips said. "I didn't feel like Pittsburgh was going to beat us and I didn't think Oakland would either."

The Oilers now must prepare for another road game Sunday against the winless Cincinnati Bengals and Phillips doesn't expect a letdown.

"We're going to prepare for this game just like we did for Pittsburgh," Phillips said. "You have to do it that way. Cincinnati has as much talent as anybody in this league. They are a time bomb and they're going to explode on somebody."

Family Tie Wins Contest

A family tie developed last week in THE BRAND's football contest.

Joe and Doris Zinser of 313 Sunset tied for 1st place after the missed five games each.

Joe had a tiebreaker of 49 while Doris had 45. The actual tiebreaker score was 47.

Both collected $20 each for their correct guesses.

Third place winner was Jerry Collier of 123 Ironwood. He netted $10 for his efforts.

Besides the usual weekly prizes, the contest will offer grand prizes of $100, $35 and $15 at the conclusion of 13 weeks.

To be eligible for the season, entrants must have at least 11 scores.

If an entrant turns in a form each week, the best 11 entries will be judged.

There were 201 entries in last week's contest, according to BRAND ad manager Bob Nigh.

Fish To See JV Action

James Fish of Hereford will be in action at Jones Stadium in Lubbock tomorrow night when the Texas Tech junior varsity hosts the West Texas State JV team. James is an offensive guard for the WT Buffaloes.

The WT JV's is 1-1 on the season, having beaten number-one-ranked Ranger Junior College and lost to nationally-rated New Mexico Military.

The game with Tech kicks off at 7:30 p.m. It is the annual Khiva Shrine Bowl with proceeds going to Shrine hospitals for crippled children.

Alabama football coach Paul "Bear" Bryant says his goal is 315 career victories. He had 273 at the start of the 1978 season.

Five Schoolboy Teams Drop Down

By The Associated Press

Temple in Class 4A, Gonzales in 3A, Newton in 2A and Farmersville in A held their top ranks this week in the Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll but five other rates upset victims disappeared from the list and Corpus Christi Carroll lost out to the rule book.

Pasadena Dobie, which earlier this year beat toughie Port Neches-Groves, scored another upset with a 30-29 victory over No. 8 LaPorte, knocking LaPorte out of the top 10 in 4A with a 4-2 record.

Corpus Christi Carroll, unbeaten and ranked No. 7 last week, beat Robstown 47-14 but dropped out of the top 10 after being forced to forfeit its first five games because it had an ineligible player on the squad.

LaPorte and Carroll were replaced in the Nos. 9 and 10 positions by Highland Park, 5-1, and Midland Lee, 6-0. Highland Park is making its second appearance of the season among the 4A elite.

Donna upended No. 9 Raymondville 21-17 in a Rio Grande Valley battle of 3A powers and Raymondville was replaced New Braunfels, 7-0. Gainesville, which whipped McKinney 22-10, moved up from 10th to eighth.

Third-ranked Bridgeport and No. 9 Tahoka were losers among the 2A ranks. Bowie's 27-3 victory knocked Bridgeport out of the top 10 and Tahoka disappeared after its second loss of the season.

West, 6-0-1, returns to the 2A list as the No. 9 team and Idalou, 7-0, moved into the No. 10 spot. East Bernard, No. 10 last week, benefitted from the losses by moving up to No. 8.

Celina, which blanked No. 2 Pilot Point 21-0 in a Class A game last week, knocked Pilot Point out of the ratings and established itself as the No. 10 team this week. Celina is 5-1, suffering only an opening game loss to Prosper.

DeLeon, which shut out Cross Plains 41-0, moved into Pilot

Point's vacated runnerup spot in A and Lexington advanced to third from fourth place.

Despite its five forfeits, Carroll almost remained in the 4A rankings with 18 points. Carthage made a run for the 3A rankings with 14 points.

Quitman with 17 points and Hondo with 12 were narrow misses in 2A and Seagraves polled 15 points and Holliday had 21 and Pilot Point had 10 to remain near the top 10 in Class A.

Lemon Selected Top Manager

NEW YORK (AP) - Bob Lemon, who turned the New York Yankees season from tragedy to triumph with a dramatic midcourse correction, is The Associated Press' American League Manager of the Year for 1978.

Lemon, who joined the floundering Yankees in midseason and led them to a World Series victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers, edged Milwaukee Manager George Bamberger 149 to 142 in balloting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

No other manager was close in the race. Whitey Herzog of the Western League Kansas City Royals finishing a distant third with 24 points. Don Zimmer of the Boston Red Sox was fourth with 18, followed by Baltimore's Earl Weaver 7, Jim Fregosi of the California Angels

6. Ralph Houk of the Detroit Tigers 4 and Gene Mauch of the Minnesota Twins 1.

The 57-year-old Lemon started the year with the Chicago White Sox but was fired just in time to be available for the strife-ridden Yankees, who had fallen 14 games behind the Boston Red Sox in the AL East. Lemon was a complete change in place of the tumultuous Billy Martin, guiding the Yankees with his low-key approach.

Allowed to play baseball the way they knew how instead of battling among themselves, the Yankees climbed fast in the East and eventually caught the powerful Red Sox at the end of the season. They finally claimed the East championship in a one-game playoff with Boston, then took the AL pennant by beating the Kansas City Royals in the playoffs.

Before this season, Lemon managed with moderate success Kansas City for three seasons, as well as several minor-league stops.

His outstanding major league work included a no-hitter against Detroit on June 30, 1948, a season in which he led the league in shutouts with 10 and complete games with 20.

Bamberger led the surprising Brewers to the most successful season of their young history, keeping them in the East race until the last few days of the season.

Herzog led the Royals to the AL West pennant for the third year in a row - and for the third year in a row lost in the playoffs to the Yankees.

Most of Lemon's claim to baseball fame has been as a player, of course. The Hall of Famer was a pitcher with the Cleveland Indians for 13 years, winning 20 or more games seven times and compiling a 207-128 career record.

Bellard Quits Aggie Post

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) - Texas A&M Coach Emory Bellard, stung by two straight losses and campus signs proclaiming "Make Emory A Memory" has resigned despite a seven-year record as the winningest football coach in the Southwest Conference.

Tom Wilson, a master of the information when he played in the same backfield with Donnie Anderson at Texas Tech in the mid-1960s, was named interim head coach. Assistant athletic director Marvin Tate assumed Bellard's athletic directorship, also on an interim basis.

Bellard, criticized by vocal Aggie fans for sticking with his wishbone formation despite the presence of fleet Curtis Dickey, handed his resignation to Tate, who read it to a shocked Aggie team prior to Tuesday's practice.

"I've certainly got some beliefs and I'll certainly express them," said Wilson, finalist last year for the head coaching job at Texas Tech before Rex Dockery got the job. "But we line up against Rice Saturday, and it's hard to change in three days."

Bellard, who posted a 44-27 record including losses the past two weeks to Houston and Baylor, declined to say why he resigned, but indicated he may get out of the coaching profession.

"I have no plans at the present," Bellard said. "And I have no plans to remain in athletics, but I've always been able to earn a living."

Starting safety Carl Grulich said, "I'm as shocked as the rest of the players. It's difficult at this time to understand if he quit on his own or if it was because of the pressure."

Tight end Russell Mikeska said Bellard's action really surprised him because the happiest he'd seen Bellard recently was at Monday's workout.

"We kind of came together on the field and were hollering and jumping around and he looked almost jubilant as he said, 'Damn. I love that spirit.'"

"The thing that hurt me so bad was I've been with Coach Bellard five years and he's been so good to me. When they told us, I felt like all of a sudden part of my life had been torn away."

Mikeska said he was so angered by signs on campus criticizing Bellard that he and a teammate went out looking for the signs to tear them down. Mikeska said the signs were gone, however.

Bellard, who fathered the wishbone formation as an assistant coach to Darrell Royal at the University of Texas, posted a 3-8 record in 1972, his first season at A&M.

The Aggies were 5-6 the next year before reeling off consecutive winning seasons of 8-3, 10-2, 10-2 and 8-4.

A&M started this season with a 4-0 record and ranked sixth in the nation until two weeks ago when the Aggies were shut out by Houston, 33-0.

Last week then-winless Baylor scored a 24-6 upset over the Aggies as the A&M offense, ranked third nationally in total offense prior to the Houston game, failed for the second week to score a touchdown.

Aggie starting quarterback Mike Mosley said he would remain at A&M.

"I love Coach Wilson," Mosley said. "If they had considered anyone else, I would have had second thoughts. I think he will add a few new wrinkles to the offense. He added a few motion plays today."

Dickey, among the top rushers in the SWC, said, "I don't want to say anything about it."

Mikeska said as much as he hated to see Bellard go, the shock might help the Aggies the rest of the season.

"Sometimes when you are really shaken up, it makes you realize you still have a chance for a good season," Mikeska said. "Crisis sometimes brings something good."

Title Chase to Tighten This Weekend

TULSA, Okla. - This season's Missouri Valley Conference championship race could not be much tighter than it already is, but after this weekend the picture should be a little clearer.

Currently there are four teams - Wichita State, Drake, New Mexico State, and Tulsa - with one conference loss. The other three teams have two defeats.

But this weekend the four teams with one loss are in action against each other as Drake travels to Tulsa, and New Mexico States takes its offensive show to the Shockers' Cessna Stadium.

The games are critical to the teams involved for more than one reason. Since the Missouri Valley Conference began playing football in 1907, never has a team won or tied for the title with more than one loss.

In non-conference games, Southern Illinois is home for its homecoming game against Northern Illinois, and Indiana State goes on the road to meet Northeast Louisiana. At Wichita, the Shockers could face the nation's total offense leader in NMSU quarterback David Spriggs.

However, Spriggs was injured last week in a game at New Mexico, and his status for WSU won't be known until later in the week.

However, the Shockers will counter with a strong ground attack centered around sophomore Mickey Collins, who is coming off two consecutive 100-yard plus games.

In addition, placekicker Joe Williams last week tied the NCAA record for the longest field goal with a 67-yarder against Southern Illinois.

At Tulsa, the Hurricane will attempt to continue its habit of winning the close ones as three of their six wins this season have come by a total of four points. Drake, meanwhile, will be going after its first win against Tulsa since 1938 - a span of 40 years. West Texas State, fresh from two straight wins, is idle this week.

Rodeo Club Competes At Borger, Slaton

The Hereford High School Rodeo Club competed in Slaton and Borger over the weekend.

Cathy Trolinder placed 2nd at Slaton in goat tying with a time of 11.622 while Tawia Willson was 3rd with 11.890.

Lee Washington and Tate Baker won 3rd in team roping with a time of 11.487.

At Borger on Friday, Cathy Trolinder placed 6th, in goat tying. Others competing were Tania Willson, Cathy Trolinder, Felinda Trolinder, Brett Cunningham, Blake Johnson, Tate Baker, Joe Smith, James Kirkland, Sid Lookingbill, Steve McConnell and Lee Washington.

In the overall Tri-State Rodeo Association standings through the Borger competition, Tania Willson is 13th in barrel racing and 6th in goat tying. Cathy Trolinder is 13th in goat tying.

Brent Cunningham is 2nd in Ribbon roping while Brett and Blake Johnson are tied for 17th in team roping.

There will be 20 contestants in the finals of each event, which will be held in June.

Others participating in the Slaton were Tania Willson, Felinda Trolinder, Cathy Trolinder, Tate Baker, Brett Cunningham, Blake Johnson, Tony Wilcox, Scott Wilcox, Joe Smith and Lee Washington.

The Hereford High School Rodeo is set for March, Club reporter Lee Washington said merchant support for the local rodeo is appreciated by the club.

Local riders will be competing in the WT, Tascosa and

Longhorns to Face Ford's Grid Ideas

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texas Coach Fred Akers failed two years ago in a last-minute attempt to persuade Mike Ford to attend Texas, and the Longhorns will face the consequences Saturday.

Ford, quarterback for Southern Methodist, is one of the top passers in the nation and will lead his team against Texas at Memorial Stadium here.

"SMU is an explosive football team...very dangerous, with an excellent passing quarterback," Akers told his regular weekly news conference.

Texas upset No. 3 Arkansas, 28-21, last Saturday, with the passing combination of quarterback Randy McEachern to split receiver Johnny "Lam" Jones winning the Texas coaches' award as the outstanding offensive players of the game.

McEachern had 236 yards total offense, throwing three touchdown passes. Jones caught two of the scoring tosses.

Linebacker Robin Sendlein who had 11 tackles, sacked the passer twice and broke up two passes - was voted the best defensive player over four others.

In last year's 30-14 victory over SMU, freshman Ford completed 21 of 46 passes for 253 yards, and Akers said, "He's learned a lot in a year."

"He (Ford) throws off balance, falling...when he sees a receiver, he usually gets the ball to him," said Akers. "That's their game - to throw the ball."

Ford was one of the first schoolboy players Akers tried to recruit after he took the Texas coaching job at the close of the 1976 season, and he said Monday, "I thought we had chance at turning his head. I think he made a decision of SMU over Texas."

It was said that Dallas Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach, among others, influenced Ford to attend SMU, which also is in Dallas.

Akers said holding Arkansas' Ben Cowins and Jerry Eckwood to 143 yards rushing "was a real credit to any defensive team."

He called the Texas pass protection the "best we've had" all season, with tackle Craig Rider particularly outstanding.

After viewing the Texas-Arkansas films, Akers said, "I'm still just as happy. That was a big win for us, but that thing's over and we're looking to SMU. I know we got our hands full."

Sports Shorts

NEW YORK (AP) - Gaylord Perry, 40-year-old right-hander for the San Diego Padres, became the first pitcher to win the Cy Young Award in both leagues when it was announced that he easily captured the National League honor for 1978.

The Baseball Writers Association of America announced the result, which came from the voting of two of its members in each of the 12 NL cities. It was a landslide for Perry, as he was named on all 24 ballots, received 22 first-place votes and a pair of runner-up ballots. He easily beat out Burt Hooton of Los Angeles, Vida Blue of San Francisco, and J.R. Richard of Houston.

Perry was the winner of the American League Cy Young award in 1972.

National Basketball Association game with the Cleveland Cavaliers.

City officials said Tuesday they were irate because the Pistons have rejected a proposal to include special honors for Pontiac native Campy Russell, who plays for the Cavaliers.

Russell, who started at Pontiac in high school and later for the University of Michigan, still conducts summertime basketball clinics in the Pontiac area.

Brian Hitsky, director of administrative operations for the Pistons, said the proposal to honor Russell was nixed because "Pontiac Night" is meant to honor the community and not any one individual.

City Commissioner Thomas Brady called the Pistons "damn petty" and said Russell would be honored at this week's city commission meeting instead.

DEADLY TO MAN
THE PUFF ADDER, BITES ARIENTANS, KILLS MORE PEOPLE IN AFRICA THAN ALL OTHER SNAKE SPECIES COMBINED ON THAT CONTINENT.

LETHARGIC DURING THE DAY, IT SEEKS OUT HUMAN HABITATIONS AT NIGHT IN SEARCH OF RATS. WHEN APPROACHED IT WILL NOT MOVE OUT OF PEOPLE'S WAY AND IS VERY EASY TO STEP ON IN THE DARK. IT HAS ENORMOUS FANGS AND DEADLY VENOM.

More Women Dying Of Lung Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The number of women dying of lung cancer nearly doubled between 1973 and 1976, a new study shows, and the American Cancer Society says it's because women have taken up the smoking habits of men.

The fatality statistics, from a report prepared by the National Cancer Institute, show that while both the number of lung cancer cases and the death rate among women are still well below those for men, new cases among males are increasing at a much slower rate, and women are closing the gap.

Fireplace Cozy, But Inefficient

BY LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The chill creeping into the air brings visions of a crackling blaze to millions of Americans, but unwary consumers may find the money they spend on building and burning the fire is just going up in smoke.

A fire may be a pleasant way to heat the house, but it is not an efficient one. The heat created by the fire itself goes right up the chimney; less than 10 percent escapes into the room. The fire also draws heated air from the rest of the house. As much as 20 percent of the air in the house can be sucked up the chimney in a single hour.

A tight-fitting damper is essential to prevent heat loss when the fireplace is not in use. Costs range from about $30 to $125 depending on whether you install it yourself.

Glass doors - available for anywhere from $75 to $350 - also save energy. They prevent the escape of air, but allow heat from the fire to radiate into the room.

If you are installing a new fireplace, consider including a special device to recirculate the air heated by the fire. These devices usually cost several hundred dollars, but they can turn the fireplace into a substantial heat-producer rather than heat-absorber.

Even the best of fireplaces is unlikely to be more than 40 percent efficient in converting the potential heat in the wood into actual heat for your home.

The actual amount of solid wood in a cord varies depending on how the logs have been stacked and how much air space is in between the pieces of wood. Bumpy or crooked logs create large air pockets; you get less wood for your money.

Check the condition of the wood. Freshly cut or green wood can contain up to 30 percent water. It is harder to burn and provides less heat. Recently cut wood will have tight, solid ends with visible sawmarks. Look for wood with cracks in the end pieces, indicating that the logs have been dried.

Alcoholism may be problem

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am in a State Hospital for alcohol. For treatment I have to take Antibus everyday. Now, I don't have any sex life and I have a hard time passing my water. Can I take anything to bring my sex life back? Should I take vitamins? I would appreciate an answer since you are my last resort.

DEAR READER - It will take more than an answer to your letter to solve your problems. At least you started on the right course by getting off alcohol. Many men find out that alcohol is not conducive to good sexual performance. To paraphrase Shakespeare, "It provokes the desire, but takes away the ability." Your problem may not be the treatment of your alcoholism, but the alcoholism itself. The constant consumption of alcohol can damage your liver which, in turn, may affect your male hormone levels and your sex drive.

Whether you need additional vitamins at this time or not depends on your current diet. It is not unusual, however, for people who have been consuming lots of alcohol to have increased vitamin requirements above those normally recommended for healthy people.

To give you a better understanding of what alcohol is doing to your body, and why it is so important for you to stop it, and stay off it forever, I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-4, Alcohol, Rum, Wine and Beer. It's equally important to other people, so if others want a copy of this issue, they can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Board Defies State

CENTER, Texas (AP) - The Shelby County school board, going out of existence at the end of the year, decided to get the Texas Education Agency's attention by giving one whopper of a raise.

So Superintendent Doyle Watson took home $25,000 for the month of September. His usual salary is $30,000 for the entire year.

The Texas Education Agency says it won't cover the check. "We aren't going to give them a dime," said TEA Deputy regional commissioner Alton Bowen.

The school board asked for the money three weeks ago. Bowen said the request is "perfectly legitimate, but they might as well ask for a million dollars."

The pay raise was a way to "get even" with the Texas Legislature, Bowen said. The Legislature has abolished all county school boards as of Dec. 31.

The 5-member board was just trying to get the attention of the TEA. They (TEA) have been trying to down county school boards for 40 years," Watson said.

The superintendent said the account he used to pay himself the $25,000 and two assistants their regular salaries had contained only $18. "We have heard that there is an overdraft," he said.

The regional commissioner said someone would have to pay for the overdraft, but he was reasonably sure the TEA would not be the one to pick up the tab.

Although the law requires the superintendent to be in his office only one day a week, Watson said his duties keep him on the job full time.

The superintendent said he will continue his administrative duties in the predominately agricultural county of 21,000 after Dec. 31. He will be paid as a consultant at $50 an hour.

"I just do what the people want," Watson said. "They (TEA) don't take care of the kids, the parents do."

The salary controversy came to light in a copyright story in Sunday editions of the Marshall News-Messenger.

Soviet Blames Saucer

MOSCOW (AP) - A respected Soviet astronomer says a flying saucer may have caused the huge explosion that burned 1,250 square miles of central Siberian forest in 1908.

Felix Zigel of the Moscow Aviation Institute made the suggestion over the weekend based on research into the "Tunguska Mystery." The destruction included massive leases of radiation.

A score of scientific expeditions to the area have yielded dozens of differing answers ranging from impacts of meteorites or comets to collisions with remainders of collapsed stars.

But Zigel says scientists have determined the object that caused the scarring and radiation flew in an "enormous loop," first northward, then westward, before the explosion.

That trajectory, he said, cannot be explained by any collision with a natural object, and suggests the object was guided.

Beyond that, the presence of zinc, lead, bromine, sodium and iron and other elements typical of comet nuclei, but quite possible for artificial structures, lead to the conclusion the object was made by beings, he said.

The more we know of the Tunguska catastrophe, the more confirmation we find of the fact that the unidentified flying object which exploded over the forest in 1908 was an extraterrestrial probe," Zigel told the Soviet news agency Tass.

Zigel said his "space visitors" theory, with further research, may shed light on the design of the apparatus and possibly on the causes of the explosion.
