'Old System'

DALLAS (AP) - Bill Clements, making an extensive and expensive effort to become the first Republican governor of Texas since Reconstruction, is zeroing in on President Carter as well as his Democratic opponent.

And, Clements is receiving a warm reception for his attacks on the president's energy and economic programs, especially in the vote-rich areas of Houston and Dallas.

His Democratic challenger in the Tuesday general election - state Attorney General John Hill - is coming in for his share of criticism for "being a member of the old, corrupt machine politics of this state and a supporter of the old system."

In a live television appearance in Dallas Thursday night, Clements answered questions from viewers, most of them concerning the president's policies on energy, a major concern in this natural gas, oilrich state.

The questions were screened before they were presented to the candidate, whose choices indicated his preference for national subjects over state issues.

The show cost the Dallas oil millionaire $1,800 for 30 minutes, just another of a series of campaign expenses that may add up to $4 million or $5 million before election day.

Clements warns at each stop along the campaign trail that if Hill becomes governor, it would give Carter a solid base in a bid for re-election in 1980, "and I don't think Texans want that to happen."

In the past two days Clements has stepped up his personal attacks on Hill. When newsmen asked him why, he said, "Hill has conducted a campaign of personal slurs and attacks, and I just (See CLEMENTS, Page 2)

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) - A Dallas oil drilling firm headed by Texas Republican ments has been named in a $42 million lawsuit filed by an Iowa millionaire who claims he was swindled out of $16.9 million in a Peruian Gulf oil deal.

A copyright story in today's San Diego Union says Iowa businessman Roy J. Carver's suit contends that in late 1975, acting on advice from an executive of Clements' SEDCO Inc. drilling firm, he paid a "commission" to Ali Jaidah, then oil minister of the Persian Gulf emirate of Qatar, for permission to drill for oil off the Qatar coast.

Clements, a former U.S. undersecretary of defense, is in a tight race with Texas Attorney General John Hill for Texas governor.

SEDCO lawyers, according to the Union story, sought and obtained a delay in the deadline for filing a reply to the suit until Nov. 15 - one week after Tuesday's election. SEDCO President B. Gill Clements, son of the gubernatorial candidate, told the Union his father, then serving as undersecretary of defense in Washington, had no active involvement in SEDCO activities during the period of the Qatar project. Economy Plan Tough To Explain

By JERRY ESTILL Associated Press Writer

While world money traders tried to assess the long-range effect of President Carter's prescribed cure for a crippled American dollar and inflated economy, administration officials turned a wary eye today toward the prospect of higher unemployment.

Government leaders had one other task: trying to explain it all to Congress. Following a dramatic spurt in value shortly after Carter announced his program Wednesday, the dollar climbed at a more moderate but steady pace Thursday throughout the world.

The Tokyo market exchange, which normally would have provided an early the third day after Carter's announcements, was closed today. European money markets opened later in the day.

Officer Talked With Victim, Suspect Prior To Alleged Murder

By PAUL SIMS Managing Editor

Deputy sheriff Art Burton testified Thursday in 222nd District Court that he and another officer followed a green Volkswagon towards Milo Center because the occupants were acting suspiciously moments before Larry Glover was severely beaten.

Richard Williams, who was a passenger in the Volkswagon, is on trial for the murder of Glover, who died after being transferred to an Amarillo hospital on Oct. 12, the day after his beating.

Burton testified that he and sheriff's reserve captain Don Daugherty were checking out an abandoned pickup on the east side of U.S. Highway 385 about six miles north of Hereford when a pickup driven by Glover pulled up behind the patrol car.

"He thought he knew the kid who had been driving the pickup," Burton testified. "While we were sitting there, a small car pulled behind the Larry Glover pickup. Then, they pulled out and headed on down the road."

Burton said he and Daugherty drove north on 385 until they noticed the small car which had pulled off the road onto a

"When I pulled off, I noticed the car. It was driven by a blond-headed girl with another girl in the front seat. I saw two male subjects in the back seat. They asked if I knew the driver of the pickup. I said his name was Glover. They asked if I knew where he lived. I said over the hill." Burton testified that after the small car left, the officers turned south on 385 until the lights of the Volkswagon were out of

"We turned around and proceeded to follow them." The next time he saw the car, Burton said, it was travelling from east of Milo

Center towards the west, crossing 385 in the process. The deputy testified that a call concerning a fight came over his radio, so he gave up his following the car and towards the scene of the incident. Burton said a man was lying on his back at a residence. Asked by District Atty. Roland Saul to describe the man's appearance, Burton said: "He appeared to be beaten up--he had blood all over his face and he appeared to be choking on his blood." Burton said an ambulance came and carried Glover to Deaf Smith General Hospital.

"We had the license number of the small car, and we asked other county and city units to try to locate this car," Burton

The next time he saw Glover, Burton said, was after he had been released from the hospital.

"We went back to the Glover residence. I helped the people there take Mr. Glover into the house and put him on the bed." Burton said that Glover's face was blue and he was incoherent."

He testified that he gave up his search for the green car until the next morning. at which time he received a call "that an ambulance was back en route to the Glover residence."

Doherty also testified Thursday afternoon. Under cross-examination by defense attorney Travis Shelton of Lubbock, Doherty said that Glover "had been drinking" when the two officers talked with him six miles north of Hereford on 385.

"How could you tell he'd been drinking?" Shelton asked.

"By his eyes and his face," Doherty testified, adding that Glover was not intoxicated.

Previously testifying Thursday were two passengers in the green Volkswagon. Robert Baum and Ricky Barrick. Both men stated that a pickup closed in on the Volkswagon, driven by Ilajean Brinkman, and drove the car off the road immediately north of Allsup's Convenience Store on N. Highway 385.

Baum and Barrick both said the Volkswagon followed the pickup until it stopped behind the patrol car about six miles north of Hereford.

The passengers testified they then pulled away from the scene, went on down the road and waited.

After the passengers in the car spoke to Burton in the turnrow, they turned back onto the highway and drove towards Milo Center, turning east on FM 1062. according to testimony.

An argument and fight ensued at the Glover residence between Williams, who was a passenger in the back seat of the

Carter's Inflation Chief Going Before Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) - Presdient Carter's top inflation fighters are going before Congress for the first time to answer questions about the administration's plan to control rising wages and

The Senate Banking Committee, taking testimony after newly announced sharp increases in wholesale prices, arranged to hear today from Alfred Kahn, the man tapped by Carter to take command of the anti-inflation effort.

Carter unveiled his anti-inflation program after the House and Senate adjourned for the year and most members of Congress were out of town. The Senate panel's hearing today was the first time a congressional committee has had an opportunity to review the plan.

While most of the program has already been put into effect. Carter will need congressional approval for his system of "real wage insurance." The president proposed tax rebates to protect workers who comply with the wage guidelines and would suffer economically if inflation exceeds 7 percent.

Besides Kahn, the witness list included Barry Bosworth, director of the Council on Wage and Price Stability; Charles Schultze, the president's top economist, and representatives of big labor and big

It seemed likely Banking Committee members would use the opportunity for questioning the administration about steps announced this week to prop up the dollar in foreign markets as well as talking about inflation at home.

To fight inflation, Carter proposed a guideline of 7 percent in 1979 for increases in wages and fringe benefits, and laid out a complicated formula aimed at holding price increases to about 5.75 percent. The administration hopes its plan will cut inflation to between 6 percent and 6.5 percent.

Carter's plan for the dollar includes higher interest rates, the borrowing of $30 billion in foreign currencies to buy dollars abroad and an increase in U.S. gold sales.

The government announced Thursday that wholesale prices rose 0.9 percent for October, an annual rate of over 10 percent. The increase was determined largely before the president announced his new inflation program last week.

Unemployment Drops

During October WASHINGTON (AP) - The unemployment rate dropped from 6 percent to 5.8

percent in October, as more adult women succeeded in finding jobs, the Labor Department said today. The report indicated the job situation was a bright spot in an economy plagued by rising interest rates and inflation all year. October's jobless rate was the lowest since a 5.7 percent rate last June. For adult women, the unemployment rate dropped from 6 percent to 5.6

percent, the lowest level since August 1974, when it was 5.4 percent. About 35.7 million women over age 20 held jobs last month out of a population group of 76 million, the department said. About 2.1 million adult women were reported looking for work. Strong activity in the airline, construction and service industries contributed to continued big increases in new jobs among all workers, the department said. The number of persons holding jobs advanced by 325,000, about average for the year, to 95.2 million. Over the past year, strong economic growth has increased employment by 3.6 million.

Candidates To Key

By The Associated Press With the less than a week of campaign time left, candidates are zeroing in on major metropolitan areas.

Republican John Tower, seeking re-election to the U.S. Senate, said Thursday in Austin that he has consistently opposed the imposition of wage and price controls.

'The record shows that in 1974 I led not one, but two, battles which successfully ended wage and price controls...The experience we gained with those controls illustrates the unworkable nature of these controls in combating the real economic sickness of excessive government spending," Tower said.

Tower's opponent, Democrat Bob Krueger, said Thursday in Midland-Odessa that Tower is a "DeSoto" that's been around a long time, but that he is a "Mustang" full of new ideas and life.

"At worst, the polls show us tied or significantly ahead in the race," Krueger said, excluding confidence.

John Hill, Democratic candidate for governor, said Thursday in Beaumont that he would have a six-point budget management program to reduce waste in state government, if elected governor. He said his program would include "a trade-off policy in state budget writing to require state agencies to identify low-priority programs they are willing to reduce or eliminate so the funds can be used to finance higher priority new

Government Accuses ITT of Paying Bribes

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government is accusing International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. of paying millions of dollars in bribes abroad and is demanding fines of $100,000 a day until ITT surrenders subpoenaed documents.

The Securities and Exchange Commission complaint also asks the appointment of new directors to the firm's board and a special master to investigate the giant conglomerate.

The complaint - filed in May but unsealed only Thursday - charges the "illegal, improper, corrupt and questionable" payments went to foreign government officials and employees of commercial customers "to obtain business for ITT and to improperly influence governmental action."

It alleged $8.7 million in payments were made in Indonesia, Iran, the Philippines, Algeria, Nigeria, Mexico, Italy, Turkey and Chile among "numerous countries."

The payments "relate to contracts and transactions agreegating hundreds of millions of dollars which involve business operations of major subsidiaries of ITT, including its subsidiaries in Belgium and Germany," the complaint said. The charges cover the years 1970 through ITT had fought release of the charges on grounds that they identify the nine specific countries and detail the alleged transactions.

The October increase, averaged over an entire year, would amount to about 11 percent, souring administration hopes for an easing of price increases toward the end of 1978. Consumer prices are rising at an annual rate of nearly 10 percent.

William Cox, the Commerce Department's chief economist. said the latest report, together with rising interest rates, 'suggests we'll be getting bad news on the consumer level for the rest of the year."

Jack Carlson, chief economist of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, said of the October figures: "Double-digit inflation is now likely for the remainder of 1978 because of skyrocketing food prices ... Only changes in government inflat-ionary food price supports can moderate this current source of accelerating inflation."

"At last, we have something that should stop this non-stop weakening of the dollar," said one Zurich trader.

On a practical level, the rapidly rising value of the dollar strengthened the buying power of Americans living and traveling abroad with U.S. currency. In Frankfurt, West Germany, for example, taxi drivers promptly granted better exchange rates to American passengers.

In the United States, the Federal Reserve Board's extraordinary increase of a full percentage point in the discount rate to 9.5 percent portended scarcity of funds and higher interest for home purchases. The discount rate is the interest the board charges for loans to member banks.

Private and government economists agreed that Carter's campaign to combat inflation and restore the dollar faced a long haul. Administration officials acknowledge it will be six months to a year before the anti-inflation moves have any noticeable effect on the government's economic statis-

Frank A. Weil, assistant secretary of commerce, said in Cincinnati: "The dollar was overvalued for too long. It will be undervalued for too long." Weil predicted that "Even without oil imports, the nation's trade balance has been worsening. We will have not-inconsiderable trade imbalances for a number of years."

In Japan, Iwao Takesada, chief dollar watcher at the Bank of Tokyo, said the dollar will resume its downward slide unless the United States improves its trade deficit, inflation and reliance on foreign energy sources in the next three Dollars Get Overseas Boost, Inflation Battle Ahead Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal said Thursday that a recession is possible but not probable as a result of Carter's emergency moves. "Clearly there are risks," he told reporters. "The risks of high interest rates following on the heels of this action causing a slowdown much greater than anyone expects are there." Earlier on the NBC-TV "Today" show, Blumenthal said the risk of a recession "is offset by the benefits from the strong actions, which change the psychological climate and expectations."

The Senate Banking Committee meanwhile scheduled a hearing Friday on Carter's anti-inflation program. Witnesses are to include Alfred Kahn, the president's new anti-inflation chief; Charles L. Schultze, chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisers, and representatives of business and organized labor.

Kent Hance.

When Kent Hance began work in the Texas Senete, he did not sit on the sidelines like most freshman Senators. He sponsored Legislation to remove a State Supreme Court Judge from office following his indictment for perjury. He led the fight in the Senate trial to impeach a District Judge from Duval County for misconduct in office. This was the first such trial in more than 30 years, and was the first major effort to clean up corruption in Duval County. He sponsored measures to remove the Senate's top employee for questionable conduct.

Wherever Kent Hance found waste in government, he acted. He sponsored and passed into law "sunset legislation" that abolishes state agencies on a periodic basis unless they are re-established by the Legislature. This helps to keep agencies from getting out of hand, and to eliminate those that are no longer needed. He made welfare fraud or food stamp fraud a felony in Texas.

In his four-year term, Kent Hance never missed a day in the Senate's five sessions, regular and special. In four of those five sessions he didn't miss a vote. In the fifth, he had a 96% voting record.

In Congress, Kent Hance will continue this kind of representation where it is needed most . . . at the Federal level. Kent Hance has proved that when he sees evidence of corruption, waste or inefficiency in government he does not look the other way . . . HE ACTS. West Texas needs Kent Hance in Congress.

Let's make sure the man we send to Congress is the man with qualifications we can measure-and count on...

Pennsylvania Teams Have Running Woes

By The Associated Press Pennsylvania's biggest probem in the National Football League is running. It seems Pittsburgh can't stop it. It seems Philadelphia can't get it going.

Fortunately or unfortunately. depending on your point of view, the Steelers and Eagles aren't playing each other Sunday.

The Steelers, having given up a larger-than-usual amount of yards to Houston and Kansas City in their last two games. face Chuck Muncie, Tony Galbreath and the rest of the surging New Orleans Saints.

And the Eagles, their ground game decimated by injuries to Wilbert Montgomery and several other backs, take on the National Football League's surprise team of the season, the Green Bay Packers.

Sunday's other National Football League games are the New York Giants at St. Louis, Cincinnati at San Diego, San Francisco at Atlanta, Tampa Bay at Los Angeles, Detroit at Minnesota, Seattle at Chicago, lew England at Buffalo. Cleveland at Houston, Oakland Kansas City, Dallas at Miami and the New York Jets at Denver. Washington visits Baltimore on Monday night.

"The first thing you have to do is shut down the running game," said linebacker Jack Ham, "and the last two weeks we've had it shoved up our noses." The Steelers gave Houston 169 yards two games ago, and Kansas City rolled up 186 last Sunday. "When you give up that many rushing yards, the deffense is not playing very well," Ham observed. "We have to get back to playing good football. Giving up that many rushing yards is out of character for our team."

Still, the Steelers have the NFL's best record, 8-1, and hold a three-game lead in the American Conference Central Division. New Orleans is 5-4 and has run off three straight victories. They've never won more than three in a row and never won more than five games in a season, so there's plenty of incentive for Galbreath, who has amassed 745 yards rushing and receiving, and the rest of the

The Packers hold a two-game lead in the National Conference Central, thanks in part to a running game paced by Terdell' Middleton, second in the NFC with 755 yards. Montgomery has 754, but he's got ankle and knee injuries and is a doubtful starter against Green Bay.

Jim Betterson, having undergone knee surgery, is probably out for the season. Cleveland Franklin has a pinched nerve in his shoulder and Billy Campfield has a hip pointer. They'll probably play. All were hurt during the Eagles' loss to St.

Eagles Coach Dick Vermeil has shored up the ground game a bit by signing Larry Barnes. San Diego's sixth-round draft choice, and little Louie Giammona, a second-year pro from Utah State who signed with the Jets in 1976 and was on their injured reserve list last season. He also happens to be Vermeil's nephew.

Green Bay is 7-2 and shooting for its first playoff berth since 1972. The Eagles are 4-5.

WORRY ERODES

BY BOB WEAR

The usage of the word "worry" varies from person to person. Some use it to refer to all degrees of concern, from the least to the greatest. We should be more exact, because this misuse causes misunderstandings. Some of what we often call "worry" is not worry, but is just

SENSIBLE, WHOLESOME CONCERN is not "worry." In order to be responsible, we must be properly concerned; but "real worry" tends toward irresponsible decisions and actions, and can even cause us to be irrational. It can be so upsetting that we cannot think

WORRY IS "mental distress or agitation resulting from concern for something impending or anticipated." It is not necessary that we permit our concern to produce "worry."

Our word "worry" comes from a word which means to "strangle" or to "restrict." "It implies an incessant goading or attacking that drives one to desperation." The concern we feel becomes over-powering, and we bow down in despair.

strength, our peace of mind, our happiness, our ability to solve problems; and enough of it can literally wear away one's life. "Anxiety" is the word we often use to express this state of mind which is "a nagative product of the faculty of imagination."

THIS FEELING OF WORRY or "anxiety" produces a very damaging state of tension. If we persist in this emotional state. the erosion of the faculties and the potentials of a life takes place. Dr. W.L. Carrington defines "anxiety" as the degradation of the essential and valuable protective mechanism of fear to the useless destructive futility of "worry."

MUCH OF THE WASTE of human resources is the extremely faulty ways we often choose to relieve the tensions of worry (anxiety). When tension mounts, the normal functioning of our being prepares us for action. If we suppress these, we are in trouble; because they will severely damage us physically, mentally and spiritually. They 'erode' our vital forces.

The "tensions of worry," when they exist, should be discharged in some positive and constructive way. If we need help to do so, we must find such

"DON'T WORRY." If there is something you can do, do it; if you can do nothing about it, forget it." This may be over-simplification, but it will stand the test of close inspection.

Houston Scientists To Rotate Space Skylab

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - Scientists at Johnson Space Center will rotate Skylab 180 degrees Friday in an effort to get more sun - and heat - on the gyroscopes that hold the giant space station stable in its 234-mile-high orbit.

The space craft, which wobbled out of control several months ago before scientists regained command, currently is flying with its docking module forward.

The docking module end of the spacecraft will be rotated to the rear to cast more heat from the sun on the gyros.

When shaded for long periods of time, lubricants in bearings on the gyros freeze up, causing more friction and possible malfunctions, scientists say.

Border People Said American Citizens

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) - To most people living in the border outpost of Rio Rico, the matter of their citizenship has never been a complicated question.

And now the U.S. Board of Immigration Appeals agrees with them and has ruled that many of the residents of the now-Mexican town are U.S. citizens.

But to U.S. Immigration officials it was a bit more complicated. There was the matter of an illegal re-routing of the Rio Grande in 1906. That left Rio Rico south of the U.S.-Mexico border.

There was also the compounding matter of Mexican rule in the community of about 300. There have long been Mexican-run schools, roads and

The lack of U.S. jurisdiction made the Rio Ricans citizens of Mexico, the officials argued.

But the appeals board recently ruled that it was, as the Rio Ricans claimed, a simple question with a simple answer: "From 1884 on, the Rio Rico area was clearly a part of the United States. Whatever lack of attention was paid to the small and remote area ... There is little question that those persons born in it were citizens of the United States ... Why then is there an issue as to their citizenship thereafter?" the ruling stated. Before 1906, there was no question that Rio Rico was north of the river and in U.S. territory. But in that year a U.S. land firm improperly rerouted the Rio Grande and left the hamlet in a loop technically south of the river. In effect, Rio Rico was in the Mexican loop of a two-loop configuration. The U.S. was to the north and to the south.

Edinburg attorney Laurier McDonald, who represented the Rio Ricans seeking citizenship, said the area was later re-surveyed but no boundary markers were erected.

The Rio Rico area boomed in the prohibition era. Thirsty Americans flocked to the night clubs and dog track in the community.

The area remained technically in U.S. territory but the Mexican government gradually began providing a few scant services.

When the bridge from Rio Rico across the river was washed out in 1940, the town was stranded.

Immigration officials claim that there remained nothing American in Rio Rico. The residents had not fulfilled the obligations - including taxes and military service - of a citizen.

An immigration judge agreed in 1976, saying that since 1906 'no county, state or United States official exercised authority" in Rio Rico.

"There is not the allegiance and obedience to the United States element of jurisidction." the judge ruled.

On May 26, 1977, the de facto Mexican rule was made official as U.S. and Mexican officials swapped land along the Rio Grande. In its recent ruling, the immigration appeals board stated that the apparent lack of U.S. jurisdiction could not be blamed on the residents of Rio McDonald said, "The government claimed the Rio Ricans never paid taxes down there and there was nothing American.

My contention is, 'so what."

The appeals board agreed. "That the debt may not have been called in does not mean it; did not exist," the ruling stated.)

McDonald said the ruling means that anyone born in Rio Rico before the 1977 land swap is a U.S. citizen. The ruling had come on an appeal of deportation proceedings against a former Rio Rico resident.

McDonald added that many of the Rio Ricans seeking citizenship now reside in thei U.S. as resident aliens.

As for the Rio Ricans who have been isolated for years in their little town - many still may! not have heard the news.

GOP Election Doubtful

HAMMOND, Ind. (AP) -Voters in Indiana's First District haven't elected a Republican congressman for the past 48 years. Judging by the way Owen Crumpacker's campaign is going, they won't do so next month either.

Crumpacker, whose appeal of 1975 contempt citation was dismissed last Friday, spent the last week at home, avoiding police who had a warrant for his Crumpacker's hide-and-seek game ended Thursday after the 66-year-old attorney collapsed from what officials at St. Margaret's Hospital termed "exhaustion as much as anything else."

Crumpacker's week of isolation put a snag in his race against incumbent Democrat Adam Benjamin Jr. that even Lake County Republican Chairman Joseph Kotso says is hopeless.

"He's not my candidate. He doesn't have the party organization's support," Kotso said, adding that he's now sorry he didn't actively try to prevent Crumpacker from winning the Republican nomination last Crumpacker was placed under 24-hour police guard at the hospital and was reported in fair condition Thursday night.

Lake County Police Cpl. William Haussman said police had been trying to serve the warrant on the candidate since Monday.

"We've been over there a few times, but he just waves to us from a window and sends his wife to the door to say he's busy," Haussman said shortly before the arrest.

Haussman said that while officers were talking with Crumpacker's wife late Thursday afternoon at the back door of the house, Hammond police and an ambulance arrived. Crumpacker had collapsed in his bedroom, Haussman said.

Last Thursday, police ticketed Crumpacker's 15-foot-high plaster elephant, mounted on a trailer and left in a no-parking in."

Indiana Supreme Court dismissed Crumpacker's appeal of a 1975 contempt citation and Lake Superior Court Judge James Moody issued a warrant for his arrest.

Crumpacker was cited for contempt after ignoring a court order to turn over his records and about $71,000 in pre-paid legal fees in a land condemnation case.

He said he had avoided police because "I'm trying to run a campaign and I just don't have time to horse around down in a courtroom. If there was any question about my misconduct, about my being in contempt in court, I would be the first to go

Dr. Basil Hilaris of Memorial Slaon-Kettering Cancer Center told reporters Wednesday the lodine-125 seeds are implanted in the tumors. The technique has been used in the case of 81 patients since 1970 and its success rate is 75 percent. Hilaris added.

He said the technique would be especially beneficial to those whose prostate cancer is spotted early, about one-third of the estimated 57,000 men nationwide who will develop prostate cancer in 1979.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Darlene Mitchell, Mary Jenkins, Pam Burns and Chris Johnson recently started new jobs. The work, they say, lights up their lives but, they hope, it will never be shocking.

They are electricians, the total work force of Electric Unlimited, Co. Steve Hatfield, 27, company owner, had good reason for hiring them.

"I can't find any reliable guys," he said. "These women are just as good as guys on the job, sometimes better - more dextrous. They're willing to work, and we haven't had any problems, except some of the male construction workers getting a little goggle-eyed when they first go out on a job."

The women are taking on-the-job training and Hatfield fig-ures Mrs. Mitchell, 21, is "about ready to go out on the truck by herself."

She got her first taste of the work when she was 17 and a high school friend's father "let me help him on the job as part of a school work-study proelectrician during three years in the Army before she married Glen Mitchell. After five weeks on the job, Mrs. Burns, 32, said she had learned "it's not as hard as I thought." She says her husband and two daughters are delighted with her job. "I married when I was just out of high school and never had training for anything so the best part is that I'm learning a trade," she said. She plans to enroll in a vocational school to help get her license.

Mrs. Jenkins, 32, said she was working as a waitress when Hatfield asked if she wanted such a job. "I love it," she said after five weeks as an electrician. 'You're not tied down to one particular thing. My husband, Phil, thinks it's great, too, because I'm not bored any more and I'm doing something that can benefit all our futures."

She has two daughters, ages 8 and 10, who like to tell their teachers about their mother's

Use paste cleaner

DEAR DORIS — You might try using a paste made with cream of tartar and peroxide. Apply by scrubbing on with a small brush. Rinse thoroughly. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — If you have a brown ring in your toilet bowl that will not come off rub a piece of red brick on it. It will disappear. This has worked for me many times. (Polly's Note — I have heard of this but have never tried it. I would certainly be very careful so the finish is not damaged. Test in a somewhat hidden spot.) — EVELYN DEAR POLLY — Every year my children used to come home from the first day of school asking for covers for their school books. It became quite expensive trying to their school books. It became quite expensive trying to keep them in paper and tape so I decided to make cloth ones out of scraps of material I had on hand. I choose fabrics that are long lasting and in colors that will not show

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

A blender might help

DEAR DR. LAMB - After a series of X rays, my husband was told that he has diverticulitis. He was given a diet sheet and I understand that he is not to have any vegetables with skins or leafy vegetables or nuts. Someone told me if I put peas, butter beans or turnips in a steam pressure and liquified them in a blender, it would not hurt him. Will you please tell me if this is true or not? He is 84 years DEAR READER - It depends a lot on how severe his diverticulitis is, and whether he is having an acute attack or just having chronic symp-

Diverticulosis is simply pockets of the colon, but if he really has diverticulitis, that means one of those pockets is inflamed, like a small attack of appendicitis. For that reason, I am reluctant to comment too specifically on what type of diet he should use. It is true that if you should use a blender, and liquify substances so that there are no hulls, skins or other solids, the likelihood of having any problems with these should be minimal.

You might consider using baby foods. Older people with digestive problems who have trouble getting the right foods for them often will find items that they can tolerate easily among the foods provided for babies. foods provided for bables. You are on the right track with your method if you want to get rid of skins and undigestible materials.

You really should ask your doctor whether he should increase his bulk or not.

Studies over the last five to 10 years have suggested that many patients with diverti-culosis do better if they have increased bulk in their diet. Perhaps the best source of bulk really is the bran fiber found in cereals. It's not roughage, but softage once it's wet and, if you have any doubt about that, just look at a bowl of cereal that's been soaking in milk for a while and you will see how soft it really is. I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-6, Diverticulosis, which discusses this problem which occurs so commonly in middle-aged and older people and the general phi-losophy on what can be done to manage it. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. DEAR DR. LAMB — What is a so-called fatty tumor? I have a lump about the size of an egg, which has gotten no larger or smaller, just to the left and below my right shoulder blade. My doctor says that is what it is.

DEAR READER — And

that's about as much as any of us know about it. It is called a lipoma, which means a fatty tumor. They are harmless, even though you might not care for their appearance. The lump as you describe it can be removed. However, if you scoop out the fatty tumor, it may leave a depression un-der the skin which you might not like much better.

The most important thing about all lumps is to have your doctor see them, feel them and decide whether a lump is innocuous or is something that should be removed.

Some doctors believe firmly in the idea that lumps should be in bottles and not in bodies and, in most instances, that idea has merit. At least once the lump is out and looked at under a microscope, there is no doubt about what it is.

Measure each book from top to bottom and side to side and add an extra half-inch for hems all around. On the two and add an extra half-inch for hems all around. On the two longest ends leave from an inch to an inch and one-half to make pockets for the book cover to slip and fit in. Each cover lasts for the entire school year and the books look bright and cheerful. — JOAN

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is when a family visits and the "not so young" children make remarks like "I am not going to eat any of that" about one or more of the dishes that I am putting on the table. To me that is more impolite that I am putting on the table. To me, that is more impolite than forgetting to say "please" or "thank you." — EMMA

DEAR POLLY — I need some help. I have a new set of luggage with zippers on the sides but they are so hard to open and close that I am afraid they will break. I do hope some of the readers have some ideas I could try to make those zippers work more freely. - MARY R. DEAR POLLY - It is quite embarrassing when pants' zippers stick. I have found that rubbing with a bar of soap or wax will eliminate this sticking. -DEAR MARY R. - I think Karen's letter will answer your question. A luggage repair shop told me that paraffin or candle wax are the best things to use on luggage zippers. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY - I have a slow but easy way to get spots off of concrete. Instead of mixing a lot of things and then scrubbing I sprinkle dry cat litter on the area until the spots are completely covered. Of course, the age of the stain has a lot to do with the success of this but leaving it on for a week will usually do the trick. Just sweep up the

DEAR POLLY — When I boil eggs I boil three or four extra ones to have on hand for tuna salad, etc. I store these boiled eggs in the refrigerator and mark the end of each shell with an X so they are easily distinguished from the raw eggs. A pencil will make this X. — KIM

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for the reader who wanted to get oil base paint out of her husband's work clothes. I am an artist and have found the answer is oven cleaner. I spray this generously on the stains, let it set for an hour, then throw the clothes in the washing machine and launder as usual. This works great for oil base paint but not latex. If someone finds something that will work on latex please let me know. - DENNY

Polly's note — Be sure your fabrics can "take" the oven cleaner since it is strong. Test first on a bit of your fabric.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS

MAINTAIN A TIMELESS VALIDITY

leader called Moses achieved his renown -

To receive the Commandments the Lord handed down

Now those ten rules of conduct reflected the times,

And to parents and neighbors gave heed,

Plus instructions for worship; while various crimes

Were condemned, with the evils of greed.

And though time marches on, human nature remains,

As the Church of your choice will convey;

So the same Ten Commandments the Bible contains

- Gloria Nowak

By ascending Mount Sinai alone,

And recorded on tablets of stone.

Are as valid as ever today!
