Armour Cuts Back Work Force By 15 Per Cent as of Monday

The Armour Foods Co., the largest Hereford employer, has reduced its work force at its plant by 15 per cent as of Monday bringing the first economic setback locally since the Tucumcari Industries, clothing manufacturers, went out of business here several months ago.

In making the announcement, Tom J. Hamlett, plant manager, said the plant is discontinuing one of its slaughter operations due to the shortage of fed beef cattle. This includes about 60 employees, some of whom are parttime.

Cattle dressing will be reduced by about 400 head per day, but the plant will continue to operate two shifts in the fabricating department.

The plant manager attributed to current shortage of fed cattle to the severe losses taken by cattle feeders last year, which forced them to cut back the number of head put on feed.

The cutback also will no doubt affect the available number of summer jobs enjoyed by college and high school students.

Some Dryland Crop Critical

Wheat Rated Above Average

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Writer

Deaf Smith County's wheat crop is currently rated as "above average," although some of the dryland acreage is in a critical situation so far as moisture is concerned, according to Juston McBride, county agent.

"We have some dryland wheat that is going to do well, and a lot of irrigated wheat is looking good, but there is also a large acreage of dryland wheat which is suffering moisture stress," said McBride.

McBride pointed out that some dryland wheat has reached the critical stage and may already be out of the picture due to lack of moisture.

"During the grain filling stage, the wheat will benefit from rainfall, but every day the grain matures, we get less and less benefit from additional moisture. Grain from the dryland fields that didn't receive ample moisture will be light," McBride explained.

In spite of the poor outlook for some of the dryland acreage, McBride was optimistic about the overall crop.

"Some of the dryland wheat apparently is going to do well and may yield 15-20 bushels per acre. The irrigated wheat looks good, and the cool weather we've been having has favored the growth of the wheat. It's too early to tell about the yields on irrigated wheat, but they should be normal or slightly above," McBride commented.

The county's 1975 wheat harvest could be larger than last year's due to an increase in the number of dryland acres planted.

According to figures supplied by the local ASCS office, approximately 236,275 acres of wheat was initially planted in the county this year.

This compares with approximately 118,000 acres initially planted in 1974.

"Rain has given the wheat crop a real boost wherever it fell in sufficient amounts. The good dryland wheat fields are scattered around the county in a random manner, following the patterns of

Showers Leave More Moisture

Light rain fell over portions of Deaf Smith County for the second time in a week Wednesday, leaving accumulations of over an inch in scattered areas and helping the crop outlook.

The largest rainfall reports were received from points west and northwest of Hereford.

Harold Wheeler reported one inch of moisture at his farm located five miles north of the Pitman Feedyards. He pointed out that the moisture has "About made" the wheat crop. "The grain is already in the dough stage, the crop is made unless we get some really hot, dry weather," said Wheeler.

Pitman Feedyards, located 15 miles west of Hereford reported one inch from Wednesday's downpour.

The Leon Gorrel farm located five miles west of Westway recorded one inch of moisture and a report of one inch plus was received from four miles west of Milo Center.

In the Walcott community, the Bruce Coleman farm received .40 inches of moisture.

Community Grain at Escator reported only a trace received in Wednesday's showers.

The H.L. Hershey farm 13 miles northeast of the city recorded .20 inches.

The City of Hereford received .18 inches according to KPAN radio.

Dawn Coop at Dawn reported .60 inches.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says you can tell more about a person by what he says about others than you can by what others say about him.

Congratulations to Calla Mountz on being named Pioneer of the Year here Saturday during the annual Mid-Plains Pioneer Day celebration. Her musical talent and beautiful voice have been shared with the community since her family moved here in 1908. She graduated from Hereford High School in 1912.

And, as she shared these talents, she has shared her love for others. She is still active in church work, helps at King's Manor and Westgate, and makes many visits to the hospital and shut-ins. By coincidence, I sat by her in church on Mother's Day, and it was a treat to hear her singing some beautiful hymns.

Friday night's spring intra-squad football game was a fun event for us grandstand "coaches," and it should have been a good contest for the spectators. The teams were well divided, providing an even match. Since our White team won, we could claim superior coaching, but in reality I think the Whites got a couple of breaks that make the difference.

We were disappointed in the turnout of fans for the benefit clash, but probably the holiday weekend affected the attendance. Contributions to the James Self fund, however, amounted to $337.52. As might be expected, there were some added attractions for the game, and Dr. Gerald Payne stole the show when he came dressed as a nurse.

Sheriff Travis McPherson and deputy Leon Gorrell appeared on the field at halftime to issue warrants for the arrest of Tom Simons and Speedy Nieman. Maroon coach Irene McKinster had lodged a complaint against the pair for slander, claiming the two newsmen had said she was a poor coach. Members of the White team persuaded the lawmen to leave their coaches on the field, however.

The event was marred by one sad note, it was learned Saturday morning. L.J. (Pinky) Matthews, a booster club coach on the White team, apparently suffered a heart attack at the game. He

MRS. CARL MOUNTZ

'Pioneer of Year' Named Here

"Exemplifying the spirit of the Great High Plains," Mrs. Carl (Calla) Mountz was recognized as Pioneer of the Year for 1975 Saturday during the annual Mid-Plains Pioneer Day celebration in the Bull Barn.

The announcement made by Roy Faubion of KPAN Radio climaxed the covered dish luncheon which was preceded by reunion activities and a business meeting of the Pioneer Association.

Mrs. Mountz, who resides at 106 W. 7th St., was nominated for "becoming as much a part of the community and area as anyone could." She was cited for sharing her singing talent "in times of joy at weddings and times of debarment at funerals."

A LONGTIME RESIDENT of this city, Mrs. Mountz helped raise funds for war bonds during variety shows at Star Theatre during the first World War. During the Depression in the 1930's, she often taught music to local youngsters

"when her pay was often a jar of jelly or words of thanks."

Faubion listed Mrs. Mountz contributions to Hereford and included her volunteer work at King's Manor Retirement Home and Westgate nursing unit. He presented her an engraved plaque and corsage.

Prior to this presentation, recognition was given to the oldest members present and to visitors travelling from the farthest distance. These names were not available at presstime.

DURING A BUSINESS meeting yesterday morning, Pioneer Association officers were elected under the direction of Benny Womble, president. Nominations were submitted by a committee led by Frank Bezner. A treasurer's report and minutes of the previous gathering were read by Mrs. Merlin Kaul, executive secretary.

The business session was opened by the invocation which was delivered by the Rev. Doug Manning, pastor of First Baptist Church. Grant Hanna gave the pledge of allegiance to the flag prior to a welcoming address presented by Ed Line, local attorney. L.M. Fertsch, longtime resident, represented the large crowd in giving the response.

Coffee and doughnuts were served during registration, which was conducted by Pioneer Study Club. Membership dues were collected by Mrs. Elmer Patterson, Marlin Gilliland and Frank Ball.

FRESH FLOWERS, provided by local garden clubs decorated the Bull Barn. Participating in this project were Garden Beautiful, Bud to Blossom and Hereford Garden Clubs.

Womble expressed gratitude to committee chairmen and other individuals who worked on this year's Pioneer Day observance. "I offer my appreciation to those volunteers who gave support and contributed their time so that Deaf Smith County residents could honor those men and women who developed this area."

TEC Needs More Jobs From Employers

Tougher Competition Expected For Summer Student Employment

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

The unemployment rate is the highest it's been in years in Hereford and it will no doubt get worse this summer with high school and college students out on the streets pounding the pavement for the already too few available jobs.

While the summer situation would naturally be a temporary one, with students returning to school in the fall, those who are already unemployed will have that much more competition for work. The problem will be compounded by the fact that the summer jobs usually filled by students will be fewer and the number of students looking for work will be more.

LESTER RAPE, director of the Texas Employment Commission (TEC) here, said this week that a big part of the problem stems from a misunderstanding of the basic function of the TEC.

"We are known often as the unemployment office. But not everyone coming here draws unemployment insurance," Rape said. "Also applicants for jobs think we charge for placements as do commercial placement services, but we are a state agency and naturally we are here to serve the public in finding jobs."

The TEC has a full staff at its building at 700 25 Mile Av. to match employers with employees. Their task however, will be overwhelming this summer as there will be many more times the number of applicants as will there be jobs.

This is largely attributed to the weak economic situation across the nation. The TEC director explained that employers will not be offering as many jobs as they have in the past, especially extra jobs which they created for a particular individual.

"THE UNEMPLOYMENT RATE is the highest it's been here since I came to Hereford eight years ago," he said. The unemployment rate now stands at 3.5 per cent of the total work force as compared with the statewide rate of about six per cent.

So what is the TEC doing about the over sized worked force which is expected to fully bloom in about two weeks as all students are out of high school and returned from college?

The primary emphasis is being put on the employers to call the TEC about any and all available jobs. "We don't think we have much problem with applicants coming here although we certainly encourage all students to come to this office and enter the labor market," Rape said.

The TEC staff plans to have one person calling up some employers in an effort to seek out jobs. In the past, the agency has put the total summer student employment program, known as Youth Employment Service (YES), under one staff member. This year, it will be conducted by the total staff as other duties have been thrown on the TEC.

One of these is the one year economic bill signed by President Ford authorizing county, city, school, hospital and other workers to draw unemployment insurance as was not the case before. The TEC has a volume of forms which they expect to have to process for these individuals such as for teachers who would qualify for unemployment benefits during the summer months.

EMPLOYERS REPORTING jobs are asked to be specific in the duties to be performed by the employee so that the right individuals can be found for the work. The TEC will explain to any employer what information is needed.

The total number of students applying for jobs this summer is not exactly known although Rape estimates it will be about the 250 students applying last year.

Some of the summer jobs come as a result of vacations taken by regular employees. Students in some capacities might jump from one job to another filling in the vacant spaces. And the pay for most of these is well above the $2.10 minimum wage as the students are paid the same as the full time employees.

The TEC will take applicants mostly from 16-year-olds and older due to child work laws and certain company insurance requirements.

THE TEC HAS APPLICATIONS which the students may fill out to get jobs. Once a job is found, a referral card is given the student to take to the employer.

An important step in any job application is the interview and the TEC is prepared with pamphlets and instructions for the applicant in the proper way to approach the employer.

This function is being carried out a step further as Barbara Lyons, of the TEC staff has been going to area schools talking to classes about the services of the TEC and how best to get a job. She emphasized that the purpose is "to sell yourself to the employer." An associated article in this issue lists suggestions on being interviewed.

Those students who have filled out applications with the TEC should ask the TEC to put their form back on active file. These are kept active for a 60-day period.

Younger students are not left out as spot jobs such as yard work are available. While in the past these jobs were promoted through a regular program, they will be handled straight through the TEC office.

"We even had an 11-year-old come here wanting work and we were able to keep him fairly busy through spot jobs," Rape said. The TEC asks residents who might otherwise do their own yard work car washing or maintenance to call the TEC and provide a chance for younger students to work.

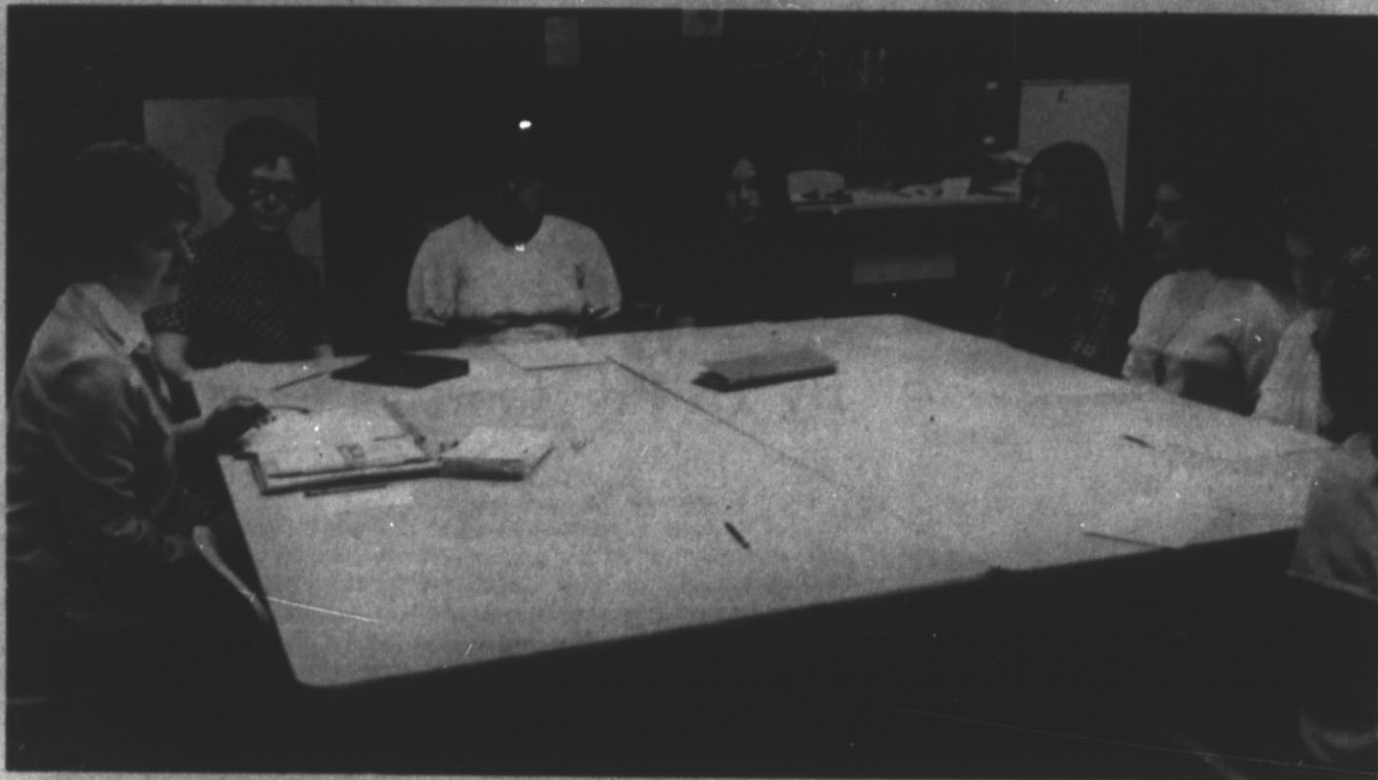

"There's nothing better than a kid getting out and working. The value is more in the work experience than the money earned," Rape explained.

The majority of the other jobs are in sales clerk type capacities. These are suited more to the girls depending on specific instances.

Wheat harvest crew work and other field jobs are filled mostly with college age students. The crew usually want the workers to travel with them all the way north on the harvest trail.

Rape said that other field jobs might be in low supply as the cattle and farming economy is still in sad shape and generally affecting all employers in the area.

The local TEC staff is prepared to work had for the students this summer, but the conditions for jobs aren't so rosy as Rape forecasts that "all indications are for less jobs than in the past and more students looking for them."

Job Hints Given

Candidates for School Board File Final Expense Reports

Candidates who ran for the Hereford Board of Education in last month's race have submitted final campaign expense reports, which are required under Texas law passed about two years ago.

The reports list both the amounts spent and to whom the contributors to the candidates' campaigning fund. In this year's race, eight candidates and one political organization, the Concerned Citizens of Hereford, filed reports.

The report reflecting the most spent and collected was that of the Concerned Citizens which total contributions of $2,230 from 42 individual contributors. Total expenses were listed at $2,224.50. This was mostly for contributions to individual candidates which they backed.

Benefiting from the contributions of the Concerned Citizens were Jim Arney with $457.66, Bob Josseland with $445.35, and Bud Snyder with $727.90.

The contributors (as listed on the report) were: S. McWhorter, $25; R. Berends, $10; E. Flood, $50; J. McDowell, $30; H. Cavness, $45; J. Carlile, $100; E. Langley, $25; T. Kendrick, $50; V. Marsh, $15; J. Kerr, $40; J. Clark $100; K. Livingston, $150; W. Ford, $25; H. Johnson, $150; L. Reinart, $10; W. Owens, $100 R. Wills, $50; S. Self, $25; and D. McBrayer, $150.

Also contributing were: E. Holt, $50; C. Allison, $100; E. Frye, $50; P. Scott, $20; K. Rogers, $40; L. Sharp, $25; M.

Jayroe, $25; H. Higgins, $20; R. Otteson, $25; J. McCrary, $150; J. Webb, $50; C. Hicks, $25; B. Hamilton, $10; E. Reinauer, $100; B. Walden, $25; F. Ruland, $20; B. Sims, $25; C. Newson, $10; N. Bartlett, $15; S. Knox, $25; G. Clements, $50; D. Renfro, $10; and J. Easley, $10.

According to the reports on file with the schools tax assessor-collector, the candidates' total expenses and individual contributions are as follows. (Listed in the places in which they ran for the school board).

Dear Sir:

Since I was neither directly nor indirectly involved with the problem of motorcyclists vs. the Veterans' Park involving the teenagers, I did not attend the recent commissioners' meeting.

I neither use the park nor have any teenagers in my home; my son is married and in college. Yet I am concerned with the problems of the teenagers of today.

We attack the teen generation with moans and groans and ask "What is wrong with the kids of today?" But we have absolutely no recreational activities for our youth.

Most of the public places open for the youth, such as the skating rink, are declared off-limits by their parents because of the many adverse problems, such as fights, drinking, drunks, and dope pushers.

These kids will be our leaders of tomorrow and yet when they come before the public with a request for the use of a small portion of land, the city immediately passes a law against it.

If we really wanted to help our youth, why don't we work toward a Y.M.C.A. and a Y.W.C.A.?

I know the community center is open, but only during specified hours and under strict supervision.

With a little participation and communication by our city leaders, I think we could get someone interested in re-opening a bowling alley here. This could also be used by the schools for P.E. classes. If you check the past, when we had a bowling alley, you will find that the youth made good use of this, and the law force was never called over any problems created there.

Which is more important to you—a certain sprig of grass, which can be easily transplanted, or the future leaders of our community—the teenagers of today?

Hellen Owens.

County, Hospital Boards Meet

Governmental bodies meeting in regular session this week include the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court and the Deaf Smith General Hospital Board of Directors.

The hospital board will convene at 7 a.m. Tuesday in the board room of the hospital to discuss routine business items of administrators reports, committee reports and the medical staff report.

The Commissioners Court will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the courthouse to consider a contract with the State Department of Public Welfare for child welfare supports, act on an insurance program in connection with workmen's compensation, review an area plan by the Texas Aeronautics Commission, consider need of air-conditioning in the Criminal District Attorney's Office and a telephone for the Veteran's Service office; and accept a Planned Use Report for Revenue Sharing funds in the next entitlement period.

The commissioners also will discuss the present gasoline situation for the county, hear a request for use of the Bull Barn for a fiesta, discuss railroad crossing signals with the Texas Highway Department and consider the need of a kitchen in the County library. Two construction items are on the agenda including seal coating for the Bull Barn and Courthouse parking lots and electrical wiring for the Bull Barn.

Nurse Payne on Sideline

Players and fans alike did a "double take" when Nurse Payne took the field at Whiteface Stadium Friday night to care for injured players during the Herd's spring game. The "nurse" was Dr. Gerald Payne, who serves as team physician on the sidelines during the grid season. The contest served as a benefit game for the James Self family, and athletic director Fred Upshaw invited some grandstand quarterbacks to coach the two squads.

Hereford Gets Big Tax Rebate

The city of Hereford recently received the sum of $23,039.09 from the state of Texas.

The sum represents the amount rebated to Hereford in connection with city sales tax payments.

Comptroller Bob Bullock issued checks totaling $19.9 million Thursday to Texas cities in the second round of monthly city sales tax payments.

The May payments were up from the $16.1 million rebated April 15 when the monthly system replaced the old quarterly rebate system with its 60 to 90-day lag time.

But, Bullock said, the big payment will come in June when city allocations are made of the quarterly returns paid by merchants since April 30. The great bulk of that money hadn't reached the Comptroller's office by the May 2 cutoff date for the May payments.

The May rebates were made from money received by the Comptroller between April 4, the cutoff for April's payments, and May 2, Bullock said.

Checks put in the mail Thursday went to 700 of the 809 cities which have the one per cent sales tax. The remaining small cities fell below the $500 level at which monthly payments aren't made.

All rebates, regardless of size, will be issued in June, Bullock said.

A certain amount of permanent dissatisfaction with one's talent is probably a health thing. The person who is totally satisfied with his work will never reach his potential.

The great pianist Paderewski, who achieved tremendous popularity in America, once said: "There have been a few moments when I have known complete satisfaction, but only a few. I have rarely been free from the disturbing realization that my playing might have been better."

The world considered Paderewski's playing near perfection, but he remained unsatisfied and kept constantly at the job of improving his talent.

Interstate Designation Uncertain

Texas and New Mexico communities—including Hereford—may as well forget about obtaining an interstate highway designation for US-60, area officials who travelled to Washington last week were told.

According to a report in the Canyon News Sunday, Randall County Commissioner Jim Flether and Canyon banker David West said they were not given any hope that the interstate proposal on which they have been working for more than two years will ever be a reality.

part of the federal interstate highway system.

He said aides to Sens. John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen were not optimistic in their assessment of the attempt to have the highway made a part of the federal system, but were hopeful that a bill now pending in Congress could allow funding to upgrade the highway in New Mexico.

Several meetings of interested community leaders had been held in Hereford the past two years, and a regional public hearing was conducted here by the Texas Highway Department. The highway

The trip by area officials last week was in response to that recommendation. Don Smith C of C leaders, busily engaged in the All Girl Rodeo activities, were unable to attend the meeting but resolutions in support of the project were sent from the city, county and chamber of commerce.

Barney Wiegand, Amarillo C of C transportation committee, reported that a bill is pending in Congress which would allow the federal government to make highway funds available to states, in lieu of their ability to provide matching funds at the state level, with which to upgrade existing highways.

He said the bill would provide interest-free loans to the states who cannot afford to upgrade the highways themselves. Wiegand and West agreed it is up to New Mexico to pursue the obtaining of such a loan to complete the four-lane portion of US-70 (which is US-60 in Texas) to Las Cruces.

West, executive vice president of the First National Bank of Canyon, said following his return from a five-day stay in Washington that he believes "it will be a heck of a long time, if ever," before US-60, which connects Amarillo with Las Cruces, N.M., is redesignated a

Governor Proclaims 'Friendly Texan Week'

Texans are known far and wide for their friendliness. In fact our Texas motto is "The Friendship State." Of our many "attractions" offered visitors to our state, friendliness is one of the most important.

To bring to the attention of all Texans the importance of this commodity, Governor Briscoe has proclaimed May 25-31 as FRIENDLY TEXANS WEEK. The Texas Tourist Council wants this message to be brought to the attention of all Texans prior to the big influx of the 21 million visitors we expect to host this year.

announced that 19.7 million out-of-state visitors came to Texas last year and they spent $2.6 billion! There are only three states which attract more "visitor" dollars. Florida, New York and California.

Gov. Briscoe said, "An important part of the heritage of Texas includes hospitality and friendliness. This friendliness has been a major influence in attracting many visitors to Texas and bringing them back for further visits. I urge all citizens of Texas to show sincere friendliness and helpfulness of our visitors and I hereby designate the week of May 25-31 as 'FRIENDLY TEXAN WEEK.'"

New State Honor Earned By Secretary Delegate

Mildred Sheffy, Professional Legal Secretary (PLS), was cited by the Texas Association of Legal Secretaries during the 20th TALS convention recently at Fort Worth.

The local woman, who represented Deaf Smith-Castro Counties Legal Secretaries Association, was the first individual to ever receive the title of "TALS Legal Secretary of the Year." She was presented an engraved silver plate during a banquet which climaxed convention activities.

Three finalists for the newly-conceived honor were notified three weeks prior to the convention and were interviewed in Fort Worth by the judges. Selection was made by the Honorable Joe Spurlock, Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, Second Supreme Judicial District; the Honorable Charles Lindsey, Judge of the Criminal District Court No. 3, Tarrant County; Donald R. Curry, past president of Fort Worth-Tarrant County Bar Association.

The local chapter of legal secretaries won the highest achievement award available to chapters with less than 30 members. Also, the chapter received a white ribbon for winning third place honors in publicity contest. Elsie Baker is local chairman of the news media activities.

Barbara Wheat, PLS, current president of DSCCLSA received special appointment as TALS Resolutions Chairman by the newly-installed TALS president, Druana Wiley, PLS, of Beaumont.

Special recognition was directed to Professional Legal Secretaries who have earned PLS certificates for 1974-75. Included in this recognition were Ruth Wynne of Hereford and Mrs. Wheat of Dimmitt. PLS ranking is the highest honor available to legal secretaries and is bestowed by the National Association of Legal Secretaries.

The Fort Worth Legal Secretaries Association were hosts at the annual convention with a "Come Fly With Us" theme, and included make-believe tours through Italy, Paris, England and Mexico. The reception was hosted by Legal Directors Publishing Company, Inc.

DSCCLSA will hold its next meeting on Tuesday, June 3, at 7:30 p.m., in the offices of BURKETT, ROSS AND EDWARDS, in Dimmitt, and all interested persons are invited to attend and learn more about the chapter and its goals. A special program will be presented by Tony Guest of the Department of Public Safety on "Self-Defense for Women."

Brucellosis May Cost State Money

AUSTIN--Unless brucellosis is controlled in Texas, states may eventually stop buying cattle produced here, Dr. H.Q. Sibley, executive director of the Texas Animal Health Commission said recently.

The need to control brucellosis is a matter of economics, Sibley said.

"As more and more cattle are produced, cattlemen are faced with the expanding need to sell their surplus on the market. The same thing is happening in other cattle-producing states. As the livestock situation becomes more critical, we fear that buyers outside Texas will look to brucellosis-free states."

According to most recent figures, 3,009 herds were being quarantined by Animal Health personnel on March 1. Sibley said this figure had varied from 2,366 in April, 1974, to a peak of 3,235 in October. Quarantines had dropped slightly after that, but are on the rise again.

Workers can steal by doing nothing when they are supposed to be working.

Non-essentials take up too much time in life-but why be different from those about you?

Recognized At Convention

Mildred Sheffy, at right, receives an engraved plate naming her the first Texas Legal Secretary of the Year from Donna James of Amarillo. Mrs. Sheffy served as a delegate for Deaf Smith-Castro Counties Legal Secretaries Association at the state convention recently when she received the honor.

Researchers Seeking High Quality Catfish

Larger supplies of high quality, wholesome, economical farm-reared catfish for consumers are research goals of two scientists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

"Catfish disease control becomes increasingly significant at a time when costs for facility improvements are high and protein food supplies are expensive as a result of increased world demand," point out Dr. R.A. Bendele, Jr., veterinary pathologist, and Dr. Stewart McConnell, veterinary microbiologist, with the Experiment Station.

They are conducting research designed to provide a basic understanding of disease processes. The research will ultimately lead to development of products such as oral vaccines and more effective medication for treatment of catfish diseases.

Basically, their research deals with the origination and the development of specific viral, bacterial, and parasitic disease problems affecting the catfish industry.

The scientists say the production potential for farm-reared channel catfish has not been fully realized in Texas, due in part of the lack of capital for development of improved cultural techniques and a vitally needed organized marketing program to create public awareness of the product quality.

"Producers also need access to more efficient management techniques to compete favorably in the market place under current market conditions," they add.

Three management areas which contribute to the success of catfish production, they emphasize, are efficient facilities, good nutrition, and disease control or prevention.

Other producer concerns are inflation and increased costs of high protein feed needed for rapid growth in farm-reared catfish.

"A market does exist, however, for expanded production, since at least 60 per cent of all catfish consumed in the United States are supplied by wild-caught fish, either domestic or imported," Bendele and McConnell say.

Both of these kinds of fish are and equipment this year, in spite of a drop in income. Another large manufacturer is already planning future growth and expansion with a 15 per cent - 6 per cent inflation rate built into plans.

Wages are the big question mark because Labor has managed to hold wages up in a soft economy. With the current recession almost over, wages have not dropped and economist expect prices to go still higher in order to absorb the higher labor costs which are sure to come.

Dramatic drop in the economy has eased inflationary pressures and temporarily eliminated the cost spiral businessmen have had to fight for the past three years. A recent survey confirms the consensus of many businessmen that the economy will continue to slide and prices will continue to ease for several more months.

But, while businessmen are enjoying some slack in the economy and some price-cutting by suppliers, those same businessmen are convinced that our worst enemy is still inflation. Some leaders are anticipating a sharp rise in the cost of living before the end of 1975. The majority of those interviewed are convinced that the inflation spiral won't commence again until late 1976 or beyond.

Most inflation-worriers are concerned with the longer-term view. They believe that over-stimulation of the economy will now result in a dramatic inflation wave in 18 to 24 months. That wave of inflation could easily be in the double digit category if the government and or congress panics over a slow recovery and primes the pump too heavily in order to get the economy on an upward course.

Many companies are not just thinking about inflation, but are already doing something about it now. One major paint manufacturer has doubled its capital spending for the plant

SS Benefits Aid Students

"One of the most productive benefits paid by Social Security is the monthly benefit paid to students between the ages of 18-22 because of the retirement, disability, or death of the parent," Maurine Travis, manager of Amarillo Social Security office stated. "In this age of ever increasing costs for education, these monthly benefits enable many students to continue their schooling," Mrs. Travis continued.

However, even with this help, many students must work to finish paying for their education, and this fact serves to remind us that some students who draw social security will need to report their work to their social security office. Students can work and earn $220 in 1975 without it affecting their monthly benefits. This is an increase over the $200 persons were allowed to make in 1974.

If the beneficiary earns over $220, then $1 of their social security student benefit must be withheld for every $2 earned over the $220 limit. However, even if the student makes over $220, he will still get his full social security check for any month that he does not earn wages of over $210 and is not performing substantial services in self-employment. "In addition to work over the allowable limit, student beneficiaries also need to report if they quit school or if they get married," Mrs. Travis added. "If you need additional information, you may contact the Amarillo Social Security Office at 317 East Third Street or telephone 376-2241 (area code 806)."

Commission Recalls Flammable Products

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has announced that it will require two rug manufacturers to recall certain carpets and rugs which fail to meet Federal flammability standards.

The Commission is also prohibiting Anson Pajama Co. from selling certain pajama products which fail to meet the requirements of the Flammable Fabrics Act.

American Carpet Mills will recall the style "Caravan" carpet, which is composed of 100 percent polyester pile, and is shaggy in nature and comes with a jute back. The carpets being recalled were sold nationwide from Jan. 27, 1972 to May 12, 1972.

Consumers having such carpets should contact American Carpet Mills, also known as Keller Industries, at 18000 State Road 9 in Miami, Florida.

Hartford Carpet Mills will recall carpets and rugs in the style "Carmel," also sold under the names "Sierra" and "Hartley," manufactured between April and October of 1971, and carpets and rugs in the same style in colors Autumn Bronze and Harvest Beige, manufactured in May and June of 1972.

"Carmel" carpets are composed of 100 percent nylon pile and have jute backs. Consumers having these carpets should contact Hartford Carpet Mills of 2913 8th Avenue in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Mike Mansfield, Senate Majority Leader:

"I regard that war in the sense of U.S. involvement, in Indochina, as over for this nation."

Long Boret, Cambodian Premier:

"We will never surrender."

Pajamas manufactured by Anson Pajama Co. in styles 112 and 113, manufactured between July of 1972 and July of 1973 will not be sold because of improper labeling.

The action taken by these three companies are voluntary and do not constitute admission of guilt by the companies involved.

Further information may be obtained by writing the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission in Washington, D.C.

Herd White Team Wins Spring Game

By Joe Lackey
Sports Writer

In a hard-fought contest, the Hereford White squad defeated the Hereford Maroon 20-9 Friday in Whiteface Stadium.

The white squad started the game with the ball on the 35 yard line. On the first play of the game, Kelly Kitchens completed a 65 yard pass to Roy Martinez for a touchdown. The kick failed, and the White squad had an early 6-0 lead.

The Maroon team took a 7-6 lead later in the first quarter when Carlee Graves ran the ball over from the 15.

Neither team scored in the second quarter, although both teams moved the ball well in that quarter.

The White team drew first blood in the second half when Leonard Galvan intercepted a pass and ran 37 yards for a touchdown. The try for two points was good, and the White squad had regained the lead at 14-7.

Later in the third quarter, the White team recovered a fumble deep in Maroon territory, and Martinez soon scored on a two-yard plunge. The kick failed, making the final tally 20-9.

Kitchens showed considerable passing ability as the quarterback for the White team, as did Mike Crim for the Maroon squad.

Both teams looked good on defense. The White squad early in the game established a strong pass rush, and harassed Crim through much of the game.

Kitchens got off several long punts for the Hereford White; his punting ability will be invaluable in the fall on those long nights when the offense has trouble moving the ball.

Roy Martinez, for the White team, and James McDowell, for the Maroon squad, looked strong going downfield for passes for their respective teams.

Both teams looked a little ragged in handling the ball, and fumbled a few times, but this is to be expected of a spring scrimmage.

Both Sammy Gonzalez and Dennis Artho produced sparkling pass interceptions for the White team.

Penalties were few during the contest, which speaks well of both team's spring preparation. The Hereford varsity coaches divided talent equally among the two teams, which made the struggle very interesting. The two teams were provided colorful leadership during the scrimmage by four female grandstand quarterbacks (the Maroon team), and four male fans (the victorious white-squad).

One of the most sensational plays of the game, a long pass completion from Crim to Torres of the Maroon squad, good for 48 yards from the Maroon 35 to the White 17, came to naught as the White team soon recovered a Maroon fumble, ending the particular scoring threat in the third quarter.

If the hard hitting of the spring scrimmage is any indication, prospects look bright for the HHS varsity for the upcoming fall season.

The spring scrimmage was conducted as a benefit for James Self and family, a teacher in the Hereford school system who had incurred massive medical bills after the death after birth of a child. Donations to the fund at the scrimmage amounted to $337.52.

The Houston Astros will hold two baseball tryout camps in June—one on the 7th in Beeville, Tex. at Bee County Junior College and one on the 14th and 15th in the Astrodome. Registration for both camps will begin at 9 a.m.

Both camps are limited to players between the ages of 16 and 21 years of age. Each player must furnish his own uniform, glove, shoes and proof of age. American Legion players are required to have a letter from their Legion coach or commander, granting permission to attend the camp.

Bats and balls will be provided by the Houston Astros.

Touchdown Plays

yard run in the first half of action. Chasing Graves is White linebacker Dennis Evans (55). The white team tallied twice in the second half to win the intra-squad battle by 20-9.

Legion Baseball Tryouts Slated

Tryouts for American Legion Baseball will be held Tuesday and Wednesday at the high school baseball field at 6:30 p.m.

Boys 18 and under are eligible to participate. Boys 19 before August 1 are not eligible.

Although plans for an American Legion team for this year had been abandoned, a coach has been found and a team will be formed if enough boys show interest, according to Benny Womble, business manager.

Coaches for the program will include Ken Hagar, Tom Stoy and David Ashby.

The 1975 schedule will include games in Amarillo, Canyon and Hereford on Wednesday evenings and Sunday afternoons.

Practice sessions will be held weekdays around 7 p.m.

Anyone interested in participating in the program is urged to attend the tryouts or contact one of the coaches.

Snakebites Call For Attention

To a person bitten by a poisonous snake, the 30 minutes following the bite could be the most important half hour of his life.

Even though few people are killed by snakebites, proper first aid immediately after the bite can save the victim much suffering and reduce the chance of a crippling injury.

There always has been considerable controversy on first-aid treatment for snake-bites, even among the scientific community. Treatments in favor one year are often discarded the next or debunked by professionals and sportsmen.

Officials at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department say that three things should be done following the strike of a venomous snake: apply a constriction band above the bite, keep the victim calm and secure the snake.

The constriction band should be applied two or three inches above the bite. A shoelace, handkerchief, rubber band or torn piece of clothing will make a suitable constriction band.

Snake venom moves through the lymphatic system just beneath the skin. The band should be tight enough only to reduce surface circulation. It should be loosened for two-minute periods every 15 minutes.

The band should be moved upward as swelling progresses. A constriction band should never be used for more than four hours.

Keep the victim calm. If possible, make him lie down. Assure him that snakebites, while painful, are seldom fatal.

Like any poison, the more you get, the more serious the problem. Approximately 30 per cent of snakebite victims receive no venom and do not require treatment. Another 30 per cent do not get enough venom to worry about but eventually require treatment. Only 40 per cent require extensive and rapid treatment.

If several people are around they can find and capture and kill the snake while initial first aid is administered. Capturing or killing the snake is necessary for proper identification. Different kinds of snakes can require different kinds of definitive treatment.

A snake can bite several times and even snakes which have been freshly killed can still bite through reflex action. Carefully pick up the snake with a stick and put it in a cloth bag or box to have it available for reference.

If the snake is identified as non-poisonous, treat the wound like any other puncture.

Non-poisonous snakes usually leave several teeth marks; the fangs from a poisonous snake will leave two major punctures.

sometimes one.

If the snake is identified as a poisonous one and you are within 15 to 20 minutes of a hospital, immobilize the affected part of the body with a splint or strap and take the victim to a hospital.

Pain itself is not a good indication a poisonous snakebite because the shock of any bite can cause both real and imagined symptoms.

More reliable symptoms of a venomous bite are swelling around the affected area, drowsiness, weakness, dripping of watery fluid from the wound or no tingling sensations from the muscles within a few minutes after the bite.

Incision and suction are two of the most debatable treatments for snake bite. Often the treatment is more serious than the snake bite.

But according to Dr. Findlay Russell of the University of Southern California School of Medicine, in the treatment of some 104 rattlesnake bites over a period of 12 years, "...the proper application of a constriction band or tourniquet, and incision and suction have been found to be of definite value as first-aid measures."

This is especially true for the first-aid treatment of bites from large rattlers of cottonmouths when it has to be assumed that the victim received large amounts of venom or when the accident happened far from a hospital.

A sharp instrument should be sterilized and one cut made through each fang mark. Each cut should be no more than 1/4-inch in length and depth and in line with the long axis of the limb (no cross-cutting).

Suction should be applied with snakebite suction kits, or by mouth if these are not available. Much of the venom can be removed in this fashion within the first few minutes after the bite. The "cut and suck" treatment is of little value if not used within 30 minutes.

Bites from coral snakes are very rare and, in spite of its reputation, there are no recorded deaths from the coral snake. Get the victim to a hospital at once.

Snakebites should not be packed in ice for long periods of time. Wet rags or ice packs might be useful in reducing pain if used briefly.

Frozen hands and toes have made amputation necessary in some cases.

Boxers Bound For Region 9 Bouts

Six members of the Hereford Boxing Club will compete in the Region 9 AAU Junior Olympics Boxing Tournament in Houston June 6 and 7.

Those from Hereford who will compete and their senior weight divisions include Mario Tijerino, 14, 150 pounds; Eddie DeLeon, 14, 147 pounds; Martin Lucero, 15, 125 pounds; Vincente Guerrero, 14, 112 pounds; and Hector Guerrero, 14, 105 pounds.

Joe Tijerino will compete in the intermediate division at 120 pounds.

Boxers from Texas, Mississippi and Louisiana will compete in the regional tournament and winners will advance to the nationals in South Dakota June 26-28.

Several of the young Hereford boxers boast impressive records, according to Harold Wheeler, Boxing Club director.

Each boxer who will compete at regional has taken a district title.

Eddie DeLeon has won 21 straight fights, 11 of them by knockouts. He was last defeated in 1974 by Eddie Duron of Grand Prairie, who went on to win the nationals after defeating DeLeon in a close bout.

"Eddie should be in contention for the nationals this year, he has been nominated for the outstanding boxer of the West Texas AAU," said Wheeler. Hector Guerrero was last defeated in the regional meet last year and has piled up a string of 29 straight victories since then.

The remaining boxing team members have all won 22 fights and lost three this year, having competed in some 49 nights of fighting.

Changes Called For In Agricultural Research

Agronomists have been challenged to take a more active role in dealing with the world's food problems.

Dr. William F. Hueg, Jr., director of the University of Minnesota agricultural experiment station, says agronomists have been slow in changing their research direction.

He said new technologies must be developed before present fuel resources are used up. "This means the development of atomic power, solar energy, geo-thermal energy, and combinations of energy sources," Dr. Hueg explained.

The director also charged that scientists have been guilty of allowing gaps in research to develop and, at times, ignoring data being developed.

He pointed out that corn yields in excess of 300 bushels have been obtained, along with higher yields for other crops as well.

"These are test and research yields, however," he said, "and many of them will be difficult to reproduce even under the most ideal field conditions."

Hueg also noted that educators must learn to translate agricultural data into terms laymen can understand.

"It's one thing to say development of a new wheat variety increases average yield by six bushels an acre," he stated. "But it's another thing to say that such research alone meant that in 1973 the extra production yielded 270 million more loaves of bread."

Hueg also pointed out that agriculture is working under constraints over which it has little or no control.

The Abundant Life

By BOB WEAR

One of the most admirable human traits is sensible consideration of other people. It is admitted that some persons are inconsiderate of their fellowmen; however, it is encouraging to know that there are people who do "consider others"; in all of the helpful, polite and understanding ways.

POLITENESS IS A CONTINUING; and probably the most frequent way we "consider others." Some appearance of politeness may be superficial, but true politeness is a sincere regard for others; and is the oil that lubricates the machinery of our social order.

Politeness is very important to all of us; to our personal and our collective well-being.

"THE ONLY TRUE

SOURCE of politeness is consideration; that bighearted moral sense which never loses sight of the rights, the claims, and the sensibilities of others." —Simms.

Overlooking everything we can, in the mistakes of others is one of the justified ways we can "consider others". This includes the things people say, which are oftentimes nothing more than slips of the tongue. It can also include the unkind and critical remarks they make about us.

When others say or do unpleasant things out of their irritation, or disappointment, or misunderstanding; consideration is the better way, consideration that helps us disregard the unpleasantness.

As a plus, most of these people will appreciate our understanding.

KINDNESS IS THE BASIC attitude of mind which causes us to "consider others", because it is the "sympathy and humaneness and interest in another's welfare". Of course, to be most effective, it will be controlled and directed by good sense and wise judgement.

We can surely understand the importance of kindness, in our attitude toward others; because we know how very much we appreciate the kindness expressed toward us.

"Be kind. Remember that everyone you meet is fighting a hard battle." —Anon.

A wise sympathy expressed to others is one of the important ways we "consider others". We feel with them, and say and do the indicated things to strengthen and sustain them. We man not always know what is best, but we can try. We can at least, let people know that we care.

"THE ONLY TRUE KNOWLEDGE of our fellowmen is that which enables us to feel with him; which gives us a fine ear for the heart impulses that are beating under the mere clothes of circumstances and opinion." —Eliot.

We like for others to "consider" us, in all of the best ways; and living would be very difficult if others did not show any consideration for us. Knowing this, it should be easy for us to "do unto others as we would have them do unto us".

In the general associations, which make up our daily living, it is very important that we "consider others".

Research To Combat Tick Fever Outbreaks

AUSTIN--Cattle fever ticks, considered by southwestern cattlemen to be the second most important problem after foot and mouth disease, will be the subject of research soon to get underway at the new U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) research facility at Falcon Heights, Tex.

"Texas cattle have no immunity against tick fever and outbreaks of the ticks in the state have the potential of causing losses of as much as $100 million annually," according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Tick fever, also known as babesiosis and piroplasmosis, is a blood disease of cattle which at the turn of the century was responsible for economic losses to the cattle industry of about $40 million a year.

While a 37-year eradication program successfully eliminated the ticks Boophilus annulatus and B. microplus and along with them the disease from Texas and the southern U.S., the ticks are periodically reintroduced into the state from their native habitat in Mexico.

ELECTROGATOR IS SOFT and GENTLE

even on difficult soils

Portniff loam soil is difficult to irrigate because initially, it resists the moisture; however, once wet, it accepts water readily. The Electroigator wide water pattern allows a longer "soak" time than conventional sprinkler patterns — thus eliminating the "runoff" that occurs by applying water too rapidly. It is another reason why Electroigator's wide water pattern irrigates without runoff on a broad number of soils and terrains.

Dear Debbie

Letters to DEBORAH WHITE

DEAR DEBBIE:
My wife Julie and I have been married around five years and although we get along okay, you'd have to call our sex life sub-par.

Very sub. Julie accuses me of having a sort of amateurish or immature approach to her which she claims is a turn-off. Also, in the area of general romance and affection, it seems my style constantly leaves me out in the cold. It seems I can never do anything right, period. We have a couple of kids and I'm partially fulfilled as far as marriage goes, but don't you think my wife would be better off with someone whose concept of love, romance and affection are more in keeping with hers - and in a lot of ways I'd be better off too?

DEAR LEFT:
Few men would make the admissions you have. Most would feign super contentment in every area of their sex life. As far as immaturity goes, I think your wife should think about the impossibility of believing someone else can be the living reality of the sexual fantasy of her mind. No one should be expected to measure up to someone else's expectations. Do you demand your wife behave and take on the qualities of your sexual ideal? If you did she would have to fail, as you have. In the May issue of OUI magazine, Andy Warhol writes that fantasy in sex is better than reality, that's because so few of us are able to accept others simply as they are.

DEAR DEBBIE:
Ever since the movie, "Love Story," my life has been sheer torment. I have a weight problem and my husband never misses the opportunity to embarrass me about it when we're in public. He's either got a gag about fat people ready or makes a crack directly at my problem. Whenever we are alone and I ask him to apologize he just laughs and says, "Loving someone means never having to say you're sorry."

ERICA

DEAR ERICA:
Ask him what he plans to say when he's no longer loved.

H3 / HUSTLE HUSTLE HUSTLE

By Bill Albright, Executive VP
Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce

How often have you asked or been asked—"Well just what is the Chamber of Commerce?" or "Just what does the Chamber do?"

For a change of pace, let me begin with a negative—I'll tell you what the Chamber isn't—and then go on from there.

The Chamber isn't a civic club! It isn't a social organization! It isn't a governmental agency! It isn't a charitable institution! And finally it isn't "All Things to All People." O.K.—so what is it?

I think the simplest way to explain it is to say that the Chamber is YOU—or even more, it's US—all of us individually and collectively—and its purpose is to help each one of us "better our business," "increase our profits," "improve our living standard" and "become a better community." That's a pretty tall order—but we've repeatedly shown that when we work together—we can do anything.

Some folks may say "Show me!" O.K.—a couple of good examples would be the All Girl Rodeo—The National Cowgirl Hall of Fame—The Hereford Industrial Foundation—The Goals for Progress Committee—Bicentennial Activities—continuous promotion of Agricultural Programs and Community Appreciation Programs.

When we do things like those mentioned—we're not doing them "for the Chamber of Commerce"—we're doing them for ourselves—for we, the citizens of Hereford and Deaf Smith County!

A lot of folks have the idea that the "Chamber" is the Executive Vice President—Tain't so—He's just one guy whose job is to coordinate and manage the operations of the organization, including some 20 committees. It's an organization that "makes things happen."

At the Chamber, we do things that no business is equipped to do for itself. We are really an extension of your business—whether it's farming or factory, retail or ranching. The Chamber works for you every day and the efforts of the Chamber the work, the ideas, the resources, all come from the VOLUNTEERS. That's what the Chamber is!

An organization, composed of volunteers working together to make our "community a better place to live and earn a living."

If you still have questions or feel you don't fully understand—come on in and let's see if we can clear up some of the details. Remember, it's your Chamber of Commerce—it takes you and it takes me and it takes lots and lots of HUSTLE HUSTLE HUSTLE!

About Coffee

Coffee is unquestionably one of the great American pastimes. Millions drink it several times a day. Many have come to depend on it (caffeine), to get through the day.

Now comes a warning from two British scientists. Coffee, they say, combines with preservatives put in certain foods to form nitrosamines—one of the most powerful cancer-causing agents known.

Especially dangerous combinations seem to be coffee combined with cheese, pork or corned beef. The chlorogenic acid in coffee combines with preservatives usually found in these products. One of the scientists suggests that until more is learned, the amount of coffee consumed should be limited.

And when eating cheese and bacon in the morning, as millions do, perhaps one might defer coffee—to enjoy it more with eggs and toast and other food combinations.

Lightning

The National Safety Council has warned that few are concerned over the danger of lightning.

Yet one statistician recently determined that during the April-October lightning season, the average person can expect forty to eighty bolts within half a mile. The same statistician claims more than a third of all fires in rural areas are caused by lightning.

The safest places in lightning storms are in homes, steel-framed buildings, or in an automobile with windows closed. If in the open, seek a low place, such as a ravine or ditch or lie flat on the ground.

One or more Americans are killed each week by lightning.

A bill labeled S.1 in the Senate (and a companion measure in the House) would codify federal criminal laws never before codified. They are an effort in a direction where progress is needed.

Much of the press, however, is taking exception to certain sections of the lengthy Senate bill (over 700 pages) introduced by Senator John McClellan and co-sponsored by the leaders of both parties in the Senate. These protests are largely justified because some sections of the proposed legislation would make it too easy for government bureaucrats, the military, and the executive branch of government to hide public information from the public by designating too much as "national security" sensitive.

Members of Congress are correct in abhorring such actions as the theft of secret papers by employees sworn to protect this secrecy and their publication in newspapers. The Pentagon papers and the New York Times come immediately to mind in this connection. (Although the New York Times won this case in court on the press freedom issue, there was nevertheless a general reaction among most Americans that there must be a limit to a practice by which an employee sworn to guard secrecy can change his mind and steal whatever he wants and publish it in newspapers.)

The Senate and House therefore face both a delicate task and a grave responsibility to the nation, in drafting a new codification of federal criminal law to protect national security secrets in justifiable cases. Government officials usually tend to overestimate the amount of "national security" information. Language in the two bills presently before Congress is dangerously vague in this regard and would probably result in curbing too severely the freedom of the press.

To eliminate this language, and its potential for abuse, and yet protect state secrets, is one of the critical responsibilities of the first session of the 94th Congress.

U.S. Tank Fiasco

The United States Army is dangerously low in first-quality tanks, is unable to speed up production and acquisition immediately, and as a result faces at least three or four years of shocking inferiority—compared to communist tank strength.

The failure was in part caused by this country's inability to successfully build a new tank, cooperatively, with West Germany. The Germans finally built their own tank, probably the best in the world (the Leopard) and this country made an effort to build another new tank, which ended in failure.

The resulting fiasco is the situation as of 1975. The nation's total tank force is in the neighborhood of 8,000. Many of these tanks are old M-48's, some of which have been upgraded with the 105-millimeter gun. But the M-48 is a 1950 tank. Our best tanks are M-60's, built in the sixties and seventies—but they are coming off Chrysler's production lines at a trickle—45 a month.

Compounding the dilemma is the fact that the United States has shipped three years' production of its tanks to Israel since the October 1973 war, many of them M-60's. Some came from U.S. stocks and some came from U.S. Army units in Germany. These losses, and some additional tanks shipped to Jordan, Ethiopia and Taiwan in recent years, have cut the U.S. tank force to its present unsafe level.

Since Chrysler, the only builder of the M-60, can't speed up production immediately because no foundry is available to make the hull and turret castings, the Army is seeking to finance a refurbishing which would put a second foundry into hull and turret production. That would hike production of the M-60 to about 103 a month. But this will require several years. The Army is also still planning a new tank but it is also years away—if the effort doesn't flop like two earlier efforts of this kind.

The logical solution in the present world situation is for the U.S. Army to buy German-built Leopard tanks. They have been proven superior to the Russian T-62. They are in production. National pride, and U.S. industry pride, should not block this sensible approach to providing for the national security.

Business and You

By Jack Woolridge
Communications General Manager
U. S. Chamber of Commerce

At first glance, you may be opposed to President Ford's desire to eliminate or weaken government regulation of business.

After all, opinion polls show that many people favor more government regulation, rather than less.

So, what is he talking about? First of all, he is not talking about completely doing away with all government control over business. Obviously, it is necessary for government to insure that our economy operates in some kind of orderly fashion. If there were no rules at all, there would be anarchy and, of course, our system would collapse. Even Constitution specifies that government shall have the duty to "regulate commerce".

The real problem is that our regulatory machinery was set up for the railroads, which might have been needed in the days of the "robber barons." Many of the restrictions written then no longer make any sense. President Ford wants to reform these regulations which, he says, will result in great savings for consumers and also save about 70,000 barrels of oil each day.

He also wants to reform the rules for airlines and trucks. In trucking, for example, there are rules that sometimes require that trucks go empty or take long detours to places where they have no pickups or deliveries.

You have recently seen a rash of lower fares on the airlines which have won government approval but isn't it interesting that they, and some other industries, must get federal approval to charge you less?

You, as a consumer, pay for every bit of government regulation of business. The Ford Administration calculates that it costs each family around $2,000 a year. He also estimates that fair trade laws costs consumers $2 billion a year.

And all the government regulation, of course, is accompanied by a vast amount of paperwork. As of last June, the number of federal forms which business must fill out totaled 5,146 separate types. Obviously, it takes a lot of time and money for business to do that work. The money has to come from the prices it charges you.

At the same time, government keeps putting in new regulations. There is no doubt that some of them are needed, but there is doubt either that some of them cost more than they are worth. Congress recognized one instance of this last year when it did away with the law requiring that automobiles couldn't be started unless the seatbelts were fastened. If you bought a car equipped with that mechanism, you paid for it.

Sure, big government may need to watch over us to some extent. But as President Ford has commented, "The government big enough to give us everything we want is a government big enough to take from us everything we have".

Texas Taxes

By BOB BULLOCK, State Comptroller

Austin—It's regrettable any time that push comes to shove, but there are times when delinquent taxpayers just don't leave us any choice.

Such as the raid my office had to conduct recently on a San Antonio liquor dealer who had never filed a sales tax return. The dealer owes more than $400,000 in state and city sales taxes for just the past four years.

We picked up more than $650,000 worth of liquor and other assets from this dealer's three stores in an operation we coordinated with the Alcoholic Beverage Commission, the Attorney General's office, the Department of Public Safety and San Antonio city police. The liquor and property we seized will be sold at public auction unless the dealer pays off the back taxes.

It was apparently the first time in modern history that the Comptroller's office had used its statutory authority to take such action on such a massive scale.

Let me assure you that we took this drastic move only after every kind of effort failed to get the dealer to pay his taxes.

I am proud of the manner in which our people conducted the raid, but I am not happy that we ever had to take such steps.

But the point is that the $400,000 in taxes is money the buying public had already paid. It was your tax money. It is not money out of the dealer's profits. To let this person or any other sales tax collector get away with the customer's sales tax pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters would not only wrong the state, it wrongs the taxpayer public.

None of us particularly enjoy paying taxes but yet I find that the great majority of Texans are fully agreeable to paying their fair share of the cost of government. In return, they expect basically only two things: good government and for their neighbors, friends and competitors to play by the same rules.

That's exactly what we intend to see done. We are dedicated to helping the honest, hard working merchant by running an efficient and fair office. We are also dedicated to an aggressive program of fair enforcement of our tax laws—and that means delinquents are asking for trouble.

We will go to any length to work with a business which has problems; but when it becomes apparent that the taxpayer public is "being taken," we'll put a stop to it with all the authority of this office.

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maguire

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY—The late Charles A. Lindbergh, who later would become the first pilot to fly the Atlantic alone, once got lost on a cross-country flight in Texas and crashed his plane.

Lindbergh arrived in San Antonio in February, 1924, to prepare for induction as an aviation cadet at Brooks Field the following month. With time to spare, he and a friend, Leon Klink, decided to fly Klink's plane, a Canadian-built Curtiss JND4, to California. Lindbergh had taught Klink to fly and the trip was planned to give him some additional hours of instruction.

The flight plan called for following the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks west from San Antonio to Los Angeles. Near Uvalde, however, Lindbergh spotted a river which he took to be the Rio Grande (it was the Nueces) with a railroad running along the east bank. The road was the Uvalde & Northern, not the S.P., and the line stopped at Camp Wood in Real County.

When he saw the end of the line, Lindy realized he was lost and landed in a cow pasture. Klink hitched a horseback ride to Camp Wood and Lindy flew the Jenny into the town, landing on the main street. In attempting to take off later, a wheel hit a chug hole and the plane crashed into a hardware store.

Lindbergh and Klink got the plane repaired eventually and took off again. At Langtry, however, a broken wing spar caused more delay. By then Lindbergh was due for his induction, so the pair flew back to San Antonio. Later Klink flew the Jenny to California—alone.

CORRALLED IN BRONZE—Texas' first major monument to its wildlife—a group of seven mustang horses—was unveiled May 31, 1948, at The University of Texas in Austin.

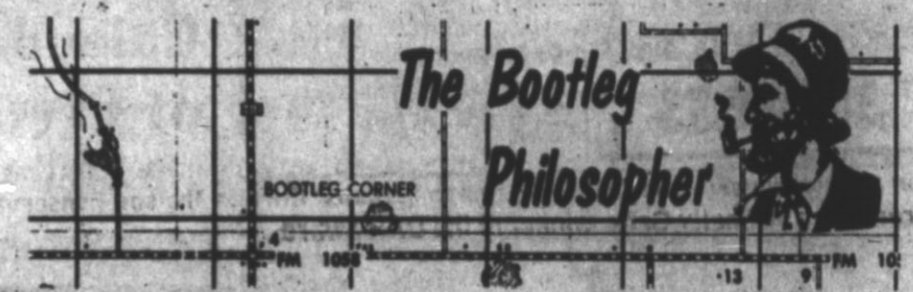

The nine-ton bronze group—a stallion, five mares and a colt in full gallop—was a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Ogden of Austin. The statue is the work of A. Phimister Proctor, a Connecticut sculptor. He was picked for the job by J. Frank Dobie, the late writer and folklorist.

The donor of the monument, Ralph Ogden, had helped to drive cattle up the trail from Texas as a young man. His horse on these drives was a mustang. In later life, he decided to perpetuate the memory of these horses for future generations by contributing $60,000 for the sculpture.

Proctor began work on the statue in 1940 by spending a year on a Jim Hogg County ranch working with models from one of the last herds of pure mustangs left in the U.S. Then World War II began and the resulting shortage of metal delayed the completion of the statue until 1948.

TRAVEL NOTE—Fanciers of that

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith grass farm on Bootleg Corner takes a long-distance view of New York this week, we think.

Dear editor:

According to something I saw on television the other night, later confirmed by the newspapers—I always wait to make sure—New York City is almost financially busted.

It takes a billion dollars a month to run the city; that much revenue isn't coming in, and if the Federal government doesn't lend or give—generally it's the same thing—the city a billion and a half dollars right away the city won't be able to pay its bills.

The more you think about this the more it makes you scratch your head. New York, we've been led to believe, is the intellectual, financial and talent center of the United States. It has all the big financial houses, Wall Street, the stock exchanges, the capital. It has most of the big publishing firms, television networks, the national magazines, the editors, the art museums, the big writers. In short, it's supposed to have almost a monopoly on the brains of the country.

Yet it can't pay its bills. This is ridiculous, I told myself. Then I got to thinking. Sure, New York has a lot of brains—not all the brains, even if it thinks it has—but they may not be necessarily in charge of the city.

I mean, stop and think, how many cities and towns can you name, not counting Hereford of course, that invariably elect the smartest men to run the place? How many state legislatures are there that represent the top brains of that state? How many Governors, how many Presidents. . . but wait a minute, this narrows it down too uncomfortably, you're not going to catch me in that kind of a corner.

In other words, sometimes there seems to be a marked difference between the people's brains and the people's government, and numerous remedies have been suggested over the years. The most often stated one is that public office doesn't attract the top brains because they can earn more in private works, and politicians are therefore always saying that if you'll raise the salary of office you'll get a better quality of office-holder.

The only trouble with this is that when we raise the salaries, the same people turn up running again for the same offices.

On the other hand, there are those who say people get about as good a government as they can produce, that if the people who complain the most about the government were in charge of it, things would be about like they are now. Don't ask me the answer.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

10,000 Lives

The death toll from highway accidents in 1974 was down about 10,000 from the 1973 carnage. Experts agree the primary reason for the lower toll was the 55-mile-an-hour speed limit legislated in 1974 because of the fuel shortage.

Whatever the catalyst in 1974, the benefits are so obvious they become a convincing argument to continue enforcement of the limits in 1975. The federal government is therefore seeking to have states strictly enforce the new federal law setting 55 as the maximum. But in many states enforcement has become lax.

If ten thousand American lives can be saved by holding highway speed to 55, if that saves the nation a considerable sum, and if the lower limit helps prevent another energy importing crisis, the 55 m.p.h. limit is obviously a "must" in the public interest.

MEDICINE CHEST

by H. BOSWELL YORK, R. PH.

Do you have any information on a new treatment for psoriasis which they are studying in the Boston area? - B.S.

Yes. Researchers at Massachusetts General Hospital and from Vienna, Austria, are working with a combination drug and light treatment. Methoxsalen, a light sensitive drug, is taken once a day. Two hours later the patients are exposed to a newly developed light source that emits a high intensity ultraviolet radiation. The initial Boston study involved 21 patients who had failed to respond to all other forms of treatment. The skin of all 21 patients cleared. Once the psoriasis cleared, the patients were given maintenance treatments three times a week, and in most cases the treatment was reduced to once a week. It will be at least one year before therapy is available to the general public.

Is methadone a good form of treatment for drug addicts? - P.M.

Methadone can prevent the "high" when heroin is used. It will not prevent cocaine, amphetamine or sedative "highs."

Do suntan lotions really work? - L.K.

If you use them properly, they will work. The better lotions allow a person to stay in the sun longer with less risk of burning. Of course, protecting you from the burning rays of the sun will also slow down the tanning process - it's a compromise.

Smith-Guggendahl Wedding Performed Here At Dusk

Spring bouquets surrounding twin spiral candelabra were the backdrop Saturday evening in First Presbyterian Church for the marriage of Miss Donna Diane Smith and John Eric Guggendahl. The Rev. Roger Knapp, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Smith of Star Route. Guggendahl is the son of Mrs. G.C. Stewart Jr. of El Paso and the late Mr. John A. Guggendahl.

White and pink satin bows which marked each pew harmonized with pink gladiolas and orchid carnations placed at the altar.

Miss Debbie Smith served her sister as maid of honor and Andy Feste of El Paso was present as best man.

Escorting guests to their seats were Rob Coon, Barney Adams and Ricky Given, all of El Paso.

Rand Goldstein of El Paso performed the traditional wedding procession, "Joy" and "Wedding Song" at the piano. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight organza draped over bridal taffeta and was styled with a fitted bodice.

Re-embroidered Alencon lace in a floral pattern etched the cameo neckline. Sheer organza formed the long bishop sleeves which were caught at the wrist by deep cuffs clasped with covered buttons.

Seed pearls adorned the lace appliques which encrusted the bodice, were scattered down the sleeves and encircled her wrists.

Scalloped Alencon lace traced in pearls bordered the hemline of the A-line skirt which swept into a full chapel train.

Her illusion veil, also enhanced by lace appliques, fell elbow-length from a camelot cap of Alencon lace. She carried a cascading bridal bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and white gardenias. A pearl necklace she received from her parents completed the bridal attire.

A floor-length gown of pink chiffon was worn by the bridesmaid. Soft layers of chiffon decorated the V-neckline and formed the brief sleeves on the figurine bodice.

Miss Kima Marsh and Miss Sara Bell were hostesses at a wedding dinner which followed the ceremony in Hereford Country Club. Miss Becky Lutringer of Lubbock presided at the guest registry. Decorative bouquets of fresh spring flowers enhanced the reception.

Leaving for a wedding trip to La Jolla Beach, Calif., Mrs. Guggendahl wore a red and white pantsuit. The couple will be at home temporarily in Lubbock before moving to Galveston in July.

Employed at Dunlap's in Lubbock, Mrs. Guggendahl was a member of Alpha Chi Omega and the Dean's Honor List at Texas Tech University, where she graduated in December. She is a 1971 graduate of Hereford High School and is a member of the American Marketing Association.

Guggendahl is an alumnus of Coronado High School at El Paso and has attended University of Texas at El Paso, University of Texas at Austin and Texas Tech University. He received his degree from the latter school this month and was a member of Alpha Epsilon Delta, Phi Dappa Phi honorary fraternity and the Dean's Honor Roll. He will be enrolled in the University of Texas Medical School at Galveston this autumn.

Out of town wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. G.C. Stewart Jr., Mrs. Michou Lopez, Miss Nancy Guggendahl, Mr. and Mrs. George Serbrenik, Mrs. H.W. Mitchell, Mrs. R.E. Womble, Mrs. Dale Womble, Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Womble, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Fondren and Bill Rogge.

Pre-nuptial courtesies honored the bridal candidate recently.

Miss Smith, her mother and Mrs. Gene King received guests last weekend at a bridal shower which was held in the King home, 344 Elm. Mrs. Wallace Hill served

Miss Willis will be the bride of Rocky Alexander on June 14 in First Baptist Church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Willis and Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey Alexander.

A blue cloth overlaid with ecru lace draped the table.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. J.R. Langley of Lockney, grandmother of the future groom; Mrs. Clyde Darnon of Dimmitt, the prospective groom's aunt; Mrs. Gene Miller and Paige Miller, both of Amarillo.

Casual piano music was provided during the shower by Mrs. Sonny Evers.

Best man was Tony Pearce of Canyon and groomsmen included Geno Abbe of Canyon and Lawrence Brorman, the bride's brother. Guiding guests to their seats were Alfred Brorman, brother of the bride, David Spinbirne of Dalhart and Sotty Henderson of Amarillo.

Appearing as flower girl was Charlotte Galaway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Calaway.

Mrs. Jim Cramer provided musical accompaniment for Mrs. Ernest Flood Jr. who sang wedding selections, including "More," "The Lord's Prayer" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of silk organza overlaid with Gallon lace, its motif traced in seed pearls. Lace medallions formed a panel down the front of the dress and encircled the hem of the A-line skirt.

Matching lace formed the standing collar and capped the sheer, full sleeves which were gathered at the wrists in deep cuffs.

Her mantilla veil of imported illusion fell to form a circular cathedral train which was edged with Valenciennes lace. She carried a cascading bouquet of yellow and white carnations surrounded by babybreath and English ivy.

Bridal attendants wore gowns of yellow chiffon flocked with green and white flowers and were designed with natural waistlines. Sheer bell sleeves were attached to the shepherdess bodice which were accented by overlying yokes of eyelid material trimmed with lace. Their attire was complemented by picture hats.

Each carried a nosegay of yellow chrysanthemums.

A four-tiered bridal cake surrounded by three smaller heart-shaped cakes were served by Miss Melinda Stringer after the ceremony in the Knights of Columbus Hall. Punch and coffee were poured by Miss Pat Kuykendall and Miss Karen Winfield. Guests were registered by Miss Barbara Paschel.

Leaving on a wedding trip to the mountains, Mrs. Sharp wore a white pantsuit with pink accessories. The couple plan to reside at Amarillo where he is employed by Oil Development of Texas.

A 1972 graduate of Hereford High School, Mrs. Sharp received an associate degree in nursing from Amarillo College. She is employed in the surgery wing at High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo.

Sharp attended Eastern New Mexico University at Portales after graduation from Shiprock (New Mexico) High School. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Out of town wedding guests represented Red River, Kansas, Amarillo, Arlington, and Stratford.

'Kick-the-Habit' Clinic Set

In the light of recent research connecting smoking with a high probability of cancer, residents of Hereford and the surrounding area who smoke are urged to attend a five-day "kick-the-habit" smoking clinic which will be organized around group therapy sessions.

The clinic begins tonight and continues through Thursday at the Medallion Room at the R.E.C. Building on East Highway 60. The nightly sessions each begin at 7:30 p.m.

The clinic will be conducted by Dr. Ron Turk and Ron Spear of Amarillo.

The group therapy sessions which will make up the clinic will be "scientifically conducted," according to Dr. Turk and Spear.

Over 100,000 people have attended similar clinics, with about an 80 per cent rate of success in overcoming the smoking habit.

A $10 registration fee will be charged for the clinic.

Marriage Solemnized Saturday At Dimmitt

Marriage vows were pledged by Miss Ruby Fay Bell and Terry G. Teaschner before an altar draped in white in First United Methodist Church Saturday afternoon. The ceremony was read by the Rev. James Patterson of Roscoe.

The bride, who resides at Dimmitt, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bell of Kress. Teaschner, a local resident, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Damron of 607 Star.

White tapers clasped by silver candlesticks flanked a white and gold family Bible which was placed on the marriage altar.

Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Cheek of Big Spring and Miss Shari Damron, the bridegroom's sister.

Tim K. Teaschner of Big Spring served his brother as best man. Ushering guests was Richard West of Dimmitt.

The bride wore a carpet length gown of white organza over peau de soie accented with Venice lace and seed pearls adorning the oval yoke which was outlined with an organza ruffle. Matching ruffles trimmed the long, tapered sleeves fashioned of re-embroidered organza. The empire bodice featured a high, round collar.

Lace flowers centered with pearls were scattered over the

A-line skirt which was bordered at the hemline with a flounce traced in Venice lace. A satin bow decorated the front of the satin ribbon belt which circled the high waistline.

Venice lace etched each tier of the chapel veil of imported organza which was attached to a lace headpiece trimmed in pearls. For good luck, she carried a handmade lace handkerchief and a new penny. Her bridal bouquet of white carnations was clasped by white satin ribbons.

Bridesmaids were dressed in full length gowns of pastel polyester designed with empire waistlines and long sleeves trimmed in lace. Each ensemble was completed by white picture hats with matching ribbons. Miss Damron was clad in mint green and Miss Cheek wore pink.

Each attendant carried white carnation nosegays.

Following the candlelight ceremony, the couple were honored at a reception in the church Fellowship Hall.

Miss Linda McKneely and Mrs. Richard West, both of Dimmitt, served refreshments from a table covered with a white brocade cloth edged with pearls.

A graduate of Kress High School and Texas Tech University, Mrs. Damron taught for five years in the McCamey Independent School District. She currently employed in the Dimmitt School System.

Damron graduated from Hereford High School and attended Texas Tech. He is presently employed by Cluck Feedyards of Dimmitt.

Science Degree Earned By Miss Thelma Warren

Miss Thelma J. Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Warren, Star Route, received the bachelor of science degree in nursing May 11 from Incarnate Word College at San Antonio.

As an undergraduate she was a member of the social service sorority, Alpha Delta Sigma, from 1972-75 and served as president during the last school year. She was also a member of the IWC Student Nurses Association.

Miss Warren, who graduated from Hereford High School, attended IWC on a four-year

Mother Columkille Scholarship. Last Summer she worked at the Santa Rosa Hospital and plans to work on the east coast in the near future.

Graduation ceremonies for the 385 members of the class of 1975 began with the traditional baccalaureate at noon on the College campus, and ended with colorful commencement exercises at the Laurie Auditorium.

IWC president Sister Margaret Slattery conferred the undergraduate and graduate degrees, and chairman of the board of directors, Dr. Amy Freeman Lee, presented the diplomas.

The commencement address this year was delivered by Brigadier General Lillian Dunlap, ANC, an Incarnate Word College nursing graduate and chief of the U.S. Army Nurse Corps since 1971. General Dunlap's first address as chief of the nurse corps was at the opening of the college's nursing education building, and at the IWC graduation May 11 she announced her retirement on Sept. 1 of this year after 33 years of military service.

MRS. JOEL NEWMAN

... Artist of the Month

Betrothal Announced By Baker-Carrothers

Two students at the University of Texas have announced intentions to marry on August 23 at Church of the Transfiguration in Dallas.

Nuptial vows will be pledged by Miss Marianne Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Baker of Richardson, and John Steven Carrothers, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Carrothers of 119 N. Texas.

The bride-elect is doing undergraduate work at UT while her fiancé is conducting postgraduate studies at the UT School of Business. He is a graduate of Hereford High School and Southern Methodist University.

Library Easels Feature Wanda Newman's Works

Approximately 20 paintings of various media and subject are now on display at Deaf Smith County Library, which is featuring Wanda Newman as artist of the month during May.

Included in the exhibit are still life, seascapes, modernistic and detailed works utilizing oils, watercolors and acrylics. Some of her first works are among the displayed items.

Several public and private locations across the South spotlight Mrs. (Joel) Newman's artwork. Her canvas is displayed year-round by Cottage Gallery at Lubbock; numerous professional offices in that city have purchased her works.

Mrs. Newman stated that her hobby of "painting outhouses for fun" has mushroomed into a business venture. She sold more than 100 of the humorous hangings during one year.

A native Texan, Mrs. Newman was Wanda Nell Wilson before her marriage. Reared at Spearman and Stratford, she graduated from high school in the latter city and continued her education at Texas Tech University and West Texas State University. She was granted a music scholarship, but commented that she prefers music for a hobby rather than a profession. However, she has served as pianist at a local church for more than eleven years and plays five additional instruments.

Having studied art techniques from Ben Konis, Mrs. Newman has promoted this field through work as an art counselor. She has also been president and vice president of Hereford Art Guild and was fine arts director of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division for two years. The artist is currently active as a member of the Texas Assembly of Arts Council and as state art representative.

Mrs. Newman, her husband and their daughter, Kandy, share interests in art, music, tennis and motorcycling. They reside at 306 Star.

HOW'S The Electric Company DOING?

Let's ask Bert Ballengee — Reddy's financial man.

"It takes money to build for the future so that you'll have a dependable supply of electric power. We'll need $345 million over the next five years. Of this amount, we'll have to borrow $200 million. And, at today's interest rates, it's easy to see why electricity may cost more. But, it's all part of creating the good electric service you've come to expect from The Electric Company."

Bert regularly visits the financial centers of the nation keeping in touch with the financial market and arranging for the millions of dollars it takes to assure your electric future.

Failure to live up to contracts is characteristic of itinerant workmen. Also, some contractors may fail to conform to local building codes. The homeowner ends up paying anyway.

Remember these points: —If you hire a door-to-door repairman, ask for the name and address of his company.

—Check this out with the local Better Business Bureau.

—Get bids from local, established contractors.

—Know what the entire job will cost before signing a contract, including interest, service charges, labor materials.

—Have the starting and completion dates in writing.

—Some door-to-door repairmen may be completely honest—but beware of the fix-it fraud.

WHETHER OR NOT it pays to have a freezer depends on how it's used. Consumers make a major investment in a freezer, both in initial cost and operating costs. But using the freezer to fullest advantage can make it a profitable investment.

Shoppers can take advantage of special bargains on meat, frozen fruits, vegetables and desserts.

A good practice is to keep the freezer operates most of there will be room for a bargain when it's advertised. The freezer operates most efficiently when filled to this amount or when full.

Having a freezer keeps homemakers from shopping so often, and once-a-week shopping can save time and money. Leftovers needn't taste stale because the freezer holds them at their flavor peak for longer than a refrigerator would. Cutting down on wasted food can also save money for the freezer owner.

A rapid rate of food turnover is recommended. Practice the "first foods" in should be first foods out" rule, which will help reduce the operating cost per pound of food.

VERBAL JEWELS are mined in the mouths of children and the best find recently is attributed to Genell Hartman, daughter of Superintendent and Mrs. Roy Hartman. When asked by her fourth-grade teacher at Northwest what she was going to be when she grew up, she wisely answered, "If I'm tall and skinny, I want to be a model; if I'm short and fat, I'll be a writer."

She can't go wrong with that kind of logic.

HAIR FASHIONS for this summer and autumn were favored topics last week at the Spring Fiesta of Beauty in the Shamrock Hilton at Houston. Brenda Thomas, Peggy Davis and Phyllis Neill represented A-1 Beauty Salon at the convention. They attended classes sponsored by the top names in hair care products and were treated to a preview of coming apparel styles revealed by world-renowned fashion designers.

FRIDAY IS THE day to register your child in the Summer Youth Program which will begin June 2 in the Community Center. Some excellent activities have been planned and your youngster has the choice of which class he or she prefers. Enrollment is scheduled 9:30 a.m.-12 noon and 1-4 p.m.

Mrs. Bill Allen is chairman of the SYP which is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division. (Read the Thursday paper for complete listing of the offered courses.)

Everything is beginning on June 2 this year, it seems, particularly for the younger set. The summer reading program at Deaf Smith County Library will start then and lasts for two months. However, preschool and primary students can join anytime during that period, stated Gwen London, main librarian.

CHURCH BULLETINS can be a rich supply of local news and it was noted this week that two members of First Baptist Church have been chosen 1975 recipients of the Women's Missionary Union scholarship. A 1973 graduate of Hereford

High School, Beverly Auten received this grant. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim H. Auten of 700 N. Miles. Also selected was Susan Wartes, who left HHS in 1974. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wartes of 236 Northwest Dr.

Lomas Recalls Twelve Years In Hereford Schools

The class secretary of the Hereford High senior class, nostalgically recounting memories of his 12 years in the Hereford schools, says that Hereford has always had a good school system, but that it is getting even better, especially in connection with school discipline and school spirit.

"Discipline is more rigid now, and that's good," declared Rob Lomas, the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Lomas of 509 Star Street. "And Hereford High, especially our class, had had a lot of spirit during the past three or four years. We have had a lot of unity, especially in connection with student body support for the football team.

Although our class was small, we had a lot of enthusiasm." Lomas said that one of the most outstanding aspects of the school system here is that the teachers really try to help the students. He said all of his teachers have been good, but that two in particular stand out in his memories.

The two are Mrs. Knox, who taught Lomas in the fourth grade in Alkmas Elementary, and Mrs. Tipps, who Lomas remembers from the eighth grade in Stanton Junior High.

Lomas said that he was ready for school when he began the first grade, and was not scared. He stressed the amazing growth of the Hereford school system during his 12-year tenure here.

The Hereford school system does an excellent job of preparing youngsters for the future, Lomas says. The new courses added in recent years in the school system here helps in this preparation, he said.

"Graduation from high school is a big highlight, and I'm really ready to graduate," Lomas said.

One of the main changes in the school system during the past twelve years has involved the additions of several new schools to the system, Lomas said.

"There are more things to do now, and less time to do them," Lomas said. "There's more responsibility now, but I feel that the Hereford schools have helped me to become more mature, so that I can cope with this responsibility," he added. Lomas said he feels that the Hereford schools will continue to grow, and that the school system in particular and Hereford in general have gotten off to a tremendous start, growth-wise.

While in the Hereford schools, Lomas has been a member of the Key Club for the past three years, and a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes for three years.

Lomas has worked for the Kerr Mobile service station for the past 2 1/2 years during summer vacation, after school, and on weekends.

Social studies courses in the Hereford schools have helped Lomas to become more aware of developments in the outside world. He said that he approves of President Ford and his policies.

Lomas stressed that he thinks all controversies should be handled the way the Mayaguez incident was handled. "Our nation should always stand up for its rights," he declared.

"I believe the economy will eventually begin to improve," he continued. "I particularly hope and believe that prices will improve for local agriculture."

"There have been no big problems, no big crisis periods in the Hereford Schools during the past few years," Lomas concluded. "Everything has been real smooth in school, especially during the last three years."

Principal Singles Seniors Out For School Spirit

"The Class of 1975, a smaller group than we've seen graduate in recent years, but a class we definitely hate to lose," Hereford High School principal Jerry Don George commented concerning the 231 students who are candidates for graduation here Tuesday night.

George pointed out that the Class of 1975 has been a smaller one than most here throughout its high school career, and added that early in the year there was concern about the ability of the senior class to provide the leadership essential to a successful school year.

"We were concerned about the leadership capabilities of this class at first, but during the course of the school year the Class of 1975 has provided that it just may be one of the best Hereford High School has ever graduated," said George.

"The kids worked extremely well together as a unit this year, the seniors showed an excellent attitude and excelled in a lot of different things. They've topped all of our expectations and I have no doubt that this will be a successful group," he added.

According to George, the 1975 seniors worked so well in their projects that they managed to raise $400 to turn over to the senior mothers for rental of the WTSU Activities Center for a senior party following commencement exercises.

"The class is paying for the use of the building itself, which is something unusual and a real accomplishment. The class just did an outstanding job on so many of its projects," George commented.

The HHS principal singled out the 1975 seniors as one of the key factors in maintaining school spirit and making the school year a success.

"Our seniors didn't do any one outstanding thing, but a lot of little things that contributed considerably toward making the year go smoothly," George explained.

"The seniors played a key role in helping the band provide great support for our athletic program and they had the best float during homecoming. The kids did a lot of things to inspire the rest of the student body to back our school, and they displayed an over unity and leadership which has made this an outstanding year at HHS," he added.

George expressed confidence in the individual abilities of the class members, pointing out that they should be successful in the fields they pursue in the future.

"This class has been tops in backing and building our school, we had to lose them," he concluded.

Accent on Health
 J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

What's invisible, usually doesn't hurt a bit, affects millions of Americans, is controllable, yet when left untreated can cause stroke, heart failure or kidney disease? The answer, says the State Health Department, is high blood pressure—or hypertension. The State Health Department is helping call attention to this problem in May, designated as High Blood Pressure Month.

Uncontrolled high blood pressure is a major national public health problem. It is the primary cause of 40,000 deaths in the United States each year. And, says the National Institutes of Health, it is a contributing factor in 1,500,000 heart attacks and strokes that occur each year in this country.

An estimated 23 million Americans, or about 15 per cent of the adult population, have high blood pressure. That's one in seven adults, not only in Texas but throughout the land.

The prevalence rates of high blood pressure rise steadily with advancing age, and every age group in the prevalence is higher for blacks than for whites.

Among American blacks, not only is the prevalence about twice as high as that among whites, BUT it is more severe and occurs at an earlier age. High blood pressure afflicts not only the elderly but also young and middle-aged adults in the most productive years.

Although detection is simple and painless—and drug therapy is practical and effective—the great majority of hypertensive people are not receiving satisfactory treatment.

Half of the estimated 23 million hypertensive Americans don't even know they have it, according to the National Institutes of Health. Of those who do know, less than three million of those with high blood pressure are receiving adequate treatment—treatment to reduce their blood pressure within normal limits.

The State Health Department, its local health units and regional offices are detecting high blood pressure in people throughout the state through the simple taking of blood pressure at clinics and in medical screening programs. In addition, they are cooperating with other agencies in health fairs and some open houses of local health departments to provide special screening.

How does high blood pressure affect your body? Blood pressure varies among people, and in the same person at different times. It decreases during sleep and increases during exertion or excitement. There is a considerable range of normal pressure, which can be explained to you by your doctor.

An important thing to know—and something your physician can check—is that when pressure goes above so-called normal limits and remains elevated, patients have high blood pressure or hypertension.

With high pressure in the arteries, the heart must pump harder. When high blood pressure is present for long periods, the heart enlarges. Eventually, under the continued extra burden, the heart weakens, loses efficiency and pumps less blood with each beat.

The kidneys, unable to function effectively because of reduced blood flow, fail to excrete enough fluids, and tissues become waterlogged, adding still more to the burden of the heart.

Hardening of the blood vessels—arteriosclerosis—the major cause of high blood pressure. The blood vessel changes may be a factor in stroke, kidney failure or heart failure.

Proper treatment reduces the danger. In most people, high blood pressure can be lowered and kept under control with continuing treatment.

Remember, the way to know whether your blood pressure is high is to go to your doctor and have the pressure taken. The fact that you feel fine is no assurance your blood pressure is okay.

It is important to have regular checkups to discover if you have high blood pressure. And there's one other point: carefully follow the instructions of your doctor. So have regular friends and family a favor by telling them of the dangers of high blood pressure.

Employment Board States Guidelines

The Texas Employment Commission, the state agency responsible for helping the unemployed find jobs, has developed several recommendations for people looking for jobs.

- Show the employer that you are really interested in the type of work for which you are applying.
- Introduce yourself to the employer and give him the referral card which the interviewer gave you in the Texas Employment Commission Office.
- Watch your appearance. Be clean, neat, and dress in a manner suitable to the job for which you are applying. Caution: don't overdress or wear gaudy clothes or makeup.
- Don't take anyone with you. The employer wants to talk only to you.
- Don't smoke even though the employer offers you a cigarette. Thank him but decline politely. Don't chew gum.

- Watch your posture. Don't slouch in the chair. Try not to display signs of nervousness.
- Answer all the employer's questions accurately, honestly, frankly, and promptly. Never say anything on which you would be unable to make good. Don't argue.
- Be able to give a continuous record of all your jobs, dates of employment, wages received, the exact nature of your work, and the reason you left. This information is important to the employer because he will want to know your qualifications.
- Be able to point out value of past experiences derived from other jobs which may add to your qualifications for the job you are seeking.

—Be able to give as references the names of at least three responsible and reliable people who know you well.

- Speak with a feeling of confidence and enthusiasm. If your voice has a tone of confidence it will tend to give an employer a feeling of confidence in you. Use good English and speak distinctly. Don't talk too much.
- Don't be critical of former employers or associates.
- Never talk about your personal, domestic, or financial troubles.
- Be polite and courteous. Don't be familiar or try to win favor by addressing the employer by his given name.
- Don't be discouraged during your first interview if you fail to present yourself favorably. Most employers understand and make allowances.

Report Income to Get Food Stamps

All income received by food stamp recipients must be verified if it is expected to be received during the certification period or is meant for use during the certification period. This includes total salary and wages, gifts or awards for maintenance and bonuses paid as income (such as the crop bonus commonly given by farmers). Charges are occasionally made that employers do not report total wages paid to employees, particularly the crop bonus.

Both the employee and employer commit criminal offenses when income is intentionally reported incorrectly to obtain benefits or increase benefits from the food stamp program.

The employer commits a criminal offense when he intentionally signs a false income verification statement. The provisions are contained in The Penal Code of Texas, Section 23.32, subsection B.

It is recognized that some abuse is possible in any program. Consequently, an investigation unit has been created by the State Department of Public Welfare.

About 80 percent of the rise in food prices in 1974 occurred beyond the farm level.

'Bike-A-Thon' Success, Co-Chairmen Declare

The Bike-A-Thon for Cancer, sponsored by the Deaf Smith Unit of the American Cancer Society, was held Saturday, May 17 and has been termed "a big success" by Wayne Woodward and Dale Jones, Co-Chairmen of the event.

"Although the total amount of money collected has not been determined at this date, we are hopeful of a good outcome", says Mr. Woodward. "We had 121 riders who started the 20 mile ride and had no serious problems to arise, other than a possible Kool-Aid shortage toward the end of the ride, but with extra supplies brought in by the board members even that did not occur."

"We are most grateful to the local police department for their assistance and wish to thank Capt. Ray Morgan and the other officers who gave their time and effort to our cause. Also to all the others, both board members and non board members who assisted with registration and checking the riders through the various checkpoints and serving refreshments. Without their help this worthy event could not have been possible," says Mr. Jones.

"Most of all, we wish to thank our riders and their sponsors for their time, energy and financial help"

Winners in all categories will be announced through the Brand just as soon as riders have turned in their sponsor list and money collected. Riders are urged to do this as soon as possible.

Children accept their world as it is, especially if that world is acceptable to parents and others. Adolescents, though, may be troubled by "bad" behavior of parents, Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

Four HHS Seniors State Optimism in Recent Talk

By JOE LACKEY
Brand Staff Writer

Four members of the 1975 Hereford High School graduating class described varied plans for the future in recent interviews, expressing considerable optimism, and related wide-ranging opinions of the state of the world into which they are entering.

DOUG CHAREST, AGE 18, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Charest of 123 Hickory in Hereford, plans to become an architectural engineer. Doug, the President of the 1975 HHS senior class, plans to study engineering at Texas Tech.

Charest was the captain of the HHS football team. Among his varied activities were memberships in the Key Club (three years), the Fellowship of Christian Athletes (three years), and the football team, where Charest played offensive full-back and defensive back.

He was selected as Mr. Hereford High School.

Football is not in his plans at Tech, planning instead to concentrate on his engineering studies. He believes that Hereford High School has a "real good" future, and believes that it will continue to grow.

He spent his early school years in Glasgow, Kan., before his family moved to Hereford. He would like to come back to the Hereford area after graduation from college, or possibly move to Colorado.

HEREFORD HIGH is a much better school than the Glasgow, Kan., system, Charest said, because of the better discipline here, and more respect from the student body for the teachers.

"I was for President Ford on the Cambodian Mayaguez incident," Charest said in the interview. "It's too bad that some American marines were killed or wounded or are missing, but I was for Ford all the way in the incident."

"I think we need to forget about Watergate," continued Charest in his discussion of current events. "Watergate is a thing of the past."

Relating to the economy, Charest said he thinks that the financial situation will eventually begin to improve.

ALSO INTERVIEWED was Gloria Mays, beautiful, vivacious 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.V. Mays of 432 Barrett St.

Miss Mays plans to attend West Texas State University, where she will major in secretarial studies.

Miss Mays said she would like to work as a secretary after graduating from college. She went on to say she has no preference regarding the type of business she works for, but that she does prefer working as secretary to an executive.

"I would like to live in this area after I graduate," Miss Mays continued. "I really enjoy visiting the El Paso area, though."

Marriage is not a part of the immediate future for Miss Mays, who said her immediate goals involve working at a good job.

WHILE IN SCHOOL HERE, Miss Mays served one year as varsity cheerleader, was a member of the Drill Team two years, was a member of future Homemakers of America for two years, and was secretary of the Future Business Leaders of America chapter.

She was also a member of the Student Council for two years, was Senior Favorite, and was a member of VOE (Vocation Office of Education) for one year.

Miss Mays plays the piano for her church, the New Zion Baptist Church, where her father is pastor.

She plans on attending summer school at West Texas State this summer, getting her college education off to an early start.

Pessimism about the future state of the economy was expressed by Miss Mays. "I'm afraid the economy will get even worse," she said.

She said the Mayaguez incident was "pretty spooky for a while, but I think the President made a wise decision in his successful attempt to get the ship and crew back."

VINCENT GARCIA, 19, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Garcia of 220 Avenue C, dreams of a career as a meat inspector.

Garcia plans to attend Texas State Technical Institute in Amarillo where he will study meat inspection. He explained that meat inspectors examine meat in large meat packing plants before the meat goes to grocery stores for sale. Meat inspectors make sure that meats are sanitary and safe for sale.

Garcia was awarded a $300 scholarship from the Farm Bureau for his education. "I am very proud of the scholarship," he said.

He was a member of the Industrial Club and the Christian Youth Organization during the past years. He has attended the Hereford School System all twelve years of his education.

A THEME RUNNING THROUGH the interviews was the excellent instruction available in the Hereford School System. Garcia agreed that the Hereford teachers are good teachers.

Learning parliamentary procedure was one of the benefits of his ICT membership, Garcia said. The ICT experience was excellent preparation for the future, he said.

A high school activity remembered with fondness by Garcia was the intramural program. Garcia participated in football, basketball, and track in the intramural program.

Garcia is looking forward with keen anticipation to a visit to Old Mexico, where he will soon be reunited with several relatives.

Garcia is currently employed by the Ideal Food Store on West Park Avenue.

HE SAID THERE is no particular area in the United States where he would rather work, but that a career as a meat inspector will be enjoyable because meat inspectors travel a lot. "I like to travel, and meet different people," he said. "I

Doug Charest, President of the Senior Class, poses while discussing his future plans. Charest plans to study architectural engineering at Texas Tech. He regards the future with considerable optimism.

Christle Ottesen takes a thoughtful look at the future. She plans to study accounting at Angelo State University. She believes that the current youth generation will help develop a bright future.

A career as a meat inspector is in the works for Vincent Garcia, who plans on attending Texas State Technical Institute to prepare for that career. Garcia believes that the Hereford Schools have given him excellent preparation.

Vibrantly discussing her future plans involving attending West Texas State University and studying secretarial work, hopefully as a prelude to a career as secretary to an executive, is Gloria Mays, a varsity cheerleader this past year at Hereford High School and a member of the graduating class.

want to learn more about life."

Garcia said he wanted to be fully prepared before starting a family.

Optimism was prevalent in his discussion of foreign affairs. "I don't think we will be involved in another war very soon," he declared. "I think a lot of people really believe in peace."

Relating to domestic current events, Garcia said "I think the economy will stay pretty tough for a while."

GARCIA EXPRESSED support for President Ford's handling of the Cambodian Mayaguez incident.

Returning to the subject of the Hereford schools, Garcia said he thinks the schools here are "great." He said that the faculty cooperates well with the student body.

"If everybody in the Hereford schools continue to work together as a team as they have in the past, the Hereford schools will always be great," Garcia concluded.

Also interviewed was Christle Ottesen, the beautiful, personable 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ottesen of 116 Nueces St.

Miss Ottesen plans to attend Angelo State University in San Angelo where she will study accounting. She has received a tuition scholarship to study at San Angelo.

She said she would like to live either in this area or in Colorado. Miss Ottesen said she has no business preference in connection with her plans for an accounting career.

MISS OTTESEN SAID her main goal is to get a good job. "I won't get married too soon," she said.

She lived in Colorado before her family moved to Hereford. She started the seventh grade here.

Her activities while here have been many and are of considerable variety. She was a member of the Leo Club (she served the organization this year as secretary), the Hereford High Steppers drill team, the National Honor Society, the Future Business Leaders, and Who's Who.

She was also nominated for "Outstanding Teen of America."

Discussing current events, Miss Ottesen said "Kids are more concerned today about the state of our country. They're more involved in what is happening."

"If everyone works at it, I think we can get the world situation straightened out," she continued.

She also said she thinks everyone is concerned about the economy and the energy crisis and will try to solve related problems.

Concluding her interview, Miss Ottesen said, "I think Hereford High is a good school, and will keep on growing."

The four graduates interviewed are typical of Hereford High graduates: bright, Solomon is organizing the Bible studies for college youth. The studies will be for members of all denominations.

The studies will be conducted in various homes in the area. The program will begin "in a week or two," Solomon said.

An organizational meeting will be held soon to determine if those participating in the studies prefer securing someone from outside the group to teach the studies.

Local Youths To Work At Lake Meredith

Two Hereford youths are among 30 teenagers who have been selected to participate in the 1975 Youth Conservation Corps Program at Lake Meredith Recreation Area this summer.

Robert Dee Hardin of 323 Star and Shannon Lynn Watson of 721 Ave. G will participate in the activities.

The Youth Conservation Corps was established by Congress in 1973 to employ young men and women to work on conservation projects in national parks, the National Forest System and other public land and water areas.

The teenagers, who are all between the ages of 15-18, are given meaningful jobs to carry out. "We don't just use these kids to clean up the recreation area (although they will do a little of that too)," says Bill Dyer, superintendent of Lake Meredith Recreation Area and Alibates National Monument. "They really worked hard last year, and we expect they will do the same this year, he said. "Although they accomplished 30 projects valued at $28,000 including trail construction, picnic area and campground maintenance, sign making, and lakeshore cleanup."

All enrollees had a chance to try their skill at carpentry, painting, masonry, and other construction trades, and this year will be the same.

Among the projects planned for them are reworking all trails, landscaping, installing markers and buoys on the lake, pouring sidewalks, and painting such things as chemical toilets, picnic tables, guard rails, and curb stops. They will also construct and help install picnic tables and fire places for the Rosita area, using materials supplied by the Track and Trail Riders Club.

SUGGESTIONS FOR better results from all plantings: first of all, purchase good plants, shrubs and trees. Check carefully for blemishes, color, texture and sturdiness. When taken home, before planting avoid needless exposure to sun or wind. Do not hold over needlessly, but do plant as soon as possible. It is wise to have the soil well prepared and ready to plant. Plants are due to your help.

1. Be sure that everything is adequately watered when planted. Lack of water is often the main cause of failure of plants to grow.

2. Make sure that the hole or trench has been made the correct size to accommodate the natural spread of the roots so they will not be crowded.

3. Make the soil properly related to the plant. Pack the soil gently and firmly about the roots but leave top 2 or 3 inches of soil loose and dry to act as mulch, or add sufficient mulch after planting, such as peat moss, compost (home made) crushed bark, etc.

4. Trim trees and shrubs, following directions for that particular plant. If any branches or roots were broken in shipment, make a smooth cut behind the break. For smaller plants, gently pinch off bruised roots and remove by pinching the top broken leaves.

5. Check soil as to consistency.

6. Water thoroughly and slowly. Check for dryness and, if needed, water. Use care that the roots do not become water soaked. Water when needed, but not until. This can be determined when plants need water replaced through transpiration (which is mainly for two reasons-to replace lost water and to take nutrients to the roots system). Plants can be stunted or killed by overwatering, so use care. They can be lost if not properly watered when needed. Check soil before watering, also plant textures.

7. It is wise to plant directly when plants are purchased and when received. Heel trees and shrubs in moist soil until they can be properly planted. The chief concern is that the plants, shrubs or trees are properly cared for to prevent drying out of the tops and the soil around the roots.

Keep soil moist until plants, etc. can be planted.

8. All plants should have tender, loving care before planting and also after they are planted. Sometimes plants go into shock and patience is necessary, as well as proper care.

9. If you purchase perennials or annuals in peat pots, keep them moist before planting and, when placing them in their new home, check the rim of the peat pot to ascertain if it is hard. If so, remove the rim, then plant properly.

10. Maintenance is very important after planting; some plants are heavy feeders, (especially perennials) and they must receive proper care. Keep weeds out of the flower beds where planted and feed when needed. Study directions on container of the plant food used and check as to needs of the plant. If they are heavy bloom producers, the second number should be the largest, and if grown largely for foliage, then the first number should be the largest, because foliage requires more nitrogen.

11. If weather is unseasonably warm when planting, then plantings should be shielded from the direct rays of the sunlight the first few days with your favorite plant protector. Wooden shingles, strawberry boxes, etc. placed over plant are good. Sunlight should be filtered and sun-scorching is harmful to the tender plant, until it becomes properly located and climatized. Check soil conditions, if unusually dry, then water when needed.

12. Enjoy your gardening and, when you can, share your garden flowers, vegetables and fruit. That is a part of the joy of a gardener.

The following are suggested Average Spacing Requirements for Ground Covers, which is a gardener's friend in many ways.

50 plants spaced 4" apart will cover 6 square feet; 6" apart will cover 12 square feet; 8" apart will cover 22 square feet; 9" apart will cover 35 square feet, etc. Ground covers are a delight to grow and are an answer to some garden problems. Use them where grass will not grow and where there is combat erosion on slopes. They also hold down weed growth and they are adaptable to many landscape designs. Many of them flower, have various textural qualities and are fun to grow. Try them you will like them.

CONGRATULATIONS TO all the graduates, whether high school or college. May success and happiness be yours.

I am packing to go to attend my granddaughter's (Beverly Gale) graduation. My how the years fly by!

Christian Church Names Youth Student Minister

The First Christian Church of Hereford has named Danny Robertson, a native of Houston and a junior at Texas Christian University, its summer student minister.

This will be Robertson's second year as a summer student minister. His first summer in such a position came last year in Farmington, New Mexico, at the Bethany Christian Church there.

Robertson will be doing some preaching this summer at the First Christian Church, and will be doing hospital visitation and work with young people.

Robertson is twenty years old.

The First Christian Church has had a summer student minister every summer for the past 15 years.

Robertson will be summer student minister here in connection with a program sponsored by TCU. He is a pre-ministerial student at TCU. The program gives experience in an actual church setting.

Robertson's father, James Robertson Sr. of Houston, is a letter-carrier for the postal service in the state's largest city. Robertson is single and has two brothers and a sister.

Association Urges Caution for Drivers

The Texas Safety Association reminds motorists to make their Memorial Day travel sensible by buckling safety belts and observing speed limits.

The Memorial Day holiday period begins at 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight, Monday.

The most important passenger protection feature in the American car today is the seat belt system, asserts TSA, yet it is estimated that less than 30 percent of drivers wear lap and shoulder belts regularly. As a result, each year more than 14,000 persons die in highway crashes that would not have been fatal if the victims had been wearing safety belts.

TSA cited the National Safety Council estimate that over 100 drivers could be saved over the upcoming holiday if they simply took the time to fasten their safety belts.

Speed is another key factor in traffic death and injury, points out TSA, noting that in 1974, statewide traffic deaths decreased by 17 percent. But in 1975, with compliance to the 55 m.p.h. speed limit apparently slipping, deaths are on the increase again. The latest Department of Public Safety report shows traffic deaths up 23 percent so far this year.

Learning to deal with situations that cause accidents can help the driving public survive not only in holiday traffic but every day. A good way to learn is to take the Defensive Driving Course, a joint effort of TSTA and the National Safety Council. Studies show that graduates have fewer accidents and buckle their safety belts.

The course also saves the graduate insurance money. Drivers who successfully complete the eight-hour, classroom course are eligible for a ten percent automobile insurance discount. For more information on the course, contact the Texas Safety Association, P.O. Box 9345, Austin, Texas, 78766.

ALONG THE FRIO

By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS

Vacation Bible School at Frio Baptist Church is scheduled to begin Monday June 2 and to run through Friday June 6, with commencement to be on Sunday night June 8. The Rev. Lon Conner is principal. In charge of music are Mrs. Joe Shultz and Lynette Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Sparkman and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Baldwin have been to Florida to move their sister, Mrs. Jerry Richardson, Mr. Richardson and baby Jennifer. They will live in a mobile home located at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T.L. Sparkman Jr.

The Richardsons have lived in Hollywood, Fla. since their marriage four years ago. The two couples who went in the truck to move them were gone a week on the trip, returning Thursday.

Bill Dickson, who passed away Monday, was a former resident of this community. They came here during the 40's bringing the three sons, and lived on a farm. Dickson helped the Warricks and his father-in-law, Chester Lowery, farm during those years. The children attended school at Frio and the family was active in community and church affairs for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Andrews and sons have lived in Hereford at her grandmothers (Mrs. M.L. Simpson Sr.) house for several weeks while their home is being remodeled on the inside. It is about finished now and they expect to be back into it within a few days.

Joy Earp of Denton came Monday to visit her Grandmother, Mrs. B.H. Baldwin. Mrs. Darold Baldwin, Canyon, met Joy at the Amarillo airport and brought her. Joy remained until Friday when an aunt from Floydada came for her.

Popular Canyon Drama To Open 10th Season

Dramatic is the word for a canyon plunging 1,000 feet in the flat plains of the Texas Panhandle—a fit setting for the spectacular drama "TEXAS," whose 10th summer season will run June 18 through August 23.

Palo Duro Canyon through the centuries has been the scene of historic events more colorful than any fiction. The musical extravaganza by Pulitzer Prize-winner Paul Green depicts the struggles of the pioneers of the 1880s in untamed northern and central Texas, the saga of the cowboys and the Indians' love of the land.

The site of the Pioneer Amphitheatre, built as a memorial to the people of the Panhandle, was carefully selected for the best visual and acoustic effect.

The first haunting bugle call heralds a panorama of color and sound. Recreated prairie fires, thunder, lightning and tempest intensify the human dramas brought to life by 78 singers, dancers and actors.

The annual production is a highlight of the many attractions of Palo Duro Canyon State Park. The park, located some 20 miles south of Amarillo and 12 miles east of Canyon, offers magnificent scenery in which to camp, hike, ride horseback, drive or take the two-mile railroad exploring the soaring canyon walls formed by millennia of geologic evolution. Theater seats range from $1.50 to $5.00 some less for children, and must be reserved.

Common plantain — a weed introduced into this country from Europe — was called "white man's foot" by the American Indians since it closely followed pioneers' westward expansion.

A recent study at the University of Minnesota shows that a 75 percent reduction in farmers' use of pesticides would increase the price of raw agricultural products by about 20 percent.

4-H Roundup Has Top Competition

Each year 4-H boys and girls face the challenge of preparing for judging contests, method demonstrations and other areas of competition. Their ultimate aim is to qualify to attend State 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University and to be the best in Texas.

Some 1,800 4-H'ers are now preparing for that trek to Texas A&M where they will compete June 3-4 in more than 30 events ranging from public speaking to livestock judging to demonstrations on safety and emergency preparedness. The State 4-H Food Show is also part of the overall Roundup activities and will be held June 3, with judging beginning at 9 a.m. The remainder of the competition will be the following day, with some events starting as early as 6:30 a.m. Roundup headquarters is the Rudder Center.

According to Dr. Don Stormer, state 4-H and youth leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, State 4-H Roundup is one of the oldest annual statewide 4-H events in the nation. In addition to the throngs of youth, it also brings together some 600 adults, including county Extension agents, 4-H leaders, friends of 4-H, mass media representatives, contest donors and members of the board of directors of the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation, the service organization of 4-H in the state.

Roundup activities will officially get under way with an opening assembly at 5:30 p.m. on June 3 in the Rudder Center Auditorium, announces Stormer. A special feature of the assembly will be the introduction of Mrs. Jeanetta Probasco of Longview, a national winner in the 4-H Alumni Recognition Program. Awards will be presented to 10 individuals, businesses and organizations that have made outstanding contributions to 4-H. Winners of ten $4,000 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo Scholarships will also be announced, and several other scholarship winners will be presented.

The second year of study will include agribusiness marketing. Graduates of the program will learn basic skills needed to enter an agricultural career, especially ag cooperatives. Upon satisfactory completion of 69 hours, students will be awarded an Associate in Science or Associate in Applied Science degree.

Field study will be done with local cooperatives, said Nancy Elliott, assistant professor of mid-management at AC. The first year of study will be general agribusiness courses such as agribusiness math, plant science, animal science, soils and fertilizers.

AC Offers Ag Program

After an advisory committee study of agricultural needs in this area, an agricultural technology program will begin this fall at Amarillo College.

The advisory committee is composed of representatives from Producers Grain Corp. in Amarillo, Panhandle Wheat Growers, Inc., Vega Wheat Growers, Inc., and Conway Wheat Growers, Inc.

"The greatest need for rural America today is to keep its young people interested in the benefits of rural life," said a spokesman for the group.

Graduates of the program will learn basic skills needed to enter an agricultural career, especially ag cooperatives. Upon satisfactory completion of 69 hours, students will be awarded an Associate in Science or Associate in Applied Science degree.

Field study will be done with local cooperatives, said Nancy Elliott, assistant professor of mid-management at AC. The first year of study will be general agribusiness courses such as agribusiness math, plant science, animal science, soils and fertilizers.

The second year of study will include agribusiness marketing. Higher seeding rates may result in grain yield reduction due to increased use of early season moisture for stover production. Subsequently, late season moisture may be insufficient resulting in poor head exertion, shrunken seed and lodging.

Ready For Tour

Dr. K.B. Porter, wheat breeder, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Bushland, looks over wheat in preparation for tour Thursday.

Bushland Wheat Tour Set

Wheat breeding and production research will be featured at a field tour for interested farmers and agribusiness people Thursday, at the USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center at Bushland.

Dr. Paul Unger, Acting Center Director, states that the tour will begin at 1:00 p.m. and is being sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Agricultural Research Service, Soil Water and Air Sciences, and Texas Wheat Producers Association.

Observation of commercial and experimental wheat varieties in both dryland and irrigated nurseries will be the high point of the tour according to Dr. K.B. Porter, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station wheat breeder. Previous research at Bushland has produced Tascosa, Sturdy, Caprock, TAM W-101, and TAM W-103, widely grown wheat varieties in the Southern Great Plains. Some of the experimental lines in the 1975 irrigated nursery yielded more than 90 bushels per acre in 1973 trials where varieties Scout & Centurk yielded 76 & 78 bushels per acre. These new lines were developed by crossing Centurk and Scout with other commercial varieties.

Research plots with wheat streak mosaic, tansy mustard control, hybrid wheat, greenbug resistance, wheat rye crosses, and triticale will also be on the tour route. Limited tillage farming of winter wheat and sorghum, and cultural practices for producing sunflowers will be discussed. Finally, forage production experiments and alfalfa varieties will be observed.

Sorghum Seeding Rates Important

High Plains farmers likely are going into 1975 sorghum planting with near-adequate reservoirs of soil moisture, and some may even be delayed by wet field conditions. Despite these mixed blessings they're going to have to pay special attention to cultural practices if they aim for peak yields, says an area agronomist.

"Profitable grain sorghum yields depend to a large extent on good cultural methods," says Dr. James Supak, area Extension specialist at Lubbock. "Two important practices are seeding rate and row spacing."

Research over the years by Texas Agricultural Experiment Station scientists at Lubbock has shown that under dryland conditions, where only stored soil moisture and a limited amount of rainfall is available, low plant populations and conventional (40-inch) row spacing result in highest grain yields, the agronomist explains.

Optimum planting rates under dryland conditions range from 1 1/2 to 2 pounds per acre or about two to three seed per foot of 40-inch row, he says. Higher seeding rates may result in grain yield reduction due to increased use of early season moisture for stover production. Subsequently, late season moisture may be insufficient resulting in poor head exertion, shrunken seed and lodging.

water for one or two irrigations during the boot and bloom stages may increase their grain yields by increasing the planting rate to three to five pounds (4 to 6 seed per foot of row) on 40-inch rows," Supak believes.

When sufficient water for more than two irrigations is available, higher grain yields may be obtained by increasing the planting rate and reducing the row spacings.

Other studies at Lubbock, he added, have indicated that six to eight pounds of seed per acre planted on 12-and 20-inch row spacings consistently produced more grain per inch of water used than identical plant populations on conventional 40-inch row spacings. In addition to greater water-use efficiency, the narrow spacings have an added advantage in shading out weeds. These studies further indicated that the seeding rate may be increased up to 10 pounds per acre on the 12-and 20-inch row spacings without reducing grain yields.

He adds that in obtaining a desired plant population, grain sorghum producers should remember that a pound of planting seed may contain from 12,000 to 16,000 seed, depending on the hybrid selected, and that only about 65 per cent of the seed planted will develop into viable plants under field conditions. Consequently, the producer should adjust his planter to drop a specified number of seed per foot of row rather than plant a given number of pounds per acre.

Demonstration Being Held In County

The Deaf Smith County Crops Committee and the Texas Wheat Growers Association are jointly sponsoring a Wheat Variety Demonstration on the Raymond Schlabs farm about 6 miles North of Hereford on Hwy. 385. According to Juston T. McBride, County Extension Agent—Agriculture, the purpose of the demonstration is to provide farmers of the county with an opportunity to observe some of the latest introductions from Texas and adjoining states which may have potential for our area. The plot is located on the South side of the Schlabs farm, turn East on the dirt road off 385, you will see the Texas Agricultural Extension Service Demonstration sign and variety signs.

The plot was seeded October 19, 1974, and contains: Baca-Colorado State University Foundation Seed; Homestead-Nebraska Foundation Seed; Sentinel-Nebraska Foundation Seed; Buckskin-Nebraska Foundation Seed; T.A.M. 101W-Selection made at Bushland Research Station; Trison-Kansas Foundation Seed; Eagle-Kansas Foundation Seed; Gage-Kansas Foundation Seed; W-332-Funk's Seed Co.-new release; Caprock-rest of field-selection made by Bushland Research Station.

Eldred Brown, Chairman of the Deaf Smith County Crops Committee and Leo Witkowski, President, Texas Wheat Growers Association, would like to encourage all county wheat producers to visit these plots. Anyone desiring further information on the demonstration should call the county agricultural agent, Juston McBride.

GSPA Urges Farmers To Use Alternatives

Grain Sorghum Producers Association officials have expressed regret over the failure of Congress to override the farm bill veto, but are urging farmers to continue working toward the alternatives which are open to them.

GSPA officials point out that the farmer could still make production cutbacks in order to keep grain supplies stable, should continue to push for domestic and export sales and should use a program of orderly marketing.

The Lubbock-based national organization has worked continuously toward passage of the farm bill, testifying frequently before agricultural subcommittees. Immediately following the veto, GSPA Service Director Y.F. Snodgrass spent several days in Washington urging congressmen to override the veto. The House vote on Tuesday (May 13) fell 39 votes short of the necessary margin to override a presidential veto.

GSPA executive director Elbert Harp, in expressing his regrets over the farm bill veto, said it would have helped to stabilize the market for both consumers and producers. He continued to stress that farmers should use production cutbacks and orderly marketing wherever possible to help stabilize the market.

Capitol Hill observers had predicted that the president would enact loan price increases if he vetoed the bill, but the veto message did not indicate such intent. The message stated that if farm prices were to drop sharply during the months ahead, the administration will review the possibility of raising the loan rate.

GSPA has continually emphasized that farmers, like any other businessmen, cannot afford to produce at a loss. Harp, in a letter to the president, pointed out that unless some provision is made to stabilize agricultural markets, many producers will be forced to shut down their farming operations at a time when they are expected to feed the world.

High Moisture Grain Seminar Is Scheduled

A seminar on high moisture grain preservation with special emphasis on beef will be held at the Hereford Country Club Wednesday.

The seminar is scheduled to begin about 8:30 a.m. and will conclude in the early afternoon.

Among the specialists speaking at the seminar will be representatives from Pitman Industries East and West Feedlots. They will report on the results of preparing, storing, rolling and feeding of over one million bushels of high moisture preserved corn.

A special tour of the Pitman Feedlots and retail beef store will be arranged upon request.

The seminar is being sponsored by Kemin Industries, Inc., one of the early developers and leading producers of products for grain preservation.

On The Turnrow

By Jim Stelert

Federal Power Commission administrative judge Curtis L. Wagner now has slightly less than a week to write an opinion concerning the change in the priority of natural gas for agriculture from second to third.

That's a big decision for one man to make on an issue that has a bearing on the lives of almost the entire population of a major portion of the Texas Panhandle.

The decision making process should be simplified somewhat, however, if the judge gives serious consideration to the testimony which was presented by area farmers at the FPC hearings in Lubbock May 15 and 16.

Hundreds of farmers who took time out from work during one of the busiest times of the year to testify at the hearings told the judge in all sincerity that they can't afford to have their natural gas curtailed.

I talked to a few of the local folks who presented testimony at the hearings and they were impressed with the fairness and cooperation of Judge Wagner. Most came away with an optimistic outlook about the situation.

Let's hope the decision handed down by Judge Wagner proves their optimism was well-founded.

The USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center in Bushland will hold a wheat field day tour Thursday.

Four members will view the small grain greenhouses at the facility and will make stops at the irrigated wheat nursery, grass and alfalfa trials, a trial plot for alternate irrigated dryland cropping systems for continuous winter wheat, and a trial plot for control of tansy mustard.

There are a lot of ways to measure the swift movement of time, and I think watching young potato plants grow is one of them. Seems as if it takes forever for plants to emerge after planting, but once they do they grow incredibly rapidly. The growth of the potato vines correlates with the passage of spring and summer, grown and gone before you know it.

The corn crop is making good progress locally. A few timely showers have really been a boon. Some farmers were lucky enough to get a shower just before planting time and got their corn to a stand using available moisture.

Man will have to search a long time before he finds a source of irrigation water as favorable as that which falls from the clouds.

New Slant Turns Up For Grain Protection

New research indicates it may be possible to develop wheat varieties able to withstand attack by stored-grain insects.

An Agricultural Research Service entomologist in a study of 15 wheat varieties found they differed considerably in their resistance to one such pest — the rice weevil.

If the characteristics that make some wheats less attractive to the weevil can be identified, plant breeders may find ways of intensifying these traits in future wheat varieties.

Up to now, breeding for resistance to stored-grain insects has not been attempted. Wheats have been developed, however, that resist attack in the field by some insects.

Wise Use Of Summer Pastures Encouraged

Summer annual pastures can be productive if handled correctly, says a forage specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Forage quality of summer annual pastures can be higher than summer perennial pastures," contends Dr. J.N. Pratt.

"The first important factor is to use adequate amounts of fertilizer. Summer annual forages frequently produce greater tonnages of forage than summer perennial forages from the same amount of fertilizer."

Although fertilizer supplies and prices are different this season than in previous years, growth and protein content result from adequate amounts of fertilizer—especially nitrogen, points out the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"A soil test is the best method for deciding on amounts of fertilizer to apply. However, in most areas of Texas, at least 60 pounds of nitrogen should be used at each fertilizer application."

"Another important factor," according to Pratt, "is to use the forage when it is high quality. Summer annual forages grow rapidly during spring and early summer when soil moisture and temperature conditions are favorable. Part of the pasture could be fenced separately to permit harvesting hay from excess forage."

Summer annual forages tend to produce large stalks and seed heads rather than leaves when they mature. This means that summer annual pastures should be shredded or harvested into hay whenever plants have a large percentage of stalks.

A Beneficial Virus?

Agricultural scientists have identified more than 300 viruses that can cause fatal diseases to insects but are harmless to humans.

Missionary Bonus: Beef

Cattle brought into the Southwest by Spanish missionaries in the 1690's served as foundation stock for Texas herds. By 1865, range cattle in the Lone Star state totaled about 6 million head.

explains the forage specialist. "After leaves have been grazed from stalks, remove animals to another area," advises Pratt. "Shred the remaining stalks to a height of 6-8 inches to stimulate new leaf development. Then apply a nitrogen fertilizer. Resume grazing when plants have reached 24-30 inches." County Extension agents throughout Texas can relate results of demonstrations with summer annual forages in their area, notes the specialist.

Texas Wheat Producers Board Election Ends

The second biennial election of the Texas Wheat Producers Board which was conducted by mail throughout the month of May among the organization's 16,000 producers ended with the canvassing of ballots Thursday, according to Bill Nelson, Executive Vice President.

Re-elected to serve full six-year terms after having drawn four-year short terms on the initial board formed in 1971, were C.L. Edwards, of Panhandle and W.R. Moore, Jr. of Munday.

Troy Sloan, a 44-year old wheat producer—farm leader from Spearman in Hansford County was elected to an initial six-year term when installed at the next meeting of the Board in August. Other leadership posts held by Sloan include directorships on the Hansford County Livestock Board and the National Grain Sorghum Producers Association as well as the Hansford County Farm Bureau. He and his wife have a son and daughter, married and living in Amarillo and Spearman respectively.

The TWPB program is supported with a 1/2 cent assessment per bushel on deliveries of wheat at commercial grain handlers. The funds directed by the Board are used for a variety of research, market development and education programs designed to enhance wheat producer income.

Other TWPB officers include Ken Kendrick, Chairman of Stratford, Otis Harman of Tullis, Dwight Hamilton, Vice Chairman of Olney, Leo Witkowski, Hereford, Winston Wilson, Quanah, and N.F. (Gus) Renner of Spearman. Mr. Renner who has served on the board since its inception and who did not file for re-election because of expanding personal farm and ranch activities will relinquish his post to Sloan at the next meeting of the Board in August.

Those appointed as the ballot canvassing committee were Bob Gray, Assistant Director of Marketing for the Texas Department of Agriculture; Paul Gross, District I Agent, Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Amarillo; Mr. Tom Bursey, Potter County Commissioner who represented Potter County Judge Branch Archer and Leo Witkowski, as president of the sponsoring organization, the Texas Wheat Producers Association.

Gates Award Goes to Luis Salas

A special "Mystery Car" award was presented to a local service station employee Tuesday after the employee recognized a defective part in the mystery car and replaced it with the correct part.

The award, plaque bearing three Eisenhower silver dollars and two Kennedy half-dollars, went to Luis Salas, an employee of the West Side Shell station located at 742 West First in Hereford.

The award was presented by a representative of the Gates Rubber Co. of Denver, Col.

Gates Rubber sponsors the overall award program, now in its 43rd year, to reward service station personnel who properly check for certain worn or defective automobile parts. A fleet of Gates "mystery cars" travel across the country stopping at service stations. Each car is equipped with a worn fan belt, faulty radiator hose, and defective windshield wiper blades.

Award plaques are presented to those station personnel who recognize one of the defective parts and offer to replace it with the correct Gates part.

Pioneer Days Set In Clovis

The fifth annual Pioneer Days Rodeo will be held in Clovis June 6, 7 and 8.

Activities will include three rodeo performances, a rodeo parade, the crowning of Miss New Mexico and a barbecue.

The RCA sanctioned rodeo will feature saddle bronc and bareback bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, team roping, bull riding and barrel racing.

A wild cow milking contest will also be featured in the rodeo.

Rodeo performances will be held at 8 p.m. June 6 and 7 and the final performance will be at 2:30 p.m. June 8.

The annual parade will be held at 10 a.m. June 7.

Officials Schedule Airport Conference

A Texas Airport System joint planning conference will be held at 10 a.m., Friday in the Deaf Smith County Library here.

Airport development needs of Castro, Deaf Smith, Oldham, Farmer, and Swisher Counties will be discussed.

Participating in the meeting will be representatives of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, city and county elected officials, airport board members, airport managers and other citizens.

All area citizens with an interest in air transportation and airport development are invited to attend.

Benefits of air transportation to a community are not always well understood. General aviation airports will be examined in relation to community and county development goals.

The Texas Airport System

Plan is being developed for Texas and the Federal Aviation Administration by the Texas Aeronautics Commission. Technical assistance is provided by the Texas Transportation Institute of Texas A&M University.

Major activities of the Plan include inventory of existing aviation facilities, forecasting of aviation demand, comparison of present capacity with forecast needs, evaluation of alternative airport systems, developing schedules of required improvements, and identification of alternatives for financing system growth.

The Gates Rubber Company sponsors a nation-wide contest every year to reward Auto-otive Parts Jobbers for maintaining adequate inventories of replacement cooling system parts.

A fleet of Gates "Mystery Shoppers" travel across the country each year stopping at authorized Gates Jobber outlets. If the jobber's stock includes certain "mystery" part numbers, the jobber is awarded one of the two special plaques.
