C of C Holds Hustling Meeting

The H-3 theme (hustle, hustle, hustle) of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce was much in evidence Thursday morning when directors heard reports on committee activities.

The business committee is planning a "Most Courteous Employee" promotion during March; the membership committee is planning a sign-up campaign

March 17-21; the ag committee is planning to send representatives to a West Texas Congressional Reception in Washington, D.C., March 3; the industrial development group is currently working with a company which is seeking a new site; the Goals for Progress committee has held organizational meetings for all five sub-committees; and the C of C quarterly meeting will be a joint meeting March 18 of all civic clubs under auspices of the Bicentennial Committee.

BUD EADES, PRESIDENT, also announced that eight chamber members recently attended the West Texas C of C Leadership Conference in Amarillo, and that the local chamber has endorsed a Personal Development Seminar here May 5-6. The seminar will be of special interest to employers and employees of retail trade firms.

Bill Albright, executive vice president, announced that Eades has been elected as a director in the West Texas C of C, joining Harlan VanderZee and Clint Forby as the local representatives. Hereford earned another directorship with increased support of the WTCC.

Butch White, chairman of the special rodeo committee, announced that news releases on the All Girl Rodeo scheduled here in May have been sent to 160 area news media. The group will send invitations to Girls Rodeo Association members. Plans are being made to repair facilities at the arena.

Clete Cortis, chairman of the business committee, told of his group's plans for a year-long "We Appreciate Your Business" promotion, kicked off by an employee courtesy contest during March. The Hereford Brand and KPAN Radio agreed to co-sponsor the contest. The chamber board approved prize money of $150 for the contest.

CORLIS SAID the group also set forth goals for the betterment of the community. These were as follows: (1) Unite all local retailers to promote Hereford as a regional retail center, (2) Actively support a program to improve courtesy and service citywide, (3) Assist in coordinating retail promotions in Deaf Smith County, (4) Promote better consumer relations through dissemination of information on the free enterprise system and profit motivation, (5) Promote and coordinate a sales courtesy clinic and other orientation programs, (6) Establish holidays to be observed, in coordination with the schools, city, county, state and federal, (7) Assist Christmas decoration committee, (8) Set a regular schedule of meeting dates for the committee.

Bill Johnson reported on the membership committee plans. He announced that Mac Tubb will be the drive chairman and five to seven teams will be formed for a membership contest campaign. Prizes will be offered to the top three membership members in the contest. Letters will be mailed to business prospects as well as professional people and farmers.

Dick Gries reported that the industrial development committee was still in the process of organizing. However, through the Southwestern Public Service Company's development department, the committee is in contact with a prospective business. The committee recently met with the Texas Industrial Development Agency and presented Hereford's assets and potential.

THE DIRECTORS heard a presentation from a representative of Windsor Publications on the possibility of publishing a book promoting Hereford. After discussing the costs to local merchants, the proposal died for lack of a motion.

The Bicentennial Committee meeting on March 18 for all civic clubs will serve as the quarterly meeting for the C of C membership. Also it will replace the April 1 quarterly meeting of the Women's Division.

Twelve directors attended the Thursday morning session. Only two directors were absent. A number of committee chairmen were also in attendance.

DST Commences

With the beginning of Daylight Saving Time this morning, early risers will not doubt find the above dark and cold scene as a regular part of their morning. As the time notes it is dark late in the morning even by regular time standards but with clocks set back one hour, darkness will prevail even longer. At 2 a.m. today, all clocks were to be set forward one hour, putting the nation on DST for six months.

Murder Charges Filed Against Victim's Father

Clifford M. Walton, 41 of Route 3 Hereford, has been arraigned on an open charge of murder in the shooting of his son Clifford L. Walton, 22.

The shooting was reported to Deaf Smith County Deputy sheriff at about 9:50 p.m. Thursday by someone at the Walton residence which is located on La Posta Road about six miles southeast of Hereford.

WALTON WAS arraigned before Justice of the Peace Glenn Nelson Friday morning. Bond was set at $25,000 and the defendant remains in county jail as of Saturday morning.

Art Burton, deputy sheriff said Friday that after the call was received, officers went to the scene where they found the younger Walton dead from a bullet wound. The alleged murder is believed to have been caused from the firing of a .32 caliber pistol.

IT IS NOT certain, but officers believe the shooting resulted from an apparent fight between the father and son. The only other person at the scene when officers arrived was Mrs. C. M. Walton, the victim's mother.

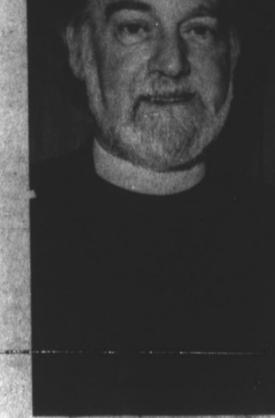

Nelson, acting as coroner, pronounced the younger Walton dead at the scene. The body was taken by Ambulance to Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home. Funeral services are pending.

The case remains under investigation by the sheriff's department.

The victim, crippled from birth defects, died of a wound in the lower abdomen before medical aid reached him.

FUNERAL SERVICES are pending with Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home. He was born May 24, 1952 at Raton, N.M. He came to Hereford with his family in 1964.

Survivors include his parents; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Engbrock of Raton, and Mrs. Josephine Hayes of Springer, N.M.; an uncle, R.L. Klipstine of Amarillo.

Controversy Arises From ERA Proposal

By KERRIE WOMBLE
Women's Editor

Flurries of controversy, on local and national fronts, surround the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) which was proposed by Congress March 22, 1972.

Ratification by 38 states is required for adoption of the proposed 27th amendment, which states, "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex."

It continues, "The Congress shall have the power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article. This amendment shall take effect two years after the date of ratification."

LEGISLATURES IN 34 states, including Texas, have ratified ERA, however two states have already rescinded their decision. ERA was passed by Tennessee's state house in February of 1973, but was rescinded last year. Nebraska lawmakers, who immediately ratified ERA unanimously, counteracted their decision during 1973 with a 31-17 vote against the amendment.

Rescission unveils an angry hornet's nest of legal technicalities and issues. The legality of rescinding ERA after ratification has been questioned by some and supported by others. Solutions to the rescission argument could involve the U.S. Congress and the federal courts as well as the state attorney general.

The rescission battle need not be fought if 38 states, in addition to those which have rescinded, ratify ERA. However, the amendment will be nullified if at least 38 states have not ratified it before March 23, 1979, seven years after its birth.

The public has a chance to voice opinions about the controversial amendment by calling a toll-free number in Fort Worth, 1-800-292-9600, or by writing state legislators.

THE ISSUES
Many Hereford residents have become alarmed recently about the possible consequences of the ERA bill. They are not alone in their concern.

Opposition to the proposed amendment has been strong among women's clubs in this county. Several have approved group efforts to write state representatives and senators requesting rescission of ERA.

According to Mrs. Cora Johnson, local spokesman against ratification, residents should start petitions voicing their opinions. "Some petitions are in circulation, but more need to be started so ERA can be defeated," she stated.

County Commissioners To Meet on Monday

A 13-item agenda will greet the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court in a regularly scheduled meeting at 10 a.m. Monday at the county courthouse.

The commissioners will consider a Manpower Program resolution, a proposed workmen's compensation program, delinquent tax collections, correspondence from the Panhandle County Judges and Commissioners Association and a recommendation to designate First National Bank as the county depository.

County Judge Sam Morgan said the manpower item concerned approval for him to act as the county representative for the program. It is sponsored by the Panhandle Regional Planning Council and local members on the manpower board are Austin Rose Jr. and Bruce Coleman, both county commissioners.

Travis McPherson, county sheriff, will meet with the commissioners to discuss efforts to oppose the proposed state legislative bill to pay Texas Department of Correction prisoners half of the minimum wage while serving sentences.

The commissioners court considered the workmen's compensation at their last meeting, but decided to table it until had been further researched. If passed, it would allow county employees to qualify for state authorized insurance benefits such as hospitalization and doctor costs resulting from accidents.

Other items on the agenda are a visit from a committee to request use of the Bull Barn for a Gospel Music Concert, a discussion with County Financial advisor Bob Davis, a meeting with librarian Gwyn London on a Denton workshop, a letter from juvenile officer Larry Watson for office equipment and approval of an insurance bill on dwellings and a boiler.

Resolution Slate Drawn Up For W.T. Congressmen

The agriculture committee of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce has adopted eight resolutions to be presented to a West Texas Congressional Reception in Washington, D.C. on March 3. The resolutions were approved Thursday morning by the C of C directors.

Eldred Brown, chairman of the ag group, reported that six Hereford men plan to attend the reception. They are Charles and Raymond Schlabs, Gerald McCathern, Charles Hoover, Calvin Goodin and Bill Albright. They will go at their own expense, he pointed out.

The resolutions adopted:
(1) Eliminate export limitations on farm commodities.
(2) In order to stabilize farm production, increase immediately grain loan levels and target prices.

(3) Extend and widen eligibility for the Emergency Livestock Loan Act and increase limits of lending.

(4) Increase governmental purchases of beef at all levels, including foreign aid programs.

(5) Immediately embargo beef imports and analyze the long-range influence of supports on the American beef industry.

Three more resolutions pertained to the state level. They are: (1) Prohibit the purchase of imported beef by state agencies, (2) Label all foods containing imported beef, (3) Increase the maximum truck weight limits.

The chamber also formulated a policy statement on agriculture, and the ag

Father Gilligan Files For School Board

Local elections had been moving along at a fairly peaceful pace with candidates filing only in uncontested slots, but the situation has changed with the filing Thursday of Father Jose Gilligan S.A. in place 2 on the Hereford School Board of Trustees.

The action has sparked the political scene since he is the first candidate to seek an office already being sought after. His opponent is Dwaine Walker who filed earlier at about the same as did Joe Whitley in place 3. The other candidate, the first to file, is James Gentry in place 1.

Walker is a 1951 graduate of Hereford High School, Whitley is a local dentist and gentry is engaged in corporation management, housing development and farming.

The incumbents on the school board include Hugh Clearman in place 1, Jim Arney in place 2 and Bobby Viegler in place 3. No decisions have been expressed on their part to run again.

GILLIGAN, 52 administrator and pastor of St. Jose Catholic Church south of Hereford, is seeking office because, "I hear rumors of alleged discrimination of Mexican-Americans in the schools and the only way I can find out what is really going on is to run for the school board."

The candidate said that he wants to be on the school board "as a concerned citizen" and "as a representative of the Mexican-American community."

Gilligan, who was recently elected president of the American Civil Liberties Union, explained that even though he has affiliations, with specific groups, he is not running as sole representative of any of them. Rumors have drifted about this week that the ACLU is backing a candidate, but Gilligan said, "The ACLU is a nonpolitical organization and we are not endorsing any candidate including me."

"I FEEL I am qualified since a clergyman is after all an experienced teacher. Also, I have had the opportunity to preach extensively abroad," Gilligan said. He has preached in oriental countries during the 60's and early 70's.

He was a resident of Hereford from 1959-63 when he was an assistant at St. Anthony's Catholic Church. His present assignment was assumed about 15 months ago when he returned.

While away, Gilligan was a professor of logic, philosophy and Latin at St. John's Seminary in Saranac Lake, N.Y. He is a member of the board of directors of the Llano Estacado Farm Workers of Texas in Hereford, Kiwanis International (noon club), the Hereford Ministerial Alliance and chaplain for the alliance at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

IN THE CITY race, no new candidates have filed. The only candidates so far in the race are incumbent Paul Abalos in place 1 and Emory Brownlow in place 2, both positions on the City Commission. Abalos is a local restaurant operator and school district employee and Brownlow is a local general contractor. Place 2 commissioner H.A. (Hap) Caviness has not said whether he will seek re-election or not.

No one has filed for the mayor's slot, which is presently held by First National Bank president Jim Sears. He too has not expressed intentions.

Linda Hager With A Couple Of Wandering Dogs

City Puts Strict Bite On Loose Dogs

BY BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

The dogs of Hereford better beware as their freedom isn't a constitutionally guaranteed right.

And this freedom which the area dogs have apparently been enjoying during the past few weeks isn't expected to last much longer as the Hereford City Animal Control Officer is hot on their trail. If apprehended, the animals will be handled with the fullest extent of the law in mind in accordance with an effort by the police department to strictly enforce the city's animal control ordinance.

LINDA HAGER, animal control officer, said, "We have noticed a lot more dogs running loose during the past few months and we will not hesitate to enforce the ordinance controlling the animals."

According to the annual police report to the City Commission, the number of dogs caught by the city rose from 667 in 1973 to 936 in 1974. Presently Ms. Hager is locking up about 10 dogs a week, although often the number climbs higher.

The dogs are controlled under ordinance No. 970, which was enacted to control dogs running loose within the city limits. Of course, not only is the dog punished but also the owner since fines of up to $25 can be levied against violators.

The ordinance states, "It shall be unlawful for the owner of any dog to run or be at large upon any street, alley or public place in said city, or upon property or others than the owner of said dog unless such dog shall be at all times restrained by rope, chain, leash or other means of control sufficient to reasonably control the act and conduct thereof."

"IT REALLY makes the owner think twice about letting dogs run loose when he has to pay $25," the animal control officer said.

The fines also can mount up as a maximum of $25 can be charged per animal for each of days the dog is running loose.

The dogs are taken to the city pound located at the corner of 15th Street and Progressive Road, near the city dump and incinerator.

"We keep the dogs at the pound for up to three days after which time the animals are put to sleep if not claimed by the owner," Ms. Hager said. "Of course we like to give them away to persons who will take care of them."

IF THE OWNER of a captured dog can be contacted then a warning is issued. If the animal is running loose again then a complaint is filed with municipal court and a fine set.

The pound now has over 20 dogs impounded. These include 10 German shepherd puppies, which Linda is trying to give away by Tuesday when their three days are up.

"It's hard sometimes to even capture these dogs especially when they are with school-aged kids," she said. "The dogs will follow them to the elementary schools and when the students are in class, the dogs will run free. But I never try to catch them when the dogs return to the schools to greet their owners at recesses or after school."

However, when the dogs are running free, as they do in packs of five and six dogs, the law is after them. And they keep Linda busy.

THE PROCEDURE for getting a dog from the pound includes a request and payment of $8 to the city for collar tags, pound fee and rabies shot.

"If persons want a dog, they should contact me or leave a number at the police department," Ms. Hager said. Her schedule is from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Of course, at times she will be wandering about in her dog catcher's truck collecting strays.

So if you're a dog lover and have a dog keep it on a leash or inside. But if you're a dog lover and don't have one, then the pound certainly has a plentiful supply of playful pups from which to choose.

Shell people put 100 gallons of crude in their barrel of oil.

From that 100 gallons of crude, they pulled out of the barrel 46 white shirts (65 per cent polyester), 13 garbage cans, 46 sweaters, 365 items of ladies' lingerie, two tires, nearly eight tire tubes, and 23 pounds of filler equivalent to four and a half auto tires.

AND JUST for good measure, they also pulled out enough fuel gas to last an average household 30 days.

But half of any crude oil barrel refined in the U.S. goes for the production of gasoline. Five per cent goes for jet fuel and another 26 per cent becomes middle distillates—home heating, oil, diesel fuel and kerosene.

THE PETROCHEMICAL feedstocks only amount to three to five per cent of the barrel of crude.

Take away that small portion . . . and almost overnight, we'd all become a nation of streakers. . .

Rotarians To Serve Meal

Deaf Smith REC Plans Annual Barbecue

Barbecue dinners, a Walt Disney movie and a trip to Mexico City drawing are among the highlights of the annual meeting for the Deaf Smith Rural Electric Cooperative set for 5:30 p.m., Saturday, March 1 in the Bull Barn, according to James Hull, manager.

This event, sponsored by the REC is one of the biggest money raising projects for the Hereford Rotary International Club.

Members of the Rotary will prepare and serve the meal at the meeting for a guaranteed number of persons. About 1,000 persons are expected to attend the annual event. Rotarians are rewarded for their services with the money they earn going toward community projects.

During the meeting will be the drawing for a trip to Mexico City. Any member of Deaf Smith REC is eligible to win the all-expense paid trip.

The six days and five nights trip for two will be in store for some lucky winner. The winner must be present to win and the trip may be taken anytime during the year.

Hull has announced that Deaf Smith REC will refund a total of $152,000 in capital credits to its members during the annual meeting. Last year, capital credits had to be put back into the system operation. This was due to the rapid acceleration of material prices, plus the expansion of the system to handle the increasing need for dependable electric power.

Following a free barbecue dinner which will be served, a business meeting will be held. Two directors will be voted on.

Nominated from Castro County are Raymond Annen and Vincent Braddock and from Deaf Smith County are Eldred Brown and Danny Smith. Annen and Brown have served on the board for several years. Sloan H. Osborn, president, will conduct the meeting.

A Walt Disney movie will be shown for the children. Youth Tour winners will be recognized and drawings for several door prizes will be held.

Among those serving on the annual meeting planning committee are Pat Robbins, G.W. Duncan, Alfred Smith, Edward Allison, Jerry Roberts and C.F. Hamfeld.

ERA--

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. called ERA "the most destructive piece of legislation to ever pass Congress." The opposition ranks have been joined by groups such as Women Who Want to be Women (WWW), the Committee to Restore Women's Rights, and Women Activated to Rescind (WAR).

The crux of the opposition argument is ERA's effect on family home life. It is feared that the amendment, if passed, would cause drastic upheaval in today's society. The bill would make women eligible for the draft, threatens women's right not to work and could abolish privacy in public facilities.

Laws against sex crimes, such as rape and prostitution, could be revoked. ERA could force a wife to be equally or entirely responsible for family support. Also, a woman and her children would not be required to assume the husband's surname.

PROMISE OF better wages for women through the equal rights amendment has been attacked on several fronts. According to ERA opponents, equal pay for equal work is already guaranteed under (1) The Civil Rights Act of 1964, Subchapter VI; Equal Employment Opportunities (42 U.S. Code 2000e-2), and (2) The Equal Opportunities Act of 1972 (Public Law 92-261).

Another highly emotional argument stressed by those against ERA concerns forced placement of children in federal day care centers. Advocates of rescission claim that these type of centers are the goal of the National Organization of Women (NOW).

Divorced women could lose customary right of child custody, child support and/or alimony. Anti-ERA personnel state that a woman could be forced to pay child support and alimony, if her husband gains custody of the children.

FOR EVERY argument against ERA, there is an equally authoritative counter statement. Influential proponents of the proposed amendment include the First Lady, Betty Ford and Sen. Strom Thurmond.

ERA'S STRONGEST favorable point, according to those pushing for ratification, is salary improvement for women. Reportedly, women would need a 20 per cent wage increase to have equal salaries with men.

A constitution specialist stated that ERA's effect on the family structure would be minor and doubted a problem of separate public restrooms.

There is no clear constitutional protection for women under the law, ERA supporters say. One brochure stresses that the Supreme Court has never ruled whether the 14th Amendment prohibits discrimination based on sex.

Women's equality under the law would only "enhance the status of traditional women's occupations," said Florence P. Dwyer, former Republican representative for New Jersey.

ERA advocates claim that there "is absolutely nothing" in the amendment which could require parents to put children in federal day care centers. ERA affects only laws that apply differently to men and women, proponents state.

Eades Chosen As Director Recently

R.W. Eades, managing partner, Plains Insurance Agency, was one of 17 new directors elected Feb. 14 at the executive committee meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Abilene.

He was elected for a three-year term. Other local WTCC directors are: Clint Formy, Radio Station KPAN and Harlan

D. VanderZee, president, Hereford State Bank.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is the largest regional chamber of commerce in the United States. It serves a 132-county area of West Texas from El Paso to Fort Worth and Waco east and west, and from Dallhart to Del Rio north and south.

committee approved the policy, reported Brown. The ag policy statement states:

"This Chamber of Commerce urges the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to review its manner of determining its policy on agricultural matters and further urges that member organizations be consulted prior to formulation and adoption of such policy.

"The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce supports legislation which would maintain price levels which will permit the farmer and rancher an opportunity to operate at a profit. To accomplish this goal, a program establishing a cost of production index which would tell consumers and producers alike, what it takes to provide a given commodity, is strongly encouraged. Such an index would serve as a more accurate basis for establishing target prices.

"This Chamber strongly endorses and joins the efforts of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association in promoting exports of beef in a free market and advocates a vigorous program to use beef and beef products to enhance a more favorable balance of payments with emphasis on payment in beef and beef products to the OPEC Nations.

"This Chamber endorses an active and comprehensive program to educate the American people in the economic process of free and competitive enterprise, eliminating discriminatory restrictive federal regulation. In view of this policy the Chamber will monitor proposed legislation at both state and federal levels to insure the interests of the great agricultural area of the Texas Panhandle are not ignored or overlooked."

Blood Bank Here Wednesday

The Coffee Memorial Blood Bank mobile unit will be in Hereford Wednesday, Feb. 26, to gather blood donations.

The mobile unit will be working inside the Community Center from 2 to 6 p.m. After a record-breaking number of donations last month, Coffee will bring extra help to avoid long lines, according to Barbara McCrary, blood drive chairman.

Among persons in the record donations last month were: Barbara Fry, Perry Ray, Jim Shaw, Elaine Taylor, Rosie Griffin, J.W. Robinson, Mary K. Hagar, Irene Reinart, Elmer Reinart, Charlie Duvall, Ed Reinauer Jr., Bill McCarley, Charles K. Skinner, Mrs. Bobby Owen, Danny Morrison, Rodney O'Rand, Jerry Collier, Manuel P. Garcia, Nancy Priest and Janie Meldonedo.

Also Carol Orthman, David Ruland, Mrs. Neil Cooper, Stanley Slagle, Mrs. Bert C. Brown, O.G. Nieman, Ray Barber, June Owens, Claudia Smite, Margaret London, Bobby Byers, W.E. Seminar Set

For Monday

Commodity futures — both for speculation and hedging — will be the topic of a seminar at Dickie's Restaurant, West Highway 60 in Hereford Feb. 24 at 8 p.m.

The seminar, sponsored by Peavey Company, is open to all to attend at no cost. Eugene Hartnagle of Peavey Commodity Services in Denver will lead the commodity seminar and answer audience questions.

Peavey Company is a diversified food/agribusiness and specialty retailing company headquartered in Minneapolis whose business serves the full range of crop and livestock production and marketing.

Police Beat

Dangerous Driving Plagues Police

Hazardous driving conditions and loose, cattle occupied Hereford Police Department yesterday as blizzard conditions prevailed.

An empty cattle truck jack-knifed about five miles west of Hereford during the storm. The unidentified vehicle found by police Saturday morning.

FENCES DOWNED by heavy snow allowed stray cattle to drift into the city. Law enforcement officials, aided by cowboys, collected the animals after weather conditions improved.

Damage to a local clinic, theft exceeding $200 and a shooting incident which resulted in the death of a 22-year-old man rounded out the slate of cases handled by local law enforce.

A 1974 Oldsmobile Cutlass Supreme driven by Mrs. Myrl Raines Robinson of Summerfield crashed into the front door of Family Medical Clinic, 807 W. Park, Thursday just before noon. Mrs. Robinson was reportedly under medication prior to the mishap and lost consciousness as she was driving from Thames Pharmacy.

The vehicle went into reverse gear and slammed into the east side of the building. Mrs. Robinson was taken by ambulance to Deaf Smith General Hospital for emergency care and observation. Damage to the automobile and the building was estimated at $1,500. The driver is employed as a teacher's aide.

THEFT OF $200 in cash and four knit shirts valued at $12 was reported Thursday at 10:15 p.m. by Albert Perez of 303 Knight. Perez noted these articles, plus alcoholic beverages, were missing from his home. The case is under investigation.

Clifford L. Walton, crippled farm laborer, died Friday from bullet wounds he sustained at his home, six miles southeast of Hereford. His father, Clifford M. Walton, has been arraigned on murder charges.

For further information of the Walton killing, see the Page 1 story in today's issue of the Brand.

A Quick Reverse

Family Medical Clinic, 807 W. Park, sustained damage Wednesday morning when a car driven by Mrs. Myrl Raines Robinson of Summerfield crashed into the east side of the building. Mrs. Robinson reportedly lost consciousness while maneuvering the automobile on the clinic's parking lot. She was taken to Deaf Smith County General Hospital for emergency treatment and observation.

To Tour Capital City

"In the modern world, only kings, queens, maharajahs and U.S. federal judges have lifetime tenure."

Winners of Washington Trip Were Announced

Winners of an expense-paid 12-day tour to Washington, D.C. were named Thursday night in the Medallion Room of Deaf Smith Rural Electric Cooperation. They are Pam Veazy of Friona and Timmy Wilhelm of Nazareth. Alternates are Angie Wilhelm of Nazareth and Noel White of Friona.

They were selected from a group of 13 youths competing in an oratorical contest. Subject for their speeches was "Energy vs. Conservation and You". This is the 12th year Deaf Smith REC has sponsored the contest and Government-In-Action Tour.

Representing their schools after competing on the local level were Dirk VanderZee and Deborah Smith of Hereford, Louis Glen Brown and Judy Conn of Vega, Dean Cooper and Gaye Coffman of Farwell, Steve Guest of Bovina, and Kyle Touchstone and Greg Barringer of Dimmitt.

David Pruitt, area development manager for Deaf Smith REC, was director for the contest and introduced the judges. Judging the contest were Buddy Peeler of KPAN Radio, Hereford; Jerry Marvin of Radion Station KDHN, of Dimmitt; and Gill Batschke of Radio Station KZOL, Farwell. The judges asked each contestant questions concerning rural electrification.

Pam Veazy, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.H. Veazy, 1201 5th St., Friona. After winning she said, "I am happy to represent Deaf Smith REC on the tour to Washington, D.C. I feel very strong about the topic we spoke on because it effects each of us and our country as a whole."

She is a junior student at Friona High School and gave credit to her speech and drama teacher, Joy Morton, for assisting her with her speech. She is serving as president of Forensics, vice president of Future Teachers of America, secretary of Thespians and president of a youth group at Calvary Baptist Church where she attends church. She enjoys sewing, working with children, activities at church, debate, and camping in the mountains.

A sophomore at Nazareth High School, Timmy Wilhelm is 16 years old. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilhelm of Rt. 2, Happy. He is a member of the Catholic Youth Organization at Holly Family Catholic Church where he is a member, secretary of Boy Scout Troop 285, plays in the high school band and is on the track team. He enjoys riding motorcycles and camping.

He said he feels very strong about the subject he spoke on because the youth will be the generation of the future and we must work now if we are going to keep this country free. He continued, "I always wanted to go to Washington, D.C. and I want to thank Deaf Smith REC for giving me the opportunity."

Pam and Timmy will join approximately 100 other young people from across Texas on the Government-In-Action youth tour to our nation's capital city. While in Washington, the group will visit many places of interest. Highlights will be a Congressional session with elected Texas officials in Washington and a touring of the Smithsonian Institution.

A power above all human responsibility ought to be above all human attainment.

The imbecility of men is always inviting the impudence of power.

Power is not revealed by striking hard or often, but by striking true.

Coronado Rolls Over Herd

The Hereford Whitefaces took another frustrating loss here Friday night as the Coronado Mustangs of Lubbock sprung back from a slow first half to overpower the home team 58-34 in a District 4-AAAA contest.

The Whitefaces were building their own in the first half but as time elapsed, the opponents pulled away and sustained a healthy lead most of the night.

The breakaway came in the third quarter when the Mustangs outscored the Hereford 19-8 with a successfully executed press.

The first quarter wasn't so bright for the home town players as only four points were scored as compared with Mustang's 11 points. However, the second quarter perked up a bit as best quarter for Hereford when 12 points were tallied. Coronado scored 12 points in the second quarter to bring the halftime total to 21-16 in favor of the visitors.

From that point on, it was all downhill as the Whitefaces were outscored as mentioned in the third quarter and in the fourth quarter by 18-10. The aggressiveness of the Mustangs forced a number of turnovers by HHS handing the ball away at the most inopportune times.

The loss put Hereford at 8-22 (6-3) for a record and it upped Coronado's record to 16-12 (2-10).

The main contributor for the Whitefaces was Craig Nicman with a 12-point tally. Other point getters were Mike Crim with six and James Arney with five.

The high point man for Coronado was Chris Fairley with a 17-point total. He also managed eight rebounds and was the only man on the team in the double figures.

The Herd was outshot from the field by the opponents with a 41 per cent mark for Coronado while the hosts only made 31 per cent of their tries. Coronado also outscored Hereford 40-35.

On the free throw score, Hereford also had hard luck as they didn't get their first free throw until two minutes were left showing. They made six of nine while Coronado made 14 of 17.

In other basketball action, Coronado made it a clean sweep as the Hereford JV team lost 61-43 and the Hereford soph lost 62-44.

For the JV's, Steve Cornelius led the scoring with 12 points followed by Mike Artho and Davis Ford with eight points each. The team came closest to a lead when at the half the score was 28-27, still in favor of Coronado. The score in the first quarter was 15-12 and 43-35 in the third quarter.

The leading scorer for the sophomore team was Mike O'Rand with a dazzling 21 points. The game was pretty much out of hand all night as even at the half the visitors lead 31-17.

The Hereford Whitefaces will close out their season with a faceoff against Lubbock High School here Tuesday.

A ding-a-ling orders Gas air conditioning now.

A telephone call to Pioneer Natural Gas brings an air conditioning specialist to your home for a free survey and cost estimate at no obligation to you. He'll answer all your questions, and tell you what it will take to install GAS air conditioning in your home. It's the first easy step toward having your dependable GAS air conditioning installed before the first hot, windy days are here.

A GAS air conditioning system is ruggedly built to cool quietly and efficiently. There are fewer moving parts, and no compressor to break down or wear out. Heat from the steady blue flame circulates a refrigerant through the system to cool the air. It's this simple principle that gives GAS air conditioning its long life with no loss of cooling capacity and easy maintenance.

Install GAS air conditioning now. You'll avoid the rush, and be enjoying the quiet, cooling comfort of GAS air conditioning while everyone else is waiting. Give us a ring... a-ling.

The Lonely Heart

View From The Plains

BY J.D. PEER

TEXAS PARKS AND WILDLIFE DEPT.

It is that time of the year when the hunting seasons are winding down and a fishing twitch has developed in some casting arms.

It is also the best time to clean, lubricate and replace parts on fishing reels, rods and boats.

Most sporting goods dealers are well stocked in late winter with new merchandise and to save time when the water warms up, make a check list of gear for your boat that needs to be replaced. This might include life vests (PFD's), motor spark plugs and prop, or a new gas tank or a new trolling motor for the bass boat.

Fishing reels have a way of not working right in the middle of a fight with a big bass and the fishing line should be checked annually. Exposure to sun and water causes the monofilament fishing lines to harden and crack and replacement is recommended.

Make sure you check all of the treble hooks on your fish lures.

Rust spots indicate a weak point and your fishing partner would never let you live down losing that lunker fish because of a broken hook.

Check the ferrules and line guide bindings for loose ends. A clear finger nail polish applied to the thread will put it back into good shape.

Make sure that all boat motors are lubricated before putting them into the water. Also check the gas lines for cracks or breaks and replace if any sign of leakage occurs.

Now is a good time to check the battery and lights on both boat and trailer. Replace all burnt bulbs and inspect the wiring for bare wires and loose connections.

If your motorboat has not been registered and you are planning to fish or ski on public waters, the motorboat must be registered with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department first. For boats under 16 foot in length, the license fee is $6.00 and boats over 16 foot, the cost is $9.00.

More copies of the Texas Skippers course are available for those interested in safe boating and this should include everyone.

A free copy can be obtained by stopping by the Lubbock office of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department at 4821 Ave. Q, in Lubbock or writing the department, "Skippers Course," John H. Reagan Bldg., Austin, TX 78701.

Q: What are some of the characteristics of a good breeding bull not necessarily required for good beef cattle?

A: Most notable characteristics for breeding bulls not necessary in beef cattle include; a masculine appearance, breed markings, constitution and a good weight-to-age ratio.

CONSTITUTION — Usually described as the positive tendency of an animal to perform well and survive during advanced age. Physical characteristics indicative of a good constitution are full development of the forequarters, wide-open and broad nostrils, a strong straight back and good body width and depth.

MASCULINITY — Evidenced by the appearance of the bull. General features to look for are a full neck, strong horns (when this is a breed characteristic), full forehead with good development of chest and shoulders.

HAROLD WHEELER, coach and sponsor of the Hereford Boxing Club, was presented a sports achievement award by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce sports committee when they met Tuesday this week.

Wheeler's team received the outstanding team award at the recent regional Golden Gloves Tournament.

GENE COMBS, vice president of the Bronco League, called to remind us of a meeting that will be held Tuesday, Feb. 25. The 7:30 p.m. meeting will be held in the Pioneer Natural Gas Warehouse out near Big Daddy's. Coaches, managers, and just anyone interested in the boy's baseball program are invited to attend.

WE KNOW OF at least one skiing casualty from last weekend, and heard rumors of another. Eight-year-old Marta Carlisle broke her leg while skiing at Sipapu with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Carlisle, the Rudy Metz and the Homer Brewers, formerly of Hereford. Marta had to be shipped to the hospital in Taos, but the break was not too bad. Says she'll hit the slopes again as soon as she can. Seems it was her first trip and she'd just got to skiing good when she fell and busted her leg.

Several other people in the mountains this week that we know of. Dr. and Mrs. John McCrary spent Tuesday through Saturday at Angel Fire.

The ski-trip of the season has got to be the group a certain father-in-law is with at Vail. It's a yearly thing with them. They stay in a condominium at the base of the lift for Lionshead, which is probably the prettiest part of Vail.

Ray Frye, Neil McNutt, Larry McNutt, Wallace Hill and Bill Reinauer left early last Sunday for beautiful Colorado. You're liable to hear some tall stories from this bunch when they get back.

Also, a group of 26 high school kids and sponsors left Thursday afternoon for Santa Fe from the First Baptist Church. With any luck, we were on that bus when it headed west.

The snow in the mountains seems to be good everywhere with more expected through the next two or three months. With snow that good, the skiing may last until June this year!

GOLF, says our sports calendar, dates from the 15th Century, when it was played in Scotland with enthusiasm as an alternate game to the compulsory national sport of archery. In 1491, Parliament prohibited golf, admonishing its subjects that fine and imprisonment would befall anyone continuing to indulge in golfing contests. But King James IV became infected with the game himself, and shortly thereafter golf was played rather openly in Scotland.

THERE'S ONE THING about the Southwest Conference. It has some talented schools and it has some poor schools. There is no mediocrity. When they're good, they're good. When they're bad, they stink.

Now take the SWC basketball race. Up there at the top are the Aggies with an 8-1 record. Texas Tech and Arkansas are next at 7-2. The rest of the field is so far back, you can't even see them.

Tech could come out the winner of the whole shooting match if they play well the next few days. The Red Raiders had a game against Arkansas last night and travel to College Station Tuesday.

A CORRECTION IS in order. In the calendar of events that appeared Thursday, the Lubbock High game for Tuesday night was scheduled there. But it will be in the La Plata gymnasium here.

Also listed a Booster Club meeting that night and there will not be one then. Tom Simons assures us there will be one coming up shortly to introduce the spring sports.

Comment On Sports

Whether or not baseball is still the National Pastime, it has one great nostalgic thing still going for it—spring training in Florida and in Arizona and California!

One sees pictures of players throwing on green lawns, under sunny, blue skies. Suddenly spring again; baseball has made it so. The Major League Clubs remain in the South until April 6th, then open the season at home parks farther north, where spring will then be catching up. But right now one can find it only down south.

A Long Stretch

Number 23, Graig Nieman, lets a shot fly against a Coronado Mustang defense that seemed to be all hands. Nieman was the Herd's high point man in the game totaling 12 points.

Baseball, Track, Tennis Plans Set

Plans for sponsorship of spring and summer athletic events, as well as approval of a basketball tournament next season, were okayed by the sports committee of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce during a monthly meeting Friday at the Caison Steak House.

Three of the events are scheduled next month—a school boy baseball tourney March 13-15, a girls' invitational track meet March 15, and a boys' track meet March 22. A city tennis tournament has been scheduled for June 18-21.

Jerry Payne, committee chairman, also noted the group would be supporting other events. The 4-AAAA girls' track meet is scheduled for Hereford April 11, and the boys' district track meet is set April 19. A junior high zone track meet for boys and girls is slated here

April 12, and a Junior Olympic track meet will be held either June 28 or July 5.

RHS basketball coach Barry Arnwine talked to the group on the possibility of sponsoring a basketball tourney here, noting that he had contacted several schools who would be interested in participating. Several Class AAA schools would probably be invited to the tournament, set for Dec. 4-6 next season.

The committee agreed to undertake sponsorship of the event, giving Arnwine the go-ahead on making plans for the event. It will be an 8-team tourney with each team playing three games.

Payne made assignments for officials in the boys' and girls' track meets to be held next month. Members of the committee will assist as judges, timers and recording clerks in the meets.

"DOC" COWAN

A TRADITION OF RINGS
Rings remain a fashion item. The craze of wearing three or four rings on one hand at a time has passed, but they are still important fashion accessories for both men and women.

Over the years, in the United States, several styles and modes of wearing finger rings have come and gone. The most popular engagement ring during Colonial times was composed of small, rose-cut diamonds set around a larger center stone, very much like the present-day cluster ring. If it had an scalloped border, which was frequently the case, it was called a "cookie" ring. The marquise cluster was another variation. It had tiny diamonds arranged in a long, boat-shaped setting, a pointed oval.

Also popular as engagement rings with the Colonials were hoop rings which looked like the wedding rings of today. They had small diamonds all around the finger. They were meant to keep the wedding band in place.

The Victorian era found rings becoming fancier. They were often made of yellow gold elaborately decorated with enamel. It was during this period that the snake ring became popular in the United States. It, along with the princess ring, was imported from England. The princess ring had three to five good-sized diamonds in a straight row across the top. After that, the solitaire: a single diamond set in prongs of yellow gold.

Platinum became the fashion for setting the diamond solitaire engagement ring around the turn of the century. For a while, so much filigree and basket-work went into the settings that the diamond was practically lost.

Simplicity returned and remains with us to this day. The stone, the gem, is the thing of the ring now. We at Cowan Jewelers have all manner of rings to show you. Plus loose stones and modern and traditional settings.

BIBLE CONFESSION

Jesus declares in Matt. 10:32-33, "Whoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven. But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven." And in Romans 10:10 we read, "For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation." Thus we see the absolute need for the sake of our souls of confessing Christ with the mouth.

What is the confession to which reference is here made? So-called confessions are virtually as numerous as are creeds of men. But, dear reader, when we find the Bible confession that will eliminate all others; for faith comes by hearing the Word of God; Romans 10:17; and whatsoever is not of faith is sin, Romans 14:23. Hence, if it isn't in the Bible, it's sinful to use, and must, therefore, be eliminated. Furthermore, the apostle Paul beseeches us to speak the same thing, 1 Cor. 1:10. The only way we can accomplish that is to speak where the Bible speaks and remain silent where the Bible is silent. With such thoughts before us, let us consult the Bible further in the matter. In Acts 8:36 the eunuch asks, "What doth hinder me to be baptized?" And that prompts this in verse 37, "And Philip said, if thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest. And he answered and said, I BELIEVE THAT JESUS CHRIST IS THE SON OF GOD." In Matt. 16:16 we find that Peter made the same confession. Whereupon Jesus said, "Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona." This, then is the Bible confession.

What is the significance of the confession that Jesus Christ is God's son? First of all, it acknowledges the divinity of Christ — His messiahship. In this we recognize the essence of all scripture, the central truth of the Bible. The Old Testament looks forward to it; the New Testament looks back to it. Secondly, it is the truth upon which the Lord's church is founded, Matt. 16:16-18 and Acts 4:11. And thirdly, it sets forth the only name in which there is salvation, Acts 4:12.

"God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name; that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father," Phil. 2:9-11. Yes, every tongue should make this confession — and will, sooner or later! If not before, it will be done when "we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ. For it is written, As I live, saith the Lord, every knee shall bow to me and every tongue shall confess to God," Romans 14:10-11. But too late, too late will be our cry when mercy's day has passed us by. If we wait till then, we will confess that our life has been lived inconsistent with the truth. We shall have lived a lie!

At Central Church of Christ we encourage all alien sinners to follow the Ethiopian eunuch's example, Acts 8:36-39, make the Bible confession, and be baptized into Christ.

Proper Lighting Can Prevent Crimes

One of the most effective ways to prevent commercial burglaries is proper lighting," commented Dean Butcher of the Deaf Smith Co. Sheriff Dept. crime prevention unit in one of a series of interviews designed to help reduce crimes against business.

"The cost of crime itself far outweighs the cost of illuminating all access areas," he explained. "Most burglaries occur under cover of darkness, since the burglar has less chance of being caught. Eliminate the dark and you've discouraged the burglar. This isn't wasting energy; it's using it wisely."

Butcher went on to say that crime-deterrent commercial lighting is essential for both interior business premises.

Exterior lighting must eliminate hiding places and illuminate all access areas. Doors, windows, skylights, and all other possible entrances should be clearly lighted to protect people on legitimate business and to make suspicious activity easily observable to passers-by and patrols.

Shrubs should be trimmed and piles of boxes and other debris removed. The sides and rear of the building should be free of dark corners. To be truly effective, all exterior lights should be protected by weather- and vandal-resistant globes. Inside a place of business, security lighting acts as a crime deterrent. The safe should be lighted and placed where it can be seen from the street to give passer-by and patrols easy visibility of anyone tampering with it.

Whenever possible, lights and light switches used for night protection should be out of reach, making them difficult to disconnect or turn off.

Light should be kept burning inside the building at all times. The interior is lighted from the rear so as to silhouette intruders.

"Business people who follow these guidelines greatly reduce their chances of being burglarized," Butcher commented, "because they increase the risk for the burglar. If all the businesses in a neighborhood are properly illuminated, the entire area will be avoided by criminals."

The commercial crime prevention program conducted by Deaf Smith Co. Sheriff Dept is part of the Panhandle Regional Crime Prevention Program partially funded by the criminal Justice Division of the Governor's Office.

Olivia Newton-John To Appear At WTSU

Award-winning singer Olivia Newton-John and singer Albert Hammond will appear at the West Texas State University Field House March 1 at 8 p.m.

The Welsh Miss Newton-John, though not born into show business, developed an interest in it at an early age. When she was five her family moved to Australia where, as her father served as Master of Ormond College, she whiled away the hours making up tunes on the family grand piano.

The determined singer won a contest which earned her a trip to London, where she again organized several acts which kept her in not only in night clubs but on British television.

Her climb to success began with the recording of her first hit single "If Not for You" in 1971, followed by "Banks of the Ohio" and finally "Let Me Be There." Each step earned her more notoriety and awards.

Also appearing with Miss

Newton-John will be Albert Hammond, known for 1973's first gold record "It Never Rains in Southern California." Hammond brings to Canyon a rather glamorous background of singing in strip joints in Casablanca, manufacturing Cherry Blossom shoe polish, leading his band "The Diamond Boys" to seven sweep wins of the Battle of the Bands contest and dancing in the ballet "Billy the Kid."

Tickets are $6 for general admission, and are on sale at the WTSU Activities Center office.

As late as the 18th century, some Spaniards supposed that copper grew in the ground and that if a mine was left alone, it would become productive again.

Receives $50 War Bond

Jean Barber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Barber of 512 Ave. G, was presented with a $50 war bond Thursday night at the American Legion Building. Ben Childers, District chairman of the American Legion Oratorical presented Miss Barber with the bond. She was among four other students that participated in the Oratorical Contest held at Caprock High School.

Queries Answered On VA Benefits

Q - I bought a house in 1964 with a maximum loan guaranty of $7,500 from the Veterans Administration. Since the Veterans Housing Act of 1974 increased the loan guaranty from $12,500 to $17,500, am I eligible for more entitlement?

A - Yes. You would be eligible for the $17,500 guaranty if you sold your home and paid the GI loan in full.

Q - I'm a veteran drawing compensation from the Veterans Administration for a 30 per cent service-connected disability. I'll be 65 and retired soon, and wonder if I can waive compensation and switch to pension? A - Yes, if you apply to VA and it is to your advantage. The agency will determine this based on information you provide, and pay you the higher benefit.

Q - My husband has just retired after 20 years in military service. Am I eligible for CHAMPVA, the Veterans Administration health care program?

A - No, but military retirees and their dependents are eligible for a similar program of health care, CHAMPVA. Suggest you have your husband check with military sources for details.

Texas Beef Meeting Set in April

The annual Texas Beef Conference will be held this year in the Amarillo Hilton Inn on Thursday, April 17. Speakers scheduled for the meeting include Gene Moos, past president of the National Association of Wheat Growers, Gill Helming of the Livestock Business Advisory Service, Bob Parrott of Central Soya, Dr. Frank Baker of the Oklahoma State University school of agriculture and other representatives of the cattle feeding industry. The conference is co-sponsored by eight agri-business and educational groups from across Texas. The meeting will be capped by a T-bone steak feed and a speech by a national news-maker. Plans for registration and credentials are being finalized by conference officials now.

A few short months ago the U.S. was joyfully anticipating a huge amount of trade with the Russians, selling them everything from eating utensils to steam shovels. Orders on the books were in billions of dollars and a U.S. trade fair was scheduled to open in Moscow this spring.

The Russians withdrew from the trade pact when it became apparent that the U.S. would not back down from the demand that the Russians agree to a quota system on Russian Jews who wanted to emigrate to Israel. The Russians felt that whether Russian Jews were permitted to immigrate to Israel, how often and in what numbers was strictly a Russian problem and not the concern of the U.S. Consequently, when U.S. politicians demanded a quota system be included in the trade agreement, the Russians pulled out.

Several major raw material ventures, such as Kaiser Aluminum's Siberian aluminum deal and El Paso Natural Gas's massive natural gas project seem doomed because financing has been withdrawn by the U.S. Export-Import Bank since the Russians cancelled the trade agreement. Also destined to fade away are the efforts to sell the Russians wide-bodied jets and all equipment sales of more than $50 million.

There is, of course, more than one way of doing business with the Russians using U.S. companies with large overseas operations can work deals with the Russians using foreign licensing agreements with Japanese or German companies and work major deals with the Russians that way. The Russians are going out of their way to suggest that they can always do business with European and Japanese companies.

European competition is also strong. France is extending the Russians a $3 billion line of credit to cover exports to the Soviets. The Germans are so highly competitive in pricing and are so close geographically, that they win huge orders without special financing deals.

Nevertheless, Moscow needs U.S. technology and capital to develop the vast Siberian resources in order to supply its growing domestic economy. They definitely want Americans now in Moscow to stay.

Local SWPSMen Attend Electric Training School

Savas Celaya and Carl Fry, Hereford employees of the Southwestern Public Service Company are attending a Fourth Year Lineman and Meterman Apprentices Training School at the electric company's Southwest Service Center in Amarillo.

The school started Feb. 17 and will last through March 7. Fifteen SPS employees from various towns in Southwestern's service area are attending and will receive a total of 96 hours of instruction from seventeen different courses.

Veteran SPS employees will teach the courses including safety, national electric code, advanced principles of electric utility systems, transmission hotsticking and working from aerial devices.

Retired Teachers To Receive Cost-Of-Living Increases

Emergency cost-of-living increases ranging from five to 18 per cent will be included in February retirement benefit checks received by nearly 40,000 retired members of the Teacher Retirement System. The increases, however, are temporary pending the passage of a Constitutional Amendment which will be submitted to the voters in a statewide election April 22.

Since the State is limited by the Constitution in the amount it may appropriate to the Teacher Retirement System, benefit increases contained in the legislation recently passed by the Texas Legislature will be financed on interim basis until the April 22 election.

Voter approval of the Constitutional Amendment will permit the Legislature to appropriate $90 million to pay the benefit increases for the remainder of the retired members' lives. Should the Amendment fail, the emergency benefits would end automatically May 1, 1975.

The new law provides percentage increases in TRS benefits now being paid; the percentage varying to provide greater increases for those members who have been retired longest and thus receiving a smaller benefit.

Increases would apply to retired teachers, auxiliary members, and most beneficiaries as follows: 18 per cent for members who retired before March 31, 1968; 12 per cent for members who retired on or after March 31, 1968 and before May 31, 1971; 5 per cent for members who retired on or after May 31, 1973.

No increase is provided when retirement of death in active service occurred on or after September 1, 1973, or if a member retired on disability with less than 10 years of service, or for beneficiaries receiving survivor benefits only.

An increase in the minimum service retirement benefit for auxiliary employees, active and retired, to $8 per month for each year of service, but no less than $60 per month, was also provided.

Travel Series Launched

The Kiwanis Whiteface Breakfast Club of Hereford will present its first program of its "Travel and Adventure Series" Thursday at 7:30 p.m., in the Hereford High School auditorium.

The photographer-lecturer will be Dr. Charles Forbes Taylor, who will present his travel film, "Bible Lands." There will be no admission fee.

Dr. Charles Forbes Taylor was born in England. His first public appearance was at the age of four, singing to a thousand men, addressed by his preacher father. He began traveling on his father's "Gospel Wagon" at the age of five.

His first public speech was made in the Platt Hall in Luton, England to 2,000 people at the age of nine. He emigrated with his father to the United States when he was 13 and has addressed an average of 500,000 people a year for 40 years.

"Who's Who in America"

says of him, in part, "Educated in public and private schools in England and America. Holds degrees of D.D. 1959 Hardin-Simmons University, LL.D. 1946 Baylor University. Naturalized citizen in 1926. Author of 10 books."

His interest in photography began at 16 when he photographed the burning steamship "Congress" on which he and his father were passengers, after climbing down rope ladders into lifeboats. His pictures were published by newspapers all over the world. He changed to 16 mm film making in 1935 and has photographed Europe, America, the South Pacific, the Near East, South America, Alaska and Hawaii.

"Bible Lands" is a unique presentation, representing a lifetime of work covering the interesting and important lands from Bethlehem to Armageddon. Many years of study and planning have gone into the filming and narration of this monumental film achievement.

The tour of the Bible lands begins in Damascus. There follow glimpses of the places of the Patriarchs, Judges, Kings and Prophets of Israel. Then begins the story of Moses, showing the East side of the River Jordan, traversing the desert of the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan through Petra, the Land of Moab, to the Land of Gilead. Then to the city of Bethlehem and its many sacred spots.

Also included are: the Shepherd's Cave, Herod's grave, and castle. Then through Nazareth to the River Jordan, Galilee, Cana, The Judean Wilderness, Samaria, Jacob's Well, Mount Zion, Capernaum.

Kiwanians Hear Cattle Industry Predictions

Dr. Richard McDonald of the Texas Cattle Feeders offered a few predictions on the cattle industry before the regular Thursday meeting of the Hereford Noon Kiwanis.

McDonald told the group that he felt that the cattle industry had just gone through one of its worst years and outlined some of the problems cattle feeders have had to contend with.

In 1974, Dr. McDonald said, the price of choice cattle was down, the price of feeder calves was down, and the price of feed went up. The fed cattle market decreased while non-fed slaughter increased and beef imports were up. However, all these things occurred in a year when the consumption of beef per capita rose to 117 pounds.

Certain facts in the past few months seem to point to a brighter future, though, McDonald said. The cattle feeder prices have come down and there is strength in the fed cattle markets. Texas feedyards are operating at 50 per cent of their level a year ago, there is less fed beef available to the consumer and a larger demand.

Iowa this month moved ahead of Texas in the number of cattle being fed, but McDonald felt that cattle feeding supremacy would not move from this region. He said that the feed supplies are here, the slaughter facilities are here, the region is arid and has better environmental control than the midwest area. Financing is available here and with more and more top management personnel being attracted to the area, they will find new and better means of financing.

McDonald warned that the industry will not be without problems in the future. Some of the new problems will probably include the environmental impact of the feedyards, the cholesterol scare, reports on antibiotic and DES residues, and the moral concern of feeding grain to cattle that might be used elsewhere.

McDonald urged the group to write to their legislative representatives on both the state and federal level. Of 800 bills introduced in the new session of the Texas Legislature, McDonald said that 270 would affect agriculture in one way or another.

By Bill Albright, Executive VP
Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce

Just a final comment from this corner on the Miss Hereford Pageant. The total community is indebted to the Women's Division of the Chamber for another superb production. The pageant is a complex operation with many details requiring some of the most careful planning and of course much work in organizing and putting it together. Actually from a vantage point like mine—it's unbelievable! But on the other hand it is typical of our gals to produce a show of this high caliber and with continuing success.

Congratulations to all the ladies for their sustained efforts throughout the year and of course, especially for the wonderful extravaganza, The Miss Hereford Pageant. And to Miss Hereford and Miss Teen Age Hereford 1975, our warmest wishes for a beautiful year, representing our community.

Monica was a lovely Miss Teen Age Hereford last year and is an even more charming Miss Hereford, wearing her crown with grace, beauty and a tremendous personality. Donna Kendall thrilled us all with her outstanding talent, her poise and beauty.

The girls will be extra busy for the next 12 months visiting various clubs and organizations and making appearances on behalf of Hereford and Deaf Smith County. But that's not the end of my story—there are eleven other young ladies who competed for the titles and each one has proven herself to be a worthy contender for the crown she sought.

No one really loses in a competition of this type. Every participant 'grows' a little in character and understanding—in tolerance and appreciation of others—and of course the experience of just being a part of the pageant is an unforgettable and priceless possession. So to each of you—contestant or chairman or worker or worrier—sincere congratulations on a job well done. We're proud of you!

The Ag committee of the Chamber under the leadership of Eldred Brown, is not satisfied with the way things are shaping up for the 1975 form and ranch year and they're going to tell the folks in the federal government what they feel ought to be done.

A delegation of six will travel to Washington, D.C. to visit with senators and congressmen on Capitol Hill and attend the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Reception and Dinner on Monday evening, March 3rd. This will be an opportunity to tell our legislators, in an informal setting, just what we think they need to be doing for agriculture in West Texas.

In addition to the Chamber Agriculture Policy statement drawn up by the Agriculture Committee and approved by the board, several specific actions designed to improve current conditions, will be presented orally and in writing. It is also planned to present orally and in writing. It is also planned to present these recommendations to the United States Chamber of Commerce:

1. Eliminate export limitations on farm commodities.
 2. In order to stabilize farm production, increase immediately grain loan levels and target prices.
 3. Extend and widen eligibility for the Emergency Livestock Loan Act and increase limits of lending.
 4. Increase governmental purchases of beef at all levels including foreign aid programs.
- Immediately embargo beef imports and analyze the long range influence of supports on the American Beef Industry.
- Accompanying Calvin Goddin, Charles Hoover, Gerald McCathern, Charles Schlabs, Raymond Schlabs and Bill Albright will be lots of Hustle Hustle!

Haile Enters Honor Society

West Texas State University psychology senior Jim Haile of Hereford has been initiated into Psi Chi, the National Honor Society in Psychology, with active membership in the WTSU chapter.

The 1969 graduate of Hereford High School is the son of Mrs. J.B. Haile. He resides with wife Carol at 1915 10th Avenue in Canyon.

Psi Chi was organized in 1928 under the sponsorship of the American Psychological Association, Washington, D.C., to recognize scholarship prowess in the field of psychology. Over 300 chapters have been established on campuses in all the states.

About 45 percent of the members are undergraduate students, with the remaining 55 percent pursuing graduate degrees.

The West Texas State University Chapter was established formally in October, 1971, at Canyon, Texas.

Comings And Goings At King's Manor

By FAY GAUGGEL

Mrs. Murrell Whitaker of Rosenberg was a guest of the Virgil Dodsons one day last week.

Game Night at The Manor took place at 7 p.m. on Valentine night in the Lamar Memorial Garden Room. There were groups of "Forty-two," "Eighty-four" and Canasta.

Refreshments were given by anyone who had left-over goodies from Valentine parties. Especially contributing were the Hudsons.

CONTRACTOR DIEL is finishing his paving job at the north of King's Manor. It is a curve joining Sunset to Cottage Drive on the west. This area has been either dusty or muddy and rough for many years.

ON FEBRUARY 14, several King's Manor folk visited the Hereford Museum in the afternoon. Highlights of the trip were memorabilia of the olden days such as an early pioneer bedroom, parlor and kitchen once belonging to the Dameron family, old farm implements, plows etc. A typical country store where merchandise was a jumbling together of everything from saddles to bananas, an interesting painting of Deaf Smith and many other paintings of the early west. There were many Indian artifacts. Due to a strong wind, we did not go outside the building.

The latest interesting area was the chapel furnished with old items such as windows and chandeliers from early local churches. Mrs. Frankie Ridgeway, in costume of a pioneer woman, played appropriate background music in the chapel as we made observations.

We all appreciate both individual and corporate labors to bring this fine museum into a reality.

BOOK REVIEW

Wednesday evening marked a real fun night at Kings Manor. Roberta Seago reviewed the intangible Sam Levenson's "In one Era and Out the other." (Clever caption, it is not?)

It was as witty and interesting as he himself used to be on the Panel programs. As Sammy implies, he carried us back to the good old Papa and Mama days when families were and delightfully individualistic and unsophisticated.

In knowing Roberta's sense of humor and those familiar twinkles in her eyes, we were not surprised that she captured the wit in this book and related it to use in good style. There was much chuckling and giggling in the audience.

The Levensons and their brood of eight lived in a Jewish Ghetto in Brooklyn. Papa told Sam that when he needed a helping hand he'd find one right at the end of his own arm. The Levensons disdained welfare. "You can't hold up your head while holding out your hand."

Sam took violin lessons (he still plays quite well) and his family saw him as a renowned concert violinist. They razed him a great deal. "He has a very wonderful memory, always makes the same mistakes in the same places," or "When that woman stays too long, we can call Sam to play the violin." The nearest Sam came to fame was once when he was in an acoustic at Christmas time. He was the last "S" in Christmas.

Sam's tales of shopping for Mama defy description. Mama had an egg man, a butter and milk man, and a fish man etc. They haggled loudly over prices. The poor merchant ramed his head into a candy counter for jelly beans for the kids.

"I want three pink ones; he wants six yellow ones, no not that; those over here! How much are the pinks?" Then ensued much wrangling over colors, prices and pennies in soiled hands.

According to Mama's reasoning, Papa was an enigma. "He eats herring on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, but then on Thursday, by some strange quirk, he doesn't like herring," Mama shrugs.

Papa considered the income taxman a nosy imposter. Sam has to interpret questions because the taxman can't speak Yiddish. Papa says of him "Let him learn to speak Yiddish." When Mama baked a cake she measured ingredients by her own formula which was, in general, "Use your head!" When baking was in session no one dared take a deep breath, walk heavily or slam a door. "Cake Killer!" Mama would snap.

Birth certificates for the eight children at school sent Mama into a rare tizzy. "Of course I remember the day you were born; it was the day after Papa etc. etc. and on through the entire eight kids.

Sam learned at his bar mitzvah that his rights were really responsibilities. Jewish marriages were high spots. Briny tears flowed freely from the entire family as each one was given part in the affair. Papa kissed Sam for the first time that Sam could recall, on his wedding night.

We love Book Reviews at the Manor. Mrs. Julia Welty has as guests last week from California her son and wife J.D. Welty and Margie Welty.

Henry Kissinger, Secretary of State, in Europe:

"The state of U.S.-Soviet relations is of the greatest importance to the peace of the world."

Coffee Blood Bank Unit Schedules Return Visit

Fay Gauggel, retired school teacher and a resident of King's Manor, presented a stirring book report on "The Man Without A Country" when she appeared as guest speaker for the weekly luncheon meeting of the Hereford Lions Club Wednesday at Civic Club Center.

Mrs. Gauggel received a standing ovation from the club for the patriotic presentation of the famed book by Edward Everett Hale. She was introduced by Dewitt Seago, program chairman for the month. Prior to the book review, she complimented the club for its many civic projects for the community.

Dave Ruland reminded Lions of the annual Pancake Supper which is scheduled Feb. 27. Club members are now selling tickets for the supper.

President Wayne Lady announced that candidates are being selected for the annual election party which will be held March 30. He also reminded Lions that the blood bank would return to Hereford Feb. 28, and urged Lions to donate blood if they missed last month.

Valery Kubasov, Russian cosmonaut, in U.S., on U.S.-Russian space mission.

"All the problems of Soyuz 11 have easily been taken care of—our spacecraft is ready to go."

Wilbur Cohen, former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare:

"We are here to say that on the basis of 40 years of experience, we see no reason for individuals to be concerned (about Social Security payments)."

BEWARE 'WORK-AT-HOME' SCHEMES

Today a lot of wives are seeking work to bolster their husbands' income. Retired people are looking for something to add to their Social Security payments. Invalids want to earn money at home. So enter the work-at-home gypsies who are reaping a bonanza with schemes to extract money from the unwary. You may have seen some of the come-ons they use, advertised in newspapers and magazines, in direct mailing pieces, even on the radio:

"Fantastic opportunity! Earn big money at home! No experience necessary. Send $1 for details."

"Address envelopes at home - make up to $100 a month!"

"Start a business of your own at home. Little equipment required. Complete instructions: $5." And so on. The rackets usually fall into certain categories. You're offered some kind of home employment, for a fee, of course, and the company apparently agrees to buy the items that you make. Or you're offered, for a fee, opportunities or ideas for a home business and the company will sell you the necessary equipment. Or a "famous composer" offers to set your poems to music - again for a fee.

Some of these schemes, says the Small Business Administration, may not actually be illegal, but the chances of making $50 a day for an hour's work is in the category of fantasy. It may not cost you much to find out you've been gypped - maybe only a dollar or so - but the firm that runs the ad does very nicely if it entices thousands like you to respond to its come-on.

The chances of any legitimate firm paying $250 per 1000 to stuff envelopes is highly unlikely, particularly since almost all addressing and stuffing is done by machine. Also unlikely is that you'll make "big profits" clipping items from your local newspaper. And a famous songwriter will have better ways to spend his time than setting your poem to music for $5. Even worse is the blind ad - "Make $100 daily at home. Little cash needed. Send $5 for instructions."

If you're interested in working at home, remember that reputable firms pay you for work done; you don't pay them. And work-at-home jobs or ideas can be found in booklets put out by the Small Business Administration, and books in your local library.

NTE Set April 15

The National Teacher Examinations (NTE) will be administered April 5 at West Texas State University. According to Dr. Kenneth Waugh, director of the WTSU Testing and Counseling Center.

These examinations are offered to college seniors preparing to teach, to teachers applying for certification or licensure, and to those seeking positions in school systems which encourage or require the NTE. Prospective teachers in this area will have an opportunity to compare their performance on the examinations with candidates throughout the country who take the tests.

Last year approximately 100,000 candidates registered to take the examinations, which are designed to assess cognitive knowledge and understanding in professional education, general education and 28 subject-field specializations.

The examinations, which are prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey, are designed to assess only those aspects of teacher education that are validly and reliably measured by well constructed paper-and-pencil tests.

 NEXT WEEK'S HOROSCOPE *****

By Clay R. Pollan
Note planetary ruler of your birth symbol
FOR WEEK BEGINNING MONDAY, FEB. 24, 1975

★ If your birthday occurs this week...
...you possess ability to communicate ideas. You would make a fine teacher, news reporter or photographer. You probably have great interest in exploring psychic occult matters. You like to work in seclusion at times. Soon there will be changes in personal environment. These will be favorable.

♈ Aries | Mar. 21 - Apr. 19 | Pluto ☿
You should watch your expenditures carefully. You may spend a lot on personal things you don't need. If you follow this indication, don't look back and be sorry later. Grasp an opportunity that relates to your work. Artistic interests are encouraged and get spirited backing. Relax but watch less TV.

♉ Taurus | Apr. 20 - May 20 | Venus ♀
You'll probably meet a starry-eyed person who wants to confide love secrets. People who surround you may be in a quarrelsome mood. There's danger you'll say the wrong thing at times. Your generous and loyal nature will be noticed and appreciated. Try to get along better with people. Be tolerant, helpful, selfless.

♊ Gemini | May 21 - June 20 | Mercury ☿
Delays and opposition may make the week difficult. Urgent duties will come up, which should be taken care of promptly. People respond to your hospitality in a happy way. Some hopes and wishes are subject to revision. Make no big decisions now and take no steps of importance. Don't indulge in gossip.

♋ Cancer | June 21 - July 22 | Moon ☾
Unexpected developments put you in touch with persons in high places. Don't display too much eagerness. Wait and see how things come out. Go shopping with a friend who has an eye for bargains. Buy things your taste has suggested for home improvement. A change of scenery would be good for you.

♌ Leo | July 23 - Aug. 22 | Sun ☼
Aspects indicate that money concerns will be paramount. Sudden events may impose restrictions on you, and cause you to be conservative in your decisions. If you act courageously, you'll win the admiration of your associates. Don't fuss and fume if things happen to go wrong. The future looks brighter.

♍ Virgo | Aug. 23 - Sept. 22 | Mercury ☿
This is no time to be high-handed with or critical of your associates. Let others go their own way and do their own thing. Be grateful for the friendship of an older person and heed his/her advice. In all transactions consider yourself number one, and don't take things for granted. Rely upon the advice of Taurus.

♎ Libra | Sept. 23 - Oct. 22 | Venus ♀
Many around you consider you as being something "special." Your charisma attracts loyal people who can make your life more interesting. Pay more attention to your personal grooming and wear stylish new togs. Treat a newcomer with much friendly generosity and esteem. Strive to keep a smile going.

♏ Scorpio | Oct. 23 - Nov. 21 | Mars ♂
Never give up or slow down. No doubt you'll get the proverbial second chance on the next go-around. You can correct any past errors and will be able to make proper revisions. If anyone tries to interest you in a novel scheme, don't go for it. Don't become disheartened by sharp rivalry or delays.

♐ Sagittarius | Nov. 22 - Dec. 21 | Jupiter ♃
A partnership arrangement doesn't seem exactly right; make a sincere effort to adjust it. If your personal affairs have been somewhat stormy, try to change situations to your way of thinking. Dress well, be perfectly groomed and show a friendly spirit at all times. Something ends on a good note.

♑ Capricorn | Dec. 22 - Jan. 19 | Saturn ♄
A chance comes to prove your ability to someone in authority. Charm, sincerity and hard work get results. It's a time of achievement in almost anything you attempt to do. Your sense of humor is in full bloom, which will help you to control situations. Make environmental changes that seem wise.

♒ Aquarius | Jan. 20 - Feb. 18 | Uranus ♁
Do not expect too much of others. Even one who you loves you can be preoccupied. Stress independence and go it alone as much as possible. An influential person watches you constantly; so do your best at all times. Some ill or convalescing person may need your kindness and attention. Be charitable and outgoing.

♓ Pisces | Feb. 19 - Mar. 20 | Neptune ♆
Companions may be too outspoken. Guilty or not, you'll be accused of extravagance. The truth is, you should check your spending, be just a bit more conservative. Some tough issues may develop. Proper action helps you resolve these problems. Promises made to you will be fulfilled in a delightful way.

The Southwestern Division of Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., and Pioneer dealers in Hereford, Vega and Canyon will sponsor a corn management seminar in Hereford Monday. The meeting, scheduled for 1:30 p.m. in the Hereford Community Center, is open to all area farmers, pioneer of-officials said. It had been mistakenly reported in the last issue of The Brand that the seminar was going to be on Friday, Feb. 21, due to inaccurate information furnished to the Brand. Jim Higdon, agronomy service director for the Southwestern Division, will be the featured speaker at the seminar. He will discuss water and fertilizer usage, planting techniques and corn plant analysis.

Pioneer dealers sponsoring the session include: Adrian Wheat Growers, Hereford Grain Corporation, Northwest Grain and Fertilizer, Pioneer Fertilizer, Virgil Walker, Westway Fertilizer, all fo Hereford; Ag Enterprises of Vega; Farmers Elevator of Dawn, Inc., of Canyon; and Summerfield Fertilizer of Hereford and Summerfield.

William E. Simon, Secretary of the Treasury: "There are reasons to question... whether the decline in interest rates will continue."

Mrs. Miller Attends Red Cross Meeting

Mrs. H.H. Miller, executive secretary for the Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross (ARC), attended a meeting of the Panhandle Chapter of the ARC held at the Greater Amarillo Chapter House in Amarillo Thursday. Represented at the meeting were the Hereford, Perryton, Spearman, Lubbock, Plainview and Floydada chapters.

Discussion centered on disaster preparedness and fund raising with additional reports on safety services and community service. The ARC emphasized the need for more volunteers to meet community needs. Nationally speaking, volunteer ratios have decreased from 66 volunteers to one paid staff member to 107 volunteers to one paid staff member. In Deaf Smith County, volunteers are also needed for instruction training in safety services. Representing the American National Red Cross at the meeting were Bill Lynch, West Texas Division from Fort Worth; Betty Moody, Childrens disaster casework supervisor; and Pete Upton, division manager from Fort Worth.

The next quarterly meeting for the American Red Cross will be here in May. The exact date is yet to be determined.

Jim Goheen is Leader of Tomorrow

Jim Goheen has been named Hereford High School's 1975 Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow. Goheen won the honor by scoring high in a written knowledge and attitude examination administered to high school seniors here and throughout the country Dec. 3.

He will receive a specially designed award from General Mills, sponsor of the annual Betty Crocker Search for Leadership in Family Living and becomes eligible for state and national honors.

From the ranks of all school winners in the state, a State Family Leader of Tomorrow is selected through judging centered on test performance and receives a $1,500 college scholarship. The second-ranking student in state will receive a $500 scholarship. Encyclopaedia Britannica Educational Corporation will present "The Annals of America," a 20-volume reference work, to the state winner's school.

Representing every state and the District of Columbia, the 51 Betty Crocker Family Leaders of Tomorrow, together with their faculty advisors, will gather in Washington, D.C., in April for an expense-paid educational tour of the capital city and Williamsburg, VA.

During the tour, personal observations and interviews are conducted to select the All-American Family Leader of Tomorrow, who receives a $5,000 college scholarship.

Second, third and fourth place national winners receive scholarships increased to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 respectively. The test, personal observations and interviews are all prepared and conducted by Science Research Associates of Chicago.

Scribbles and Scratches

THE INCHES of snow which fell last weekend were taken for granted by many residents, but guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Plummer were delighted to see the flakes.

The Plummers, who reside at 238 Ave. E, welcomed home their sons, Edwin of Phoenix Ariz. and Melvin of Dallas, as well as a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Francis of Clovis, N.M. The Plummer sons were accompanied by their families.

Purpose of the reunion to celebrate the 60th wedding anniversary of the local couple. Although Feb. 14 marked the actual date of marriage the clan observed the event Saturday and Sunday of last week.

Mrs. Plummer reported the snow was an unusual commodity for grandchildren and they thoroughly enjoyed a romp in the Panhandle winter wonderland.

LOCAL ARTIST, Mrs. Eunice Petersen of 409 Irving, visited her son, Richard, and his wife at their Amarillo residence last week. Petersen was a paperboy here for a number of years and graduated from Hereford High School. He currently manages Petersen Real Estate & Insurance.

"SIXTY MINUTES," the CBS documentary program which is broadcast locally on Sunday afternoons, presented a segment last week which tread on a lot of toes in the Tri-State region.

"Let 'Em Eat Grass" was the advice directed at U.S. cattlemen, in order to give the grains now consumed by steers to the overpopulated nations of the world. The CBS broadcasters, as is their habit, gave slanted version of an industry which has already suffered considerable loss during the past year.

The segment showed interviews with various consumers and grocery officials, interspersed with heart-rending pictures of starving children. There is no denying that starvation in over-populated nations is tragedy which must be solved, but CBS does not have the answer. Destroying the grain-fed beef industry would catapult the economy into even worse straits. Abolishing feedlots and putting cattle out on the grass ranges would be impractical and certainly not an overnight project.

CBS is certainly entitled to an opinion, but that opinion should be labeled as an editorial. Yellow journalism is unbecoming to a program which has had striking success for the network.

U.S. grains as nourishment for beebes make meat more tender and this is granted as an American luxury. However, the ocean of liquor beverages (a grain commodity) which are consumed by millions of Americans is also a luxury. It would be equally illogical for CBS to intimate that the alcoholic beverage industry should dismantle and give all the necessary saw grain to Bangladesh.

The ignorance and poverty which has deteriorated the cultures of starving countries is the crux of the issue. Giving mountains of grain to India would eventually bleed the United States. Foreign aid is essential, but the assistance needed most from American is knowledge—so that these countries can become self-dependent.

Luncheon To Cite Officials

Recognition of outstanding Home Demonstration members, including the HD Woman of the Year, will highlight the annual appreciation luncheon at noon Monday in Hereford Bull Barn. Six women have been nominated by their respective

HD Clubs for 1975 Woman of the Year. An engraved tray will be presented on behalf of The Hereford Brand by publisher O.G. Nieman to the winning individual. Candidates for the honor are Mrs. Grady Parsons of Cultural Club, Mrs. State Norvell of Palo Duro Club, Mrs. Dean Watson of Messenger Club, Mrs. Bobby Kendrick of Ford Club, Mrs. Huey Lowie of Young Home-maker Club and Mrs. Arnold Fangman of Westway Club.

Each nominee has a record of active club participation and community service which is considered by extension agents outside of this county. Last year's recipient was Mrs. Marvina Welty of Young Homemakers Club.

Honored guests will include county judge Sam Morgan and county commissioners Earl Holt, Austin Rose Jr., Bruce Coleman and James Voyles. These men will be recommended for cooperative work with the HD program.

Mrs. H.L. Hershey, chairman of the HD Council, will introduce past and current HD officials to the expected crowd of 100. Mrs. A.E. Hodges of Hereford and Mrs. R.L. Campbell of Amarillo will be recognized as past presidents of Texas Home Demonstration Association. Others planning to attend are Sue Farris of Amarillo, district extension agent, and Mrs. Ennis Clayton of Dalhart, district director.

Roy Faubion of KPAN Radio will appear as guest speaker.

Deaf Smith County HD Council will convene for a business session at 2:30 that afternoon at the courthouse. Stated on the agenda is selection of three delegates for the district HD meeting April 10 at Dumas.

Schmidt, Embry Marriage Vows Exchanged Saturday

Miss Sheryl Lynn Schmidt and William Claude Embry III were married Saturday evening in First Baptist Church at Vega with the Rev. Genoa Good, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Schmidt of Vega, former Hereford residents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Embry Jr. of Marietta, Okla.

Two bouquets of white gladiolus and green carnations set on columns were placed on either side of the main altar.

Maid of honor was Miss Sheryl Wright of Midland and Pat Hill of Vega was best man.

Miss Judy Conn of Vega was bridesmaid and the bride's brother, Brent Schmidt of Vega, served as groomsman. Escorting guests to their seats were the bride's brother and cousin, David Schmidt and J.D. Harder, respectively.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brock, Karla and Kelly, were flower girl and ring bearer.

Wedding selections, A Time For Us and A Melody of Love were presented by vocalist Miss Ann Zetsche, and pianist Mrs. George Zetsche.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length dress of white eyelet. It was designed with a V-neckline, natural waistline, full sleeves and skirt.

White eyelet lace trimmed the neckline and deep cuffs with bands of matching lace decorating the skirt and the fitted bodice.

Wearing a headpiece of flowers and ribbon streamers, she carried a bouquet of white daisies and carnations. As a good luck piece, she wore white pearl earrings.

Honor attendants wore delicate print dresses with a semi-sheer overlay. Each wore spring flowers in their hair and green ribbon streamers. They carried white daisy nosegays.

Miss Tammy Gossett of Vega invited guests to sign the registry book at the reception held in the church fellowship hall. She also served the three-tier cake decorated with white bells, flowers and green leaves.

Miss Janice Groneman of Vega served punch from the refreshment table covered with a green cloth and white lace overlay.

As her traveling costume, the bride wore a double-knit dress of green print designed with a matching wrap-around skirt.

The couple will be at home after Feb. 25 in Vega.

The bride is a student at Vega High School and previously attended Hereford High School.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Cooke County Junior College and attended Oklahoma State University at Stillwater, Okla.

Other members present besides those mentioned were Brenda Brown, Becca Gibson, Lealey Metz, Jennifer Griffin, Lynn Garrett, Karla Driskell, Tonia Wilson and Karen Drake.

A field trip to Park Ave. Florist Shop was taken by members of Na-Nu-Ka-Kani Campfire group Wednesday. They were shown how to make a bouquet and cultivate potted plants.

The girls viewed a demonstration of methods for making a corsage which was then presented to Leticia Aguirre.

Following the excursion, refreshments were served at the Dairy Queen.

Recognized as guests were Karen Jones, John Dawson and Mitch Merritt.

Members present were Annette Dawson, Wendy Reid, Jennifer Eggen, Angela Brown, Kristy Simmons, Missy Merritt, Holly Veigel, D'Nan Brannon, Joe Ann Brown, Bethany Boyd.

Also Nancy Pacheco, Rosemary Gamez, Pam Nichols and Brenda Lindsey, and group leaders, Mrs. Jimmy Dawson and Mrs. G.C. Merritt.

Ki-Ua-Ta-Moki Campfire group elected officers Tuesday afternoon in Campfire Lodge.

Sylvia Gomez was elected as president; Belen Mendez, vice-president; Patti Marquez, secretary; Barbara Brunley, treasurer; Mary Jo Griego, Sergeant of arms; Carmen Aguirre, reporter. Committee chairmen are: thoughts for the day, Sarah Suarez; refreshments, Joyce McCullar; calling, Silvana Gomez; song leader, Leticia Leal.

Before the close of the business meeting, members planned a farewell party for a group member.

Other members present were Martha Hinojosa, Virginia Martinez, Diana Mcaney and Ellen Shields.

The eighth grade Campfire Girls elected officers at their regularly scheduled meeting Monday afternoon in Campfire Lodge.

Jean Ann Bartels, will serve as president; Lee Ann Hughes, vice-president; Laura Leal, secretary; Becky Aguirre, reporter.

Present at the meeting were LeAnne Hughes, Jean Ann Bartels, Becky Aguirre, Cindy Clark, Denise Evans, Laura Leal, Joyce Walterscheid, Cynthia Easterwood, Cara Loyd, June Stewart, Jennette Lee and Yvonne Vera.

AARP Considers Social Security

The Hereford chapter of American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) concentrated on Social Security matters Tuesday when members met in Community Center.

Gerald Miller, SS representative from the Amarillo office, led the discussion.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jameson, assistant state AARP directors, were welcomed as guests.

Following the business meeting, the senior citizens formed five tables of "42."

Country Singer To Give Concert

Tickets have been reduced to $5 per person for the muscular dystrophy benefit concert featuring Susan Raye Tuesday at Ramada Inn Camelot, Amarillo.

The country western star will perform at 7 p.m. and 10 p.m. Advance tickets can be bought at Hereford State Bank and tickets will also be available at the door the night of the performance.

Pat Roberts, dubbed the "rising star" of country music, will also be featured. His style is known as "country today."

Miss Raye has been listed on the music charts with several selections, such as L.A. International Airport and Put A Little Love In Your Heart. She is a member of the Buck Owens All American Show and has appeared regularly on Hee Haw and the Buck Owens Ranch Show. All proceeds will be forwarded to the Panhandle Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Luncheon Plans Are Completed

Final plans for the Appreciation Luncheon scheduled at noon Monday in Deaf Smith County Bull Barn were discussed by members of Wyche Extension Club Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Bob Thuet.

Also during the business meeting with Mrs. W.P. Aze presiding, a card of thanks was read from Lola Curtsinger, director of Meals on Wheels program for the club's contribution.

Mrs. E.C. Hewitt Jr. presented a program on the Texas Home Demonstration Association material sent to all extension clubs. She also discussed food cooked in different pans which give off flourides.

Members present included Mmes. Ira Ott, Wayne Trask, Robert Trowbridge, Harley Ward, Leo Hellman and Frank Duncan.

Marriage Planned

Miss Beverly Mary Betzen and Daniel Joseph Wegman, both of Dallas, plan to marry April 26 in St. Anthony's Catholic Church here. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Betzen of Route 1 and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Philip S. Wegman of Wichita Falls and the late Mr. Wegman. Miss Betzen is employed by The Wyatt Company at Dallas as an actuarial assistant. She holds a bachelors degree in economics from the University of Dallas. Wegman is an accountant for Texas Oil and Gas Corporation. He graduated from St. Benedicts College at Atchison, Kan. with a bachelor of science degree in business administration.

Committee Schedules Bicentennial Programs

Bright, spring fashions will be premiered by local merchants at a "Spring of '76" style show planned March 12 to raise funds for Bicentennial activities here.

This project was one on several programs scheduled by Deaf Smith County Bicentennial executive committee when they met Wednesday morning. Mrs. Joe Reinauer Sr., committee cochairman, presided at the gathering.

It was decided that the style parade will be held at Hereford Country Club with a limited number of tickets to be sold for $5 each. All proceeds will be used by the Bicentennial Association in local celebration ceremonies of the nation's 200th birthday.

Bicentennial funds will also be earned March 18 during a jointmenting of civic clubs. County commemorative coins will be auctioned to those present.

Prompted by the approaching Arbor Day on April 23, the executive committee voted to promote the planting of trees by individual families. The group approved the goal of a new tree planted for each home in Hereford during 1975-76.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. Clint Formby, co-chairman, Mrs. Reinauer, Jeff Carlile, Mrs. Claude McDougal, Mrs. Ruby Kendrick Sears, Bill Albright, John Aikin and Sue James.

HD Luncheon Is Monday

by Joyce Shipp

Cooking metrically will not bother most of us. A lot of people don't even measure at all. A "dash" of this and a "pinch" of that will still mean the same—no matter what system we use.

And a lot of recipes call for foods in the market unit in which we buy them. For example, a can of tuna fish, a package of noodles, and a can of soup may be the measure used in preparing a casserole.

WEIGHT MEASURES: A lot of the boxed and packaged goods we buy at the supermarket are sold by weight and are marked in pounds and ounces. In the metric system, the unit of measure for weight is the gram. You can already find grams marked on some packages along with pounds and ounces. One gram weighs very little. It's about the weight of a paper clip. It takes about 450 grams to equal the weight of a pound.

Heavier objects will be marked in kilograms. A kilogram is 1000 grams, and is little more than 2 pounds (2.2 lbs.). You will buy meat, vegetables, and large-sized boxes, such as detergent or dry milk by the kilogram. Liter weight boxes and canned goods will usually be marked in grams.

The other base unit, degree Celsius ("Celsius"), once called "Centigrade," is the correct term) is used to measure temperature and takes the place of Fahrenheit.

Prefixes are not commonly used with Celsius as they are with gram, meter and liter. The symbol for degree Celsius is °C. Temperatures in degrees Celsius, in the familiar Fahrenheit system, can only be learned through experience.

Compare these temperatures:

Freezing point of water—0 degrees C (Celsius) and 32 degrees F (Fahrenheit). A warm winter day—10 degrees C and 50 degrees F. A mild spring day—20 degrees C and 60 degrees F. Quite warm, almost hot—30 degrees C and 86 degrees F. Normal body temperature—37 degrees C and 98.6 degrees F. Heat wave conditions—40 degrees C and 104 degrees F. Boiling point of water—100 degrees C and 212 degrees F.

We also use temperature when baking. Metric recipes will list oven temperature in Celsius, such as 177 degrees C instead of 350 degrees F. This does not mean you will have to buy a new range. New dial readings in Celsius can be placed over the ones in Fahrenheit. It is also very easy to convert Fahrenheit temperatures to Celsius.

These new measures will be a little difficult to remember. At first, you will have to remember which metric unit corresponds with which customary unit, for example, miles will be measured in kilometers.

Later you will become more familiar with these new measures and will be able to use the system without translating. Therefore, we need to learn to think metric—not conversion. We can do this if we practice using the metric measures in our daily activities.

THE ANNUAL HD Appreciation Luncheon will be held tomorrow at the Bull Barn. Serving will begin at 12 noon. HD Council will meet immediately following the luncheon. Roy Fashon will be guest speaker for the event.

The highlight of the occasion will be the announcement of the "Outstanding Club Woman of the Year." Three delegates from Deaf Smith County will be selected for the District THDA meeting, (to be held in Dumas—April 10) Monday.

AN AREA-WIDE Sew Fair—"Sew & Save" will be held Thursday, March 13, at the Friona Community Building. This is open to all persons and is free of charge. Make your plans now to attend this event.

Top Speller Chosen

Several Hereford schools have chosen spelling bee finalists to compete in the city wide contest March 6 in the county courthouse. The winner of this meet will represent Hereford in a county bee the next day at the courthouse.

Directing the contest proceedings will be county Judge Sam Morgan.

Those schools which have picked top spellers are:

Northwest Elementary—Gina Griffin, 5th grader, and Steven Barkovsky, 5th grader.

Aikman Elementary—Suzanne Hulse, 5th grader, and Kirk Jones, 6th grader.

St. Anthony's Parochial School—Amy Schumacher, 5th grader, and Denise Gomez, 5th grader.

Bluebonnet Elementary—Eddie Lindeman, 6th grader, and Dana Ulibarri.

Stanton Junior High—Dewayne Kimbell and Vanessa Bishop. Alternate is Debrah

Fielder.

Shirley Elementary—Curt McNaney, 6th grader, and Kirk Clark, 6th grader.

Pianist To Give Recital

Music Study Club will sponsor a recital featuring pianist Stanley Potter at 3 p.m. today in First Christian Church Fellowship Hall. The public is invited.

Waltzes by Frederic Chopin, a chorale prelude by J.S. Bach-Busoni and selections by Maurice Ravel will be performed by Potter, piano instructor at West Texas State University. A reception will follow the concert.

Having performed with numerous symphonies, Potter's solo efforts have been called "brilliant, demonstrating musical talents of the highest order."

A German critic said, "We were not only surprised at the great virtuosity exhibited by this very young artist, but also by his true interpretation of the score."

The pianist received a master of music degree from Michigan State University after studying with Silvio Sciolti. Since joining the WTSU faculty in 1962, Potter has traveled to Paris as a Fulbright Scholar to study with Yvonne Lefebvre. He has also worked towards a doctor of musical arts degree at the University of Texas, Austin, where he associated with Leonard Shure, William Dopmann and Hans-Berthold Dietz.

As a member of the Seventh U.S. Army Symphony Orchestra, the virtuoso won first place as a pianist in recording competition. He is the 1957 recipient of the Young Artist Award of the Year in the Paper quilling techniques were demonstrated Monday by Mrs. Glenn Watts for members of Palo Duro Home Demonstration Club when they met in Community Center.

Quilling Shown To Club

Each HD member constructed plaques using the methods shown by the guest speaker.

During a brief business discussion plans were finalized for the HD appreciation luncheon to be held Monday at Hereford Bull Barn. The Palo Duro chapter will serve at the Amarillo Symphony Orchestra. As a native of Tyler, Potter completed bachelor of music studies at North Texas State University. While there he apprenticed with Stefan Bardas.

This performance is provided free to the public by WTSU Friends of the Fine Arts, a non-profit organization established in support of music, art, drama and speech.

Quilling Shown To Club

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. March 3 in the home of Mrs. Joe Don Daniels, 120 Ave. D.

There were four members present.

The trouble with stock speculation is that you either sell too soon or too late. Going to church is a habit one should cultivate; there is little danger in it.

Book Describes Cooking For Two

In adjusting from family cooking to cooking for two—a situation faced by newly weds, older couples and those moving into a "room-mate" arrangement—carbohydrates, as represented by breads and cereals, are often times losers as dietary and meal adjustments are made.

To prevent this unhealthy situation from happening, Miss Mary Ellen Dambold, Nutritionist, Texas Wheat Producers Board, has assembled a new booklet "How To Cook For Two." It is being printed in cooperation with the Texas Department of Agriculture.

"How to Cook For Two" contains 24 pages of taste-tempting mini-recipes, kitchen ideas, health charts, shopping tips, utensil selection and menu planning suggestions.

The nutritionist suggests that "cost per pound" may not be the best measure in meal cost planning—but instead think of "cost per serving." Other suggestions are: shop "specials" for staples that are storable, but avoid specials on fresh fruit and vegetables, other than seasonal "good buys."

Wheat germ is a great all-around protein booster. One ounce provides one-third of the daily requirement of protein, along with iron, vitamins and minerals. Use wheat germ with your cereal, add to soups, salads, cake and cookie batters or to top casseroles instead of bread crumbs.

Two of the biggest helps in cooking and enjoyable eating, Miss Dambold says, first is to provide contrast in eye and taste appeal—hot with cold, crisp with soft, variety in color, size and shape.

Second, select the right utensils. When cooking and baking for two, smaller utensils are needed than for a full sized family.

Single copies of the booklet may be requested from the Texas Department of Agriculture, Box 12847, Austin, Tex. 78711 or from the Texas Wheat Producers Board, 600 Bank of the Southwest, Amarillo, Tex. 79109.

HOW'S THE ELECTRIC COMPANY DOING?

Let's ask Don Webber, transmission line foreman . . .

"What's going on here, Don?"

"We're putting in a new 115,000 volt line . . . gives us another feed to back up our dependability . . ."

1973 COST $14,000 A MILE
 1975 COST $30,000 A MILE
 "Cost us about $14,000 a mile just two years ago, now it's running $30,000 a mile."

Higher costs to keep your electric service dependable . . . part of the reason your electric bill may be higher these days. But without dependability, electricity wouldn't be worth much . . . would it?

More February Dates

Few months are as filled with as many memorable dates as February. This year Washington's birthday is remembered on Monday the 17th instead of the 22nd, the date of his birth in 1732.

On the 23rd, in 1847, General Zachary Taylor defeated a large force of Mexicans at Buena Vista, forcing Santa Anna to retreat southward and helping to win the Mexican War. (General Winfield Scott was operating with an army near Mexico City.)

Chester Nimitz, the great naval commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet in the Second World War, was born on the 24th in 1885, at Fredericksburg, Texas, a German-American settlement. William F. Cody was born on the 26th in 1846, in Scott County, Iowa. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow was born on the 27th in Portland, Maine. Ann Lee, founder of the Shakers in America, was born on the 29th, in 1736, in England.

The Economists

The trouble with reading what economists say is that the process never ends—in agreement. In today's recession we have the spectacle of Dr. Arthur Burns of the Federal Reserve Board scoffing at President Ford's economic forecasts.

John Sawhill, President Ford's former chief energy adviser, speaks out against the President's oil import tax, saying it will do more harm than good if applied as the President asks. (Burns says Ford's prediction of two years of high unemployment is "astonishing" and that Administration officials are far too pessimistic about the duration of the recession.)

Treasury Secretary Simon threatens to quit because he believes the President isn't putting enough emphasis on anti-inflation efforts. Private economists and Democrats assail the President and the government as moving in the wrong direction, etc., etc.

And that's, in capsule form, the trouble with economists; no two are ever in full agreement. Most of them are sure they are right, even when wrong.

The Brand Files

50 YEARS AGO

Last Thursday night a terrific wind storm blew up just after the supper hour and for an hour or two the dust was bad. During that time it looked as though a half a dozen fires might break out, and there was lots of work put in stopping them. Judge Gough, president of the Wheat Growers Association of Amarillo has carried on a week's school in this community this week. He reports having had an attendance of more than 50 people most every night. C.M. Snowden, whose place lies 11½ miles northwest of Hereford, known as the old Files place, will hold a Farm Sale on Wednesday, March 11, beginning at 10 a.m. Ray Barber and W.S. Williams will auctioneer.

35 YEARS AGO

Hereford Potato Growers Association in a called meeting Tuesday night voted to secure a potato grader and washer to handle this year's crop, but left it up to the Board of Directors as to how the machine was to be secured. In the Tom Thumb wedding and style show set for March 12 in the high school auditorium and sponsored by the Junior Pioneer Club in a drive to raise cafeteria funds, mounted this week with first announcement of the standings of the 10 couples in the race for bride and groom honors. The snow that fell in this vicinity drifted so that it wasn't very much benefit to land. Some of the drifts were four to five feet high.

20 YEARS AGO

Hereford's $7,655 Red Cross drive for 1955 will officially get underway Monday morning, Feb. 23, at 10 with the traditional "Kick-Off-Breakfast" for all workers. Aunt Jemina "in person" is the headline attraction for a Pancake Supper, sponsored at the Hotel Jim Hill ballroom on Friday, Feb. 25, by the Hereford Lions Club. Interviews about babies are generally carried on with parents of the children however, on the occasion of National Baby Week, 1955, we decided to find out what the babies themselves thought about the whole thing. We interviewed 12 babies, and here are the results. It requires a bit of imagination, of course and in some instances we may have applied the wrong interpretation on what they had to say. Anyway we did our best.

10 YEARS AGO

Supporters of the "Variety Park" project, still treading lightly to avoid any last-minute dissonance, suggested Monday night that they favor elimination of all old sidewalks. If this is done, the remodeling job will cost about $90,000. The track outlook for Hereford High School looked reasonably good for the Whitesakes this week as the boys reported for the first workout. Track Coach Jesse Geron reported 21 boys out for the first day of work out, with several veterans returning from last year's team. Hereford High Schools All Sports Banquet is scheduled for March 30 at Hereford High School. This will be the first All Sports Banquet with all of the department combining their events for the first year.

5 YEARS AGO

Roland Barton, commissioner Place 4, and W.B. Dowell, commissioner Place 3, have filed for re-election to their respective posts for the upcoming election April 7. The local American Field Service chapter is seeking families interested in serving as hosts for next year's exchange students. It is important that these students experience the American way of life as a member of a family. In the Belles and Beaus bowling league, James Short was bowler of the week with his 825 handicap series, while Norma Garner was star of the week with 87 pins over her average.

1 YEAR AGO

The Plainview Bulldogs throttled Hereford's running game and shut off the inside scoring of big Dan VanderZee to capture a 44-34 victory in a District 4-AAAAA playoff game at the Hutcherson Gym in Plainview Friday night. Many areas in the Hereford and Deaf Smith County were heavily damaged by wind erosion during the early parts of the past week. Strong winds sweep soil from unprotected fields in Deaf Smith County west of Hereford. Local representatives of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service are presently urging all local land users to carry out emergency measures to prevent wind erosion. At a time when the price of sugar is zooming upward and Hereford should be in a great position with a sugar refinery here, the community is faced with a crucial problem which most people are reluctant to talk about. The fact is that Hereford could lose Holly Sugar's Shoup Plant if more sugar beets are not produced to supply the refinery here.

An Editorial Opinion

Utility Commission Could Violate Citizen Rights

By J. FIKE GODFREY Executive V.P.
W.T. Chamber of Commerce

With the opening of the 64th Session of the Texas Legislature, in my opinion, we may expect continued assault upon the rights of Texas citizens, both as individuals and as a group, to participate in state affairs. This assault began in the last session of the Legislature when legislation passed in the name of "reform," in my opinion, did violence to the individual Texas citizen's right to have his say about proposed state government affairs.

I believe we may expect a rash of proposed legislation to create new agencies, commissions and other regulatory bodies by those people who seek to have the government bureaucrats control and manage our lives from the cradle to the grave. To me, this is continuing insult to the peoples' intelligence, character and integrity by maintaining that people of this state are not capable of managing their own lives and that only some bureaucrat in Austin or Washington has enough sense to do it.

Granted, in the emotionally charged atmosphere of the last session, the Legislature was under pressure to make state government incorruptible by passing some kind of law, but the legislative effort, however good the intentions, was in the end so twisted and misdirected from its original intent that it became a serious threat to the basic rights of citizens to petition the government for correction of their grievances and to citizens to freely participate in the elective process. It is not only the right of the people to petition their government and thus try to have their say, but it is their duty and responsibility to do so.

Every resident of the State of Texas, either as an individual or as a group, has a legitimate interest in what their government does and is. God help us if it ever becomes otherwise.

If we really believe in broad participation in government, by the people, then the government that is truly accessible to the people, a free and open government, will try to encourage participation on the part of the people either as individuals or groups and that government will not discourage citizens participation by imposing burdens of bookkeeping, reporting and dictating how a group or individual may participate or use any other form of intimidation.

Any legislation such as the enacted Lobby Control Act and the Campaign Contribution and Expenditure Act has surely lessened the freedom of Texas citizens to participate in state affairs by imposing the burdens mentioned above as well as intimidating the Texas citizen by exposing him to the possibility of fines and jail sentences if he wants to have his say about his state government.

These two acts passed in the last session of the Legislature have effectively reduced the citizens input to their elected legislative and executive officials and on state and local issues elections. At the same time, these acts placed no control on the biggest lobbyists in the state, the government bureaucrats. This lobby is unrestricted to work at taxpayers expenses and on taxpayers time for more state spending, more state bureaucracies and more state taxes.

The proposed Ethics Commission and the proposed Extremist Environmental Bounty Hunter Act (my name for it) certainly lets loose additional hordes of bureaucrats to further strangle personal freedom and rights.

In such legislation as is being proposed in the utility commission and others, the delineated portion of the act may be agreeable to all concerned, but in the final parts of such acts, we always find the real monster, "Rules and Regulations — Authority to Promulgate and Publish. . . it shall have the power to promulgate regulations to effectuate and carry out, etc." Here and also often in judges' decisions, the act begins to take on an entirely different meaning and effect than was originally intended by the Legislature.

Examples of this at state and, especially, at national levels are legion.

There are examples today of this in rules and regulations and judges' decisions regarding utility commissions in other states.

Please stop and consider what would happen to your town, your local charities and service organizations, your schools, your local paper, your chamber of commerce if the local telephone, electrical, gas and water utilities and their local employees could not participate in all the local activities, organizations, fund drives, community and industrial development, advertisements, and many other local civic activities of which they have been so vital a part for so long.

It can happen! It has happened in other states that now have a state utility commission! It happened in Ohio!

Experience in other states would seem to indicate that a utility commission will not reduce rates, but most certainly will reduce service and community participation and assistance. A utility commission cannot stop inflation, only a cut in government spending can do that.

Any proposed Texas Utility Commission or any other commission or agency legislation should be carefully examined for the opportunity to insert provisions by extremist that would further infringe upon Texas citizens' rights, keep your town from growing and progressing, set a precedent to further regulate all business, cause job losses or prevent new jobs and destroy profit opportunities in your town.

Legislation . . . "What it says . . . and what it does" . . . are too often entirely different things as we have had too many occasions to find out, to our bitter disgust.

Letters to the Editor

ERA Admendment Opponents Speak

Dear Editor:

This is also open to Representative Bill Clayton.

Studying over both sides of the Equal Rights Amendment, (ERA) we have come to the belief that ERA will wipe out all distinctions between the sexes.

ERA, if passed by the 38 states, will come into full effect after two years. Therefore, if we see any changes in state laws now being made to conform to federal ERA it is only the tip of the iceberg. Another point is, it will take away much freedom of choice for women in general.

Now please study over the idea of women (18-years-old) subject to the draft and combat duty. The position of both the Justice Department and the Defense Department is that women will be subject to the draft under ERA. (The Congressional Record, March 22, 1972).

Representative J.E. Herbert, Chairman of the U.S. House Armed Services predicted that the draft will be reinstated within three years. Yale Law Journal (April, 1971) also admits under ERA males and females will be subject to the draft, and combat duty. WAC's at Ft. McClellan, Alabama are now being trained for combat.

Please study over abortion on demand by ERA supporters. States at present are allowed to regulate or prohibit abortions. Under ERA every state's anti-abortion law would be illegal (Former Dean Clarence Manion, Notre Dame Law School).

Also, note Professor Joseph Witherspoon, along with 30 constitutional law scholars, "It is the hope of the abolitionists that ERA will put into the Constitution what they now have only by a split Supreme Court decision."

Rep. Clayton, please be open to careful evidences, documentations, and research from U.S., not Texas Constitutional law scholars, on the effects of ERA two years from now.

We appreciate the White House, but Mrs.

A WORLD IN ITSELF—Even scientists believe that there is something different about Texas and Texans.

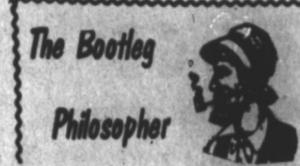

We're so dissimilar to the rest of the world that two anthropologists have suggested that the species known as "Texan" deserves special study.

The Institute of Texan Cultures in San Antonio, which keeps track of such things, says that Dr. Clyde Kluckhohn in 1954 first raised the question about the differences between Texans and their counterparts in the U.S.

"Why," he wrote, "are these (Southwestern) cultures and these modal personality types still different—in spite of similar environmental stimuli and pressures, and access over long periods to the influence of generalized area culture or cultures?"

Dr. Fred Eggan, during his presidency of the American Anthropological Association, went further. He called for a comparative study of "the value systems of five groups: Navaho, Zuni, Mormon, Spanish-American and Texan..." Wonder if they'll ever find out?

BY THEIR FRUITS—in 1793,

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith grass farm on Bootleg Corner takes off in several directions this week.

Dear editor:

According to an account in the paper the other day, a Federal judge, having found four executives of a big outfit guilty of price-fixing, has sentenced them six months work in the Salvation Army or similar public service work. He said fining them for breaking the law, like fining all those big-shot executives who made illegal campaign contributions, wouldn't achieve anything, their companies would just pay the fine and that'd be the end of it.

In other words, I guess you'd say, the judge was underlining the principle of penalizing the individual rather than the company, and I think the idea should be expanded.

FOR EXAMPLE, in a football game, say the wide end, eager to get Franciscan friars seeking to evangelize the Southwest, brought cuttings and root stock of Criolla grapes in their haversacks.

Near what is now Fredericksburg, Gillespie County, they found soil ideal for growing the Spanish grapes and began vineyards that produced sacramental wine for the missions in the area. For decades, Criolla grapes grew in the farmlands around Fredericksburg and a winery operated there until 1954. Then the vineyards disappeared.

Now the art of wine-making is returning to the Texas Hill Country. Dean Joyner of Austin and Fredericksburg has leased an old church on State Highway 16 between Fredericksburg and Kerrville. It will be headquarters for his Haversack Wine Co.

On March 1, Franciscan friars again will bring Criolla cuttings and root stock. Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will plant the first grapevine in what is expected to become 14 acres of vineyards. They will supply Texas' newest licensed winery.

CHINATOWN—Houston counts 10,000 Chinese in its population, the largest number of Oriental of any city in Texas.

down field to catch a pass, jumps off sides. Why penalize the line up five yards back in the next play. Somebody clip? Put him back 15 yards.

Now this would be a little more difficult in basketball but it can be swung. Say a 6-foot-8 forward fouls an opponent. Don't give the other team two free shots. Penalize the forward one foot, thus requiring the coach to replace him with a player who's 5-foot-8. Have a tape measure handy to make sure. This would give all-size kids a chance to play basketball. By the time the game was over some coaches would be reaching down into kindergarten.

SPEAKING OF odd sentences, another Federal judge the other day sentenced a lawyer to a two-year probation sentence without supervision when he found guilty of being involved in a fraudulent land investment scheme. The attorney for the lawyer told the judge his client had practiced law for 25 years and "would not benefit from prison." That's probably right, just as the investors swindled by the fraudulent land scheme didn't benefit either. You've got to keep things in balance.

Unless your talking about the Federal budget.

Yours faithfully,

J.A.

Ford has no business calling long distance to state legislators in North Dakota to promote ERA (passed only by three votes - Source UPI and AP). Taxpayers, more than likely pick up these long distance calls from Mrs. Ford. The Texas state legislators need to listen 101 per cent to us in Texas, and not to the White House because of a few very vocal persons.

As God is my witness, more and more folks do not want ERA at all, when they take the opportunity to hear and examine first hand both sides.

Vote to repeal ERA, Rep. Clayton. We thank you kindly.

Dear Editor:

Our public challenge to the proponents of the Equal Rights Amendment for a full, open debate on issues has gone unanswered. This, despite the fact that they received registered letters containing the challenge. The organizations challenged are Amarillo League of Women Voters, American Association of University Women and High Plains Women's Political Caucus.

It is now obvious to us that these supporters of ERA are reluctant to expose their views to the public for scrutiny and intelligent consideration. They seem to prefer private interviews in which they deal principally with attempts to discredit opponents by declaring we are ignorant of the issues. If this is true, would not a debate on the issues enlighten the opponents of ERA?

Recent events in Texas make it imperative that the citizens of this State be given facts concerning the amendment which could become a part of the United States Constitution. Representative Bill Hilliard of Fort Worth has introduced a resolution to rescind the Texas Legislature's ratification of ERA.

Therefore, NOW is the time to inform our legislators of our opinions. Respected and recognized constitutional authorities have raised issues of concern for us and continuing generations of Americans. It is incumbent upon the citizens to thoroughly understand this amendment.

In addition, Representative George Preston of Bay City has introduced a bill for a possible referendum on ERA, which may give the voters a chance for evaluation of this vital question. However, the vote on the referendum WOULD NOT change the condition which now exists, but would give the legislators a current "voice of the people." We do not know when, if at all, this referendum will be placed on the ballot. Though it sounds good, the vote could actually be delayed until three-fourths of the states had ratified, then rescission and the majority view would become moot questions.

Other states are rejecting the amendment, which would indicate sentiment in the other states is against ratification. Oklahoma has rejected. Georgia has rejected. Arizona had rejected. Utah has rejected.

According to three national polls, the majority of American women opposed the Equal Rights Amendment. The organized minority which favors ERA has made so much noise they have convinced the legislators they represent the majority. THEY DO NOT.

In answer to the report about the accident Tuesday at 4:15 on Park Ave. and Knight St., I made a turn from the wrong lane and was headed south to Knight when the other car hit me in the side. Not going west, and the other car which I did not see hit me nearly turning me west. I was there.

By The Garden Gate With Glad

By Gladys Manjeot

"Don't sit around and talk about what you are going to do today — Do it."

I was reading in a book given to my son Lloyd while he was in Korea and I came across the above sentence. Therefore I decided I should put some doing to my thinking.

Results: the store room keeping all the garden tools, fertilizers, sprays, mowers, clippers, etc. is now in better order. However I do need to do some cleaning where the mud stuck on the shovels (digging last week) and the engines of the various garden machines should be drained, and the entire gadget cleaned. I'm sure I will need some help with the larger appliances. This I will do ere long.

Yes, a well-organized place for garden tools, pots, soil and fertilizers makes gardening a pleasure during the winter months. A little planning, some elbow grease and ingenuity will help the garden workshop work for you.

To accomplish some of the chores, you will need a sturdy table or bench to work on, also adequate light. A bench for work can be constructed by taking two sawhorses and placing sturdy boards across them. A large piece of plywood will do, if you do not have stronger boards for the topping. Clay pots should be cleaned and placed on shelves in order, and by size. Plastic pots should be treated in the same manner. Any other containers used in gardening should be cleaned, sterilized and set upside down so that they will be dry and aired.

Fertilizers, peat moss, vermiculite and other soil additives and garden aides should be sealed in plastic bags or placed in metal or plastic containers. Be sure that all sprays and fertilizers are placed in containers which are well sealed so that children will not be able to reach or get into them.

The garden hose should be stored, if not in use. It is wise to keep one ready for watering, as spring approaches and to keep fresh water for the birds. All sprinklers should be well drained and stored, because during extreme cold weather, they freeze and burst.

Check gates for safety of latches and locks, also door which opens into the storage area. If you have bottles or other containers which have a small portion in them, destroy these, and get rid of the containers. Those which are kept and stored should have labels attached, so that you will have directions for use when gardening time comes.

Get rid of objects which are useless, bulky and taking up needed space. Stacks of old magazines and collected newspapers can be trash. I was told by one authority that the paper shortage is now past.

Save some of the newspapers, because they often come in handy when working in the garden. If clipped or chopped into small pieces, these bits of paper can be used as soil conditioner. Dig holes in the soil and bury them, or if you plow the ground, place them so that they can be plowed under. The newspaper is an agency which destroys insects. Chopped paper adds humus to the soil.

Check all lawn furniture. If there is need for painting, or new covers, now is a good time to get the chore done.

A garden workshop, well kept, makes gardening a greater pleasure and more efficient, because often we lose valuable time looking for something we need in the garden. All are aids in efficiency and maintenance of the garden and lawn care.

PLEASURE, there are always minutes and events which bring happiness to the gardener (as well as problems). I found my first crocus blossoms while tending some of the above garden chores.

I planted a grouping of them near my kitchen window, so I can see them as they open during the day . . . and enjoy them when they first start coming through the ground. I'm also enjoying a robin, which is nesting in my purple plum tree. The other robins have gone but this one remained. I think he must have sustained an injury and could not fly away with his friends.

Early in the morning, I see him perched on a limb near the window. Many bird-watchers have reported various kinds of birds eating at their feeders and drinking at the waterbowls. Mrs. Bruce Brown is a lover of birds, and she was delighted when they welcomed her home after spending some weeks in California.

Another friend reported having a woodpecker in her yard and how he is as going after worms and insects on the trees. It is fun to watch them operate. Also the bossy blue jays . . . they sure make the other birds fly away when they approach the feeders.

In the December issue of Flower and Garden, there is a very interesting article about The Amarillo Garden Center: it is listed under Garden Club Talk. If you haven't read it, I recommend it. My friend Vera Deason is the author.

SOMETHING TO REMEM-

BER: Enjoy your winter gardens — take note of berry shrubs, remove dead plants and leaves from the garden, also broken limbs from the trees. Control winter lawn weeds, start now to plan spraying with dormant spray to aid in controlling insects etc. Plan to plant and grow.

Piano Pupils Attend Forum

Four local piano students attended a piano forum last Saturday on the campus of West Texas State University at Canyon.

Tonja Black, Debra Polan, Polly Robinson and Zann Zimmerman were present at a recital presented by WTSU students majoring in piano study. They also witnessed a demonstration of music therapy used in treatment of retarded children and mental patients.

The lovelly girls performed piano selections for university instructors that afternoon. The students and their mothers were guests at a luncheon given by the WT Music Department.

Sherry Harder Is Guest Speaker

Sherry Harder, assistant county extension agent, spoke to members of Argen Draper 4-H Club Tuesday afternoon in Community Center.

Mrs. Harder explained the County Roundup and asked each member to prepare a method demonstration.

Following the program, Carla and Glena West gave demonstrations to explain various methods to members.

Refreshments were served to club leaders and 15 members present.

ASK YOUR TAX MAN

BY SAUL SILBERT DEAR MR. TAX MAN: Last year I began conducting a mail order business in my home dealing in the sale of rare and used books. As with most new businesses, I lost money, and I'm losing money this year too. Naturally, I use the loss to offset other income that I have. Just in case my return gets audited, how do I prove to the IRS that I'm really in business and not just trying to write off hobby expenses?

BOOK LOVER DEAR BOOK LOVER: You have to show the IRS regular business activities, transactions, and the production of income. Tell them "Great oaks from little acorns grow." That doesn't mean much, but they might be persuaded.

DEAR MR. TAX MAN: I own some Series H and Series E U.S. Savings Bonds, and I'd like to know if and when I have to report the interest on these bonds. SAVER

DEAR SAVER: First, interest on Series H Bonds must be reported in the year the interest is received. Second, Series E Bonds can be handled in two ways: (1) you can defer reporting the interest until the year you cash the bonds; or (2) you may report as interest each year's increase in the bond's redemption value.

DEAR MR. TAX MAN: What are the chances that my return will be selected for audit this year? Are there any pitfalls I ought to be aware of? NERVOUS

DEAR NERVOUS: Sorry, I don't have "pit-fall" information. As to the likelihood of being audited, that remains very small. Only 2.4 percent of all returns filed were audited last year. As you might expect, the largest (in dollar amount) returns are selected first; also the returns with outlandish deductions.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO INCORPORATE Notice is hereby given that L & S Sales, whose principal business office is at 1500 West Park Avenue, Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas, intends, on or about February 1, 1975, to become incorporated without a change of firm name. DATED: 1-29-75. William E. Lyman, Partner S-12-4c

This Gives Notice That, under the laws of the State of Texas, a bill, which would provide that a new judicial district composed of Deaf Smith and Oldham Counties be created and providing for an adult probation officer, a court reporter, amending the bill creating the Criminal District Attorney of Deaf Smith County and providing for state aid to the County of Oldham for the expanded duties of County Attorney will be submitted to the State Legislature. S-14-3c

Public Notice to the Residents of Deaf Smith County, Texas and to All Other Interested Persons: Public Notice advertising plans a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. Its one purpose is that people need be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1793. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required the Postmaster General to authorize for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that inauguration beginning to the complex publication requirements in Federal, state and local laws today, government officials have come more and more to understand their obligations to inform the public through Public Notice advertising. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be as long as the public demands that it be informed, frequently and by the best means possible.

any industry, also reached a new high in 1974, with 153,236 American Quarter Horses changing hands. A total of 51 foreign countries have imported the American Quarter Horse, but a large percentage of them are being purchased by people in the upper midwest and along the Eastern seaboard. Thus, the American Quarter Horse is returning once again to the place that his origin. For it was in the early 1600's in the Carolina and Virginia colonies, that settlers developed this animal, by crossing horses brought from England with those left in America by the Spanish Explorers. These animals, known as "Quarter Patheers" were raced against each other by the colonists at distances up to a quarter of a mile. Now racing has grown in this country to become the number one spectator sport. During 1974, Quarter Horses competed for over $18 million in purses at over 100 tracks throughout the United States. Pari-mutuel wagering on Quarter Horse races was an astounding $173 million, up nearly $10 million from the previous year. Equally popular in the Quarter Horse industry are approved shows and performance events for both youth and adults. Over 3000 of them were held on 1974 and 500,000 entries participated. While the parent AQHA has a membership of over 75,000, the American Junior Quarter Horse Association lists 5700 members. Surprised? Statistics don't lie, so don't be shocked if a son or daughter soon pops the question, "Can I get a horse?" Yes, horses are big business these days. Not even Henry Ford could overcome man's love and devotion to the horse. Perhaps it's only fitting that the Model T's engine and all subsequent auto's thereafter, were measured in horsepower!

Empty or replace the dust bag on vacuum cleaner at frequent intervals. A full dust bag reduces suction, increases vacuuming time and wastes energy!

AQHA Says Horses Are Big Business

A record eight million horses inhabit this country according to estimates from the American Horse Council in Washington, D.C., and the number is increasing rapidly. The horse population has more than doubled since 1960. In fact, there are more horses now in the United States than before the birth of the automobile, when horses were used as a primary source of transportation and power. Again from American Horse Council estimates, equine events drew over 106 million spectators in 1973. And in a 1970 and Three Bars on bottom survey, sixty percent of all horse-owning families made less than $9000 annual interest? Why the sudden interest? Part of the growth is explained in an announcement from the U.S. Extension Service, which administers the nation's 4-H program. At the end of 1974, 320,787 4-H members were enrolled in horse projects, compared to 180,846 in beef cattle and 106,526 in swine. This compares to 30,000 horse projects 15 years earlier. But that's only part of the increase. The 12 largest breed organizations recorded 36 percent more horses in 1973 than in 1960. Don Jones, Executive Secretary of the American Quarter Horse Association (AQHA), the world's largest and fastest growing equine registry, explains the growth is this way. "Many people are searching for sources of recreation, and 'escape' form the every day routine, or perhaps a new business venture. This outlet more than ever before we are pleased to say, is becoming the horse." On November 8, 1974, the AQHA officially registered one million American Quarter Horses, which is quite a feat for an association only 34 years old. The AQHA closed out the year with 1,038,569 horses recorded in the Stud Book, registering 76,559 new animals - in 1974, alone at the headquarters office in Amarillo. Student Sponsors Conferences Set

Two "Leadership for Student Sponsors" conferences will be held March 7-8 and 21-22 at the Travelodge in Amarillo by the West Texas State University College of Education and the University Texas Center for Public School Ethnic Studies. Each workshop will be for 40 participants from Amarillo, Hereford, Pampa, Dumas, Tulsa, Borger and Canyon. The day-and-a-half sessions are a result of a $30,000 federal grant received by the two universities. Local and area administrators, teachers and sponsors are being invited to attend.

"If the workshops are a success we hope to make it a regular course at West Texas State University," said Dr. Jack Nance, WTSU College of Education Coordinator of Human Relations Studies.

Opening the workshops will be registration followed by a social hour and banquet. Keynote speaker on March 7 will be Dr. William E. Barron, UT dean of the Extension Service. On March 21 the keynote speaker will be Dr. Robert Marion, assistant vice president of UT.

The Saturday sessions will be a full-day of small group workshops in which they hope to answer questions about student organizations from the administrative as well as the sponsor's viewpoint. Participants will analyze what to do about the non-involved student, the minority student and the abused student. They will examine the importance of the student organization in the total school picture, and look at whether it has kept up with the times and whether the entrance requirements are realistic.

Each delegate will receive a $30 stipend upon completion of the seminar.

Hubert Humphrey, Senator (D-Minn):
"Social Security payments for senior citizens, for the aged, are not excessive."

William E. Simon, Treasury Secretary:
"I look very positively on foreign investment in this country."

Earl L. Butz, Secretary of Agriculture, on China's canceling wheat contract:
"Canceling the wheat contract doesn't mean very much for the American consumer."

Early Education Aim of PDK Study

To celebrate the American Bicentennial, the Amarillo Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa has received a $1,000 grant to prepare a slide-tape presentation of the early history of higher education in the Texas Panhandle.

The Amarillo chapter of the national office, Dr. W.M. (Fred) Stoker of the West Texas State University College of Education, will conduct the project, assisted by H. Wayne Hughes of the WTSU News Service and Virgil Young, educational media director of the Education Service Center.

Institutions that will be researched and presented include Hereford College, Lowery-Phillips College, Canadian Academy, Goodnight College, Clarendon College and West Texas State University. The presentation will cover the period from 1890 to 1920. Four of these institutions lasted only a few years, and WTSU is the only institution still operating, Stoker said.

The WTSU education professor also noted that he was interested in receiving any information or pictures of these institutions during those years that area residents may have. Copies will be made of the pictures so that the donors may keep the originals. The personnel will also be drawing upon the master's theses, student studies and faculty research reports on file at WT.

Richard L. Ottinger, Congressman (D-N.Y.):

"This is no time to have the environmental movement shrink in the face of the energy crisis."

Frank Church, Senator (D-Idaho):

"Social Security is now large and important enough to enjoy separate organizational status."

Hangover: Something to occupy a head that wasn't used the night before.

-Review, Plymouth, Wis.

Some of the goals to be achieved by the project are to have a centralized record of these institutions, present their history in an interesting manner and thereby heighten an interest in education and its historical traditions.

The project should be completed by September 1976, when it will be available for high school classes, college groups, public library programs, service clubs, education courses and other interested groups.
