

Off To Washington

The American Agriculture Movement's national tractorcade to Washington officially got underway at daybreak yesterday, but even before that starting time, columns of tractors were snaking their way along highways across the Panhandle and South Plains to staging points. Shown here is the tractorcade which departed Hereford Saturday afternoon, bound for a staging area at Bushland. Tractors from Friona and the Clovis area in New Mexico proceeded to Hereford to form up with local tractors for the next leg of the journey. A column of 29 tractors plus support vehicles rumbled eastward from Hereford Saturday afternoon. The first day of the national tractorcade proceeded smoothly yesterday as tractors made it into Oklahoma. A lot of road remains before the slow-moving tractorcades, however, as they roll toward a hoped-for Feb. 2 Washington arrival. (Brand photo by Jim Stelert)

Tractors Roll To Capital

By The Associated Press

Texas farmers — saying they are more experienced, more realistic and, they hope, more numerous than last year — set out in the early morning chill Monday on an 1,800-mile journey to Washington, D.C., to protest for agricultural parity.

The tractorcade will join other farmers from the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Florida and Georgia in Washington Feb. 2, in mass protest of the Carter administration's farm policy.

About 100 tractors left Amarillo shortly after 9 a.m., accompanied by another 100 campers, motor homes and pickup trucks bearing American Agricultural Movement signs and slogans. The caravan snaked its way through Amarillo along Interstate 40 accompanied by a Department of Public Safety escort and continued east. The caravan is expected to camp on the outskirts of Oklahoma City by nightfall.

A four-and-a-half-mile long caravan of 50 tractors and 100 support vehicles moved eastward out of Abilene shortly before 9 a.m. with a DPS escort.

Organizers, who had hoped to double the 1,000 farmers and supporters who went to last year's protest to Washington, said the caravan was larger than last year's but had no immediate head count.

The big difference between this year's protest and the last one, organizers say, will be the tractors on the streets of Washington.

Gerald McCathern, a Hereford farmer whose outspoken criticism of the Carter farm policy gained national attention during the 1978 protest, led the tractorcade out of Amarillo. He said the movement would be successful only "if we can get 1,000 tractors or more in Washington."

J.L. Cox of Littlefield said the presence of the tractors would make the difference.

"I don't think all the farmers walking around Washington last year will have the effect the tractors will," Cox said, calling last year's protest mainly a publicity effort.

"At least we got to inform the people in the big, urban areas like New York and Chicago and the consumer groups about farmers' problems," he said.

Many of the organizers, though the stated goal of the movement is 100 percent parity for agricultural commodities, admitted that last year's experiences have lowered their expectations. The 100 percent parity the farmers are seeking means that farm prices would be comparable to what they were in 1914 in relation to the price of other goods.

Spokesman Marvin Meeks said the farmer would be willing to settle for 90 percent this time out.

"Last year we went there trying to get a new bill passed," he said. This year we're not going to try to do away with anything but we will try to work within the existing act."

Three Texas Legislators Shine on Opening Day

Parity, Import Bills Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen led a trio of Texans in introducing new legislation on the first day of the 96th Congress.

The Democrat put some modifying touches on some year-old bills dealing with beef imports and government paper work while Rep. Jack Hightower, D-Texas, reintroduced his version of a flexible parity farm pricing bill.

Freshman Rep. Tom Loeffler, R-Texas, was among 100 House members who co-sponsored Florida Republican L.A. Bafalis' bill calling for a Constitutional amendment requiring a balanced federal budget and repayment of the national debt.

Texas' senior senator — Republican John Tower — did not announce any specific legislative initiatives on Monday but after being reelected without opposition to a fourth term as chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee noted "several important matters which will receive early consideration" by GOP members of the senate.

"We will address ourselves to both economic matters and foreign policy and national security matters," said Tower. "One thing I very much want to get at and that is the basic causes of inflation; one of these being productivity, another being government spending. These are two areas of concern I expect to begin work on right away."

Bentsen's new beef imports bill contains a modification that increases presidential authority to raise beef quotas.

President Carter vetoed a similar Bentsen bill on Nov. 10, 1978, saying the bill curbed his power to increase imports when domestic supplies are inadequate.

The timing of the veto — eight days after the general elections — angered Texas Democrats and cattlemen who had strongly backed the bill. The measure had passed the House 289-66 and the Senate by voice vote.

The Bentsen bill would fulfill one of the legislative demands the American Agriculture Movement will bring to Washington next month.

Hightower's flexible parity measure is also on the AAM shopping list.

Sen. Robert Dole, a R-Kansas, has promised to introduce a similar bill in the Senate, as he did last year.

Hightower's Emergency Food and Fiber Supply Stabilization Act of 1979 is a rewrite of another farm bill Carter promised to veto last year but never got the chance.

After a Senate-House conference committee combined Hightower's and Dole's bills, the Senate narrowly passed the measure but not enough votes were mustered in the House for passage.

Dowell Announces Plans For 2nd Mayor's Term

BARTLEY DOWELL

Mayor Bartley Dowell Monday filed for re-election, then announced that if he is elected, "it'll be my last term."

Dowell, 57, became the first person to file for a city position. Voters, on April 7, also will elect commissioners for the Place 1 and 2 positions, presently filled by Ed Coplen and John Matthews, respectively.

Dowell, a city commissioner for two terms, was elected as mayor in 1977.

He is a 51-year Hereford resident, an accountant with Brown, Graham and Co. for 24 years and a member of the YMCA and Noon Kiwanis Club boards. He also is chairman of the finance committee of First United Methodist Church.

"When I ran the first time, I intended at that time to serve two terms if I could. It'll be my last term this time," Dowell said.

"I feel like I've been a good mayor. I've learned a whole lot, and I've done as good a job as I could. I haven't missed a meeting yet, and I'll soon have two years completed."

The election will be held from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, April 7, at the Hereford Community Center.

Commission To Vote on Rate

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

City Manager Dudley Bayne told Hereford city commissioners Monday night that negotiations between Pioneer Natural Gas Co. and area cities were "going well" and that the commission probably would be able to vote on a proposed rate increase at its February meeting.

"We hope to have it on the agenda next time," Bayne said during a public hearing on Pioneer's proposed 26 percent rate increase. "The city commission must adopt an ordinance approving or not allowing the rate increase."

Rate consultants and a steering committee comprised of city officials

Pioneer's West Texas distribution system have been negotiating with Pioneer officials since December.

Commissioners Monday night also set the procedure for the April 7 city officers' election, agreed to continue a lease agreement for Santa Fe Park, accepted the low bid for sewer and water line construction and conducted a lengthy work session on the 1979-80 city budget.

The election will be from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, April 7, in the Hereford Community Center. Three positions will be involved in the runoff—mayor and commissioners, Places 1 and 2.

The city had been leasing Santa Fe Park at 5 1/2 Main and U.S. Highway 60 for $1 a year, but the railroad company told Bayne that the fee would be raised to $25 "to cover paperwork," the city manager said.

The commission agreed to pay the higher amount.

Taylor Construction Co. submitted the lowest of seven bids for construction of water and sewer lines in the Engler addition. The bids ranged from $16,470 to $31,210.

Commissioners accepted Taylor's bid, pending annexation of the property, which is located adjacent to the Kid's Inc. Baseball Complex.

The commission met in closed session to discuss the purchase of land. No action was taken on the matter, Bayne said.

Hereford Receives $17,533 Check

Hereford was rebated $17,533.64 this week as the city's share of the local-option one percent sales tax, State Comptroller Bob Bullock announced.

That is a four percent increase over what the city received as its January, 1978 rebate of $18,274. This month's statewide rebates totaled $18.1 million, about $300,000 less than the state paid to 900 Texas cities during the same one-month period a year ago.

Texas cities received a record $424.8 million during 1978 as their share of the city sales tax, an increase over the previous year, Bullock said.

The sales tax is collected by merchants and other sales tax permit holders along with the state sales tax and is rebated monthly to cities by the comptroller's office.

Other area cities, their rebates and increase or decrease over last year are as follows:

Amarillo, $259,089, -18 percent; Borger, $18,226, -6 percent; Canyon, $121,081, 1,480 percent; Dimmitt,

Heart Problems Haven't Slowed Hereford Actor

By KERRIE STEIERT
Women's Editor

Archie Dwyer has a troubled heart. However, his type of heartache won't be appeased by sentiments. Dwyer has coronary artery disease, a nemesis for which he refuses "to lay down and play dead." If anything, his battle with heart disease has caused him to become more active than ever.

When his problem was first diagnosed early in 1975, Dwyer, like most people, knew virtually nothing about cardiovascular disease, which is the No. 1 killer in this country. Since that time, he has twice undergone heart surgery, organized a chapter of the American Heart Association here, became a prominent Panhandle actor, changed his eating and exercise habits and learned a lot about how the human heart functions.

He's beginning to sound as well-versed on the subject as a heart specialist.

As he explains it, there are five major types of heart disease: 1) coronary artery disease, where blood fats (triglycerides or cholesterol) clog the arteries leading into the heart; 2) congenital heart defects, most of which can now be repaired through surgery; 3) valve malfunction in which the valves separating the heart's four chambers; 4) failure of the heart's electrical system, which regulates the heart beat; and 5) stroke, resulting when

It has only been in recent years that developments in heart correction have made it possible to treat — and often cure — heart disease. Dwyer lays all the credit at the door of research, which has been made possible by such organizations as the American Heart Association.

"If it had not been for the heart and lung machine, which allows the surgeon to stop the movement of one's heart and lungs, heart surgery would not have been possible," Dwyer said. "The heart and lung machine, as well as countless other developments in heart surgery, were funded in large part by the Heart Association."

The Heart Association operates mainly on public donation and has a Deaf Smith County Chapter, which was established here almost four years ago by Dwyer and his wife, JoAnn. He is currently coordinator of CPR (cardio-pulmonary resuscitation) classes in Deaf Smith County, as well as being a member of the State Council Task Force for CPR, which serves 26 Texas counties. Mrs. Dwyer has been publicity chairman of the local AHA chapter since its organization and

LINNIE MAE ROBESON

Pioneer Woman Dies

At the age of 82, Linnie Mae Roberson, a resident of Hereford for 57 years, died Sunday night in Westgate Nursing Home, where she had been living for one year.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in First Baptist Church with the Rev. Doug Manning, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in West Park Cemetery under direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mrs. Roberson came to Deaf Smith County in 1921 as the bride of Thomas Wiley Roberson, who was the son of a local pioneer family. Mrs. Roberson, who was born Linnie Mae Donald on Sept. 15, 1896 at Denton, attended North Texas State College at Denton and West Texas State University at Canyon to prepare for a teaching career. She taught in Lamesa and Black prior to her marriage on Sept. 1, 1921.

As newlyweds, the Robersons made their home on a ranch in Deaf Smith County until moving into town a few years later. In September of 1947, the

Nixon Accepts Chance To Visit White House

WASHINGTON (AP) - Richard M. Nixon is going to the White House, for the first time since his resignation, to have dinner later this month with President Carter and China's Teng Hsiao-ping.

Nixon, whose 1972 outreach to China ended 22 years of estrangement between the two nations, was invited by Carter, who built on Nixon's initiative by establishing full diplomatic relations with Peking.

"He was invited and he has accepted," said Mary Hoyt, press secretary to first lady Rosalynn Carter. Nixon's aides in California confirmed the acceptance.

"It seemed the appropriate thing to do," a White House official said of the invitation. The official, who asked not to be named, said Nixon was invited "because of his role in opening up the process of normalization."

Nixon has not been in the Executive Mansion since he resigned under the blistering heat of Watergate Aug. 9, 1974.

Teng, China's vice premier, is scheduled to begin a week's tour of the United States Jan. 29 with a White House visit. The state dinner is that night.

Gerald Ford, who also made a presidential trip to China, was invited, too, but he expects to be out of the country on a trip to the Middle East that began Monday night.

It was not known whether Nixon will fly to Washington on a government plane. Mrs. Nixon will not come along.

Lt. Governor May Fill USDA Position

WASHINGTON (AP) - After a year-long vacancy, the No. 2 job in the Agriculture Department soon may be filled by former Lt. Gov. James H. Williams of Florida.

President Carter said Monday he will nominate Williams to be the department's deputy secretary, subject to Senate confirmation.

The job had been held by John White until Carter moved White to the Democratic National Party headquarters, as the party's chairman.

White's resignation was effective Jan. 28, 1978, and the $57,500-a-year job has been vacant since then. Several names surfaced as possibilities in succeeding months, but potential candidates for the post either were dropped by the administration or asked that they not be considered further. Williams, 52, was elected to the Florida Senate in 1968, reelected in 1972, and picked to be then-Gov. Reubin Askew's lieutenant governor when Askew sought reelection in 1974.

Williams lost a bid for the gubernatorial nomination in the Democratic primary in Florida last year.

He is a citrus grower and cattle rancher from Ocala.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland, appearing with Williams, told reporters that he considered Williams' political background a "very important" qualification for the job.

Williams will serve as sort of an "executive director" of department operations and will concentrate much of his responsibilities on budget matters, Bergland said.

Neither Bergland nor Williams said they foresee any serious opposition to the nomination.

Iran's Crown Prince Joined by Family

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Several members of the Iranian royal family flew to this West Texas city early today, joining Iran's crown prince as Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi fled his strife-torn nation.

An officer at Reese Air Force Base who asked not to be identified said a plane that arrived here early today carried the shah's mother-in-law and three of his children.

The shah and Empress Farah left Iran secretly today after the lower house of Parliament gave final approval to the country's new civilian government.

The 59-year-old monarch and empress were reportedly headquartered for Egypt and the United States.

The flight that landed here apparently was an Imperial Iranian 707 jet that took off from McGuire Air Force Base, N.J., Monday night.

Witnesses here said a convoy of about 20 vehicles carries the jet's passengers to the crown prince's retreat in west Lubbock.

Crown Prince Reza Pahlavi, 17, is in pilot training at the air base in this city of nearly 165,000 people.

Local reporters said security at the prince's home - normally handled by off-duty Lubbock police officers, was being handled by U.S. State Department guards.

After the convoy arrived, the prince was seen playing with children in the lighted area of his back yard. The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal reported it had confirmed late Monday that Iranian government officials had rented rooms at a Lubbock hotel.

Shah Goes to Egypt As Bakhtiar Endorsed

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi left Iran secretly today for Egypt and the United States after Parliament gave Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar and his new government its second vote of confidence, court sources reported.

The palace sources said the 59-year-old ruler and Empress Farah left "according to schedule" at 12:15 p.m. after giving reporters the slip with a false announcement that they were delaying their departure until Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the lower house of the Majlis, the Iranian Parliament, confirmed the new government by a vote of 149-43 with 13 abstentions. The Senate gave it a vote of confidence Monday.

The Shah had been scheduled to hold a news conference at the airport before his departure and was expected to say something about his plans. But foreign reporters were told on their arrival at the airport that the departure had been delayed at least until Wednesday and the news conference was postponed.

The reporters were sent back to the city, and shortly after the palace sources reported the ruler and his wife and left the country.

The government said the shah was going abroad for an extended foreign vacation and medical treatment after a year of political and economic turmoil and public violence. But many believe the vacation will turn into permanent exile and the end of the dynasty his soldier-father founded 54 years ago.

Police Report

Police arrested two Mexican-American males, ages 18 and 16, at 401 Ross Monday and charged them with intoxication by glue-sniffing.

Eusebio Alejandro, 110 Dayton, reported Monday that a family moved out of his rent house after inflicting about $300 worth of damage to the residence. Police are investigating.

Detective Vernon Hope was off-duty while eating at the Pizza Hut Saturday when an employee told him that three men left the restaurant without paying for their meals. Hope called in a description of their vehicle to the police department.

Highway patrol troopers in Friona stopped a car matching the description and found a substance believed to be marijuana inside the vehicle. Troopers arrested three persons, all Cannon Air Force Base personnel from Clovis, N.M.

The three were held on charges of possession of marijuana and theft under $5.

Two plate glass windows at SIC Credit Co., 700 S. 25 Mile Ave., were shot out over the weekend by either a BB or pellet rifle.

Court Rules on Fed Suits

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court, agreeing Monday to study a case with roots in a 20-year secret CIA mail-opening program, will decide whether persons may use any federal trial court to sue government officials who commit illegal acts.

At the same time, the justices left intact a ruling that only certain courts may be used to sue officials after they leave public office or no longer hold the same job they did when the illegal acts were committed.

At stake is a lawsuit that had sought more than $1 billion in damages from 25 present and former federal officials, including former CIA directors Richard Helms and William Colby and former FBI Director L. Patrick Gray.

The suit, filed in a Rhode Island federal court in 1975, charges that the constitutional rights of thousands of U.S. citizens were violated when the CIA opened letters addressed to them from such countries as the Soviet Union and China.

The now-defunct surveillance program operated from 1953 to 1973. It is estimated that more than 200,000 pieces of incoming and outgoing mail were opened without search warrants.

The lawsuit is a "class action" representing all persons whose mail was opened. But it was filed in Rhode Island because one of five named plaintiffs, University of Rhode Island mathematics professor Rodney Driver, lives there.

None of the government officials named in the suit lives in Rhode Island, but U.S. District Judge Raymond Pettine ruled that a 1962 law passed by Congress concerning civil suits against government officials empowered him or any other federal trial judge to hear the case.

While Pettine froze the trial proceedings, the officials appealed to the 1st U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

That court upheld Pettine's ruling as it applied to those officials who were holding the same jobs in 1975 as they were when some of the mail openings occurred.

But the appeals court ruled that officials who had left government service or switched jobs before the suit was filed would have to be sued in those jurisdictions in which they now reside.

The ruling effectively removed Helms, Gray and 14 others as defendants in the Rhode Island lawsuit but Colby and nine others were not released as defendants.

Now the Supreme Court will decide whether the trial against Colby and the others, can be held in Rhode Island.

The appeals court, ruling actually sparred three separate Supreme Court appeals:

—Colby and his CIA deputy director, Vernon Walters, asked the court to rule that the Rhode Island court had no jurisdiction over them.

—The 16 officials released as defendants in the case filed a "conditional" appeal arguing that the Rhode Island court should have no jurisdiction in the matter.

—Lawyers who filed the original suit asked the justices to rule that the appeals court was wrong when it decided that former officials could be sued only in the jurisdictions in which they reside.

Only the Colby appeal was accepted for review. The two others were turned down by the justices.

College Discriminates

WASHINGTON (AP) - A deeply divided Supreme Court ruled Monday that Waller County, Texas, discriminates against students at predominantly black Prairie View A&M University in how it determines their voting eligibility.

The justices rejected an appeal by county tax assessor LeRoy Symm, who is responsible for registering voters in the rural county not far from Houston.

Instead, a five-member majority of the court affirmed the ruling of a three-judge federal court in Texas that Symm's system for screening potential registered voters was unconstitutional.

The Texas court said the system discriminated against the college students because of their age, a violation of the Constitution's 26th amendment which gave the vote to all persons 18 and older.

Under the invalidated system, Symm required all unmarried students living in Prairie View A&M dormitories to prove they were permanent residents of Waller County before allowing them to register as county voters.

As told by government lawyers, "Very few students have succeeded in registering to vote after having been sent Symm's questionnaire."

Symm sent the detailed questionnaire to 545 Prairie View students who applied to register in 1976, the government said, and only 35 ultimately were allowed to register.

Non-students applying to register are not confronted with the questionnaire.

In seeking Supreme Court review, lawyers for Symm argued that the lower court's ruling "is the most recent and most destructive in a series of decisions which have seriously weakened, if not destroyed, any meaningful residence requirement as a prerequisite to voting."

Assistant state attorney general David Kendall said, however, that it is the state's view "that students should be entitled to vote where they consider themselves to be residents, even if that happens to be the county where they attend school and not the county where their parents reside."

Soviet Leaders Seek Arms Limitation Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) - Republican senators say top Soviet leaders told them during a Moscow visit that failure to ratify a new strategic arms limitation treaty would make the world "a dangerous planet to live on."

But the senators say the Soviets won no converts for SALT II after intense lobbying and "scare" tactics and left the six members of the delegation either uncommitted or opposed.

Senate Republican leader Howard H. Baker, one of the uncommitted, reported that Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev told him he likely will come to the United States for a summit meeting with President Carter later in the year.

Baker said he expects Soviet and U.S. negotiators to complete work on the SALT treaty in the next few weeks.

At a news conference last week immediately after ending their trip, the senators said the Soviets constantly voiced concern over the U.S. decision to extend diplomatic recognition to China.

Sen. S.I. Hayakawa, R-Calif., said he came away with the impression the Soviets are "bothered a great deal" by the U.S. action, are especially fearful that the United States might sell China sophisticated arms, and may have "a certain sense of being cornered."

Baker said he is convinced the Soviets at last understand that the Senate debate inevitably will link SALT to other Soviet actions and that ratification is far from assured.

Baker said Brezhnev and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko took a "stern and even aggressive approach" in she is now serving on the State Board of the Heart Association.

In addition to research, the Heart Association emphasizes the importance of public awareness so that heart disease can be prevented. Dwyer cites the lifesavers of diet, exercise regular physical check-ups and a knowledge of CPR.

"It's important to know the early warning signs of an approaching heart attack and to contact medical help immediately. The signs are real — pressure in the chest, nausea, pain in the head, neck, jaw or arm, breaking out in sweats," he stated. Dwyer suffered a heart attack one month ago.

"Your biggest foes are denial that it (an attack) is happening and time," Dwyer said. "After your first warning sign, it could be at least four hours before you can get to a doctor and that's three hours and 55 minutes too long."

The most difficult obstacle faced by the heart patient is depression, according to Dwyer. "It's an easy thing to think that it's the end of the world, but you can't lay down and play dead because of heart surgery. It makes me mad when people use heart problems as an excuse to become an invalid," he said. The Heart Association helps individuals cope with this depression through the Mended Hearts program, in which former surgery patients visit the new patient, explaining what to expect and how to deal with it. Dwyer has become involved in acting since his illness. He is currently appearing in the role of Oscar Maddison in "The Odd Couple" at the Country Squire Dinner Theatre in Amarillo. He has also been cast in "Come Blow Your Horn," "Natalie Needs a Nightie," "Ninety-Day Mistress," "Busbody," and "Prisoner of Second Avenue." He has performed in Texas and New Mexico and toured with a production of Neil Simons' "The Sunshine Boys."

The reason for Canyon's huge increase, according to City Manager Glen Metcalf, was West Texas State University incorrectly reporting cafeteria sales taxes since 1970.

"West Texas State incorrectly submitted their reports. They had not reported it correctly since 1970," Metcalf told The Brand.

"We had been trying to figure out for quite a long time why our sales tax wasn't comparable to Hereford and other cities in the area. We thought it might be due to us being so close to Amarillo, and our people running over there and doing their shopping," the Canyon city boss said.

Metcalf said the latest rebate was "like an inheritance."

"We feel pretty good about this. It's kind of like a savings account. We intend to utilize the money in our general funds," he said.

Journalistic Muggers

"Who steals my gold steals trash, but he who filches from me my good name leaves me poor indeed."

Pat Boone has been the victim of a hit-and-run journalistic "mugging"; he is not the first and will not be the last.

Billy Buckley has apologized for that recent "mistake" in his column but how do you unring a bell?

What the column said was that Pat Boone and his wife regularly show a pornographic movie in their home. Four times in that one column Pat Boone is quoted as owning, exhibiting and approving pornographic movies.

Totally false. Absolutely and utterly untrue. The columnist blames a secretary's editing of his words. Buckley says he had intended his words to read: "a Pat Boone-type entertainer."

I know the identity of the "Pat Boone-type entertainer" to whom Buckley was referring.

But the damage to the reputation of Pat Boone and his family is irrevocable; hard as you scrub to "rub out that vile blot" inevitably some stain remains.

Ironically, Pat Boone was one of the new Hollywood luminaries — may have been the only one — who voted for the Proposition 18 anti-pornography measure when it was on ballot there in 1974.

As I say, Buckley has apologized — but Boone is still out the cost of two lawyers who sought to get many newspapers to publish corrections. If Boone wanted to sue for libel he would be required to prove both "intent" and "damages" and it is almost impossible to prove either.

Pat Boone will survive this scurrilous slander. I am more embarrassed for the corrupt, callous or careless newshandlers who sound like stray dogs barking at a freight train.

As in the Buckley incident, they are not always journalists.

And if this was an innocent "mistake," not all are.

The late Col. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, frequently found his own editorials "re-edited" in the composing room.

At least one of our nation's noisy newspapers rarely publishes any profile without some philosophical motivation.

Another book is coming out on Billy Graham which will include flagrant untruths and grotesque distortions relating to his organization and his family.

The fact that despite these persistent assaults Billy Graham remains America's most admired man, and the fact that the news media rates disgracefully low on public opinion votes of confidence seem to suggest that the truth will triumph.

Not always.

Sen. Barry Goldwater could tell you about that.

Because at least once I have been the target of the muggers myself, I have firsthand acquaintance with the calculated strategy of the libelous slur and the futility of denial.

Persons of prominence eventually toughen themselves against the slings and arrows, but they never become impervious to hurt.

And, strangely, it hurts most when the victim of what you know to be an irresponsible and unjust attack — is a friend.

Quilting Workshop To Begin Wednesday

All interested persons are invited to a quilting workshop Wednesday, Jan. 17 as guest of Simms Study-Craft Club. Betty Sturquell, of Amarillo will conduct the three-hour workshop in the Simms Community Building northwest of Hereford. Persons interested in the workshop, which will begin at 10 a.m., are asked to pre-register with Elsie Lloyd, 578-4560. The workshop fee of $5 will include the cost of instruction and the kit for making a cathedral window quilt. Each person attending will leave with a finished product.

The instruction will be presented in two parts, with a luncheon to be served at noon. Club members will provide the covered dish fare.

Workshop hostesses will be Rita Brommiman and Sondra Blankenship.

Mrs. Newsom Hosts DAR Luncheon

Mrs. C.F. Newsom, regent of the Los Ciboleros Chapter, DAR, entertained the society members Friday during a luncheon meeting in her home.

Plans for the DAR business meeting, which will be Thursday afternoon in the Charlie Holt home, were discussed. Also, members were reminded that Mrs. E.S. Brainard, who resides in Amarillo but is a member of the Los Ciboleros, is a candidate for Sate DAR Regent, to be elected this spring.

Attending the recent luncheon were Meses Alfred Smith, L.W. Norvell, T.J. Carter, L.K. Williamson, Arthur Clark, J.T. Carroll, Brainard and Stanford Knox.

Gulf Shrimp Appetizer Suggested to Hostess

COLLEGE STATION - Gulf shrimp and seasonings combine to make lively hors d'oeuvres the hostess can prepare ahead of time.

In fact, the longer the shrimp are allowed to marinate, the more flavor they will absorb, says Annette Reddell, seafood consumer education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

This easy-to-fix appetizer goes well with any beverage or other snack food, she adds.

PICKLED SHRIMP
2 pounds fresh Gulf shrimp
2 medium onions, cut into rings

1 1/2 cups vegetable oil
1 1/2 cups white vinegar
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 1/4 teaspoons celery seed

4 tablespoons capers with juice.
Place peeled and deveined shrimp in boiling salted water, then reduce heat and cook for three to five minutes, or until the shrimp is pink and tender.
Drain and rinse with cold water, then chill.
Make alternate layers of shrimp and onion rings in a sealable container.
Mix remaining ingredients and pour over shrimp and onions. Seal and place in refrigerator for six hours or more, shaking or inverting occasionally.
Remove shrimp from marinade and serve.

SPECIAL CHILDREN, SPECIAL NEEDS

Parents who accept their "special child's" needs take the first step toward meeting those needs. This also means parents must accept their own negative feelings toward their special child - as normal feelings. Special children are mentally or physically handicapped or gifted children with special needs.

These children all share one need, however - the need to feel they are worthwhile members of their family. At the same time, these families may struggle through more problems than other families - and they may suffer many frustrations along the way.

DISCOVERING NEEDS
Just discovering the child's special needs can be frustrating in itself. Parents of special children must adjust to the fact that their child is - in some ways - not what they feel a child of the same age should be. He may also be too far ahead, as well as behind.

Parents may, at first, try to deny that the child has any problems at all. "He may be behind other kids his age, but he'll catch up," is a familiar reaction to a child with learning problems. Or, "He's smarter than I am, and he's only eight years old. What will I do with him?" Eventually these parents may have to readjust their plans and goals for their child.

ACCEPTING THE CHILD
Parents of special children also often find it difficult to accept the child himself - because of his special needs. Seeing teachers, other parents and other kids accepting and valuing the child may make it easier for them to do so.

NORMAL NEGATIVE FEELINGS
Negative feelings toward the child, such as feelings of anger, rejection, jealousy or even revulsion, are normal. Most of us have learned to be uncomfortable with difference in other people, especially physical differences. We grow up separated from blind, deaf, physically or mentally disabled people. In fact, many parents' first real contact with such a person may be with their own child. In addition, this child has probably caused his parents much worry, mental anguish, extra time and extra money.

It would be abnormal for such parents not to have negative feelings about these children. Parents, however, are usually afraid to express such feelings, or they may deny they exist, even to themselves. Guilt feelings also are common. Parents may feel guilty about their negative feelings, or even feel to blame for the child's special problem. However, these parents are probably not to blame for their child's needs.

A MESSAGE TO PARENTS
Parents of special children should remember that their child:

- is a member of the family
- needs to develop a real sense of self worth
- needs a family that places realistic hopes on his achievement
- needs to have limits set
- needs consistent guidance and help with learning skills and behavior
- needs to feel loved and accepted and to know he is valued as an individual

--needs the chance to explore new experiences
--needs to know that negative feelings of anger, rejection, revulsion and guilt are normal reactions to new situations.

WEEKLY TIPS

*In winter, use bathroom and kitchen ventilating fans only as needed. A fan running needlessly wastes energy and sends heated air outside.

*"Feel" warm this winter in garment colors that make you "think" warm such as reds, oranges, yellows and browns.

*Parents who read nursery rhymes to children are teaching strong family values. "Baa, Baa, Black Sheep," for example, teaches sharing.

*White chocolate is used as a coating for candies and is popular as an ingredient in a variety of recipes - white chocolate cake and white chocolate pie. White chocolate is made from 20 percent cocoa butter, not less than 14 percent milk solids, including not less than 3.5 percent milk fat and not more than 55 percent sugar.

*Don't buy vegetables just because of low price. It doesn't pay to buy more than you can properly store in the refrigerator, or than you can use without waste.

Methodists Launching McMurry Annual Fund

ABILENE - Volunteer workers for the McMurry Annual Fund will gather for a dinner at 7 p.m. on Thursday in the First United Methodist Church in Hereford to kick off the 1979 campaign in the Hereford area, according to Dr. Thomas Kim, McMurry College president.

United Methodist churches in the area will participate by sending representatives to help with the fund-raising for the Methodist-owned college in Abilene.

Churches represented at the dinner and meeting will include United Methodist churches in Hereford, Adrian, Bovina, Canyon, Friona, Happy, Lazbuddie, Oklahoma Lane, Vega, Vigo Park and Wayside.

The United Methodist layman who is leading the McMurry Annual Fund drive in the Amarillo district, which also includes Dumas, Hereford, and surrounding towns, is Farris Oden of Amarillo.

Oden will preside over the dinner and meeting. On the program is a slide-tape presentation by Jack Holden, McMurry vice president for development and public relations.

A 27-year resident of Amarillo, Oden is a retired president of Western National Life Insurance Company. He is current chairman of the McMurry College Board of Trustees.

At various times, Oden has served as vice president of Amarillo YMCA, president of Amarillo United Fund, president of Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, local president and district governor of Rotary International, and president of the Llano Estacado Council of the Boy Scouts.

The McMurry Annual Fund provides sustenance for the teaching effort of McMurry, a four-year liberal arts college in Abilene which is owned by the Northwest Texas and New Mexico Conferences of the United Methodist Church.

Last year Amarillo district workers for the college raised $24,600.84 for McMurry. Other area kickoff dinners for the McMurry Annual fund will be held on Jan. 16 in Amarillo and Jan. 17 in Dumas.

4-H'ERS PRACTICE FOREST MANAGEMENT

One third of the total land area in the United States is forested - about 718 million out of a total of 2,264 million acres. Unlike some of our natural resources, forests are renewable. Managed wisely, they will continue to provide wood and fiber products, jobs and recreation for future generations.

A key objective of the national 4-H forestry program is to teach young people practical skills in forest management and use of forest products.

Under the supervision of the Extension service and supported by International Paper Co., 4-H members 9 to 19 years of age learn-by-doing about wise forestry practices. Projects and activities include planting trees from seeds or seedlings, harvesting timber, protecting forests from fire, and becoming familiar with tools of the forest.

4-H'ers learn to appreciate the importance of our nation's woodlands as a source of income, raw materials and enjoyment necessary for quality living. And they explore career opportunities in forestry and related fields.

International Paper Co. recognizes the outstanding accomplishments of 4-H forestry program members with a full schedule of awards: $1,000 scholarship for six national winners, an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago for one winner per state, and four medals of honor at the county level. Winners are chosen by the Extension service.

The Company also assists in the development of educational materials for members and leaders in the 4-H program and underwrites costs of three national workshops. The forestry program is arranged by the National 4-H Council, a non-profit educational organization serving 4-H. Details about joining 4-H and further information on the 4-H forestry program are available at the county Extension office.

VICA Members Enjoy Saturday Breakfast

Hereford Cosmetology members of Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) Chapter 489 were taken to a Kidnap Breakfast Saturday morning. Students that were initiated into the chapter at the first of the year hosted the breakfast at the home of Mrs. Jackie Cabiness, sponsor. Breakfast included sausage pinwheels, cinnamon rolls, pumpkin bread, biscuits, cream gravy, hot chocolate and orange juice.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

With so many women juggling a home and a career these days, my attention was drawn to a book by Shirley Conran called "Superwoman" in which she advised women on how to avoid housework.

Her ideas made a lot of sense, like: "Don't keep pets. Don't polish floors. Use quilts or sleeping bags instead of making beds. Don't buy anything that needs ironing."

Don't dry dishes. Roast in foil. Line shelves with self-adhesive paper and pour a capful of liquid detergent in your bathtub before turning on the water so you don't have to scour it.

It's only when she suggested, "Squash toilet rolls so that the center becomes oval. That way the paper doesn't roll off so fast," that she lost me.

WHAT KIND OF ANIMAL DO YOU THINK I AM, SHIRLEY?

Oh, I've done a lot of cutting corners in my time. I was the first woman in my block to have black towels, the first to save on my food bills by taking the light out of the refrigerator, and I hold the record for having sent the same zucchini cookies in a school lunch for a year and a half, but squashing toilet tissue rolls is going too far!

You're talking to a woman who experiences absolute rage everytime she goes into a public restroom and has to do battle with the towel machine. You know what I'm talking about.

There's the "Little Teaser" model... the machine where you punch a button and crank it on the side and about two inches of paper comes out before it locks and you have to repeat the entire process. By the time you get enough paper out to dry off, the water has dripped down your elbow and onto your clothes.

There's the "Firmly Packed" model, where the machine is NEVER without paper. All you have to do is wedge your finger inside, get a piece of it caught on your fingernail and pull it out... a piece at a time.

And let us not forget the "Hanging Salute to Gern Tapestry." This is the linen towel that pulls from a machine. In thirty years of using the public facilities, I have yet to see a new one. I believe they come out of the package and get put into the machine with only four inches of clean towel left -- all of it next to the machine's end. The rest looks like it spent the night on the floor of the Rams' locker room.

I implore you, Shirley, to reexamine your priorities. We could cut somewhere else. Make leftovers ahead! Rent children! Move a lot! But when you tamper with functional needs... you're asking for war.

Sweet 'N' Fancy Club Discusses Workshop

Sweet 'n' Fancy Cake Club met Thursday morning in the Community Center. The meeting was called to order and the financial report and minutes were read. An upcoming workshop was discussed and dates will be decided at the next meeting.

Club treasurer announced that full figure Mickey Mouse cake pans were bought for later use. Members were also informed that at their next meeting a demonstration and program will be given on making silk flowers.

It was reported that Helen Kleuskens and Alice Koenig prepared cakes for King's Manor for the month of December. Martha Lytal and Elida Balderaz will prepare and deliver cakes for the month of January.

A program was given by Martha Lytal and Johnny Beatty on "Floral Design and Arrangements." Guests for the meeting were Rusty Eschenberg and Joyce Geiger.

Members attending were Mary McCutchen, Margaret Gomez, Nancy Carlisle, Ellen Thames, Kathy Veld, Valerie Fuston, Yolanda Guerrero, Erlinda Quintana, Isabel Cervantez, Carol Hinton, Evelyn Crofford, Betty Henson, Johnny Batty, Kathy Holmes, Alice Koenig, Elida Balderaz, Grace Gonzales and Martha Lytal.

Cabbage is a more stable source of vitamin C than most leafy vegetables--but should not be allowed to dry out. Keep in the vegetable crisper of the refrigerator where the humidity is high, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture home economists.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Dean Hartgraves are the parents of a daughter, Elisha Maria Hartgraves, born January 5. She weighed 7 lbs. 6 ozs.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Michael Hampton are the parents of a son, Dusty Wayne Hampton born January 5. He weighed 6 lbs. 10 1/2 ozs.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dean Rivers are the parents of a son, Quinn Everett TyWayne Rivers born January 6. He weighed 7 lbs. 1 oz.

Mr. and Mrs. Meilico Esmuel Mondragon are the parents of a daughter, Rachel Ann Mondragon born January 6. She weighed 6 lbs. 12 1/2 ozs.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Scott Burney are the parents of a daughter, Haley Nicole Burney born January 11. She weighed 7 lbs. 3 ozs.

Store butter in its original wrapper or container and it will not pick up flavors from other foods, recommends Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System.

Unusual Ribbon-Cutting

Members of Deaf Smith General Hospital Auxiliary held an unusual ribbon-cutting ceremony Sunday afternoon at their gift shop in the hospital lobby. Using a pair of surgical scissors and a strip of gauze bandage, the hospital and Auxiliary officially opened the shop, which can be seen in the

Officers Elected By Garden Club

Officers of Hereford Garden Club were elected Friday afternoon during a business meeting in the home of Mrs. O.G. Hill Sr., 122 Hickory.

The slate of new officers, who will be installed during the month of May, are Mrs. Jack Wilcox, president; Mrs. Arthur Stoy, first vice president; Mrs. Edgar Lemons, second vice president; Mrs. D.N. Garner, third vice president; Mrs. R.L. Ethridge, recording secretary; Mrs. H.R. Cocanougher, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alfred Smith, treasurer; Mrs. Ethridge, reporter and publicity chairman; Mrs. Jim Cavin, assistant reporter; Mrs. Garner, parliamentarian; and Mrs. G.W. Newsom, Women's Forum representative.

Mrs. Garner presided during the business meeting and members answered roll call by listing unusual plants, such as Bird's Nest Fern, Sensitive plant, Dishrag Gourd and Gromelia.

It was announced that the club raised $250 for the Garden Club Center recently during a bazaar.

Mrs. Newsom presented the program on organic gardening in Deaf Smith County. She placed emphasis on organic products from Arrowhead Mills, which is locally owned and controlled. She stated that wheat, corn and soybeans from Deaf Smith County are grown in soil improved by compost marine trace minerals, kelp and others. Also, beneficial insects abound in the fields, she said.

Mrs. Newsom then explained processing, testing and storage of the grains at Arrowhead Mills.

Also addressing the club-women was Mrs. Cocanougher, who discussed a new discovery, the extracting of milk from the zucchini for use in bread, pudding and pie recipes.

Mrs. A.M. Stoy provided the arrangement for the club meeting, which was an unusual combination of cauliflower and mustard leaves.

Mrs. Wilcox was cohostess. Other members in attendance were Mmes. Ben Childers, J.N. Jacobsen, Ray Johnson, R.W. Mitchell, Burnie Riley, S.S. Williams and R.L. Wilson.

Hong Kong is the U.S.'s largest source of imported apparel, reports Becky Culp, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Hong Kong's garment industry has doubled in size in the last six years, accounting for 40 percent of all workers and 84 percent of all exports, Mrs. Culp said.

Ann Landers

Hotel Blues

Lamaze Classes To Begin

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I own a motel. We are writing to let you know it's time you stopped giving motels a bad name by repeatedly referring to them in your column as a place where illicit sexual affairs are conducted.

Why don't you say, "When a man takes a woman to a hotel," or "to his apartment" or "to the home of a mutual friend"? Must it ALWAYS be "a motel"?

We offer accommodations to many travelers with small children. We are a godsend to people who are stranded with car trouble. Motels are the ideal solution for relatives who visit but don't want to impose. We also offer a quiet night's lodging to troubled (or angry) spouses who need time away from home to cool off and think things over.

Please, Ann Landers, give us a break and stop using "motel" as a synonym for a secret meeting place for sexual orgies. We perform a great many social services and don't deserve the black eye you are giving us. — Just Trying to Make An Honest Living.

DEAR TRYING: Sorry if I offended you, but when a person writes to me and says, "We spent the night in a motel," I don't change the letter to read, "We spent the night in a church."

I'm sure the majority of motel owners do their best to run respectable inns. They aren't interested in the two-hour customers, but when I receive a letter saying, "We went to a motel"... I print "motel."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have agreed that we are too close to the situation to be objective — so we are asking you.

Our 17-year-old Barbie and her 18-year-old Buzzy can't seem to keep their hands off each other. She is either stroking his hair, stroking his arms, or she has her hands around his waist or shoulders.

Buzzy kisses her neck and her hands, runs his fingers through her hair and caresses her every few minutes. All this goes on in the presence of friends, parents, grandparents, anyone who happens to be around.

My husband and I don't think such behavior is respectable. We've told them so and they tell us we are "out of it." According to them, young love is beautiful and they are not ashamed to show their feelings. What do you say? — A Couple of Old Goats — Ages 41 and 42.

DEAR GOATS: Young love IS beautiful, but what you describe sounds more like pawing, mauling, massaging and petting. This puts a very cheap connotation on something that ought to be precious — and private. I'm with you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son will be celebrating his sixth birthday soon. We would like to give him a party but the problem is the mothers. They bring their kids and act as if the party was for them.

Kids always behave better around. We have a small apartment and it would be a lot easier for me without the mamas. I don't want to hurt feelings. How can I work this out? — Color Me Yellow

DEAR Y: It's simple. Phone the mamas and ask them to drop off their youngsters. Sweeten the situation by telling them you'll bring the children home. I'll be happy to have the few hours to themselves.

Lamaze Childbirth Preparedness classes will be held here for expectant parents, beginning Jan. 29.

The weekly classes will be held each Monday night for seven weeks. Eligible couples should have due dates through the month of April.

Penny Jessup is a certified Lamaze instructor and will be teaching the class. Persons interested in enrolling should contact her at 364-6435.

There was a man who lived by the side of the road and sold hot dogs.

He sold very good hot dogs.

He put up signs along the highway and advertised in the newspaper telling how good they were.

He stood on the side of the road and cried:

"Buy a hot dog, Mister?"

And people bought.

He increased his meat and bun orders.

He bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade.

He finally got his son home from college to help him out.

But then something happened.

His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio and watching TV?"

There's a big depression.

The foreign situation is terrible. The domestic situation is worse."

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college, he listens to the radio and watches TV and he ought to know."

So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his signs and cancelled his newspaper ads and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell his hot dogs. And his hot dog sales fell almost overnight.

"You're right, son" the father said to the boy.

"We certainly are in the middle of a great depression."

New Season Starts Tonight

'Faces Open District With Coronado

By MARC HERRING
Brand Sports Editor

Forget the number of wins and the number of losses. All of that does not concern the Hereford basketball team now as district play in 4-4A starts tonight when they host the Mustangs of Lubbock Coronado.

Hereford takes a 5-15 record into tonight's game but that is meaningless as far as the district race is concerned.

"We start all over tonight and we have as much chance as anyone in the district," Coach Bobby Decker said.

The game, Hereford's first in district action, will have the Whitefaces going against Barry Arnwine's Mustangs. Arnwine is a former coach at Hereford and is considered by some people as the coach to beat because of his defensive teaching. The Mustangs won their first district contest, a 76-52 whipping of Lubbock High.

Leading the Mustangs is senior Steve Ahlenius, who averages over 20 points a game. Other threats on the Coronado team are Russell Johnson, Scott Williams and Bob Griffin.

players who can keep a team from concentrating on stopping the 6-5 Ahlenius.

Hereford will counter with Jackie Mercer (12 ppg). Larry McNutt (5), Brent Allen (6.7), David Mays (7.3) and Robert Graves (11.8). Once again the 'Faces will have a height disadvantage and will have to be quicker than the much taller Mustangs to win according to Decker.

Hereford goes into the game averaging 53 points, with a 40 percent average from the field. Their opposition have been averaging 65 points a contest with 43 percent accuracy. Free throws accuracy has been to the 'Faces advantage with a 64 percent average compared to 58 percent for the opposition. The individual leader after 20 games this season is Mercer in points scored (239), free throws (53.74) and assists with 37. Other leaders are David Mays in rebounding with 146 and Leslie Mullins in shooting accuracy (11-16 for 68 percent).

The Whitefaces have scored 1,068 points thus far in the season while allowing 1,255 points. Other stats have Hereford fouling 315 times and being fouled 306 times. In the rebound department the Herd has 593 caroms and their opponents have collected 637 missed shots.

Coronado and Monterey are the favorites to win the district, both being 1-0 in district play. Hereford will host both of these teams this half of district while playing away at Plainview and Lubbock High.

Second half action will have Hereford visiting Coronado and Monterey and playing host to the Bulldogs and the Westerners. The winner of each half will play for the district title and the right to represent the district in the playoffs.

Booster Club Sets Meeting

The Whiteface Booster Club will hold its first meeting of the new year Thursday at 7:30 p.m. according to club president Bob Nigh.

The meeting with coaches Roy Shipp and Bobby Decker speaking, will have films and reports of the teams' non-district play. Also the coaches will report how the district competition shapes up for the season. Everyone is invited to attend.

JV's Take Third In Canyon Tourney

Corina Suarez and Keile Robinson led the Hereford junior varsity girls basketball team to a third place finish in the Canyon Invitational Tournament over the weekend.

Involved in a four-game-in-three day schedule the JV's whipped the River Road junior varsity 47-36 for the third place trophy.

The 'Faces opened play in the tournament with a 55-36 victory over the Tullia B-team Thursday afternoon. Friday the team traveled to Pampa and captured their second victory in two days. Saturday, playing at noon, the girls faltered against a tough Dimmitt team and lost 55-38 to be eliminated from the championship bracket.

Playing again less than six hours later the girls, behind the 16 points each of Suarez and Robinson captured their third win in three days.

During tournament play Suarez scored 49 points, despite being injured in the Pampa game with a twisted ankle. Robinson tossed in 40 points for the tournament, as well as leading the scoring for the Herd in the Pampa game.

The sophomore team also played in the tournament that was comprised of mostly junior varsity teams. They were defeated by the River Road JV team 41-18 on Thursday, and then lost to the Olton B-team Saturday morning 33-23. Leading the scoring for the sophs in the game were Donna Duggan with eight and Treisa Schilling with seven.

The junior varsity will take its 12-7 record to Dumas Jan. 16 for its next action. Against JV teams the Herd boasts a 12-3 ledger.

Bonds Wants Security In Contract With Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) - Bobby Bonds wants security for himself and his family, and the Cleveland Indians want the veteran outfielder.

Now the two parties are trying to work out the details of a settlement that will bring the reluctant star into the Indians' fold.

Bonds and his agent, attorney Rod Wright of Palm Springs, Calif., met for most of Monday with Indians President Gabe Paul and General Manager Phil Seghi in a reported effort to have Bonds' current contract renegotiated.

The fleet outfielder apparently wants an extension beyond the four years remaining on his current pact, as well as a raise in the reported $400,000-a-year salary.

Bonds, 32, was traded to the Indians from Texas last October as part of a seven-player deal. However, the veteran slugger has balked at being traded for the fifth time in his career and has threatened to retire rather than report to the Indians in the spring.

"Money has nothing to do with it," Bonds explained after he and Wright finished the first day of meetings with the Indians' brass. "I want to be with my family in one city, rather than hopping across the country."

"I have nothing against the people of Cleveland or the city. I just want some stability in my career and my life. I don't want to be traded again."

Sources close to the Indians said the team was willing to add a no-trade clause to the contract, but their willingness to do so did not satisfy Bonds. However, nobody close to the situation would confirm a report that Bonds is asking to renegotiate his contract.

"We came to Cleveland to negotiate in good faith, and not the rest is up to the Indians," Bonds noted.

Bonds said he wants to play baseball and, asked if he would be in Tucson, Ariz., when the Indians begin spring training there, he said, "I hope so."

Bonds has played for the San Francisco Giants, New York Yankees, California Angels, Chicago White Sox and Texas.

All the trades have taken place since Oct. 22, 1974. Bonds does not want to move again.

"This is the time in the life of Bobby Bonds when he wants to settle down and be in one place, whether it's in baseball or something else," he explained.

Paul said: "I appreciate his feelings. I traded for him and I'm guilty of trading him to California when Paul was with the Yankees. He's honest in what he says. He's sincere.

"I didn't put any pressure on him, to let time work in our favor. It's not often you trade for a player and really know what you're getting."

Asked if he thinks there is any specific reason he has been traded around so much, Bonds said, "I have no idea...but I know I've performed at every stop I've made in my career."

Splitting the year between Chicago and Texas last season, Bonds hit .269 with 31 homers and 90 runs batted in, as well as 43 stolen bases.

Buerkle A Fluke?

By Ira Berkow

Top milers don't look like Dick Buerkle, don't run like him, and don't quite think like him.

He is short, bald, and runs with steps hardly longer than those of a geisha girl in flight. He is also the world record holder for the indoor mile, with a 3:54.9.

One imagines that those tall, sleek, long-striding milers of the past — the Ryans, the Kelnos, the Landys, the Bannisters — are soaking their feet someplace and wondering what God has wrought. Especially since other present-day milers such as Marty Liquori, John Walker and Filbert Bayi are in their lanky mold.

Buerkle, who will be running in the Vitalis-U.S. Olympic Invitational on Jan. 20 at Madison Square Garden in New York (NBC-TV, 11:30 p.m. EST), reports from his home in Rochester, N.Y., "I'm feeling very fluid, stronger than ever."

Buerkle is out to prove that last season's spectacular showing was no fluke.

Coming out of the proverbial blue as he did to set the record last January, he has yet to satisfy a goodly number of critics.

He surprised people not only because of his running style, his size (5-foot-7, the shortest of the top milers) or even his age (at 31, he is the oldest of the current milers), but also the manner in which he broke the record and won several top medals.

Buerkle (pronounced Burk-ley) did not race at all in 1977, and for all intents and purposes had retired. Since he and his wife, Jean, had an infant son, it was decided that Dick's amateur running career should give way to familial responsibility. Buerkle took a job as an optical salesman and public relations representative for Bausch and Lomb, soft-lens manufacturers in Rochester.

Yet Buerkle's feet were still itchy for running, and every chance he got he was out on a nearby junior high school track.

"I missed the pressure of the competition," he said, "and the idea that I still could excel in races. I love the feeling of pushing your body beyond limits you never thought possible."

With encouragement from his employer and acquiescence from his wife, Buerkle returned to serious competition. He also tried the mile, instead of the middle-distance that he had been running for the better part of his career.

"Once in 1974 I ran a 3:57 mile," he said. "It was one of the few times since my college days at Villanova that I ran a mile. For some reason I didn't run the mile after that. But I had it in the back of my mind that one day..."

Besides all of the other unconventional aspects to Buerkle the miler, he added a final straw.

He thought his middle-distance stamina would benefit him in trying something new. Most of the best milers have let others set the pace, then they have kicked to the front in the latter part of the race. Buerkle has shocked many by kicking to the front and staying there until he hit the wire.

Irish No. 1 After Top Twenty Upsets

NEW YORK (AP) - Notre Dame, surviving a rash of upsets that plagued the Top 20, moved into the No. 1 position in The Associated Press major college basketball poll today.

"I would hope we're No. 1 - there's nobody left," Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps said Saturday after his team beat Marquette 65-60.

Phelps got his wish as the Irish, ranked second last week, garnered 46 of 56 first-place votes and 1,106 points in the balloting by a nationwide committee of sports writers and broadcasters. Notre Dame also routed Davidson 95-53 in a week that saw 14 of the Top 20 teams lose at least one.

Michigan State was the major casualty, losing to Illinois 57-55 and Purdue 52-50. That knocked the Spartans from the No. 1 slot to No. 6 with 783 points and no first-place votes.

North Carolina, with three first-place votes and 1,010 points, moved from third to second with impressive victories over Duke and Arkansas following a loss to Wake Forest.

UCLA jumped from sixth to third with 978 points. Illinois, which incurred its first loss of the season at the hands of Ohio State on Saturday, 69-66, held onto the No. 4 ranking with 949 points, including five first-place votes.

Indiana State, the only major unbeaten team in the country with a 14-0 record, was fifth with two first-place votes and 857 points.

Louisville was in the No. 7 position with 689 points, one more than the preseason favorite, Duke.

Louisiana State, another team that was unbeaten going into last week's games, dropped from fifth to ninth following losses to Vanderbilt and Alabama. The Hoyas of Georgetown, D.C. rounded out the Top 10 with 453 points.

Arkansas, which also fell from the unbeaten ranks last week, headed the lower flight of the Top Twenty, followed by Syracuse, Marquette, North Carolina State, Texas A&M, Ohio State, Temple, Alabama, Maryland and Kansas.

Alabama, Maryland and giant-killer Ohio State, which knocked Duke and Illinois from the unbeaten ranks this season, are the newcomers to the Top 20 this week.

Kentucky, Long Beach State and Michigan dropped out of the Top 20.

Cowboys Ready For Steeler Rematch

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) - The defending world champion Dallas Cowboys returned to Florida Monday night - a place where they have known nothing but heartbreak for next Sunday's Super Bowl

XIII clash with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The flight arrived 15 minutes behind schedule and one unidentified Cowboy was in such a hurry to get off the plane that he left his playbook behind.

An alert pilot fetched the playbook and hustled it to the team bus just before the Cowboys motored to their Fort Lauderdale hotel.

After a red carpet sendoff in Dallas in which a hardy band of some 300 fans braved a biting cold wind, the Cowboys arrived in 66-degree weather and were greeted by the Cooper City, Fla., cowboy band.

Each player received a sack of citrus fruit.

Linebacker Thomas Henderson, the Cowboys' controversial ambassador of the pop-off, was asked if he thought the American Football Conference Steelers had any class.

"They have class, but they don't have the depth," said Henderson, resplendent in Cowboy hat and boots.

Henderson stopped at the top of the steps to announce, "Hollywood is here!"

Henderson fueled controversy two weeks ago when he said the Los Angeles Rams didn't have the class to go to the Super Bowl. The Cowboys whipped the Rams 28-0 in the National Football Conference title game punctuated by Henderson's 68-yard touchdown return of an interception.

Denver. There was a lot of talk about Pittsburgh's ability to intimidate its opponents.

Dallas linebacker D.D. Lewis said, "Pittsburgh doesn't have a weakness. They are tough - the best I've seen this year. But we beat them in the preseason and we know they are beatable."

"We know they'll try to come out and try to intimidate us, but they won't be playing the young Cowboy team they faced in the 1975 Super Bowl. Those players (Dallas team) have much more experience now."

Yankees Want Carew

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) - After snubbing San Francisco, Rod Carew and his agent are negotiating with the California Angels this week. But the ever-present New York Yankees are still waiting their turn to court the seven-time batting champion.

inter-league trading period opens.

Carew could not be reached at his suburban Minneapolis home Monday night, but his wife, Marilyn, said, "Nothing has changed. He's still thinking."

When asked if he knew the Giants had withdrawn their offer, Carew's wife said, "Oh, yes."

The Angels have five days left to talk with Carew. California General Manager Buzzie Bavasi is reportedly ready to offer Carew $4 million over five years, but the Twins say they haven't received a reasonable offer from the Angels yet.

Minnesota said any trade must include outfielder Ken Landreaux. Other names being mentioned are pitcher Paul Hartzell and infielders Richard Thon and Dave Chalk.

New York has permission to talk with Carew beginning Saturday if no deal with California can be worked out.

New York reportedly will offer Minnesota first baseman Chris Chambliss, second baseman Brian Doyle, outfielder Juan Beniquez and cash.

The Twins felt those three layers from the World Champion Yankees could make them a contender. They also believe Carew, who has longed to play in the World Series, would also be happy in New York.

Carew also said Sunday he has no objections to going to New York if a contract agreement can be reached. Money would probably not be a problem for the Yankees, however.

BALTIMORE (AP) - A formal sales contract for the Baltimore Orioles could be ready for the signatures of Jerold C. Hoffberger, the Orioles' board chairman, and William Simon within 10 days, the Baltimore Sun reported today.

The newspaper said that Hoffberger and the former secretary of the treasury met on Dec. 27 and their lawyers have drafted a sales contract since then.

Robert A. Schulman, a tax lawyer in Washington, is representing Simon while Hoffberger is represented by Eugene Feinblatt, a Baltimore lawyer. The two are reportedly going to meet this week to go over the draft contract line by line.

The progress toward preparing a sales contract is a blow to a rival Baltimore group which is trying to purchase the team to keep it from going to outside interests.

Today In History

By The Associated Press Today is Tuesday, Jan. 16, the 16th day of 1979. There are 349 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history? On this date in 1778, France recognized the United States as an independent nation. On this date: In 1547, Ivan the Terrible was crowned Czar of Russia. In 1816, Portugal's South American colony, Brazil, became a kingdom. In 1883, the U.S. Congress passed a bill creating the Civil Service. In 1893, U.S. Marines landed in Hawaii to restore order in a revolution in which the islands' monarchy was overthrown. In 1920, the 18th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution went into effect, making prohibition the law. In 1964, on Broadway, the musical, "Hello Dolly" and Carol Channing in the lead role became instant hits. Ten years ago: Soviet cosmonauts made the first link-up of two manned spacecrafts, and the first transfer of crewmen from one craft to another. Five years ago: The White House denied President Richard Nixon had personally erased an 18 1/2-minute segment of a key Watergate tape either deliberately or accidentally. One year ago: Italy's Christian Democratic minority government resigned under increasing pressure from the Communists and other factions. Today's birthdays: Musical comedy star Ethel Merman is 70 years old. Auto racer A.J. Foyt is 44. Thought for today: Not life, but a good life, is to be chiefly valued - Socrates, Greek philosopher, about 470-399 B.C.

HEALTH Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Treatment for goiter By Lawrence Lamb, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB - Please tell me all you can about a goiter. I have an inside goiter in my neck. My neck is swollen behind, in front and on the side. I have lumps in my neck and my face is swollen. My doctor gave me thyroid tablets which will take from three to six months to reduce it and I have arthritis in my neck, back, arms and legs. Is it something that might choke me? Should it be taken out or wait? I have had a thyroid scan. I have heard that taking thyroid tablets makes you hungry all the time. Is there a good diet? I have just been taking thyroid eight days. DEAR READER - An inside or inward goiter refers to an enlarged thyroid gland that extends below the breast bone just at the bottom of the neck. If part of the goiter is trapped behind the breast bone, it can produce pressure on the wind pipe. Since you've had a thyroid scan, I would presume that you had a rather careful evaluation of your thyroid status. I am not optimistic that your goiter is going to disappear in just a few months, however, even if you are taking thyroid medicines. It is true that thyroid is given to help reduce the size of the goiter. It works best when the gland is relatively small. From your description, it sounds to me like your enlargement might be rather marked. In any case, I am sure it's worth a trial to see if it starts to decrease the size of the thyroid gland. If it doesn't, you may need to have surgery to relieve the pressure created by the goiter. Whether this is necessary depends on what symptoms, if any, you may have currently. Taking thyroid medicine shouldn't increase your appetite an awful lot unless you had a low thyroid state to begin with. You can have a goiter and have normal thyroid function. If you were low on thyroid, that can be a factor in contributing to obesity. Most cases of obesity, however, are caused by simple overeating and not enough physical activity. Nevertheless, I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet so you will have a sensible well-balanced diet that you could use to control your weight. If you don't need to lose weight, I'd suggest that you follow the diet and add whatever additional calories and other foods you like to maintain your weight level. If you want to lose weight, then just limit your foods to the items listed in the diet. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1351, Reno City Station, New York, NY 10019. I would like to emphasize that most overweight people do not need thyroid medicine. In fact, thyroid pills are overused if anything and are often given when they shouldn't be. The Food and Drug Administration is making an extra effort to discourage the use of thyroid medicines to treat obesity. If you have normal thyroid function and then take thyroid medicine, all that really happens is that your own thyroid gland quits producing so much hormone. The end result is no real change in the amount of thyroid hormone available to your body. The difference is that your thyroid gland is less active.

Committees Pay Abiding Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP) - Thirteen congressmen who helped kill a federal no-fault car insurance bill in committee received $28,600 in contributions from the political fundraising arm of the trial lawyers' association, a leading opponent of the bill.

Two dairy industry groups donated $110,750 to members of the House Agriculture Committee, which helps decide milk price supports and other issues worth millions of dollars to dairy farmers.

The trucking industry's political action committee contributed to the campaigns of two-thirds of the members of the House subcommittee that will handle deregulation of the $31 billion trucking industry.

The chief political fundraising committee of the marine engineers' union donated $1,000 or more each to 24 of 36 members of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee who sought re-election. The committee handles shipping legislation, and one member, citing a conflict of interest, sent his contribution back.

These contributions and thousands of others mark a growing trend in congressional campaigns - heavy financial support for candidates by political action committees, the campaign fundraising arms of businesses, unions and professional associations.

These political action committees - known as PACs - now number more than 1,700 and are allowed by law to give candidates up to $5,000 per election. Last year, they donated an estimated $40 million, raised through voluntary donations. Two years ago, the amount was $24 million.

Common Cause, which calls itself a citizen's lobby and researches and publicizes what it believes are government abuses, refers to the PAC contributions "the buying of Congress."

"The greater the growth of PACs in the political process, the less reason citizens have to believe their interests are going to be part of the decision-making process," says Fred Wertheimer, Common Cause vice president.

Common Cause gets most of its money from $15 year memberships and does not contribute to political campaigns. It advocates a system of partial public financing to reduce the influence of special interest money on elections. However, the prospect for passage of such public financing in this budget-conscious Congress is not considered good.

Most PAC officials say the current system of making contributions encourages "broad-based" participation in the political process.

Some PAC officials also contend their donations are needed to protect their interests in Congress against competing interests that also contribute money to candidates.

In the House, much of the campaign money was directed to key committee and subcommittee chairmen, and PACs generally focused attention on committees dealing with their special areas of interest.

Rep. Thomas S. Foley, chairman of the Agriculture Committee, won a tough re-election fight in November, helped by $67,300 from political action committees representing agricultural interests.

Foley says he favors public financing for congressional but has "no apologies to make" for accepting the money. He says he "never accepted any strings attached" to contributions and is "not going to give any individual or group special consideration."

Four ranking members of the House Banking Committee received a total of nearly $100,000 from financial, insurance and housing interests that are affected by legislation handled by the committee.

Rep. Fernand J. St. Germain, D-R.I., chairman of the House Banking subcommittee on financial institutions supervision, regulation and insurance, was given $37,475 by political action groups representing interests affected by Banking Committee actions.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., committee chairman, reported $23,600 from such groups; Rep. Thomas Ashley, D-Ohio, chairman of the housing and community development subcommittee, received $21,300; and Rep. William S. Moorhead, D-Pa., chairman of the economic stabilization subcommittee, got $17,200.

Spokesmen for St. Germain, Ashley and Moorhead said the congressmen feel that PAC donations do not represent conflicts of interest although Ashley and Moorhead favor public financing for campaigns. Reuss was unavailable and a spokesman declined to comment for him.

However, some congressmen do find fault with PAC donations. Rep. David Emery, R-Maine, returned a $1,000 contribution to the political action fund of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association - MEBA - to avoid what he considered a conflict of interest.

"Serving on the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee and taking money from these organizations is the worst kind of conflict of interest," Emery said. "MEBA is interested in influencing my vote on the committee."

Officials of the association's political action committee were not available for comment.

The American Trial Lawyers Association's PAC gave a total of $28,600 to 13 of 22 congressmen who voted last August to kill no-fault legislation in the House Commerce Committee.

The no-fault bill, defeated in committee 22-19, was vigorously opposed by the trial lawyers, who would have been hurt financially by eliminating litigation over who is at fault in car accidents.

Leonard Ring of the trial lawyers' PAC said opposition to no-fault insurance would be "a factor, but not the only factor" in deciding to donate to a congressman's campaign. Five of 19 members of the Commerce Committee who voted for no-fault also got contributions from the trial lawyers, but the amounts were generally smaller.

Researcher Says Taxes in Texas Create Nation's 6th Lowest Burden

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texans pay an average of $370 in state taxes annually - the sixth lowest state tax burden in the nation, a business researcher concludes.

"A few states have apparently been more successful than others in levying that most popular of all taxes - the tax that somebody else has to pay," said researcher Charles P. Zlatkovich in an article published this month in Texas Business magazine.

Severance taxes on oil and gas account for 19 percent of state tax revenue, compared to about 2 percent of average state taxes nationwide, said Zlatkovich, research associate at the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

"To some extent, the severance tax is one of those popular taxes that somebody else pays, since a portion of Texas oil and gas is sent out of state," the researcher said.

Comparison of state tax burdens must take several factors into account, he added.

"Some states may have relatively low state taxes but relatively high local taxes because more functions are funded at the local level," he said.

Texas - along with Florida, Nevada, South Dakota, Washington and Wyoming - does not have a personal income tax, which nationwide accounts for 25 percent of all state tax revenues.

Sales and gross receipts taxes account for 67 percent of Texas state taxes, but only 52 percent nationwide.

Newspapers Sold To Hearst Corporation

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) - The Midland Reporter - Telegram and the Plainview Daily Herald were formally sold Monday to the Hearst Corp.

Announcement of the pending sale of the newspaper properties by the James Allison family of Midland had been made Dec. 11.

The Reporter - Telegram circulates 21,000 daily and 23,000 Sunday. The Daily Herald has a daily and Sunday circulation of 10,000.

The Midland newspaper had been in the Allison family since 1940 and the Plainview paper had been owned by the family since 1965.

The newspapers were put up for sale after the death of publisher James Allison Jr. last August.

Amarillo Sheriff Receives Hearing in Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) - A Texas sheriff who was sued by a man arrested when mistaken for his brother was granted a hearing Monday by the Supreme Court.

The court agreed to decide if Potter County Sheriff T.L. Baker is immune from suit in the case.

The suit stems from the arrest in December 1972 in Dallas of Linnie Carl McCollan. McCollan was transferred to the Potter County Jail on Dec. 30, 1972, and was held over the New Year's holidays until Baker returned on Jan. 2, 1973, and determined that McCollan had been mistaken for his brother Leonard.

Linnie McCollan filed suit in federal court charging the sheriff with false arrest and false imprisonment. He also sued the arresting police officer and the Dallas police chief, but the complaints against them were dismissed by the judge.

McCollan lost his case against Baker after a trial when the judge directed a verdict of acquittal.

But the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals overturned the judge and reinstated the case for new trial.

Baker asked the Supreme Court to reverse the appeals court ruling.

In a legal brief filed with the court, Baker's lawyer said the sheriff had acted in good faith and had moved immediately to dismiss the charges when he discovered the case of mistaken identity.

The legal brief also said that Baker adopted a new policy after the incident that required his deputies, when picking up prisoners in other jurisdictions, to take mug shots and fingerprint records along.

The Lighter Side

XENIA, Ohio (AP) - Folks here went bananas after the refrigerator unit failed in a truck loaded with the fruit.

A local grocery warehouse refused to accept the 37,000-pound shipment, but dozens of CBers felt otherwise - they volunteered to unload the cargo at the city dump.

A landfill employee said several pickup trucks arrived shortly after the truckload of bananas. They left laden with fruit.

The trucker paid a $25 dumping fee, but the bananas were free.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) - Christmas is over, but the holiday wreath is still on the front door at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phil McKown.

The wreath sports two artificial cardinals, two tiny fake eggs, and a real sparrows' nest.

"I couldn't take it down now, since the little sparrows have made the nest their home," said Mrs. McKown.

And she says she may leave the wreath up for weeks, if the sparrows are trying to hatch the artificial eggs. When they give up, so will Mrs. McKown.

The McKowns, so not to disturb the sparrows, are entering their home in suburban Henrico County by a side door.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Edward Jackson is a 75-year-old retired merchant marine sailor who goes to Golden Gate Park golf course every day at 5 a.m. and 2 p.m. But he doesn't swing a club - he goes there to feed the cats who gather around the third and seventh tees.

At each site, Jackson has built four "cat mess halls," including two miniature tree houses made of wooden slats and two on the ground with wooden roofs.

The feelings began four years ago during a round of golf.

"I was playing one day when this scrawny little tabby about a year old, came up to me," he said. "I looked at those funny little sad eyes of hers and I knew she was a stray and that nobody was caring for her so I decided to get her something to eat."

From that cat, Lady Baby, came other strays, along with Lady Baby's kittens. And Jackson fed them all, rain or shine.

Sometimes, in the early morning darkness, patrolling police will ask Jackson what he is up to.

"I always tell them, 'Don't worry, I'm just feeding the cats.' And they go on their way."

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas lawmakers, in their first week on the job, waded through rules and committee appointment preliminaries—and heard outgoing Gov. Dolph Briscoe recommend a $1 billion tax cut.

What they were really interested in, however, was the message they would get later after new Republican Gov. Bill Clements' inauguration January 16.

Briscoe handed lawmakers in joint session a $19.8 billion proposed budget for 1980-81.

The legislators already had the Legislative Budget Board version of the new budget—a billion dollars higher—or $20.8 billion. Hearings were scheduled to begin on it this week.

Clements, like Briscoe, also will push for a tax cut in the neighborhood of $1 billion.

Both also urged legislators to adopt a constitutional amendment to allow Texans to initiate or veto major tax legislation.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, moving out the first day of the 66th session, named a full roster of standing committees which process legislation.

The budget-writing finance committee is headed by Sen. Grant Jones of Abilene. Hobby switched Sen. A. R. "Babe" Schwartz from chairmanship of jurisprudence to natural resources, and named Sen. Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls chairman of jurisprudence. The latter committee will hold hearings on the controversial initiative and referendum legislation.

Senate Opens Up
In a surprise move, the Texas Senate voted to alter drastically its historic rule permitting secret sessions to consider appointments by the governor.

Senators voted 18-13 for a rules amendment by Sen. Schwartz to abolish a directive that the appointments be debated behind closed doors.

Actually, they went along with Schwartz a decade ago and permitted suspension of the closed session rule by majority vote. They have frequently suspended the rule and gone into open consideration of nominations.

Schwartz has been pushing for 18 years to get rid of all closed sessions.

"All I want to do is switch the emphasis from closed sessions to open sessions on nominations," said Schwartz. "We can still hold an executive session if senators will stand up and vote for one."

Under the old rule, senators had to stand up and vote for an open session when an appointment was under consideration.

Contest Heard
A House committee Wednesday recommended rejection of a contest of the election of Rep. Don Cartwright, San Antonio.

The committee, refereeing the first such challenge brought before the House in four decades, heard testimony for two days.

Kae T. Patrick, a Republican defeated by Cartwright, brought the challenge, alleging election irregularities, improper campaign tactics and unconstitutional boundaries in the House district. He also pointed to charges brought against the lawmaker long ago; but the committee did not consider them, and held there was no showing enough votes were changed by the matters complained of by Patrick to change the election outcome.

Courts Speak
Texas Court of Criminal Appeals rejected the appeal of a former Houston district judge from an eight-year sentence for taking a bribe.

The court also upheld the murder conviction of a Corpus Christi man in the death of sportsman Randy Farenthold.

In another murder case, the court affirmed the capital conviction of a Lufkin man.

The State Supreme Court held penalties for violation of consumer protection laws could be collected in Dallas County on basis of a Washington state judgment.

The high court set arguments January 31 in a stock controversy among radio station owners.

A State Banking Board decision allowing a Hearne state bank to move to College Station also will be reviewed by the Supreme Court January 31.

Appointments Announced
Fred Williams of Houston is the new executive director of the State Democratic party, and Joyce Sampson of Austin is program director.

Briscoe appointed Joel M. Cummings of Houston to the board of regents of the University of Houston and Harlan Rogers Crow of Dallas to the Texas College and University System Coordinating Board.

Tom E. Elliott of Lubbock was named to the Metric System Advisory Council and Robert R. Norris of Lubbock as a member of the Texas Conservation Foundation.

The governor appointed Russell H. Perry of Dallas to the Texas Turnpike Authority board of directors.

Short Snorts
Texas Railroad Commission ordered reconsideration of its 1975 order for electric utilities and industries to phase out natural gas use for boiler fuel.

Hugh Yantis, ousted last summer by the Senate from the State Insurance Board, was dumped by senators again—from a minor agency, the Texas Coastal and Marine Council which paid no salary. Yantis said his term expired this week anyway.

Thirteen applications to register $13.4 million in securities for sale in Texas were filed with the State Securities board during the last week.

Major General Thomas S. Bishop, the state adjutant general, has been promoted to brevet lieutenant general in the military forces of Texas.

A public hearing is set February 21 on revision in fire, windstorm and extended coverage insurance rates and forms.

Texas senators voted themselves an increase of $500 to $7,000 a month each for hiring staff members during the legislative session.

Bob Krueger, who lost the 1978 U.S. Senate race to incumbent John Tower, is telling people he intends to run for some office in the future.

A senate committee ordered drafting of legislation which would transfer parole supervision to the Texas Department of Corrections or the state adult probation commission. The panel also recommended abolishing the governor's veto power over paroles to individuals.
