

Personally Speaking

By E. M.

If March is a lion fight now, give me a lamb any time.

This bothersome lion thinks nothing of blowing his icy breath right down one's back or of scratching up whole dust storms to bother every one, and generally making himself disagreeable.

Why he even froze my toothbrush the other night!

I am confident that all the housewives who had house plants freeze the other night, as well as the men who must needs repair burst water pipes, will share my dislike of this March lion.

How about getting up a referendum or something to take March out of the calendar?

"Aren't I" or "Am't I?"

Which will supersede the cumbersome "Am I not?" or the offensive "Ain't"?

Long a champion of the "Aren't I" clan, I was delighted to find the other day that the expression is strongly supported by a professor at Michigan University. However, altho his opinion is quoted in the Christian Science Monitor, the article itself seems to oppose the favored expression.

Nevertheless, here is the article as it is reprinted from the monitor. What do you think about it anyhow?

"Disciples of greater flexibility in the English language now ask the literary world to accept 'Aren't I?' as a fit and proper substitute for 'Am I not?' Sticklers for purity, of course are shocked at the suggestion, while even the great army of followers of 'Ain't I' express their disgust over a proposal that is based upon no more legitimate grounds. 'Am I not' is declared to be too cumbersome by such an authority as Prof. Samuel Moore of the University of Michigan, who has thrown the mantle of his approval upon 'Aren't I?' and thereby given it a status it has not hitherto enjoyed. 'Ain't I' appears in most dictionaries, but apparently with no idea of giving it any standing, as it is knocked down as speedily as it is set up with the significant little battery of italicized words—colloquial or illiterate."

But 'Aren't I?' as a contraction of 'Am I not?' present something analogous to a grammatical anamorphosis. How 'Am I not?' can be squeezed down into 'Aren't I?' passeth the average understanding. Placing a perfectly good 'Am I not?' in a letter-press or similar device and subjecting it to several hundred pounds' pressure, an experimenter would find, if he found anything at all, not an 'Aren't I' or a peculiar-looking and certainly no less offensive 'Am't I?'

Thus far no outstanding authority on the English language has boldly come forward with an indorsement of 'Am't I' as an economical substitute for 'Am I not?' And yet a quasi approval has been given to such a transparent distortion as 'Aren't I?' which, to use a colloquial expression, "has not a leg to stand on" when it is submitted to the most casual grammatical test."

All Land Owners Asked to Attend Highway Meeting

A road meeting of all the land-owners along the right of way for the new state highway 117 has been called for 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Darrouzett school auditorium, according to an announcement issued by H. H. Mitchell, county commissioner.

The purpose of the meeting is to bring together everyone interested in the new highway to aid the county commissioners in securing the right of way through the county. The route of the new highway extends from Booker through Darrouzett to Follett and straight east to the Oklahoma-Texas line.

Similar meetings have been called by the commissioners to be held at Follett on Friday afternoon and at Booker on Tuesday afternoon.

Cottingame Urges Farmers to attend Lecture On T.B.

Dr. J. C. Porter of the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry will be in Lipscomb, at the court house, on Monday, afternoon at three o'clock. He will explain the T. D. area test as it is related to Lipscomb county. The test, or cause for the test, is a ruling by U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry, at the request of 38 of the 48 States, that after July 1, 1934 all cattle that are shipped to feed lots, grazing areas, for milking or greening purposes out of any State must be T. B. tested in route. The work as explained to the county agent by Dr. Porter will be done by the Federal and State veterinaries. It is hoped that all cattlemen and dairymen will come out to hear Dr. Porter. He will have something to say that will be of interest to, and of vital importance to every livestock and dairy farmer as well as farmers who have only a family cow.

If action is taken by the people who should be interested in this matter the work can be gotten through with at very little if any expense to the livestock men and dairymen of the county. If the cattlemen and dairymen could realize the importance of the work there would be a great deal of interest, so let's come out to the meeting and find out the importance of the T. B. area test.

Chicken Raiser Thinks Culling Is Profitable

Mrs. George Trenfield of near Higgins is of the opinion that it pays to cull chickens.

After culling unprofitable egg producers from her flock of White Wyandotts she has been getting as many eggs as before and is not having to feed as heavily as before she took out the poor layers.

Mrs. Trenfield suggests that poultry owners should call on the county agent to inspect flocks and cull the unprofitable hens, no charge is made by the expert on the job and the trouble will be slight and the profit much greater.—Higgins News.

4-H Club Boy Finds That Calf Feeding Is Profitable

Thirty-five dollars and a great deal more dollars worth of good experience are the profits that Russell Ertz received from his experience at feeding a calf to enter the Amarillo Fat Stock Show.

Russell, with three other 4-H club boys in Lipscomb county, carried out his experiment under the direction of W. K. Cottingame, county agricultural agent.

In the first Lipscomb County 4-H Club Calf Show held at Lipscomb on Friday, February 29, the calves entered by the boys showed keen competition for the ribbons, Mr. Cottingame said.

First place went to Charles Trenfield with a blue ribbon and a cash prize of four dollars; John Trenfield won second prize of three dollars cash; Roland Wheat won third prize of two dollars; while Russell won fourth place with a one dollar prize.

All of the calves showed good quality, Mr. Cottingame stated. The agent added that he hoped to see a much larger number of boys entering in the competition next year.

The boys all entered their calves in the Fat Stock Show at Amarillo last

J.O. Himes Talks At Church Here Sunday Morning

"Jesus, the Great Teacher, and the Message He Brings, was the text on which Rev. J. O. Himes, pastor of the Follett Methodist Church, preached at church services here on Sunday morning.

Reverend Himes stressed the importance of Christian education. "Real education," he pointed out, "is not merely education of the intellect but development of character. Character cannot be built away from God."

"History shows us that individuals and nations often fail because they place emphasis upon the wrong thing. In modern education we too often stress the non-essentials and fail to put the emphasis where it belongs," Reverend Himes declared. "Faith is more important than education of intellect."

"Since a Christian character is a great heritage that parents leave their children, adults should investigate carefully the kind of school in which to educate their children," Rev. Himes stated. "Students who go to school without being prepared spiritually are often led astray by atheistic societies and other harmful influences."

Reverend Himes particularly stressed the importance of Christian education in helping build our lives. "Opportunities we take advantage of, govern our lives? True character involves the ability to rise above handicaps," he said.

"Education is not merely equipping ourselves to live this life but to live eternity," Reverend Himes emphasized.

March Proves Itself Lion—Not Lamb

Starting out a lamb, March suddenly developed into a raging lion last Friday. Since then the entire community has been shivering under its ferocity.

A cold rain early Friday morning developed into a blizzard which continued nearly all day. The snow fell itself was rather light, but the driving wind continued to blow.

In spite of frequent bursts of sunshine this week, the cold wind has continued. At times it has also been accompanied by dust storms.

Tuesday night was generally agreed to be one of the very coldest nights—if not the very coldest one—experienced this winter. Early Wednesday morning the temperature was only four degrees above zero.

What Thomas A. Edison Thought of Prohibition

"We have a fairly sober nation today, so much so that the European nations which are not sober are beginning to get very much worried. They already know they cannot compete with us and are taking steps to regulate the sale of liquor—If we get 80 per cent enforcement, no country anywhere can compete with us in anything. Seeing what a sober nation can do is indeed a noble experiment and one that has never been tried. We are steadily developing to a point where drinking will not fit into any of our programs in or out of the shops."

"All good citizens will stand by the wise program of our great President. This reform must go on to world-wide success. From an economic standpoint benefits from a better enforced prohibition law would be of inestimable value to the people at large, not mentioning physical and moral results."

"America will be irresistible in economics if it remains sober. You hear restrictions of personal liberty in speaking of prohibition. What is civilization but restriction of personal liberty for the improvement of mankind?"

On his seventy-ninth birthday, Mr. Edison said to a reporter: "Prohibition is a good thing for the children of today. It is useless to try to change those who are used to drinking. If we can enforce prohibition for twenty years, there won't be a drop of liquor in the country."

"I am a teetotaler from alcoholic liquors. I always felt that I had better use for my head."—The Union Signal.

Let's Support League Meets

The Interscholastic League is one organization that should be supported wholeheartedly by every person in Lipscomb County.

This organization has done more than any other one thing to promote wide-awake interest in a variety of literary and athletic activities. At the same time it has accomplished much in the line of training good citizens for tomorrow.

The League provides an opportunity for good wholesome competition; it develops a spirit of good winning and good losing; and it tends to enlarge the vision and widen the opportunity of our youth.

The League work is also very valuable in motivating the various branches of school work.

The minutes spent in enlarging the vision and widening the experiences of the youth of Texas are not time for which we need fear to render account.

We may be mistaken, but, if you want to know what we think, the abnormal "sexiness" of the present era is on the wane.

Every "buy now" shouter is not buying now; if they were there would be no depression.

There's nothing the matter with religion, even if many people know little about its application to life.

You never know when somebody is going to pay you a compliment—they never do.

Our own idea: When our time to dies arrives, we will be the last to admit it.

COMING HOME

By Mildred Crabtree Speer

All are journeying, all alike
Are coming swiftly to a place;
The rich, the poor, the good, the bad
Are running in this lifelong race.
The same words sound in ev'ry ear:
"Traveler, you are coming home."

To some the words bring honest joy
Like a tired childr come to rest;
To others the words are torture
Because they've left their given best
In a sparkling tavern on the way
Where wine and song flowed freely.

Oh, that we travelers, while runs
Our blood like a warm and swift stream,
Could hear the voice of the lowly
One through our shouts of self-esteem;
Could live to gladly hear the words:
"Traveler, you are coming home."

Phyllis Lucille Messner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Messner was born on September 18, 1930, and departed to be with her Heavenly Father on March 5, 1932 at the early age of one year five months and seven-teen days.

On February of last year she was taken seriously ill with pneumonia and intestinal flu, but recovered in about a week. This year on February 17th, she became afflicted in the same manner. For seventeen days she resisted bravely the encroachment of the disease. Sometimes she showed signs of improvement, but each time they were followed by relapses. Because of the complication of the diseases and the persistency of the fever she finally had no reserve strength left to battle against them. Anxious parents, grandparents, and friends together with medical skill constantly watched at her bedside. All the care that human hearts and hands could exercise was freely administered, but none could avail.

Phyllis, the first child in the home brought cheer, for in health she was joyous and cheerful. Her happy smile was the delight of her parents. In sickness she was patient, accepting her sufferings without a murmur. She was as the rosebud, just beginning to open, when God called her. We cannot say that she drooped as the bud though for she shall grow and develop in a fairer land without the handicaps and limitations of earth. Her going on before leaves a vacancy that cannot be filled, but it brings heaven a little nearer and makes us anxious to meet her again in that better land in God's good time.

She leaves behind, her father, mother, and infant brother, Donald Walter; her grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Messner and Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Lawson, also aunts, uncles and cousins. Besides these she had many other relatives and a large number of friends.

Primary Room Notes

By MRS. J. E. SPEER

Dorothy Woods won the prize in the coloring contest held in the primary room last week. The posters were judged by the seventh grade. The prize consisted of a tooth brush, some tooth paste, and a holder.

Both divisions, A and B of the beginners class have received new books. Class A is reading "The Pet Jony" and class C The Fun Book."

The second grade students are writing letters as a project in their writing class. They have written to their mothers and fathers, and will write to Mr. Speer soon.

Betty Jane Frass brought a new story book to school Monday. The name of the book is "Stories for Children."

The children of the primary room spent most of their busy periods during the last week doing soap-carving. Cats, roosters pigs, hens ducks, sheep, rabbits and other things were carved. Different kinds of soap were used; some used colored toilet soap, some laundry soap, and some used home made soap.

Mr. Speer was unable to be in school Friday, and Mrs. Grubb, the substitute teacher, was teaching in the high school, therefore Margaret Jenkins taught the primary room.

Character Sketches

I am a good little sophomore typist. I have black hair and real blue eyes. I love to play my violin and sing. Guess who I am?

Talk about green freshies, well I am one of the greenest. I enjoy playing basketball and I am a tennis player, I am short and good looking and am the freshman songbird. My main ambition is to see my favorite George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. Guess who I am.

I am blond (very curly) headed boy and wear specs. I help Mr. Speer and get out of Physics. Guess who I am?

Not mentioning any names but I am the best looking girl in the sophomore class. I have golden hair, blue eyes and a baby face. I am about 5 feet and 4 inches tall. Now how is that? I know more funny jokes. Why it is almost sinful to be around me at times. And as for my mental ability, the old maxium "Beautiful but Dumb" is out. Now who am I?

Third and Fourth Grade Activities

By Mrs. Lela Hennigh

The third and fourth grade February Books, containing pictures and stories of the lives of famous men born in February, were finished last Friday and some of the best ones are on display.

Daisy Painter, Gertrude McGee, and Everett Painter are health inspectors this week.

Delbert Rush and Mr. Mullings visited the room last week. Mr. Mullings showed the students a very valuable experiment of smoking a cigar with a pump, which drew the smoke into glass tubes, and condensed the nicotine. The nicotine was then taken out, some of it was placed on a house plant leaf and the pupils were allowed to smell of some of the pure nicotine. The leaf is being carefully watched to see what will happen to it, after having its dose. A rather disgusted attitude toward tobacco prevailed among the pupils after seeing and smelling the harmful liquid that only one cigar contained. The primary room came in to witness the experiment also.

Jack Phillips and G. A. Jenkins are housekeepers; Richard Rush is monitor for the reading table and library and Lowell Hennigh is dinner pail monitor, all for this week.

The third grade is starting a very interesting study in geography, that of the "Children of Other Lands." Library books are being read to find stories written to show what has been learned. They are now studying about boys and girls of Holland.

Salt maps of the southern states are to be made by groups of three children in the fourth grades. Products that are raised in the south, such as rice, will be indicated on the map by putting a few grains in that particular spot or state, and so on, with all of the most important products.

The Mystery of Prospector's Cave

A Serial Written By The DARROUZETT PRESS CLUB
 Installment No. 6
 L. E. W.

Tom, Rachel, Herschel, Jim and Mr. Escrimm became alarmed at the sudden and mysterious disappearance of the cook. They armed themselves and started out following foot-prints which led from the window.

They had gone only about a mile when Mr. Escrimm, on account of the intense heat of the day was forced to leave the rest and go back to the ranch.

As they proceeded the footprints would grow dim on the hard soil and again they would find them easy to follow, when they came to the soft dirt. They were still on the trail when they came to a small stream some distance from the ranch and no trail could be found on the opposite side of the stream.

As the trail was leading in the direction of the cave, they decided to see if they could find any trace of the cook at the cave. They went to the cave, but there was no trace to be found.

As it was getting late and they had eaten no dinner, they decided to go back to the ranch. They were about half way between the creek and the cave when they met Mr. Miller; who was looking for some of his missing cattle. Harry told Mr. Miller of the mysterious disappearance of the cook, and asked him if he had seen anything of him. Mr. Miller replied that he had not.

They were almost three fourths of a mile from the ranch. As they were coming over a little hill just north of the ranch, they heard a scream at the top of the hill, they saw the cook going over the hill south of the house.

When they arrived at the house, they found Mr. Escrimm unconscious, and a small portion of the gold that Mr. Scrimm had got from the cave was gone.

Sophomores Give Assembly Thursday

The Sophomore Class had charge of the assembly program on Thursday, March 5.

The life of Judd Mortimer Lewis, and a poem written by him, "A Boy's Whistle," was read by Coeta Terrel. "Soldier Boy" and "O Suzanna" were sung by the grade choral singers.

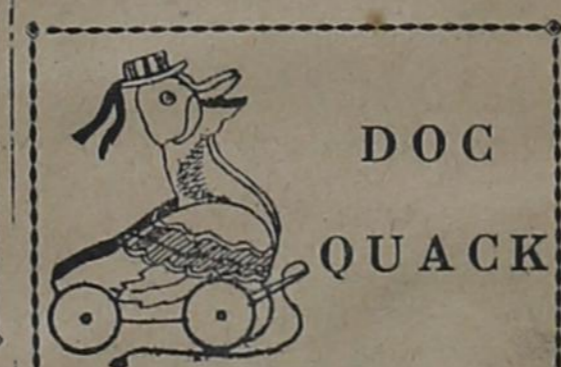

Marguerite Hennigh delivered a reading, "The Cat."
 "The Greatest Menace to Society" a play was given by the class. The cast included:

- Roy Bachman—photographer.
- John Kemp—customer
- Louise Draper—insurance saleswoman.
- Coeta Terrel—underwear saleswoman.
- Marguerite Hennigh—incubator saleswoman.
- Russell Fausset—striped paint salesman.
- Nina Martin—True Story Magazine saleswoman.

The scene was laid in a photographers shop. The photographer had great trouble in making his customers sit still while he took his picture. Finally, the photographer hired him to keep the salesmen out of his office. This he did, and with violence. He threw them out, thick and fast.

Mary and Arthur Helfenbein sang songs, "Bury Me Under the Weeping Willow" and "Blind Girl."

Basketball pins were presented to the members of the Higgins teams who are seniors last week. Six girls and three boys received the awards.

Fifth and Sixth Grade Notes

By MRS. RUTH WRIGHT

A contest of chickens eating corn has been started in the sixth and seventh grade spelling class. For each hundred made on his side, the captain gives his chickens a grain of corn. The side giving his chickens one hundred grains of corn first wins. Naomi Rush and Mae Kemp are captains. Naomi Rush is winning so far.

A very interesting project has been finished in penmanship class. Sunbonnet girls were made with ovals and with push and pull stroke. Red and blue ink help form a very striking piece of work.

Soap carving has afforded us a very pleasant work in art classes during the past week. Bears, elephants, cats, dogs, and chickens were carved by various pupils.

Our room again won the one-fourth day holiday given as a reward for having the smallest number of tardies during the past six weeks' term. Owing to the bad weather we were unable to go on our picnic Friday afternoon, but we hope to be able to go at some other time.

The Western States which are being studied by the sixth grade are proving quite an interesting subject. Several pupils have brought kodak pictures of scenes taken in Colorado and New Mexico. Mrs. Wright has told some interesting facts about Denver and Colorado Springs. Several members of our class plan to visit these states during the coming summer and appreciate more fully the beauty of our neighboring states.

The fifth grade are making health posters of foreign lands to correspond with the country about which we are studying in geography. These posters teach a health rule and also show the custom of the various countries.

We had a ciphering match during drawing period Friday afternoon. This proved to be quite enjoyable but showed that we need more practice in ciphering since some of us cannot work fast when racing against someone.

Freshman Notes

In history we are studing about Faudalism. Plant covering of the earth is what we are studing in science.

We have completed "Lady of The Lake" in English, and are working on our progress book.

Factoring is the phase we are studying in Algebra.

The Sophomore Class, what is left since the recent depression caused by the "flu", are having their six-weeks tests.

Last week many of our worthy class mates were absent. If it were but our class, we would have thought they had been mistaken and thought we were having exams. Since Mr. Speer has been absent because of chicken-pox, we will not have our Algebra exam until he recovers sufficiently to present it to us. —L. D.

Twenty-five girls have reported for volley ball practice at the Higgins High School. Three of these are members of the team which won first place in the county last year. J. O. Baker, superintendent, is volley ball coach.

A special Washington assembly was held by the Booker High School on February 27 in honor of the two-hundredth anniversary of the birth of our first president.

A Latin Club at the Booker High School is made up of Latin students. The leading official is called a "Consul." Roman education was discussed at the meeting of the group last week.

Santa Fe Special To Be In Booker Four Hours On March 23

Wednesday, March 23 will be a big day in Booker, for it is on that day that the Santa Fe Farm and Home Special is scheduled to stop here for four hours and display six carloads of exhibits featuring dairying, poultry raising, better livestock, soil improvement, better farms and crops, home improvement and 4-H club work.

This train is being operated jointly by the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College and the Santa Fe Railway system. A number of noted speakers will accompany the exhibits and will be prepared to answer all questions concerning the above mentioned subjects, as well as other things that might interest the farm minded people.

The Lubbock Tech, the Agricultural Department of the State Teachers College at Canyon, farmers' organizations, state and local commercial organizations and other interests are all cooperating in this enterprise which is expected to be of great help to all concerned.

As this train does not make a stop in Darrouzett, the people of that community are invited to come to Booker to view the exhibits. All neighboring schools are to be invited to attend, and a goodly representation is expected from all these communities. Darrouzett is expected to have an exceptionally large delegation.

The local Lions Club plans to award prizes to the three schools that have the largest percentage of their school present on this day. This feature is expected to arouse much interest.—Booker News.

A. C. Cotney To Run For County Clerkship

My announcement for the office of County and District Clerk of Lipscomb county will appear elsewhere in the regular announcement column of the county papers.

I feel that I need little or no introduction to the people of Lipscomb county as I have lived in this county for the past twelve years with the exception of 1927-28 during which time I was employed by the Hurn Dry Goods Co. of Perryton, Texas. I moved back to Lipscomb county in January 1929 and located at Follett, Texas, where I now live.

I was reared on a farm and received a good portion of my education through rural schools.

Later I worked my way through the higher branches. I served in the World War and after the war was over in 1918 I spent 1919 farming again. Then I entered Tyler Commercial College at Tyler, Texas, taking three business courses and receiving my diploma in each course.

Afterwards I came to Higgins, Texas in this county, and I spent a little over four years in the employ of The First National Bank at Higgins. The remainder of the time I have been in the merchandising business.

It will be remembered by the voters of this county that I made the race for this office in 1926 and was defeated by a small majority.

I feel that I am fully qualified to serve the county in the capacity of clerk, the office which I am seeking, and I pledge myself to take up the good work that has been done in this office and to carry on and maintain a set of records which our county may feel justly proud.

I earnestly solicit the support of the voters of Lipscomb county and assure each and every one that your support and influence will be greatly appreciated.

Fred Strauss Dies At Home At Seiling

The death of Fred C. Strauss, age 66, occurred at his home in Seiling, Saturday morning Feb. 27, 1932, after an illness of several months, only a part of which time he was confined to his home. His death was caused by a complication of diseases.

Mr. Strauss was a typical western plainsman, having followed the range in the Panhandle country of Texas as a cowboy until he acquired sufficient capital to purchase large holdings of land from the state, on which he established a cattle ranch of his own.

He continued in the cattle business in that section of the country until 1907, when he moved to Seiling where he engaged in the mercantile business for a number of years.

About 15 years ago, he sold his mercantile interests, and mainly because of the ill health of his wife, he entered a school of chiropracticism, and after his graduation he practiced that profession in Seiling for several years, when he retired because of his own ill health.

Mr. Strauss was a splendid type of man, a considerate neighbor, a kind friend, a good citizen. By his death another of this community's pioneers is called to his reward.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist Church, Tuesday afternoon, Rev. W. L. Boyce, the pastor, officiating. He was assisted by Rev. C. R. Malone of the Christian Church and Rev. J. H. Christian of the Friends Church. Interment was made in the Seiling cemetery.

Due to the high esteem in which Mr. Strauss was held in Seiling and community, all of the local business houses closed during the funeral services.

The News joins a host of friends in an expression of deep sympathy for his disconsolate and bereaved relatives.

Those from a distance in attendance at the funeral of the late Fred C. Strauss, were his sister, Mrs. Anna Neal, and son, James Neal, and her daughter, Mrs. C. H. Elfers, all of Logan, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Turner of Booker, Texas; Mrs. Young and Burns Young, of Fairview, Okla., another sister, Mrs. J. R. Barnes, of Darrouzett, Texas, who was with her brother during his last hours was overcome with grief and unable to attend the burial services. She is recuperating at the home of Mrs. Jessie Barnes.—The Dewey County News, Seiling, Okla.

OBITUARY

Fredrick C. Strauss, son of Christopher and Wilhimina Strauss, was born in Chicago, Ill, May 22, 1866, and died at his home in Seiling, Oklahoma, February 27, 1932, at the age of 66 years, 9 months and 5 days.

At the age of 17 he left Chicago and went to Kansas, living there several years. Later on he went to Lipscomb county, Texas and while living there he was united in marriage to Miss Addie F. White, on Nov. 30, 1891.

After living in Texas a number of years, he, with his wife, moved in 1907 to Seiling, Oklahoma, where he spent his remaining days.

During his illness he bore his suffering with great patience and was ever thoughtful of those around him. In early life he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church and was a faithful member at the time of his death.

He leaves to mourn his departure his faithful wife, Mrs. Addie Strauss of Seiling, Oklahoma; a brother, George Strauss, of Chicago, and three sisters: Mrs. Cornelia Dance, of Lowell, Ark., Mrs. J. R. Barnes, of Darrouzett, Texas; and Mrs. Anna Neal, of Logan, Oklahoma; also many other near relatives. He will also be missed by a host of friends and neighbors.—The Dewey County News, Seiling, Oklahoma.
