

5 Candidate Files for City Council

One more candidate was added to the list of those seeking the two posts on the city council to be filled in the April 1 election before the filing deadline passed last Wednesday.

He is Willie Vandivere whose announcement brings to five the number of those now in the race.

Mr. Vandivere joins Bruce Carroll, Fred Cook, Charlie Benson and Eddie Barker on the ballot.

The two successful candidates will assume places on the council to be vacated by expiration of the terms of F. M. Middleton and Lee Hughes, neither of whom has asked re-election. Council terms are for two years.

In a school trustee election to be held coincidentally at the city hall with the city election, four candidates have filed for two vacancies on the rising Star school district board of seven.

They are A. W. Griffin, Leroy Woody, Jack Hubbard, and Lavelle Killian.

One vacancy already exists on the board by reason of the resignation of W. A. Richburg and another will occur with completion of the term now being served by Clayton Wilson. The successful candidates will be elected to three-year terms.

The election will be held at the city hall, Saturday, April 1. Fred Price will be the election judge in both elections.

Two-City Sabanna Water Supply Is Considered

Cross Plains, Rising Star In Meeting

Members of the Cross Plains City Council met here Monday night with the Rising Star council to consider a suggestion that the two communities join in a project to secure a surface water supply from an enlarged reservoir on the proposed Sabanna Watershed Development Project.

John W. Lee, Jr., technician in charge of the Rising Star office gave the councilmen a rundown on estimates supplied by the Soil Conservation Service planners for a one-city project and said that if the two cities decide on a joint water supply program to supplement or replace their declining source of supply from wells the estimates would have to be refigured, which the SCS would be glad to do.

He pointed out to the Rising Star council earlier that planning on the watershed project has advanced to such a stage that "we must know now whether or not you want us to figure you in."

He also explained that a decision of the city to join in the plan for a new supply would not commit the city beyond the preliminary planning stage. "The whole program is dependent upon the future," he explained. "The Congress must approve and appropriate funds before any construction can be done, and all that we are doing now may be to no purpose." But planning must be done before an application can be decided upon or made, he pointed out.

Mayor Doyle Burchfield of Cross Plains, spokesman for his group, said that they would go back to Cross Plains and give the matter some serious study, possibly inviting representatives of the SCS to give further data on the proposal. Councilmen who came with him were Oscar Koenig, T. T. Nichols, and Jimmie Payne.

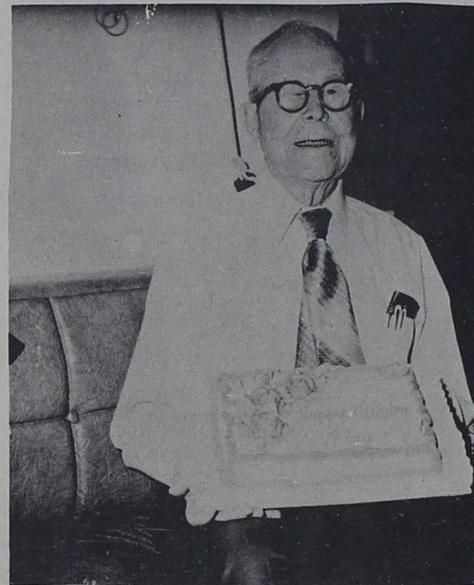

The joint meeting with members of the Cross Plains City Council was arranged after a meeting of the Rising Star Council Tuesday of last week when a proposal to store municipal water in a flood control dam in the Sabanna watershed was outlined to the local city dads by representatives of the Soil Conservation Service.

Joe Camp, Sabanna watershed planning chief, and Beade Northcutt, civil engineer of the SCS staff at San Marcos, Texas, presented the proposal and estimates of its cost to the council.

Under the plan as contemplated the city would finance an increase in the storage capacity of a structure at what is known as site "O" on Elm Creek near Okra about 11 road miles from Rising Star, the increased water storage to be used for municipal purposes.

The city would also construct an 11-mile, 6-inch line to bring the water to the city and a filtration plant to process it for human consumption.

Site "O" is a unit in the flood control and water conservation program on the Sabanna watershed which is now in planning. Planning is being done by a field team under

Bill Qualls Announces for 54th District

Bill Qualls, of St. Jo, issued the following statement:

Like my opponent, I am asking you for your support in the upcoming election on May 6th. Our reasons for wanting this office differ a great deal.

I have made many trips to the polls on election day and voted on a candidate I thought would do the best job, present our case to the State Legislature, and fight for us to get the best for our counties. I have been fooled several times, most of the time, in fact.

I started this campaign with just a few thoughts in mind; but the main one is to bring our representative out so we could meet him, and discuss our problems. It seems, in the past, that the only time they would come around was during an election, and then only if they had an opponent.

This worked, he came around all right, but only to be escorted by a public relation man from one of our public utilities companies.

I started an investigation, and found he was a hand picked candidate by several of this type corporations. I feel we need a representative for all the people, old or young, poor or rich, large business and small. I will be this type of representative.

BILL Q WILL WORK FOR U
I will give a formal statement at a later date.

Weekend guests in the home of Mrs. Beulah Stodgill were her sister, Mrs. Mildred Cummings of Hillsboro, and Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Burson of Haskell.

When the framers of the U.S. Constitution planted the freedom of press and speech principle in the basic law of the land, they could have no idea of the tremendous extent to which that principle has now been implemented in the newspapers, radio, and television industry of this country. And certainly they could not have foreseen its influence upon the ideals and character of the society that grew from their small island of freedom in a world mostly committed to the "divine right of kings".

Their ideas of the right to speak—which is but the obverse of a greater right to know—was limited to the debate of public meetings and the sparse columns of the newspapers of the day.

What has happened in the development of the mass media which now serves this freedom is, of course, a justification of their ideal far beyond what could have been their wildest hopes. It has been perhaps the most effective and determinative influence in the growth of democracy in this nation into one of the really dominant powers of the modern world.

But even in this fact exists a danger that is coming to be more and more apparent as the expansion of the media and its influence in shaping the society of tomorrow grows more and more evident. It is a danger that suggests that the very influence of the expanding media could force a rejection of the principle that nourishes it.

In one of the Sunday newspaper magazines this week, appeared the following comment under "TV Generation": "The average American preschooler spends 64 per cent of his time watching television.

"By the age of 14, this child will have seen 18,000 murders on TV, by the age of 17, some 350,000 commercials. In the course of his life the TV will have consumed 10 years of his time."

These facts were compiled by an Arizona educator who remarked that television, "the electronic intruder," has replaced both parent and teacher as the primary educator of children. In terms of time alone, says the educator, the American preschool child during his critical pre-school years spends more time watching TV than he would in the classroom during four years of college.

And what is he learning?"

The developing society of tomorrow's America is further removed from the traditional influence of the family with its emphasis upon love and individuality. Its ideals and its disciplines are being shaped in a new and utterly impersonal mass matrix, and one can wonder if the ultimate result will be good or bad. It could portend a fundamental and destructive change in the basic principles of our society and nation, a new and radical philosophy of social rights and government bred in an atmosphere much too fanciful and foreign to the old virtues which emphasize the responsibility as well as the sacredness of rights.

In today's fast moving world with its atmosphere of immediacy and its devotion to artificial and simplistic formulae of problem solving, there is little time for meditation and sober second thought—so absolutely necessary to the digestion and assimilation of ideas. It suggests an atmosphere of impermanence and insecurity with all the social evils bred in such an environment.

On the other hand, wisely and responsibly used, this mass media could cradle a Noise pollution. A pollution you can do something about right now — at least within your own home. We talked about it some last week. Let's look at it a little more.

Some household noise problems begin outside the home. Unwanted sound (a good definition of the word "noise"), such as heavy traffic and neighborhood noise, carries indoors where it presents the same problems as noise that originates inside.

Generally, of course, outside noise is the hardest to eliminate. There's not much you can do to stop the traffic! You can, however, erect some sort of partition between your home and the street.

A tall, airtight fence placed close to the street makes a good sound baffle, as do trees and hedges. If the problem is at the front of the house such a barrier might give the impression that it's people you are trying to cut out of your life instead of noise, though; try a landscape program that includes some large bushes and trees instead of the fence. The plants help without giving the wrong idea about your intentions.

Double-sealed windows, weather stripping around doors and windows, and heavy draperies will help your noise insulation project also. And, of course, days that require air conditioning or heating partially solve themselves simply because the house is closed off and the cooling or heating unit provides a low level noise that covers some of the other noises.

If your solution to outside noise pollution involves building materials, see us at Higginbothams, your Quality and Service lumberyard. Watch next week for more helps on cutting down on the noise level in your home!

Did the freeze last week get our fruit crop? This is a question several folks were asking following the low temperatures this past week. It is my opinion that the cold weather did more good than harm. The temperature has to get down to about 28 degrees F and remain for several hours to freeze the blossoms. It may have gotten cold enough to kill some of those early blossoms on plums and early peaches. However, those fruit trees that were in bloom on March 1 had very little chance of surviving any way since we have another thirty or forty days in which we are likely to have freezing weather. The average date of the last freeze in this area is about March 20 or 25th. Remember, last year we had a freeze on April 6th or 7th.

Here is how the freeze may have been helpful. Maybe it delayed the blooming of the fruit trees that were not already in bloom. This includes most of the peach trees, apples and pears. We examined some plum trees that appeared to be in bloom. We found that there are still plenty of buds on the trees that have not yet opened into blossoms. So maybe the cold weather will delay these buds.

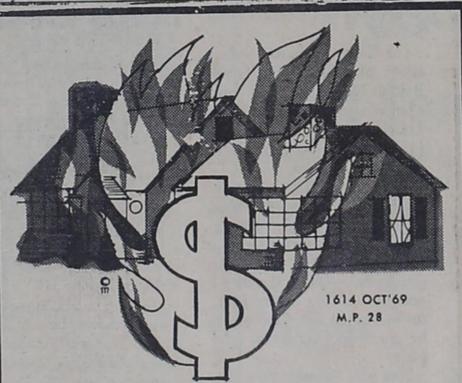

The cold weather should also serve to delay the development of pecan buds. The pecan crop was damaged last year because young tender growth was frozen on April 6th or 7th.

Home gardeners complain each year about root knot nematodes in their tomatoes, okra, beans and other vegetable crops. These microscopic worms may be the reason for sickly plants that do not respond to fertilizer or water. Nematode presence can be recognized by galls and knots on plant roots.

If nematodes have been a problem in the past, treat your garden this spring before planting. The most widely used chemical for nematode control contains dibromochloropropane (DBCP). It is available at most farm supply stores.

No special equipment is necessary for treating home gardens. Liquid materials can be applied with a quart fruit jar with a ten-penny nail hole punched on each side of the lid—one to pour from and the other to let air into the jar so the liquid will pour evenly. This jar can be used to pour the proper amount of fumigant diluted with water, kerosene or fuel oil into each 100 feet of open furrow at least six inches deep.

Granular DBCP can be sprinkled by hand—using rubber gloves—into the open furrow. In either case, cover the treated furrow immediately to prevent chemical vapors from escaping into the air.

Keep Your Home Safe

Remember, only you can prevent fires. Check your entire home for fire safety. For full financial protection, check your insurance coverage, now.

JENKINS INSURANCE

Row treatment is made by placing the fumigant in a six-inch-deep furrow directly under seed rows or transplant rows. Broadcast treatment can be made by opening a six-inch-deep furrow using a hoe, spade or other implement. Furrows should be no more than twelve inches apart from center to center. A broadcast treatment is much more effective than row treatment; however, more fumigant and expense is involved. No matter which method is used, seal the fumigant into the soil by dragging a weighted board over the area immediately after treatment. Then sprinkle the soil lightly with water.

Wildcat Tales

TODAY-NOT TOMORROW
Hi, again! March is finally here and we Seniors are glad! Every day that passes brings us closer to graduation.

Bookkeeping finds us in our practice sets. We will soon finish them; then we will be ready to start studying in our notebooks.

In English IV we are studying active and passive voice. Mrs. Claborn is trying to teach us to recognize intransitive complete and intransitive linking verbs.

In typing we are having more timings. R. P., what happened to you on that timing last week?

Sheila G., what's this about a Roadrunner? A. W., have you really been throwing rings around lately?

P.T.A. is this week; it is to be open house tonight, Thursday; everyone should attend to show your interest in Public School Week.

We hope all enjoyed the Harlem Stars on Tuesday night, sponsored by the Senior.

So until next week,
Paula

JUST BEGUN

Hello!
Not much happening this week. How did you like the "Harlem Stars"? They were really funny.

This Thursday night at the P. T. A., the Home-making classes are giving a style show; we are a little frightened. I hope everyone will forgive our wrong movements as we model.

We are having an Open House at the school following the style show; I hope everyone comes to see our beautiful school!

'Till next week,
Sharon

'IN THE FISHBOWL'

Hello, everybody! School is slowing down, right? Hope things pep up soon; we need some excitement.

Three freshmen Ag. boys-

Steve Tarver, Guy Stewart, and Kirby Guthrie went with Mr. Geye to the Houston Livestock Show last Friday. They enjoyed getting out of school at lunch. The Home Econ. girls are getting to be great seamstresses. Some are almost through with their dresses. (Some are not!) The P. E. girls have fun in the gym while the track girls are run to death. Whew! We have really been working out hard to get ready for Robert Lee. In English, we are now studying adjectives; negative numbers in math are a problem. Aren't they, M.P.? Oh well, we all make mistakes.

'Till next week -

'DO-RE-M'

The Band was directed by someone different last Tuesday. He was from Tarleton State College; he really helped us, and the contest was quite a success. We had a large number in attendance with the addition of elementary school members. We left for Brady about 7:30 a.m. and arrived at 9:30. Our contest time was from 10:25 to 11:15. The parade and awards were from 4:30 to 5:15. I'm sure everyone enjoyed it as I did; thank you for your support.

Toodes,
Yvonne

TOWARD NEW HORIZONS

toward new horizons

Hi! Ya People! Back in the news to bring you news.

At the area meeting this month we have two girls to sing in the choir - Dorothy Bishop and Saralyn Butler. Yvonne, our F.H.A. president, will go as voting delegate. Saralyn and Sharon Clarke will assist Billie White with her part on the program or report.

In the classes: Hm. Ec. I, still trying to sew; now the garments are looking like dresses. In Hm. Ec. II, we are finishing in Hm. Ec. II, we are finishing; all are very happy. In Hm. Ec. III we are quilting pillows.
Sheila

'WITH THE FARMHANDS'

This week brings hurried preparations for the Country Show next week. Our chapter pigs have developed a real knack for escaping from the pen in which we have them; thus, Steve Bibb and I had the duty of watching them while

Mr. Geye took the Livestock team to Houston.

The Ag. I boys are in the shop now; they are making some very good shoe-shine boxes.

The Ag. II boys have finished their what-not shelves and are making everything imaginable from scraps of wood.

The Ag. III boys are just beginning shop and are still doing as much as possible to assist Mr. Geye.

Your reporter,
Stony Smith

J. C.'s ROADRUNNERS'

Many people who go to track meets never truly enjoy them. They think that athletes that participate in the meet just go out to the track and run. Those who enjoy track meets know the hard work and training each athlete goes through to be able to run an 880 or any event.

Many hours are spent in trying to perfect certain steps in hurdles. The strength and power of the shotputter must be released in certain ways and requires a great amount of coordination. The mile relay must be able to work as a team to get the hand-offs perfectly.

The girls' first track meet will be on March 11, at Robert Lee. The next week they will run at Rochelle. Other dates will be given in a later article.

A trackster,
Mary Jane

STRONGER BECAUSE UNITED

Hello! Guess what - tonight is open house at the school, and there will be a P. T. A. program and meeting also. Everyone is invited and we hope you all get to come.

School seems to be going by so much faster now that the weather has turned warm and the days are brighter. We surely enjoyed the glorious sunshine and warmer weather. Our classes are coming right along. In English II we are studying participles, infinitives, and gerunds.

In Physical Science there is the Quatom atom.

World History class is the same as usual; we are working in our notebooks and nearly ready to take another home Econ. II girls are working with yarn - learning how to make belts, purses and other accessories.

All for now -
C'ya next week,
Judi

WHO'S WHO

Born on September 26, 1953, in Oceanside, California, Charles Alvin Moore is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin C. Moore. He has brown hair, blue eyes, and his favorite color is blue! His hobbies are hunting and chasing girls!

His favorite food is Bar-B-Q, while his favorite movie stars are Clint Eastwood and Ann Margaret. The movie he liked the most was "Love Story", and "Flip Wilson Show" is his favorite TV show. His favorite singer is Gary Puckett, who sings his favorite song "Lady Willpower". His future plans include making a living any way he can; his philosophy of life is to get the most out of life as soon as possible.

WHO'S WHO

Michael Lee Polk was born on September 4, 1953, in Lubbock, Texas, to Mrs. S. C. Cotton. His hair and eyes are brown so he probably looks good in his favorite color, blue. His hobbies are collecting coins, riding motorcycles, and playing the guitar. He plays the guitar very well, too, since he plays in the group "Sabanna Rain". His favorite food is steak and his favorite singer is James Taylor. "Love Story" is his favorite movie and Rod Sterling and Ann Margaret favorite movie stars. On TV, he likes "Adam-12", and he loves listening to the song "You've Got a Friend". His future plans include college - either Texas Tech, or C.J.C. Maybe he could get a scholarship in sports to C.J.C. since he was voted Most Athletic and Football Captain this year. His philosophy of life is: Live to Love, See and Cherish.

WATER SUPPLY-

the leadership of Mr. Camp and is now about 50 per cent completed.

Mr. Camp explained to the council that this planning has now reached a stage where it is necessary that the Soil Conservation Service know whether or not the city intends to participate in the watershed program to the extent of providing itself with a municipal water supply.

Under the estimate as furnished the council by the SCS the cost of adding a minimum of 454 additional acre feet of water storage for municipal supply to the Site "O" structure would be $25,700. This additional storage could be increased to 754 acre feet for very little more, the council was told.

Providing the additional water storage for municipal supply is only a nominal item of the program the council was told. Costliest single item is the construction of a 11-mile six-inch line to bring the water to the city and a filtration plant to process it for human consumption.

The estimates as presented to the council call for a total project cost of $271,000 for a plant to supply 458 acre feet and $289,400 for 764 acre feet of storage and supply.

In addition the city would be required to employ its own engineer to prepare its estimates for submission to the Texas Water Board.

A breakdown of the cost estimates on the 458 acre feet project is:

Construction and installation costs at the dam site, $25,700; water permits, $2,500; legal surveys, $1,500; fencing, legal fees, local administration costs, $1,500; intake structure, $18,000; 11-mile, 6-inch pipe line, $130,000; filter plant, $60,000; building for plant, $7,000; storage tank $13,000; miscellaneous costs, $17,300; making a total of $271,000.

There would be a saving of $13,000 over this estimate, however, because the city already has its storage tank. But the city would have to employ its own engineer to prepare its application to the water board.

The difference between the total estimates for the 458 acre feet project would be the difference in costs of the dam structure additions necessary in each case.

Various opportunities for financial assistance and grants of aid are available and would be explored by the city, Mayor Mutt Carroll explained. The system can be financed through the FHA as were the water systems at May and Carbon. Revenue bonds would be issued and secured by proceeds from the sale of water.

At present the city water supply consists of 10 wells with a production total of 113 gallons per minute. Storage capacity now consists of an overhead tank of 75,000 gallons and a ground storage tank holding 125,000 gallons. The city has an average daily use of 76,000 gallons with a peak use of 162,730 gallons.

This source of supply is gradually diminishing due to depletion of existing wells and increasing competition with private drilling, especially for irrigation use, thus limiting not only the city's future growth potential but actually threatening the present population level, it was explained.

Dinner Honors A. W. Hines, 90

A buffet dinner, in honor of his 90th birthday, was given for A. W. Hines, a former resident of Rising Star. Mr. Hines was born Feb. 17, 1882, in Mesquite, Texas, Dallas, County.

A white birthday cake, decorated with red roses and 90 red candles, was enjoyed by 28 children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hines, Eunice, New Mexico.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hines, Terry and Tina, and Robert Steadham, of Jal, N. Mex.; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Edwards and Wynell of Hobbs, N. Mex.; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hogan and Wanda Jean of Lubbock, Tex.; Bobby Hines of Artesia, N. Mex.; Hazel Edwards, Carl Blackwell, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Brewer, Penny, Nancy, and Sami Jo of Lovington, N. Mex.; Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Hines and Denise of Odessa, Tex.; and the host family, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hines, Joan, Barbara, Peggy, and Bonnie.

IT HAS BEEN

By Vada Arnold

The Rising Star Booster Club with D. C. Wilcox as president planned a BIG DAY for March 22, 1971, when the town was honored with a visit by Hon. Porter Whaley, Manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. He came in response to an invitation from the Booster Club.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce was a new organization covering all of west Texas, with headquarters in Stamford, Texas.

Mr. Whaley's leadership has been superb, and much has been accomplished in various ways in West Texas. The Rising Star X-Ray commented, "His visit to Rising Star has led to much advertising of the town and adjoining oil fields."

Local citizens and members of the Booster Club went all out in preparation to make the right impression on Mr. Whaley when he came to visit. Mr. Whaley was met in Cisco by a committee from the club, who escorted him to Branton's Gin, five miles north of town. At 9:30 a.m., they were met by a large number of citizens in cars. The company made a trip through the oil fields northwest of town and came back in time for the regular weekly club luncheon. After the meal the entire company visited north Brown County oil fields, including the Bailey and Williamson leases, where a barbecue was spread by oil operators. Invitations by the operator had previously been sent out to booster Club members. After the barbecue the party returned to Rising Star in time for the big mass meeting at 8 p.m., held in the high school auditorium. This meeting was the climax of the day.

An excellent program had been arranged, and Mr. Whaley spoke to a large gathering of townspeople, out of town visitors and farmers. On March 24, the X-Ray carried a letter from an interested citizen enumerating ten reasons why we should trade at home. 1- They need the home merchant; 2- The home merchant creates values in a community and creates a market for what one has to sell; 3- By trading at home, money is kept in the community and the entire citizenship is benefited and the buyer has a chance to get it back again; 4- You make it possible for other people to live near you and assist you in building up your community to your own convenience and personal advantage; 5- Without your neighbors you could have no schools or churches; with neighbors you can maintain your civilization, strengthen your town and home, and have the best society, guaranteed to you and your family; 6- You owe it to your merchant who has anticipated your needs and has spent his money for merchandise, and has them ready to deliver to you the moment you need them; 7- It would be a great inconvenience to have to wait for a mail order house to supply your needs. In serious illness one might die before an order could be returned; 8- One can usually get newer and more dependable goods from first class home merchants than they can from mail order houses; 9- There is an advantage to being able to see what you buy, before the purchase is to be made, and in case of dissatisfaction a refund on goods is more satisfactorily made; 10- The home merchant pays city and county taxes and shares in the promotion of all local enterprises. The foreign merchant does not. LET US TRADE AT HOME."

November 9, 1951 was set aside as Don Maynard Night at the Wildcat football field. The game with Cross Plains was dedicated to him and was played as a benefit for the former football star on the Wildcat team. Don suffered a broken leg in a game with Early High at Brownwood, in November 1949. The foot on that leg refused to heal and for months and months he was in the local hospital and in an Abilene hospital. A heroic effort was made to save his foot, but every treatment failed and the foot was amputated early in 1951.

Cecil Shults headed the finance committee and pointed out that the family had spent a great deal of money on hospital bills and an artificial limb would have to be bought. Local football fans decided that they wanted to do something for Don in appreciation for his fine work with the Wildcats.

Special tickets were printed and sold for 75 cents each. The buyer would have the privilege of making whatever donation he might choose.

Several donations were turned in to Mr. Shults prior to the game and more were expected. A nice donation was turned over to the Maynard family for Don after the game.

Scout Master, Charles Rutherford announced in 1940 that the local troop had the honor of announcing that twelve boys from the troop had attained the highest rank in scouting. Rutherford said, "I believe our troop has seen as many boys reach the rank of Eagle Scout as any single troop in the Comanche Trail Council."

In the 12 year history of the troop, Rutherford, Charles Bucy, Russell Day, Weldon Bryant, Lionel Lee, John Cooper, Thomas Wood, Claud Chastain, A. T. Shults, Jr., James Rutherford, Charles Barnes, and Emmett Crossley had reached the rank.
