

4-H County Fashion Review Dr. Charles Barnes Selected for South American Assignment

On July 16, Eastland County 4-H members will model garments made during 4-H clothing projects.

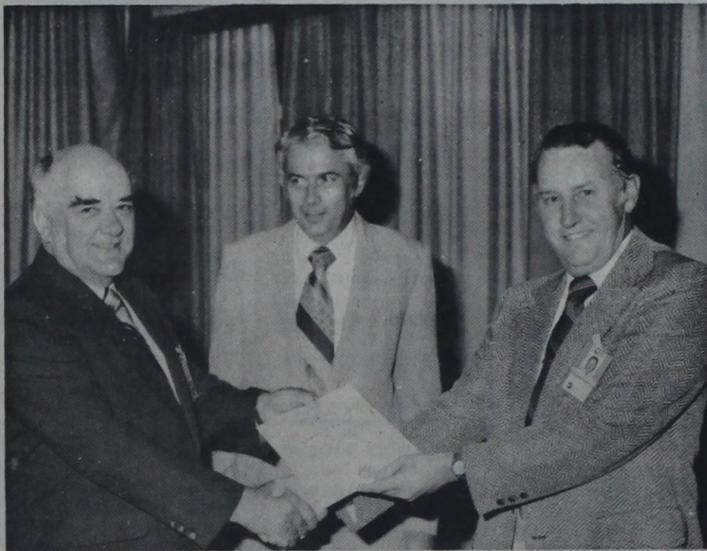

The fashion show and awards program will be held at the First Baptist Church in Rising Star at 6:00 p.m. Other 4-H projects made during the year will also be judged and put on display during the show. The public is encouraged to review the talents of these youth. The theme of this year's show is "Dressin' Texan", so put on your boots and jeans and come join the fun.

There will also be a covered dish supper so bring your favorite dish and serving spoon.

Winners will be named for each of the following categories: daytime tailored, daytime non-tailored, active sportswear and evening and speciality wear. Special awards have been sponsored by the First National Bank of Cisco, Production Credit Assoc. of Eastland and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Keyes of Cisco. One Sr., Jr., and sub-junior winner from each category will be eligible to compete in the Dist. Fashion Show July 27 in Belton.

The Fashion Show is a state 4-H awards program conducted in Texas by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service for youth ages 9-19. Objectives of the program including helping 4-Hers develop skills in planning buying and constructing clothing, selecting suitable and becoming accessories, developing grace, good posture and habits of good grooming and learning to work and share with others.

Dr. Charles M. Barnes of Rising Star, recently retired space scientist from the Johnson Space Center in Houston, has been notified of his selection to be Chief United States Veterinarian for Central and South America with duty station at the American Embassy in Panama.

In this new assignment Dr. Barnes will be employed by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture. A major objective of his work will be administration and management of United States cooperative programs in animal health within Latin America particularly emphasizing the control of exotic foreign diseases and preventing their entry into the United States. Just one of these diseases, should it gain a foothold in this country, could literally decimate our livestock populations and for all practical purposes make ranching unprofitable.

Veterinary Services of the USDA has a proud record in the control and eradication of animal diseases within the United States. Particularly familiar to those in West Texas are screwworms which have been eliminated as well as hog cholera which, for over 140 years was of major agricultural concern costing farmers over $50 million annually. Other programs currently underway include vigorous campaigns against Brucellosis our undulant fever, tuberculosis, and fever ticks. Foot and Mouth Disease, sometimes called the "billion dollar disease" threatened the United States due to a large epidemic within Mexico in the late '40's and early '50's. This outbreak was caused by animals brought in from South America. In the ensuing eradication campaign about 900,000 head of livestock had to be slaughtered and after eight years of effort and expenditure of $136 million dollars the disease was eliminated from North America. Dr. Barnes worked for 3 years in the Mexican foot and mouth eradication program and has also been involved in the screwworm campaign. He says, "I am delighted to be able to return to work which has direct benefit to the American farmer and rancher. We must keep a strong vigilance to protect our livestock."

Dr. Barnes was "born and raised" in Rising Star and graduated from Rising Star High School in 1940. He received his doctorate in veterinary medicine from Texas A&M University of California in Comparative Pathology. He is retired from the U.S. Air Force in the grade of Colonel and recently returned to Rising Star after 15 years at the space center.

Dr. Barnes is married to the former Anna Loyce Rose of Gladewater, Texas and they have four children, Mrs. Douglas Blankenship of Idabel, Oklahoma; Mrs. Daryl Pizanie, Webster, Texas; John Barnes, a veterinary student at Texas A&M; and James Barnes, recently discharged from the US Army, Ft. Carson, Colorado. Dr. Barnes' sister is Mrs. C.L. Parker of Rising Star.

Dr. and Mrs. Barnes have been establishing a ranching activity 5 miles NW of Rising Star and recently purchased a lot at the corner of Mayben and Ross streets on which they expect to construct a retirement home upon their return from Panama.

"Our only regret about accepting our assignment in South America," said Dr. Barnes, "is that we will again have to leave our old friends and new acquaintances in Rising Star. We look forward to returning in about 2 years when we can become an integral part of this community."

Pictures of Rising Star's Early Years Chosen by Museum

Mrs. Olice Jones has received a letter from "The Institute of Texan Cultures" of San Antonio requesting permission to put some of the pictures she had had published in "The Rising Star," in their museum. This is an honor for our town. Readers will recall the scenes were all of the early part of 1900. The ones they chose were all scenes of the 1908 Free Fall Fair. The parade was made up of many beautiful horses and horse drawn floats.

There were also several of the Anderson and Jacobs Department Store where Higginbotham's store is now located. These pictures were loaned to the museum by Mrs. Wanda Sivells, daughter of Mrs. Loren Kellar and granddaughter of the late Sam Graves of this town and Dee Mary Graves of Cross Plains.

Accent On Health

The summer months are typically dangerous ones in Texas as vacationers become tired or careless, and forget to properly plan holiday activities. Get an early start on a summer trip so you can reach your destination without hurrying, advises the Texas Department of Health. Don't forget the journey home either, because it may be the deadliest trip of all due to weariness and the desire to get home quickly. In addition, a lengthy stay in the sun, particularly around a lake or at the beach, can affect your night vision. For any trip, it's wise to make certain safety checks on your car. Good tires and brakes, proper lights, and proper wheel alignment are important. Check the car's hoses, belts, and fluid levels, as well as tire pressure. A tool kit, electrical fuses, flashlight, and road flares may come in handy while traveling. Traffic deaths in Texas took no holiday last year, reports the Department of Public Safety. During the summer months of June, July, and August of 1981, a total of 1,259 persons were killed and 54,374 injured in traffic accidents. For the full year, the traffic toll was a record 4,701 deaths and 26,196 injuries. Motorcycle deaths last year increased to 442, a 237 percent increase over 1976, the last year helmets were required. Motorcycle registrations increased by only 17.2 percent in that period. Water-related deaths in 1981 in Texas claimed the lives of 569 persons, of which 150 were attributed to drownings, reports the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Safety experts say a person should never swim alone, while chilled or overheated, while overly tired, or just after eating. Children should wear a life jacket at all times around the water. Children and adults often fall into trouble from places of presumed safety such as docks, bridges, and boats. In 1981, 112 persons died from falls into the water, 39 perished while wading, and 34 died while fishing without a boat. Last year, 98 persons died in 341 boat-related accidents. The typical boating accident in Texas happens between noon and 7 p.m. on a clear day, with little wind and in calm water. A profile of the driver shows that person to be between 26 and 50 years of age with more than 500 hours of boating experience. Most accidents happen in familiar waters, and many are alcohol related.

Most falls for older adults occur between the bed and bath, so "think safety" in these areas, advises Dr. Peggy Owens, a housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Safety features that help avoid falls include grab bars and non-skid surfaces in the tub or shower. Also a seat in the shower aids disabled persons.

Follow simple washer-and-dryer "do's and don'ts" for efficiency, longer equipment lifecycles and your own personal safety, advises Alma Fonseca, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Key guidelines include these: keep lint filters clean, use only suggested laundry cleaning aids, follow manufacturer recommendations, don't overload and don't reach into the washer or dryer until it stops.

Due to a stormy 6-inch rain at May, Tx. Saturday night, 6-26, which flooded many areas, our attendance was less than usual. We did have a good crowd, however, and were thankful.

The day was enjoyed by everyone meeting new members of our reunion, taking family pictures, exchanging news of those absent, etc.

A bountiful and delicious noon day meal, prepared by each family was certainly enjoyed by everyone. J. Weldon Moore offered the blessing and prayer.

Everyone certainly enjoyed being present, but we missed those who were absent. Those present were: Connie Dye, San Angelo; Robert Hardy, San Angelo; Cotton Moore, May Tx.; Sam Moore, Jennifer Moore, Mullin; Lydia Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Evans, Brownwood; Mrs. Edna Taylor, son, Joe, Brownwood; Mary Alice Palmore, Dublin, granddaughter Charlotte Palmore, Gainesville; Mr. and

by Myrtle Owen

(Cont. from last week) Jehoshaphat, continues his prayer, "Rulest not thou over all the kingdoms of the heathen? and in thine hand is there not power and might, so that none is able to withstand thee?" (v.6)

Jehoshaphat explains, "You are a God of Power"...but when he speaks of power in this context, he is not referring to something ancient, but to an active, moving, living, available, vital power. Not a latent power that just has potential either, but rather a power that is moving and a proven record of performance. The God we serve is an Unlimited God! Go back and repeat that phrase. Say it over and over again until its mighty truth fills your being.

OUR GOD KNOWS NO LIMIT-- Jehoshaphat knew that God was able to open the Red Sea to let the Children of Israel pass through. The same God fed the entire nation of Israel in the wilderness for forty years. He is the God that could send down the fire from heaven. He is the God that could cause the axe head to swim, and the donkey to talk. The false prophets could not withstand His power, and God's fire consumed to offering and the altar of Elijah, which was to them an open rebuke. The lion could not withstand the power of God, and Samson conquered it. (A lion he conquered, Judges 14:5-6) The Philistines could not withstand His power, and Jonathan and his armor bearer put them to flight. It was His power that shielded Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego in the fiery furnace that was heated seven times hotter.

It was His power that gave the lions lockjaw as Daniel walked among them and spent the night in their den. Sickness could not withstand His power as Jesus of Nazareth went about doing good and healing all who were oppressed of the Devil; as He said to the blind, "See," and the dark scales fell from their eyes. As Jesus said to the deaf, "Hear," the sensation of sound began to register on their brains; and as He said to the dumb, "Speak," those paralyzed tongues were released by the power of God to begin to function for the first time. The natural elements could not oppose the power of Jesus; as He spoke to them to be calm, they stopped their tempest without putting up a further argument. And the Devil could not withstand His power as He spoke to the demon possessed and said, "Come out," and immediately they were set free. Jehoshaphat is saying "God, I know you can do it, God you will deliver your people." (Continued next week)

Grasshopper Control Funds for Texas Released by USDA

Funds for grasshopper control in Texas were released recently by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown announced.

Cost of this program is estimated at $3.42 per acre. One third ($1.14 per acre) of this will come from Texas Department of Agriculture funds, one third from farmers and ranchers in the treatment area.

"The grasshopper problem has been evident to state and federal agriculture officials for several months but the control program had to be temporarily put on hold due to lack of funds," Brown said.

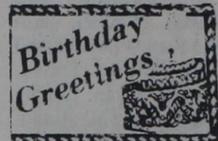

Initial treatment will begin in Shackelford, Callahan, Stephens and Throckmorton counties in the north central part of the state. Officials from the TDA and the USDA are working with ranchers in this area to finalize the number of acres needing treatment. "Farmers and ranchers are still signing up for treatment so there are no final acreage figures yet. Right now it looks like there will be approximately 100,000 acres treated," Brown said.

TDA is currently surveying other parts of the state for grasshopper infestation. Meetings will be held in the Panhandle area next week to determine if treatment is necessary there.

Surveys conducted by TDA have found between 16 and 37 adult grasshoppers per square yard in the infested areas. USDA figures show that economic damage will occur with eight adult grasshoppers per square yard.

"The best time for treatment is right now. The grasshopper eggs hatch in the spring. Treatment should be made after they have hatched and before they reach maturity," Brown said.

Microwave Cooked Poultry Fares Well

Poultry cooked in a microwave oven measures up favorably with that cooked in an electric oven.

Nutrient retention and cooking yield were found to be quite good in cooking tests using chicken broiler-fryers, points out Dr. James H. Denton, poultry marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Fryers were cooked in a microwave at two rates (800 watts and 1600 watts) and were compared to those cooked in electric ovens at 250 and 400 degrees F.

Broiler halves cooked at 800 watts in the microwave and roasted at 250 and 400 degrees F. were similar in cooking yield, notes Denton. But those cooked at 1600 watts were more dry in appearance and had higher cooking losses.

Tests showed no difference in thiamin (a vitamin) content of broilers cooked in the microwave at 800- or 1600 watts. Broilers cooked at 400 degrees F. in a conventional oven retained more thiamin than broilers cooked at 250 degrees F.

However, thiamin retention was greater in broilers cooked to a temperature of 180 degrees F. in an electric oven. So it appears that nutrient retention in microware cooked poultry is quite good, says Denton.

SELF-CONTROL CAN BE THE SMARTEST THING YOU DO THIS SUMMER...

Self-control can be the smartest thing you do this summer. Sometimes you have to cut down on the things you like, that takes self-control. Self-control is important when you overindulge in too many calories... or when you over cool your home. It can be rough on your pocketbook if you set your thermostat too low on hot summer days. WTU recommends setting your thermostat at 78 degrees or higher. Clean or replace your air conditioner filter at least once a month so your unit will operate as efficiently as possible.

Stop by your WTU local office today, and pick up your FREE copy of "Make your Home More Energy Efficient" you'll be glad you did...

Getting Back Into Shape by Jogging

Out of shape? You may have been active in high school athletics, but now all that remain are the memories and the extra pounds. You decide to get back into shape by jogging.

Before beginning, candidly assess your physical condition, advises the Texas Medical Association. If you are over age 30, are overweight, or have a history of health problems such as heart or lung disease, high blood pressure or diabetes, a medical check-up is important.

A person who plans to jog regularly should buy a pair of running shoes that fit well and absorb shock adequately. Because they are designed for running, they will be noticeably more comfortable than other athletic shoes.

Set up a carefully controlled running program by initially jogging only a short distance, combined with walking. Gradually increase the jogging distance when you feel comfortable. How often and far a person should jog depends on the individual. Many physicians agree that about 15 minutes of jogging three or four times a week is adequate to provide a "training effect," according to the National Jogging Association.

Your jogging speed in another consideration. One way joggers determine a suitable training pace is by checking their breathing with the "talk test". If you are out of breath and cannot talk comfortably while jogging, you should slow down. Other signs of overexertion include dizziness, tightness in the chest, and nausea. Jogging, particularly at first, will include many small aches and pains. If any become pronounced, stop immediately.

With the arrival of summer, heat has become a factor. Jog early in the morning or late in the day. Drink adequate amounts of water to avoid dehydration.

The main thing to remember is not to overexert yourself. And to take it slow and easy at first.

Know Symptoms of Overheating

In weather as hot as Texas' can get, it is wise to know the signs of overheating and heat stroke, warns a Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine physician.

Scott Taylor, D.O., clinic director at TCOM's Institute for Human Fitness, advises coming in out of the sun and getting a drink of cool water when you:

- get cramps in the abdomen or calves
- feel flushed
- seem disoriented
- are nauseated

When the relative humidity is not high, the body cools most effectively by evaporation. Placing the person in a shaded area and fanning the neck and trunk will usually be sufficient.

When the relative humidity is high, the body cools most effectively by conduction. Cool rags, cool water from a garden hose or ice packs to the head, neck and armpits will help conduct heat out of the body.

Mare-Foal Clinic

The third annual South Central Texas Mare-Foal Clinic is set for July 30 at the Washington County Fairgrounds in Brenham. This year's program will focus on foal management, according to Washington County Extension agent Bill Thane. Discussions will center around examining foals for structural problems at birth, feeding and health programs to maximize growth rates, "preschool" training and weaning systems to produce a top quality foal from every mare each year.

Senior Center News

Things are exciting and busy, as usual, at the Center. Do you complain of the doldrums? The Rising Star Senior Citizens' Center is the place to rid yourself of them. Last Thursday, as the group of about 30 "Beautiful People" mingled, visited, and made ready to eat another wonderful lunch, I soon learned that several plans are in the making for various pleasant activities for the remainder of this month. Included are a fish-fry to be this Tuesday evening and a fun party (birthday) planned for the evening of July 27.

Overheard, at the Center: "It seems that each birthday party is better than the last!" We have a new host and hostess each month and each pair puts forth every effort to make certain the party-of-the-month will be as delightful as the one before-if not more so. Do try to attend some of these really great evenings of fun. Any guests are always welcome!

The Star Brites stay on the road. The group-17, in number-journeyed to Goree, last Wednesday, to entertain at the festivities marking the opening of the Goree Senior Citizens' Center. It is heartwarming, indeed, to learn the fame of the Star Brites Band has spread so far. There is lasting satisfaction in bringing a few moments of pleasure to the various groups who invite us to play.

I understand the 42 games are still going great, with the competition unbelievably stiff. These games are every Thursday, and again on Thursday evening.

From time to time, I want to present the reader's of The Rising Star some gift, or something special, just from the Senior Citizens. This week, I have chosen a recipe for the most "taste-tempting" barbecue chicken I have ever come across. It is Lucy Curtis' recipe-and, there is a rush for the table for a piece of this delicious chicken, each time she brings it.

LUCY'S BARBECUED CHICKEN
 1 cup catsup
 1 cup Barbecue sauce
 1/2 cup water
 1/2 cup vinegar
 1 Tbs. liquid smoke
 3 tsp. chili powder
 2 tsp. paprika
 2 tsp. sugar
 3 Tbs. Worcestershire sauce
 1/4 pound melted oleo

Mix all together. Put the chicken in the mixture, as a marinade, over night. Next morning, place the chicken in one layer, in a flat pan. Bake at 250 degree oven for about 3 hours. Do cover the pan with foil for part of the roasting time, to prevent drying out the meat. (This is a kitchen-tested recipe-It was tested in MY kitchen and others!!)

I bid you readers, "Farewell," for this week.

Submitted, in love, by the reporter, Elizabeth.

Homemaking Hints

With summer here which means higher utility bills for cooling your home, many families are considering ways to save on their cooling bills. The Texas Energy Extension Service newsletter provides some good guidelines to consider if you are interested in buying a ceiling fan. Here are some tips on what to look for in considering a ceiling fan purchase:

1. Determine how many years you plan to use the fan. A cheaper plastic motor housing will suffice if you plan to use it only 2-3 years.
2. Do not be overly concerned with whether blades are wood or plastic because blade material is a fairly minor consideration.
3. Remember that fans with a metal housing usually last longer and are quieter than those with a plastic motor housing.
4. Remember that fans with sealed bearings may eliminate the need for periodic oiling, but fans requiring oiling have proven reliability and length of service.
5. Check warranties when purchasing a fan. The better fans usually carry a 5 year warranty.
6. Consider the diameter of the blades because the wider the diameter, generally the more air movement the fan will provide. A 48-inch or 52-inch fan should be considered for a den or living room, but an average sized bedroom can probably manage with a 36-inch fan.
7. Check into installation costs; they can run a high as the actual cost of the fan. 8. Remember that the brass and other decorative features do not add to the cooling power of the fan and increase the cost significantly.

With central air conditioning can I block off unused rooms by closing the louvers and directing the cold air to other rooms?

The Texas Energy newsletter states that contrary to what most people think, blocking off the vents in unused rooms will not save you much money on your utility bills. In fact, it can actually be harmful because the blocked cool air can cause mold and fungus to grow on the closed louvers.

Another energy related question that we often hear is that air conditioning in automobiles will reduce gas mileage significantly.

Both air conditioning and open windows can decrease gas mileage. American Automobile Association (AAA) tests reveal that fuel economy improves 5 percent to 14 percent when air conditioning is not used. The air conditioner should be used carefully and sparingly.

On the other hand, open window can create a wind drag that can also reduce mileage. According to one source, sun roofs can contribute substantially to this problem.

The driver must then determine when it is most efficient to use air conditioning, despite the added weight of an air conditioner which may decrease fuel efficiency somewhat. The drag created by driving at 55 mph with open windows can consume more fuel than using the air conditioner with the windows shut at least for some model cars. The least desirable time to use the air conditioner is in stop-and-go traffic.

- 1 T. Dry mustard
- 1/4 T. Pepper (optional)
- 1/4 Cup fresh lemon juice
- 3/4 Cup oil (any kind for salads)
- 1/2 T. Scraped onion with juice
- 1/2 Cup Honey
- 1 T. Poppy seed

Combine first 6 ingredients and dissolve sugar, shake in a jar. (I warm this enough to dissolve sugar and salt-seems faster). Add remaining ingredients and shake in a jar vigorously until thoroughly blended and chill before serving. Makes about 1 1/2 cups. Just before serving fruit, carefully pour over the fruit and gently toss to coat fruit. This dressing will get thick when chilled. I've poured it over the fruit (while fruit is in a mixing bowl) and gently toss fruit - then put the fruit in a watermelon bowl or a salad bowl lined with lettuce leaves, if it is a buffet meal. It can be served with the dressing on it. Put the dressing on just before serving.

Death On The Highways Needs To Be Stopped

THE CROSSROADS PHILOSOPHER
By Roy Boyd

How much longer are we going to sit by and allow our citizens to be killed at such a terrific rate on our streets and highways? Drunken driving must be stopped.

Some people rate it as the number one killer, but have you noticed so many accidents that are one-car related? This adds up to IGNORANCE. We must educate our drivers at a much faster clip and to keep those who can no longer see or can no longer handle a car on the road properly off the highways.

We should immediately require a driver test at least every five years. Here is an example of why a license is needed every five years. My father got his license renewed at age ninety five, which only meant that he could see well enough to drive but in no way was he capable of driving safely.

Another reason for a driver's test is legal and illegal aliens who come into Texas, get a job, buy and car and drive without a license.

Stricter laws and enforcement would save a lot of lives.

Fund Established For Eastland Youth

Chae Bell

A SPECIAL FUND has been established for Chae Bell, seven-year-old Eastland youth who is suffering with cystic fibrosis, a serious respiratory disease. He is the son of Paula Bell, who is employed at Best Western Restaurant. The single-parent family moved to Eastland in January from Cross Plains. Mrs. Bell has another son, Chase, nine. Pat Burns of Eastland National Bank is administering the funds and contributions may be mailed or taken to her at the bank. Young Chae was a patient at the Stephenville Hospital, but is home now, and is receiving three breathing treatments a day at Eastland Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Bell Tuesday was attempting to locate a portable breathing machine so that she can give Chae treatments at home.

Hobby Announces $130 Million Increase in Highway Funding

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation will receive an estimated $130 million in additional funding for highway construction and maintenance through 1983, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby announced Friday.

The Highway Cost Committee provided the additional funds by updating its method of calculating the effects of inflation on the costs of highway construction and maintenance. The committee, comprised of Gov. Bill Clements, Hobby and State Comptroller Bob Bullock, adjusted its calculations to include a change in the process by which contractors bid on highway jobs and to give more stress to highway maintenance.

During the committee meeting, Hobby pinpointed a flaw in the Highway Department's method of calculating the Highway Cost Index and suggested an alternative that will provide an additional $12 million for 1982-83.

"I am pleased that the committee saw fit to make these changes," Hobby said. "For various reason, the Highway Cost Index needed updating to provide a more accurate picture of the effects of inflation on highway programs."

Hobby said the additional $130 million is severely needed to help upgrade the state's highway system.

"Several states have actually suspended bidding for highway construction due to a lack of funds," Hobby said. "That is not going to happen in Texas because we have made long range guarantees of funding for this essential public service."

Hints For Homeowners

ENERGY CONSERVATION QUIZ

Most experts agree that the current oil glut is probably temporary, and, for that reason, homeowners who abandon energy conservation efforts might be making a mistake. Whether or not you've already taken some steps to conserve fuel, try this energy conservation quiz. It might help you find new ways to save fuel and money.

Q. The best time to insulate your home is in the fall before the cold weather arrives.

A. False. Though it makes sense to insulate before winter, the best time to insulate is right away since insulation works just as well in summer as in winter. Because insulation slows the flow of heat, it helps keep summer heat and winter cold outside.

Q. Insulating a home is a simple do-it-yourself job.

A. True and False. While some areas of the home, such as open attics are very easy to insulate, others (including walls, crawl spaces and floored attics) may require the services of an insulation contractor. And, since insulation is only as good as it is installed, it is vital that a reputable contractor be hired for the job.

To get quality service, check with the Better Business Bureau, ask contractors for references, and look for a firm that has professional recognition, such as Certification by a leading material supplier such as Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. Only contractors who have met rigid standards for professionalism and are trained in the latest installation techniques receive Certification from the insulation manufacturer.

Q. If your attic has 6-12 inches (R-10 to R-38) of Fiberglas insulation, your home is "energy-efficient."

A. False. While a properly insulated attic significantly reduces heat loss, your conservation efforts should by no means stop there.

Other measures that will greatly reduce your home's energy consumption—and don't cost much to do—include insulating crawl spaces and the band joist (the area around the perimeter of the home where the foundation meets the bottom of the floor). Also, simple caulking and weatherstripping around windows and doors may add substantially to your home's energy performance.

Savings will vary. Find out why in the seller's fact sheet on R-values. Higher R-values mean greater insulating power.

WHITE GRUBS IN TURFGRASS

One of the most common problems of turfgrass in Texas is damage caused by the feeding of white grubs. White grubs are the larval stages of June Beetles. They also feed on agricultural crops such as corn, sorghum and sugar cane.

It is the white grub stage which causes lawn damage during the summer and fall by feeding on the roots. Feeding of large numbers of grubs causes lawns to turn yellow in the affected areas. Positive identification of the damage is possible when the yellow grass can be lifted easily from the ground.

The grubs become dormant through the winter months living on fat reserves. In the spring the grub resumes feeding on organic matter. The grub pupates (rests) for three weeks and then emerges as an adult ready to mate.

Major adult flights occur at different times of the year depending on the geographic location of the state. This is important, as it determines the critical treatment period. The flight period, in which adults are active, lasts about 1½ weeks. After mating, the egg laying period averages 30 days. The egg will hatch in three or four weeks.

It is important to treat for white grubs while they are in an early stage of development, the critical treatment period. Larger grubs are difficult to control because of their size and the difficulty of getting enough insecticide down through the lawn. The critical treatment period is about four to six weeks after egg lay. In this area it arrives during late July or early August. Lawns suspected of being infested with white grubs should be inspected during the critical treatment period.

Lawns can be checked by cutting and digging 1-square-foot sections of sod and examining the roots and soil to a depth of four inches. Sod and soil should be replaced and watered in. Take several samples at different locations in the lawn.

Treatment is usually recommended when more than four ¼ to ½-inch grubs per square foot are found. Insecticides recommended for grub control are much less effective against eggs and large grubs than against small grubs. The toxicity of these in-secticides is greatly reduced two to four weeks after application. Thus, insecticides applied too early may not be effective in the soil after the eggs hatch. Granular forms of Diazinon® or Dursban® are recommended for the control of white grubs. Granular forms of insecticide should be watered in with ½ to 1 inch of water.

Please read and follow all label instructions. For any questions regarding this or any other pest, please contact your County Extension Office.
