Writing for and editing two newspapers for different towns almost simultaneously has its problems. It's easy to get your "wheres" confused.

A couple of Rising Star basketball players chosen to all-district honors were a little unhappy last week over some of the details about them in their home town newspaper. The "who" was all right; the "what" was satisfactory and the "when" was adequate. But the "where" was a little mixed up.

Mike Childers, was named to the second all district team of District 24-B, used to live in Cisco, but he now lives in Rising Star where his dad is superintendent of schools, and Susie Chambers, a guard on the Rising Star girls team who was named on the girls all-district first team, would have a hard time getting a letter from the Cisco Queens.

The trouble with newspaper errors is that they are so darned convincing. They are in plain black and white; they can't be denied. We can, in a manner of speaking, shift the blame around, but that is hard on the esprit d' corps.

Keeping errors at a minimum is a major project of the publishing industry. I once read that the New York Times pulled 20 separate proofs of every article it ran, although I am inclined to believe it a gross exaggeration for want of a better adjective. Even the Christian Science monitor, once rated by many knowledgeable critics as the best-edited daily newspaper in the land, had its share of misspelled words and transposed lines. I haven't seen a copy of it in years, but you can bet that if it is still in publication it is still bothered with errors.

When you consider the process that the newspaper story must survive in order to be laid fresh and readable upon your doorstep or in your mailbox, the wonder is not that it gets there despite its errors, but that it gets there at all.

It begins with something that happens, is happening or is about to happen. The reporter gets the story, usually in interviews. Right there are several chances for errors. It would amaze you how really unformed even eye witnesses can be. Fortunately the good reporter develops a sixth sense which leads him to the facts despite the difficulties in communication. But inaccuracies do occur.

Then the story is written from notes, usually on a typewriter, where every key is a chance for an error.

It is edited, a head written and the copy sent to the composing room where it goes through another process of composition, this time in metal type or a reproduction proof for offset printing. It is proofread, corrections noted and sent to the printer who makes the corrections and then "makes up" the forms for printing.

At every step, and particularly those in which the story is dealt with word for word, there are several chances for errors. Eternal, critical vigilance is the only insurance that it will be intelligible to the reader.

The type used in this newspaper is set in lines as long as the column width. It is quite easy to mix these lines up, to "transpose" them as the printer says. Sometimes in "making up" a column of the paper a line or two is dropped unnoticed. It makes for very chopped up reading.

Occasionally in correcting a galley of type, a printer may put a corrected line in the wrong story, because of similar "guide words". Most often when that happens it creates only an obvious break in the story. But sometimes it makes

Cat Track Team Takes 2nd In Eastland Meet

The Rising Star Wildcats, with only eight of their team participating, took second place only 15 points back of the winning Eastland team, in a six-school invitational track meet at Eastland Saturday.

The Cats captured five first places and came within one-tenth of a second of overtaking a sixth, to amass 116 points to 131 for the populous Maverick squad.

The Class B Wildcats were competing with Eastland and Clyde, 2-A teams; Cross Plains, 1-A, and Gordon and Carbon, class B schools.

The Cats needed only to have taken the mile relay, in which Eastland bested them by only one-tenth of a second, to have captured first place.

David Middleton claimed 37 points for the Cats while Dick Clarke got a total of 28. Middleton won first in the broad jump, the 100-yard dash, ran a leg of the winning 440-yard relay, on the second place mile relay team and took second in the high jump.

Clarke won first in the high jump, thirds in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, and ran on the 400-yard relay team.

Gaylon Merritt, the only remaining member of the team which went to state last year, took first in the 400-dash with a time of 52.3 compared with his 2-B Regional winning time of 52.5 last year. The Wildcat flash also ran legs of the 440-yard relay and the mile relay.

David Harris ran a leg of the 440 relay and Mike Polk and Tommy Bibb had legs on the mile relay team.

Brad Carroll was third in the pole vault and fourth in the intermediate 330-yard high hurdles.

Harris took fourth in the 220-yard dash and fifth in the 100-yard dash.

Travis Miles who runs the 880-dash, did not compete. Other members of the Wildcat squad are Charles Moore, who runs the mile, Randy Goldston, discus, and Ray Darnell, discus and shot put.

Mike Polk is the only senior member of the team. There are nine juniors and three sophomores.

Two members due to join the team next week are Larry Bond and Dalton Hughes.

The Wildcats will go to the Dragon Relays at Bangs April 27. After that they will go to DeLeon on April 28, Albany on April 29, and to Ranger April 9 for the district 14-B meet.

Other boys teams were Cross Plains, Carbon, Gordon and Clyde.

Women Are Better Liars, Dr. Joyce Brothers Tells Audience

Dr. Joyce Brothers, fourth and final speaker in the Cisco Junior College Current Affairs Series, not only presented an informative lecture on "Love—1970" but also allowed the capacity crowd to discover how much they knew about love, marriage, and the opposite sex.

Dr. Brothers, a petite New York psychologist and a noted television personality, began by listing several actions that are a sign of emotions, stated that every emotion had a visible sign.

Men are likely to pace the floor or drum their fingers on the desk or table. Women play with their beads or their hairdos and often shred napkins. These are all negative signs.

According to Dr. Brothers it is important to know when one's mate or romantic interest is lying. Women, she stated tend to be better at lying than men. They tell complicated lies and are very dramatic. She also warned men not to be fooled by a direct gaze; women often look men straight in the eye when lying, especially if their eyes are their best feature.

Men, on the other extreme, tell simple lies because they like to get it over with. They are very nervous, lying offends their integrity, and seldom look women straight in the eye.

Laughingly Dr. Brothers warned both men and women to beware of compliments. They are almost always lies.

While answering the test questions Dr. Brothers brought out several points, the major one being that opposites attract. "Bookworms" marry "social butterflies" and "spendthrifts" marry "tight wads". She explained that an individual recognizes his faults and tries, sometimes without success, to conquer them. When he meets someone who has conquered these faults admiration and love grows. She assured the crowd that the happiest marriages are between opposites. She stated that great differences, for example religion, should be considered seriously.

Another interesting fact, which Dr. Brothers stated, with proof, was that women start nine out of 11 fights. Men, she said, prefer to protect rather than fight their wives and would rather fight other men.

Women also complain the most, talk about men more than men talk about them, and have more nightmares, however, change their minds more.

Talent Show will be sponsored by members of the Rising Star High School annual staff Tuesday, March 24, at 1 p. m. in the gym, it was announced this week. Admission prices of 50 cents and 25 cents will be charged.

THE GOOD EARTH

By Mrs. B. F. Cobb

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd London enjoy a touch of summer the year around by bringing attractive tubs of many plants to winter in doors. . . . Two miniature Orange trees, with dainty white blossoms followed by tiny oranges, are a constant source of interest to visitors. . . . Just after Christmas a large red carnation gave a cheerful glow to the kitchen as Mrs. London (Vera) went about her daily work. More of the plants to winter over in the London home are — a mock citrus with fragrant white blossoms and orange fruit, beefsteak begonia, bird's nest fern, Oxalis (Directly from Ireland) with white blossoms, spider plant (Chlorophytum variegatum) Wild strawberry, a fish tailed palm, Bromeliad, variegated rubber plant, Monkey puzzle (aravcaria) and four graceful Norfolk Island pine trees. A weeping angelia and one that is upright in growth. And a very tall graceful plant that Vera calls her Nebraska corn plant. Two lovely Camellias grace the entrance from the patio. The patio extends into a courtyard that is so tropical in appearance during the warm months one feels they have entered another world. All the pot plants are placed in the courtyard and around the patio in a life like manner. English ivy twines up the side of a two story garage adding to the tropical appearance. A three partitioned fish pond is fed from a fountain constructed of rocks from

Arizona, a statue of a Mermaid sits atop the fountain. The banks of the fish pond are of concrete embedded with small black stones, all the same shape and size. The stones are from Japan. An island in the center of the pond is made of Lava rocks from New Mexico. A hedge of gold-spot euonymus hides the court yard from the street and gives it privacy. Planter boxes of evergreen shrubs are just above the fish pond, the English ivy rises out of the planters to twine up the garage. Even the cellar in the London's yard is a thing of beauty. . . . Vencia minor sends its tendrils creeping all across the cellar top, Hycinth (or pink yellow, white and blue), daffodil, and iris peep up through the vinca Minor. An occasional clump of thrift shows its pretty pink face too. Mountain fern sends its curled tendrils around a tree south of the cellar. A deep blue swimming pool south of the house is surrounded by shrubs, trees and flowers. Pine needles make acid soil for growing Camellias, there are several of these lovely plants growing and blooming beneath two towering pine trees. The needles not only furnish acid for the soil they act as a mulch to keep out winter cold and summer heat. Much also conserves moisture, so roots will never get to dry during long hot spells. Two tulip trees give a breath of spring in late February and early March. One has lovely pink blossoms the other has white ones. The large blossoms appear before foliage puts out. Two azalea bushes nesting beneath a tree were full of buds just fixing to burst into bloom. Japanese snowball was in full bud, apple blossom Japonica was a blaze with flowers, as was forsythia. There are many varieties of trees through out the yard many of which I am sure I missed. There are five kind of pine — Italian rock, Scotch, dwarf, and Japanese black pine. A sweet gum tree is growing and thriving in the London yard, many think sweet gum will not grow in this country. There is also a ball Cypress tree. Day lilies, pregrass, umbrella plant and many other perennials will add color to the scene this summer. Towering trees make the front yard a shady retreat during hot summer months. A hedge of holly separates the south and the front yard. Photinia and other shrubs march along the front porch to the entrance steps. Mr. and Mrs. London find many hours of relaxation from the beauty of their place.

Friday Deadline For Programs

Farmers are being reminded this week by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service that Friday, March 20 is the deadline for signing up in the volunteer wheat, feed grain, and cotton programs for 1969. Producers who sign up as participants get certain advantages over non-participants, Jesse G. Meredith, County Executive Director, pointed out. Price-support and acreage diversion payments earned by gain producers, for instance, provide incentives to avoid buildup of costly surpluses. These payments also provide substantial financial security for farmers because they are not subject to weather as are the crops themselves. Wheat and cotton allotments can also be protected by signing up in the program even though the farmer-producer does not plant his allotment. J. G. Meredith, director, said, "Those farms which haven't signed up have only a relatively short time left. Therefore, take prompt action and do not delay signing up or you will be left out for 1970."

IT HAS BEEN

By Yada Arnold

In the age of penny post cards, two cent stamps, women hat pins and five-cent cigars, men wore mustaches; beards and sideburns, celluloid collars, collar buttons and stiff bosomed shirts with starched cuffs and cravats. They wore spats of light gray or tan, peg-top pants, pointed vests and rather long coats with short, narrow lapels. Vests had watch pockets in which men wore large gold watches with long heavy chains that were draped from the pocket in a button near the V neck of the vest and hung in a festoon across the front of the wearer.

Hats were in evidence for all occasions; high top hats, stetsons and just plain felt hats for winter dress up wear and straws for summer. A bare headed man, other than indoors, would have been a disgrace to society.

Very few men went to a barber shop for a shave. They had their own long blade razor, a shaving mug with a round cake of soap in the bottom. And a shaving brush.

The kids enjoyed watching Papa sharpen his razor on a razor strap, and with the shaving brush daub his entire face with beautiful foamy lather made by swobbing a wet brush over the sweet smelling shaving soap. And then came the most dramatic part of the scene, when with much flourish, Papa picked up the shiny razor and started the actual shave. With quick, even strokes he shaved beard, lather and all, after each move he wiped off the razor on a piece of paper and proceeded in like manner until his face was finished.

Then mama was called in to shave the back of his neck. After that Papa bather his face and applied a bit of glycerine (shaving creams and lotions were unheard of except for rich people). He emerged a smooth, clean-faced Papa to be awarded with a kiss from each kid who had watched him shave.

Hair cuts were usually home made. Some women were quite expert in the art, and turned out sons and husbands looking neat and trim; Others not so adept turned a bowl over the heads of male members of the family and turned her men out with hair that resembled a stake and rider fence, in terms of crookedness. Nevertheless every body loved each other and overlooked hair cuts that hung in jagged points around the head.

Men carried good sized purses referred to as "pocket books," in their pants pockets. These purses had three or more compartments and closed with a snap fastener.

Women came in for their share of beautification too.

What was the need for a beauty shop? When there were "Kid Curlers" to roll the front hair and bangs on and left over night to produce lovely frizzed hair when combed out. Also there were curling irons to be heated in coals of the fireplace hung in the chimney on a lighted kerosene oil lamp for heat. This process was much quicker than kid curlers and looked much more beautiful.

Cosmetics were no problem. Prepared chalk applied with a small piece of outing flannel or a Chamois skin was a wonderful "whitening."

Several applications of buttermilk applied to the face at bed time and allowed to dry before retiring acted as a skin freshener and bleach.

Glycerine bought at the drug store (if there was money to buy with) and a little rose water was wonderful for the complexion.

An egg well-beaten made the best shampoo, ever, when used with rain water, caught in a rain barrel or tub from a recent rain.

During summer months one of the best facials could be had by cutting a large cucumber in half and rubbing the cut side over all the face and neck. Some fastidious ladies made a thick paste of home ground corn meal, egg and buttermilk and plastered their faces with it, after this had dried thoroughly, Mi-Lady tied a mask made of a piece of flour sack with holes cut for eyes, nose and mouth securely over her face and went to bed to dream of the tomorrow and her miraculously beautiful face, for the next day.

So on and on through all the years that have passed and the years to come women have pursued and will pursue the ritual of personal beautification.

Shrine Club to Meet Saturday

The Cross Timber Shrine Club will hold its annual spring meeting at the Cisco Country Club at 7 p. m. Saturday, March 21, according to announcement by W. E. (Dizzy) Dean, president.

W. W. (Jack) Sawyers of Cisco is Chairman of the arrangements committee for a dinner. The club is composed of Mosiah Temple Shrine members from Bastard County cities. Four meetings are held each year.

Mr. Dean said that a delegation was expected to attend from Fort Worth as well as from all cities of the county.

sense, and when it does you can count on a real lulu of a bust.

One such happened on the Cisco Press many years ago. Two small one-paragraph items were placed in the galley one above the other. One was a local story about a lady who had gone to the hospital for treatment of an abdominal disorder and the other a wire story about the civil war then going on in China. The proof-reader marked an error in the wire story, but the printer "stuck" the correction in the local story, with the result that he had the lady going to the hospital for treatment of "military movements in the abdomen."

That was quite a revision in medical terminology if not in military tactics, and we were a long time living it down.

But most newspapermen become quite philosophical about the mistakes they fall heir to. Some even admit they can make them.

As did the editor of a battalion newspaper that Coach Frank Gray of the Rising Star Wildcats was telling me about from his Army service. At the top of the front page that editor carried this notice:

"There are errors in this paper. But there are people in the world who go through everything looking for mistakes, and we try to print something for everybody."

HERE FOR SHOW—The Texas Department of Agriculture is sending its popular Agri-Tour mobile unit to Eastland for the Eastland County Livestock Show on March 20 and 21, 1970. The exhibit is free and will be open for viewing both days. This will be the first time for the Department's traveling exhibit to appear at the county show. Operators of the colorful presentation are Mr. and Mrs. Jess Moreland who have traveled thousands of miles throughout the state with the exhibit.

Texas Agri-Tour is designed to familiarize Texans with the food and fiber products that are produced in the state. Texas agriculture industry combined with the Texas Department of Agriculture in a joint effort to bring the story of the state's agriculture to the public through Agri-Tour. Agriculture to the public through Agri-Tour. Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said that the Texas Agri-Tour is expressly designed to promote high quality Texas Agricultural Products.

The exhibit features a narrated color slide program that tells the story of Texas agriculture. Of special interest are the shopper's hints explaining how to best select agricultural products to stretch the shopping dollar, and the cooking suggestions showing new ideas for preparing and serving Texas grown foods. At the conclusion of the tour, free recipes are available for the menu ideas featured in the program, plus other Texas favorites.

Now all your U.S. Savings Bonds pay higher interest.

Now it's official.

Now one of the safest investments in the world brings you new and higher returns.

Now your U.S. Savings Bonds pay the highest interest in history: a full 5 per cent when held to maturity of 5 years and 10 months. (4% the first year; 5.20% thereafter to maturity.) Previously, these Bonds earned you only 4 1/4% if you held them for seven years.

The new interest began June 1, 1969. So all of the Bonds you own, no matter when you bought them, have been collecting higher interest since that time.

Those Bonds are still replaced if lost, stolen or burned.

You can still buy them through Payroll Savings or the Bond-a-Month plan.

Regardless of your other investments, can you think of any easier, better, or safer way to build a nest egg for yourself?

It's nice to know that you are doing a little something for Uncle Sam, too. The $52 billion in U.S. Savings Bonds now outstanding in the hands of millions of Americans go a long way toward keeping your country financially strong.

There never was a better time to take stock in America.

There's a man at the place where you work who can start you on the Payroll Savings Plan right now.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America.
With higher paying U.S. Savings Bonds.

nual banquet. Senior classes would certainly not belong on a "senior try" at the climax of their senior year. The merchants and all the other interested townspeople really care about today's youth, tomorrow's leaders, and keeping in touch with all the students keeps them informed of current affairs in the youth world. It also promotes good business advertisements for future citizens as well as good will in the community.

Let us not take the merchants for granted. Let us regard them with respect and be proud that we have such generous, friendly supporters in our town. We are likely to have the opportunity to know our businessmen on a personal basis. The merchant is someone we can count on to be there with a friendly smile, and "Why, sure; I'll buy a ticket!" He gives of his precious time and money to us. We, the students of R. S. H. S., salute our friends, the merchants, and townspeople. Thanks so much for all you have done for us.

EDITOR

LEADERS OF TOMORROW

On Tuesday, the seventeenth, Burke Musgrove gave a talk to the high school student body. It really made a few of us slow down and take a look at ourselves.

In Civics we are studying the cities. This gives us a breakdown of the government of urban America.

In H. E. III we have been studying first aid in the home. The test given last week was a real "test" to our memories.

Mrs. C. has been giving us dictation. This is a new phase in English for some of us. Book reports are due soon, so start reading, Srs.

Remember the cap and gown rentals come to $4.75. Pay this money to Carter H.

Cisco Junior College presented a program last Wednesday, very, very nice.

The Band Hall seems to be full of smoke. What happened?

JANET

THERE'S ROOM AT THE TOP

The committees and chairmen have been set up for the Junior-Senior Banquet. The chairmen are already working and thinking of ideas; so far we have had a lot of good suggestions.

In American History we are studying the Spanish-American War. We are taking tests in Bookkeeping over our practice set. In typing some of us are having trouble with all those timings Mr. Hill has been giving us.

In English we are studying verbals—Wow!

Some of us were so surprised because of the snow. Not many of us expected to see snow in March — who knows — we may see it Easter Sunday — in Texas!

SANDY JONES

WILLING TO LEARN

Here I am again and here's our weekly news coming right up!

In Biology we are getting ready to dissect grasshoppers to see what all goes in to the chocolate covered grasshoppers some people eat Yum-yum!

In Algebra I we are multiplying a dividing polynomials fractions! And after that who really knows!

In English II, the main term is participles; how to form them; how to punctuate, restrictive or non-restrictive? Our test grades show how much we learned Right, Mrs. C.?

In history, we are working on the rise of democracy and nationalism. Our theme song is "Mine eyes have seen the rising of democracy. . ."

Everybody please buy a ticket to the game on Tuesday, March 17. Help the sophomores. There will be games such as canasta, dominoes, and others; everyone please come.

MARTHA

IN THE FISH BOWL

Berr! Hasn't it been cold? Last week it wasn't safe to even step outside. The snowflakes were flying so thick that you couldn't help but be hit. You know, I think "fish" are being discriminated against. Everytime it snows, the first thing everyone thinks of is rolling the poor fish in the snow. Why? Why?

Hark! I hear the clatter of needles. It looks like every girl in school is knitting. There are yarn balls round here of every color under the sun! What is everybody making?

Science is going fine for the boys, but the girls completely lost. What's the use of studying all this electricity stuff? Most of us girls haven't planned to be electricians.

Related Math is rolling smoothly. Mr. Rhodes is still teaching us. I hope Mr. H. is enjoying his rest.

Last week the freshman Ag boys traveled to Hico for a Soil Conservation Program. They missed a whole day of school. Those lucky boys!

Signing off,
B. J.

TOWARD NEW HORIZONS

Hello, people! Guess who is back in the news again! That is right. You will be hearing from me until school is out. By the way, the F. H. A. would like to congratulate Barbara for doing such a fine job on her reports for the paper.

In Home Ec. I and III the girls seem to be learning how to knit; while the Home Ec. II girls are still cooking. We cooked our last meal for the semester on March 10; and it was a good one, too!

D. T., S. H., C. S., and M. C. have you all decided to go Spanish-all the Spanish food you consumed. W. R., do you not know what Au-Gratin is? Do not feel bad; neither do I.

Look not for beauty, not color of skin, look for the heart that is loving with in. Beauty may fade, and skin grow old, but a heart that is loving will never grow cold!

SHELLA

WITH THE FARMHANDS

In Ag this week we are studying the different kind of grasses for the area contest of Range and Pasture. The boys did not do so well in Houston as they did in Fort Worth, but we do give them credit for working with their stock and showing them in the stock shows. They will only have one more stock show to go to and that is the Eastland County Fat Stock Show. We all wish them the best of luck there.

DICK CLARKE

DO-RE-MI

Howdy Folks! What's up in our case, we have passed in the purple book and are working on music for our concert that will be very soon. I would like to mention that on March 18, the Cisco Junior College Wrangler Belles will present a program in the High school gymnasium.

D. M. and J. O., blow your horns!

D. H., is it swinging' yet?

M. P., did that picture!

J. V. and D. C., watch where you're sitting!

L C.'S CHAMPS

The track season got off to a bad start this year because of the bad weather. The first track meet at Robert Lee had to be called off, and it looks like others might be done the same way. The meet at Robert Lee will be rescheduled but the exact date is not known. The next meet is to be at Eldorado; the girls are looking forward to this.

All the runners are getting along fine, except for a few hurts now and then. They are improving as the days go by.

The shot put and discus girls are also improving, and by next month who knows what our track team will look like!

Joy says Mexican food is her favorite. She likes Paul Newman and Katharine Ross as her favorite stars. Her favorite singer is Nancy Sinatra and her song is "One". "Dark Shadows" is her fa-

Joy has played basketball for four years. She was chosen All-District Guard her sophomore and junior year and on the second team her senior year. WHO'S WHO Larry Bond, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Bond, was born in Abilene on December 3, 1951.

Larry says he likes shrimp and chocolate pie; although, he did not say whether he liked them together. Paul Newman and Raquel Welch rate first on his list of stars.

He enjoys "High Chapperal" and his favorite movie, like so many other seniors, is "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid." Charley Pride is his singer and "Pop-A-Top" is his song. Does this lead our minds to believe? No, not Larry! His favorite color is blue and winter is his season.

Larry claims that his home is the hang-out for him. Larry's hobby is hunting.

Because of his great personality, Larry was chosen Class Favorite his Sophomore year. Larry has participated in football four years and track three.

Larry's philosophy of life, "Never pass up an opportunity," suits his friendly nature quite well. People who can't make up their minds are his pet peeves.
