A Special Notice To Water Users

Thanks

Some streets are being helped thanks to L.T. Owens for loading our City truck at Polly Price's caliche hill. Polly donated the sum of eight or ten loads.

When I left the office Friday evening about 5:30 p.m. there was Doug Owens on the road grader spreading the caliche on Brewster Street.

Another thanks to Doby Jones for riding the grader with Doug showing him how to work all the levers. We are especially proud of Doug Owens his new position with the City as Utility and Gas Superintendent.

Now personally let me tell you how proud I am of our employees. So that you may know, they are: Gary Westerman, over the Waste Water Department; Tom Bailey, in charge of Water Production; Coy Rankin, our Meter Man; Bea Kruger, our accountant, but we have put the title of Budget Administrator; and last but certainly not least is Helen Mitchell as City Secretary.

I'm so proud to work with these great people and you, too.

Doris R. Griffin
Mayor

As you know the days are long, hot, and dry. This brings on the use of extra water and your Water Department is happy that we have enough water to supply your usage thus far.

The City is having problems with a number of pumps. This slows our water production; therefore, we urge you to be careful in the use of water.

It looks like a long hot dry summer.

We appreciate your cooperation.

City Holds Public Hearing

on Community Grants

The City Council of the City of Rising Star will conduct a public hearing at 7:30 p.m., July 28, 1983, at City Hall for the purpose of soliciting citizens' input for the development of a Community Development Program

Application to be submitted to the Texas Department of Community Affairs.

All citizens, particularly low income residents, are invited and encouraged to attend.

Doris R. Griffin,
Mayor

The Surprise Was On Us

Just to let you know what is going on. Last Thursday about 10:30 a.m. a supply line for the water just split right into. Needless to say, we didn't have the type or size of PVC we needed.

We called Brownwood and they had it at the door ready for Coy Rankin to rush back with and get it installed.

The boys worked until 7:30 p.m. getting this repair finished and the water turned back on.

Your Utility Department apologizes for not letting you know the water would be off, but that pipe that was about five feet under ground did not tell us what it was going to do.

Doris R. Griffin
Mayor

"Adopt A Grandparent" Program Will Begin

An adopt a grandparent program will begin activities in August at the Rising Star Nursing Center, announced Avis Massey, activity director at the center. July 31 at 2 p.m. is the date set for area children and interested adults to meet the residents and match adoptees and adopters, Mrs. Massey said. Most older people love to interact with children and a relationship with a grandparent can be immensely beneficial to children.

Among plans that have been made is a special party on Grandparents Day in September and all those who participate in the "Adopt a Grandparent" program will be invited, Mrs. Massey added.

Sorority Sets Pool-Side Fashion Show August 1

A first annual pool-side fashion show will be presented at the Lakewood Recreation Center on Monday, Aug. 1, starting at 8 p.m.

The special event is sponsored by the local Alpha Rho Zeta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. Fall and winter fashions from Higginbothams, Etcetra, and Johnson's Dry Goods of Cross Plains; Trails West of Rising Star, the Gazebo of Cisco, and Utah Tailoring by Yvonne Peevy, will be modeled by sorority members and other community ladies.

A lovely Hawaiian theme will be carried out with decorations, music, entertainment and refreshments. Fresh flowers are being flown in from Hawaii, and a former Miss Hawaii will entertain with authentic dancing.

Advance tickets are now available for $5 and can be obtained from Trails West.

Due to the pool-side setting, no small children, please.

Perry Tom (Pat) Valliant, Former Rising Star Resident, Retires From Ruidoso School System

Superintendent Pat Valliant is only slightly ambivalent about his retirement from the Ruidoso School District.

I'm going to miss this school, having been here for 28 years," he commented this week, "but I'm ready; I'm looking to retirement with joy."

Valliant ended his long career in the Ruidoso Schools June 30, when he relinquishes his position to associate superintendent Sid Miller. The retiring superintendent's career here has spanned 28 years, including seven years as junior high school principal, seven years as high school principal and 14 years as superintendent.

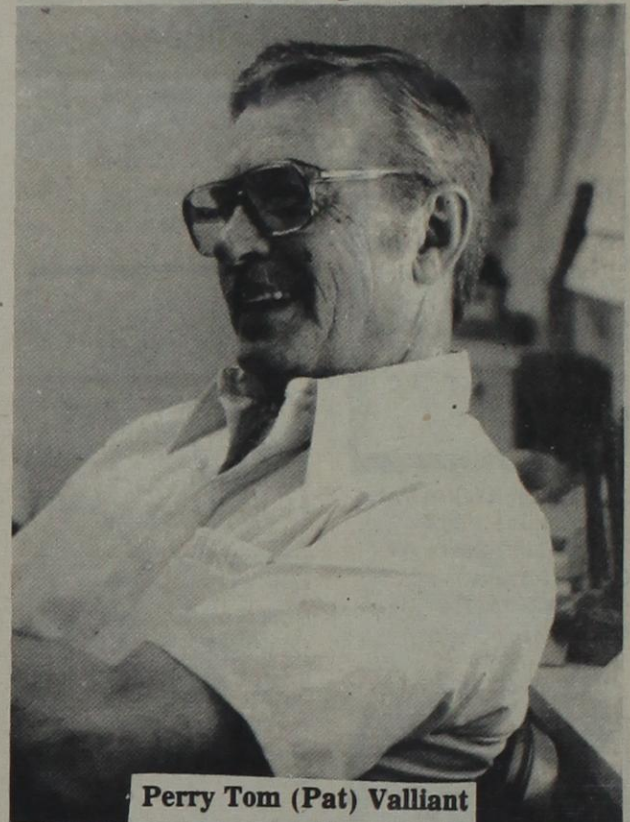

"Sometimes the life of a superintendent is pretty short," he observed, indicating he feels fortunate to have been an exception to that rule. Valliant said he hoped when he came to the Ruidoso District in 1955 that "I would stay a long time."

He had taught for one year in Rising Star, Texas and two years in Hobbs before moving to Ruidoso as a principal, for fifth through eighth grades.

In the course of Valliant's 28 years in the local school district, he has witnessed a jump in salary levels for teachers, from an average of $3,690 a year to the present average of $24,466, and a jump in enrollment from about 550 students to the 1,600 anticipated for next year.

The veteran school administrator said he expected that type of growth to occur, however, because "this was a place where everybody like to come."

Raising salary levels for teachers and non-certified personnel was one of Valliant's top priorities when he took over the superintendent's job.

"I felt like if we were going to have a good school system, salaries were going to have to be not only competitive but way above the competitive mark," he related.

Teacher salaries in Ruidoso now rank second among the 89 New Mexico school districts, having risen from a place "near the bottom," Valliant reported. Helping enable the schools to raise salary levels was an ever-increasing district property valuation, which grew from just under $8 million in 1970, the year after Valliant became superintendent, to over $65 million this year.

Valliant also is proud of the building projects initiated since he moved into the administrative office.

"We couldn't do any building for so long," he recalled. "We just had to build on everywhere we could put a 'lean to' here and a 'lean to' there."

But in 1978 White Mountain Middle School was completed, under Valliant's leadership, and a new high school is now under construction. Valliant admits feeling he had a part in obtaining Capital Outlay monies to make those projects possible.

But for most accomplishments during his tenure, Valliant credits all school personnel, from the board of education to custodians.

"I hope that I have played a small part in the growth and things that have been accomplished," he remarked. "But when it gets right down to it you've got to get down to personnel."

Valliant said he has no regrets about his years as superintendent, mentioning only spending more time "out in the classroom" as a goal of which he has fallen short.

"I've tried to stay close to the personnel," he noted. "I think they know that I have." He said increasing paperwork in the administration office had prevented his visiting each of the schools as often as he would have liked. The addition of an associate superintendent to the staff will enable Valliant's successors to remain closer to personnel, the retiring administrator believes.

Valliant said his retirement plans include spending a lot of time at his farm in Rising Star, Texas, although "this (Ruidoso) will always be home." He intends to keep busy with carpentry work, traveling and fishing. But he promises not to lose touch with the Ruidoso Schools.

"I've been telling Sid I'll be around next year to visit with him," related Valliant.

He said he will remember the last 14 years as superintendent as being "a good job."

And certainly Pat Valliant will long be remembered for his numerous contributions to the local educational system over the past 28 years.

School board president, Dave Parks, remarked at time the board accepted, with regret, Valliant's resignation "Very few (Copyright Inside) people have equaled the contribution to this school system" made by Pat Valliant. "Nobody has ever done more than he has for the system."

Ruidoso is the only system in the state to have all its public schools accredited with commendation by the State Department of Education.

Sid Miller, assistant superintendent stated that "My opinion that Mr. Valliant was the 'allowing force' to bring us from a good school district to an excellent school district."

Miller cited Valliant's encouragement of innovation; his excellent working relationship with principals, teachers and the school board; and his active participation in the building of a good curriculum for Ruidoso schools.

A scholarship fund has been established for Valliant. The Pat Valliant Scholarship fund was begun by the Ruidoso Education Association. The first scholarship will be awarded to a member of the 1983 graduating class, and it will be a continuing scholarship.

"It (the scholarship) carries through on Pat's belief that everything involved with school is to help the student," White Mountain Elementary School principal Mike Gladden explained. "The scholarship will be characteristic of his career objectives."

The National Honor Society in the high school was named for Valliant a few years ago.

Perry Tom (Pat) Valliant is a native of Rising Star. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. P.N. Valliant and brother of Mrs. Clif-fogene Witt of Rising Star and Mrs. Estellene Frankenberg of Abilene.

Rain Becomes Crucial To 1983 County Peanut Crops

By Gary Slade
Staff Writer

KOKOMO—"Rainfall in the next 40-60 days will determine what kind of crop the peanut farmers will have in Eastland County," said DeMarquis Gordon, County Extension Agent.

That statement may be very true as much of the soil around the peanut crops has started to dry up from the lack of rainfall this summer.

Last year (1982) was a wetter year during the three summer months than what this summer has shown so far.

In June of 1982 6.54 inches of rain fell on Eastland County crops, June of 1983 had under half that amount with 3.07 inches of rain.

July was a dry month in 1982 with less than one full inch (.91) of rain falling. July 1983 has been a worst disaster so far with only .04 of an inch of rain falling.

August 1982 recorded .44 of an inch, August 1983 does not look promising.

So what happens if the farmers do not get the necessary rain? The county economy could stand to lose up to 10 million dollars in lost revenue.

One county official estimated that a good peanut crop in Eastland County is worth about $10 million dollars to the county.

That money is what farmers use to buy new cars, trucks, equipment and general goods with in the county. If no rain falls, so does the spending in the county.

Not all hope is lost since many farmers have put in automatic irrigation systems for backup in dry weather.

One such farmer is Albert Hendricks, of Kokomo. Although he planted his crop late because of the late cold spells he said he plans to start irrigating the week of July 25 if he doesn't get any rain.

His peanut vines are up, a nice green color, and are starting to bloom. That bloom is when the moisture is needed.

After the bloom is pollinated a peg is formed and grows into the ground. That peg must grow into the ground and not on top of it or it will die. Once the peg is in the ground, water is needed to help the peg form a pod from which the peanut emerges.

That time frame is when rain is needed the most. But even if rain falls on the vines there is always another problem and that is disease.

Most common is Eastland County is Leafspot. This disease occurs when there is moisture on the leaves and the weather is warm either, from rain or irrigation. It forms a black dot on the leaf of the vine and then turns the leaf or leaves yellow causing them to fall off and killing the vine.

Fungicides are used to help control the disease either after the needed rain or during irrigation if rain does not fall. Benlate 2 and Bravo are the two most common used fungicides being used in Eastland County.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service reminds farmers that peanut diseases can be controlled by using the proper combination of cultural and chemical methods. Growers are encouraged to accurately diagnose the disease problems occurring on their farm and utilize those practices needed to get positive economic returns.

As far as the present status of the peanuts Gordon said, "In general the crops are in real good condition. Most were late planted due to the prolonged cold soil temperature, but the stands are real good and we're not seeing any major diseases." Gordon went on to say,

"We are entering that important water stage where our requirement for water will go up every day. Those that can irrigate will be doing that but those that are on dry-land will be needing some moisture by August 1."

Irrigation in the county has been designed to be a supplemental water form, but once the water supplies get low then those farmers will also be in need of rain.

"At the stage we are in right now our crops could go either way. At this point it looks good, very good but only the next 40-60 days will tell for sure." Gordon said.

So for now, all Eastland County farmers can do is keep looking in the sky and hoping that sometime soon that much needed rain will come before the Texas heat and wind has taken its toll.

4-H Leaders and Parents To Meet

The Rising Star 4-H Club Adult leaders will meet Thursday, July 28 from 7 to 8 p.m. in the First State Bank Community Room.

Many Good And Sincere Individuals

...give little thought to the question of values when we should measure them in terms of personal worth in everything he buys, enjoys or does. For example, some folks will buy real estate without any kind of evidence of title disregarding the fact that the principal value of the purchase is in the title, not in the land itself or the improvements thereon. This kind of thinking costs property owners thousands of dollars annually which could be saved and a part of the savings wisely spent for an abstract of title or title insurance.

Louella McKinney shares her recipe this week for Mexican Casserole.

 Mexican Casserole
 2 lbs. ground meat
 1 large onion chopped
 1 can cream of chicken soup
 1 can cream of mushroom or tomato sauce
 1 can green chilies, chopped
 1 large can evaporated milk
 ½ lb. Velveta cheese
 16 tortillas-broken in small pieces

Brown meat and onions in 1 tablespoon fat.
 Put ½ of the tortillas in the bottom of a large greased baking dish, add one half of the meat and onion mixture, and ½ of the liquid; and ¾ of the grated cheese, then add the remaining meat, tortillas, and liquid. Top with the remaining cheese and bake at 375 for 45 min.

Mrs. Pat Walker was our visitor Thursday. She played a number of beautiful piano solos for us. We want to give a big thank you to Pat for this wonderful program. We hope you enjoyed your visit to our center and will come again soon.

Can This Happen In America?

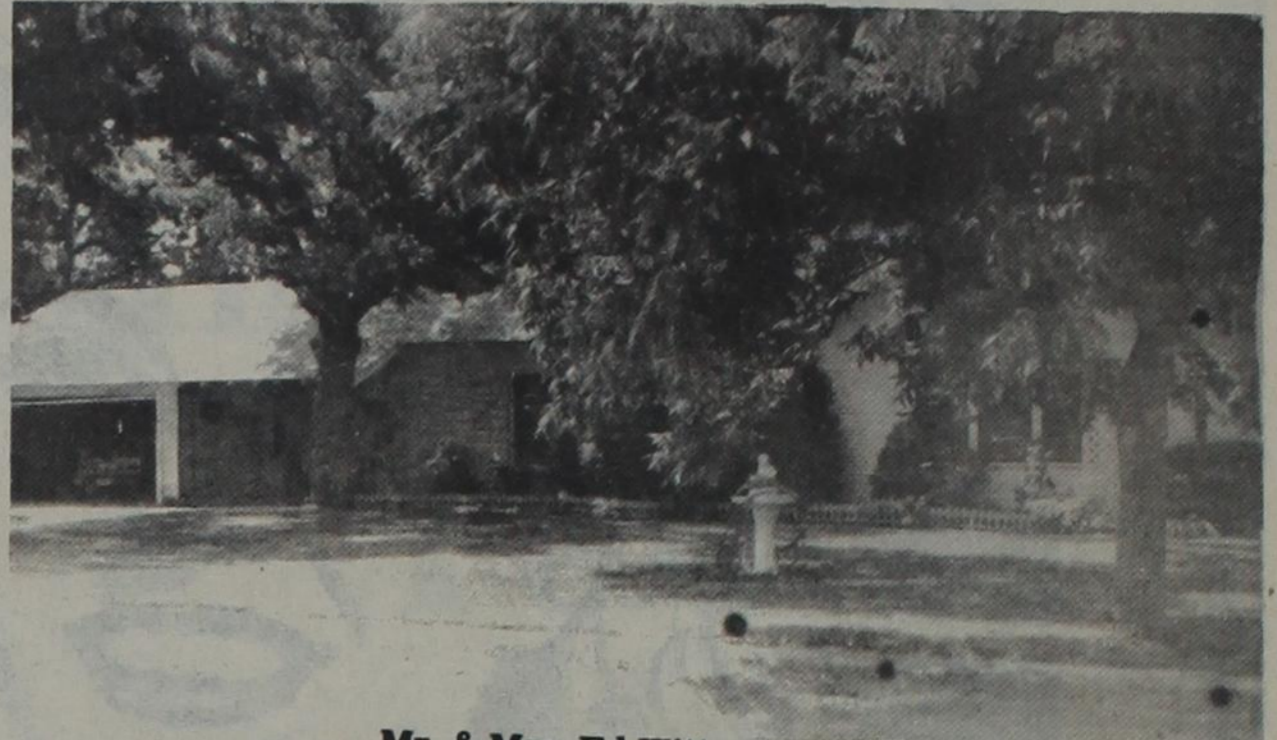

The California Farm Labor Board decided that grower Paul Bertuccio illegally sold his 1979 garlic crop for seed, rather than harvest it for fresh market which would have required more workers.

The Board said that such a decision must be cleared with the United Farm Workers Union which represents his work force.

The Board ruled Bertuccio owed farm workers more than $3 million in back wages as a result of his harvest decision.

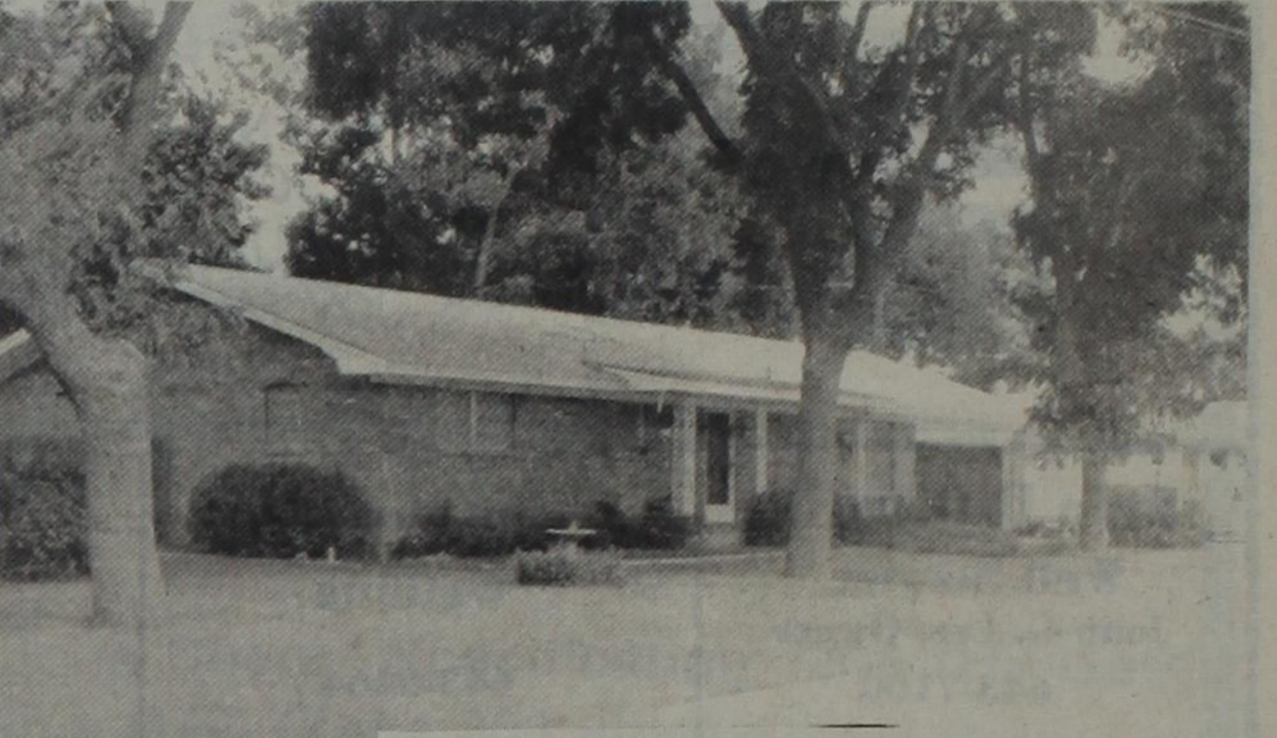

Bertuccio has since declared he is quitting farming after 41 years in the vegetable business.

THE FALLACY OF FEELINGS: The just shall live by faith, Romans 1:17. It is a truth that one of the prime things that people try to hold on to is one of the first and easiest shaken...and that is in the area of 'feeling,' which often results in our acting out of presumption...a hoping. People say, "I feel I should do this," or "I feel I should do that." Often, tragically, what they are feeling is something far removed from what God has stated expressly in His unchanging Word. There is a vast difference between feeling and that inner knowing of faith that is a spiritual attribute. We need to differentiate between the two. Feelings are not a "fixed point" for our faith. Many diverse factors enter into how we feel. It is relatively easy for Satan to tamper with feelings to deceive the unwary. The danger is exemplified in the story of Jacob deceiving his father, Isaac, as recorded in Genesis 27:22, And Jacob went near unto his father; and he felt him, and said...the hands are the hands of Esau. Lack of sleep or too much sleep, our diet, our relationships, lack of prayer, pressures, financial problems, physical illness, an unkind word...so many things both trivial and great can play havoc with our feelings. Thank God for the joy of the Lord! Joy is an emotion, it is true, but the real joy of the Lord stems from a deep down knowing relationship of God's Presence. That is why it is so important that we press past our feelings, into a place of stability and joy based on our fixed point in God. The great shaking and trouble times that is to come in a very short time, in every area of our lives will play a great part in how we feel. That is why we must now, before it comes, get ourselves anchored in that place of knowing. Not only will our emotional feelings fail us but the perceptions of all our physical senses are vulnerable and open to deception. We are all born with five physical senses: We taste, we feel, we see, we hear, we smell. When we become the children of God, born into His kingdom through a spiritual birth, we are born with a sixth sense that we call faith. This sense is apart from, separate from, the five natural senses and is not based upon any of them. It is based on that "fixed point" which will not waver. When people rely on their feelings, their emotions, their senses, they will find failure, defeat and despair. Having leaned totally upon them, they will, in fact find panic when they realize the feeling is gone, that their perceptions have failed.

I have read what happens to people, even experienced woodsmen, who get lost in the forest. Many lose their heads. In reality they are not actually lost...they just lose their bearings for a moment and, becoming panic stricken, do things, irrational things, that often lead to tragedy or death. This condition is called being "bushed." Often in their distress these people will throw away the very instruments necessary for their safety. Bodies of hunters have been found who have thrown away their guns or discarded their shoes and clothing. Some become so confused that they do not recognize the right path when they cross it. Our fixed point is God's Holy Word, the Bible. It is our road map to Heaven.

Verna Little Stripes A Ceramic

Ceramic Is Shaped In Casting Department

The Finished Product

By Gary Slade
Staff Writer

The House Of Webster Ceramics in Eastland may only employ 25 during its peak season but, the process of making ceramics at the plant is one to see and one that is important to Eastland County.

The plant was actually started in Eastland at the end of World War II. Several owners tried their hand, or skill, at it before selling out to the House Of Webster Ceramics, based in Rogers, Arkansas, in 1970.

The Eastland process however, is not as simple as one might think.

The raw material to make the clay comes in bagged and is shipped to Eastland by truck and by boxcar. Five ingredients are used to make the clay which come from as far away as Tennessee and South Carolina. The closest product used is a talc product mined and processed near Van Horn, Texas.

Once the raw materials arrive at the plant workers will then mix the material producing about 6,000 pounds of dry material at a time. Over

A mold can be used for about 100 casts and can usually be cast about twice a day.

When the slip comes out of the mold, greenware is produced.

This greenware is sent to the finishing department where the seams are scraped, or taken off, and the pieces are smoothed and cleaned up before going to the drying room.

Greenware is the term used for any cast that has not been fired, or have fire put to it.

again to make the decal or gold trim permanent to the ceramic.

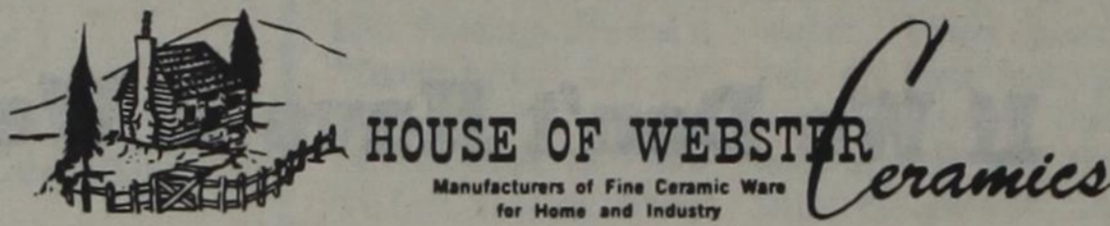

These items are then sent to the warehouse also where they are stacked on pallets and wrapped with a plastic wrap called a shrink wrap. The wraps may stand as much as eight feet tall and may contain anywhere from 450 to 1500 ceramics on the pallet depending on their size.

From here the pallet is wrapped with a metal band and shipped to the headquarters in Arkansas when needed.

All the ceramics are stored at Eastland until needed and during the course of one year the Eastland plant will produce more than 150,000 ceramic containers for the Arkansas firm.

According to Little, Eastland has one of the oldest professions known to man and the House of Webster in Eastland still makes the ceramics the old way-by hand.

House Of Webster started in 1934 and is a company which sells food gift items to companies as gift items. These gift items may be different kinds of fruit or a mixture of ham and bacon set inside a ceramic dish or bowl of some type. This is where the Eastland plant comes into effect.

Eastland is the only ceramic supplier for the company which sells gift items to companies in over 40 states.

Jimmy Little, owner and operator of the Eastland plant, says that his company helps your company remember someone through these gift items.

The overall process of the item is a simple one. Eastland sends ceramics to Arkansas. From there the ceramics are filled with the food item, sealed for protection, and then sold to companies to use as gifts.

300 gallons of water is then added producing a substance known as slip.

The slip is then screened over a fine screen to take out the impurities and then is pumped into one of two holding tanks where it is ready for use.

From here the slip is sent to the casting department where it is poured into the casts for its shape. The molds are made out of a special industrial pottery plaster made for the pottery industry.

The casting department will have over 12 to 14,000 molds on hand of different shapes and sizes.

Depending on the demand for the item the casting department may have as many as 200 molds of the same item being used at one time.

After the greenware has had time to dry it is bisque fired without a blaze one time to make it easier to handle and to take out all the impurities in the clay which might effect the glazing process.

All the items are fired at least two times and some items which have extra decorations are fired three times.

A layer of glass, called glaze, is now applied to the ceramic body to both the inside and outside of the container giving the ceramic a shine. The glaze can be dipped or sprayed onto the ceramic.

After the glaze process the glaze is cleaned off of the bottom of the item so it will not stick to the bottom of the boards in the kiln or furnace during the firing process.

A small cart moves the items through the kiln and will take about 14 hours start to finish. The kiln will heat up to 2000 degrees in the middle of the kiln.

Two kilns are operated at the plant 24 hours a day, five days a week by three rotating shifts.

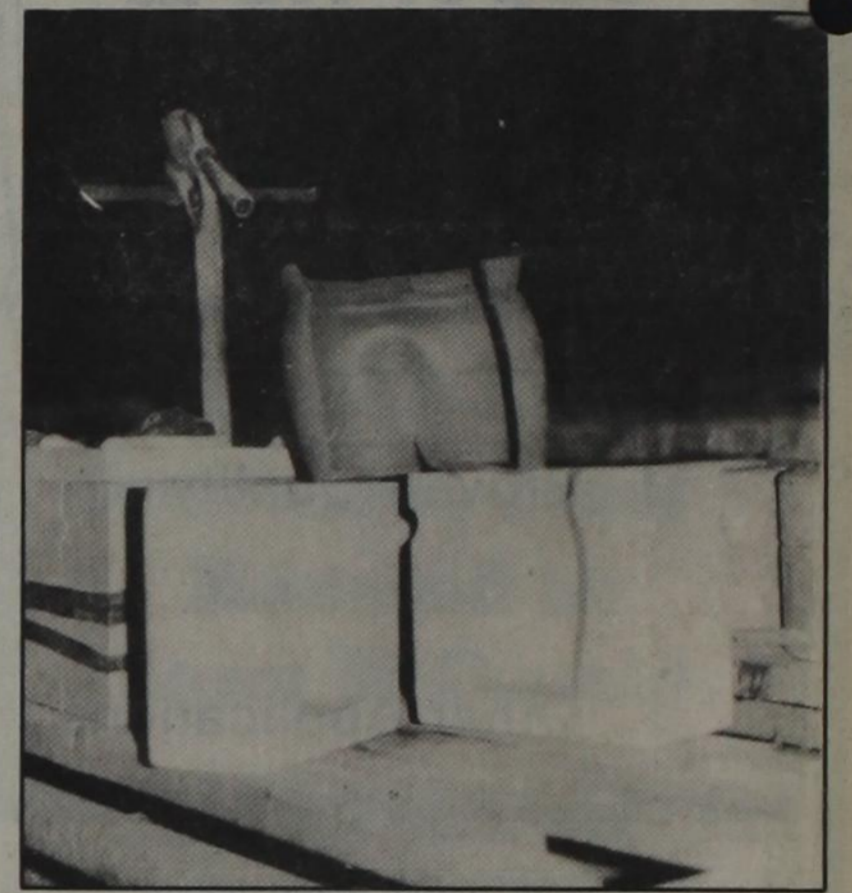

When the product comes out of the kiln it has been reduced in size by about 10 percent and only about 85 to 90 percent of the items coming out will be good as the remainder are lost due to cracks or other problems.

The cart can carry 35 to 50 pieces through the kiln at one time.

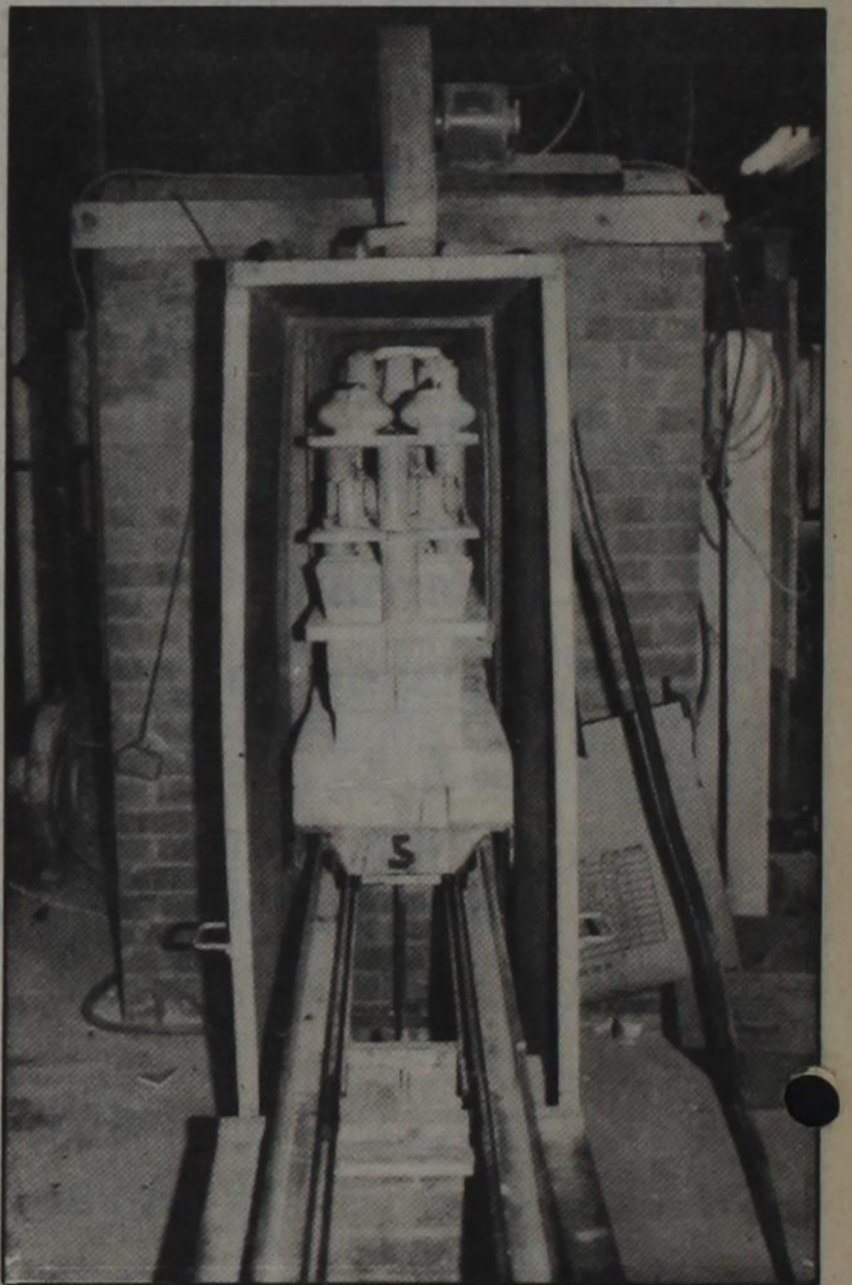

The product is then graded and stacked on pads.

Some items have decals or gold trim put on them while other are simply finished and sent to the warehouse.

Those requiring decals or gold trim have to be fired

Education: brings
The joy of learning — a life-long experience

Education is a life-long process, not something which can be contained within the walls of any school, however distinguished. It is as much a territory for adults as children — there is no limit on curiosity. Pay the person who truly believes that he has nothing more to learn, because that person has ceased to grow!

People learn by a variety of methods. Book-learning is one course, chief among them — as is the interchange of ideas and facts among people, teacher to pupil, pupil to teacher. Mostly, people learn by opening themselves to the world around them, by allowing their senses to interpret the things they see, leaving their pores open, metaphorically speaking, to the things that nature and art and erudition have to offer.

Whether your interests lie in specific areas, or whether you are content to let everything in the world has to offer, there is one precept always to keep in mind: There is nothing so small it's not worth learning, nothing so large, it's not worth tackling.

Perfect picture

Capturing the spirit of summer in photographs can be as easy as frolicking in the sun, when you follow a few simple tips on picture-taking.

No matter how ideal the lighting and other conditions, ultimately the quality of your pictures depends on the way you handle your camera.

Although many of today's new cameras are easy to use, what appears in the viewfinder is the result of how you compose the shot.

One of the greatest advantages of an instant camera is that you can see your results immediately. You can tell right away when you took the time to compose a shot in the viewfinder or when you need to try again.

WTU's Oklaunion Power Station Under Construction

The estimated cost of West Texas Utilities Co.'s Oklaunion Power Station, now under construction in North Texas, has been reduced by $127 million.

The announcement was made Friday by Durwood Chalker of Dallas, chairman and chief executive officer of Central and South West Corp., WTU's parent company, at a presentation before the Utility and Telecommunications Securities Club of Chicago.

The reduced cost estimate results primarily from being able to negotiate better contracts in today's market with manufacturers and suppliers for practically all of the equipment needed for Oklaunion, Chalker said. The cost had been estimated at $525 million a year ago, but now is estimated at $398 million.

The Oklaunion Power Station will have a net generating capacity of 640 megawatts and will be the first power plant in WTU's system to burn coal as a boiler fuel. The plant is scheduled for completion in December 1986 and will be in full operation before the summer of 1987.

It will be owned jointly by WTU and two other CSW subsidiaries, Public Service Co. of Oklahoma and Central Power and Light Co. WTU will own 55 % of the plant and will be the operating partner.

Pioneer News

By Mabel Halsell

We hear so much about the education crisis. First we look at the indicators of this crises. Poor performance in the three basic skills is what we hear most about. (There are others). Some disintegrating influences have caused this poor performance in two of these fields; the reading and writing abilities of some students in High School and in college. One example, more than half the entering Freshmen in Uni. of California, Berkeley, are required to take remedial courses in Reading and writing due to their inadequacies in these fields. Many more examples can be cited.

Three deterrents to proficiency in reading and writing are cited here. Excessive viewing of television, Objective tests in all school levels, and Audio-visual equipment.

Some of the arguments for blaming T.V. are, it shortens the attention span in reading; limits the mental work of the viewer and may cause the viewer to cease to think.

Too much use of Audio-Visual equipment in the classroom discourages the use of books; school books, books for entertainment and books as sources for research.

The devastating influence of objective tests, introduced into our secondary schools when universities abandoned the essay type entrance examinations, is cause for complaints.

These are only a few of the many deterrents that teachers and more taxes cannot correct.

Two people have called in news. Thank you!

The May Senior Citizens got off to a booming start last Tuesday night on their first quilting party. Quilting parties are to be held each Tuesday night beginning at 6 p.m. Refreshments or covered dish foods for snacking or eating will be whatever you care to bring. There will be domino games of your choice if you do not quilt. Each guest will pay fifty cents gate fee plus any donations.

One quilt was completed last Tuesday night and two quilts will be set up for quilting next week. The Senior Citizens wish to express their appreciation for all the quilts we have booked ahead.

I have recently returned from a delightful vacation in Austin, Indiana. I spent 10 days with Polly Campbell, who many of you met several years ago while she was here visiting with me and my family. Also I visited in the homes of Willie and Margaret Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Messer.

We had a back yard picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Messer on July 4, as we all decided to stay off the highways during the heavy traffic time. I visited several other friends and relatives in the area while I was there including Leon and Bertha Campbell and Darrell Ray Brock and his son.

Horace White had extensive tests in a veteran hospital last week. He was visited by his cousins, Alma Martin and in-laws Viola Jackson and Faye Wheeler last Thursday.

I am considering an invitation to spend the witer months, beginning about Oct. 1, with friends just South of Three Rivers, Texas. They claim it is a very pleasant climate there.

Robert Sparkmen remains in Carswell AFB hospital.

Mrs. Jean Key of Freeport died in pickup accident early Sunday. She was the daughter-in-law of Mrs. Bill Key of Rising Star.

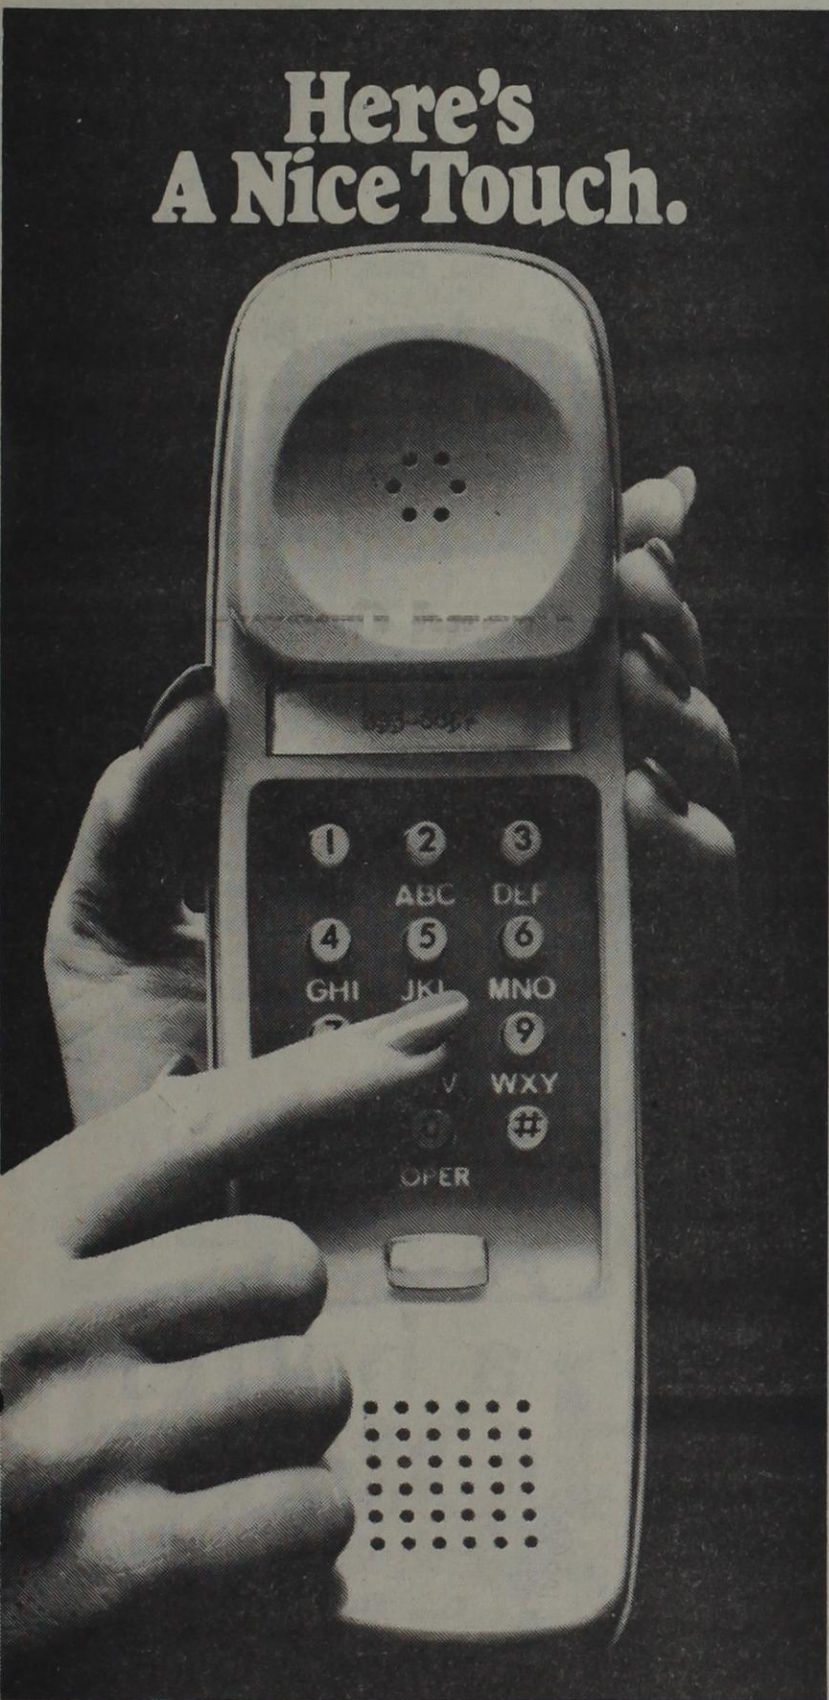

Frank Madison is improving since a mild stroke last week. He is in the Brownwood Regional Hospital.

West Texas Fair & Rodeo Shapes Up

The parade committee for the West Texas Fair & Rodeo is already putting together plans for this year's parade to be held Saturday, September 17th. The route and line-up procedure has been modified slightly this year to eliminate problems from years past.

All persons and groups planning to participate in this year's West Texas Fair & Rodeo should request entry forms by writing, Parade, P.O. Box 5527, Abilene, Texas 79608. Entries must be returned to the committee by September 7th when it will finalize the parade line-up. Position numbers and maps will then be sent back to entrants. Late entries will be placed at the end of the parade.

Entries will be given numbers corresponding to numbered stakes along Cypress north of the Abilene Civic Center parking lot to enable them to get into position prior to the parade. Bands will assemble on the Civic Center parking lot and feed into the parade from there.

The parade will begin promptly at 10 a.m. at North 7th and Pine, moving south to North First and west to Hickory, then north to North Eight and east on 8th where the parade will disperse. Trophies will be awarded to first and second place bands in each division and two places will be awarded to the best overall units in the parade.
