Something Dad Didn't Have

The newborn baby being greeted by his father in the maternity ward of a modern community hospital has entered the world during the "Golden Age" of pharmaceuticals—a time when many infectious diseases have fallen before a chemical and biological onslaught. During National Pharmacy Week (October 4-10), the American Pharmaceutical Association points out that infants born today have a life expectancy of 73 years, an increase of 19 years over those born in 1917.

Cats Rest, Start Title Play Oct. 9

The Rising Star Wildcats have a respite this week from what has been, after their first game and victory of the season, a series of disappointing performances, distinguished by their own mistakes and growing dispirit, and too much opposition.

After the first game of the season, which they won handily, they held the strong Bangs team to a 12 to 0 score after the loss of two or three key players, but since that time they have shown a lack of playing interest and suffered top-heavy losses of which the latest was a 22 to 0 defeat by Richland Springs Friday night of last week.

Miss Minnie Agnew Buried Here in Services Sept. 24

Funeral services for Miss Minnie Agnew, 88 year old former resident of Rising Star, who died at Big Spring, Texas, on Wednesday, September 23, were held at the Higginbotham Funeral Home here at 2 p. m. Thursday, September 24, with burial in Rising Star cemetery. Minister Luther Dabney of the Rising Star Church of Christ officiated and Higginbotham Funeral Home directed burial arrangements.

Miss Agnew was born in September, 1871. She was a resident of Rising Star for most of her life, moving to Big Spring about 1935 when she was 63 years of age. She was never married.

She is survived by a number of nieces and nephews. They include Ray and Jack Agnew of Rising Star; Erwin F. Agnew of Abilene; W. L. Leach of Fort Worth and Allen Leach of Dallas, nephews, and Mrs. Gladys Carter of Rising Star; Mrs. Ray Landreth of Van Horn; Mrs. J. W. Clawson of Snyder; Mrs. Ada Odson of Houston and Mrs. Lee Brown of Robert Lee, nieces. She was a member of the Church of Christ.

Bone Spoils Nimrod Visit for Fred Roberds

A bone which lodged in his throat while he and Mrs. Roberds were eating barbecue at the Nimrod Neighbors Progressive Club open house Monday evening at Nimrod, sent Fred Roberds to a doctor's office to have it removed.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberds were among a large group of Rising Star, Cisco and Nimrod area people who attended the Nimrod club's annual event and enjoyed—until his accident—music and a barbecue plate.

The bone, a sliver in the shape of a toothpick about an inch and a half in length, was unnoticeable when he swallowed it with a mouthful of meat, Roberds said, but it became noticeable indeed when it

Good Grades, Fair Yields In Peanuts

Rain—1.57 inches of it according to the city hall gauge—Monday night interrupted the rising flow of the 1933 peanut crop to the market.

Monday witnessed by far the heaviest receipts at the local grading station where Gov. Grader Bob Faller reported a total of 238,400 pounds were graded during that day.

This figure was more than twice the total for the previous heaviest day, which was Thursday of last week, when 101,750 pounds were received.

Although the average yield per acre is reported somewhat below the yield for last year, the grade has been uniformly much better, local buyers reported. The yield has been averaging between 25 and 30 bushels per acre, some of them said, while the grade has averaged in the upper sixties, they said.

Mr. Faller said that some grades as low as 53 and others as high as 76 have been recorded.

Total receipts at the local station last week were 576,290 pounds according to the records.

Relics of Old West Reviewed in Buffalo Gap Paper

L. H. (Babe) Morrison brought to the Rising Star Record this week a copy of the summer edition of the Buffalo Gap Messenger, a frontier newspaper established in 1833 and revived last spring after a long period of activity.

The tabloid sized, four page paper, published by Ernise Wilson, is devoted to promotion of the Ernie Wilson Museum of the Old West, housed in the two story stone courthouse and jail building erected in 1879. There are a number of interesting articles relating to historical places and to exhibits placed in the museum, which also houses a Pioneer Hall of Fame. The massive stone structure has two stories of which the upper was used as a jail and the lower for county offices and later as a school room. Three inch cannon balls obtained from Army forts in the area, were said to have been embedded between joints of the stones to tie the second story wall together.

Persons interested in the newspaper may see it at the Record office.

Home, Community Responsible for Most College Student Problems, Lions Told

Charles H. Miley, chairman of the Department of Psychology of Howard Payne College and director of guidance services at the Brownwood school, told the Rising Star Lions club Monday night that a great many, if not most of the problems which college students face stem from the parental environment.

"Such problems do not originate in the college," he said. "The new environment, new freedoms and new demands placed upon the student when he goes to college help bring them into expression."

The educator, who spoke to an attentive club while rain, sprinkled with hail, stormed against the windows of the elementary school lunchroom, darened a bit the hale which he said popular opinion has placed about a college education. "I fear we are over emphasizing its importance," he said. He did the real test of an educated person is his adaptability to the social environment and his ability to perform a service desirable in society and satisfying to tal, physical, financial and spiritual, he said.

Most of them stem either from a sense of insecurity developed at home, or excessive indulgence or control. More college failures are caused by cars and too much money than by any other reason, he said, and another prolific source of trouble is over control at home from which the student revolts when he experiences the freedom of the campus for the first time.

He suggested four means through which college students could be helped to meet their problems. They were: Strengthen home life with emphasis on developing individual responsibility and choice; strengthen the school system, with emphasis on teacher proficiency and performance; strengthen the church life with its moral influence, and strengthen the community life by proper development and use of community resources for responsible citizenship and satisfactory living.

Like Early Oil Boom Days Here

Eakin-Tyler Scott No. 1 near Glasgow, Kentucky.

Rising Star Men Find Kentucky Oil

The above picture appeared in the Glasgow, Ky., Daily Times Monday, September 21. It is a scene reminiscent of oil boom days in our area, and it was made possible by two men well steeped in the oil traditions of the West Central Texas district—Sam Eakin, pioneer field veteran oil man, and W. E. (Bill) Tyler, Rising Star banker and oil man. It is the Eakin-Tyler No. 1 Thurman Scott in the Knob Lick area of Kentucky, showing flowing over the spreader rig with which it was drilled through solid limestone to find production at 714 feet in coniferous sand. The well, in the northwest corner of a tract of 57 acres, is pumping 53 barrels of oil daily, with a gravity of 52 degrees. There is no production in Kentucky and the oil is sold as fast as produced, Mr. Tyler said. Production is from six feet of pay which is given a nitro shot. A second well is now being drilled 300 feet south of the No. 1, and wells are being drilled on offsetting tracts east and south.

Mrs. Clara Cain spent last week in Fort Worth with her brother, Mrs. W. O. Love, and Mr. Love.

Homecoming at May to Be Held On October 31st

The Homecoming for ex students and friends of May High School will be held this year on Saturday, October 31, for one day only.

The activities of the day will begin with luncheon from 11 a. m. until 1 p. m. in the school lunch room.

An informal get together will be held from 1:30 to 3 p. m. in the Home Economics cottage and refreshments will be served. A business meeting will be held in the high school auditorium from 3 to 4:30 p. m. A parade will be held at 5 p. m. Supper will be served from 6 to 7 p. m. in the school lunch room.

The May High Tigers will meet the Baird Bears in a football game at 8 p. m.

After the ball game an old fashioned barn dance will be held in the Williams community club house, eight miles northwest of May.

Proposed candidates for queen of the Exes include Mmes. Pearl Roberson Allen, Betty Michael Wilson, Jewel Plummer Harrell, and Betty Margaret Allen Blair.

RATTLE PLAYS A DOWN

A small rattlesnake may have had a very positive influence on the outcome of the game between the Rising Star Wildcats and the Richland Springs football team at Richland Springs last week. He appeared in the third quarter when an official noticed the snake thrown up by the flying heels of a back and walked over and picked it up to toss it off the field under the impression it was a grass snake. Then he noticed the diamond shaped markings and recognized the poisonous species. He threw it down and killed it with his spiked shoes. During the remainder of the game there was an increase in playing jitters and fumbling.

Second Well Is Being Drilled on Joyce Agnew Tract

C. E. Joyce, et al, No. 2 Agnew southeast of Rising Star and just over the line in Brown County, was drilling ahead Monday below 500 feet.

The well is located in Section 14, Bl. 3, BBB&CRY survey; Brown County, 660 feet south, east of the same operator's No. 1, which was completed as a flowing producer from the Marble Falls 2900 feet.

The well was spudded last week.

25,887 Acres of Peanuts in County

There were a total of 25,887.5 acres of peanuts and 2,581.4 acres of cotton planted in Eastland county this season, according to completed measurements by the County ASC committee, Emmett Powell, county office manager, said.

Grain Crop Is Benefited by Monday Moisture

The city gauge recorded 1.18 in showers which fell in Rising Star Tuesday night, bringing to 2.75 inches total precipitation for the week. Lowest temperature was 61 degrees early Wednesday.

Heavy rain showers accompanying a cold front which moved into the Rising Star area early Monday evening, brought 1.57 inches of rain, with a smaller, but still significant, amount of hail, to this community, according to the city gauge. The rain extended over a broad front east and west, moving in a southeasterly direction with sections of the area reporting much heavier precipitation. No rain north of Romney was reported. There was considerable hail in some areas, although no serious damage was reported.

The cool front dispelled one of the worst heat waves experienced here in many years. Heat and humidity extending over a period of a week or more, combined to create extremely uncomfortable conditions, with the thermometer jumping about the 100-degree mark. That extreme was registered last Sunday, according to the official gauge.

Monday the mercury rose to the 97 degree mark before the onslaught of the cool front. A low of 64 degrees was recorded Monday night after the rain.

While the showers were not welcomed by peanut growers, many of whom had their crops on top of the ground, cattlemen and farmers with pastures and small grain acreage welcomed it heartily. There were fears that the grain, already sprouted and languishing, might have to be planted over, losing the growth during the early fall warm season that would make it into good winter grazing. For the district which received Monday night's rain, the outlook in this respect has been much improved.

Getting Right-of-Way Affects All

AUSTIN.—Every day it becomes more and more apparent that everyone living in this country will be affected, either directly or indirectly, by the acquisition of highway right of way.

How much any given person or family is affected will simply be a matter of degree. There will be those whose property will be required for right of way. Some will own home and business establishments adjacent to the new facility. Certainly no one will escape the economic impact of a multi-million dollar right of way program.

In the handling of this much money, the Texas Highway Department has a tremendous obligation to the taxpayers of the state to protect their investment. At the same time extreme care must be taken to see that each individual involved in the involuntary sale of private property for public use is treated fairly and uniformly.

In order to accomplish these ends as nearly as possible, the Highway Department has adopted certain policies and procedures which are adhered to in all right of way transactions.

Actually, there are two right of way programs in which the Highway Department participates. One is commonly called the 50-50 program. This program deals with the procurement of right of way on all highways in Texas which are not designated as Interstate highways of farm or ranch to market roads. The state and the county or city share 50-50 in the financing of projects in this program. The local agency handles the actual acquisition of the right of way.

Since the Federal aid program was set up in 1956, the of way and is reimbursed 90 per cent by the Federal government.

On every parcel of land needed for right of way on the Interstate System, two independent appraisals are made by professional appraisers employed by the Highway Department on a fee basis. These appraisals are reviewed not only in the highway district offices, but are sent to Austin for further review by appraisers in the office of the Right of Way Division.

From these appraisals an approved value for negotiation is taken. This figure is not an average of the two figures recited in the two reports. Nor is it necessarily the high figure or the low figure. It is a figure which is arrived at after a careful review of all the facts contained in both reports. A third report or appraisal may be called for if there is an appreciable discrepancy between the two original reports.

The approved value is the figure which is used as the basis for negotiations with the property owner. The Highway Department does not deviate from this figure for several reasons. By its dual appraisal and review process an all out effort has been made to arrive at fair market value. To offer less is not fair to the property owner and to offer more is unfair to the taxpayer. Furthermore, if the Department negotiator were allowed to "horse trade", the so-called "tough trader" would always be paid a higher figure for his property than his neighbor with comparable property. Also, the public spirited property owner would be penalized for his desire to cooperate with the Department in the construction of highways.

At the time negotiator visits been done, the owner is made an offer of the approved value. The offer is never more or less than the approved value.

If the owner desires to accept the offer, he signs the deed and a state warrant is ordered in the amount of the purchase price. If the owner desires to think over the proposal or to consult relatives, friends, counselors, or appraisers, he will be granted a reasonable amount of time to do this.

If the owner does not desire to accept the offer, he has the right and the privilege of allowing the courts to serve as arbiter in setting the amount of money to be paid for the property. He will be sent a formal letter of final offer reciting the exact figure of the negotiator quoted. This figure is not changed at any time during initial negotiations unless it is discovered that an item or items were omitted from the original appraisal reports.

After condemnation proceedings have been instituted by the state, one of the original appraisers will be asked to "update" his appraisal. That is, he will return to the property and see that nothing has happened to change the value recited in his original report. If the updated appraisal recites a substantially and justifiable higher figure than the original appraisal, possibly due to the addition of an improvement to the property or the omission of an item from the original report, the state may desire to re-open negotiations with the owner on the basis of the updated appraisal.

This procedure is the same as the acquisition of

HPC to Host Audubon Screen Tour Programs

BROWNWOOD. — Howard Payne College will be host to some of America's most famous wildlife photographers—lecturers this winter, through the Audubon Screen Tour series of programs to be sponsored by the HPC Science Club.

The first of the five programs, produced by the National Audubon Society, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. October 6 in Mims Auditorium. Entitled "Ranch of the Purple Flowers", filmed and presented by Robert C. Hermes of Homestead, Fla., it depicts Venezuelan wildlife in color and in action.

Other programs, their narrators and dates, include "Earthquake Lake," Karl H. Maslow, ski, November 6; "An Ozark Anthology," Leonard Hall, February 25; "Designs for Survival," William Anderson, April 5, and "Hawaii U.S.A.," Fran William Hall, May 2.

"This series provides an opportunity to see exceptional color motion pictures of wildlife and wilderness scenery, narrated in person by men whose talents as naturalists, photographers and lecturers have made them famous," said Dr. Chris Jordan, head of the HPC biology department. "In addition to acclamation of the many adult citizens who have seen previous Audubon Screen Tours programs here, eachers of the area give hearty support in encouraging their students to attend these educational and cultural programs."

Season tickets for the five programs are available at two dollars for adults and 75 cents for children—a cost of approximately one-half the price available in 200 other cities of the nation, made possible through gifts of interested Brownwood friends. Tickets may be obtained at the HPC Bookstore or by writing the Howard Payne College Science Club, Box 425, Howard Payne Station, Brownwood. Individual program tickets will be 75 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

rations for the gloomy months of winter meant safety from Indian attacks. The short period of warm weather called "the smoky time", or "Indian Summer" was welcome in many ways; however, it was also a dangerous time because it gave the Indians another opportunity to attack. It was given the name Indian Summer for this reason.

Another belief is that the Indians predicted such a season to the first Europeans landing in America, who gave it the name. One beautiful feature of the "smoky time" is the harvest moon. The moon rises near sunset, permitting farmers to work late into the night gathering crops. Some say spring is the most romantic time of the year, but with the warm weather and big, yellow harvest moon, Indian Summer is wonderful, also.

This pleasant time of the year is quickly slipping away—enjoy it while you can!

UPPER CLASSMEN

A little birdy told me of several "lonely hearts" in the Senior class. Anyone want to guess who they are? There's really no need to guess, it's kinda obvious!

More Senior honors have been issued since my last writing and their recipients are: Band Sweetheart, Karen Steel; and, the most honorable positions in RSHS—Most Popular girl and boy—Jettie Sue Duggan and Brent Underwood. These Seniors have proudly and modestly showed their "Thank you's" to those who bestowed these honors upon them.

That Annual Staff! It has finally picked up and got underway. Miss Jay Childress, sponsor, selected for her immediate staff, these Seniors: Co editors, LaVeda Boggs and Janis Jones; Assistant Editor, Jettie Duggan; Business Manager, Karen Steel; Advertising Executive, Mary Lois White; Typist, Danella Dornell; Photographer, Paul Freeman. We Seniors expect to have representatives from the other classes in RSHS. The 1959-60 La Ex-trellita is well on its way, and we are serious when we profess to believe that it will be the very best annual ever made at RSHS.

Six weeks tests! Man does the time fly. It seems only yesterday that we were starting to school. Now that regular grind of tests—keeps a soul busy.

Mrs. Claborn brought to my attention that quite a few of the girls have started practicing the yells they're going to do when try-outs come. And the way time is passing, it won't be long.

This Friday night quite a few of the kids will get a day off, where as we have been having a football game, pep rally, etc. but this week is open date. I imagine they'll enjoy it after the long trip to Richland Springs.

A question to all Sophs: Where is Eugene?

The upper classmen are looking forward to the FIA (Flah) initiation. I think we've talked Mrs. Nowlin into letting us initiate them this year. (Remember P. H. and M. A.)?

Just a closing word to our "Sophomore Hero," Buzz Barry or Bittersweet?

See ya next week!

Passing of Indian Summer

Indian Summer — that time of the year when everything is at its very loveliest. There is fair weather, and the genial influences of warm, hazy, sunny days are felt for a time in place of the autumnal cold. Everyone appreciates this short season of placid beauty and peacefulness.

In Europe this season has several names. It was formerly called "Saint Martin's Summer", "Old Woman's Summer", or "All Hallow Summer". The term Indian summer, however, has come into almost universal use. At the time of Indian summer, the air is usually dry, and the remaining leaves of trees and plants quickly shrivel and fall off.

The origin of the term is uncertain. When fall came, pioneer families busied themselves gathering corn, bringing in the vegetables, butchering the hogs, piling wood and repairing cabins. These were joyful prepa-

Give them a Faith to live by

Worship with them this week

Naturally you want them to have all the good things in life . . . a happy home . . . a good education . . . plenty of chances to meet other nice young people. But be sure to give them the most precious gift of all . . . Faith.

The wonderful part is that faith is yours to give . . . no matter who you are, what you do for a living, how much money you have in the bank.

Faith is the gift you give a little at a time. Every week you worship with the children at your church or synagogue. The youngsters see you . . . the biggest, smartest, most important people in their world . . . asking God for help, thanking Him for blessings. Then it's clear to them . . . here they can always find the strength they need, always find the happiness they want.

Then you've done the best a parent—any parent—can do.

SCS Records in 1959 Better Than In Previous Years

Conservation accomplishments in Texas Soil Conservation Districts surpassed all previous records during the 1959 fiscal year, according to E. J. Hughes, Area Conservationist of Brownwood. On June 30, 1959, over 55% of the total farms and ranches in Soil Conservation Districts and 64% of the agricultural land were covered by farmer rancher district cooperative agreements.

During the fiscal year of 1959, a state summary showed slightly more than 113,000 farm and ranch operators received assistance from the SCS in Texas through locally organized and operated SCD's. Technical assistance of the SCS is made available to landowners and operators for help in developing farm and ranch conservation plans, Soil Bank Program, Great Plains Conservation Program, Watershed Work, ACP responsibilities and Standard Soil Surveys, with more than one half to direct assistance to farmers of all total time being devoted and ranchers in planning and applying measures on the land, Hughes reports.

Progress in the Brownwood area has likewise been unusually good during the past year in accomplishments such as watershed work, proper use on rangeland, grasses grown on cropland as rotation hay and pasture, root plowing and re-seeding of rangeland that has become heavily infested with brush and standard soil survey work.

Special emphasis for the year ahead calls for a stepped up watershed construction program that is coordinated with the conservation land treatment work of Soil Conservation Districts; continued assistance to farmers and ranchers in planning complete programs to meet the needs of the land in a period that is coordinated with the conservation land treatment work of Soil Conservation Districts; continued assistance to farmers and ranchers in planning complete programs to meet the needs of the land in a period that is undergoing unprecedented change in type of agriculture; and to provide technical assistance in conversion to standard soil survey work which is a part of the nation wide soil inventory program.

Surplus Food Issue Dates Are Announced

EASTLAND. — The next issue date for USDA Surplus Food Commodities, in Eastland, will be as follows: Monday, October 12—Eastland, Olden; Tuesday, October 13—Rising Star.

Revision of Soil Bank Rules Received

Another revision of the Soil Bank Program for 1960 has been received, it was announced by Emmett Powell, county ASC office manager at Eastland. The revision is a change in establishing farm rates.

It is no longer required that production for the past five years be taken into consideration," said Mr. Powell. "The same procedure used in the 1957 program will be followed for 1960. The time for making application for the payment rate has been extended to October 9. The rules regarding ownership and tenants have not been changed. If a producer is interested in securing a conservation reserve contract for his farm, application may be made through the County ASC office before October 9, 1959."

Miss Anna Little is attending East Texas State College and Sandra Bradley is a Junior student at Oklahoma U.

Fifteen members and one visitor, Mrs. Cecil Joyce of Fort Worth attended the luncheon.

Sermons on Film For Young People

The Methodist Church will begin a series of sermons on film for Young People next Sunday evening at 6:30 p.m. The films are a series of interesting stories directly tied in with Biblical teaching and Christian living. Each film is identified with actual Bible quotations and happenings. The services will be held in the basement and everyone is extended a cordial invitation to attend.

The film for this Sunday evening is "The Compass", the story of a young man who sought to lead a Christian life. These films are certain to be interesting as well as educational, and we do hope that you will join us.

Kittens Lose to Early 6-0 Tuesday

Tuesday night the Early Juniors defeated the Rising Star Kittens by a score of six to 0. It was a hard fought game all the way.

The first and second periods went scoreless, although there were some threats by both teams. In the last of the third period, Earl Reynolds of the Early team made the first touch-down of the game. The try for the extra point failed and the scoring was over for the night.

Next Tuesday, the Rising Star Junior High boys play the Bangs Junior High team at Bangs. Let's go to Bangs and back the Kittens all the way to a victory.
