RISD seeks suggestions for elementary school name

The Rockwall Independent School District Board of Trustees' Facility Naming Committee is accepting nominations for the naming of the elementary school located at 2186 Trophy Drive in Heath.

The new school is scheduled to open in August, according to a district news release.

The nomination form is available on the district website and may be mailed or delivered to the Rockwall ISD Administration Building, Attn.: Communications Department, P.O. Box 1050 Williams St., Rockwall, TX 75087.

All forms should be submitted by 4:30 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 31.

According to the news release, the district's school naming policy allows schools to be named after:

- An individual who has made a significant contribution to society and/or education whose name shall lend prestige and status to an institution of learning;
- An individual who has served the RISD or the local RISD community, especially in service to children, and whose virtues or characteristics will serve as role models to students, staff and the community; and/or
- A district property donor or benefactor or his/her family members.

Completed nomination forms should include biographical data to support the nomination, information about what significant contribution or representation the person has made to education in the local community, rationale for recommendation and a list of family members in the area if the person to be so honored is no longer living. The committee or board shall not consider petitions, according to the news release.

The Board of Trustees' Facility Naming Committee will review the nominations in November and is expected to make a recommendation to the Board of Trustees at its Dec. 19 meeting.

Funding for the school's construction were made available with the passing of the recent special bond election. The bond was promoted by the Dallas Area Realtors Association, the Rockwall Area Chamber of Commerce, and the Bond PAC. The $257M bond package was developed by a 60-member citizens committee, largely made up of Rockwall ISD teachers/administrators, Chamber of Commerce members, and representatives of the Economic Development Corporation.

The bond issue was prompted by a number of recent residential development projects that were predicted to increase the student population beyond the ISD's present capacity.

Rockwall ISD Board of Trustees unanimously approved the bond referendum that was passed by a majority of the general voting population in the District during the Nov. 3, 2015 bond election. The election was open to all voters in the District, and was not narrowly limited to property owners.

Northstar Builders will provide construction manager services on the new Elementary 14 and the College and Career Academy. Lee Lewis Construction has been working on the new Dobbs Elementary building.

Stantec Architects was selected for the design of the Elementary 14 structure. Estimated date of completion will be August of 2017.

THE THIN VENEER OF RESPECTABILITY

If your front teeth are severely discolored, misshapen, chipped, cracked, or otherwise imperfect, you may be interested to know that their appearance can be dramatically improved with the application of "porcelain veneers." These ultra-thin porcelain shells are an excellent alternative to crowns in many situations that require a more conservative approach to changing a tooth's color, size, or shape. A three-step treatment plan, which includes planning, preparing, and bonding the veneers in place, provides results that are unsurpassed in their cosmetic beauty and longevity. Porcelain veneers more closely approximate the look of natural teeth in terms of color, luster, and luminosity than any other material. Their outstanding strength and abrasion resistance ensures that they will last many years.

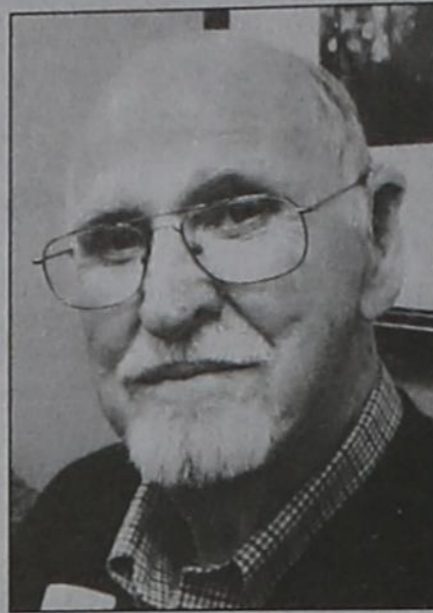

Whether your teeth are chipped, stained, irregularly shaped, or have other cosmetic flaws, dental veneers may be the answer. At McNEW DENTAL, we provide modern dentistry. We're located at 1300 E. Ralph Hall Pkwy., Suite 114. This form of treatment has quickly become the choice of patients who want to create their dream smile. Whether you need veneers or just a routine cleaning, we invite you to make an appointment with us by calling 972.771.2213. Your positive attitude towards your dental health is the key to successful dental care.

P.S. Porcelain veneers are an excellent choice for reducing gaps between front teeth.

...ing will determine America's future

Keith Shores, Rockwall, Texas

... realize if we think our vote is not important, how wrong we must realize that in some elections one vote determines who is elected. This also applies when more than one person decides their vote makes a difference. Also if we do decide to vote and do not take the time to research who we are voting for, we may regret our choice. Our vote is cast for a person who will destroy our country. Our vote must decide the fate of America and your vote is one of the most important votes cast in the history of this country. Only since 1870 have our old's were given the privilege to vote. Most elections are decided by a small percent of eligible voters. The equality of all Americans. It is important to reach over the legal votes to the fate of our country. The United States was designed to remain small and only be available when the State Governments, plus govern America's overall interest in other world countries. The laws through the United States Government are to be used for their own jurisdictions. Our founding Fathers removed the power in government, but for the first time in history allowed WE THE PEOPLE to vote for our choice of candidates. They also warned us to make choices within the Christian faith, so that the elected President would follow God's basic laws of love, freewill and justice, when governing governments. The election will determine our President for the next four years. Always remember, figures, and figures tell the truth. We heard how much we are now than we were seven years ago, but what are the figures of our country. Today Hilary Clinton is on the ballot for President of the United States. The FBI found in their investigation that she was running against her for the office of President of the United States. Donald Trump. A successful business man that has never been in politics. It is your duty to investigate thoroughly each candidate and vote. The fate of our country will depend on your vote as counted. U. S. House Judiciary Committee, 1854. The people, during the Revolution, had a suspicion of any attempt to overthrow Christianity, that Revolution would have been strangled. In this age, there can be no substitute for Christianity... the religion of the founders of the republic and they expected the religion of their descendants. Earl Warren (1891-1974) agreed with his predecessors. He was appointed as Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court by Dwight D. Eisenhower, Warren had been the Attorney General. Warren declared: "The entire Bill of Rights came into being because of the belief, of expression, of assembly, of petition, the dignity of the individual, the sanctity of the home, equal justice under law, and the separation of powers to the people. . . . I like to believe we are living in the spirit of the Christian religion. I like also to believe that as long as we do so, no great harm can come to our country. ## On God's Word

by Timothy W. Burnett

Know the basics ... Bride, Body or Brother

The future bride of our Lord Jesus will be the 144,000 of Israel, as recorded in Revelations. Several years after the start of Israel, they began to cry out for a King, or father-husband figure for her. The person would be entrusted by God with the responsibility of protecting, nourishing, nurturing and serving as an example for her. God did not approve of this, but honored their cries giving them the best available person as her first. King Saul spent years abusing her, embarrassing her in front of others, insulting her, beating her, and neglecting her need to be nurtured, nourished and protected. Saul had a rebellious heart toward God in heaven, yet sought to harshly punish others. Although Saul's responsibility was transferred to another man, he continued to abusively rule over her a few more years, while God was preparing the other man. David exercised his responsibility with her, even while Saul continued to rule. David fought for her, and protected her while also dealing with Saul's attacks on him. David was even driven away to live with the Philistines for a period of time. Saul eventually died with his own sword. God worked mightily for David and Israel. David continued to faithfully nurture, nourish and protect her, by the power of God. Later, the Groom and the Bride were first introduced. God's son, Jesus, served Him faithfully, and endured abuses and persecution by the leaders who were abusively irresponsible with her. Yet he continued to do many good works, teach many the truth, toward preparing his Bride for the upcoming wedding. Jesus allowed himself to be killed by the abusive leaders and the Roman government. God raised His son Jesus from the dead, and soon after began the New Testament and Administration of the Grace of God, as recorded in Acts 2:1-4 (See also Eph. 3:2). The wedding date is set, and yet to come. The last member of the Bride might have been the robber who asked Jesus to remember him in paradise. Jesus told him that he would be in paradise, which will be the New Jerusalem written about in Revelations. After the start of the Administration of the grace of God, the people of the line of Israel were no longer considered as the Bride. Instead, they had the option of becoming God's beloved saints as fellow-members of the Body of Christ; and as God's beloved saints, they had the option of getting born-again unto salvation and living forever in heaven with the Lord Jesus. This series will distinguish between the Bride, Body and Brethren of Jesus the ever-living Messiah, Visit Facebook.com for the archives of On God's Word

Soroptimists offer grants ...

The Live Your Dream Award provides more than $1.6 million in cash grants to head-of-household women who need each year. Since the program's inception in 1972, approximately $30 million has helped tens of thousands of women achieve their dreams of a better life for themselves and their families. A study conducted by the Fels Institute of Government, a research and consulting organization based at the University of Pennsylvania, confirmed the efficacy and impact of this program. It improves the recipients' quality of life; builds their confidence, strengthens their self-determination and makes them want to, in turn, help others.
Chartered in 1984, the Rockwall Club is part of Soroptimist International of the Americas, a global organization that works to improve the lives of women and girls through programs leading to social and economic empowerment. Rockwall members join with almost 80,000 Soroptimists in about 120 countries and territories to contribute time and financial support to community-based projects benefiting women and girls.

But of all the occupations by which gain is secured, none is better than agriculture, none more profitable, none more delightful, and none more becoming to a freeman.

Rome's Wrong Turn with Price Controls

Before leaving the Romans, it is worthwhile devoting some time to a brief account of their experiences with various economic policies, specifically debasement of the currency and price controls.

In 449 B.C., the Roman government passed the Law of the Twelve Tables, regulating a wide variety of commercial, social and family life. Some of them were reasonable and consistent with an economy of contract and commerce; other parts reflected gruesome punishments and cruel powers and privileges given to some. Other regulations fixed a maximum rate of interest on loans, approximately 8 percent. The Roman government also had the habit of periodically forgiving all interest owed in the society, that is, it legally freed private debtors from having to pay back interest due to private creditors.

The Roman government also set price controls on wheat. In the fourth century, B.C., the Roman government would buy grain during periods of shortages and they would sell it at a price fixed far below the market price. In 58 B.C., this was improved upon: the government gave grain away to the citizens of Rome at a zero price, that is, for free.

The result was inevitable: farmers left the land and flocked to Rome; this, of course, only made the problem worse, since with fewer farmers on the land in the territories surrounding Rome less grain than before was being grown and brought to the market. Also, masters were freeing their slaves and placing the financial burden for feeding them on the Roman government at that zero price.

In 45 B.C., Julius Caesar discovered that almost one-third of the Roman citizenry was receiving their grain supply for free from the State.

To deal with the financial cost of required expenditures to fulfill these supplies of wheat, the Roman government resorted to debasement of the currency, that is, inflation. Price-fixing of grain, shortages of supply, rising budgetary problems for the Roman government, monetary debasement and resulting worsening price inflation were a continual occurrence through long periods of Roman history.

Iceland today, the U.S. tomorrow?

By Paul Johnson

Institute 2008 economic crisis, Iceland's government froze offshore by foreign investors in that country's currency, the krona. The government of Iceland announced it would unfreeze the account holders paid a voluntary "departure tax," which was as high as 58 percent. Investors who choose not to pay the tax would have their investment "segregated" into special accounts only invest in CDs issued by Iceland's central bank. These accounts to only provide a rate of return of at most 0.5 percent a year. So investors in offshore accounts can thus choose between having their money directly seized via the departure tax or indirectly seized via inflation tax.

Freezing of offshore krona accounts was part of a "stabilization and recovery" program implemented under the guidance of the International Monetary Fund (IMF), which also provided Iceland with a $1 billion loan. So US taxpayers not only helped the IMF bail out Iceland's government, they may have helped the IMF advise Iceland on how to steal property from American investors!

The IMF's role in Iceland's seizure of the property of foreign investors is a hypocrisy of IMF officials, who recently expressed concerns about the increasing support for protectionism supposedly exemplified by the vote. However, freezing of assets held by foreign investors is a particularly harmful form of protectionism, while Brexit was more about rejecting the European Union's bureaucracy than rejecting free trade. Perhaps what the IMF and its supporters are really worried about is their power to use taxpayers' money to force other countries to adopt IMF bureaucrats' favored economic policies.

Iceland is not the only government to turn to a departure tax to raise revenue. Last year, in order to raise revenue for federal transportation programs, Congress gave the IRS the power to revoke the passport of an accused of owing more than $50,000 in back taxes.

Increasingly desperate Congress looks for new ways to squeeze the American people to fund the welfare-warfare state, it is only a matter of time before more Americans will have their liberties limited because of their IRS. The Federal Reserve will follow the example of its counterpart in Iceland and devalue the holdings of anyone who dares to resist the Fed's policies.

While the presidential election will result in real changes, it will be disappointing. While Donald Trump seems to appreciate current Fed policies help the incumbent administration while certain Fed policies, but with the Fed's very existence. While Trump does support tax cuts, he also supports increasing government spending on infrastructure at home, militarism abroad, protectionism, and economic cold war with China.

Hillary Clinton has actually said it is inappropriate for candidates to be in the Fed. Secretary Clinton has also called for massive increases in government spending and taxes. Hillary Clinton may be more hawkish than Donald Trump, since Mr. Trump has rejected Secretary Clinton's policy of a new cold war with Russia.

Looking to politicians to save us, those of us who understand the dangers of our current course must continue to spread the word among our fellow citizens. Politicians will only change if a critical mass of people stops falling for the war party's lies, stops demanding entitlements, and starts demanding freedom Foundation The ancient Romans failed to leave any systematic body of thoughts for us, just like the ancient Greeks had failed to. Indeed, many of the ideas the Romans expressed on such economic themes as property, money, and trade were borrowed from the Greeks. The Romans were mostly concerned with practical matters, and have sometimes been referred to as "doers" rather than philosophers on these matters.

Economic ideas The ancient Romans, who went from rule of law to corrupting inflation and price controls

It is in which they did leave a body of thought, and one that has had a lasting influence and significance for future generations. In the West up until our own time was in the area of law and economics. Their main contribution has been seen to be the legal order in which is founded part of the Western economic traditions of property and exchange.

Cicero's Criticisms of Markets and Moneymaking

What following nature meant in terms of ways of living and earning a living, they tended to place the highest significance on the "virtues" of agriculture, and the vice and corruptions of other trades and occupations. Cicero is an example, when he said: Now regard to trade and other means of livelihood, which ones are to be considered becoming of a gentleman and which ones are vulgar, we must be taught, in general as follows:

These means of livelihood are rejected as undesirable which incur ill-will, such as those of tax-gatherers and usurers [money-lenders]. Unbecoming to a gentleman, also, and vulgar, are the means of living of all hired workmen whom we pay for mere manual labor, for lack of artistic skill; for in this case the very wages they receive is a degree of their slavery.

Vulgar, we must consider also those who buy from wholesale merchants to retail immediately; for they would get no profits without a degree of downright lying; and verily there is no action that is meaner than misrepresentation.

Mechanics are engaged in vulgar trades; for no workshop can be anything liberal about it. Least respectable of all are those trades that cater to sensual pleasures: Fishmongers, butchers, cooks, poultryers, and fishermen. Add to these if you please, the perfumers, dancers, and actors of the corp. of ballet.

Any profession in which either a higher degree of intelligence is required, or from which no small benefit to society is derived - medicine, agriculture, for example, and teaching - they are proper for those in the social position they become.

Trade, if it is on a small scale, is to be considered vulgar; but if it is on a large scale, importing large quantities from all parts of the world and distributing to many without misrepresentation, it is not to be disparaged.

Even seems to deserve the highest respect, if those who are engaged in it, are satisfied with their fortunes they have, and make their

Jackets take Horn in Homecoming game

In a close Homecoming game against Mesquite Horn High School, the Rockwall Yellowjackets recovered from a 17-7 deficit during the 2nd quarter for a final 45-38 win, Fri. Oct. 14, 2016, at Wilkerson-Sanders Stadium in Rockwall.

With :24 until the first half, Senior Wide Receiver Sam Crawford took a reverse hand-off and shot around the left side into the end zone tightening Horn's lead to 14-17 at halftime.

The Jackets' defense held Horn's first drive of the second half to a 3 & out situation, forcing a punt. The Jackets answered with a Matt Jones (Sr) pass to Cole Talley from Rockwall's 32 Yard Line, which resulted in a Pass Interference call on Horn, putting Rockwall on Horn's 35 YL. Soon after, Talley completed a 35-yard Field Goal, for a 17-17 tie.

Throughout the second half, both teams answered with Touch Downs through the end.

Highlighting the second half was the fast-paced drive starting from Horn's 29 YL, including running plays by A.J. Blacknall and Jones, and passes to Freshman WR Jaxon Smith and Crawford. The drive ended with a Blacknall run along the left sideline into the end zone. The Jackets made up for an earlier missed Extra Point by scoring the 2-point conversion, and 31-24 lead.

Also highlighting the second half was the diving catch made by Senior Devon Flournoy, during a Rockwall outside kick after they scored the winning TD.

During the following drive, emotions were high and both teams were penalized for Unsportsmanlike Conduct resulting in losses of 15 yards per team. The Jackets were forced to punt, and the defense stopped Horn in a 4th & 15 situation, giving the ball back to Rockwall for the final game-ending drive.
