A QUICK READ OF THE NEWS

Music gets boost into orbit

Musician Jack Gladstone isn't a household name, he doesn't sell out arenas and his albums aren't at the top of the charts.

But he's popular in outer space.

The Kalispell, Mont., Blackfeet Indian songwriter recently received word that an astronaut took a copy of his Buffalo Cafe compact disc with him on the space shuttle Atlantis.

"I guess you could say your music is 'out of this world,'" wrote astronaut Scott J. Horowitz in a note to Gladstone.

Horowitz, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, took Gladstone's music with him on the 98th flight of Atlantis, which orbited the Earth 155 times last May.

"We may not have gone platinum, but we boldly went where I think no other Montana musician has gone," Gladstone said.

Sofas are meant for being

Patricia Anderson and Doris Bates were fed up with traditional entries at the Westner Michigan Fair in Ludington.

This year, they went as couch potatoes.

The idea started with a venerable old sofa. "An old couch was loaned to me a couple of years ago," Anderson said. "Doris and I both have handicap problems and in the past we have used it (the couch) to rest upon.

"This year I told her, 'We're just a couple of couch potatoes.'"

The pair then entered themselves at the fair in the "any other variety" category.

"We got first place," Bates said. "They didn't know what to award us, so they made us a ribbon."

LOCAL WEATHER

The partly cloudy conditions still are not ready to leave the southern High Plains. Temperatures, however, should begin to cool down some after Sunday's high of 95. Expect about 91 Monday and 89 Tuesday through Thursday. Morning lows should remain in the low 60s Sunday and Monday, then drop into the high 50s Tuesday through Thursday.

High Plains cotton crop approaching disaster

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

COLLEGE STATION — The 2000 Texas cotton yields will be significantly lower than those of last year's crop, with West Texas potentially the hardest hit, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reports.

District Extension director Scott Durham of San Angelo said this year has been disastrous for cotton.

According to a U.S. Department of Agriculture survey, 1 million acres of the usual 6.3 million planted in Texas have been abandoned, and more is being lost rapidly.

Durham said the reasons for the drastic reduction in cotton crop are this year's late planting of cotton and continued drought conditions.

"The reduction in the cotton crop will impact more than just cotton producers," said Durham. "It will impact gins, small business and the economy of the entire area."

The Rolling Plains (below the Caprock) and the area south of Lubbock have been the hardest hit, said Extension economist Dr. Carl Anderson.

He said Rolling Plains yields have been cut by half and producers south of Lubbock have already lost 25 percent to 30 percent of the dryland crop.

Anderson said any rain would be too late to help the crop and might even be detrimental due to increased insect problems.

Cotton prices have gone up substantially from a year ago due to

Nursing home fate remains undetermined

By RONN SMITH
Editor

The fate of a proposal to build a new nursing home in Muleshoe remained undecided Friday, though a spokesperson for Muleshoe Area Hospital District said a decision is expected Monday.

Approval of the project by the attorney general's office — which attorneys for the district say has always been routine in the past — has been held hostage by politics in Austin for about a month.

At a special meeting last Monday, the district's board authorized administrator Jim Bone to file a lawsuit against the attorney general's office if that becomes necessary to break the logjam.

At the board's regular meeting Thursday night, members voted to keep the district's tax rate the same (25 cents per $1,000 assessed valuation) and adopted a budget of more than $7.4 million. Sharon Novak, the district's financial officer, said that amount includes $175,000 allocated as a debt reserve for the proposed nursing home.

Among other business, the board also approved several new emergency room doctors — Craig Wayne Barker, Krishna P. Kumar, Kenneth Wayne Horton, Thandavarajan Gopalakrishnan, Jay Pearce and Douglas Mailman.

London was the city that Muleshoe High School Spanish teacher John Gulley most yearned to visit when he set out this summer on the trip of his lifetime.

The trip was something he had planned and wanted to do for quite some time. It was his first time to venture outside the United States to visit faraway places.

Rather than visiting only London, his travels took him to Granada, Spain, where he spent part of his two-week vacation taking a Spanish course for teachers.

Gulley said the age and timeless beauty of the country were some of the things that impressed him most about Spain.

He spent some time in London on his way over and also when he was coming home. One reason he wanted to spend time there was because he thought he might have some

Wood says first scrimmage satisfactory

JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

Muleshoe head football coach David Wood said Friday that his team emerged from Thursday night's scrimmage with "no injuries — nothing that is going to set us back at all" and the players are looking forward to meeting Amarillo River Road on Thursday.

While the Mules traveled to Idalou last week, this week's scrimmage is at home (freshmen start at 5 p.m., junior varsity at about 6 p.m., varsity at about 7:30 p.m.).

"We're probably as poised for this time of year as we've been since I've been here," he said.

He said River Road will "do a lot more throwing than Idalou showed us. It'll be good test for us to get ready to go against teams that pass a lot."

River Road made the playoffs last year, but returns only four offensive and one defensive starter.

Looking ahead to the regular-season opener on Sept. 8, Wood said the player to watch from Class AAAA Amarillo Caprock will be wide receiver J Fields, who tallied 1,687 yards for Caprock last year.

He also said the district race should be another challenging one, even though the Mules are pre-season favorites to come out on top

"Shallowater, I feel, is going to be up-and-coming; Littlefield is traditionally strong. We don't have an easy go of it by any means," he said.

After Caprock, the non-district games include Slaton there on Sept. 15, perennial foe Friona there on Sept. 22, Tulia here on Sept. 29, and Seminole here on Oct. 6.

District games include Lubbock Cooper (Oct. 13), Littlefield (Oct. 20), Shallowater (Oct. 27), Lubbock Roosevelt (Nov. 3) and Dimmitt (Nov. 10).

ancestors from there.

He said that London is very expensive and that most of the people he saw there seemed to be confirmed city-dwellers, but he did see people of many different nationalities.

He said the most interesting part of the trip actually was in Granada — his visit to the Alhambra.

The Alhambra, a palace and fortress in Granada, was built in the 1300s by the Moors, who had conquered Spain.

Queen Isabella and King Ferdinand lived in the Alhambra, and there is a room in the palace where (it is said) Christopher Columbus came from the New World to give reports to the royal couple.

When Ferdinand and Isabella married, their marriage united Spain from rival kingdoms, and that was when losses in West Texas, Anderson said.

"Producers are not getting much more than the higher prices because loan deficiency payments are going down, and they offset each other," Anderson said.

District Extension director Galen Chandler in Vernon said water demands for irrigated cotton are extremely high because of excessive heat. He said beet armyworms and bollworms are causing damage, but boll-weevil numbers in his area are down due to the extreme heat and regular spraying of pesticides.

District Extension director Charles Neeb in Fort Stockton said 80 percent of the cotton there will be at yields that makes it questionable whether to harvest. He said farmers cannot give the irrigated cotton enough water to make a difference.

Neeb said pastures are drying down very rapidly and livestock producers are still giving supplemental feed and culling herds. He said livestock numbers are 30 percent to 40 percent of usual stocking rates. Extension economist José Peña of Uvalde said southwest Texas has not received rain for 67 consecutive days and pastures have remained in dormancy since July 1999. He said the region remains at 30 percent of the long-term livestock stocking rates.

In the Panhandle, soil moisture is reported as very short to short.

As for crops in the Panhandle, corn is rated fair to good; irrigation is heavy. Cotton is poor to good; beet armyworm infestations are increasing. Sorghum is poor to good, and stressed due to lack of moisture. Wheat producers are waiting for rain in order to plant.

To the south on the South Plains, soil moisture is very short just about everywhere. Burn bans are in effect in sev-

Record numbers participate in Hummingbird Roundup

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL
AUSTIN — Volunteers are signing up in record numbers for Texas Parks and Wildlife's annual Texas Hummingbird Roundup, the agency reports. In the past several years, 300 to 500 people have participated in the roundup, but more than 700 already have signed up for the roundup this year. The roundup enlists volunteers to conduct backyard surveys that help biologists learn more about the range, distribution, favored sites and feeding habits of the 18 hummingbird species that have been found in Texas. The roundup presents a unique opportunity to hummingbird enthusiasts by enabling them to conduct field research and report their findings to Parks and Wildlife biologists. Volunteers will be provided survey forms, feeder tips, scarlet sage seeds and "A Quick Reference Guide to Texas Hummingbirds" in return for a $6 donation. Upon completion of the survey, roundup participants will receive a decal and a newsletter that documents the results of the year's roundup. Anyone who is interested in hummingbirds is encouraged to participate. Hummingbirds migrate every winter, some coming from as far north as Canada and traveling as far as Central America. According to Parks and Wildlife's wildlife diversity program director John Herron, 10 hummingbird species are commonly found in Texas, but as many as 18 may be seen within the state. Hummingbirds are present year round in various regions of the state, but statewide numbers tend to increase in late summer when migration begins. Early reports of increased hummingbird activity could be signs of good numbers for this year's migration. This year's participants have already reported sightings of black-chinned, ruby-throated, rufous and calliope hummingbirds, which are all species commonly found in Texas. Sightings of rare green violet-ears also have been reported. Project Coordinator Mark Klym said he is excited about this year's migration and the number of volunteers, which he expects to exceed 1,000 by the end of the roundup in January. More information about the roundup is available by calling Klym at (512) 389-4644 or visiting <http://www.tpwd.state.tx.us/nature/birding/humrunup.htm> on the World Wide Web.

TOPS NEWS

Alma Robertson, a K.O.P.S. member of TOPS No. 34, opened the Aug. 24 meeting at Muleshoe Church of Christ by leading the other members in the singing of "The Slimmer We'll Be." Rhetha Knowles, a visitor at the meeting, is a prospective member. Nineteen members were weighed in by Betty Jo Davis and Linda White. The results of the weigh-in showed Lucille Harp as best loser and Evelene Harris as first runner-up. Laverne James was second runner-up. Missy Royal, the salt contest chairperson, announced that Harp is in first place, followed by Peggy Otwell and Paula Cantrell.

In the points contest, Side 1 chairperson Molly Davis and her team has a total of 2,105 points — five points ahead of Side 2, whose chairperson is White. James gave some wholesome tips to try when eating at fast-food restaurants. At the salad bar, avoid foods such as marinated beans and try to be calorie-wise. Remember that raisins can be as hard to quit eating as potato chips. Raisins are not as calorie-laden as the chips but they are quite tasty and hard for some people to lay down. Cooked rice has more calories than we think and then more calories are often added in the form of butter, sugar and milk. James also gave a list of several good snacks and meals that can be enjoyed at home. These foods are filling but low in calories. This list included a bran muffin served with non-fat milk or crackers served with yogurt. Pasta with steamed veggies was one of the entrees on the list. TOPS No. 34 is scheduled to meet at 5:30 p.m. Aug. 31 at the same site. Visitors are welcome.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

ONE OF KING DAVID'S ENEMIES!

HADADEZER, KING OF ZOBAB IN SYRIA, (II SAM. 8:3) WAS A SWORN ENEMY OF KING DAVID OF ISRAEL! WHEN GOING WITH HIS ARMY, TO RECOVER HIS BORDER AT THE RIVER EUPHRATES, HE WAS MET AND DEFEATED BY KING DAVID. THIS DEFEAT WAS A MAJOR ONE, FOR KING DAVID CAPTURED A THOUSAND CHARIOTS, AND 700 HORSEMEN, AND 20,000 FOOTMEN! (II SAM. 8:4) NOT ONLY THAT BUT, WHEN A FORCE OF SYRIANS FROM DAMASCUS ARRIVED TOO LATE TO HELP KING HADADEZER, KING DAVID'S ARMY SLEW 22,000 OF THEM! DAVID TOOK MANY GOLD SHIELDS AS TROPHIES OF WAR AND SENT THEM TO JERUSALEM, AND ALSO FROM THE CITIES OF HADADEZER, MUCH BRASS AND COPPER! AT A LATER DATE, KING HADADEZER CONSPIRED WITH THE AMMONITES TO RENEW HIS WAR WITH DAVID! HE GATHERED SOME LESSER KINGS TO HELP HIM--BUT DAVID STILL PREVAILED AND DEFEATED THE COMBINED FORCES TO THE TUNE OF SOME 40,000 SOLDIERS SLAIN, INCLUDING THE COMMANDING GENERAL, SHOBACH! AFTER THIS THE DEPENDENT KINGS, WHO HAD SERVED HADADEZER, ALL MADE PEACE WITH DAVID AND THIS WAS THE LAST HEARD ABOUT KING HADADEZER! (II SAM. 10:6-19)

Other outdoor activities safe with caution on disease carriers

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

Fall is on its way, and with it, hunting season. Thousands of Texas hunters will take to the woods and fields to hunt deer, doves and other animals, and they won't be alone.

Millions of critters that can carry diseases will be out there, too, according to the Texas Department of Health.

Hunters, campers and hikers have a greater risk of exposure to diseases transmitted by ticks, fleas and mosquitoes, many of which begin with flu-like symptoms such as fever, chills, headache and body aches.

However, symptoms can worsen quickly and affect various systems of the body.

For instance, in Lyme disease, which is the most frequently diagnosed tick-borne problem in the U.S., there may be skin lesions or rashes and, if left untreated, severe damage to the joints, heart and nervous system.

Both Rocky Mountain spotted fever and human ehrlichiosis, also spread by infected ticks, can create a measles-like rash and can be fatal if not treated quickly.

Exposure to the bacteria that causes tularemia, yet another tick-borne disease, also can be acquired by handling carcasses of wild rabbits.

Plague, common in wild rodent populations of West Texas, is transmitted to people by fleas or by direct contact with infected animals such as prairie dogs, squirrels, cats, rats and mice.

This dreaded disease can include the presence of painful, swollen lymph nodes. Unless adequate medical treatment is sought quickly, death may result.

Encephalitis is an infection of the central nervous system that may be caused by one of several mosquito-borne viruses. Those who have more severe forms of the disease may have intense headache, high fever, nausea, muscle tenderness, partial or nearly complete unconsciousness and even coma.

The best way to avoid getting these diseases is to protect yourself from insect bites:

- Use insect repellent containing DEET or permethrin (follow package directions);
- Stay on trails and avoid areas of overgrown brush and tall grasses;
- Wear protective clothing such as a hat, long-sleeved shirt and long pants tucked into boots or socks. Wear light-colored clothes to easily spot ticks; and
- If you're in an area with ticks, check your body carefully for them every few hours. Ticks are small, easy to miss and will attach to any part of the body from head to toe, so look carefully.

Hantavirus infection is spread to people by infected rodents such as rats and mice. A rodent may have the virus in its droppings, urine or saliva.

From there, the virus can spread in the air on dust particles.

"You can become infected by inhaling dust that contains the virus," said Bradley Hicks, a wildlife biologist with the Health Department's Zoonosis Control Division.

"Cleaning cabins, shed or barns without a mask and having outdoor hobbies such as camping, hiking or hunting can increase our chances of coming in contact with hantavirus," he added.

As with all the diseases mentioned previously, early symptoms are much like those of flu. The disease may lead to extreme difficulty with breathing, possibly followed by death. Patients may receive relief through supportive treatment, but antibiotics will not cure a hantavirus infection.

Deer hunters need to be aware that deer can share the bacterium that causes anthrax in people. Likewise, feral hogs can carry brucellosis. Care should be taken when handling wild animal carcasses, including wearing latex gloves when field dressing those animals.

Rabies is another deadly disease shared by animals and humans. This is a viral infection of the nervous system that may affect almost any warm-blooded animal.

"It is impossible to tell by looking at an animal whether it is infected with rabies, so avoid contact with any wild animals.

Especially do not try to assist injured animals or touch dead ones," said Guy Moore, a Health Department wildlife biologist.

"If you need assistance, contact a game warden, a park employee or an animal control or law enforcement officer," he said.

This disease is present in many wild animal populations in Texas, especially skunks, bats, raccoons, coyotes and foxes.

Humans usually are infected through a bite by a rabid animal, which is why a physician should be consulted when any animal bite occurs.

Exercise some precautions when out hiking, camping or hunting, and chances are that the experience will be a safe

one. More information is available on the Internet by visiting <http://www.tdh.state.tx.us/zoonosis>.

Welcome Back to the Real World!

A friend just called to ask how I felt about being back in the real world. Last week, you see, my wife and I were not in the real world. We were on a cruise ship in Alaska where the sheer glory and majesty of every scene that washes over your eyes bathes you in beauty and wonder, and where the most amazing table waiter I have ever seen would have been deeply offended had we even considered expending enough effort to put our napkins in our own laps! No, that was not the real world. But it certainly was an amazing world to visit for a week.

Focus On Faith
Curtis Shelburne

It occurred to me that we were, sure enough, headed back to the real world when we found ourselves, after a week of perfect bliss, marooned back on harshly solid ground and horsing around luggage so densely packed that scientists might well have discovered a black hole sucking in matter at the centers of two of our suitcases.

I was sure we were back in the real world when my college son called about buying a car which means that my family is, for the moment, owned by six of the always about-to-break-down or already broken down modern luxuries(?). I spent a blissful week without even touching a steering wheel, feeding an internal combustion engine $1.50 gas, or chipping fillings out of my teeth to buy car insurance for three teenage drivers. Alas, I'm back in the driver's seat, back to the real world.

The real world is where last month's purchases are now this month's stack of bills.

The real world is where you open your mailbox and the resulting flow of junk mail (and more bills) rocks you back on your heels.

The real world is where you dial up the financial aid officer at the college to get the news about this year's tuition and how it will be paid.

The real world carries with it the realization that life and death, joy and pain, and even school and football practice have continued right on, and, though you may have been resting off to the side in the gentle eddies of the flow, now you're back in the mainstream, the maelstrom, the current of "real life." The stream has never truly stopped.

Really, it's good to be back (though we probably could have borne up under another week or two of not-so-real life).

Gourmet food is fine (well, actually, it's better than fine!), but burgers are better suited for everyday life and quite good in their own way.

Our kids were here in the real world along with so many of our friends, and one of the advantages of being away awhile is that coming home reminds you of how much you also like the people you love.

I miss Alaska. It's as hard a land as it is beautiful, but I fell in love with it in a week. It's every magnificent glimmer of beauty points to an even bigger and more deeply beautiful land, the most "real" and eternally substantial world of all, a world God's people will never have to leave. That's the Real World.

Curtis Shelburne is minister of the 16th & D Church of Christ in Muleshoe.

Deadlines are 5 p.m. Monday and Thursday
