Weren't some of the happiest days of your childhood spent in visits on your grandmother's farm? Maybe it was a log cabin (as my grandmother's home was, in rocky hills) but that only made it all the more picturesque—with a big fireplace and real logs crackling and blazing; the rockers with backs and bottoms made of hides; crayon enlargements of relatives of long years before on the walls; rag carpet ets on the floors; crazy quilts on the bed; the table with the what-nots—a sea-shell, the album, the Japanese fan that was a souvenir of the St. Louis world's fair, the stereopticon with the views of Niagara Falls and the Leaning Tower of Pisa—yes, you can just close your eyes and it all comes back to you.

My grandmother—I called her grandma and that is what her oldest grandchild whose locks are thinning, still calls her for she is yet active—though past 80—my grandma (just like yours, I'm sure) was the best cook in the world, next to mother. Mounds of fried chicken, creamy mashed potatoes, beets in vinegar, new sour pickles, hot biscuits, foamy fresh sweet milk, chow chow, corn on the cob, sorghum molasses, home-made butter wild honey, apple pie, peach cobbler—those were the days!

Most of the food came from the garden which my grandmother cultivated herself—and she insisted on going out there in her calico dress and sun-bonnet and gathering the snap-beans and the bright red tomatoes. The grandchildren drew such assignments, however, as churning and bringing up the water in buckets from the spring at the foot of the hill—and with all the advancement in engineering, I'd be willing to wager that no car has yet been built that can climb that hill in high.

Grandma and grandpa would be at the station to meet us and then came a ride in the wagon for three miles and, after that, care-free weeks of romping (probably not so easy for a grandmother with four or five full-of-life and mischief boys and girls to keep an eye on) and then the sad day when the visit was over and we climbed on the train, waved good-bye from the car-window and, before the train had gone four miles, we had pitched in on the shoe-box full of friend chicken which grandma had fixed up for the journey.

WITH OUR WILDLIFE

Death Along Our Highways

Every day that we drive along the beautiful highways of this state one may see dead birds, animals, fur-bearers and other valuable wildlife species along with many valuable domestic livestock. Many of these are caused by careless actions on the part of the driver of the cars, while other cases of death to domestic livestock is caused by the careless action of the farmers and ranchmen who allow their animals to graze along the highways.

In a recent report of the State Highway Department on the causes of accidents in Texas during the past year on our highways, wrecks with livestock ranked high. This surely is one source of danger that should be removed, and can be, but it will take the cooperation of all the livestock owners along the state highways.

With the cooperation of Henry Trotter, section foreman of the State Highway Department. The following figures were obtained on the number of wildlife species and domestic animals that were killed on the highways of Brown county during a three month period.

During one month 2,000 miles were covered in Brown county, and in this distance there were found on the right-of-way 182 rabbits of 10 species, 15 "wild" house cats, 10 armadillos, 5 lambs, 6 grown ewes, 4 cows, 2 horses, hundreds of chickens, actual count not taken, 8 dogs, 5 skunks and two hogs.

About one animal per 4.9 miles over the county during this period, and we have about 165 miles of state highways in the county. Of course, this does not include all the roads of the county. If it did, then one would see that the numbers would run very high. It is true that probably all the animals listed above were not killed by traffic on the highways, but some were thrown out of trucks enroute to market. Surely this is a bad practice because the dead animals might cause someone to overturn and be killed.

Drive safely at night and watch for livestock for your protector, and help save some of our wildlife species.

Why doesn't someone start a "Grandmother's Day?"

The race for governor has gotten away to a flying start, with W. Lee O'Daniel announcing for re-election one night and dynamic Jerry Sadler meeting the challenge the following night in a speech in which he came out against any form of sales tax (including O'Daniel's transaction tax) because such a levy would tax milk, bread, overalls, gingham dresses and work shoes. Instead, Sadler proposes to finance adequate old age pensions with a tax on natural resources which he points out, are consumed out of the state to the extent of 80 per cent and, therefore, the tax would almost entirely be paid by people living outside of Texas.

That the campaign will have plenty of action was indicated by Sadler's charge that his opponent wants to set up a dictatorship in Texas as autocratic as Communist Russia, the Railroad Commissioner asserting that O'Daniel wishes "virtually to do away with the Legislature by having it composed of 'yes-men.'" Sadler defended Texas newspapers and radio stations and, hitting at his opponent for using a Mexican radio station in appealing for Texas votes, predicted that O'Daniel will change his appeal from "Please pass the biscuits" to "Please: pass the tamales."

A newspaper in a town of only 284 population. Glen Doss, managing editor of the Whitewright Sun, comes forward with this interesting information about the Savoy Star: "Yes I know of a paper printed in a smaller town than Carbon, which you say in your column has a population of 463.

"The Savoy (Fannin County) Star is published and printed in a town having a 1930 census of 284. Incidentally, I got my first order of printer's ink on the Savoy Star, where I worked after school and on Saturdays in 1908.

"The Savoy Star has one of the first George Washington newspaper presses built, the old hand-inked and hand-impressioned kind of press, and the Star is printed on it every week. Some 20 or 25 years ago they installed a cylinder press, but later sold it and went back to the G. Washington."

How did we overlook this ancient jest for so long? Two men were on top of a tall building and one of them said, "Be careful or you'll fall" and the other answered, "It's not the fall I would mind; it's the sudden stop."

Home Making Hints

Mattress Program Expanded

Indications that rural people in Texas within the low-income brackets are eager to take advantage of the government's plan for providing them with mattress making materials have been shown as hundreds of applications for surplus cotton were filed in county offices during the past week.

For example, more than 800 applicants have been filed by white families in Ellis county and are being reviewed by the County Agricultural Conservation committee to determine if the family's income is below $400 and at least one-half of their income is derived from agricultural occupations.

Within the first week of the program's operation in Ellis county 169 mattresses was made in nine community mattress making centers according to reports received by Miss Hildred Horton, vice director and state home demonstration agent of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service who is responsible for extension supervision of the mattress demonstration program in Texas. Ellis county has already applied for 72 bales of cotton to be distributed for mattress making purposes by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation.

Third County to begin actual operation under the program was San Saba which began production last week.

Because of the interest Texas has taken in the mattress program and the momentum the plan has gained within the past two weeks, Bess Edwards, assistant state home demonstration agent, has been invited to observe the program in other Southern states and describe Texas' operation of the plan. The invitation came for the Southern states.

Mrs. Edwards' inspection tour will require approximately a month and will take her through Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Georgia South Carolina, North Carolina, and to Washington, D.C. for a conference of extension Mattress Program Expansion.

Mattress campaign will start in Callahan after April 16 when application forms are received. Cards arrive daily from farmers who are interested in the campaign.

April 16, 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the court house plans will be made to provide work centers in each community that is interested in one. Home demonstration council will meet at this time and make definite plans of procedure in distributing the cotton and ticking when the AAA office receive it.

Cannibals

About this time of year baby chicks exhibit tendencies towards cannibalism.

The tendency, according to Geo. P. McCarty, poultry husbandman of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service, is intensified by crowded conditions in the brooder house and lack of space at the feed hoppers.

Cannibalism can be controlled by darkening the windows with red paint on paper. A red light in the brooder will help. So will the feeding of clipped oats and plenty of grit must be provided to help the chicks grind the oats.

Mrs. E. J. Barton of Denton tied red paint on the tails of her chicks and found that this helped check cannibalism in her flock. Other chick troubles come in the form of rickets, slipped tendons, and nutritional paralysis.

UNION DEMONSTRATION CLUB MEETS APRIL 10TH

The Union Home Demonstration club met at the home of Mrs. N.L. Bailey on Wednesday, April 10, and fourteen members answered the roll call.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. L. G. White. Favorite color schemes for kitchens were the answer to roll call.

Miss Clara Brown Home Demonstration agent gave a discussion and illustrations on kitchen cabinets, wall paper, floor coverings, wood work and curtains. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bailey to the following members and visitors; Mrs. Burnett Ramsey, Jim Yarbrough, Ed Johnson, Dick Yarbrough, H. G. White Jr., R. Jackson, Chester Allen, G. W. Jeter, Bud Booth, Jewel Ellis, Irvin Warren Ennis Qualls, Frank Mayer and Mrs. Floyd Smith a new member and Miss Brown.

Most all club members are going to Abilene Friday, April 19th, to the district meeting of Home Demonstration work.

This is quite an honor to attend a meeting like this, since this district reaches almost to San Antonio, and Callahan county club members may not have a chance to attend another close-by.

H. P. Moon of Goldsmith visited his brother J. E. Buford and family Sunday, April 15th.

WEST TEXAS UTILITIES COMPANY ... but what has this automobile to do with your ELECTRIC SERVICE? FRANKLY, it has nothing to do with your electric service. We use it here to illustrate a point. Automobiles were "rich man's toys" not so many years ago. They cost a lot of money and they cost a lot to run. They were gas-eaters and oil-eaters. The hills they could climb in high were few and far between. If you got them up to fifty miles an hour, the noise and vibration were terrific. Today millions of American families can afford beautiful, powerful cars that outstart, outshine and outperform the best models of the Twenties in every way, yet cost less than half as much. This progress has not been confined to the automobile. Time was when electric service provided only your light. Today you can use more lights, a radio, refrigerator, vacuum cleaner, washing machine and other appliances, and the electricity to operate all of these costs very little more than you used to pay for light alone. Like the automobile, your electric service improves steadily year after year. At the same time, its price comes down. This is possible because of the constant effort of the people of your electric company to improve service and reduce rates. It's an effort that goes on and on. Because of it, your electric service will be better and cheaper in the future than it is today. The credit belongs to a group of people who are never content to rest on their laurels, who strive to do their job just a little better today than they did it yesterday. They're the people of your electric company. MORE FOR YOUR MONEY In the last 10 to 15 years, the engineering improvements and operating economies of your electric company have made it possible to cut the average price of household electricity just about in half. Many customers now using more household appliances, lots of light, a radio and refrigerator pay very little more to operate all of these than they used to pay for light alone. Gullible Merchants Continue To Be Caught In Rackets

(Fredericksburg Standard)

Miss Edyth Krauskopf secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, this week was despairing of the gullibility of local merchants, who, despite repeated warnings by the senior chamber, continue to be inveigled in advertising schemes, whose worth in terms of value returned is practically nil.

"Under the guise of advertising," said Miss Krauskopf, "there are countless schemes ready to take the merchants' money. The schemes promote sales through churches, the schools civic clubs, etc. Solicitors are constantly trying to sell advertising space on pages of all types of books, on school curtains, on fans, and programs.

"The Vigilance Committee of the Chamber of Commerce is ever ready to save the merchants from this useless sort of advertising but can only do this through the cooperation of the merchants.

"Two such schemes appeared in the city last week; solicitations for ads on fans to be given to the churches and ads in song books for a rural school. The former scheme was stopped by the C of C before any merchant was solicited but the solicitors for ads in the song book sold enough ads for one song book to furnish song books to every rural school in the county. The school and teacher whose names were used called attention to the C of C that neither he nor the school had granted this permission, yet the merchants bought the ads without demanding a card of approval, from the vigilance committee.

"Save this useless waste in advertising—demand an approval card from the vigilance committee," the secretary concluded, "before listening to any and all propositions by out of town solicitors."

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION MUST BE CLAIMED WHEN ASSESSMENT IS SIGNED

In rendering property for taxes, it is necessary for the owner to have the assessor to designate the homestead in order to get credit. Under the law every one owning a home must designate the homestead, when the assessor takes the rendition or there may be trouble getting the exemption. A homestead valued more than three thousands the state will collect taxes on the excess valuation. To illustrate if the home is valued at $4000 dollars, there must be tax paid on $1000. This exemption applies to state tax only.

Claude King states he thinks he will make a formal announcement next week for County Commissioner.
