Ropes Old Settlers Day A Success

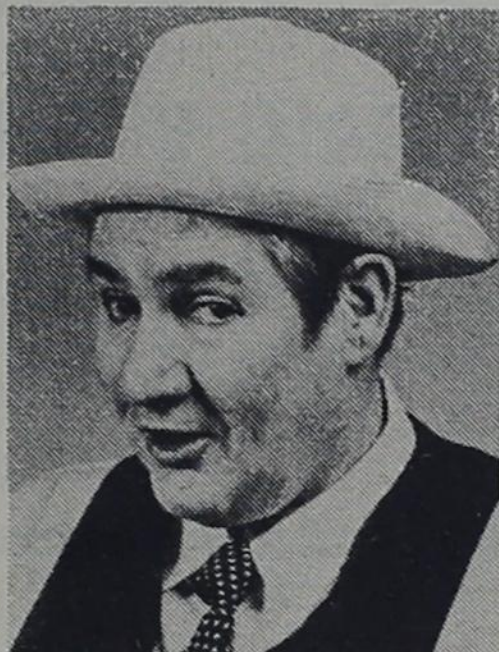

Pat Buttram Staring at Hayloft Dinner Theater in "Send Me No Flowers"

Television star Pat Buttram arrived in Lubbock October 21st to start rehearsals for the hilarious Hayloft comedy "Send Me No Flowers". People will remember Pat Buttram as that corn-fed con artist Mr. Haney from the long running television series "Green Acres". Before that he was a side-kick to Gene Autry in TV films and movies.

Over the years, Pat has had recognition as a comedy actor, monologist and after dinner wit. The son of a circuit riding minister, he started out by studying theology at Birmingham Southern College. After getting a taste of college drama, Pat abruptly switched careers and hooked on at WSGN in Birmingham as a morning radio personality at the large sum of six dollars a week.

In 1933 he joined the "National Barn Dance" over Chicago's WLS with such stars as Gene Autry, Homer and Jethro and a 15 year old guitar playing yodeler who was billed as Little Georgia Gobel. Joining forces with Autry, Buttram remained as the singing cowboy's side kick for 15 years, starring in 70 movies and over a hundred television films.

In 1956 when Autry retired from show business, Buttram took stock of his career and entered the wide open circuit of after dinner speakers. He was great and is always busy hosting such things as the Friars, Masquers and Lambs Clubs when they meet to "Roast" one of their members. He has a delightful way of combining a sophisticated, pointed sense of humor with a genuine country boy charm.

He is one of the most quoted men today in Hollywood.

At a dinner for Milton Berle, Pat poked fun by pointing out that "Berle had recently switched from comedy to drama. Unfortunately it happened while he was still doing comedy."

Of Hollywood, "I am proud to say that Hollywood has a heart. In Hollywood, if you need sympathy, love, affection, money or friendship, all you have to do is look in the Yellow Pages, under pool halls."

Pat Buttram lives with his wife and daughter on a small ranch in Southern California. He is a hobbyist and collects among other things, button hooks. He is said to have one of the largest collections in the world.

The Hayloft is quite honored to secure the special brand of humor Pat brings to Lubbock and this area in the midst of his demanding schedule of appearances, TV and movies. "Send Me No Flowers" began October 29th. Make your plans now to attend this hilarious production. Call for reservations at 866-4213.

The Ropes Booster Club will have its annual garage sale November 15 and 16 in downtown Ropes. There will be all kinds of items for sale.

China Painting Exhibit Set

Dell McAteer's china painting class is having an exhibit Sunday, November 3rd at the Ropes School Cafeteria from 2 to 5 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend.

The Old Settlers' Day Saturday was a huge success in that over $2,000 was raised toward improving our city park. We hope to landscape the park, have benches and barbecue pits and perhaps even move the Little League park or have tennis courts. Any improvements are a step in the right direction toward more community pride and interest.

The fun day began at 11 a.m. with the booths opening up for the day. The Lions Club booth served eats and drinks during the noon hour, and many carnival booths were set up including Bean Guess, Ring Toss, Car Bash, Balloon and Darts, Fire Department booth, Explorer Scouts booth, Buggy Ride, String Pull and other booths on the parking lot of the school.

Recognition of Old Settlers and the History of Ropes was presented at 3 p.m.

At 7:30 p.m. in the school gym, a basketball game between KSEL and the Exes was held. At halftime during the game, the winners of the beard growing contest were announced. They are Johnnie Snider, Jimmie Lopez and Ronnie McNabb.

After the game, an auction was held with gifts donated for the sale. The quilt, which was signed by everyone, was purchased by Mrs. Wiley Sosebee.

All in all, the day was a great success and everyone had a good time. A great deal of work and effort was put into this project, and your support is greatly appreciated.

Fantastic Results Attained in Step One of Ropesville's Park Improvement Project

The Citizens Action Committee would like to extend their greatest appreciation to all businesses and organizations who supported the project to build a city park. We also want to thank everyone for their support in attending and spreading word about our project.

This project resulted in probably the greatest event in the history of Ropesville. We raised $2,017.00 plus $105.00 in donations since Saturday. With the city paying for half the cost of drilling a well on the city park and with money accumulated, the next few weeks, we may reach $2,500 plus a match of $2,500, with a grand total of approximately $5,000. This amount will go a long way with continued support of citizens.

The committee is still accepting donations of labor, trees, and playground equipment for the park.

History books are still for sale also. To get one, contact anyone on the citizens action committee.

You know, the worse inflation gets the more we need somebody like Briscoe. He's created a lot of good jobs and he knows how to get things started.

In times like these when the economy is so shaky, I'm going to stay with Governor Briscoe.

It's quite refreshing for me to know that we have a man like Dolph Briscoe... a man who puts integrity before all things....

Dolph Briscoe's proved he has the contacts and the know how to bring new business to the State of Texas. We can't afford to lose him at a critical time like this.

We need new jobs and more income in this state and Governor Briscoe is helping us get them.

Briscoe's kept pace without adding new taxes — I voted Republican in 1972, but I'm voting for Briscoe this time.

They all promised no new taxes: Dolph Briscoe kept his promise.

I think Dolph Briscoe is a Governor you can believe in. I'm looking forward to voting for him in November.

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

Ho Hum, SMU fell to Texas Tech Saturday for the fourth time in five years. So what else is new?

All those feeling like that Saturday afternoon about 4:30 p.m., please stand up! Probably more fingernails were chewed in the closing moments of the SMU game than any other time this year.

It started out to be that kind of game and wound up that way. One break and the Ponies could have won.

As a matter of fact, had Tech been able to take advantage of its opportunities, the game wouldn't have been close. The Raiders should have had two, maybe three, more touchdowns than they got.

The offense sputtered, as it has done on many occasions this year. Twice Tech couldn't gain less than a yard for a first down when the Raiders badly needed 36 inches or less. And a crucial pass was intercepted when it hurt the most.

Aside from the breakdown in the offense at times, the most disappointing thing was the failure of the defense to hold SMU and contain the Ponies when the Raiders had them in a serious hole.

I refer to the punt that was killed on the one, only to have SMU break out of danger; and then the intercepted pass on the six, with the Mustangs driving 94 yards for the lead touchdown. Those two breakdowns show a weakness that is alarming.

Despite those two breakdowns, it was the defense that turned the game around. Tommy Cones blocked a punt when Tech needed a break and field position and that led to the second Tech touchdown.

In fact, when you look at the overall result, the defense played a brilliant game. They were stung the first time Smew got the ball, but the offense (fumble) gave SMU position for its field goal and the defense stopped what could have been a crushing touchdown.

In many ways, Tech this year has used the same formula that it has used in the past—give ground grudgingly, get tough near the goal, force the break and let the offense score from close in.

Last year, with Joe Barnes operating successfully, Tech had a more explosive offense. This year, the defense is the superior unit, with the offense operating well enough to score. A year from now it could well be the other way around.

I don't think Tech fans really care what system is the one that works the best, so long as Tech wins. And, with a 5-1-1 record (24-6-1 for three years to date) the Raiders have been doing a heap of winning. There aren't too many schools with better records this year.

Oh, they may grouse about this, that and the other thing, but they look at the record, smile and look forward to next week's game.

No column this week would be complete, of course, without a big nod for Don Roberts. The Seminole sophomore, forced into a starting role, came in and performed admirably.

Roberts ran the ball well and, while he threw sparingly, picked up some timely yardage, especially a clutch pass to Pat Felux in the winning drive. And the day Larry Isaac had must have had the Mustangs talking to themselves, too.

Just a note to the radio sponsors. Until Sunday morning, I was under the impression that Tommy Duniven started, was hurt and was replaced by Roberts early in the game. Then I learned that Duniven never got into the game. Another note: I'm sure David Bostick is a fine back, but why the emphasis on him, with barely a mention of Isaac, who outgained him? That work just makes Jack Dale sound that much better—which he is.

You know, beating SMU in Dallas is not an easy thing and to be rough on the Raiders isn't, in many ways, fair. I guess you can only be rough on someone or something when you want him or her, or it, to do well.

The Mustangs went into the Tech game with impressive statistics. They had played Ohio State a tough game. They led the conference in rushing offense and total offense. They were 2-0 in the conference, 5-1 on the season. Admit it, SMU has a good ball club.

But coming right on the heels of SMU is another tough team, Rice. Rice? Yeah, the Owls just might have the best 0-5-1 team in the nation. No one has run them out of the park.

Indeed, they led Texas last Saturday, had a tie at the half and then succumbed. But LSU had to come from behind to tie the Owls and Notre Dame beat them only 10-3. And not since 1968 has Tech rolled over Rice. Most of the games have been close.

The league race now is beginning to take shape and each week the Aggies go undefeated makes Tech's job tougher. But the Raiders do have one thing in their favor; they have played three of the other four in contention. A&M has two, and Texas, Baylor and SMU each have played only one.

And those folks wondering how come Tech didn't move the ball much against A&M need only look at Baylor's lack of success. It looks more and more as if Tech has to win all of its remaining games and hope that Texas, or someone else, knocks off the Aggies.

How's that Dept? Kansas 28, A&M 10; A&M 28, Tech 7; Tech 24, Iowa State 3; Iowa State 22, Kansas 6. Pass the aspirin, Jeeves!

Demonstration of Cotton Module

Area cotton producers will get a chance to review a demonstration of newly developed cotton module storage, transportation and ginning equipment near Lamesa, Thursday, Nov. 7.

The event will be at Cotton King Gin, 5 miles west of Lamesa on Highway 180, according to District Extension Agency Billy C. Gunter, Dawson County Extension Agent LeRoy Colgan, and Gaines County Extension Agent Joe Ed Wise.

Starting at 1:30 p.m., the demonstration will feature all the major developments associated with the cotton module method of harvesting, field storage, transportation, and movement of cotton into the ginning process.

Producers and agribusiness officials will get a close look at the cotton module building process, its transportation by a newly developed module truck to the gin, and feeding of cotton into the ginning process via the new module disperser unit.

Demonstrations will run at the same time, following a brief session by representatives of the sponsoring groups. These include the Extension offices of Dawson and Gaines counties; Lamesa Chamber of Commerce; Cotton King Gin, Inc.; Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.; and Cotton, Inc.

Module builder operator instruction and training will be given after the briefings at the same time that demonstrations are being carried out. Guests will be able to choose the demonstration of most interest to them.

The module builder and disperser unit was developed by Texas A&M University's Department of Agricultural Engineering under the leadership of Lambert Wilkes, associate professor. The work was funded through a research grant from Cotton, Inc., of Raleigh, North Carolina.

Taking Your Picture

... Jesus, perceiving the thought of their heart. . . Luke 9:47

The Bible has much to say about man's inward thoughts. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." Man looks on the outside but God looks on the heart. Jesus had much to say about the heart and thoughts of the individual.

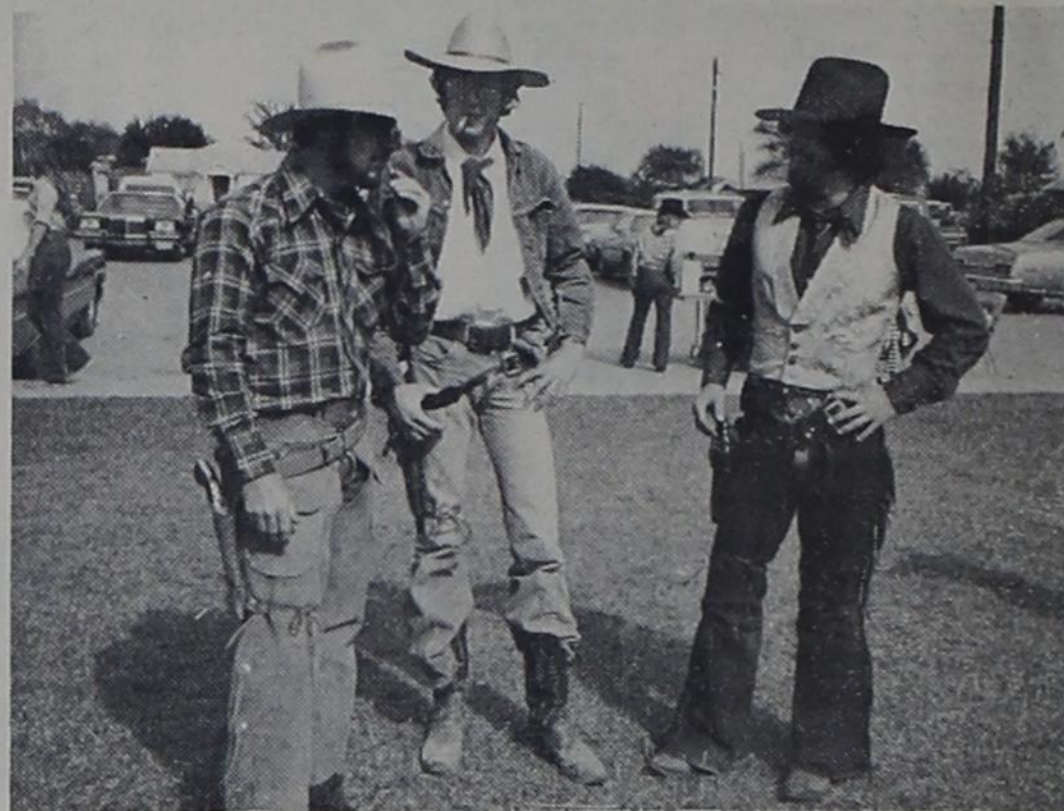

I am sure we can all remember when we had our picture taken. Often people say, "I never take a good picture," but we can be sure of one thing, God sees us as we are!

There is a photographer who takes pictures not of the outside, but of the inside. The photographer is the Holy Spirit and the camera is the Bible. The pictures it shows of the "inside" are not so flattering. Today no one is really as handsome or pretty as one's picture. The photographer can do tricks, marvelous tricks, especially for some of us homely subjects. But God takes "candid camera" shots when we are off guard, at work, at play, or at school. These pictures show us our real self, for what we are inside is the only true picture.

Have you ever looked at God's photograph of the human heart? You will find it in Romans 3:9-18 and Psalm 14. But when we are saved and born again another person enters our heart and then God's picture of us reveals the face of Him, our blessed Lord.

Let us keep in mind the words
