Clarence Kelley is Lubbock C of C Banquet Speaker Tuesday Night

Clarence M. Kelley, acting director of the FBI told members of the press gathered at the Hilton Inn that evidence in the Patricia Hearst case "will speak for itself." Kelley was in Lubbock to address the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet held in the Municipal Coliseum Tuesday night.

Clarence M. Kelley, acting director of the FBI, expressed his concern that public scrutiny and criticism of the agency's domestic security operations would "undermine the trust Americans have traditionally planned in the FBI."

Kelley, the keynote speaker at the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce annual banquet Tuesday night, asked the American people to decide who posed the real threat to American liberty.

"You must decide whether it is the FBI or extremists and terrorists who menace Americans' 200 year tradition of liberty," Kelley told the estimated 1100 people gathered at the Municipal Coliseum.

Kelley, who took office July 3, 1973, said that present criticism of the agency is a result of actions the bureau took "in extraordinarily turbulent times."

The danger is that restraints which would limit the agency's domestic security operations could be enacted by Congress, he said.

However, Kelley said the FBI welcomed the guidelines on domestic security proposed by the Department of Justice.

Quoting Attorney General Levi, Kelley said that those guidelines "accept the proposition that in limited circumstances carefully controlled FBI activity which directly intercedes to prevent violence is appropriate."

The FBI director said he remained convinced that "legislative guidelines should be established specifically permitting (the FBI) to act promptly when domestic security is imperilled."

Kelley took issue with a news report which said that only four convictions resulted from 676 domestic intelligence investigations in 1974.

Citing agency work leading to the arrest of an activist who planned to bomb two blocks in an unidentified city, and the break up of a ring of arsonists responsible for 15 arsons in New Haven, Conn., the former Kansas City police chief said that agency accomplishments deterred arsonists, terrorists, and assassins.

Kelley stated that bombings had increased from 24 in 1973 to 46 in the first six months of 1975.

The American people stand to be the losers if legislation is enacted which will prevent the agency from using "investigative techniques essential to doing our job," he said.

Library Lunch Bunch to See Excerpt from Play

The Lubbock City-County Library will become a theatre for 30 minutes on November 11 when Library Lunch Bunch will sponsor an excerpt from the play "George Washington Slept Here", to be presented by members of the Lubbock Theatre Centre. The excerpt will be directed by Richard Houston, a Texas Tech graduate in theatre and former stage manager at the Hayloft Dinner Theatre. Mr. Houston will also explain some of the behind-the-scenes work which goes on in the play's production.

"George Washington Slept Here" is by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, and premiered on Broadway in 1940.

building to house the city's fire-fighting equipment and an emergency ambulance.

The city council unanimously passed a resolution in September to resubmit the issue to the public after it was voted down 42-60 in a July election.

At that time, Wolfforth voters passed a $40,000 bond to obtain a new fire truck but defeated the $34,000 bond for the building to house it.

Mayor G.A. Edwards Jr. explained that the Federal Housing Administration would not approve the fire truck bond until the engine was housed. The new fire truck is currently kept outside the city limits at R&C Welding.

"We've got to build a place here in town for it, or rent a place here in town. We'd be glad to rent a bay at a filling station, but there's just nothing big enough to put a fire truck in," Edwards said.

The bond, if passed, will provide funding for a metal building 40 by 100 feet, heated, insulated, and equipped for maintenance of the new fire truck and an ambulance.

Edwards said the garage would be located at 4th and Delta Streets and would also house the city's garbage truck and other municipal equipment now stored outside.

According to Edwards, construction of the building would make Wolfforth eligible for one of 10 fully equipped ambulances which had been purchased by the county. The ambulance would be provided at no cost to the city if Wolfforth met Emergency Medical Service regulations.

Those regulations require the city to have six people trained as emergency medical personnel, and a place to store the ambulance.

Jose Rosales, Wolfforth's fire chief, said the city had the trained emergency medical personnel.

"The reason we don't have the ambulance is there is no place to put it," he said. "We got the people to man the ambulance. We are registered with the state of Texas."

Rosales explained that besides the six qualified people, five more were in training at Lubbock Christian College and would graduate in the first week of November.

"We are the only town in Lubbock County which (now) qualifies for an ambulance," Rosales stated.

Edwards said the city needed an ambulance to give the people of Wolfforth faster service.

"We know that it's going to take 30 minutes to get an ambulance here (from Lubbock) to pick a patient up," Edwards said. "If we can cut that time down, we feel we might save some lives."

Edwards said the reason that the November bond issue cost $7,000 more than the one defeated by voters last July was that this bond provided for a larger building. In July, Edwards reported, the city was not sure they could get the ambulance.

He estimated that tax rates on city residents may rise 15 cents from $1.10 per thousand to $1.25 in order to create a sinking fund sufficient to redeem the bonds when they become due.

Edwards said they could not locate the truck in the city hall garage because the doors were too low. And the council did not want to add on to city hall since "we wouldn't be able to have the ambulance because we can't do this for both of them," Edwards explained.

"We decided to run the issue to see if they'll (the voters) reconsider," he said.

8th Grade

The 8th grade football team defeated the Cooper Pirates 20-0 here Tuesday night. The first touchdown came on a pass from Cecil Mandrell to Byron Bitner. Extra points were scored by Eddie Washington. The second touchdown was scored by Larry Rodriguez. The final score was made by David Jones. The extra points failed.

The team played well offensively and defensively. Next week the Tigers travel to Slaton. Game time is around 7:00 p.m.

No excuse is as good as a satisfactory performance.

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

One thing can be said about Texas Tech football this year (among others): it isn't dull.

At times it gets downright exciting. Take the Florida State game, for instance. It was the opener and there were few ho-hum moments.

Then came New Mexico and it was far from causing ennui to set in. Forget Texas. Oklahoma State was exciting, too. Forget Texas A&M. Arizona was a nailbiter. Some of the SMU game was, too. And no one went to sleep during the Rice game.

In fact, Steve Sloan, didn't you know that it was Homecoming and some of your fans might be prone to heart attacks? Anyway, your Raiders pulled it out to the delight of all Tech fans.

There were anxious moments, though, when the Raiders continued to show generosity above and beyond the call of duty. Three second half fumbles and a pass interception really aided the coronary disposition of Raider exhorters.

Two Tech fumbles led directly to Rice touchdowns and the pass interception led to the field goal. That's 17 points on three turnovers and few teams can enjoy that type of generosity.

The Raiders turned one Rice fumble—the only one—into a touchdown and an intercepted pass led to a touchdown. In fact, the third quarter was a fluke in that Tech scored seven points and didn't run a single offensive play in the first 7:13 of the quarter.

Sloan listed six key things in the game at this post-game conference: (1) Tech's not being able to score just before the half ended; (2) Green's intercepted pass for a score; (3) Jordan's punt fumble; (4) Rice having to settle for a field goal; (5) the 72-yard touchdown pass play; (6) Tech's long drive without a pass that ate up the clock.

That drive, of course, was stopped at the 12 on the third fumble and averted a probably score that would have iced down the game and made Rice's 84-yard drive meaningless.

Steve observed that Tech probably should have taken the wind instead of the ball at the start of the game. As for the consistent rushing game by Rice, he said that some of it was due to poor tackling and some of it was due to the ability of the Owl backs.

As for the mistakes the Raiders still make, he said that it was no specific area that breaks down each game and he is mystified as to why this is true. "Turnovers," he said, "have really hurt us." Amen.

Steve left the decision up to Tommy Duniven on the goalline play with three seconds left, because he, Sloan, couldn't see how much yardage was needed.

Tech, at the time, was out of timeouts, and Steve said that "we probably should have taken a penalty and gone for the field goal."

Steve also thought that the defensive work at the close of the game may well have given the Raiders more confidence.

This week the Raiders have the unenviable task of playing a team, TCU, that has lost 18 straight games. It may seem strange to be worried about a team with that record, except for two things: Every losing streak has to end and the Frogs usually always play Tech an outstanding game.

Sloan was asked if he had ever played against a team that had lost 18 straight and he replied that he couldn't recall a single incident.

Putt Powell of Amarillo brought a chuckle when he asked a question—and then gave Steve an out.

"Who would you pick if you had to, Texas or Texas A&M?" Putt asked, and then added, "or would you rather not?"

"I guess I'd take Texas' offense and Texas A&M's defense," he replied.

He brought a laugh before the answer when he paused a long time and then told the writers: "I was trying to think of what Abraham Lincoln would have said!"

I guess age is showing through when you forget to salute two men in particular for outstanding honors received, Leete Jackson and the late Allen "Chuff" Benton.

Both were elected to the Texas Tech Hall of Honor and both men deserve it. Leete was a post-war fullback playing for Tech when I first came on the scene and he contributed mightily to winning Raider efforts. He was a dedicated athlete and gentleman, which he remains to this day. He richly deserved enshrinement.

Chuff Benton was just a great guy in every respect. He was a loyal, 100 percent supporter of Tech. His home was always open to friends and he contributed in every conceivable way to Tech. I still miss his smile and his warm welcome. He, too, was a winner.

For the life of me I can't see why all the furor over "no-shows" at football games, or any other sport. The name of the game still is money and, if the tickets have been sold, who cares if the fan prefers to stay home than fight the crowd and the elements.

Athletic teams, pro variety, are paid to play whether there is a single fan in the stands. The empty seats may look stark and barren, but so what? Despite the opinion of the networks, the games aren't played for TV.

Some day, just for the heck of it, I'd like to see some wealthy tycoon buy every seat in the stadium for just one game. It would be strange to see two teams playing without any fans, bands, cheerleaders or any other whoopla.

It would be interesting, but a little depressing, too. For, when all is said and done, any sport is richer for the cheers of the fans. Without them, it's dull, no matter how good the performance on the field. But it doesn't take 100 percent attendance.

Hunting Can Be A Safe Sport

Considering the thousands of men and women who are roaming the fields and woods with high-powered rifles during hunting season in Texas, it is not too surprising that a few hunters fail to return home alive each year. Others return with a serious gun shot wound that requires extensive medical treatment.

The primary cause of hunting accidents is carelessness. The hunter who blazes away at anything that moves runs a big risk of bagging a fellow hunter. The professional hunter will know what he or she is firing at before pulling the trigger. The hunter must never forget that any weapon capable of killing birds and animals also can kill humans.

When getting your hunting gear together, be sure to include a "hunter orange" jacket or vest. Even a cap in that distinctive color provides some protection.

Here are some other suggestions for a safe hunt:

Never cross over or through a fence or climb a tree with a loaded gun. It might fall and discharge.

Even a small bore rifle has considerable range. Know where your bullet will stop before pulling the trigger.

Keep guns away from children. Never leave a weapon unattended without unloading it.

Always carry a gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle if you stumble. Keep the safety catch on until ready to shoot. Always be sure the barrel is clear of obstructions. A barrel clogged with mud or snow may burst.

Guns and alcohol don't mix. If you like a nip around camp, wait until you're through hunting for the day and all weapons are unloaded and cased.

Treat guns with respect at all times. They may be loaded, despite all precautions. Thus, never point a weapon at something unless you plan to shoot it.

Hunting is established as a safe sport. That is, if people follow the rules. Be a safe hunter!

Rays of Hope

by Pat Stanton

"Righteousness of the Lord"
 "No weapon that is former against thee shall prosper...and their righteousness is of me, saith the Lord." (Isaiah 54:17)

Christians would be much more effective in spiritual warfare if they constantly recognized that they are "righteous in the Lord."
 Any man that has believed with his heart has received the righteousness of the Lord. (Rom. 10:10)

Much too often, the devil comes and begins to tell you how unworthy you are to ask anything from God. He will remind you of past sins and seek to keep your mind in a state of condemnation.

It is at this point that you can quote this verse and win peace and victory. "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away; behold all things are become new...for he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the Righteousness of God in him. II Cor. 5:17-21.

Righteousness is right standing with God. And we have a right standing with God, not because of what we did, but because of what Jesus did.

We can come before God with great courage because our sins have been forgiven through Jesus Christ. (Heb. 4:16)

The Rays of Hope TV program changes times beginning Sunday, November 9th. It will now be seen at 5 p.m. on Channel 28.

One track mind.

In the 1860's, Americans wanted to put their young country on the right track.

After several years, much hard work, and lots of money from government securities bought by Americans, the golden spike was driven at Promontory Point, Utah. On May 10, 1869, the east coast linked with the west.

Today, over 9½ million Americans are helping to keep this country together by buying United States Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where they work.

Get on the right track. Look into our specially designed Bicentennial Series E Bonds. And buy them where you work or bank.

Series E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4½% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.
