Sorghum Exports Keep Increasing

Sorghum has come to the forefront as a major export grain, and its markets are strong and steady.

"About one-fifth of the milo crop in the United States is exported each year, making it the top sorghum exporting country," says Roland Smith, grain marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"A continuing uptrend can be expected in the long run although exports may soften some this year. Japan continues as the leading importer. Israel looks like she will continue importing along with India, Venezuela, Chili, Nicaragua, the Netherlands, Iran, Niger, Mauritania, Upper Volta and Senegal, the last four being African countries," points out the Texas A&M University System specialist.

The volume of sorghum moving to Japan this year should exceed the 105 million bushels imported in 1973. This was more than half of all the sorghum exported. The Japanese use the grain for chicken and cattle feed.

Israel ranks as the second most important importer with orders exceeding 20 million bushels.

"India is not far behind but its market is dependent on human food production. When there is enough wheat and rice to go around, Indian milo imports drop. In times of food shortages, sorghum is consumed as a cereal grain," says Smith.

Using sorghum as basic chicken feed, the Netherlands imports about five million bushels yearly.

Some 14 million bushels of sorghum were shipped to Venezuela last year where the grain is used primarily for feeding cattle.

"Competition from other grains, mainly corn and wheat, and other producing countries exists. With substitution of one grain for another, either for human or animal consumption, grain competition has tightened. Argentina, South Africa and Thailand appear to be the strongest competitors in the export field," the specialist notes.

Smith commends the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board, the Grain Sorghum Producers Association and the U.S. Feed Grains Council for their efforts in opening the export door for sorghum as a livestock and human food.

South Plains Council will sponsor a bike inspection and a derby for all Cubs and non Cubs in their neighborhoods.

The bike rodeo will include such events as stopping accuracy, reversing direction, signaling, changing direction by sound, quick direction changes, balance test, pedaling and braking, riding a straight path changes in balance, maneuvering and emergency stop.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

AS HEARD BY HEARD

Time For Coolness

There seems but little doubt that the energy crisis, whether it is real or contrived, hit the American people with an impact almost equalling that of Pearl Harbor. As a result, there are all kinds of solutions, nostrums and panaceas being bruited about.

But it is time for a little coolness to develop so that the country does not get into the situation of burning down the barn to get rid of the mice.

There are strong advocates for nationalization of the entire energy industry, and there are also advocates for setting the industry up as a regulated public utility.

And while the entire energy industry, and especially petroleum, is so complex, that few, if any layman can understand the intricacies of it, the major oil firms do appear less than lily-white in this situation.

However, decisions made in heat of public anger are usually not good decisions, as many lynching parties of the Old West eventually discovered.

Government ownership, or control of the energy industry, could well be a classic example of jumping from the frying pan into the fire. The postal service, © National Federation of Independent Business

Amtrack, and other government activities have not furnished a track record that should inspire any hope.

In addition, the information so far developed tends to show that there has been for some time a little too cosy arrangement between government and big oil.

Actually, instead of cosiness, relations between government and big oil should have been on an adversary basis, because the government with the antitrust laws has the perfect instrument for keeping the production and marketing of petroleum, on a free market pattern.

Independent business people, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, have long sought better enforcement of the antitrust laws, with particular attention to the oil industry.

Instead of considering nationalization, or some other device with its anti-free market concept, it might be much better to consider taking the matter of antitrust enforcement, out of the Justice Department, which is a branch of the administrative arm, and set it up as an independent entity, responsive to the Congress.

Weeds Continue to Rate Highest As Major Crop Problem Over Area

Crop-robbing weeks are a direct problem in raising food and fiber crops, but consumers eventually pay most of the bill through high production costs, says the assistant director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Dr. Dudley T. Smith said southern farmers have been fighting weeds by sharply increasing their use of herbicides, the cheapest and most effective means. The State Agricultural Experiment Stations and U.S. Department of Agriculture weed scientists have worked cooperatively with various commodity organizations and chemical companies in developing effective, low cost weed control methods. However, crop losses due to weeds are still greater than those of any other plant pest.

In 1958, herbicides were applied to 15 per cent of the seven leading crops, corn, cotton, sorghum, soybeans, rice, peanuts and vegetables, in southern states. By 1958, treated acreage rose to 70 per cent. An estimated 90 to 95 per cent of cotton, rice and peanuts is treated today.

Smith said current successful herbicide research, development and marketing are strongly oriented toward two areas, weed removal economics and the ecological succession of new problem species.

He pointed out that losses in southern crops may range from 40 to 90 per cent due to season long competition by weed pests. Even when weeds were removed after

Dukes began a coaching and teaching career at Bula in 1949 where he was in charge of all sports for both boys and girls. In 1952, he moved to Lazbuddie High School and in 1957 he coached at Sundown High. While at Sundown his girls teams won three consecutive Class A titles in 1961,

Applications Being Accepted for Flying Queens Basketball Camp this Summer

Applications for the third session only of the first annual Hutcherson Flying Queens Girls' Basketball Camp are now being accepted. The session is to be held June 30-July 6.

Coach Dean Weese reports that the first two sessions, slated June 16-22 and June 23-29 are full. Only 1962, and 1963.

After a year at Friona High he joined the SPC faculty in 1965 where he was assistant basketball coach for five years.

As a player for Tyler Junior College for two years, he helped his team to conference and zone championships. He completed his undergraduate basketball career at Texas Tech University.

Boys interested in taking part in the clinic may register at any time between now and July 15 at the Office of Continuing Education in the Technical Arts Building on the campus at Levelland.

125 campers are being accepted each session.

Cost is $75 per girl and that includes tuition, dormitory, meals, entertainment, insurance and a personalized T-shirt. The camp will be held in spacious Hutcherson Center on the campus at Plainview.

Weese, who guided the Queens to the AAU and National Women's Invitational tournament championships this past season, Bob Schneider, who coached Canyon to the AAA state title, Eddie Gipson of Vega, Jimmy Kirkland of Claude and Doug Chauveaux of McCamey will be serving as instructors and the camp staff also includes members of the Flying Queens.

An All-Star game on the final day of the camp; performance, desire and attitude awards; a talent show; other entertainment and a "Miss Congeniality" are highlights of each session at which campers will receive individual attention as well as mass fundamental work.

Weed Problems . . .

four to six weeks, yields were generally reduced 8 to 30 per cent. Losses were greatest in cotton and peanuts due to the long growing seasons of these crops.

The economics of weed control is a major concern. For example, each pigweed in cotton costs about 2 cents. This means, Smith said, that a light infestation of 250 weeds a per acre would impose an economic loss of $5 per acre. That is after all the usual weed control methods have been employed. Since farm fuel prices will probably go up, producers may have to rely on herbicides even more to do the cheapest job of weed control in crops.

Perennial weed species are even bigger trouble makers. These pests usually have a head start on the crop, re-grow from roots, fewer control measures are available, and they are more difficult to control.

"We have found that moderate perennial weed infestations (50 per cent of maximum density) caused cotton losses of $24 to $78 per acre, while sorghum losses were $36 to $64 per acre. Where perennials achieved maximum density, despite cultivation and hoeing, there was a total loss in both crops," Smith said.

The assistant director pointed out that weed scientists have noted how discontinued tillage or repeated herbicide use can lead to invasion by a different or new pest. When one weed type is knocked out, another species may take its place.

"We have new weeds entering all the time. Hence, old chemicals may be good now but do not handle the new species. So we need to continue to have new products from industry. State Agricultural Experiment Stations play a vital, cooperative role in helping to fit commercial products to specific weed problems," Smith said.

The best years can always be ahead.
