Our Volunteer Fire Department can never receive enough praise, and just this week another Slaton citizen was bragging about what an efficent department we have.

Mrs. Paul Melton reported a fire in her kitchen late Monday afternoon and she said within three minutes, firemen were there putting out the blaze. Sometimes we don't take time to tell these men how much we appreciate them, until they have actually put out a fire in our own home.

As I drove past the St. Joseph Catholic School Tuesday I noticed a bunch of cars parked all around. Knowing that it wasn't quite time to be registering students, I inquired and found out from the school's principal, Sister Mary Angelita, that it was a day for cleaning at the school.

Many mothers of school children (and possibly others) turned out to give the school a good cleaning --- and believe me they did. Sister Angelita took me on a tour Tuesday night and the school was simply spotless.

She also added the dads would have a chance to turn out pretty soon, too, and clean the school grounds.

allotments are figured on the basis of past planted acreage history, observers on the Plains had thought this would work to their advantage. Now, however, it is understood these acres will be used to figure the state's share of the 16 million acre minimum national allotment, but will not be in he total state allotment when county allotments are computed. So, the acreage will be "frozen" at the state level.

Johnson says this has the effect of reducing the national allotment below the legal minimum of 16 million acres set by Congress in 1958.

Section 342 of the law states: "...Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, the national marketing quota for up-land cotton for 1959 and subsequent years shall be not less that the number of bales required to provide a national acreage allotment for each such year of 16 million acres."

And Johnson pointed out that this section has not been amended or repealed. In addition to the law itself, he said, there is an abundance of legislative history to show the intent of Congress has been consistently in favor of maintaining the 16 million acre minimum na-tional allotment,

According to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., an effort is being made to reinstate Agricultural Conservation Program payments to farmers who put cotton burrs back on the land.

PCG, ginners associations and others have arranged a meeting with the state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service on August 23 to present the case for re-establishing the practice.

"Returning cotton burrs to the land is a valuable practice, both from the standpoint of the farmer and the ginner," Johnson said. "It returns organic matter to the soil, helps to prevent blowing and washing, and increases cotton yields. And it gives ginners a place to go with burrs that would otherwise be burned, aggravating the air pollution problem."

A check with the state ASCS office revealed that 17 High Plains counties took advantage of the payments in 1964, with $172,963 in payments being made for burrs applied to 40,207 acres. The statewide total was $224,965 on 52,052 acres. *******

Excess use of chemical additives on cotton in ginning and harvesting is suspected as the cause of trouble with "stickiness" in the spinning of cotton from various sections of the cotton belt, including the Texas High Plains.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., was informed this week that the committee "has expressed serious concern with the recent increase in the use of additives in ginning," and that the committee unanimously passed the following resolution:

"The consumers of raw cotton have become alarmed at the recent increase in the use of additives at gins because the mills have not had the opportunity to investigate thoroughly the effect of these additives on manufacturing efficiencies and cost, yarn and fabric quality.

.....We urge that no additive be applied until it has been determined that the product does not have a detrimental effect upon the manufacturing quality of cotton."

The Committee also made four other recommendations of importance to cotton producers and ginners. They are:

1. That cotton's quality is best preserved when the fiber reaches the gin with six to eight per cent moisture content, and that producers and ginners shavail themselves of the latest technology to determine

Patrol Report Lists 36 Rural Accidents

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 36 accidents on rural highways in Lubbock County during July, according to Sergeant Q. C. Guthrie, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area. These crashes resulted in five deaths, ten persons injured and an estimated property damage of $38,160.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first seven months of 1966 shows a total of 268 accidents resulting in 11 persons killed, 155 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $211,055. "School days" are almost here again. The familiar yellow school buses will soon be back on the highways.

Guthrie reminded all motorists of the state law regulating traffic in regard to school

"The drivers of a vehicle upon a highway outside the limits of any incorporated city or town upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging school children shall stop the vehicle immediately before passing the school bus, but may then proceed past such school bus at a speed which is prudent, not exceeding (10) miles per hour, and with due caution for the safety of such ing the highway program in a strong position, "we're not advocating more taxes, but we are advocating no diversion of

The Federal interstate highway program, said Kultgen, is uncertain for the coming year. In recent months, he added, the commission has been more concerned about state and farm -to-market highways.

Attending the Thursday night dinner were city and chamber officials and several guests from Lubbock, including State Rep. Delwin Jones and Demo nominee for state representative, Elmer Tarbox. Chamber President Speedy Nieman presided at the dinner. From the district highway office were James King and Paul Mills. Oscar Crain, district highway engineer from Lubbock, was here for the reception Thursday afternoon, and also attended an informal highway committee meeting Thursday morning.

Crain indicated that future plans call for three more grade separations, or overpasses, around Slaton. These would be on the US-84 bypass at its intersection with FM-41, with the Cemetery Road, and the Santa Fe railway track southeast of town.

Traffic counts and surveys indicate a priority for the overpass at FM-41, said Crain, and its possible it will be worked into the next district program.

Dr. Lee Vardy, chairman of the chamber's highway committee, was master of cerenies at the afternoon reception. Assisting at the serving table were Mmes. Vascar Browning, Wade Thompson, red England, H. G. Stokes, d Haddock, L. A. Harral, Jay cSween, Cecil Scott.
