What Is A -- Chamber Of Commerce?

By Jerry Hutton, Manager Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce

The Chamber of Commerce has the responsibility of the economic well-being of our community -- to preserve our business system, to promote business growth and development. The Chamber of Commerce is a dynamic living process because its people work for the betterment of their city.

It is primarily an organization of business and professional men and women who have joined together to work for the solution of their mutual business and community problems. In this community, as in every other area, there is a distinct need for an organized group such as the Chamber of Commerce. There are problems and opportunities which an individual by himself cannot possibly solve; but by working with others, pooling their time and resources, important accomplishments can be made.

In brief, the Chamber of Commerce is an organization through which the volunteer manpower of our community works effectively to make our

Senior Named To All-Star Tourney Team

Ricki Richardson, daughter of Mrs. Shirlee Richardson of Muleshoe, and a senior in Muleshoe High School, received a letter confirming that she has been named to the First Annual High School All-Star basketball tournament team.

She was notified by Larry White, chairman of the All-Star Selection Committee that she was named to play on the West team in an East-West game to be played in conjunction with the National Women's Collegiate Invitational Tournament.

Ricki said she never played basketball until she was a freshman and was named to the varsity team as a sophomore.

The game will be played in Amarillo late this month.

MHS Athletic Group Are Special Guests

A number of special guests, including Athletic Director Fred Hedgecoke and the 1970 Muleshoe Mules, attended the Wednesday meeting of the Muleshoe Lions Club, Lions and guests heard Bob Brown, line coach at Texas Tech University, who spoke as a substitute for Head Football Coach Jim Carlen, who sent his regrets' and said he had a possible recruit 'treed' at Houston and had to go talk to him. Coach Brown was introduced by Leete Jackson of Lubbock, who is executive director of the Red Raider Club of Lubbock, Jackson, in turn had been introduced by 'Chief' Jones of Muleshoe and Jones was introduced by Bill Moore, who said, "I am presenting an Outstanding Young Man of Muleshoe, who gives of himself to make Muleshoe a better place in which to live."

The coach-speaker emphasized religion and involvement for all youths.

Speaking directly to the athletic group represented at the meeting, he said, "Have a goal to work forward to, Texas Tech has a goal, we have a program based on individual need.

"Naturally, we like to win, but not at the cost of the individual and have the individual lose their identity. We like for the player to have an identity and our goal is the development of the young man.

"Our goal includes the coaches, parents and others trying to help you. You still need guidance and a helping hand. This is true of you, the high school student, true of the college youth and true of the graduate.

"Get everything out of life you can," he urged, "at school, in athletic and in your home. You can be rough and you can be tough when you face an opponent, and even run over your opponent, but you still won't get anywhere without faith."

"Whatever you're going to be in," commented Coach Brown, "Be involved in it. The more involved you are, the more you accomplish and the more you enjoy life."

He showed a film on the Highlights of the 1970 football season for the Red Raiders of Texas Tech University and concluded by saying, "We feel our young people do the job we ask them to do. They get an education -- play football -- and are involved in religion."

Jackson said the Red Raider Club, including a number of coaches from Texas Tech, will be in Muleshoe sometime in July for the annual Red Raider Day. A meeting was to be held in the next few days to confirm the date the group will make their annual visit to Muleshoe.

No arrest were made by county or state officers during the past weekend.

The 36 prospective jurors summoned for county court before County Judge Glen Williams are asked to report to the Bailey County Courthouse at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, March 9.

Three cases are scheduled for jury trial during the next week.

Farm Bureau Local Members Attend Meeting

Several Farm Bureau programs and activities, including plans for constructing a brand new state headquarters building, were discussed in a Dist. Two conference of county Farm Bureau presidents February 26, in Lubbock.

James Warren, president of the Bailey County Farm Bureau, represented the local county organization at the conference.

Also attending was Glen Harris, member of Board of Directors and Jay B. Harbin, Agency Manager.

BAC To Present Variety Stage Show

The Business Activity Committee of the Chamber of Commerce received a distinguished visitor this week, according to Chamber of Commerce Manager Jerry Hutton. Hutton said the visitor was C. A. Frank, owner and manager of the C.A. Frank Theatrical Agency of Hutchinson, Kansas.

Frank's visit to Muleshoe was to make advance preparations for the appearance of the world-famous and highly successful stage production, "The Zogi Variety Revue" said Hutton. This is a stage presentation with special music, produced by 'Clarence and Gladys', who also star in the cast.

The "Times of London" said of this show, "Certainly one of the best." The "Chicago Daily News Foreign Service" said, "The State Department could

Although the goal was not reached, Chairman Jeff Smith of the drive to obtain funds for the Bailey County Heart Association was highly complimentary of the response to 'Heart Sunday' which was observed here last Sunday, February 28.

He said the response was "excellent, and he appreciated the hard work done by the volunteer house-to-house workers and the way the community responded to the appeal for funds to help combat the number one killer of persons in the United States."

Smith reminded that more persons are killed by heart and respiratory ailments each year than all other diseases combined and that through constant research and education, ways are being sought to fight back against the dreaded killer.

The nearly 30 workers who assisted with the Sundry drive included Shirley Burris, Deborah Hunter, Donna Burris, Belinda Magby, Starla Magby, Kathy Burris, Debbie Blaylock, Elizabeth Galyon, Viola Jackson, Daria Hunter, Tonya Magby, Mrs. L.W. Darymple, Mrs. Clayton Myers and Brenda Ruthardt.

Also, Mrs. Boyd Magby, Mrs. D.W. Pierson, Mrs. Elmer L. Downing, Gayle Hawkins, Becky Stoneham, Rita Hawkins, Donna Black, Sherry Embry, Cieta Williams, J.B. Stevenson, Rhonda Stevenson, Joyce Raney and Sherri Smith.

The group met with Chairman Smith at the First National Bank for a briefing session before conducting a house-to-house campaign during the afternoon. Chairman Smith said a number of families were missed during the afternoon and said that anyone desiring to make a contribution to the Bailey County Heart Association could do so by mailing it to the Bailey County Heart Association, Jeff Smith, Chairman, Drawer K, Muleshoe, Texas 79347.

He emphasized that Memorial Gifts are being accepted, and the Heart Association will mail a Memorial Card for the person contributing as a Memorial Gift. Memorial Gifts may be made to him at the above address or to Dean Sprayberry at the First National Bank.

The chairman also reminded that he has films available to be shown to civic and social clubs upon request and brochures and information concerning heart attacks and heart-related diseases.

He also has a 12 page booklet of posters and information which may be obtained about heart diseases.

Smith said the next meeting of the Bailey County Heart Association will be Tuesday, March 16, at 6:45 a.m. at the

Jaycee Survey Gets Underway Tuesday Night

Because the Muleshoe Jaycees are dedicated to helping the area grow, and because they want to find out what the general citizenry thinks is needed to help develop the Muleshoe Community, the Jaycees are conducting an intensive survey.

Co-chairmen Dwyan Calvert and Gene McGuire said the survey will be conducted in Muleshoe on Tuesday, March 9, from 6:30 p.m.

Some 50 workers are expected to go door-to-door in the entire town and leave a survey form to be completed and picked up on a return trip later in the evening.

Calvert and McGuire said the survey will be called the "Muleshoe Jaycee Community Development Survey" and will include a number of questions asking what the head of the household thinks needs to be done to make Muleshoe a better place to live.

They added that during the time they are conducting the survey, they will be giving out information sheets on the 1970 activities of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Muleshoe Jaycees.

The Jaycees ask that the survey forms be filled out as completely as possible in order to show what citizens think is needed to help Muleshoe grow and develop.

The elementary schools had open house and the science fair on Thursday, March 4. Winners in the Mary DeShazo fourth Grade Science Fair were: First Place, Bill Morgan; Second Place, Denise Reeder; Third Place, Jo Garth; and Honorable Mentions, Bob Berry and Patricia Orozco.

New Irrigation Sprinkler Now In Use Here

One of the newest type of irrigation systems is in use in this county and is located just east of Muleshoe on an acreage owned by Curtis Walker.

Walker said the 50 acres he is irrigating with the new "Water Winch" system is new hay with a rye cover. The system is designed for 120 acres, and can be set in a full circle, or set for a half circle as Walker set his irrigation system.

The "Water Winch" covers 160 feet on each side in a half circle, depositing from one-half inch to six inches of water per setting.

Walker added that one advantage of the system is the reduction or elimination of labor for moving and changing the system, as it moves along a

Area Crop Data Now Available

LUBBOCK... A concise report on results of field demonstrations and research on cotton, grain sorghum and soybeans on the South Plains is now available to area producers.

Titled "Field Crop Demonstration and Research Summary," the report contains information on demonstration and research results conducted during the last three to four years, says Dr. Robert B. Metzger, area agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, author of the publication.

The data was compiled from crop demonstrations conducted by the 20 county agricultural agents in Extension District two as well as from research conducted by personnel at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock.

COTTON VARIETIES TESTED
The performance of 22 cotton varieties is summarized in the report, points out Metzger. Data on each variety include yield, staple length, fiber strength and micronaire. The comparative performance of these old and new varieties should serve as a guideline in variety selection, adds the agronomist.

With regard to fertilizer response on irrigated cotton, 80 pounds of nitrogen per acre produced a two-bale yield on both sandy and clay loam soils where phosphorus and potassium were adequately supplied. Eighty pounds of phosphate per acre gave excellent response where soil tests indicated a low level of phosphorus. No real response was observed from phosphorus where soil tests showed a medium or above level of the nutrient.

The need for sulfur was also studied over a four-year period. Cotton on Amarillo loam soil in Lubbock County showed no yield response nor was a significant soil pH change evident. Dryland cotton also gave excellent response to both nitrogen and phosphorus where the two nutrients were at a low level. A yield average of 492 pounds of lint per acre was obtained with 40-0-0. Metzger points out that soil moisture is a limiting factor in obtaining a yield response from fertilizer. In years of above average rainfall, slightly higher rates of nitrogen may be profitable.

SORGHUM DATA CITED
Turning to grain sorghum, the agronomist explains that under favorable conditions of moisture and high fertility, later maturity hybrids normally produce the highest yields. Under limited irrigation or dryland production, medium or medium late maturing hybrids often produce higher yields since they require less water.

Twenty-seven grain sorghum hybrids were evaluated in demonstrations throughout the South Plains. In addition to yield, the number of days required by each hybrid to reach 50 per cent bloom was also recorded. Regarding fertilizer response on irrigated grain sorghum on clay loam soil, phosphorus gave significant yield increases with higher nitrogen rates. However, at lower nitrogen rates, phosphorus deficiency did not appear to limit yields.

In fine sandy loam soils, a different response was obtained, adds Metzger. Phosphorus gave a significant yield increase at all nitrogen rates, but again the greatest response occurred at the higher nitrogen rates. In fact, yields were increased 50 percent with the addition of phosphorus over higher rates of nitrogen used alone. Potassium did not increase yields on either soil type or at any treatment rate. On clay loam, 160-80-0 produced 7,400 pounds of grain per acre while on fine sandy loam, the same treatment produced 5,216 pounds, the top yield. In dryland tests, 20-20-0 produced the top yield of 2,117 pounds of grain per acre. According to Metzger, fertilizer is likely to be profitable only in the sandy soils where plant nutrients are low. He recommends applying all the nitrogen and phosphorus preplant for a normal dryland yield. If additional moisture becomes available, extra nitrogen can be sidressed. SOYBEAN TESTS CONDUCTED

In a three-year summary of soybean variety demonstrations in Hale, Floyd and Swisher counties, 10 varieties were evaluated. Maximum yields depend on the proper planting time and available moisture during critical stages of growth. Yield is reduced one-half bushel per acre for each day of delay in planting after May 20.

No soybean yield increases were observed from any of the various fertilizer rates, points out the agronomist. However, the highest yields have been produced on soils known to be highly fertile. Since the crop is a legume, it has the ability to assimilate nitrogen from the atmosphere. Its extensive root system is also capable of efficient phosphorus absorption.

Metzger adds that the demonstration and research data in this report is in support of "3,76 in '76," the statewide Extension program designed to increase the total agricultural income in Texas by $1 billion by 1976. The South Plains area is expected to contribute an increase of $126,463,000 toward this goal.

Copies of the report are available from any District 2 county Extension office or from the A&M Center at Lubbock.

NEW SPRINKLER SYSTEM - - - W.B. Leveque, left, and Curtis Walker, stand in the fine spray from Walker's new sprinkler system which is considered unique for this area. The sprinkler system is in use on 50 acres of new hay with a rye cover that Walker has under cultivation at the east edge of Muleshoe. The system eliminates much of the labor involved in irrigation, according to Walker. This is the first system of this type known to be in use in this area.

Youth Military Attitude Studied

COLLEGE STATION -- Who is more receptive to military service -- a lower class youth who wants to get somewhere in life, or a youth of higher class status who wants to get somewhere?

If the question appears too easy, try this one: Who would have a more positive attitude toward the service -- a rural Negro youth who lives in the traditional South, or a rural white youth who lives in the same community?

Most readers will probably go along with the first part of each question because they assume that the lower class youth would view the military as a way out of his predicament or a means to get training or a career. In either case, the assumption would be wrong, according to a study reported by Dr. William Kuvlesky and Jane Dameron in the January issue of the "Journal of Vocational Behavior."

The research team from Texas A&M University's Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology Department found that Negro and white boys were "more alike than different in their orientations and projections for military service." In their study of 218 high school sophomores in three all-rural, nonmetropolitan counties of East Texas, they also could not find support for the assumption that lower class youth are more positively oriented toward military service than youth of higher class status.

Kuvlesky and Dameron evaluated the students' attitudes toward military service by measuring their agreement and disagreement to such statements as "Every American male should want to serve in the military"; "One should not complain if he is drafted"; and "Anyone who enlists in the service is foolish."

They found that both Negro and white rural boys similarly desired military service, had strong positive attitudes about it, and "almost expected to be involved in some type of military status," although a majority were uncertain about their expected involvement.

The major difference between Negroes and whites is in their expectations of how they're going to be involved. Many more whites think in terms of either no military involvement or part-time commitment in the Reserves than did Negroes. Also, more Negroes than whites expected to either enlist or to enter officer's training in college.

Lower class youth with high aspirations to get somewhere are not necessarily more positively oriented toward military service than others, the A&M team learned. They, as well as other respondents, are equally positive in their orientation toward the military, although other studies indicate very few youth view the military as an occupational goal.

It is possible, Kuvlesky and Dameron conclude in the article, that "projection of participation in military service and a positive orientation toward it approximates a cultural universal among boys in their middle teens." The researchers point out that more extensive study is needed because of the limitations of their sample before any definite conclusions can be drawn.

The study was a contribution to the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station research project.

On Wednesday, December 16, 1970, Pioneer 6 completed its fifth year in solar orbit. It has covered 3,300,000,000 miles and has filled 7300 miles of analog data tape since its launch in 1965. Now the National Aeronautics and Space Administration believes that the satellite, which had a planned life of six months, can serve as a reference point by which manned spaceflight network stations can locate themselves precisely on earth. This is possible, reports the authoritative Aerospace Daily, because although the spacecraft has not made an orientation maneuver since 1966 it acts as a small planet completely subject to solar system gravity. Because its radio signal can be tracked precisely it serves as an exact reference for planet orbits and masses and relativity measurements.

HIGH ALTITUDE — NO PROBLEM

Despite our high altitude, electric air conditioning keeps on doing its job because the electric cooling method is completely sealed against the effects of altitude changes.

CHOICE OF BRANDS

There are 58 manufacturers of electric air conditioning and all major brands are available in our area. Brands in your area are listed in the Yellow Pages or identified on your neighborhood dealer's store front.

CHOICE OF SIZES

Electric air conditioning offers the right size for your cooling job. Too large a unit makes your first cost unnecessarily high; too small runs up operating cost. Electric air conditioning can save you money on both counts.

The Law Applies To Cesar, Too!

(The article below appeared in the Jan., 1971, issue of The California Farm Bureau Monthly. It was written by Allan Grant, president of the California Farm Bureau.)

Cesar Chavez is not above the law. Last month the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee leader pressed civil disobedience too far and was found in contempt of court by Monterey County Superior Court Judge Gordon Campbell, who sentenced him to ten days in jail and fined UFWOC $1000. Judge Campbell further ordered that Chavez would stay in jail until he complied with the original court order—i.e., notified all UFWOC personnel to cease boycott activities against Bud Antle, Inc., and to cease publicizing that Antle is engaged in a labor dispute.

The contempt charge followed a culmination of court orders defied by Chavez and the UFWOC. The initial order, made last October, resulting from a suit brought by Antle. Following a hearing during which both sides presented their testimony, Judge Campbell ruled that Antle had a valid contract with the Teamsters Union covering field workers and that UFWOC was engaging in an illegal dispute by attempting to force Antle to recognize the Chavez union as representing its workers. At that time, the court ordered Chavez and UFWOC to stop all boycott activities against Antle and to notify the union's organizers in major cities across the nation to cease to promote the boycott against Antle.

Chavez and UFWOC ignored the court order. In November, Antle took them back to court. UFWOC attorneys said it was not necessary to obey the order since the decision was being appealed to a higher court. Judge Campbell said he would stay the initial injunction pending an appeal but ordered UFWOC to post $2.7 million good faith bond to cover any losses to Bud Antle, Inc., while the appeal was being made. He said he was requiring the good faith bond because it would be just for one party to use a lengthy appeal procedure to pursue a course which could injure or destroy the other.

UFWOC did not post the bond, continued to promote a boycott of Antle lettuce, and extended the boycott to include products of the Dow Chemical Company which UFWOC claims is involved financially with the Antle Company. Antle went back to court.

On December 4, Judge Campbell set a hearing on a contempt action sought by Antle and ordered Chavez to be present. Through his attorneys, Chavez pled that it was not necessary to obey the previous order since they were ambiguous and confusing. Judge Campbell, ruling that the orders were clearly written, found Chavez in contempt of court. In sentencing Chavez, the Judge said that "if the law is to continue to have any meaning it must continue to apply equally to the weak and to the strong, to the poor and the rich, favoring neither the one nor the other. No man or organization is above or below the law."

Judge Campbell had no choice but to carry out the law. However, the jailing of Chavez has enhanced his cause and popularity. It has brought him back into the headlines and in mid-December appeared to be breathing life back into the lettuce boycott which previously was receiving little recognition from buyers and other union workers.

Our job at this time is to see that the facts of the matter reach as many people as possible. Three points need to be made:

1) Bud Antle, Inc., has a legal and binding contract with the Teamsters Union covering his field workers, a contract first entered into in 1961. It was not until September 1962 that Chavez resigned his position with the Community Service Organization to devote full time to organizing the National Farm Workers Association. The latter was incorporated in 1962 and merged with the Agricultural Workers Organizing Committee in 1966 to form the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee.)

2) By attempting to organize the workers at the already unionized Antle farms, the court found UFWOC to be involved in an illegal jurisdictional dispute under California law.

3) Chavez and UFWOC were given every opportunity to comply with the court order without harming their cause, particularly with the Judge making his "good faith" bond offer.

But Chavez and UFWOC, defying the court, went on to do just as they pleased, leaving Judge Campbell no choice in his subsequent decision.

The trouble with people who insist that right must triumph is they can't agree on what is right.

Think for yourself and act upon your judgment. The results will be what you deserve.

Regardless of what kind of organization you can think of, someone will join it.

Anger, even violent anger, against one person will cease if vengeance is taken on another.

Our Chamber is NOT a part of the city, county or state governments; a political party or faction; a civic or social club; a social service or welfare agency.

With the 1970 Chamber of Commerce membership drive just about to get underway, won't you join this combined effort if you are not already a member, and get on the winning side. Help Muleshoe to progress and develop.

Block Takes Sorority To Paraguay Via Slides

An open meeting of Beta Sigma Phi was held in the home of Mrs. Doyce Turner for members and prospective rushees Thursday night, March 4. The open meeting is conducted for the prospective rushees to become familiar with the officers and committees duties, and the meaning of Beta Sigma Phi. Mrs. Eric Smith gave a brief talk on what Beta Sigma Phi meant to her in the past 20 years. Mrs. Smith became a member of Beta Sigma Phi in 1952 and has remained active those 20 years. She has received her Order of the Rose.

The sorority accepted the friendly challenge of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority to see which club can get the most POW letters signed on March 24 from 9:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. Beta Sigma Phi will have booths in the First National Bank and in Cashways on the 24th. They are hoping to get at least 750 letters signed. The loser will have to put $5 in the other chapter's treasury.

Following the meeting, a gift was presented to the chapter by the following pledges: Mrs. Travis Bessire, Mrs. Dick Johnson, Mrs. Merlyn Neel, Mrs. Elvis Fowell, Mrs. Paul Poyner, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Curtis Walker, Mrs. Glen Watkins and Clea Williams. Presenting the gift, which was a ritual tablecloth with the club crest, on behalf of all the pledges were Mrs. Travis Bessire and Mrs. Curtis Walker. Mrs. Tom Flowers received the gift for the chapter.

Burel Block, high school foreign languages teacher at Muleshoe High School, took the sorority to Paraguay via color slides. Block has made two trips to Paraguay for educational research.

He explained the function of their dictatorship government and how the people live and what they do for a living. He said "they exist below the line of existence." Block told of some of the ways the United States has helped and some of the ways it has hindered the success of Paraguay. Following the program, there was an interesting question and answer period in which it was brought out about the existing threat of communism right here in Muleshoe. He gave some pointers on how to prevent it from happening here.

The hostesses, Mrs. Doyce Turner and Mrs. Don Rempe, served strawberry cream pie and cokes and coffee to the members. Those present were Mrs. C.J. Feagley, Mrs. Tom Flowers, Mrs. Wayne Gregory, Mrs. Joe King, Mrs. Max King, Mrs. Don Rempe, Mrs. Benny Splawn, Mrs. Doyce Turner, Mrs. Travis Bessire, Mrs. Dick Johnson, Mrs. Merlyn Neel, Mrs. Elvis Powell, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Curtis Walker and Mrs. Glen Watkins.

The 1970 1-AAA girls All-District Basketball Team was named last week. The two Mulettes who were named to the team were Ricki Richardson and Judy Winn. Richardson, a senior guard, was named to the second team and Winn, a junior forward, was also named to the second team.

The all-district team was predominated by State class AAA runner-up, Canyon, Tulia also placed four players on the two district teams. The all-district honor is bestowed on these two Muleshoe High School students for exceptional performance on the basketball court during the past season. MARTHA JANE CHAPMAN

Chapman-Brady Vie For President

By Betty Chandler
Elections for the 1970-71 Student Council Officers will take place March 12, 1971. Those officers which will be voted on include president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, parliamentarian, historian, reporter, and chaplain. Each person running for an office will present a campaign speech Thursday, March 11 in the auditorium, before the student body.

The office of president is a very important position in the Student Council. The president must lead the student body and represent their ideas to the school and faculty. To qualify, he or she must be classified as a junior.

There are two students running for the office of president. They are Martha Jane Chapman and Bryan Brady. Each of these students is well qualified for the position of President.

MARTHA JANE CHAPMAN

My platform will consist of and objective, a solution to this objective, and some of the projects I hope to carry out if elected.

Because I feel that proper communication is so important, not only in keeping peace in the world, but also for the proper governing of the Student Council for the student body, I have centered my objective around this. That there should be increased communication between students and elected representatives, and between these representatives and the council, is my number one goal in seeking the Presidency. In order to reach a solution to this dual-meted goal, I have a two-part "solution." The first part deals with improving communication between the Council and the student body. I have three ideas to carry out this goal.

First, I would have a specific day set aside each week (during orientation class) for the express purpose of letting the Student Council listen to individual "gripes" of the Student body. Because we often aren't truly representative of the Student body, I feel this would give them a chance to "sound off" on matters they want changed or started.

Second, I would set up an "Activities Council," which would be a group of two members from each organization in high school, plus the Executive Committee of the Student Council. (The officers) Through this council, we could better get a look at what each organization is doing and offer support on all fronts.

Third, I would organize and start clubs and organizations for students who show interest in the club's purpose. A roping or riding club, for instance, might interest those who have a talent in these areas.

For increasing communication between the Student Council and the community, I would offer a two-point proposal.

First, I would arrange with the radio station to have time on the air each week for a discussion of the activities of different organizations in the school. Not only to tell of activities, but to express views and opinions of different individuals on different subjects, would increase school pride and unity if everything was recognized as it should be.

Second, I would organize a council of five people; and elected representative of each class, plus a Council elected officer, to act as the "School Board Council." These people would be at all regular meetings of the school board to express ideas and opinions concerning dress and hair policy and other controversial subjects. Of this council, a secretary would be elected to report to the student body of the meeting's activities. Of the list of projects I'd like to carry out, six of the ones I consider most important are:

I. Utilize the "Council of Activities" to have joint drives and money-making projects for all organizations of the school.

II. If it doesn't get approved this year, continue to push for an exemption-policy concerning semester tests. This would be based on attendance and the grade average of the individual.

III. Try to get approval of either the Student Council or another organization selling beat tags on days of basketball games.

IV. Work for the development of a school newspaper to publish the school's news and gossip.

V. Start a gradual phase-out of Southern Assemblies and replace them with popular movies instead. The student body can become much better informed through a recent movie than it can through most of our assemblies.

VI. Because of the success of a lot of the projects carried out this year and in recent years, I will continue to have the talent show, the spirit contest, a Valentine Day project, Twirp Week and Kangaroo Court, Drug Education Day, jinx dolls, and coke parties to classes and organizations for outstanding group participation.

It has been an honor and a pleasure to serve as your Student Council Vice-President this year. If elected to its highest office, I will do my best to carry out the responsibilities of the job and to accomplish the solution and projects to the objective I have forthwith stated. I hope you will see fit to elect me as your President.

BRYAN BRADY II

I entitled this writing as I did, naming what I believe to be the two most essential duties of the president. The first is responsibility. The president must be a person you can trust with the ability to get a job done right. Second is representation. I have served the class of '72 for the past two years as representative to the Student Council and believe that the president is the most important representative on the Council. He must represent the entire student body as a link between the students and the faculty, and I believe that he must be well enough associated with all phases of student activities to be a spokesman for all the students.

I feel that the major problem to be solved in the coming year is the matter of school pride. I think the reason that school spirit has been lagging is because organizations are not concerned with what other clubs are doing. I believe the answer to this problem lies in increasing the membership of each organization and the creation of new clubs such as rodeo, math, science, and foreign language. It is easy enough to start a program like this, or at least say you will, but the hard part is keeping it going. But with help from you and your representatives I feel we can get the job done. I will explain my plan to a greater extent next Thursday when campaign speeches are given. Until then, I respectfully ask for your continued support.

Bored won't bother you if you monopolize the conversation yourself.

These boys have been playing everyday that the weather has permitted. Our practice consists of hitting practice balls for 45 minutes and then playing nine holes of golf.

The team will have their first practice meet March 13 at Clovis. Teams from Hobbs, Roswell, Clovis, and Dumas will be participating in this practice meet. Our first district meet will be on March 20 at Levelland.

The district is divided into the North Zone and the South Zone. At the end of the season the winner from each zone will compete for the District Championship. Muleshoe is in the South Zone with Levelland and Tulia. One district meet will be played at each school to determine the zone winner.

Essay Contest Winners Named

The Student Council sponsored an essay contest with the topic, "What I think about War." The essays were judged by the National Honor Society. Babs Haire won first place and Gary Kinanon won second. Both students will be presented plaques by the MHS Student Council.

war will always feel the tribulation of war.

This war? The war in Viet Nam? I don't know. The United States is pouring money and manpower into a struggle it refuses to win. The most we can hope for is a permanent ceasefire similar to the one that ended the Korean conflict. But America must continue to fight. Even an uneasy settlement would be better than another Communist victory, no matter how small. War is a savage conflict, but it will be necessary until the world is secure for freedom.

'What I Think About War'

By Gary Kinanon
War is a controversial subject about which many opinions are expressed. To the narrow-minded person, war is entirely wrong. To the very foolish person, war is entirely right. Actually, the true answer lies somewhere in between.

War has many bad aspects. War kills the innocent as well as the guilty. It is a bloody conflict which can only destroy. War causes sadness and sometimes uncontrollable bitterness. No matter how noble the purpose, the tolls of war are always great:

When days grow short
And grass turns brown,
And leaves are falling to the ground,
I think of War and all its tolls...

The sound of guns,
The shed of blood,
The cry of death when the day is done,
A rose crushed by a careless grave,
Rows of white crosses upon a lonely hill
And there seems so little left to save.

When will all this fighting end,
And when will life begin?
Maybe we should all pray that God would send
A world of peace and love.

Not all wars have good aspects, but a war fought for the preservation of freedom and justice must certainly have some goodness.

The most important thing is that War builds courage. War teaches a person to face the storm of life, no matter how strong the gale. In essence, war causes people to stand up and protect their rights.

I really don't know if war is right or wrong. I cannot say that war is right for I never fought in a war and faced death, destruction, and despair. But because I still believe in liberty and justice, I cannot

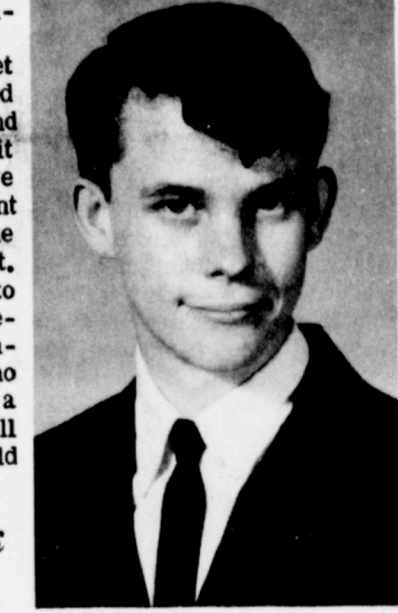

BABS HAIRE

'What I Think About War'

By Babs Haire
War, not peace, is the natural order of things. It is the nature of man to want more wealth and power over other men; thus, war is inevitable. As long as there is greed and tyranny in the world, there will be war.

Not everything resulting from war is bad; good often results from the struggle of nation against nation. Countries can often gain independence only after a long and bloody war. People may acquire land or privileges denied them by previous conflicts. A nation's economy is often bolstered during wartime. Production increases and the standard of living rises.

War is a necessary evil for the United States. We must fight to help keep weaker nations from falling under the control of Communism. I don't propose that the U.S. become "Big Brother" to the world, but when a defenseless country asks for our support we should give it. America could not stay free if it adopted an isolation policy. When Communism took over the rest of the world, the United States would be forced to capitulate. No one in his right mind can truthfully say he likes war. For those who are personally involved, war is a bitter experience. People who have lost loved ones to say that fighting for these things is wrong either. I can only say that war is inevitable and is a reality of life. Each person must face war with an open mind if he is to survive in today's world.

Set-Aside Acreage Requirements Given

A new regulation concerning set-aside requirements under the 1971 farm program has come down from Washington which, according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., "is grossly inequitable and will be impossible for County Committees to administer."

The new rule, as given to PCG from the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office at College Station, reads:

"Irrigable land within the farm's irrigation system (emphasis added) shall be designated for set-aside when the established yield for the allotments or feed grain base from which set-aside is determined is irrigated. If an acreage is designated which cannot be irrigated the payment for the allotment or base shall be made on the basis of 'dry land yield.' The county committees shall establish a yield for the crop which is representative of dryland production for the farm."

Johnson said "Many of our farmers have already put down herbicides and fertilizers on acreage intended for crop production this year and it is totally unfair for USDA to issue new rules at this late date which would require changes." He further pointed out that the new ruling is incompatible with farming efficiency and the administration's stated desire to increase cotton production in 1971.

Attempting to administer the regulation to the letter as written would create a nightmare for County ASCS Committees, Johnson continued. "Without sending a qualified crew of water engineers to every farm in the country, how can a County Committee determine if an acreage cannot be irrigated? And how in the world is the County Committee going to establish a yield which is 'representative of dryland production' for the farm?"

As one example of the difficulty that would be encountered in determining whether an acreage can be irrigated, Johnson cited the case of a farmer with an irrigation system which waters the land in a circle, leaving the corners dry, and asks the question, "Would these corners be considered non-irrigable 'within the farm's irrigation system'?" If so the farmer would be required to buy additional irrigation pipe, which he would have no intention of using, just to show the ASCS committee an "irrigation system" that could irrigate the whole farm and thus prevent his payment yield from being based on dryland conditions.

It would be literally impossible in many instances for an ASCS committee to fairly establish a dry land yield for a farm which has been under irrigation for several years, Johnson believes. He points out that no two dryland farmers have equal soils and equal farming skills and management ability, and that there are many cases where dryland farms have higher projected yields than some irrigated farms in the same vicinity.

Section A of the regulations on set-aside eligibility reads "Set-aside shall be cropland which is at least equal in productivity to the average productivity of other cropland on the farm and could be devoted to the crop for which payments are made. In the event the county committee determines that the productivity of the set-aside acreage is substantially below average, the operator shall be given an opportunity to designate other land of average productivity. If other land is not designated, appropriate reduction in payments shall be made."

This "opportunity to designate other land" is largely meaningless, says Johnson, because set-aside acreage is not checked by ASCS until after a farmer has planted his crops and "certified" his acreage, and by then it is too late unless the farmer just happens to have other acreage in soil conserving uses that he can designate. And this would certainly be the exception rather than the rule.

Section B is the part quoted above pertaining to irrigation, and Section C states "The following land is not eligible for set-aside acreage: turnrows, drainage ditches, wet low lying areas, drouthy nobbs or banks, other areas which normally would not produce crops and strips of less than two normal rows in skip-row planting patterns."

The purpose of the regulations is clear enough: The Administration does not intend to make full payments to producers who designate useless land or land of sub-normal productivity as set-aside acres. And PCG is not taking issue

GOP Opposing Proposed Ethic Amendment

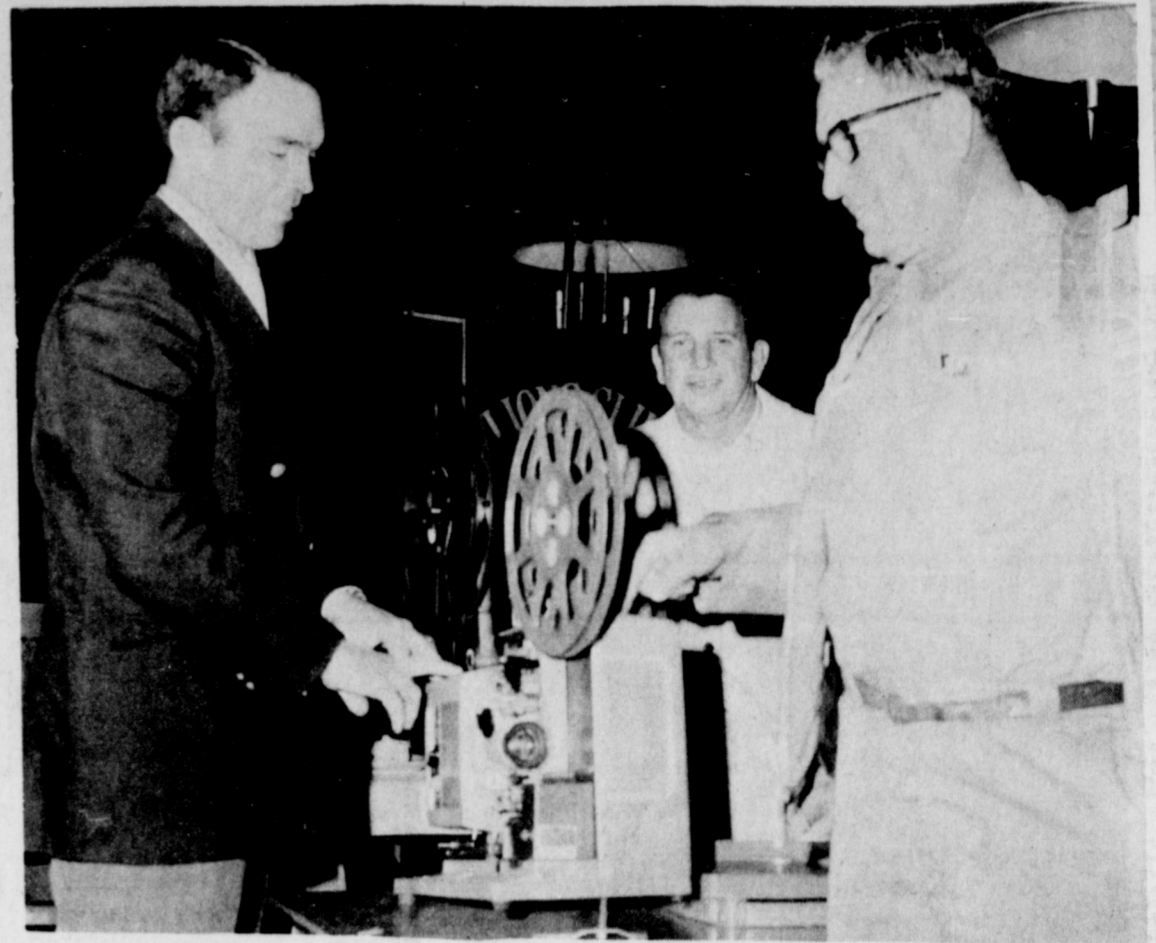

The proposed Constitutional Amendment to place legislative pay and legislative ethics in the hands of a Commission beholden to the legislature is misleading, deceptive, and deserving of contempt and repudiation by Texas voters.

A code of ethics governing conduct in office is already an existing law. Needed reforms can be accomplished by statute, rather than by a misleading Constitutional Amendment which calls for "private" disclosure of finances, the right of the Legislature to reject any of the Commission's recommendations, and which still fails to provide any method of enforcement.

It should be noted that during all the recent hue and cry about questionable actions and windfall profits to some of our highest officials, no meaningful effort was made in either the House or the Senate to determine whether any of its members or officers were guilty of violating existing laws or the public trust.

Instead, a majority of legislators--for reasons known only to themselves--dodged their responsibility for investigation and possible housecleaning and concocted a scheme which a Dallas News Correspondent labelled "...a way to redeem themselves with the voters and make a dollar in the process..." a succinct description of the proposed Amendment #1.

At this point, one duty confronts Texas voters: The resounding defeat of the falsely-labelled "ethics" Amendment on May 18 as an outspoken reminder to our legislators that they were elected to serve us rather than themselves--that only by meeting the requirements of a rigid code of ethics will they merit the public confidence implicit in a pay raise.

Dear Editor:

Dear Editor:

In January I was privileged to hear an address by Page Keeton, Dean of the Law School at the University of Texas. He spoke on Christian Ethics in Business and I would like to share some of his remarks with you.

Dean Keeton said that he had faith in the people to make sound judgement but only if all the facts are made available to the people.

Those who proposed the hospital district have not yet made all the facts available to the people. Few knew that the taxpayers would be responsible for the debt on West Plains Hospital. Few knew that the county evaluation had to be doubled before a bond issue could be considered. Most of the facts concerning this proposal have come to light due to the efforts of the sore-heads of the county since the election.

"Truth is benefited by the free expression of ideas from both sides." This is an elemental truth yet preceding last May's election your paper and the local radio station were so strongly in favor of the hospital district that we in opposition had no one to tell our side of the story. At the same time, those with nerve enough to speak out in the meetings were talked down so much that one would think that we were attacking motherhood.

"If the will of the majority is wrong, the result is worse than a dictatorship." I challenge anyone to provide your readers with an example of a Hospital district with the population of Bailey county and with a tax base as small as Bailey county's that has solved the medical problems of the area.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom." The sore-heads were caught asleep last May but after this issue had been disposed of The Bailey County Taxpayers Assn. will remain and we will keep ear to the ground in Muleshoe and will be better prepared in the future.

Yours truly,
Richard E. Black
