HOW TO PRESERVE QUALITY IN EGGS

U. S. poultry raisers are becoming increasingly aware of the importance of 'quality' in the business of producing and marketing eggs. In many market places, the poultry man gets a premium for fresh high-grade eggs. Thus, it's worth his time to pay some attention to the care his market eggs receive before they are sold.

What can be done, you ask, to preserve the quality of eggs, between the time they are hatched and the day they are taken to market? There are quite a number of things that enter into the preservation of egg quality. Such factors as proper storage and cleanliness, for instance, have a real bearing on how eggs are graded.

Here are some pointers to remember about egg handling, suggestions which may help you earn extra egg money.

1. Collect eggs often, three times per day if possible. The quality of eggs deteriorates rapidly if they are left in a warm laying house too long.
2. Be sure that the nesting material is clean and deep.
3. Do not allow birds to roost in nests at night—dirty eggs result.
4. Store eggs in a cool, moist place. Storage temperature should be 45 to 55 degrees.
6. Use wire baskets for egg gathering and cooling. Don't pack eggs in boxes or cases until they have cooled.
5. Clean dirty eggs with steel wool.
8. Pack eggs, big end up.
9. Line the cases with newspaper during cold weather.
10. Before taking them to market, candle all eggs for poor shells, cracks and meat spots, separating them according to expected grade.

Capacity of the Heart
 The human heart weighs only 10 ounces, is about the size of your fist and ejects about six ounces of blood at each contraction. This amounts to about 20 lbs daily.

Smallest Plant Seed
 The South African herb, the streptocarpus is the smallest known plant seed. It takes 1,800,000 of these seeds to weigh one ounce.

How to Paint Boats
 The weather should be warm and the day dry before the boat is painted. The wood should be thoroughly dry and kept dry during painting.

It will be murder on the Slaton stage at midnite on Monday nite, 11:30 when Dr. London presents his "Inner Sanctum Hour," show. Literally, or almost literally, Dr. London charms his audience by beheading innocent victims.

In what marks his first local appearance, the smoothly operating maestro of magic brings a shapely crew of assistants to witness the holocaust, encourage the victims and holds buckets to catch the BLOOD.

Humerous relief from the terrified shrieks of the bobby soxers, (and from their elders) are the terrified shrieks of the wolves which greet Princes Karnac in her Spook Shower. She is whistled back into the neverland of magic before the wolves can figure out the way it is done, or, what is more to the point, can get her phone number.

Dr. London's masterful presentation of the magic art furnishes an entertaining buildup of the main business of the show, which, as has been mentioned before is, murder. While the audience waits to enjoy the screams of his victims, Dr. London amuses it by the unusually quicker-than-the-eye performance of illusions, performed however, with unusual dexterity

The part of the act that sets the audience on its ear is the impromptu and unwitting performance put on by volunteers. These people are obviously unaware of what is going to befall them, and it is just as well.

Dr. London's pact with the gentleman of the dark powers apparently gives him the hypnotic eye which freezes the boys to the floor and tumbles from about in helpless confusion.

Hollywood starlets, models, the most beautiful obtainable, are the pillars and supporting factors which make the London show exceptionally different from the run of the mill shows on the road today. This show will play one time only—starts 11:30 Monday night with the picture thriller "Flying Serpent."

Report On Europe

By GEORGE MAHON

This is about Greece, written from London while I am awaiting a ship for New York. Our Committee on Foreign Aid has recently returned from a week in Greece.

Before going there, I had rather expected to see people dying in the streets from starvation and want. I believe Greece is in worse shape than any nation in Europe but the aid program of the U. S. and the efforts of the people are preventing the complete collapse of the country. The Greeks made a heroic effort during the war to hold the enemy and give aid to the Allies and since VE Day vast sums of money of many nations have been spent there to arrest the ravages of disease and starvation.

At present our nation is in the midst of the 300 million dollar aid program to Greece which is being administered by former Governor Griswold of Nebraska. The object of the program is to help stabilize the country and prevent the further extension of the Russian Iron Curtain.

It is no secret that the principal object of American foreign policy in Europe is to assist democratic peoples and prevent the extension of Communist terrorization and domination to the Atlantic Ocean, enveloping all Europe. If the Iron Curtain of Russian Communism comes to the Atlantic, billions of additional American dollars will have to be spent on our national defense program and American security will be in jeopardy. For right or wrong that is the prevailing viewpoint of our Government. No one knows for certain just what may develop; history will record whether our policy is right or wrong. We are taking a chance and if we lose, our efforts and our money may go for naught.

Greece has about the same population as Texas, but it is only one-fifth the size of our state. And what is more important, most of the country consists of a series of rugged mountain ranges and the land available for agriculture is very limited. Moreover the people depend principally on agriculture for a living as there is practically no industry. The annual rainfall is about the same as in West Texas.

We first went to Athens and then to Macedonia in northern Greece where much of the guerrilla warfare is being carried on. In company with Greek soldiers and officials, we went as far north as the Bulgarian and Yugoslav borders. In this part of Greece I saw scores of farms which would normally be planted to wheat lying idle because the people had fled from their farms and villages as a result of the terrorization program of the so-called bandits and guerrillas. It is estimated that 250,000 have fled from their homes because of the guerrilla menace, and they are living in the cities under unspeakable conditions. There are about 16,000 of these bandits in widely separated areas who hide out in the mountains and conduct sporadic raids upon the villages.

Some of the bandits are accepting the offer of the Greek Government to surrender on a promise of no punishment. I talked to a number of these surrendered bandits in different localities. And most of them were quite young. Their stories and everything I heard in Greece confirmed the charge that the bandits are being inspired and supported by the Communists across the Greek borders to the north.

The primary need in Greece is employment and freedom from the reign of terror of the bandits. Governor Griswold and his staff are actively pressing for action in the American aid program but their job is difficult and success is not assured. The Greek Government has been reorganized under Prime Minister Sophoulis, age 86, but the Government is still weak and the Greek army at present is doing a poor job of suppressing the bandits and restoring order. I found no one who thought American troops should take over this task. Such a policy in my opinion is not only unnecessary but would be a tragic mistake otherwise.

The top men in the agriculture program of the American Mission in Greece are E. N. Holmgren and B. F. Vance, both of whom were former administration in the On January 1, 1947, the value of hogs on United States farms was 40 percent greater than in January, 1946. Although the number of hogs on farms decreased by 4.4 million head.

AAA program in Texas. Perhaps they were selected because Greek agriculture is similar in some respects to our own. I visited many dry-land farms and many farms where underground water is pumped for irrigation. The average farm is 7 acres in size. The irrigation program seems to offer the quickest way to increase production.

The Greek cotton crop will not be adequate to meet the needs of the country. Greece normally raises about 60,000 bales of cotton. There is a surplus of olive oil and tobacco for export but the Greek currency is on such a weak footing that the export program is far from satisfactory. There is little confidence in the value of the currency.

The war devastation in Greece was terrific and many of the highways and railroads are impassable, and the great ports for Athens and Salonika are not yet in full operation. It takes time to repair the ravages of war.

Of one thing I am sure, the rank and file of the people in Greece do not want Communism and they will not willingly accept it. They are close to the Communist states of Bulgaria, Jugoslavia and Russia and the rank and file want no part of it. But Communism operates through terrorist methods and when a police state is established freedom is lost. That is the principal reason why Communism is such a threat throughout the world.

I have been forcefully struck during our study in Europe with this fact. You do not learn too much about a country at the Embassy or at the seat of the Government. You learn more by visiting the people in the streets and in the workshops—by visiting them in their homes, on their farms and in their villages.

If you start a conversation in a village the whole neighborhood gathers about you. The people seem anxious to express their opinions and I found the people in Greece were well informed and greatly interested in current problems. They are well aware of American aid and they are grateful for it. That is not true throughout Europe.

One who has not been in Greece cannot realize the abject poverty of the Greek people. The most they could hope for is a chance to earn a meager existence and live in peace.

Our nation is seeking to follow a policy of enlightened self interest in Greece. It is a gamble of our powerful country in the interest of world stability and peace. In six months we should know whether the chances of success are good.

In addition to conferences with members of the American Mission in Greece, we met at length with Prime Minister Sophoulis and various other Greek officials. We made no promises in behalf of Congress of the American people. We sought to get facts which would be of assistance to Congress when further action is taken in Washington.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all of our friends, neighbors, Church members and members of the Masonic Lodge who helped in any way, to make our burden lighter during the illness and death of our husband and father, Joe W. Tate, also for the many floral offerings and for the many kind deeds and expressions of sympathy.

May God's richest Blessings be yours is our prayer.

Glass Bricks, Chrome Modernize Bathroom

GLASS bricks, black and white tileboard and shiny chrome trimmings can help modernize rooms in even the oldest farmhouse, points out the Rural Home Editor of Capper's Farmer, one of the best known farm magazines.

Here a glass brick wall separates the bathroom from a small powder room adjoining. Plastic curtains repeat the green in the wallpaper.

Both bathroom and powder room were part of a remodeling job that transformed an old-fashioned farmhouse into an up-to-the-minute residence, giving the family the most modern conveniences.

Lengthening Skirts

If hem creases are a problem when you lengthen skirts this fall, try steam-pressing, advises the Rural Home editor of nationally circulated Capper's Farmer. Press lightweight wool on the wrong side; a thick wool on the right side, she tells the readers of the farm magazine reaching 1,300,000 families.

JUST TALK

by
A.M.J.

Last week was a rough one at the Slatonite, the linotype went haywire the first two days of the week, we have no society editor and I tried to pinch hit on the fluff stuff that came in on the telephone but some how got my notes mixed up and we left out two accounts of women's club meetings, both of them given me over the phone by Mrs. Joe Teague. If there is any way I can make up for my mixed up notes and for keeping my desk in such a mess that I never know what I have written, and what is to be written, I would sincerely like to make up for my short coming. It seems that trouble never comes by themselves. I once heard a story about a man who got on a train where another man with a baby in his arms, kept walking up and down the aisle. The new passenger said to him, "You seem to be in trouble", the man replied, "I am, my wife just ran away with another man, my house burned down, my boss fired me and I've lost my ticket."

...the many difficulties that beset most all businesses today it is very difficult to give the kind of services one hopes to receive and that most business firms like to give, and it seems to me that the easier we make it for those who are endeavoring to serve us the better off we will all be in the long run. When you can save some one the trouble of making a delivery, of making a telephone call, or of wrapping or boxing a package the more it will save time and materials. Wrapping paper, butcher paper and all kinds of paper materials are harder to get now than at any time in my memory and if you can take a package not wrapped you'll be saving your merchant time and expense. In the end if we are to have back the things we used to get and enjoy in bountiful quantities we will have to quit trying to buy more than the manufacturers see fit to let us have. It is my opinion that there is plenty of raw materials in the country, enough to help to do the work and if the manufacturers wanted to do so we could have most everything but they have gone into a strike against the public and are not making the stuff and until the public is willing to do with out some of the things long enough for the manufacturers to want the business, we are going to get higher and higher prices and less and less goods until there is some kind of a climax.

Ed Blair, manager of the Anthony Co. says he believes that Slaton has about 6500 population. But I believe this is a bit high. In 1940 the census showed something over 3500 and there are not enough houses here to take care of nearly double the number that was here then but I do believe we have about 5000 and I would like to see the Chamber of Commerce or some civic organization make a count of the people who do live here. Those who are in a position to know such as Pete Pearson, manager of the Slaton Public Service Co., John Sims, manager of the West Texas Gas Co., in Slaton and J. J. Maxey, at the City Hall, nearly all estimate that there are about 5000. A count of noses would be the only way that a close count could be gained.

Slaton is growing and there is no doubt about it, there are more business houses doing business here than have been here since before the depression and from all accounts the stores that now have more competition than before, report that they are doing more business than they did before they had the added competition. Slaton needs more civic leadership and more public entertainment and I hope we can get it before long. This is the time for Slaton to STEP UP INTO A bigger size town and those of us who live here should see that we do not miss the boat.

Mayor Wootton told me that Tom Turner caught two seven pound bass at Buffalo Lakes last week and if the Mayor is telling the truth I would like to know Tom Turner better, for anyone who can catch two big bass in one week is some one worth knowing. It has always been my opinion that fishing is luck and that if you happened to be in the spot with most any kind of something that looks good to eat to a fish that is hungry that you'll catch fish but Tom is about to make me change my mind, a feat that is something out of the ordinary in itself. On several occasions I have whipped most of Buffalo Lakes into something that looks like one of Charley Walton's banana splits and I never got a single nibble so it must be that Tom has something out of the ordinary, maybe he talks to the fish, uses dynamite or bates his hooks with some kind of lone fishermen and seldom takes another fisherman with him, he can paddle a boat with a tooth pick and cast standing on his head which might account for some of his luck. I spend most of my time while fishing, at getting the kinks out of my line and in trying to get the boat to go the direction I am paddling and I work much harder than I do at newspaper work but the results are about the same, I have never caught a legal size bass and the money I make at the newspaper business is just barely legal tender, maybe I don't cast right when I print the paper.

Last week I got out my suit that I bought just before Pearl Harbor and it is showing weak spots in the rear elevation, there is a hole in one pocket and the other pocket feels weak and I'm the wrong size to be able to go into a store and pick out the snappy looking models that are shown in the windows. To find a suit to fit over a figure that looks like a dresser with the middle drawer pulled out to jibe well with a head that one shines instead of brushes, is a difficult job and I may have to have some patches put on the old war time model and be content to look like what I really am.

Until we are able to secure some one to handle the society reporting and womans angles, yep I mean angles, I would greatly appreciate any reports by phone, mail or otherwise on club meetings, marriages, social events and on items of personal interest to your friends and acquaintances and I will consider it a personal favor from those who do this for me. Please send me in anything you believe other folks would like to read about. Write it in full or phone me the details and I'll not fail again to get this kind of news in the paper.

Use of Radiant Heating
 A new method of radiant heating using electrically heated ceiling is operating successfully in an experimental four-room house at Knoxville, Tenn. The electrified ceiling contains a heating element of conductive rubber sandwiched between two thin layers of plastic. The entire ceiling in each room becomes warm, producing enough heat to keep every nook and corner at a comfortable and uniform temperature.

ADLERIKA THE TONE-UP

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"Take Pen in Hand"

This column has been running for so long that its readers, in towns like ours all over the country, are beginning to "take pen in hand" and write us what they think.

Some of them take me over the coals for what I say—like the column I ran on planting alfalfa. Others write, "I liked your column yesterday, but..." All of them have different points of view.

From where I sit, that's the way it should be. Everybody's entitled to an opinion—and it's those very differences, and friendly criticism, that make for tolerance and better understanding—whether it's ideas on planting alfalfa or choosing between beer and cider.

The more folks air their differences right out in public, with a neighborly respect for the other person's liberties and point of view, the closer we are to the American principle of individual freedom—whether it's in a choice of crops or beverages.

The battle of Tours, in which Charles Martel defeated the Saracens in 732, is considered as having contributed to horse breeding in La Perche and Normandy. When the spoils of war were distributed, many Saracen horses went to these provinces, where they were crossed with the mares of Brittany. On the luxuriant pastures of France a draft horse known as the Percheron was developed.

Be Patient About Your Baby's Growth

IF YOU'RE concerned about how your baby is growing, just give him the best possible care and be patient, advises Beulah France in an article in Capper's Farmer, one of the leading farm magazines. He will develop only as rapidly as nature intends.

"How fast your baby grows depends on 2 things," she writes in the magazine read by 1,300,000 farm families. "One is heredity—traits he inherited from both sides of the family. The other is environment—baby's surroundings—which include the food he eats and the treatment he receives."

In the early months, once a week is often enough to weigh your baby, she says. Later, once a month will be sufficient. Baby usually doubles his birth weight in 6 months. At one year he should weigh about 3 times his birth weight.

Your baby may begin to sit alone for a moment or two at a time when he is 7 months old. But he must not be propped and left that way. He will sit without support and walk alone when his bones, nerves and muscles are ready for the effort. Between 12 and 18 months he will try to walk. By a year and a half he may be toddling. Between the ages of 2 and 3 he'll become an accomplished walker.

Some babies repeat a word or two as early as 10 months. But they generally don't know what they are saying. By a year, your child may call several things by name, including his father and mother. But do not expect a child to use phrases before he is 18 months old. Even babies of 2 years may not speak clearly.

"Don't use baby talk with your child," Miss France cautions. "Speak slowly, correctly, as you want him to speak when he grows up. It's unfair to teach a child a language he must later discard."

Sound Destroys Bacteria
The dairy industry has discovered that supersounds passing through milk beat bacteria to death in a few seconds, compared to about half an hour under ordinary methods of pasteurization by heat. Supersounds also can homogenize milk, breaking up the molecules to leave a fluid of easy digestibility. All these developments may be overshadowed by the part that supersounds may play in medicine, according to scientists at University of California who have succeeded in killing the deadly germ Staphylococcus by subjecting it to vibration.

Duck Superstitions
Cato had a great love for, and faith in, ducks to keep his family in good health. In case of illness, duck flesh was the first prescription ordered by that wise man. In ancient Scotland, it was believed that if a sick person slept in the same bed with a goose or duck, he could easily cure his fever.

MARY ASTOR HAS A SET-TO WITH LIZABETH SCOTT, her daughter in Hal Wallis' Technicolor production, "Desert Fury," due Sunday at the Slaton Theatre.

Beginning Sunday the Slaton Theatre will present Paramount's Technicolor drama, "Desert Fury" with co-stars Lizbeth Scott, John Hodiak and Burt Lancaster and a supporting cast headed by Mary Astor and Wendell Corey.

The Hal Wallis production tells a modern story in a setting as old as time itself—America's desert. Against this colorful, ever-changing, ever-inspiring background is laid the tale of a notorious mother a headstrong daughter and the gambler-killer who came between them.

Lizbeth Scott, sultry blonde beauty, plays the daughter. In defiance of her mother, who not only runs her own gambling establishment, but the town as well, Lizbeth becomes involved with gambler Hodiak. He is a brooding unhappy man who cannot keep away from the desert town where his wife met death in an automobile accident. With Hodiak as his constant companion is Corey, a strange, cold fellow who does everything he can to keep Lizbeth and Hodiak apart.

Also violently opposed to the girl's interest in Hodiak is Burt Lancaster, state highway patrol man, who suspects the two men of more than gambling and who is himself in love with Lizbeth.

Tempers and emotions reach crescendo proportions when Lizbeth learns her mother's bitterness toward Hodiak stems from their romance of long ago when events point to the murder—and not the accidental death—of Hodiak's wife.

Mary Astor portrays the mother. Corey, recruited from Broadway where he scored a hit in the stage success, "Dream Girl," is said to give a performance that marks him for future film greatness. Lancaster, who recently scored a sensation in "The Killers," is this time on the side of the law.

Lewis Allen directed; screen play by Robert Rossen.

New Shoe Cloth

Tested in the shoes of jungle fighters during the war a woven plastic screen cloth is being produced for the civilian market. Recommended for sports and industrial footwear, it is said to help prevent calluses, blisters, athlete's foot and other afflictions resulting from insufficient ventilation in boots and shoes. It is resistant to odors and can be washed.

MARKET NEWS

As of week ending Oct. 20 (USDA)—Many southwest farm products set lower trends last week, but grains and cotton continued to climb, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Markets Administration reports.

Despite current grain saving efforts, corn and milo advanced 13 to 28 cents, and wheat and barley followed with gains of 5 to 6 cents. Large world requirements remained the principal strengthening factor.

Cotton harvesting made good progress but car shortage hampered movement to market. Spot sales scored a record volume for the season, although some farmers still held for higher prices, advanced around $3 for the week. Poultry showed considerable weakness off and on during the week, but most markets steadied somewhat toward the close. Eggs held mostly unchanged. Dallas and Fort Worth bought selected candled eggs at around 55 cents per dozen. New Orleans paid 63 cents for fresh grade A eggs, and Denver gave 55 to 60 for large white. Heavy hens turned generally at 24 to 28 cents per pound, and fryers 32 to 37.

Texas hog markets closed steady for the week, while other southwest terminals suffered losses up to 50 cents or more. Top hogs sold late in the week at $28.50 at San Antonio, $29 at Fort Worth, $28.85 at Wichita, $29.50 at Denver, and $29.25 at Oklahoma-City. Sows ranged mostly from $25 to $27.50, and pigs $20 to $26.

Most cattle markets lost 25 cents to $1 compared with a week earlier. One exception was Houston, where common to medium cows sold steady at $12 to $14.50. Another was San Antonio, where cutter and common cows brought $11 to $14. Cutter and common cows turned at $11.25 to $13.50 at Fort Worth, and $10.50 to $13 at Oklahoma City. Wichita took common and medium grades at $13 to $15.

Rye grass, planted in October, will make a green lawn that lasts all winter and dies down when summer grass revives in the spring.

Today's Kitchen Is Attractive and Efficient

• Plaid for eye-appeal, cupboards for convenience keynote this compact kitchen. The cabinets come in a variety of styles and may be installed independently. Wooden cabinets are easily painted any color after installation.

BECAUSE the kitchen is not only the homemaker's principal workroom but the heart of the home as well, it must not only be efficient but attractive as well, the Rural Home editor of nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer points out.

Appliances—the supporting cast to the homemaker's star role—have been vastly improved, she writes. They make work easier, cleaner and save time. Ranges, refrigerators and sinks have been precision-built. They include automatic features that take over much tedious responsibility and give improved results.

"Much of our modern equipment in kitchens is being installed rather than built in," she declares. "Some manufacturers of ranges and refrigerators now have kitchen units complete with various types of cabinets and base units. These may be installed or removed independently of other pieces in the same room. When an entire kitchen cannot be purchased outright, it may be gotten a piece at a time. These units may be grouped in almost any number of arrangements, depending on size of family, the kitchen and the pocketbook."

A workable kitchen must have each piece of equipment placed in relation to other pieces, she adds. Then work moves smoothly and easily with a minimum of wasted effort.

While the per capita consumption of food has remained practically constant over the past 35 years at about five pounds per person per day, the nutritional content has been greatly improved.

The Knickerbockers of New York, organized in 1845, was America's first professional baseball team. In 1849 they became the first uniformed team, wearing white shirts, blue trousers and straw hats.

There's A Certain Look In Their Eye

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 20—An experienced poultryman can often tell, by the look in a turkey hen's eye, whether or not she's a good egg producer.

As poultry raisers go to market now with their turkeys, many are asking: how, in selecting their breeding birds for next year, can I tell if I'm selecting a bird of high egg production?

And that's where the "look in her eye" comes in. William J. Moore, assistant poultry husbandman of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, says the only really dependable way to select a hen for egg production is through trap nesting—keeping an individual record of her laying.

But many pedigree breeders doing Record of Performance work say that there are certain characteristics that are associated with high egg production. "A prominent, alert eye" is one of those points, says Moore. Birds that have a medium short beak and a broad head are usually good layers, too. Experienced breeders say that medium-sized birds will lay more than extra large ones. Pullets ranging from 15 to 17 pounds at six months give high production. And a medium bone and flat shank also are associated with good laying.

Heart Disease Leads
Heart disease was the leading cause of death among life insurance policyholders in 1946, accounting for one-third of all deaths in the year. Institute of Life Insurance reports. This was more than twice the number paid for deaths resulting from cancer, second largest cause of death during the year.

To Re-Size Rugs
Machine-made pile rugs often lose shape or wrinkle and curl because the sizing on the back is worn off. Stretch the rug face side down, tight and smooth on some flat surface where it can remain until dry. Tack firmly. Make the size solution: Dissolve 1/2 pound flake glue and 1/2 gallon water in double boiler. Sprinkle or paint lightly on back of rug. Allow to dry 24 hours. Take care not to put so much glue on that it soaks through to the right side.

Electricity Eases Farmstead Chores

EXTENSION of electricity to farms has made a new production tool available to agriculture, according to nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer. Electricity offers ways to mechanize many farmstead chores, reduce human labor, lower operating costs and promote better income, which adds up to more satisfactory living.

cool summertime cream, which reduces churning time by one-fourth. An important function of rural electricity is to supply life-protecting heat for young pigs. Carl Barton exhibits one of the 7 brooders he built as a vocational agriculture project in Livingston County, Ill.

operated by electricity, its employment in production makes it a dual-purpose tool, in which one use facilitates another, points out the magazine read by 1,250,000 farm families.

Typical of electricity at work is the task performed by a small circular saw in cutting material for the poultry house on George Middleton's farm in Kane County, Illinois.

Let's Have Another Piece of Pie!

"Let's have another piece of pie" is a family theme song, when it's Nesselrode Pie on the dessert menu, writes Marjorie Griffin, Rural Home editor of nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer.

A luscious concoction, Nesselrode Pie has a mellow flavored custard filling, she points out.

| 1 tbsp. unflavored gelatin | 1 tsp. vanilla |
| 2 cups cold water | 2 egg whites |
| 1/2 c. milk | 2 tbsp. light corn sirup |
| 1/2 c. light corn sirup | 1 pinch baked pie shell |
| 1/4 tsp. nutmeg | 1/2 c. whipping cream |
| 1/2 tsp. salt | 1 tbsp. light corn sirup |
| 3 egg yolks, beaten | |

Soften gelatin in water. Combine milk, 1/2 cup sirup, nutmeg, salt, and egg yolks in top of double boiler; cook over boiling water until thickened, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat and add vanilla and softened gelatin; stir until gelatin is dissolved. Chill until starting to become rather firm; beat with rotary beater and fold in egg whites beaten very stiff with the 3 tablespoons sirup. Turn into pie shell and chill until firm. Whip cream with remaining sirup; spread over pie. Sprinkle with grated chocolate.

An ALL-ELECTRIC Kitchen In My 20 Year Old Home?

Sure Lady

Here's how you can do it!

Install Adequate Wiring now.

When your present home was built, perhaps the builder never thought you'd want to cook, refrigerate, and heat your water electrically. So he installed just enough wiring to supply service to a few electric lights and possibly an outlet or two.

To find out how to have an all-electric kitchen just call a wiring specialist from your Public Service Company, or an electrical contractor. They will be glad to tell you more about the wiring you will need.

Adequate Wiring MEANS:

- ENOUGH CIRCUITS for serving efficiently and safely all the appliances you have.
- LARGE ENOUGH WIRE for serving your present and future needs.
- ENOUGH OUTLETS AND SWITCHES for convenient living.

We have nothing to sell but good electric service.

Oklahoma's first oil well, the Nelly Johnstone at Bartlesville, now is owned by a cooperative association. This well recently passed its 50th anniversary with ceremonies initiated by the city of Bartlesville. Even though the flow of oil is only just about sufficient to defray expense of maintenance the cooperative continues its more than 50 years of uninterrupted production because of the well's historical interest.

Carriage Trade Gains
Little people are big business. The baby-food industry reached the 100 million dollar mark last year from the sale of cans and jars of strained and chopped foods. Sales increased 77 per cent in five years. Baby foods are the largest single item among canned goods, and, in volume, represent about 3.5 per cent of all canned fruit and vegetable sales.

One of the world's most unusual broadcasting studios is being set up at Alice Springs, Australia. It will be located in a schoolhouse and will be connected with headquarters of the Flying Doctor service. Radio lessons broadcast from the school will be carried over a special radio network to children living on isolated cattle ranches.

Adding Machine Paper at the Slatonite.

The principles upon which the science of chiropractic is based can be traced to the earliest physicians of antiquity. They were known and practiced by Hippocrates, the father of medicine (460-370 B. C.), by Galen (130-200 A. D.) and other noted physicians of ancient Greece and Rome. Descriptions of this method of treatment of bodily ills are to be found in the ancient manuscripts of the Egyptians, Hindus and Chinese.
