 Postal Service Day Celebration July 1

New Surgeon Will Begin Practice Here

Muleshoe citizens are awaiting the arrival of a surgeon who will assume practice in Muleshoe the first week of July. Marshall Cook, administrator of West Plains Memorial Hospital has officially announced that Dr. and Mrs. Lucien Armand, formerly of Haiti, will arrive in Muleshoe around July 5.

Dr. Armand has been interning in general surgery at the Albert Einstein Medical Center in Philadelphia. He will complete four years internship at the Medical Center on June 30, and expects to leave immediately for Muleshoe where offices are being prepared at West Plains Memorial Hospital for his arrival here.

Cook said Dr. Armand is highly recommended and very qualified and reminded that Muleshoe is very fortunate to acquire the services of this skillful surgeon. Once again, surgery which has been done in Lubbock and other cities can be done in Muleshoe at West Plains Memorial Hospital.

He added that although an apartment is also being prepared for Dr. Armand and wife, Marguerite, several items of furniture are needed to complete the decor. He asked that anyone with coffee tables, end tables, lamps or lamp tables suitable for use in a living room to contact him at the hospital. He commented that through his internship, Dr. Armand has not acquired furniture.

Shortly after Dr. and Mrs. Armand's arrival in Muleshoe a series of receptions and teas are being planned to welcome them to this area.

Other additions to the hospital said Cook are Mrs. June Sather, R. N., who is floor supervisor on the 3-l.p.m. shift, and Mrs. Rosemary Pankratz, certified registered nurse anesthetist.

The Muleshoe Post Office will join post offices throughout the United States on Thursday, July 1, in holding open house to celebrate the inauguration of the United States Postal Service.

Postmaster Spencer Beavers said "the purpose behind the Postal Service Day is to focus the attention and interest of the public on our inauguration, and at the same time to reinforce the tradition of close community ties and service by post offices in every community in the country."

"We also want to underscore the important relationship of service and customer cooperation. The better the public understands how to use the mails, the better service we can provide."

He added that the special day will be commemorated by the issuance of a new eight cent stamp bearing the Postal Service emblem. The stamp is scheduled to be issued simultaneously at all post offices. Dedicating services are also set for July 1 in Washington with Postmaster General Blount presiding.

The Muleshoe post office will be selling the special issue stamps on that day and will be giving a souvenir envelope to everyone who attends the special celebration. The post office will be decorated with banners, streamers, facings for counter cards and will be ready for this all day celebration.

Postmaster Beavers said that everyone who will be visiting the special open house will receive designated souvenirs and those who desire will be conducted on a special tour of the local facilities. All postal employees who work inside the post office will be explaining the functions and show how local mail is prepared for distribution here or prepared to be sent to the central post office at Lubbock for far-ranging distribution. Committee Gives Drouth Relief Acts

DALLAS--President Nixon's Interagency Drouth Committee, established to accelerate and coordinate relief programs throughout the dry Southwest, today released a summary of federal activities to date in Texas.

The Acting Chairman of the Regional Interagency Drouth Committee in Dallas, Francis X. Tobin, an official of the Executive Office of the President, noted that the report was sent to President Nixon Friday (June 18). It summarizes the special relief measures implemented since the President's April 16 announcement of a concerted assistance program for Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Following is the status of the special drouth programs in Texas as of June 11:

A total of 11,500 tons of feed grains have been sold at reduced prices to 3,669 farmers and ranchers by the federal government. The grains are being sold at about half the current market price to those who are able to show that they have suffered drouth losses.

The President's Disaster Fund is paying two-thirds of the cost, up to $20 per ton, to transport hay purchased by drouth-affected farmers and ranchers in the Southwest, in Texas, 139 have applied for this special Presidential assistance program to ship 1,734 tons of hay.

Owing to the President's interest, an Emergency Conservation Measures program has been initiated to permit the federal government to pay up to 80 percent of the costs for deep plowing, water development, installing pipelines, water storage facilities, and other emergency conservation measures.

A total of 10,912 applications for the program have been approved in the state.

The Farmers Home Administration has initiated an emergency loan program for farmers and ranchers who have suffered losses in the drouth. The long-term, low-interest recovery loans are being provided for assistance in three categories -- emergency, operating and ownership.

Emergency loans may be used to pay for operating or living expenses and to replace livestock and equipment needed to restore normal operations affected by the drouth.

Operating loans may be used to buy livestock, equipment, feed, seed, fertilizer, poultry, or supplies for farm and home operations. They also may be used to refinance debts or to pay interest on them, pay depreciation on equipment, make minor real estate improvements, improve forest lands, or establish non-farm enterprises to supplement farm income. Ownership loans are being used to refinance drouth-related debts, buy lands, construct or improve buildings, improve farm land develop water facilities, and establish farm-based business enterprises to supplement farm income.

In the Lone Star State, 1,629 applications have been approved for $15.4 million in emergency loans; 3,309 operating loans have been approved for $27.2 million; and 445 ownership loans have been approved for $12.2 million.

The Executive Office official expressed confidence that the loan repayment extension set by President Nixon last week will further assist drouth victims. He explained that under the new Presidential program, loans may be repaid over a five-year period instead of one year, as has been the Farmers Home Administration policy.

Tobin pointed out that the government has committed and additional $115 million to the loan program for the Southwest drouth area and has established a special drouth relief loan policy. That policy states that farmers and ranchers who cannot meet loan installments on

Readers Club Attraction At Muleshoe Public Library

Muleshoe Area Public Library is humming these days, says Librarian Anne Camp. She said the summer reading club is keeping the library buzzing with activity with 200 participating boys and girls, and 4,000 books checked out to date.

Mrs. Camp said, "There is still time for youngsters to join the club. Also we have noticed more adults reading this summer than ever before, and many have their children pick up books for them. We are always happy to pick out books for busy people, if they will tell us their preference."

The librarian also said, "It is wonderful to see the progress being made on the construction of the new library and we hope that when completed it will be as functional as it is beautiful."

Not all the best-sellers can be found at the Muleshoe Area Library, according to Mrs. Camp, but many of them are purchased for the local library.

time because of drouth losses will not be disqualified from federal credit in the future. In addition, a drouth victim's ability to obtain credit from other sources will not disqualify him for emergency loans.

In other drouth-related activities, the regional committee chairman said that teams of disaster loan experts from the Small Business Administration are canvassing the Southwest to determine the effects of the drouth on businesses. Thus far, residents of 235 counties in Texas are eligible for emergency drouth-related loans.

Members of the Small Business Administration have met with area business representatives to assess the current and projected impact of the drouth on local commerce. Thus far, they have reviewed the situation in East Texas during meetings in Center and New Boston last week. Another meeting is slated for Tuesday (June 22) in Altus for those representing businesses in southwestern Oklahoma. And on July 1, businesses in 28 north Texas and southern Oklahoma counties will be represented at a meeting in Wichita Falls.

USDA's Food and Nutrition Service reports increases of from 10 to 50 percent -- one south Texas county more than 100 percent -- in applications for federal -- state food assistance. Much of the increase can be attributed to migrant workers and others who normally are employed in drouth-affected areas.

The Department of Labor is increasing expenditures for Neighborhood Youth Corps projects in the three states by about 50 percent by committing an additional $3,133,196 in special drouth funding. The government estimates that 7,639 jobs will be created by the additional funds.

Two Air Force C-130 planes have been flying daily cloud seeding missions since June 6 in an experimental project to stimulate rainfall. Tobin said that, while the government is not claiming that the missions have resulted in additional precipitation, the San Angelo, Tex. reservoir -- dry two months ago -- now contains 16,000 acre feet of water.

The table was centered with an arrangement of bronze mums and daisy pom mums and gold leaves with gold candles on either side. At one end was the four-tiered wedding cake, topped with triple white wedding bells, trimmed in gold and featuring the numeral "50". Each layer was decorated with white roses and gold leaves. Nuts, mints and gold fruit punch were also served. Crystal and silver and napkins bearing the names "Vern-50-Ruby" completed the table setting.

Coffee from a silver service and chocolate cake were also served from a table laid in ecru linen lace.

Mrs. Bill Wright and Miss Mary Hobratchsk presided at the serving table while Mrs. James Boleyn poured the coffee. Approximately 225 guests were registered by Diane Cape, granddaughter of the honorees. Assisting in the hospitalities for the evening were Mrs. John Latham, Mrs. Jim Claunch, Mrs. Marvin Drake, Mrs. Cecil Jones, Mrs. F. L. Hospital Auxiliary Has Orientation For New Members

An orientation for new members of the Hospital Auxiliary was held in the meeting room at West Plains Hospital. To open the meeting, Mrs. Robert Hooten read the Hospital Auxiliary prayer.

The president, Mrs. J. E. McVicker, welcomed the new members into the Auxiliary. She told them the very fact that they were volunteering their services and time was a valuable recommendation for this hospital. That the volunteer's greatest reward comes from the inner feeling of having done a job well, and there is a feeling of real satisfaction when her services have benefited the patient, the hospital and the community. Mrs. McVicker told of some interesting facts concerning the history of the auxiliary. It was organized in 1967 with 14 members. At first their services were strictly shampooing hair for residents in the nursing home. Since that time, the Auxiliary has expanded and is now rendering many services to both the hospital and the nursing home. Through several projects such as the bridge tournament, Christmas card project and the vending machines, many things have been done to benefit the hospital and nursing home. The proceeds from these projects have bought new drapes for the day room, curtains and new equipment for the shampoo room such as a shampoo bowl and vanity, a hair dryer, hydraulic reclining chair, capes and supplies for the shampoo room. Many supplies have been donated by Western Drug, Main Street Beauty Shop, Chubby's Beauty Shop, Cashway Grocery, Young Homemaker's Club, Mrs. Bay Wilson, Home Demonstration Club and others. The Auxiliary has also bought a Bennett machine and two wheel chairs for both the hospital and the nursing home. The Auxiliary awarded a $250.00 nursing scholarship to Miss Randa Sutton at graduation to help her become a nurse. Recently, they have gotten sponsors for three daily newspapers to be delivered to the nursing home. Western Drug sends the Lubbock Avalanche Journal; Cashway Grocery sends the Amarillo

Daily News, Damron Drug sends the Clovis paper and Cox Drive-In sends the Muleshoe Journal. Mrs. McVicker stated that the Auxiliary will be only as effective as its members and in order to have a good service organization, the volunteers must be conscientious.

Marshall Cook, the Administrator, was introduced and spoke to the group about some important facts concerning the hospital, that he felt a well informed Auxiliary member should know. He announced that Dr. and Mrs. Lucien Armand would arrive in Muleshoe during the first part of July. Dr. Armand will complete a four year residency in general surgery on June 30, 1971, at the Albert Einstein Medical Center in Philadelphia. Offices are being readied for Dr. Armand at West Plains Memorial Hospital. Additional appointments to the hospital staff include Mrs. June Sather, R.N., who is a floor supervisor on the 3-11 p.m. shift, and Mrs. Rosemary Pankratz, certified registered nurse anesthetist.

Two refrigerated air conditioners are in the process of being installed now. These units were donated to the hospital by Mrs. Elmer East of Lubbock.

YL Church Honors Fathers

The YL United Methodist Church continued the tradition of honoring fathers on Father's Day by the ladies of the church preparing and serving lunch at the church as a tribute to fathers. This tradition was begun in 1934 when the late Rev. F. R. Pickens was the pastor. Miss Dot Wilterding, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Head, Bill Millen and Mrs. Maye Quesenberry are among those who helped begin and carry on this tradition.

Among visitors Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hall and family of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Frederick Harries and children, newcomers to the YL Community. The present parsonage family is the Aaron L. Mitchells.

ATTEND BETA SIGMA PHI CONVENTION . . . Attending the Beta Sigma Phi state convention at Dallas from Muleshoe's Alpha Zeta Pi chapter were, left to right, Mrs. Max King, Mrs. Don Rempe and Mrs. Doyce Turner. The three girls left June 11 by plane from Lubbock and returned June 13. They attended different forums that were offered to further their knowledge of the sorority and then attended a Masked Harlequin Ball. The sorority voted to continue their support of the hemophilia foundation as a state project; and to support Girlstown as a national project. The convention will be in Amarillo next year and the group voted to have the next convention in McAllen. Approximately 900 members attended the convention.

owner of Cobb's Department Store.

Mrs. Marshall Head, R.N., told the group that the volunteers who give their time and service in the hospital are deeply appreciated by the nursing staff. She discussed hospital ethics and conduct, proper attire, psychology of the ill, and the many varied services the volunteer could render. These services included such things as delivering the mail to the patient, staying with patients who are getting intravenous feeding and can not be left alone, working in central supply, assisting in X-ray and physical therapy, flower care and fresh water each morning for the patient. These duties relieve the nurses for more important and intricate jobs.

An informative film, "A Halo For Her Head" was shown to the group. This film concerned orientation and training for the new auxiliary members.

Mrs. B.C. Stonecipher, LVN, talked to the group about duties that could be performed in the nursing home. She expressed her appreciation to the Auxiliary for the many hours of service they have put in shampooing and setting hair for the ladies in the home. She stated that there was a need for planned activity for the residents. There are several people who would enjoy playing "42" or dominos. A quilting frame might be set up for a quiltline bee. There are many women in the home who enjoy this activity. Taking the residents out in the car for an outing would give them so much pleasure and a change from their daily routine. There are many services to be done and a real need for volunteers, whose role would be truly a career of spirit.

In the brief business meeting that followed, Mrs. Gary Miller, chairman of the vending machines, asked that the Auxiliary consider trading the present coke box in on a larger one, and the coffee machine in on a combination coffee, hot soup and hot chocolate. The Auxiliary approved this. Mrs. McVicker announced that the Hospital Auxiliary members worked a grand total of 1,047 hours in the hospital and nursing home last year. The services rendered are invaluable to the hospital and to the nursing home staff and to the patients. Membership is open to anyone interested in giving their time and would be gratefully accepted.

A social time followed with refreshments being served by the hospitality chairman, Mrs. Charles Flowers.

Nutrition Programs Checked By Ranchers

COLLEGE STATION--Where drought conditions have severely reduced the amount of forage available, ranchers may need to take a second look at nutritional programs to avoid protein deficiencies in their livestock.

Inadequate protein in a cow's ration can cause reduced forage consumption and reduced availability of all nutrients to the animal -- a serious problem under normal conditions, but especially so under drought conditions.

Decisions on feeding grain and oil seed mixtures, using urea as an alternative for protein, and limiting feed consumption face the rancher.

Several oil seed protein meals such as cottonseed, guar, peanut, soybean, and linseed, when equal in percentage of crude protein, can provide about the same feeding value in cattle maintenance feeding, L. A. Maddox, Jr., Extension beef cattle specialist explains.

Most oil seeds have 80 percent digestible protein compared to about 50 percent in dry roughages. Mixtures of different meals would have no advantage over a single protein source because the ruminants balance dietary protein through ruminal amino acid synthesis.

Ranchers need to keep in mind labor and equipment costs when deciding on what form of protein supplement to feed.

Some stockmen may consider using urea in their protein feeding as another means of lowering costs. The nitrogenous compound can be converted to protein in the presence of sufficient carbohydrates by bacterial action in the rumen.

Maddox reminds ranchers that urea contains no energy and that the feed grade or fertilizer grade should be fed. Mixtures containing urea should be thoroughly mixed with molasses and ground grain, and the grain to urea ratio may be no less than eight pounds grain to one pound urea.

Cattle should be allowed an adjustment period when they are started on feeds containing urea. For instance, if four pounds of urea containing supplement are to be fed daily, then feed two pounds daily for the first week and begin the four pound ration at the beginning of the second week, Maddox advises.

Toxic symptoms may show up when feeds containing urea are fed to starved animals or fed to animals too rapidly. Urea toxicity causes a staggering or wobbly gait in the animal.

In protein feeding, salt or gypsum may be used to limit feed consumption, reduce some labor costs, and help permit each animal a more equal share.

With combinations of grain and/or oil seed meals, Maddox advises feeding stocker cattle a mixture of 90 percent concentrates and 10 percent salt to control the intake to one percent of body weight permitting growth and gain on fair pasturage.

Salt feed mixtures may range from 10 to 50 percent salt and there is little chance for harmful results with ample water and adequate forage.

While the salt amount in the mixture regulates consumption levels, consumption will be lessened when there is sufficient high quality forage available. Mixtures of grains, meals and urea are influenced by the price of each part of the mixture and pasture conditions.

With an ample supply of low protein, fair energy forage, stockmen can feed only salt and oil seed meals. However, where forage is low in both protein and energy, and in short supply, grains should be used added to the meal and salt mixtures as supplemental feeding is increased.

In using feed-grade gypsum (calcium sulfate) a ratio of six parts feed to one part gypsum is suggested for mature cattle while yearling cattle can be fed an eight-to-one ratio.

SUMMER SCHOOL VISITS THE FARM--One hundred and ninety one students, a number of teachers, aides, bus drivers and a nurse visited the farm of Mrs. L. V. Kolar northwest of Muleshoe Friday morning. Mrs. Kolar conducted a tour showing the students the many and varied animals and fowls she has on her farm. She also explained varied phases of farm life to the youngsters who apparently thoroughly enjoyed their field trip to the farm.

PCG V President At Paris Meeting

Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. is representing cotton producers of the Texas High Plains June 22 through July 1 at the International Textile Machinery Exhibition in Paris, France.

More than 1,000 textile manufacturers from the U. S. and 24 other countries are listed as exhibitors. They are showing history's largest single display of new and innovative machines for converting raw fiber into finished fabric. The last International Exhibition, held in Basel, Switzerland in 1967, attracted an estimated 110,000 people in all walks of textile life from all over the world. No less than 150,000 were expected for this year's show.

Before leaving Lubbock June 21 Johnson said "Textile machinery is for cotton what smelters and steel mills are for iron ore -- the means whereby cotton becomes of value. Practically speaking, every bale of cotton produced here or elsewhere in the world must move through textile processing equipment before it can be sold to the consuming public. Therefore our continued competitive position in world fiber markets is dependent upon our keeping abreast of new and different fiber characteristics that may be demanded by new machines, new processing techniques and new fabric constructions."

Manufacturers at the exhibition are showing equipment operation, from the opening room through sewing of finished apparel and other end products. Emphasis is on speed and automation.

For 50 years and more the textile industry has been steadily progressing toward the ideal condition of raw fiber to wound yarn in a single continuous operation. And a new and dramatically different spinning system, "open-end" spinning, is being shown which may bring this ideal much closer to reality. The system includes a twist insertion unit with a fiber collecting surface from which previously aligned fibers are twisted and withdrawn as a yarn by means of air moving through a tubular chamber.

Open-end spinning is already being used commercially in Japan and some textile men are predicting the system, together with other innovations, may well revolutionize the industry over a period of a very few years. Preliminary indications are that this system may be particularly well adapted to spinning short stapled cottons and raw materials containing a high percentage of short fibers.

Other drastic departures from the standard drafting procedure, any one or all of which could have a significant effect on the future of textile raw materials, include electrostatic, self-twist and twistless spinning. All are being shown in Paris this year.

In addition to viewing technological developments in textile processing Johnson is also making contacts with textile leaders from many countries, exploring the possibilities for increasing sales of High Plains cotton. He points out that while the domestic textile industry is expected to increase cotton use in the next decade by no more than one million bales, demand for textile fibers in the rest of the world will likely double over the next 20 or 25 years.

"This means that if cotton manages to hold its present share of the total fiber market during this period, worldwide consumption of cotton would rise another 50 million bales by 1990 or 1995, and most cotton producing countries outside the U. S. would be hard pressed to meet such a demand," he said.

The trick, or course, is for cotton to maintain its present share of the market. But Johnson believes it can be done "If we are wise enough and aggressive enough to keep in step with the textile times."

Representative Announces Candidacy

AUSTIN--State Representative Price Daniel, Jr., Monday announced his candidacy for Speaker of the House for the next session of the Texas Legislature.

Daniel, 30, a moderate Democrat and two-term member of the House of Representatives, is the son of Price Daniel, Sr., a former U. S. Senator, Governor and, presently, a Justice on the Texas Supreme Court.

Daniel will run for the office of Speaker on a platform that calls for reform of the present operation of the Texas House of Representatives. The Liberty attorney stated that he would take his reform program not only to the members of the House, but also to the people of Texas.

Included in the reforms advocated by Daniel are enactment of four statutes that would: prohibit a Speaker of the Texas House from serving more than one consecutive term; require a complete disclosure of campaign contributions made to candidates for Speaker; prohibit candidates for Speaker from using threats or promises of favor to gain election; and limit the joint conferees to adjusting differences between the two Houses on tax and appropriation bills in order to save the taxpayers money.

Medicare Increases 30 Cents In July

Monthly social security checks for beneficiaries 65 and over who have signed up for Medicare's doctor bill insurance will be increased by 30 cents in July, John G. Hutton, social security manager in Lubbock, said today.

The checks scheduled for delivery on July 3 will have $5.60 deducted for each beneficiary to pay the increased monthly voluntary medical insurance premium. The rate for the past year was $5.30 for each beneficiary, Hutton said.

The increase was announced by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare in December in accordance with a requirement in the Medicare law that makes an annual review of the costs of medical insurance program mandatory. The law requires that the monthly premium rate be set at a point estimated to be sufficient to cover all expenses incurred during each premium period, with an allowance for contingencies.

Hutton said that the medical insurance program supplements the basic hospital insurance part of Medicare by helping to pay doctor bills and a wide variety of other medical expenses in and out of the hospital. About 19.5 million people 65 and over have enrolled for this supplementary medical insurance protection. Their monthly premiums cover half the cost of their protection. The other half comes from general Federal revenues.

The 30 cent premium increase for each beneficiary is the net result of three items that are estimated to increase costs by 50 cents in the fiscal year beginning July 1, and then a decrease of 20 cents arising primarily because of a reduced margin for contingencies, Hutton continued.

The reduced margin for contingencies is possible, Hutton pointed out, because last year, program costs for the medical insurance program were below estimates for the first time since the Medicare program started.

The items that make up the overall 50 cent increase include: --31 cents to cover an estimated increase of 6.7 percent in the level of physicians' fees recognized by the program in the fiscal year beginning in July; --10 cents to cover an estimated increase of two percent in the use of physicians' services; --Nine cents to cover the estimated increase of 15 percent in cost and utilization of institutional services covered by the program (for example, for hospital outpatient and independent clinic services).

 COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES

This is my second newsletter to constituents for this 92nd Congress. Activities are now fully underway and I am reporting within this letter the progress of developments which I know are of interest to you. An urgent matter is the level of federal assistance being provided to Texas farmers and ranchers as severe drought conditions persist. The drought has been so severe that even recent rains which some portions of the state have received cannot hope to quickly overcome the disastrous effects which have already resulted. I am working to insure that the federal government render a full measure of assistance which is so desperately required to enable our farmers and ranchers to maintain an economically viable position from which they may recover when the drought ends. A major question facing this Congress is the posture of our national defense. Concerted efforts are being made by some of my colleagues to reduce military spending, to set a deadline for withdrawal from Vietnam, and to end the draft. I believe our national defense is of prime importance for without an adequate defense level, the progress which we make in dealing with domestic issues will be of only temporary value. I have determined that we should take steps designed to encourage the attainment of an all volunteer army but at the same time, I am convinced that our current military manpower needs cannot be met by volunteers alone and that the draft must be continued for the next two years. The Congress should take action, as it extends the draft, to make it as fair as possible. I am opposed to setting a deadline for withdrawal from South Vietnam. Our withdrawal schedule is progressing and is being accelerated, but in my opinion an announced deadline would result in the loss of bargaining capability and encouragement for the enemy. Most importantly, it would let the enemy the timing in which we would be the most vulnerable and subject our last remaining forces to possible concentrated attacks. As a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, I am continuing my efforts in behalf of a strong national defense. On the economic front, I remain concerned that our defense against Communist aggression cannot rest on military defenses alone. We are engaged in economic warfare with the Soviet Union now and have been so engaged for some time. We are not afraid to compete with the Soviets on the world economic markets; but we must take steps to strengthen the dollar and combat inflation at home, so that we can maintain a position of economic strength from which to compete with the Soviets on a favorable basis. As a member of the Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Development Committee, I am keeping these goals clearly in mind. On May 27th, I was honored at a statewide, bi-partisan appreciation dinner in Dallas commemorating a decade of service to Texas in the Senate. I was indeed gratified by the expression of support Texans demonstrated for me on that occasion and I have rededicated myself and resolved to redouble my efforts in order to be worthy of the support which was exhibited. I have received gracious comments from many of you concerning my last newsletter, and I am attempting to maintain an informative style in this issue. Please remember that my job is to serve you. I remain interested in your views. Please feel free to call my attention to ways in which I may serve you more effectively. True

Agricultural Imports Near $7.5 Billion

COLLEGE STATION--Total United States exports of agricultural products in the year ending June 30 should approach the $7.5 billion level, with Texas farmers seeing bright spots in cotton, grain sorghum and wheat.

Texas accounted for $422 million or about 15 percent of the cash receipts from marketings of U. S. farm products in fiscal 1970, according to Charles K. Baker, Extension marketing specialist.

The state ranked fourth among agricultural exporting states, but it lead in cotton with 29 percent of the total and ranked second in rice with 24 percent. Baker points out that U. S. cotton exports for July-March 1970-71 were at 2.6 million bales--substantially above the two million bales shipped during the same period a year earlier. Grain sorghum exports reached 153 million bushels, up from 102 million during the same period a year earlier. Wheat shipments increased to 513 million bushels, while rice exports dropped 11 percent.

U. S. farm products exported in 1970 reached $7.2 billion, 21 percent higher than in 1969. Commercial exports reached a record level while shipments under government programs continued to take a smaller portion of the total. Baker notes that Japan became the first billion dollar customer for U. S. farm products.

"The impact of foreign markets on economic stability in Texas agriculture is evident when we note that export sales equaled 79.5 percent of farm cash receipts for rice, 50 percent for wheat, 44.5 percent for feed grains, and 33.5 percent for cotton," he adds.

During fiscal 1970, U. S. agricultural imports reached $5.5 billion, showing an increase of 11 percent over the previous year. Baker explained that there are two types of imported commodities--competitive and non-competitive.

Non-competitive items such as coffee and cocoa rose 13 percent, while competitive items increased 10 percent. Imports of beef and veal totaled 1,318 million pounds and $646 million in fiscal 1970.

everyone to go. We would like to have every business represented at least one day of the two day tours. The word is out that Muleshoe is the liveliest town in the Panhandle - let's keep our reputation going by making the Booster trips.

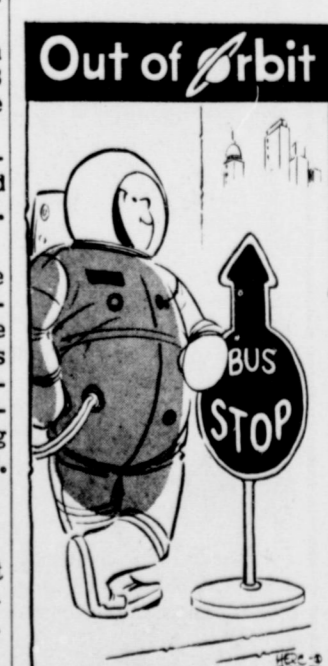

The only way to protect yourself against the fast-talker is through calm thinking and slow action.

Pop's Ski Rig, our Father's Day Promotion, turned out to be a booming success. We had 108 merchants participating, with 30,000 tickets used, and a large crowd at the drawing. We'd like to express our thanks again to Chairman, Ken Henry, Gil Lamb for acting as Emcee at the give-away, and especially to the Muleshoe Journal and KMUL Radio for the outstanding publicity.

We would like to congratulate the Muleshoe Jaycees, and especially Chairman Glen Stephens, on the selling of beef and pork tickets and raising nearly $2,000.00 for the Stegal Opportunity Plan. Tuesday and Wednesday, June 29th and 30th, are the big days for our July 4th Booster Trips to our neighboring towns. We would like to encourage Individuals who own property and homes bear a heavy burden of local, state, and Federal taxes. In an effort to ease these burdens I have introduced the Home Owners' Tax Relief Act of 1971. Under the terms of my proposal, homeowners could depreciate the cost of their residence in much the same fashion as taxpayers can now depreciate income producing rental property. Homeowners would also be allowed an annual tax deduction up to $1,000 for home repairs. Other provisions of the bill give special tax benefits to homeowners 65 and older. Homeowners, however, are not the only ones who need tax relief, all individual taxpayers have need of it as well. For this reason I have introduced the Individual Income Tax Sharing Act of 1971. I have proposed that the individual taxpayer be provided with a Federal income tax credit equal to 20 percent of his combined state and local taxes. This credit would be easy to compute and to utilize, and it would be available to all taxpayers whether they itemize or use the standard deduction to determine their annual taxable income. In addition to easing the Federal tax burdens on individuals, this bill would provide an alternative to the President's general revenue sharing plan. My bill is based on the principle that it is better to increase individual disposable income through tax deductions than it is for the government merely to share tax revenues taken from already over-burdened taxpayers with state and local governments, RURAL TELEPHONE BANK

On May 14th the President signed into law legislation creating a Rural Telephone Bank. Senator Robert Dole, Chairman of the Republican National Committee led this bill to passage on the Senate side. I was its chief sponsor on the House side. Under this new law, a new Government sponsored financial institution will be created, the Rural Telephone Bank. This bank will be charged with the responsibility of providing additional non-federal sources of capital for rural telephone systems so existing telephone service in rural areas of the Nation might be improved. While the bank would be financed by Federal revenues at the outset, the bank would eventually be owned and controlled by its borrowers in much the same fashion as are the Federal Land

Banks and the Production Credit Associations. Bank operations will directly benefit telephone subscribers and will help improve phone service in Armstrong, Bailey, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Donley, Hale, Lamb, Palmer, Sherman, Swisher and Randall counties. THE PANHANDLE AND THE SPACE PROGRAM

Being a member of the House Science and Astronautics Committee has enabled me to keep in close touch with new developments in the national space program. And by virtue of my position on the NASA Oversight Subcommittee I learned some weeks ago that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is considering establishing new space centers for the space shuttle program. As a result of my talks with NASA officials Amarillo was designated as one of the 23 or so cities scheduled for on-site NASA inspections; 60 other municipalities will receive paper reviews. The Amarillo on-site inspections occurred during the last week in May, and while the results of the nationwide search will be some time in forthcoming, I have been advised that Amarillo will receive extremely close attention during the final selection process. If Amarillo is selected, it will mean that some $200 to $400 million will be pumped into our area economy, and this does not count the millions of dollars in payrolls and supportive industries and services that will accrue to the High Plains. Amarillo will become a key post in the development of the space program for at least the rest of this century. PRICE SEEKS FARM TRUCK RULE CHANGE a new set of Federal regulations, the U. S. Department of Transportation has created additional and unnecessary problems for the farmer. If they become law, these regulations will require farmers to maintain extensive records on drive age qualifications, traffic records, and employment records. Farm truck and custom combine operators have to pass rigorous physical and written tests and will be subject to certain age limits.

From my years of farming and ranching I know these regulations are ill-conceived and unrealistic particularly since the states already have adequate safety regulations. Therefore, to prevent day-time farmers from becoming night-time bookkeepers and to free farm truck drivers from unwarranted controls, I have led a bipartisan group of farm state Congressmen in introducing legislation to exempt farm trucks, custom combines, and farm truck drivers from DOT regulations. In addition, I am working closely with the White House, the DOT, and the USDA in an effort to get the Executive Branch to rescind these unreasonable Federal regulations. DISABLED VETERANS

Our veterans are living monuments to the Nation's dedication to the cause of freedom. Those who are disabled are grim reminders of the human cost of our successes. Since being elected to Congress, I have fought for increased veterans benefits and increased hospital services. For this reason I was most gratified when the Amarillo V. A. Hospital appropriations for fiscal 1972 were increased to $2.7 million, $135 thousand more than last year. Finishing touches will be made to the new intensive care unit and 19 new hospital staff positions will be added.
