Topics and Times Of Slaton Today

AN OPTIMISTIC OUTLOOK. LET'S GO TO MORGAN.

A recent summary of crop conditions, issued by the agricultural department of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway, shows that there is no room for pessimism among the farmers of the great Southwest region.

There will be no bumper harvest in any one crop, if indications are true, but no one wants a bumper harvest. The bugaboo of overproduction has made his appearance too recently for anyone to want to produce too large a crop for the market's consumption.

The fact that this is a presidential year has not been without its effect on business, but there has not been nearly so much panic as there has been in the history of other presidential years.

Morgan community, southeast of Slaton, is the next place on the schedule of the good-will tours sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Consistently large delegations of Slaton people have been making these good-will trips, but interest should not be allowed to wane in the midst of the schedule.

Samuel Taylor Coleridge once wrote that "friendship is a sheltering tree." Certainly there is not such an abundance of "sheltering trees" on the South Plains that one can be overlooked. The people of the Morgan community are looking forward to the visit of the Slaton people, and have promised us a rousing welcome.

Hotel Forrest's Formal Opening Slated July 17

Formal opening of the Hotel Forrest will be held Tuesday, July 17, according to announcement made Thursday morning by S. S. Forrest, owner, and Ben Mansker, manager.

Tentative plans for the program have been outlined, and a completed program will be ready within a day or two, it was announced. It is probable that open house will be held beginning at 4 p. m. on the opening date, with an evening program following in which music, refreshments and addresses will be given. The public is invited to make a thorough inspection of the entire hotel through the afternoon and evening on opening day, Messrs. Forrest and Mansker announced.

Remodeling Complete.

Practically all the work of remodeling and completely modernizing the hotel have been finished, and everything will be ready for the public's inspection before time for the formal opening. The hostelry has been made entirely new inside and outside, and is now one of the best hotels in this section of West Texas, according to several business leaders here who have inspected the work recently done.

Private baths, a new heating system, new floor coverings, new interior decorating, installation of hot and cold water systems in all outside rooms, new lighting arrangements, new Spanish effect stucco finishing on the outside, rearrangement of the lobby and front entrance, the addition of several new rooms and numerous other features are included in the improvements made, involving a cost of probably $15,000 or $20,000.

No Public Dance.

In arranging the formal opening, Mr. Forrest said there will not be a public ball or dance as is usually the custom at hotel openings. In connection with this he issued the following statement:

"I want the new hotel to be dedicated to the service of the people and to the glory of the Supreme Ruler over this universe. My conviction is that a public dance at the hotel's opening would not exert an elevating influence upon the people and would certainly not honor the Creator."

Both Mr. Forrest and Mr. Mansker expressed the hope that everybody will visit the hotel and make a thorough inspection of the building and enjoy the program being planned for the formal opening on July 17.

These three bales of cotton went to Bremen, Germany, from the United States and back again to Washington. In the center is the ordinary jute-covered bale while on each side is a bale covered in cotton bagging. Congressman Marvin Jones (right), author of the bill to have government agencies find new uses for cotton, is greatly pleased with the result of the experiment which proves that poorer grades of cotton may be used to cover the cotton bale on its long trip to the German textile plants. On the left is Congressman H. P. Fulmer of South Carolina, also greatly interested in the experiment.

Amarillo Santa Fe Team Beaten 21 To 3 By Local Players

Slaton's Santa Fe baseball team swamped the Santa Fe team from Amarillo in a game played at Tiger park here the evening of the Fourth of July, the final score being 21 to 3.

The Slaton crew gathered in twenty hits from two Amarillo pitchers to amass their total. Bill Moseley and Paul Foutz led the attack, Moseley getting a home run, a triple and three singles in six times at bat; and Foutz gathering in a home run and three singles in the same number of trips to the plate. Moseley played right field and Foutz second base.

Home runs were hit for the locals by Nick Deavers and M. Pierce in addition to the ones by Moseley and Foutz. Nick Deavers held the visitors to five hits, and was never in danger. Bob Henry did the receiving, and also smashed out three safe hits.

Jackson Chosen As High School Coach Next Year

Gilbert P. Jackson, former athlete of Clarendon college and Texas Christian university, has been signed as athletic coach of the Slaton high school, and has accepted the appointment, according to announcement by C. L. Sone, superintendent of schools.

Mr. Jackson is at present in Austin, settling up business affairs with an athletic goods house for which he had been traveling up to the time of his selection as coach here. He will be in Slaton probably the latter part of next week.

He has had considerable coaching experience at the schools which he has attended, and participated in all sports at both colleges. He was especially good in football and track. At present he holds the high school interscholastic record in the pole vault, according to Superintendent Sone, establishing this record while he was a high school student at Dalhart.

In addition to his coaching duties, Mr. Jackson will teach mathematics classes at the high school.

Acorn Store Space Increase Now Ready

The newly constructed addition to the Acorn store has been completed, and the space is now being occupied by the store's stock, according to word from B. A. Toliver, manager, and L. E. McCranie, advertising manager.

The addition is 40 feet by 50 feet in extent.

Report Records Slaton Progress In Half Of Year

Slaton achievements during the first half of the present year, and the program of work now being carried out are recorded in the semi-annual report of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce, now being prepared for distribution to members.

Improved agricultural methods now being put into practice by farmers in the Slaton territory are recorded in the report. The first co-operative bull association ever formed in Lubbock county was started when four Slaton farmers and dairymen entered the bull circle plan by purchasing four registered bulls. In addition, cash prizes have been offered by the commercial body to the three girls making the best records in county club work under the supervision of the home demonstration agent.

Closer relations with neighbors have been fostered by good-will trips to sixteen communities in the Slaton trade territory. The schedule is now about half finished, and has proved highly successful.

Two major pieces of highway development have been placed before the State Highway commission, asking aid in behalf of roads in this section.

Beauty and Sanitation. Home beautification and sanitation have been forwarded by a garbage disposal campaign and a contest for the creation of beautiful lawns.

Efforts have been made to secure a city delivery of mail and express, and to this end a campaign has been waged to have more connected sidewalks built. It is believed that city delivery will be available by the end of the year, the report says.

The remodeling and modernizing of the Forrest hotel, formerly known as the Singleton hotel, has given Slaton hostelry facilities on a par with all other cities of the same size, according to the report.

Persons interested in securing a hospital for Slaton have been assured the support of the Chamber of Commerce to the greatest extent possible; and efforts are being made to secure a wholesale produce house, a cold storage plant, a grain elevator, and other improvements, the report says.

President John W. Hood of the commercial group expressed himself highly pleased with the results as recorded in the report, and predicted that a new precedent will beset this year.

CARLSBAD, N. M.—The next district convention of the W. T. C. C. is slated to be held in the famous caverns August 7.

CROSS PLAINS.—Cross Plains is busy in preparation for its annual picnic to be held July 12, 13 and 14.

Morgan Prepared To Give Welcome Friday To Group From Here

Preparations have been completed at the Morgan community for the reception of the good-will caravan of Slaton business men and citizens who will leave here Friday night for a visit to the community.

This was the word received by Chamber of Commerce officials from those making arrangements at Morgan. E. N. Milliken, prominent citizen of the community, is taking a leading part in this, and has arranged for the meeting to be held at the school house. It is located about eight miles southeast of Slaton. Two rooms of the building will be available.

This will be the eighth good-will trip of the series sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. The group will leave Slaton at 8 o'clock.

Final Plans For Scout Movement Slated Thursday

Tentative plans for the organization of a third scout troop in Slaton, and arrangements for a scoutmaster to take charge of a group of Slaton scouts who expect to attend the encampment at Post July 30 to August 8 were worked out by a group of men in a meeting held at the Slaton club house last Tuesday night.

Another meeting will be held at the club house Thursday night to make final arrangements. John W. Hood, chairman of the troop committee here, has urged all Slaton men who took the scout training course conducted here by W. P. Knox recently to attend the meeting.

The purpose of the meeting Tuesday and the meeting to be held Thursday is the permanent establishment of the scout movement in Slaton. During the latter part of this week a clean-up drive of the business district will be made by teams working to raise the Slaton quota of the budget necessary to carry on scout work in the South Plains area council.

Workers present at the meeting last Tuesday gave reports which indicated that approximately $600 had been raised during the drive which was undertaken a few weeks ago. This is far short of the expected quota of one thousand dollars, and a special effort will be made to materially increase this amount by workers this week.

Staggs To Tell Of Rotary Trip Friday

Sam E. Staggs, immediate past president of the Rotary club, will be the chief speaker at the Rotary club luncheon to be held Friday noon, July 6, at the club house.

Mr. Staggs will tell of his trip to the convention of Rotary International, held in Minneapolis, Minnesota, June 18 to 22. His term as president of the local club expired July 1.

Former Slaton Man Gets Good Average On His Wheat Crop

J. W. Short, former resident of Slaton, is averaging 40 bushels of wheat to the acre on his farm near Perryton, Texas, according to information brought to this city by Frank Fleck of the Panhandle Lumber company, who returned from that section Wednesday after a business trip for his company.

Mr. Short has 270 acres of land planted in wheat, and is harvesting with a combine. Mr. Fleck brought back some samples of the Perryton farm product, and has them for display at the Panhandle Lumber company offices here.

West Side Idle And Avenuers Go Into League Top

Due to the fact that the scheduled game between the West Side and Oil Mill Wednesday evening was not played, the Texas Avenue team went into the leadership of the city baseball league by virtue of having played and won more games than West Side, the nearest rival.

West Side has played four games, won three and lost one. Texas Avenue has played five, won four and lost one. Had West Side won the game scheduled with the Oil Mill team, it would be tied with Texas Avenue.

G. R. M., hottest rivals of the Avenuers, were defeated by the league leaders for the second time of the last half of the season Tuesday by a score of 5 to 4.

Closely Fought.

As the score indicates, it was a closely fought game, with first one club and then the other in the lead. English, who did mound duty for the Avenuers, pitched superb baseball; as did Moon, who worked for the rail-headers. Moseley's home run in the first inning gave the Avenuers the lead to start the game, but the rail-headers came back in their half, and aided by an Avenue error, tied the count.

Both sides went scoreless in the second; but in the third each side added another tally. The Avenuers were held hitless in the fourth, but M. Pierce cracked out a home run to give the G. R. M. a lead in the last half of the fourth. Moon got out the first two batters in the fifth easily, and it looked as though the game was over.

Hoffman, however, bounced a high one over Foutz' head at second, Moseley over second, Anderson was safe and English bounced a hot one off ley cracked on this second hit of the

First Big Sale By Men's Store Tuesday

The first store-wide sale to be staged by the Men's Store, owned by M. W. Uzzell and Milton Thomas, will begin next Wednesday, according to an announcement made by Mr. Uzzell. It will be known as the "Blue Moon" sale.

Mention of this sale is made in the news columns of today's Slatonite because time would not allow for the printing of the advertisement which will appear in next Tuesday's issue.

In order to properly arrange and mark down the entire stock the store will be closed all day Monday and Tuesday, Mr. Uzzell said.

Following is a review, in part, of the agricultural conditions in the Southwest as reported by the Atchison and Topeka railway company agricultural development department:

Midsummer finds crops in the Santa Fe Southwest in condition ranging from fair to excellent. Few if any records will be broken this year, but the situation as a whole is better than normal, counting the five-year average of yields as normal.

Business throughout the Southwest has held up well. Distribution of commodities is in larger volume than a year ago. Demand for credit at banks for commercial and agricultural requirements continue at a higher level than at this season last year, and there is a broader use of the credit facilities.

Renewed activity in the sale of agricultural lands is reported from many sections of the Southwest. Down payments are slightly heavier than usual, indicating an improvement in the financial ability of investors in farm properties.

Progress in summer building generally is about what it was a year ago. Construction of industrial buildings and additions to existing plans probably is ahead of that of last year at this time.

Wheat.

June was a trying month for wheat because of unfavorable weather conditions. Kansas, the leading wheat state, contended with excessive rains 24 days, and there were violent hail storms and heavy winds; yet the loss so far has been small, comparatively. Wheat is coming into harvest with promise of the second largest crop in history, although the ground is so wet that but little more than a start has been made at harvesting. Mainly binders have been used, so far.

Eighteen thousand combines were in operation in the next ten days if the weather permits. The wheat by hail to date may be 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 bushels, overflow and rust another bushels. Notwithstanding losses, the yield likely will be 165,000,000 bushels, unless damage comes. Excessive hail has lowered the protein content wheat.

Hail brought about losses Oklahoma and Texas wheat a year's estimates of 62,000,000 bushels for Oklahoma, and 100,000,000 bushels for Texas, may be from five to ten per cent of hail and other causes. These states is well under way.

The three states named braska with from 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 bushels, will account for 600 of the 515,000,000 wheat produced in the United States this year.

Wheat is grown in seven states—Illinois, Iowa, Colorado, New Mexico, California, which produce 600,000 bushels, slightly five-year average, but total of about 365,000,000 eleven wheat states. Santa Fe, or nearly 71 per cent of the wheat in the United States is one per cent under the Santa Fe territory as company's report May Cotton.

A large acreage of planted in Texas, making even. Chopping is still conditions in that state. The acreage in West Texas per cent greater than year. Elsewhere the normal.

Oklahoma, which ranks as in cotton production, a spring of climatic as this crop is concerned much replanting to suffering heavily from now is making good there is promise yield for a two-till age.

Louisiana, New and California prospects, the area what it has been. Insect infestation this year than usual.

Find Portraits Of Poe In Baltimore

RICHMOND, Va.—Two little known portraits of Edgar Allan Poe, said to have been the work of a noted English painter, have been discovered in Baltimore, J. H. Witty, of Richmond, Poe authority, has been informed. One shows Poe seated by a desk with a quill pen in his hand, and the other is a bust portrait. In both the poet has a heavy mustache.

There is a sketch, supposed to have been drawn by the artist, and a statement to the effect that the portrait had been restored. These two scraps of paper are alleged to have been found at the back of the seated portrait.

The statement is signed by C. W. Paret, London, 1861, and reads as follows: "This painting of E. A. Poe, an American poet, painted from a life

A New York judge decided that a young man had a perfect right to kiss a girl during a movie performance. This is one verdict of the law which is sure to be upheld by the younger generation.

According to Mr. Whitty, the seated portrait strongly resembles the Davidson daguerreotype which was taken at the old Whitehurst Galleries by John Pratt in 1849, and believed to be the last picture made of the poet.

"There is a strong resemblance of these old daguerreotypes in these photographs from Baltimore," said Mr. Whitty, "and I am particularly impressed with shadows about the face which are present in all such pictures. Poe was adverse to having pictures made of himself."

"The last revision of 'The Raven' was made about this time in 'The Examiner' offices, and it is altogether possible that this print was made just before the final touches were made on his greatest poem."

Muezzin Is Guard Temple 52 Years

BOUSSA, Turkey. — For fifty-two years the 600-year-old jewel of Turkish architecture, the Green Mosque of Broussa, has been jealously guarded by the same muezzin, the aged Burhanneddine Effendi, who calls the treasured mosque his home, his wife and his "share of Allah."

It was this venerable muezzin who crashed the great bronze doors of the entrance in the face of Greek soldiers who attempted to enter at the time the city was captured by the Greek army during the World war.

It was he who showed Bismarck and Fierre Loti through the mosque. To every visitor he quotes the German statesman's comment on the Sultan's lodge, "Fill the cupola of St. Sophia with gold and there would still not be wealth enough to purchase the beauty of this one corner of the Green Mosque." The muezzin quotes, too, Loti's famous, "It was surely a great master of dreams who dreamed this mosque into reality."

White, golden and rose-tinted marble without, the mosque derives its name from the sea-green coloring of the tiles within, which cover the walls half way up to the two great domes. Pale green and blue light filters through high stained glass windows on soft twilight-tinted rugs, on a murmuring fountain of mellow marble and on the enameled tiles in the walls, the prayer niche facing Mecca, and the lodges of the Sultans and their harems.

High among the flowers and arabesques of the tiles is a small inscription reading: "The laborer, Crazy Mehmed, made this mosque." Nothing else is known of Loti's "master of dreams," whom men called crazy 600 years ago.

New Drug Found And Reported To League Nations

GENEVA.—A new drug, producing all the effects of cocaine, with the same habit-forming qualities, has been reported from China, by way of the United States, to the League of Nations Narcotic section, which advises the league of the best means of combating the illicit drug traffic.

Considerable alarm is expressed concerning this product, known as ephedrine, because, being hitherto unknown in the west, it stands on the safe side of most occidental legislation governing drug importation and sale. Moreover, the consumption of ephedrine is said to have multiplied twelve times within as many months.

"It will do for any cocaine addict what cocaine will do for him—do it cheaper—and do it without fear of the law."

Thus were its properties skinned up the other day by Alfredo E. Bianco, one of the league's leading narcotic experts, who has had a quarter century's experience in fighting the drug traffic in China. He continued:

"Give a sniff of the stuff as prepared for the legitimate market to any 'snow fiend,' and he won't be able to tell the difference between it and cocaine. It is just as exhilarating at first, just as habit-forming a little later and just as deadly at last. It can be brought into almost any port unchallenged, then sold legally over any counter without a prescription—and that is exactly what is being done with it in dozens of countries today."

Found in West China.
The memorandum on the subject filed with the league's narcotic section has not been made public, but it is known to underscore heavily most of the above mentioned declarations. The dangerous plant which perfectly duplicates cocaine is nevertheless no member of the coca family. It is found mostly in west China and south Siberia, where it is known as Ma Huang, and it belongs to the widely distributed genus "Ephedra L." That boasts twenty-odd species, with over 100 names, but Ma Huang is the sole one of these wherein ephedrine, the active principle of ephedra, has been discovered. The well known chemist, C. A. Meyer, has given it the technical title of "Ephedra Equisetina."

The sections memorandum begins by quoting a communication to the American Pharmaceutical association from Dr. Henry Rusby, of New York, noted botanist and physician and late pharmacognosist to the United States department of agriculture's bureau of chemistry. Concerning ephedrine's physiological and therapeutic use and action, the following is recorded:

Effect Is Persistent.
"The most definite attempt yet made to classify ephedrine therapeutically is by calling it a 'sympathetic nerve stimulant,' but to accept this designation in full would be quite misleading. Its effects on the unstripped muscular fibers are remarkable. Not only does it act promptly in relieving swellings of the mucous membrane, but the effect is said to be much more persistent than that of cocaine."

After retelling the habit-forming qualities of cocaine, the memorandum decisively indicates that the perils of ephedrine are similar. The document sees in ephedrine's "persistence" a further reason for its popularity among cocaine "snuffers" and notes that the newer drug surpasses the elder in absorbability—surpasses epinephrine, too, which it in many respects resembles. Physicians are warned against ephedrine's use in certain renal and cardiac diseases and distressing hyperthyroid effects often follow its administration.

Finally, the league's experts have made inquiry at the sources of production for statistics to indicate consumption. Figures for the opening months of the present year are not yet to hand, nor are those of the latter half of 1927. But during the first six months of 1927 China exported 477,218 pounds of ephedra as against 8,317 pounds during all of 1926.

The league's drug committee, according to its mandate, is empowered to make recommendations in regard to "opium, cocaine and their derivatives." Ephedrine comes under none of these heads, but its spreading use, or abuse, has so moved the experts here that a movement is afoot to extend the scope of the committee's powers.

France Has Another Grievance Agin Bill

PARIS.—France has a new grievance against the former kaiser and Hindenburg, with no means of getting satisfaction without violating international postal regulations.

It started with the sudden interest of German tourists in the scene of signing of the armistice in the Forest of Compiègne near Rethondes and the advent of the inevitable sellers of post cards and other souvenirs.

As if by order from their political groups, the German visitors during recent weeks have been addressing cards to the former kaiser, Hindenburg and others. On Sundays these missives have numbered as many as 4,000.

But the grievance does not end there—in a large majority of cases the senders fail to pay sufficient postage. The French authorities are not allowed to hold up the correspondence for this reason, however, and the little postoffice at Rethondes complains that it is being overworked.

Ban Turk Officials To Marry Foreigners

ANGORA, Turkey.—The Turkish government prohibits marriage of ambassadors or high government officials to foreign wives. The breaking of this rule entails dismissal, as in the recent case of a prominent officer of the aviation corps here, who returned from a mission abroad with a German mate.

Infringement of the law has been winked at, however, in cases where the foreign wives are wealthy.

Chinese Sheep Are Popular In the U. S.

TACOMA, Wash.—China's sheep is popular in the United States. During the year ended June 1, nearly $30,000,000 worth of caracul lamb skins were imported from that country. The exquisite curly-haired skins were dressed and tanned for the making of coats and for trimming cloth garments.

Caracul sheep are reared on the high plateau country of inland China where climate and food supplies exist unlike that found anywhere else in the world. Successful breeding of caracul sheep in commercial quantities has not been attempted in America but experiments have discovered areas where they would feel at home.

Oakland-Pontiac Safety Device Is Okeyed By Police

PONTIAC, Mich.—Detective-Inspector Lucius H. Parker, veteran chief of the automobile recovery squad of the Detroit police department, approves heartily of the additional protection afforded Oakland and Pontiac owners by the new type of outside door handle which cannot be forced by automobiles thieves.

Inspector Parker was invited to test the new device. He brought with him a set of "tools" taken from a captured automobile thief. The set included a long handled wrench and sections of iron pipe which the thieves use to force open the doors of locked cars.

Attaching the wrench to the locked door handle of a Pontiac six, Inspector Parker exerted his full strength. Under the extreme force of the wrench the door handle slowly turned.

"That ought to do it," said the inspector, but the door remained securely locked. The new handle is so devised that it merely will turn under pressure without releasing the locked door catch. Any Oakland-Pontiac service station can restore the door handle in a few moments to its proper position. The door locks of course are in addition to the semi-coincidental lock which locks both ignition and transmission with a turn of the ignition key.

Bathing and Rising From Bed Dangerous

A veteran of the fiercest fighting in France tripped on a shoestring, fell headlong and broke his neck. A steeplejack who had just performed breath-taking feats on a skyscraper stumbled on a curbstone and was crippled for life. Latest statistics show that the average man's chances of being injured by a fall are almost as great as of being maimed by an automobile.

Of 22,000 accidents outside of industry, 6,647 were caused by automobiles and 4,524 by falls. Next came injuries in sports, 4,452. Seventy-three were hurt getting in or out of bed, and sixty-four suffered from falls in bathtubs.

War Films Used To Stir Martial Spirit

CANTON.—Thinking to arouse a martial spirit and boost the recruiting for the Nationalist campaign against Teking, the Canton government several months ago asked the theaters to show more war pictures.

"The Big Parade" and "What Price Glory" were exhibited to packed houses, but while the Nationalist forces meantime gained the northern capital, recruiting results from the idea proved disappointing. Glimpses of what modern war can be like furnished no prod to patriotism, to a people naturally averse to fighting.

Indigestion
Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes the acids. But don't use crude alkalis. Use what your doctor would advise. The best alkali is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.
One teaspoon spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The result is immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.
Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 50c and 10c a bottle—any drugstore.
"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1878.

Cute in a Baby—Awful at Three—and it's Dangerous—
—and it's Dangerous—
by Ruth Brittain

"Thumb sucking does look sweet in a baby, but it is disgusting in the three-year-old and sometimes it hangs on until fifteen or sixteen! The habit may cause an ill-formed mouth or induce adenoids; and it always interferes with digestion. Plugging the sleeve over the hand; attaching mittens, or putting on cardboard cuffs, which prevent bending the arms at the elbows, are some of the ways to stop the habit.

Another bad habit—irregularity in bowel action—is responsible for weak bowels and constipation in babies. Give the tiny bowels an opportunity to act as regular periods each day. If they don't act at first, a little Fletcher's Castoria will soon regulate them. Every mother should keep a bottle of it handy to use in case of colic, cholera, diarrhea, gas on stomach and bowels, constipation, loss of sleep, or when baby is cross and fussy. Its gentle influence purges baby's system enables him to get full nourishment from his food, helps him gain, strengthens his bowels.

Castoria is purely vegetable and harmless—the recipe is on the wrapper. Physicians have prescribed it for over 50 years. With each package, you get a valuable book on Motherhood. Look for the H. H. P. signature on the wrapper. You'll get the results.

LAW'S ENDANGER LIBERTY

T. R. Preston, president of the American Bankers association, sounds a warning that the entire structure of American democracy is tottering toward disaster because of a desire of legislators to pass laws and create illimitable government bureaus.

"In the 140 years since the American Constitution was written, this government has enacted more laws than all the rest of the civilized world combined since the birth of Christ," he said. "New ones are proposed at the rate of 25,000 a year and about 13 per cent of these get on the statute books. It would take a man working eight hours a day seven years to read all the laws enacted last year. Yet ignorance of the law is no excuse.

"Courts are being so congested with cases that the district attorney in New York estimates that if every defendant should demand a jury trial, the calendars there would be 500 years behind in four years.

"Americans will go to war and give their life's blood for liberty, then turn around and enact laws depriving themselves of all liberty."

ENGINEERING IN GOVERNMENT

(From the Engineering News-Record)

Engineering is honored in the selection of Herbert Hoover as the candidate of one of the great political parties for the office of Chief Magistrate of the United States. Hoover was trained as an engineer and practiced the profession throughout his career. He is much more than an engineer, it is true, and beyond doubt his brilliant achievements as organizer, leader and administrator played a decisive part in singling him out as the standard bearer of his party. Yet in all his work the contribution of his engineering training and career is plain. Dispassionate study of facts, analysis of conditions and careful planning of results mark all that he has done. The very engineering methods and habits of mind that won him his fame have also given him the nomination.

When his nomination is significant of a new world. It reflects the long process of development that have shaped our time an era of great structural changes of widely diffused power, of the migration of men from manual labor and their endowment with many talents; an era of annihilation of old and instant spread of knowledge; marvelous knitting together of populations into an interdependent family. Government faces new problems in these times, problems that make obvious claim upon an engineering mind. The technical factor in modern life—not merely a technique, but also of the very nature of the conflicts and relationships which the new engineering arts present. Thus it is the necessary evolution that brings the engineer to the fore.

On the day of George Washington 140 years ago, not one of our presidents has possessed the engineering background. Even Washington's leadership was due to qualities other than those displayed in surveying and canal building. The long line of legislative jurists who succeeded him led to the dominance of engineering activities and schools during that century and it is now that engineering activity of major concern a new mind is in order, and it is that the engineer should be able to direct. Higher circles of government have found recognition. We have many mayors, engineers, as well as a number of states. Both city governments have grown increasingly mechanized living, and we find their operations to be in the technical officials and operations as are highways, public works, stations, building control, for example. Where physical and administrative government were once engineering functions, they are reversed, the engineers are the consultants and taxators and so also in the government of the nation has the work of the technical bureaus and branches come to overshadow most other activities. The chief problems not only of legislation, but also of the executive and judiciary, rest on engineering foundations.

What the engineer contributes to the world's thinking is not so much his knowledge as his objective mental attitude and habit of analytical planning. These attributes have heretofore been utilized mainly in the shaping of details, and have been less influential in the formulation of broad policies. But they are no less vital here. Industry long ago realized this truth and applied it by placing engineers at the head of railways, utilities and manufacturing enterprises. Political government, managed by less responsive methods, has been slower to learn, but the nomination of Herbert Hoover indicates that it is making progress at last. It is an encouraging prospect; for the world will be better when the controlling decisions in government are based on facts, analysis and prevision, rather than on emotion and prejudice.

SMITH AND ROBINSON

It was said of the Republican convention that it was over before it was begun. In the sense meant, that is even more true of the Democratic convention. The nomination of Mr. Hoover was less inevitable than that of Governor Smith had been made by the actions of the states in their primary conventions and elections. It was not a commission to choose a nominee that the convention had. It was a mandate to declare a nomination. One may question whether the method generally employed to select delegates gives public sentiment an adequate means of expression. But unless one resorts to that demur one must concede that the nomination of Governor Smith comes to him from the masses of the Democratic party, and that it was fairly won.

The inevitableness of his nomination is perhaps the most remarkable circumstance of it. No one ever set out to win that high honor more heavily handicapped by prejudices. Other men have found the mere fact of residence in New York an insurmountable barrier to the goal that Governor Smith has reached. That was the last of many more formidable ones that he has overcome.

Whether the considerations which made Governor Smith's nomination inevitable long before the convention assembled will continue to work in his behalf sufficiently to elect him, only the event can tell. Prophecy, at all events just now, would be more than ordinarily fatuous. The old equations and formulas will not serve the prophets on this occasion. His nomination will disrupt party cleavages North and South, East and West. But it is mostly in the southern states that these are apt to work to the disadvantage of the party. And in these it can lose many thousands of individual votes without losing electoral votes. In the North and East these disruptions will probably work to the party's advantage. The South's objection to Governor Smith, or its chief objection, at all events, is not prevalent in the North and East. It is not so much that those sections are less devoted to prohibition than the South, albeit it is evident that in some of the eastern states the desire for some dilution of the prohibition law is strong. It is rather that in those sections prohibitionists feel that prohibition is too impregnably established to be imperiled by the power of a president sworn to support and enforce the laws he finds on the statute books. The president can neither repeal nor amend without initially the acquiescence of Congress. It is not unlikely that long before election day this rational view will prevail over the fear of many who have found in it their chief reason for opposing the nomination of Governor Smith.

The Jeffersonian test of fitness for office is made up of two questions. Is he honest? Is he capable? As respects the Democratic nominee there can be but one answer. Governor Smith has spent a life in public service, and the most ruthless searching of his political foes has found no material for an accusation that impeaches his honesty. It is not only moral honesty that his career has exemplified. He has shown that intellectual honesty which scorns the equivocations and deceptions that have become almost the licensed arts of the politician. His record no less signally satisfies the other of those crucial questions. He has demonstrated a facility in the direction and management of public business that has extorted from eminent Republicans the acclaim of political genius. That he has the gift of leadership, an aptitude for inspiring men with faith and enthusiasm, his remarkable career proves abundantly.

In placing Governor Smith in nomination, Mr. Roosevelt said that he had acquired the habit of victory. The Democracy is in need of victory. Undoubtedly it was the feeling of that need that moved many men to support Governor Smith's candidacy who found themselves in but little sympathy with his views and traditions. The Democratic party can not be a prohibition party nor an anti-prohibition party and survive as a qualified agent of the national will. It must have a lively and humanistic concern in all matters which affect the social and material welfare of the nation. Governor Smith is eminently fit to inspire the Democracy with that concern. Democracy would not easily find a more persuasive exhibit to prove its virtue as a regimen of government than is offered to it in the romantic career of its nominee for the presidency.

The selection of Senator Robinson of Arkansas as the nominee for Vice-President is an admirable one. It is doubtful if, among all those who came under consideration, there was any who would have suited the party's need quite so well as does the Arkansas statesman. Of course strategic considerations governed in making the choice. Senator Robinson is a Protestant, a southerner and a veteran and an ardent prohibitionist, and each of those facts recommended him. But if only the attribute of statesmanship had been made the test he would have been recommended no less convincingly. If he should be elected vice-president, the country will have as the incumbent of that high office one who is abundantly qualified to occupy its one higher office.—Semi-Weekly Farm News.

SAVED FROM SUICIDE
NEW YORK.—Philip Leary decided to commit suicide, and jumped off a pier in the East river.

A policeman saw him, concluded he was drowning and threw him a rope. He did not touch it.

The rope sank beside him, the policeman hauled it out and made another cast. Again he spurned it. The policeman then understood the man was committing suicide, and drew his pistol.

"If you don't come out of the water at once I'll shoot you," threatened the officer of the law.

Leary, who had jumped in to end it all, clambered out of the water lest he be killed!

TURN IN YOUR TOES
OKLAHOMA CITY.—Dr. W. Lee Austin, attending the Southern convention of chiropodists, says persons who walk pigeon-toed may live to be centenarians. This is the way he explains it:
"One step in six is saved in walking slightly pigeon-toed because one rises higher on his feet and consequently takes longer strides. Pointing the toes outward causes the body to be thrown out of alignment, thus infecting the hip bone and the spine. "Spinal trouble means worry and disruption of the nervous system, and upset nerves lead to indigestion."

Island of Malta Not Affected By Modern Progress

MALTA. — On the Mediterranean island of Malta—that land where still can be heard the Aramaic language which Jesus used—the march of time has scarcely altered the essential characteristics of the old stock of Maltese people. The present inhabitants of Valletta and the "Three Cities" are slightly modified in appearance, in speech and even in habit by over a century's familiarity with British and Italian residents and visitors. But leaving these, let us get right back to the soil, into cities like Zeitun (pronounced Zaytoon), into Dingli, or into the sister island of Gozro. If ever a living photograph of the apostolic type was revealed before the gaze of our modern, bustling civilization, surely here we have discovered that photograph.

Here in two small islands miles away from land seems to have been hidden away from the changing influences of intervening centuries, not a canvas, not a stone image, but a real human model or photograph (or call it what you will), of that type of people who receive Jesus into their midst.

Would you see a little carpenter's shop with the children helping the father with hatchet and saw? Here is the woman at the well with an earthenware pitcher.

There is one difference only and that is this: The people of Malta conform to modern custom in the way of clothing, more or less. Thus the average visitor rushing around the "sights," as he calls them, looks not on the people because they are not what he calls "picturesque." The automobile whisks the tourist to a pile of stones here, a Neolithic temple there, here a famous tapestry to be seen, there a grand master's tomb, now a church, then a famous dome, yonder a lovely vista and now an old fort or what-not, and all the while the tourist may miss what is perhaps the most unique and really worthwhile exhibit anywhere to be seen, the people themselves, who seem living reproductions of those pictures we have all been seeking to visualize for centuries past, in fact, ever since the Gospels have been translated into western tongues.

The direct descendant of your searowing sons of Tyre and Sidon has few wants. He is a happy and contented person with his large family around him, winning his way by a fine system of intensive cultivation of a quarter of an acre of soil perched up here and there between great limestone boulders. Father, mother and children rise with the sun, proceed to church to get the day's blessing, and are at work by five in the morning. The day's toil over, to church again to give thanks. He takes his labor and his devotions gladly. At his work he sings the day through. It is the same old tune, or so it seems to the casual listener from abroad. The

Recipe To Preserve Children Is Given

SEATTLE.—As pickling and canning season arrives, Judge Austin E. Griffiths, of the juvenile court, offers a recipe for preserving children:

"Take one large, grassy field, one-half dozen children, two or three small dogs, a pinch of brook and pebbles. Mix the children and the dogs well together, put them into the field, stirring constantly. Pour the brook over the pebbles. Sprinkle the field with flowers. Spread over all a deep blue sky and bake in the hot sun. When brown set away to cool in a bath tub."

Equestrian Statue Of Washington Will Be Unveiled in Fall

An equestrian statue of George Washington has just been completed by Frederick G. R. Roth, sculptor, of Englewood, N. J., and will be unveiled and dedicated at Morristown, N. J., in the autumn.

It is now being cast in bronze in Florence, Italy. The statue will be placed on a site almost opposite the historic Washington headquarters at Morristown, and it presents the commander of the American forces in a meditative mood; to illustrate the phase of the campaign near Morristown.

The statue is eleven feet six inches in height, and will be mounted upon a pedestal of Deer Island granite. It was cast in three pieces, the head of the horse and the bust of the rider being separate. The remainder of the statue is cast in one piece, which is considered exceptional.

The sculptor is well known in art circles for his polar bear group, which took a prize several years ago at the National Arts club, and for his notable animal studies.

His statue of Washington is an original conception and a departure from the conventional portrayals.

Want To Buy a Good Marble Statue Cheap?

POTSDAM.—What shall we do with "Frederick William?" is the question of the hour.

Frederick William III was the former kaiser's great-grandfather, and his statue stands on the Wilhelmplatz here.

Socialists hotly argued that Frederick William did not deserve a statue, as he had twice broken his royal word.

"Sell him to the highest bidder!" shouted one.

"Send him to Doorn!" screamed another.

Finally a vote was passed for the improvement scheme, but minus the cost of shifting Frederick William, so any one wishing to buy a statue probably can have it cheap.

The demolition is to begin when the present lease runs out—in 1930—and with the theater will disappear a link with the past and a long tradition. Sarah Bernhardt, Coquelin, Madeleine George, Frederic Lemaire and more recently Mistinguette were some of the artists associated with its stage.

Wheat Harvest Will Begin In Northwest

WALLA WALLA, Wash.—Soon the rattle, swish and roar of the great combined harvesters and threshers will be heard in Northwest wheat and barley fields. There is a large crop of grain maturing and the quality of the wheat is above average. There are more than 100 wheat farms near here with over 10,000 acres each. The state's largest wheat field covers 23,000 acres.

Formerly the great combines were hauled by horse or mule power but now most of them are motorized. In addition to added speed there is a saving of labor amounting to twenty-five cents per bushel on the wheat and fifteen cents on barley.

Boy, 13, Must Pay Life In Prison For Death of Playmate

FINEVILLE, Ky.—Heath Greer, a robust, 13-year-old boy who lives in the mountain region of Laurel Run, near here, must spend the rest of his life in prison in order that the majesty of the law of the state of Kentucky may be upheld.

Heath shot and killed a playmate, Luther Partin, during a quarrel. He was brought before Circuit Judge D. C. Jones, charged with first degree murder. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

"I don't remember what Luther and I quarreled about," the boy says. "I remember he hit me with a stick. I pulled out my gun and shot him."

He had found the gun in his father's house, he said, and wanted to carry it "because all the other boys had 'em—come of 'em littler than I am."

"I didn't know I shouldn't carry a pistol," he says. "All the boys here have 'em, and them as don't have pistols have bottles. I'm sorry I did it and I'll try to be a good boy at this reform place so maybe they'll give me a chance some day."

Heath must go to the state reformatory at Lexington to stay until he is 21; then he is to be transferred to the state penitentiary at Frankfort, to spend the rest of his life there.

Prominent citizens in Kentucky, shocked by the crime and the severe penalty, are talking of appealing to Governor Flem D. Sampson for clemency. The Pineville Sun, in an editorial, declares that lax sentences dealt out by the courts for carrying concealed weapons are to blame, asserting that the mountain boys see their parents carrying guns and do not know that it is against the law.

Attorney General J. W. Cammuck holds that Heath should have been tried as a juvenile and given a punishment gauged to his years. Pardon Commissioner J. C. Bird predicts Governor Sampson will listen sympathetically to any appeal for clemency, while Robert Logan, former Louisville probation officer, indignantly calls the life sentence given the boy "merciless and archaic."

Meanwhile leading Pineville citizens, determined that boys living in the isolated Laurel Run district shall have a chance to imbibe American ideals, are trying to raise $2,000 to establish a Boy Scout camp there, at which the boys may be taught wholesome sports and weaned away from gun-toting and quarreling.

Harden Evans, chairman of the committee, reports that the appeal for clemency has met with little response thus far.

PICTORIAL LIFE OF HERBERT HOOVER

No. 5

By Satterfield

1. After the death of Herbert Hoover's mother in 1884, he went to live with his Aunt Millie in Cedar Rapids, Ia.

2. He was now ten years of age—old enough to assume an important share in all manner of farm work.

3. In winter Herbert and his cousin rode on horseback to school two miles away.

4. The future engineer constructed a moving machine out of an old cross-cut saw, using a helter for power.

A Long Island lady was divorced and remarried the same day. Some people are born optimists.

Now that talking movies have been perfected, what is to become of all the people who went to the movies just for the pleasure of reading the titles aloud?

LOST Time from Work

Mr. Albert Garland, of Somerset, Ky., recently said: "I used to work in the mines, but lost quite a bit of time on account of sick spells I had. I would get to having a bad taste in my mouth, and a very dull, tired feeling and ache."

"My mother told me to try Black-Draught, which I did, and after a few doses I felt much better. Now I take it as soon as I feel the least bad, and I don't get down. I certainly can say that it has done more for me than any other medicine I have ever taken."

"I never get without Black-Draught. If I go on a visit, I take a package along in my suitcase. My health is better now than it has been in years."

Black-Draught is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, of highest quality. Price 25c. Try it.

TEN FATALITIES

DALLAS.—Ten persons killed and four seriously injured is the toll of automobile and airplane accidents and drownings in Texas last night and today.

CAL CATCHES TWO

SUPERIOR, Wis.—President Coolidge celebrated the Fourth of July and his fifty-sixth birthday today by performing an unusual feat of angling. He caught two trout in one cast.

BOLTERS THREATENED

DALLAS.—Texas Democrats who have threatened to bolt the party in November rather than support Governor Alfred E. Smith for the presidency, today were confronted with a movement to read them out of the state organization unless they remain "regular."

OVER NIAGARA

NIAGARA FALLS.—For the third time in history man conquered the mighty Niagara today when Jean A. Lussier of Springfield, Mass., went over the Horseshoe falls on the Canadian side in a specially constructed rubber ball while 150,000 persons lining the river banks on either side cheered and applauded him.

ANOTHER FLIGHT

ROME.—Two Italian airmen were Wednesday night believed to be somewhere over the South Atlantic, more than two-thirds of their flight behind them, in an effort to fly from Rome to Pernambuco, Brazil, on the mainland of South America.

Capt. Arturo Ferrarin and Major Carlo P. Del Prete were sighted at 5 p. m. Greenwich time above the Cape Verde islands, radio dispatches from that place to Buenos Aires, Argentina, said.

BANKER DROWNED

LONDON, July 4.—Captain Alfred Loewenstein, Belgian financier whose fame was world-wide, was drowned today in one of the strangest fatalities in the history of aviation.

The plane in which he was a passenger was crossing from Croydon, near London, to Brussels when the financier disappeared. His valet and two stenographers as well as the pilot and mechanic of the plane were present but did not notice the incident and it was not until arrival at Brussels that it was learned that Captain Loewenstein was gone. The British air ministry announced he had been drowned.

It was assumed that Captain Loewenstein had opened the wrong door from his compartment and fallen into the sea.

AVIATOR SAFE

MOSCOW.—The Soviet aviator Babushkin, who left his base ship, the breaker Malgin, Friday in a search for stranded members of the Italia's crew, returned to the Malgin Wednesday after a harrowing five days' experience with wind and icebergs.

Shortly after leaving the Malgin last week Babushkin encountered bad winds with which he struggled some time but which finally forced descent in the sea 80 miles north of the island, to the southeast of the Isbergan archipelago.

Here his fragile seaplane was in constant danger of being crushed by icebergs before it finally got off water again and found the Malgin. Both Babushkin and the crew of the plane escaped injury.

SMITH DEFENDS TAMMANY

NEW YORK.—Replying to "a great deal of very caustic criticism" of many he said he had heard, Gov. Ed. Smith lauded the patriotic orations of the Society of Tammany on Independence Day address at many hall Wednesday and attacked the society's long existence as a great human appeal to every man who is true to America.

Democratic candidate for the city was the principal speaker at the annual Tammany celebration which was later, in the evening, at a meeting of new voters at the city.

"Is anything live in this country that is not all right?" he asked in detailing the virtues of Tammany.

Handling of Horses
Dallas Fair Exhibit

It is said that in no state in the union is the horse staging a stronger comeback than in Texas. Hence it is proper that the Horse Association of America, which has begun a national campaign to educate the farmers of America in the proper care and most profitable methods of handling horses, should have been invited to offer its first educational demonstration in the Southwest at the State Fair of Texas, Dallas, October 6 to 21.

One of the most interesting features will be daily demonstrations of the proper methods of hitching, for farm work. This, it is said, is already proving to be an important factor of benefit to the horse industry.

Increase Shown
In Boll Weevil's
Infestation Now

COLLEGE STATION.—Considerable increase in boll weevil infestation in South and Central Texas is reported by entomologists of the Texas Agricultural Experiment station. In Hidalgo county one examination showed three times as many weevils infested squares in a field as on June 8. The complete report follows:

Brazos county, June 26—Boll weevils were found in all the cotton fields examined during the last week. The number of squares infested ranged from 5 to 12 per cent in three different fields distant from woodlands, and from 25 to 33 per cent in two fields near woods. Seven weevils were observed on 200 cotton plants in a field adjacent to woods.

The cotton flea hopper situation remains practically unchanged. The insects are still numerous and breeding on horseweed and goatweed, but are scarce in local cotton fields.

Hidalgo county, June 23—S. W. Clark, entomologist of experiment station, reports that 12 per cent of 630 squares examined were infested with boll weevils. Practically 28 per cent of the fallen squares contained weevil grubs as compared with 9 per cent on June 8.

Jefferson county, June 20—J. N. Roney, entomologist of experiment station, reports that 49 young cotton flea hoppers, 15 adults and 108 blasted squares were noted on 300 cotton plants examined in a field twelve miles south of Beaumont.

Five miles north of Beaumont the boll weevil infestation was 14 per cent; 700 squares examined. This is an increase of 6 per cent in infestation during the last week.

Liberty county, June 20—J. N. Roney found 12 per cent infestation out of 500 squares examined in a field four miles north of Liberty. On June 12 the infestation in this field was 8 per cent. Fourteen miles north of Liberty 18 per cent of 400 squares examined were infested.

Nacogdoches county, June 23—H. F. Morris, superintendent of substitution, reports weevils injuring cotton on the station farm.

Newton county, June 21—J. N. Roney reports that no boll weevils were found.

In a cotton field three miles north-east of Newton a rather severe cotton flea hopper injury was noted; 600 blasted squares, 148 young cotton flea hoppers and 29 adults were found on 128 plants examined.

day, Jochetz followed with a safe biff, and before the scoring ended three runs had been driven across the plate.

Foutz, first up in the G. R. M. half of the last inning, lined a hot drive to center field which skipped past Jochetz, and Foutz circled the bases. Henry flew out, and Splawn struck out, but Ferrell hit safely. He was caught stealing second, however, and the game ended with the Avenuers leading, 5 to 4.

English struck out seven batters and Moon did likewise to five.

The standing of the teams through Wednesday is:

TEAM	P.	W.	L.	Pct.
Texas Avenue	5	4	1	.800
West Side	4	3	1	.750
G. R. M.	5	2	3	.400
Oil Mill	4	0	4	.000

Thursday West Side will dispute the Avenue leadership; Friday G. R. M. and the Oil Mill meet; Monday the Avenuers meet G. R. M. again; and Tuesday West Side plays the Oil Mill.
