Slaton Girls Take County Championship

Defeating the Shallowater team by a score of 23 to 15, the Slaton High School girls' basketball team chalked up another victory in the high school gymnasium here Monday afternoon.

The Shallowater team are recent winners of class B teams of the district, while Slaton team is in class A.

Lorena Saage, forward for the Tigrasses, was the outstanding player of the game, making 20 of the 23 points for her team. Much credit was due to the other players, however, for the clever manner in which they passed the ball to her, according to spectators. The Slaton girls missed only three trials at the basket during the entire game. They were two field goal attempts, and a free try.

Shallowater showed good team work and got the ball on the tip-off most of the time, but were unable to get the ball into the basket.

Following the game it was stated a trophy will soon be awarded to the Slaton girls team.

Stock Sales in Slaton Creamery Bring City and Territory Nearer To Realization of Coveted Goal

Good progress in the sale of stock in Slaton's proposed creamery was made during the past week, according to committee chairman in charge of the campaign, which is under direction of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce.

A total of $25,000 in stock will be sold, of which amount Slaton business men are subscribing $10,000, paying cash for the stock, while $15,000 of the amount is now being sold to the farmers of this section on an attractive plan of deferred payments. This plan places the stock in reach of every farmer, and it is believed every man in the entire territory will be willing to invest in this desirable enterprise.

Committee went out from Slaton on Monday of this week to sell the stock to farmers in this section, and judging by the enthusiastic response which these committees received, only a short time will be needed to complete the campaign.

Among the men who were busy Monday and Tuesday in the stock sales campaign, were: G. J. Catching, F. C. Rector, J. W. Hood, Jess Swint, N. C. Dickson, H. H. Edmondson, W. L. Meurer, W. P. Florence, T. E. Roderick, Abe Kessel and W. E. Smart.

These committees went into the Posey, McClung and Morgan communities, and these and other committees will go into other communities during the remainder of the week.

Enthusiasm is high among Slaton business men with reference to the proposed creamery, which now seems practically an assured thing for this city and territory, provided the committees can find time to finish the campaign without delay.

The Red River Creameries, Inc., of Waurika and Frederick, Okla., will build a creamery in Slaton as soon as the stock sales campaign has been finished, according to Gilbert S. Fraser, president of the company, who was in Slaton on Friday and Saturday of the past week. He was accompanied here by E. E. Housman, of Waurika, a director of the company. Mr. Fraser said he had no doubt but that the

The manager for the local Barrier Bros. store will, in all likelihood, be a Slaton man, they said Monday, while in conversation with a Slatonite representative.

The building which will house the new store for Slaton has been completely overhauled. Suitable display windows have been arranged, and other necessary changes and improvements made, giving the firm all advantages possible for the operation of an up-to-date and modern ready-to-wear department store.

Musical Program Given at Rotary Luncheon Friday

With Will P. Florence in charge of the program, the Slaton Rotary Club enjoyed more than an hour of music at the luncheon held last Friday noon at the Slaton Club House.

Miss Jeannette Ramsey gave a piano solo, Miss Ruby Dan Smith appeared in a reading, Mrs. Lillian Butler gave a vocal solo, accompanied by Miss Jeannette Ramsey at the piano, and Miss Frances Guffin entertained with a violin solo. Her piano accompaniment was also played by Miss Ramsey.

Another feature was a fiddler's solo by Will P. Florence, accompanied by Miss Ramsey at the piano. A male quartet, composed of Will P. Florence, C. Lem Sone, Floyd C. Rector and Tom J. Abel, rendered two American folk songs and two negro spirituals. These proved to be excellent hits with the entire group of people present.

Besides several Rotary-Anns, there were several visitors present at the meeting, including Dr. P. W. Horn, Tech College president, of Lubbock, and a number of members of the Lubbock Rotary Club. Among these were Tom A. White, W. C. Cole, Cecil Horne, and others. Several students of Tech were also present.

The meeting was prolonged beyond the usual time, to allow for the more lengthy program than is usually given. After the musical program ended, Dr. Horn made a short talk, and introduced Mr. Knott, Tech student, who spoke briefly about the friendly relation that should be cultivated between Slaton and the Tech College.

The visitors from Tech were invited for the purpose of starting a basis for closer understanding between Slaton citizens and the Tech College, according to John W. Hood, club president here.

For a program next Friday, business methods will be discussed. Oscar Korn will speak on "The Moving Picture Industry". T. E. Roderick will discuss "The Publishing Business". And Jim A. Elliott will talk on "Technical Terms Used in the Electrical Business, What They Mean and How They Originated".

Many Enjoy Aviation Program Santa Fe Gave Friday P. M.

At the Santa Fe Reading Room entertainment, which was rendered at the high school auditorium here last Friday night, many local Santa Fe employees and their families enjoyed the program.

It was an occasion when Major Ford A. Carpenter, of Los Angeles, Calif., gave an intensely interesting talk on aviation, which was beautifully illustrated with lantern slides in full colors from pictures made by the lecturer while flying over the mountains, valleys, lakes and oceans during the past fifteen years.

Major Carpenter is known to hundreds of thousands of people all over the United States. He has just returned from active military duty in the United States air corps, flying this winter over the Atlantic coast, the Great Lakes, and the Allegheny mountains, photographing some most unusual scenery.

Slaton people considered themselves fortunate in having the Santa Fe secure for their entertainment Major Carpenter's lecture.

Superintendent G. R. Miller of Santa Fe Reading Room, is doing his utmost to give the company's employees and their families the best of entertainment to be had, said Uncle George Marriott, manager of the local Santa Fe Reading Room.

GAS INDUSTRY HAS RECORD YEAR.

Last year saw the attainment of a new high record in the manufactured gas industry. Four-hundred-ninety billion cubic feet were sold in the United States, an appreciable increase over 1927 when the former high mark was established.

During 1928 the number of gas customers increased 3.1 per cent and miles of main 2.3 per cent. The majority of the gas was used for household purposes, with industry absorbing 147 billion cubic feet.

In New York, the leading state in gas usage, it is estimated that 10 million of the 11 million inhabitants live in homes where gas is employed and that two-thirds of all food is now cooked with this agency.

The continental expansion of the gas industry is one sign of the progress being made in American domestic and industrial life.

CHURCHES AND GOVERNMENT ADOPT BUSINESS PRACTICES.

After citing a number of recent church mergers, the Los Angeles Times says in part:

"Evidently church unity is not so much a flimsy dream as many have imagined.

When armies of different countries can fight together as allies as they did in France, there would seem to be considerable grounds for hoping that churches may be able to get together and work together.

"Understanding each other reveals fewer difficulties than heretofore supposed.

"With governments as signatory powers in a peace pact to arbitrate their differences, the churches are shamed into closer affiliation."

The Times might have added that the mergers in our industrial and business life with resulting benefits to the firms involved and to the consuming public, have shown so strikingly the advantages of voluntary co-operation that not only churches but governments are being forced to adopt the more practical methods developed by modern business.

"THE TRAIL OF '98" TAKES HIGH RANK AS GREAT FILM SPECTACLE

Of the dozens of lavish scenes filmed during the making of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Trail of '98" the big "See and Hear" sound production coming to the Palace Theatre Friday and Saturday, with sound synchronization and a surrounding sound program, one stands out as probably the most novel and spectacular incident ever transplanted to celluloid.

Hundreds of flaming torches, casting their almost ghastly light upon the snow, which reflects it back and silhouettes hundreds of maddened men and hurrying dogs, rushing over mountain trails, dipping into the gulches, fading into the night only to reappear again at some more distant point, has furnished one of the strangest effects ever flashed upon the American screen.

The sequence depicts a mad stampede in the dead of night to the locale of a new and rich gold strike along the banks of one of the many creeks tributary to the Yukon.

This scene is one of the almost numberless thrills of the great northern film epic which Clarence Brown directed for M-G-M. It follows a gambling hall scene where a drunken Swede is prevailed upon to disclose the location of his very rich strike.

Practically all of the five hundred miners gathered in the hall, a number of the dancing girls, gamblers and bartenders, join the stampede to file claims near the Swede's. In the dead of night they rush from the brilliantly lighted hall into the darkness.

Hundreds of flaming torches light their way in the mad race for the new gold fields.

This is but one of the great spectacular touches which Brown has injected into the film version of Robert W. Service's famous novel of the Klondike gold rush.

More than fifty well-known players are in the cast of "The Trail of '98," the leading roles being taken by Ralph Forbes, Dolores Del Rio and Harry Carey. Others who have prominent parts are Karl Dane, George Cooper, Tenen Holtz, Johnny Downs, William Orlamond, Edward Coxen and Emily Fitzroy. More than fifteen hundred extras appear in the mob scenes.

EXPERT ADDRESSES SHORT COURSE ATTENDANTS ON DAIRY HERD IMPROVEMENT

LUBBOCK.—F. G. Louthan, of Plainview, one of the pioneers and leaders in the dairy industry in West Texas, addressed the Farm Short Course recently held at Texas Technological College on the development of dairying and dairy herd improvement. Mr. Louthan is a graduate of the Iowa State College of Agriculture and 30 years ago he had charge of dairying in that institution. He has been the backbone of the dairy industry in Hale County. He makes some practical suggestions on the subject, as follows:

"Dairying doesn't begin with dairying at all. It begins with something else. We must learn to work together. It does not pay when one man tries to do it alone. I have worked for years with the Hale County Dairy Association. We found that before we could co-operate together we had to get our minds set on the things we wished to accomplish. In order to co-operate we must work together; we drink it, eat it, sleep it; we get co-operative minds, then we can begin work and work together. With that start we will turn to another thing. When we get our minds set on it and get to doing it, we change from the place we were several years ago.

"In discussing the dairy proposition we, who have dairy cows or think we have, should remember that there are a good many other industries in West Texas besides dairying. When we say that dairying is the best thing we run against the wheat man or the man who raises hogs. They are all good industries and produce much wealth. Oil wells produce wealth. But the greatest crop that we have is our boys and girls. Our greatest duty is to educate these young people—send them to high school and then to college.

"It is up to us to carry on the development that has been started in dairying. We must bring West Texas up to a point where it is equal to other dairy sections of the country, giving us a chance to compare what we are doing here and what we have done with what those people who have been working in the dairy business for years have done. Don't forget that the ultimate end of this proposition, the foundation of this thing, is cooperative marketing. After we have cooperative marketing we can get to a place where we can begin work. I don't know just how to fix it. I am extremely interested in the dairy farmers work out. The County Association it was organized, and has been satisfactory. It has made some money, but the most important thing that it has done is train a lot of minds to think along dairy lines. It is a hard thing for a man to get out and do something without being organized.

"The tendency of Chambers of Commerce as we see it is to advertise, get it going, then push it off on the farmers. Nearly every time anything has been started in that way it has been a failure for that reason. The Fort Worth Star-Telegram starts advertising some town, perhaps about butter making, perhaps condensing, with the idea of making money out of it to push that thing on to a group of farmers. The farmers want something else. They have got to get those men so that they can work together; otherwise they are liable to get something bad. In our dairy associations some time ago a man was going to put up a creamery. There was a question as to whether he was strong enough and dairy-minded enough to do it. The farmers are doing it.

"A year ago I was addressing a meeting of this kind, except it was a dairy meeting. I asked all of those present who depended upon the dairy check for their grocery bill to raise their hands. One hundred percent of them did so. Then I asked how many depended largely upon the dairy check for clothing and for the family and 90% of them raised their hands. Seventy-five per cent of them raised their hands when I asked how many depended upon the dairy check to buy gasoline to run their cars, 50% of them used their dairy income to pay the blacksmith bill. This is the case with most dairy men in West Texas. Couldn't we become just a little stronger.

"The dairy industry has an excellent start in Minnesota. The average price per pound for butter fat is $1.21c per pound. We get only 38.5c. This is too much variation. I want you to think over it. There should be a dairy association organized in every county. Floyd County will doubtless have one organized within the next week. In the Floyd County Dairy Association we take in members for $10 per herd instead of $10 per cow as in Hale County."

Judging Contest To be Held at Tech

LUBBOCK, Texas.—Plans are being made for the fourth annual judging contest for vocational agricultural student in Texas high schools to be held some time this Spring at the Texas Technological College.

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the School of Agriculture has placed Ray C. Mowery in charge of all arrangements for the contest again this year. The date of the contest has not been set, pending the announcement of events with which the contest will not conflict.

A greater interest has been manifested in the event this year than ever before. Additional schools have indicated their desire to compete and additional work will likely be added.

In the past contests, live stock, poultry, and grain judging have been covered in the contest and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce has awarded loving cups to the winning teams. Last year teams from Floydada, Roby, Silverton, and Tulia were winners. This year farm management, farm shop and other vocational agricultural work will likely be added to the contest.

Palace Theatre at Lubbock is Featuring "Talkie Movies"

With the inauguration of Talking Picture programs at the Palace theatre, Lubbock, people of the South Plains now have the opportunity of seeing the ultimate in entertainment. The current attraction at the Palace, "Abie's Irish Rose," made from the stage play by Anne Nichols, that ran for more than five years on Broadway, is said to be as good on the screen, if not better than it was on the stage.

Charles (Buddy) Rogers and Nancy Carroll head the large cast. Jean Hersholt and J. Farrell McDonald have the roles of the Irish and Jewish fathers. Miss Carroll is heard singing, "Rosemary," the theme song of the picture, she also sings "Little Irish Rose". Buddy Rogers plays the accompaniment at the piano.

Jean Hersholt has several talking sequences in the film. The perfectly synchronized musical score by a large N. Y. theatre orchestra, plus the effects, tend to make this picture one of the year's most delightful screen plays.

Two Vitaphone Screen Vaudeville acts are billed as extras.

Starting Thursday for a three days run the Palace announces that due to an improvement of the reproduction units they will offer their first Warner Bros. Vitaphone Talking Picture, "State Street Sadie" with Conrad Nagel, Myrna Loy, William Russell, and Pat Hartigan.

Laid in the Romantic underworld of Chicago, the story is said to be packed with thrills, romance and suspense. A selected program of Vitaphone Acts complete the bill.

NEW MODEL IN THE OAKLAND LINE

A new model supplementing the other seven passenger types in the latest line of Oakland All-American Sixes is announced today by the Oakland Motor Car Co. Known as the Special Four-door Sedan, the new car is built to take the place of the Landau Sedan in the previous All-American series.

While following in exterior design the regular 4-Door Sedan, the new model carries luxurious interior equipment and refinements as well as striking new exterior Duo combinations.

Upholstery of a superior quality of mohair, genuine pecan wood garnish rails, vanity case and smoking set and rubber floor mat with felt back are new features of the Special Sedan, which also has the adjustable driver's seat, ebony finish instrument panel, non-glare rear view mirror and other advanced body refinements common to all Fisher-Oakland bodies.

Wheels are in natural wood finish, and at extra cost may be replaced with six wire wheels and trunk rack, the spares carried in front fender wells. Beautifully contrasting shades of Lawn and Ozark green Duo finish the body, fenders and hood, while stripings and mouldings are of Pioneer orange and Moonstone gray.

Priced at $1320 f. o. b. the factory, the new model offers all the flexible performance of the latest Oakland, as well as distinctive appearance and interior luxury that make it a fitting companion model to the custom-like All-American Landaulet, the aristocrat of the line.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified Advertising Must be Paid Strictly in Advance

Due to the fact that considerable time and expense is required in keeping books on small accounts, and that collecting them is, in many cases, very difficult and unpleasant, The Slatonite will positively no longer accept classified advertisements for publication unless cash accompanies the order.

We firmly believe the classified advertising column is a profitable column for our customers. This has been proven conclusively time and again. Hence, we believe when the column is used the user should pay for the service.

The rate for this class of advertising is two cents per word for each insertion, with a minimum charge of twenty-five cents. This is very plain and easy to figure.

Please do not ask us to accept classified advertisements over the telephone, for they will positively not be inserted in the paper. Send the "copy" to our office, accompanied by payment, figured at the above quoted rate.—The Publishers.

Council, who received his Bachelor of Science degree from Texas Christian University with the class of 1921, has just been awarded the Sternberg Medal in the United States army post-graduate medical school at Washington, D. C., according to word received by Prof. W. M. Winton, head of the natural science department at T. C. U.

This medal is given for the best student in the laboratory sciences and preventive medicine in each special session. Dr. Council is a lieutenant in the regular army medical corps and a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Council of Windon, Texas.

After graduating from T. C. U., Dr. Council returned for one year as instructor in biology, then entered the Vanderbilt Medical School in Nashville, Tenn. Canning Did Much For This Family

WELLINGTON.—Mrs. Tom Jones of Buck Creek Home Demonstration Club who canned 1000 quarts of products last year, says: "Some of everything from the garden and orchard goes into cans for winter use. I can with the idea of a whole-meal-unit in mind. I have no extra help in the house but by a well planned emergency shelf I am able to leave my 12 year old daughter to prepare a canned-at-home dinners for the cotton pickers while I go to the field to act as book keeper for my husband. We have paid for our home, improved it, added several valuable labor-saving devices, and put two boys through an affiliated high school by preserving all excess foods for home use according to a systematic whole meal plan."

TRACTOR REDUCES COST OF POTATO PRODUCTION

Relying wholly on a tractor, tractor ploy, cultivator, sprayer and digger, Mr. Fred W. Peaslee of Lancaster, New Hampshire raised 11,300 bushels of certified seed potatoes on 35 acres last year without the use of a single horse. By means of this equipment,

Mr. Peaslee reduced the number of man hours required to grow an acre of potatoes to 84, practically half of the state average, reports the research department of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers.

The field was cultivated six times and sprayed seven times. At one operation the field was cultivated and sprayed by means of the cultivating attachment and power take-off driven sprayer. This was done at the rate of 30 acres per day. Mr. Peaslee estimates his costs at less than 50 cents per bushel.

LUBBOCK, Texas.—Of the 132 graduates of Texas Technological College thus far, 86 are now teaching school according to a report of the Teacher's Placement bureau of the College. Most of these places were secured through the aid of the bureau. The positions held by students vary from grade positions in rural schools to principalships and superintendencies in high schools. More than 150 teachers have been placed by the bureau this school year, according to Dr. A. W. Evans, director, and the records indicate that that number will be greatly increased this fall.
