Our Weekly Sermon

Fields of Light in a World of Blackouts

By the late Henry Ostrom, D. D., of Moody Bible Institute, Chicago
 Text: "Light is sown for the righteous."—Psalm 97:1.

With what interest we view the fields in spring, the dark ground covered with the fresh green growths. We say that is the fruit of the seed that was sown. If it was wheat, then the green expanse is wheat in its growth. If of oats, then we consider that those green shoots are oat growths. But what of the field that is sown with LIGHT?

Young growths of light blessed our childhood—the infant prayer taught by a fond mother; Bible verses learned in Sunday School and at home. How attractive are the fields when the shoots have grown and are crowned with the young kernels of grain! Thus in mature manhood and womanhood the light appears, heralding the harvest.

We may walk in the dark among the fields of grain and see no "long dark hollows chasing sunny ridges," but what if every growth were crowned with an incandescent! Then each field would be brilliant with light however dark the night. Do we not know that those business disappointments, those failures of health, those wearinesses are habitually pictured as darkness? But LIGHT springs forth all about us, that which may have been sown by parents, or martyrs, or that which is utterly unaccounted for unless by the direct act of God—light in the Holy Scriptures, light in answered prayers, light in providences when protection and leading are so apparent. A field of grain just ready to ripen may bring thrills to the farmer as he reckons its value and delights in its native abundance.

but what of this light along the traveled way! If the sowing of light has been bountiful, the guarantee of the harvest for the righteous defeats all defeatism.

Our Scripture says that light is sown for the RIGHTEOUS. How can unrighteous man become righteous? Do we not read that there is none righteous? Yes, but we also read, "Christ—is made unto us—righteousness." unto whom? To the man who believes on Him. Now, what shall be said of the harvest for these who receive Christ? Surely their last days shall be their very best, giving a harvest of light on ten thousand problems and difficulties.

However, the psalm from which our verse is taken looks to the time when our Lord shall reign over the whole earth. And when that comes, the harvest will be so great and rich that there will be no blackouts, for the LIGHT of the knowledge of the glory of God shall cover the earth as the waters cover the sea; while the heavenly home shall have no need of candle nor light of the sun—"the Lamb is the light thereof."

How this oil with its modern synthetics—man-made betterments—triumphed in the Certified Death Valley Test. Why it out-mileaged five others more than 2 to 1 . . .

PEBBLES starting an avalanche that wrecks a town can illustrate one big thing to you about getting full mileage from your oil change this Spring. (Spring change is a serious "must," all authorities warn you.)

Now folks in the hills take care not to give pebbles any start. And by changing to Conoco Nth motor oil you are taking care not to let thickening get a start in your crankcase. The mush gets a start in your crankcase. The Thialbene inhibitor in Conoco Nth . . . is aimed to inhibit or ward off the very start of bad "jelling" that often drags down mileage these days.

And still another synthetic in Conoco Nth has long been noted for its magnet-like way of attaching OIL-PLATING to inner engine surfaces. OIL-PLATING isn't all constantly draining down. Then instead of plain fluid-type oil film alone, which comes and goes, your engine can have this steadfast OIL-PLATING besides . . . Oil film sliding between OIL-PLATED engine parts!

What's gained in engine life and oil mileage? You can judge from the impartial Death Valley Test. Conoco Nth ran up more than twice the mileage averaged by five big-name quality brands—each by five big-name quality brands—each run till engine was ruined. Conoco Nth out-mileaged the next-best by 74% and another by 161% . . . certified.

What's the best oil mileage you'd hope for in your own car? See if Conoco Nth doesn't deliver. Your Conoco Mileage Merchant knows your correct Spring grade. Change today. Continental Oil Company

Your VICTORY GARDEN Well

A few cities in the entire State and none in West Texas has as low a water rate for irrigation as the City of Slaton. Not only is the rate low but the water is 99% pure and requires less chemical treatment to make it safe for human consumption.

The people of Slaton have more reasons to grow Victory Gardens than any place on the South Plains. Gardens and lawns grow more abundantly here with less care than any place in Texas, for varieties of fruits vegetables and flowers this climate cannot be equalled and with Slaton's low water rates there is no reason for anyone in this section not cultivating a Victory Garden this summer. Here are the rates on water now enforce in Slaton:

SOUTH PLAINS BUSINESS AND INDUSTRIAL GUIDE

Milk Producers Need Good Care

With 353,000 more heifers and calves kept for milk production on January 1, 1942, than the 1931-40 average, Cotton Belt farmers have 2,911,000 potential milk producers to add to 5,791,000 cows already producing, Dept. of Agriculture reports show.

Upon the care and feeding given these heifers and calves now will depend much of their future ability to produce milk, dairy authorities point out. Proper feeding of calves and heifers until their first calving is essential to secure maximum development and early maturity, and heifers that are well-developed at first calving pay dividends in higher milk production throughout their lives.

Because feed costs are the largest expense in developing the heifer, practical dairymen reduce costs by combining available feeds in efficient, economical mixtures. They start calves eating early, offering them hay in racks and small amounts of a grain mixture in troughs when they are 2 or 3 weeks old. By the time calves are 6 months old, they will be eating 3 or 4 pounds of the mixture, daily per head.

Calves may be fed the regular herd mixture; or, when calves are receiving legume hay, a good mixture is: 200 pounds of yellow corn meal or ground sorghum grain; 100 pounds of wheat bran; 100 pounds of cottonseed meal; 10 pounds of ground limestone; and 5 pounds of salt. When grass hay or sorghum fodder or hay is fed, cottonseed meal in the mixture should be increased 50 pounds, and each calves should receive, also, 1 pound of bright green alfalfa or other legume hay, daily, to supply vitamin A.

Ample roughage is important to develop full body capacity of calves after they are weaned. Because pasture conditions change rapidly, it is a good plan to keep dry roughage always available. Cottonseed hulls give excellent results in combination with pasture, silage or hay. Heifers 6 months to 2 years old, when not on pasture will eat 4 to 10 pounds of hulls or hay, and 10 to 20 pounds of silage daily per head, in addition to their grain mixture.

Heifers require adequate amounts and quality of protein in mixtures for their best development, and may be fed the regular herd mixture, or a mixture of half cottonseed meal and half ground grain. Two to 5 pounds, daily per head, should be fed the heifer from weaning time until 1 year old. The daily allowance may be increased to 6 pounds per head from 1 year until 2 weeks before calving, when it should be reduced to 2 to 3 pounds, daily.

From one year old until two weeks before calving, heifers also may be fed 2 or 3 pounds of cottonseed meal or cake, daily per head, as the sole concentrate, along with pasture or roughage.

A mineral mixture should be kept before growing heifers at all times. A satisfactory mixture recommended for most areas consists of equal parts, by weight, of oyster shell flour, or ground limestone; steamed bone meal; and salt.

POULTRY HEALTH

THE CARE OF BABY CHICKS—IMPORTANT

By providing poultry raisers with good chicks—chicks that are strong, healthy, and vigorous—modern hatching methods have done much toward making poultry raising a profitable venture.

Yet, no matter how strong and healthy chicks may be when hatched, unless they receive the proper care and attention, they may never make money. The reason for this is quite simple. In the first place, chicks are constantly picking up things that are upsetting to their systems. Furthermore, there is always danger of infection.

Disease germs are apt to be encountered everywhere—in the water, on the ground, in the litter, and in the brooder house. They may be carried from one place to another by flies, birds, animals, and even on the shoes of visitors from other farms.

In many cases losses are due to internal disorders in the young chicks. This is not at all surprising, because the internal organs of a baby chick are extremely sensitive—as sensitive as those of a human baby.

THE POCKETBOOK OF KNOWLEDGE

Practically all internal disorder in chicks can be avoided by following a dependable, health-protecting program at all times. Such a program should include careful attention to feeding, temperature, ventilation in the brooder house, sanitation and medication.

One of the best ways of protecting chicks from infection is by providing your chicks with reliable medication in their drinking water. This should be done every day for the first few weeks. Such a procedure will lessen the danger of infection and help to build resistance to common chick troubles.

There is no simpler or more effective method of providing chicks with the proper medication against internal disorders than the drinking water method. It should be the first step in every poultry raiser's program for building up a healthy, profitable flock.

In short, poultry losses from internal disorders can be materially checked and profits increased, by taking these few simple precautions BEFORE the chicks show any signs of sickness. It all boils down to the old saying: "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Texas Leads Nation in Mattress Production and Consumption

One out of every seven mattresses made in the nation under the Department of Agriculture's cooperative program was made in Texas, according to a report received at College Station by Mildred Horton, of the A. and M. College Extension Service, and R. T. Price of the State AAA headquarters. Altogether, 3,874,025 cotton mattresses have been made and received by eligible families. Of that number, 526,951 have been delivered in Texas—the largest number for any single state.

Texas also leads in the number of cotton comforts made and delivered under the program, reporting 189,764 of the total 989,361 in the nation.

BE CAREFUL OF THE DIET OF CHICKENS

It is time to think of the proper feed for your chickens and stock. You can't afford to be careless about a balanced diet for animals and fowls any more than you can afford to be careless about your family's diet or your own.

You should secure all the information about the right kind of grain for the young chicks you can. If you don't do this you will be wasting good money and time. Chickens need constant care and don't let anyone try to tell you that after a few days they can take care of themselves because nature just naturally provides for helpless creatures.

Nature does provide for them to a certain extent, but you must be careful with them so you will have something to show for your labor other than a few scrawny no-good chickens.

Feed them carefully so you may profit from your time. Lee Tudor at the Slaton Coal and Grain Co. has all kinds of feed for the young fowls, also feed for your stock.

If you are wise you will also stock up on coal for next winter, for many of us will be using it.

There is someone at the Slaton

Coal and Grain Co. to help you at all times. Go by today and place your order for coal and get the right kind of feed for your poultry.

YOU CAN'T STOP A TORNADO

You can prevent fires by being careful; you can fight them after they are started. However, no amount of prevention will prevent a TORNADO or WINDSTORM; nor can either be stopped once it has started. TORNADOES and WINDSTORMS come at all seasons of the year and in all parts of the country. Your only defense is INSURANCE to pay for the DAMAGE they cause to your property. TORNADOES and WINDSTORM INSURANCE is one of the cheapest, yet one of the necessary, forms of INSURANCE for home owners, merchants — in fact, anyone who owns property. Buy your TORNADO and WINDSTORM INSURANCE NOW before the storm hits and destroys your property. A lot of protection costs very little.

TANKS FROM FARMS
Linked in purpose to our great War Production Drive—a drive now gathering force in some 2,000 American plants—is another sort of a campaign launched by WPB's bureau of industrial conservation. This is a campaign to get in the millions of tons of scrap metal and old rubber from the U. S. A.'s 6,500,000 farms. WPA trucks and WPA workers are assisting in this salvage campaign, a campaign which also must succeed before we can make the guns and tanks and

It is getting high time to start complaining about the weather.

It is a sad sight to see the Politicians trying to get the attention of the good folks that they are trying to save from their rival office seekers. There are no good political issues; the war and the competition of the radio, the Bond Sales, the tire shortage and one thing and another has taken all of the wind out of such an issue.

Here is one a preacher told me.

A young couple who were engaged to be married were both killed in an automobile accident. When they entered the Kingdom of Heaven they asked Saint Peter to give them permission to be married up there. "We will try to arrange the matter later on," said the Good Saint.

About three hundred and fifty years passed before they met Saint Peter again.

"You can get married now," said he, "a preacher arrived here yesterday."

FISHERMAN'S DICTIONARY

Fishing—A disease, for which there is no cure. In extreme cases the fever can be reduced by placing the patient in the hot sun for several hours.

Fishing Camp—A place to eat half-cooked food, fight insects and play poker. Liveliest hours are from midnight to dawn. Camping trips are often spoiled by screwballs who insist on going fishing.

Bait—A couple of cases of good cold beer and a ham, tongue or liverwurst sandwich.

Guide—Conversationalist whose job it is to protect the fish by taking you where they ain't.

Rod—A sporty name for a fish pole costing over $5. Rods are sold by weight. The lighter the rod, the heavier the tax.

Reel—A coffee grinder invented by Satan and designed to snarl at critical moments, thus inducing lurid and profuse profanity.

Creel—An icebox in which to keep refreshments.

Whopper—A term to describe the fish—and fish—however small that got away.

The above was clipped from The State Game and Fish bulletin so that local citizens will not be confused when in conversation with O. O. Crow, Vascar Browning, Joe Teague Jr., Harry Stokes, Henry Jarman or Joe Bob Stevens. The only one of the above mentioned men who is careful not to tell too much about his fishing experiences is Joe Teague Jr.; whether it is through modesty, poor fishing luck or because he does very little fishing or because his fishing trips I would not say because to tell the truth I don't know.

AUTOMOTIVE PROGRESS

1940 No running boards
1941 No gear shifts
1942 No car

—Pittsburg Press.

Why there are not more serious automobile accidents in Slaton is a mystery to me. Perhaps we who live here have become accustomed to the "every man for himself and devil take the courteous system," have become so alert that we take it for granted that most every automobile will park out in the middle of the street when there is plenty of parking space at the curb; perhaps we know better than to try to pass a car without sounding the horn as if the town were burning down, and perhaps we expect cars to come careening around the corner of Lubbock and the square from every direction, but it is certainly tough on the visitors who come to town and for those innocent people who happen to be passing through. We should either improve our driving habits or put up a sign explaining that any motorist coming through Slaton does so at his or her own risk. The complicated arrangement on the West side of the square is especially confusing for everyone seems to have a different idea as to what is the proper way to make this ski jump. Are there two streets or is it just one street, should we consider the west side a street and the East side a street or is it all one street. From the way the cars are parked some headed one way, some just the opposite, some straight in and some slap in the middle it looks like a Mexican Camp Ground. So far I have been smacked but once and I am most fortunate but I feel like an unescorted tanker going down the Atlantic coast when I make the West side of the square.

While the authorities are working on the men's style changes I wish some of them would turn their attention to the shirt collars. The style that has been in effect for the past twenty years is most unbecoming in my estimation. Most shirts after they have been worn two or three hours look as if they were closely related to the old Texas Longhorns with the ends of the collars turned up like horns and while the style remodeling is being done why not eliminate men's ties altogether. Of all the useless things that are worn by men a tie is the most unnecessary. It blows in the wind, it dips in the soup and it is usually made of the most wrinkable material that can be found. Unless a man is most careful a tie is usually off center and makes most men look lopsided and if there is any good purpose for a tie I would like to know what it is. And another thing why not cut a yard or two off the bottom of men's overcoats, the present styles are as clumsy as a bear wearing boxing gloves. They flop around a man's feet like hobbles on a horse, the tails fly in the wind like a sail boat on Pudget Sound and most of them weigh more than a load of coal. Just give me a pair of good shears and I'll fix the men up for the future in a big way.

As time stumbles on and as I look back and compare my sensations and feeling now with those that I had at the time the first world war came upon us I can more easily understand the advise my father and mother gave me and the deep concern that was theirs when I expressed my intention of going into the army.

The excitement, the patriotic fervor and the desire for adventure excited me but my parents were considering the hardships and the dangers that might face me. Those same emotions are effecting us all today and it is with great admiration and understanding that I listen to parents tell of a son who is in training and with them my heart swells with pride as they tell of the work that these boys are doing and of their interest in their tasks. The parents of these boys are the ones who will deserve as much of the glory of the accomplishments of our men on the far flung battlefields, as the men themselves.

Have you planted your Victory Garden? Unless something happens to change things this summer you will be mighty glad to get the things that you can raise. With all transportation facilities going at full speed on war work there is most likely to be a shortage of vegetables from California and the Rio Grande Valley. You can do your share to make it easier by raising as much of your food stuff as possible. Now is the time to start.

Aero-Crafts Institute
Has Large Enrollment

Aero-Crafts Institute, previously associated with the Houston Aeronautical Trade School, Houston, Texas, and Haile Flying Service, Austin, Texas, was incorporated March 27, 1942, under the laws of The State of Texas for $10,000. The corporation operates the Institute, offering specialized aviation courses of instruction based on factory requirements, designed to prepare men and women for employment in aircraft factories and in the aviation industry generally. Special courses designed to prepare men and women for Civil Service positions are also offered at Lubbock.

Aero-Crafts Institute is placed in an enviable position, in that it is the only trade school of its character in the South Plains trade area, and the tuition fees are below those of similar schools far distant from the trade area.

Officers of Aero-Crafts Institute are H. B. Lewis, President; Frank F. Bryant, Executive Vice President; Mel James, Vice President-Legal; J. G. Bryant, Secretary-Treasurer; K. O. Horn, Registrar.

Equipment of the new school far exceeds the required amount recommended by the industry and includes every needed tool, machine as well as complete airplanes.

Over 70 people have enrolled during the first three weeks. The new institute fills a long-felt need for such a training school on the South Plains. The staff will be glad to answer all questions concerning its work.
