Many young men are joining Company E National Guard unit, in order to escape the draft when the bill is signed by President Truman. The Company now has about 50 enlisted men, and more are coming in daily.—Canyon News.

Colorado City water supply, which comes from an underground source, is going to continue to be short and the citizens might as well realize the seriousness of the situation and all should conform to plans set out by Mayor J. C. Pritchett and the water committee.

Here is the setup for the present: No watering of lawns and shrubs at all between the hours of 4 p. m. and 10 p. m. On even days on your calendar residents of the city living west of Chestnut street may water their lawns and shrubs other than mentioned above. On odd days of the calendar, those living to the east of Chestnut may have the privilege. On how well you observe these hours depends your water supply during the few remaining hot months.—Colorado Record.

Following presentation of a petition signed by a large number of qualified voters Monday, the City Commission ordered a special election for Tuesday, July 13, 1948, to determine whether or not $500,000 in revenue bonds shall be issued for the purpose of improving and expanding the sewer system and will be secured solely by the revenue from this system and the waterworks. The other $200,000 will be used for water improvement and expansion. These bonds will be secured only by the revenue from the two systems, also.—Hockley Co. Herald.

That the Levelland Annual Rodeo here July 2, 3 and 4th will be one of the biggest and best in history is assured, as final arrangements have been completed, according to Bert Eads, president of the rodeo association.

In order to make the attendance the largest ever before, local townspeople, service organizations and women's clubs are cooperating and supporting this year's show one hundred percent.—Hockley Co. Herald.

The News has made apologies two or three times for its inability to carry more news in proportion to advertising.—Lynn Co. News.

With from 60 to 80 percent of the 1948 wheat crop in the Crosbyton territory already harvested, the bulk of the wheat will have reached the elevators by next week-end, provided favorable weather continues. Killian, city secretary, said yesterday that a 6-inch line from the new city well to the reservoir will be completed this week-end and that it should furnish plenty of water for all city purposes. Child Injured By Truck Here

The condition of little Nancy Miller, who was struck by a light truck last Wednesday evening, was undisclosed when this paper went to press Thursday. The accident happened on Texas Ave. in front of the Slatonite office at 4:45 p. m. when the little girl was said to have run out in the street with several other children. She is about five years of age and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Miller. Mr. Miller is a painter and paper hanger.

The child was taken to the Hospital here by Thomas Parks, driver of the truck. She was later taken to a Lubbock Hospital for a closer physical examination.

Over the Wire

It is reported that J. D. Holt and Howard Hoffman will start construction on new homes in the near future. The Holt home will be located on Lubbock Street and the Hoffman home on Garza. Several other new homes are being planned. The new home of Milton Davis, which has been under construction, is almost completed and is said to be one of the most modern in Slaton. It is located on West Garza St.

There are many new homes being constructed in all parts of Slaton and the housing situation, while still not good, is easing to some extent.

Merchants and buyers report that there are more salesmen on the road than there has been since before the war and that while merchandise is more plentiful, it is still as high, or higher, than it has ever been.

While there may have been some boys from here who have gone to other towns to join the National Guard units, none have been reported at the Slatonite office. Several young men are planning on attending military school in lieu of serving in the conscription army that will be organized when the new law goes into effect.

Mayor Lee Wootton said last week that he had hoped to have the new water supply connected to the city water mains by now, but the city has been unable to secure the necessary pipe to make the connections. The low water pressure in the water mains is not due to any lack of water, but to the fact that the supply cannot be gotten to the water system.

Martha Jo Scroggins of Springfield, Arkansas, and Nickie Neal of Springfield, Missouri, visited in the C. T. Scroggins home last week. They are now visiting relatives in Carlsbad, N. Mex.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Holtman and son visited in Childress, Tex., over the week end.

Billie Bagley of Clifton, Texas, has recently moved here to live with her sister, Mrs. J. T. Chambers.

Chick's Food Market, which was formerly located on the west side of the square, has moved this week to the larger and more convenient location on the northwest corner of the square. The triangular building on the corner will give this firm more space to display their merchandise and enable them to carry a larger stock for the convenience of their customers. Funds Needed For Summer Program

The Summer athletic program that has proven so beneficial and interesting for the youths of Slaton is in serious need of funds to continue the activities through the summer reports J. J. Maxey who has given much of his time and effort to the program. The Lions Club and the Slaton Board of City Development have helped the program considerably, the Lions Club has been operating the cold drink concession at the Soft Ball park all of this season with the members doing the work and the revenue going to the summer athletic activities.

The Slaton Theatre sponsored a show for the athletic summer program giving all of the revenue above actual expense to the fund but the response was not as much as it was hoped it would be. Unless some plan can be worked out to secure more money for the program it may be necessary to discontinue it before the summer is over.

Vet Hits Pay Dirt—$40,000

It was just such a World War Two veteran as those shown above who took $40,000 worth of tungsten out of a Mojave Desert claim in one week recently, according to an article in the July issue of Cosmopolitan magazine. Where the old-time prospector, crudely equipped, sought only gold, his present day counterpart seeks molybdenum, titanium, tungsten, beryllium, chromite and a dozen other valuable metals, and he does it many times with the aid of a small plane and aerial map as shown above.

SAVE FEED BY CULLING RUNTS

Culling has always been an important factor in poultry raising. At this time of the year, the producer can go a long way toward keeping his summer feed bill within bounds by practicing wise culling. Getting rid of the birds that are lagging in development will save feed and give the poultry raiser an opportunity to produce a uniformly better flock by fall.

Culling Saves Feed

An added reason for strict culling now is that while feed prices are so high, you can't afford to bother with lagging birds. For this same reason, it is a good idea to start examining your laying flock closely to find any hens that may be 'loafing.' The laggers should be culled and sold.

If you haven't done so already, separate the cockerels from the pullets. Market all surplus cockerels just as soon as possible, keeping only those which appear to have the best breeding qualities. Usually, it is desirable to retain enough cockerels to maintain a proportion of one male to 15 females among your medium and heavy breeds. For Leghorns, keep only one rooster for 20 hens. This will save feed for you, besides reducing the number of cockerels to a number that will allow close care and encourage the development of better stock.

How To Pick Cockerels

In selecting the cockerels you are going to keep, pick those birds that had long pin feathers in their wings at the hatching time or tail feathers at 10 days of age. The flock owner should prepare for this by marking the promising cockerels early in life. Keep for later selection the largest cockerels at 8 to 12 weeks of age. Hold on to those cockerels that are free of standard disqualifications and have no bodily deformities. Look for points on the sides of the comb and feathers on shanks, toes, and between the toes. Get rid of any with these disqualifications.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Will's Hospitality Isn't "Cracked"

Ever since January, Will Dudley planned to give his living room that "new look"—planned to carefully refinish the woodwork and replaster the walls.

Every time Will got out the putty to start filling in the cracks, a neighbor stopped by to pass the time of day—and first thing you knew, there was a group of us helping Will do the job up right. After Will called a halt to the evening's work, we'd sit around the fire enjoying a friendly argument and a sparkling glass of mellow beer.

So Will's living room doesn't look like it did a year ago—but it's by far the most "livable" living room I know: A place you can always drop in for good talk, good beer, and a warm welcome.

From where I sit, so long as Will puts that atmosphere of hospitality and good fellowship ahead of everything else, we'll all be happy to help Will change the looks of his living room any time he wants.

It's The Same Old World But It Is Getting Warped

J. L. Preston, of 245 S. 5th St., brought in an old paper last week that was published before the first World War, in which one Joe Sappington laments the changes that time had made in the way folks lived then and when Mr. Sappington was in his prime. Many of his "good days" would be appreciated now by the frenzied folks of the post-war period of World War II. Here is what Mr. Sappington had to say:

Within the last forty years the inventive genius of man has been rampant. From his inventive brain has come the telephone, the electric light, the phonograph, the flying machine and wireless telegraphy. Surgery and medicine have also made wonderful strides.

Forty years ago we didn't know we had an appendix. Surgery has discovered it for us and is now removing them at the small price of $150 each. At one time it was thought that every organ in our bodies was essential to our welfare but science has shown us the fallacy of such reasoning and has proceeded to remove our tonsils and appendices and is lopping off more and more of our vitals until some of us today have no more insides than a sandhill crane.

Forty years ago we knew nothing of microbes, but science comes forward with the startling statement that in the tangled fastness of the old-time Populist's whiskers there were enough microbes to start an epidemic throughout Christendom.

The discovery of the X-ray has aided medicine and surgery very much indeed. In the early days of Texas if a fellow got shot accidentally while engaging in the innocent game of poker, or while exchanging shots with an enemy and the ball lodged in him, the doctor was at a loss to know where the blame thing went. If he started to cut the bullet out he was liable to miss it a foot or two.

Men don't get religion now like they did under the ministry of the old early-day preacher or, if they do, it doesn't effect them like it used to. If a fellow now gets religion, he takes it calmly, takes it so calmly that sometimes his wife and mother-in-law and nearest neighbor never find it out. But back in the good old camp-meeting days it was different, and when a fellow was converted he didn't try to keep it a secret, but shouted the glad hallelujahs of a redeemed soul.

Strange as it may seem to some of you, we old settlers had a pretty good time, even if we were old-fashioned and wore chin whiskers and shouted when we get religion and drank coffee out of a saucer and ate peas with a spoon. We took things as they came and took them cheerfully, too. We have had to face many calamities within the last forty years, such as drouth, the Kansas grasshopper, the Populist party, boll weevils, Aunt Carrie Nation and the Republicans. But these tribulations did not discourage us and we went right on voting the Democratic ticket, knowing the Lord in His own good time would remove the wicked from among us. Just see how good the Lord has been to us.

I would love to go back to the old camp-meeting ground and hear the dear old songs our mothers used to sing and once more listen to an old-fashioned sermon unmingled with politics, vaudeville stunts and all other short cuts to the throne of grace. But where I would like to linger longest would be back in childhood days where sweet memories fondly cling. It was there I had those first day dreams of fame, dreams of wealth, dreams of conquest, dreams of victory. Oh, those childhood dreams that we have all dreamed, those day dreams in which we would see ourselves returning to the old home full of honors while crowds cheered, banners waved and the band lodged in him, the doctor was at a loss to know where the blame thing went. If he started and look down its eastern slope, it is then we crave to retrace life's rugged steps and once more return to the old village of childhood, not as a conquering hero, with banners flying to the huzzahs of the multitudes, but as a humble penitent, acknowledging defeat and asking no greater boon than to lay aside the burdens of life and rest under the shade of the same old tree where as a boy we had those dreams of Utopia, that land of promise that lies just a little further on, on life's journey, but never reached by mortal man.

Carl Lewis predicts that President Truman had better make hay while he is in office for he is going to be an ex-president before long especially if Mrs. Roosevelt is nominated for Vice-President. I'd suggest that he rush a bill through congress giving all ex-presidents a pension of forty or fifty thousand dollars a year as it would be nice to have a few dollars to put in on easy living after he has become used to having personal body guards, etc.

While I am a Democrat I am not going to stick my head in the sand and say that I think the Democrats will elect another President soon, for I believe it is going to take another depression or some radical change to put the Donkeys back in power. Truman inherited all of FDR troubles and made a lot of his own and history proves that after a war those who were in power lose out when peace comes. This would probably be true in Russia today if Stalin were not a dictator.

high heaven that the country is going to the dogs and that their crops have been washed away, hailed out and that the worms are eating it up besides the prices are not high enough and help hard to get. In fact the farmers will soon be having nearly as much trouble as the publishers of the papers and the operators of the drug stores. Stop in and talk to J. D. Holt if you want to know the grave dangers that are peeping at one from the dark dungeons that surround any one who is in the drug business.

Several times I have gone to J. D. with my many problems, he tells me his trouble and I go home more worried about where the Slaton Pharmacy is going to get drugs than I am as to where I am going to get paper to print the Slatonite on and that is no baloney for I am almost down to my last mistake, as far as paper is concerned.

Perhaps men like Bill Sewell go out and at one time buy a full set of clothes that match and have their ties, shirts, shoes and socks in some harmony of color but I never do find a shirt, pair of pants and a tie that will come within hollerin distance of one another but I have to wear clothes so I close my eyes poke my hand in a drawer and pull out a shirt. I own a collection of gray spattered ties that I have saved from many Christmases and two pairs of droop seated pairs of pants, so there is nothing much I can do to match the pants for none of my shirts agree with either one of them and the gray spots on the ties are hard to harmonize with too. Some day when I make a killing I'm going down and buy me a pair of pants, a tie and a shirt that will cause the ladies to stop and wonder why they can't look as well turned out as the men do.

Its funny what suggestions will do. Last Friday while I was grinding away on this hulloaloo Miss Cora Sealy came in the office for a pen point. She dropped the pen on the floor and I got 35c for a new point. She gave me the once over and said, "You don't look so well, are you feeling bad?" I stopped to consider the idea. For the remainder of the day I felt pretty droopy, perhaps having to write this kind of stuff would make anyone feel as I probably looked.

My deep felt sympathy has always been very strong for folks who spend their lives juggling figures around. Arithmetic was one of the sharpest thorns in my side when I attended school and I suppose I should have admired the pupils who got above D in mathematics and those who sat down and put in time on algebra got my sincere contempt. While I might be a few dollars ahead now if I had cultivated a little more knowledge of numbers I have never felt that I have missed much by not being a good mathematician. Of course I have had the advantage of having a wife who likes to know that two and two are four and she gets all of the work on why the bank account don't agree with the money I have put in the outfit and it works out better than one might think, because I always know that if I don't hump every minute I will be writing hot checks soon.

Before the war folks used to expect and bring on a summer slump in business along in July and August, but since 1943 up until this summer the old summer dog days have not slowed things up one bit. However, I have heard some of the business men complaining lately that there is some of the flavor of the olden days in the air. Prices are still high and most business men say that they expect them to go higher. If the Government starts their military training program and vast air force expansion it will most surely mean that metals will again become scarce and if a million or more men are put into training camps it will most certainly require much building and many supplies, it will also take many young men from the operations of business and all in all it seems to me that we will soon have more hikes in prices, more strikes and a lot more grips from everyone. I'm gonna howl as loud as the next one too.

The club bore was boasting of his ability to distinguish between beverages. Finally one of his listeners took a flask from his pocket and asked the expert to taste it and tell him what it was. The man tasted a mouthful and promptly spat it out. "Great Scott," he said, "that's gasoline."

"Sure," came the bland reply, "but what brand?"

SINGS FOR LUNCHEON — Pert Patti Dugan, who hails from Salt Lake City, Utah, is "at home" now in New York. She sings six days a week during NBC's musical "Luncheon with Lopez."

Miss Cecelia Josephine Grabber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Grabber, and J. E. Eckert, Jr., son of Mrs. J. E. Eckert, Sr., were married Monday morning, July 5, at 8 o'clock, in the rectory of St. Joseph's Catholic Church. The Very Rev. T. D. O'Brien officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a white two-piece dress of eyelet embroidery, with matching accessories, and carried a white prayer book topped with four Hawaiian baby orchids. For "something old" she wore a strand of pearls belonging to her mother, and "something new" was a handmade handkerchief given her by Mrs. Eckert. "Something borrowed" was the prayerbook she carried belonging to Mrs. Howard Hale. For "something blue" she tied two blue bows on her petticoat, and wore a penny in her shoe for good luck.

Miss Bernadine Grabber of Brownfield, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor, and wore a blue linen dress with white and black accessories, and had a corsage of white carnations.

Dayton Eckert of Chicago, Ill., brother of the groom, acted as best man.

The couple left immediately following the ceremony for a wedding trip to Colorado, Yellowstone National Park, and Seattle, Wash. For traveling, the bride wore a lime green faille two-piece suit, with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Eckert is a 1945 graduate of the Slaton High School and is employed as receptionist in the office of Dr. W. E. Payne. The groom, a 1941 graduate of the Slaton High School, is employed with the Santa Fe Railway Company in Slaton, where the couple will be at home after August 1.

Attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Grabber, parents of the bride; Mrs. Eckert, mother of the groom; Misses Ann and Rosemary Grabber, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Cherry, Mrs. S. H. Adams, and Misses Mae and Olive Roney, all of Slaton; Mrs. Dayton Eckert and sons of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schuette and daughter of Lockney, and Miss Evelyn Evans of Brownfield.

Mrs. W. G. Reese of Slaton and Miss Kathleen Reese of Ft. Worth visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Reese of New London over the Fourth, attending their son's first birthday. Michael had a large white birthday cake, beautifully decorated and laid on a gold plate.

Bill Cherry, who is employed in the engineering department of the Santa Fe Railway at Amarillo, spent the holidays in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Cherry.

Hollis Barkley of Houston visited Juanita Wright, July 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schmidt, Lena and John visited in San Angelo, July 4 and 5.

Mrs. Jack Nesbit of San Angelo, who until her marriage here last week was Miss Nina Ray Hickman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Hickman of 635 S. 11th.

Rev. W. A. Appling Marries Miss Latrell Anderson In Lubbock

The marriage of Miss Latrell Anderson and Rev. W. A. Appling was solemnized Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock at St. John's Methodist Church in Lubbock, with Dr. L. N. Lipscomb performing a double ring ceremony before an altar banked with baskets of white gladioli, greenery and white tapers burning in candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Anderson of Levelland and Rev. Appling is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Appling of Slaton.

Bob Scoggin, organist, played "Indian Love Call" and "The Lord's Prayer," and accompanied Miss Charlene Jordan as she sang, "Because" (D'Hardelot).

The bride was dressed in white raw silk, with applied embroidery design, and brown accessories. Her corsage was of orchids.

Mrs. Jeff Davis, sister of the groom, served as matron of honor. She was dressed in pink raw silk with navy accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Jeff Davis, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man. Don Appling, brother of the groom, lighted the candles. After a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Colo., the couple will be at home at Vega, Texas where Rev. Appling is pastor of the Methodist Church.

The bride is a graduate of Plains High School and Texas Technological College. The groom is a graduate of Slaton High School, McMurry College at Abilene and Southern Methodist University.

Only relatives and close friends attended the wedding ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Thompson and son, R. A. recently returned home from a visit to Dallas, McKinney, Houston and Galveston. They visited Mrs. Thompson's father in Dallas on Father's Day. Then they visited McKinney where they viewed the ruins of the tornado. From there they went to Houston where they saw the Battleship Texas and San Jacinto Battle ground. Then they visited Galveston. On their way home they came back through Dallas and attended the annual Stamps' All Night Singing Convention.

Romance in the West! A scene from Paramount's release "Albuquerque" starring Randolph Scott and Barbara Britton. Slaton Theatre, Sat. Prev., Sun. - Mon.

Casual Comment

By Mrs. Nora Billingsley

Men who make supposed-to-be witty remarks about "women drivers" should feel themselves "set down hard" by the report of our Dept. of Public Safety. Of 2297 cars involved in fatal accidents, 145 were driven by women, and all the rest—2153—death cars were driven by men. The report also contains the following: "While Texas is almost equally divided between urban and rural population, residents of rural areas were the drivers in only 441 fatal accidents, while city people were driving the other 1856 killer cars." Town's people, why the big rush? Ponder the old adage, Make haste slowly."

You've probably read the little "poem," but it surely does have a familiar ring to any woman who has a husband—or ever did have one:

"They were single, and went walking, Looking for a shady seat. She stumbled on the sidewalk. And he murmured "Careful Sweet!"

Now, with wedding bells' just memories, They walk the self-same street. She stumbles on the sidewalk. And he growls "Pick up your feet!"

The Progressive Farmer has published many articles, reporting in detail, progress made by the Cooperative Hospitals. When the county built, with a bond issue, the modern $160,000 brick and steel hospital at Morton, there followed a hot dispute as to whether it would be legal for the county to lease the new building to the Cochran County Co-operative Hospital Association.

In spite of all efforts made to convince the people that this would be "communitistic" it was voted to lease the hospital to the Cooperative.

Says Dr. Wendell S. Dove, hired by the Association, "The things that strike one is the care that should have been given years ago. As long as they could keep on their feet, people have neglected their health."

It's not at all difficult to figure out why people in the low income group had thus neglected their health, though it might be hard to comprehend why their efforts to get medical service, at a price they could afford to pay, should be termed "communitistic."

From the past reports of the Progressive Farmer, one would suppose that all was rosy on the Cooperative front, but their July issue carries an Article, "Co-Op Hospitals Have Their Ups And Downs," from which the following excerpts are quoted:

"The biggest obstacle to the success of Texas cooperative hospitals has been inability to obtain doctors. In the first place, doctors are scarce . . . and among many of them there is a deep-seated prejudice against cooperative hospitals. Two of our Texas cooperative associations, after trying for several months to contact doctors, gave up the attempt. The group at Rising Star, which organized as a cooperative, finally leased its hospital and equipment to a doctor for a two-year period. At the end of that time, the Rising Star people hope they can hire a doctor, take over the hospital, and operate it as a cooperative. At Divine in Medina County, a hospital was built to operate as a cooperative, but not being able to hire a doctor, the association finally sold out to a doctor who will operate the hospital as a private business. "Two other hospitals which started as cooperatives, with doctors on salaries, have been forced to change their operating basis. In order to keep their doctors they agreed to pay them on a fee-for-service basis. One of the hospitals has had all the patients it can handle but is losing over $2,000 per month. Meanwhile its doctors have earned over $7,000 a month in fees. The other hospital had to close its doors rather than to continue at a loss, even though running near capacity—They cannot make ends meet if they pay their doctors on a fee-for-service basis. Members of cooperative hospitals pay so much a month. In return they are entitled to examinations and treatments to prevent illness. If the hospital association attempts to pay its doctor a fee for each and all of these preventive treatments it cannot keep out of debt—As it has worked out in these two cases, the doctors have received large incomes while the hospitals were going broke."

Beginnings are often difficult, but as justice is on the side of the peoples right to hospital service, reasonably priced, it will doubtless succeed. To some doctors Service will mean more than an out-moded word. Not all of them will join in their Soap Box Derby Race for the ultimate in fees—fees that are often paid out of savings hopefully put by through years of hard work and self-denial, fees for which, all too often, no particle of real service has been rendered, but which are taken with as little compunction as one would put a rag through a wringer.

Great Is the Goal
The Pacific Northwest forest industry is carrying forward a program of forest practice, aimed to perpetuate and increase the timber supply of the area. In 1946 there were in the United States 336 dairy cattle breeding associations, with 73,292 members in 29 states, owning 579,477 cows and using 900 bulls. Leading states in use of the method are Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York and Iowa.

CAMERA TOPICS

by T. T. Holden*

ANGLES PUT DRAMA IN PICTURES

It is a sad accident that camera manufacturers hit upon the terms "eye-level" and "waist-level" to describe types of finders. As a result, too many photographers think that these are the only two positions from which pictures should be taken—and the results are too often dull as a consequence.

For many purposes, eye-level pictures are desirable, for this is the way we look at things normally. But too many pictures are mere records of a scene before the photographer because he did not exercise the privilege of selecting an unusual angle that would add interest and drama to the subject.

Camera angles are just as important as selection of subject, backgrounds, lighting and exposure. If you shoot down from eye-level at children they too often look deformed and flattened. The best shots of youngsters are made from their eye-level or lower. Busy street life takes on greater bustle and drama when shot from a high vantage point that makes the viewer feel like a giant looking down on the world.

It is amazing what a low camera angle can do for most beach pictures of the girl friend. First it gets rid of unwanted backgrounds and frames her against the sky. More important, the right low angle will give her the long-legged streamlined figure we have come to associate with American beauty.

A good photographer must be something of an athlete. He must be willing to lie flat on the ground, climb a ladder or assume any uncomfortable position that will give him the best camera angle. Watch a professional at work and you will often find him studying his subject from a dozen different positions before he finally places his camera. News photographers owe much of the drama in their shots to a good feeling for angles and the willingness to risk clothing, bones and comfort for just the right camera position.

Next time you are all ready to make a picture, study it from several angles and you will find that nine times out of ten an unusual angle will improve the scene.

Room for Electricity
 Brazil at present is using only about one-tenth of its electric power production potential, a recent survey indicates. Present usage is 1,425,400 kilowatts, while the potential is calculated at 14,500,000 kilowatts.

Mugwumps Were Deserters
 The Mugwumps were a group of Republicans, interested in civil service reform, who deserted their party in 1884 in favor of Cleveland for the presidency.

From Washington

GEORGE MAHON
 Whether or not the recently adjourned Congress did a good or bad job will be one of the hottest issues in the National Political Campaign which is just beginning to shape up.

The Congress adjourned after an all-night scramble to get final House and Senate action on important legislation. The job was far from completed when Congress quit. But the Republican leaders felt that it would be bad political strategy for Congress to continue in session after the Republican Convention.

Congress was in session for five and one half months and from my viewpoint, the session was the most strenuous one that I have attended. My special work here is on the House Appropriations Committee, and this Committee was in the midst of the battle over government spending from the day we met on January 6 until the final adjournment bell rang on Sunday morning June 20. We met daily except Sunday for the purpose of considering the requests of the President, hearing testimony and debating the pros and cons of all bills which provided for the spending of the taxpayers' money. The demands were so heavy I gave up trying to write a weekly column for the newspapers.

Since Congress adjourned, I have checked the voting records of Congress and I was rather proud to be able to report that I did not miss a single vote during the session. I stayed on the job but it could well be that I may have vote wrong upon occasion. On some of the questions which arose, it was hard to know with certainty just how to vote. One of the difficult problems was what to do about appropriating billions of dollars for foreign aid, in a program designed to help Western Europe and stop Russia.

After months of controversy Congress provided the money, but everybody realizes that the plan is a gamble and that it may not succeed.

Far-reaching plans were made and funds were approved for the expansion of our National Defense Program, especially the Air Force.

In Agriculture, a price support program similar to the one now in operation was approved for 1949 but the long range program which was rushed through in the final hours of the session was regarded as unacceptable by Democratic Members.

Appropriations for the farm program and Soil Conservation Service were more liberal than last year. REA got the best treatment it has ever received. One-half billion dollars in loans was provided for the expansion of the REA in the rural areas of our country. The Highway and the Farm-to-Market road programs were continued.

Congress passed 680 bills, reduced taxes, and appropriated more than 35 billion dollars, including contract authorizations. American people will hear much of the details of the legislation passed during this session from the press, radio and speakers platform between now and the National election on November 2.

Winter Pike Fishing
 Winter habits of members of the pike family are much the same as those of summer. These fish are active and feed all winter. Fishing through the ice for them, and for panfish, where permitted by law, is entirely satisfactory.

Heat at the End
 The temperature at the light end of a cigarette is 1,375 degrees, which is an excellent reason why one should keep that end out of his mouth.

Sam Fergusson
 Begging was forbidden in England as early as 1349. Colonial America provided punishment against beggars.
