It seems that the youth of Lorenzo and neighboring towns are determined to get themselves into trouble if they continue to race their cars up and down the streets and throw beer cans in front of the homes of the town. One prominent man informed us Monday that if the law did not suppress this kind of action that he was going to get his tommy gun out and protect himself and family. —Lorenzo Tribune

Transfer of fifty buildings lots in the Goodrich and Blake addition of Levelland has been made in the City Hall offices. L. E. Mabe, City Secretary, announced to the Herald early Monday morning.

These fifty lots are in the west section of the city, between Grant and McKinley streets, and immediately north of the West Ward school. —Hockley Co. Herald

"There will never be any power shortage in Levelland and Hockley county now that the new Denver City generating electric plant has been enlarged to a capacity of 50,200 H. P. and is tied in with a 66,000 volt system running from Clovis, N. M., to Denver City," stated George A. Stallworth, local manager of the Southwestern Public Service Company to the Herald this morning. —Hockley Co. Herald

The Post Office Department is tired of operating at a loss and the American people are going to start paying a little more for the services the Post Office performs. If the Department's experts are correct, they'll be able to pocket 125 million dollars off the price increase alone, according to Postmaster Jim Lipscomb. —Hereford Brand

Ten guests from Hereford joined the crowd of almost six hundred who registered at the flight breakfast held in Tucuman on Sunday morning at 7:30 New Mexico time.

The 261 registered pilots and their guests from the Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas Panhandle region together with pilots from New Jersey who were on a cross-country hop were all invited by the Hereford group to a breakfast at the Clover Airport on Sunday. —Hereford Brand

Mrs. Yates M. Key 725 So. 11th free pass to Slaton Theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Hoover will leave Friday morning, Sept. 3, for Henderson, Tenn., to continue his studies in Freed-Hardeman College for Church of Christ Ministers.

MAN WANTED

Is there a young man in Slaton, who is afflicted with the desire to be a newspaper man? It is necessary that he have at least a High School education and desirable that he have some College training.

There is plenty of work and not a lot of pay in the job at the Slatonite where he would sell advertising, prepare advertising and do reporting.

While some experience in newspaper work is desirable it is not necessary. This would be a good place for a young man to gain experience and the pay will be increased as experience is gained. The work is varied and interesting to those who have the aptitude for writing and for making sales. Veterans training is available on this job.

Slaton Men Visit New Power Plant

At the invitation of the Southwestern Public Service Company a number of Slaton men went to Denver City, Friday, August 27, to attend the formal opening of the new power plant that went into full operation there on that date.

The new plant that uses natural gas from the Denver City oil field is the largest in this section of the Southwest and will supplement the large plant near Plainview, in supplying power to this area.

Among those who attended the formal opening from Slaton were: Lewis Hollingsworth, manager of the Slaton division of the Southwestern Public Service Co., J. J. Maxey, City Secretary, John Sims, manager of the West Texas Gas Co., Elbert Wilson, Service foreman for Slaton for the Company, J. B. Huckabay of the engineering Department of the Santa Fe and A. M. Jackson.

The expanding program of the Southwestern Public Service Co. will soon give Slaton access to the increased power that the new plant is producing. Power lines have been constructed that will tie the Denver City plant to Slaton and all of the other towns that are in this area and will enable the new plant to be switched into the circuit when necessary. It will also take considerable load from the present supply center at the Tuco plant near Plainview.

All that is holding up the completion of the lines into Slaton and other points is the shortage of transformers. When these can be obtained they will be immediately installed.

H. S. Parents And Teachers To Meet

Junior and Senior High School Parent-Teacher Association will hold their first meeting for this school year on Thursday night beginning at 7:30 at the Slaton Club House. It is hoped that all parents and teachers will be present at this meeting to hear the plans for work to be done this year.

The program will consist of the President's Message by Mrs. J. S. Teague, and an address by Supt. of Schools P. L. Vardy, Jr., on "Summary of Recent Evaluation of Our High School."

Picture Stars To Be Here In Person

G. S. Hill, manager of the Slaton Theatre, announces that in addition to the double feature on the screen next Wednesday night at the Slaton Theatre, they will also present on the stage the stars of the pictures in person. Tom London, the star of "Last Frontier Rising," who will be seen on the screen and in person, has played sheriff in over 1600 western pictures. Also to be seen in person and on the screen is Billy Russell, star of "Hidden Valley." Seeing these stars in person will be quite a thrill for Slaton western picture show fans.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dulaney and children of Clovis left Saturday after visiting for about ten days in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wolf.

Tiger Squad Is Shaping Up For First Game

Coaches—Clarence Tillery and Bill Barnett stated this week that the Slaton Tigers are in their last week of two workouts a day. Starting Monday, one workout a day will be had, continuing until their game with Floydada on Friday, September 10.

The starting line-up is still undecided. For the end position, Collins, Voight and Perry are battling for a position. Due to an injury, it is doubtful if Perry will see action in their first game.

The tackle position will see Moore and Williams, with competition from Chenoweth. Guards are Dawson, Melcher, German and Young. At the present, Melcher and Dawson seem to be the stronger. Huckabay will be at center, with Dawson alternating with him.

The backfield is composed of Lewis, Bybee, Capt. Smith, Morgan, Lambert, Strickland, Taylor and Layne.

The squad has been improving each day and all will be in good shape for their first game with Floydada, except Capt. Perry.

Over the Wire First Round Of The Oil Belt League Playoff Here

Those who have seen the Tiger Football squad in action say that the team looks like it will be the best that the School has had since before the war.

Registration of men of military age began this week and because this area was not supplied with a registration center the young men have been forced to spend a lot of time in Lubbock where all of the men are being forced to go. In Crosby, County where there were not as many to be registered three towns were supplied with registration boards.

It is said that a number of property owners are anxious to have the streets paved on which their property is located. Mayor Wootton said that the sanitary department is making every effort to keep Slaton as clean as possible and that anyone who has complaints to make should phone either him or the City Secretary. The Sanitary situation is of supreme importance at this time of the year, when polio is at its worst, said the Mayor, and he urges every citizen of the town to do everything possible to keep the town clean and to report any one who is allowing filth to accumulate.

The new President of the Touchdown Club, Lewis Hollingsworth, said this week that the Tiger Football squad would be given a lot of publicity and support if the plans of the Club are followed out. The Club expects to get the help of all of the business men of the town.

Real estate dealers say that property sales are not as fast as they were a year ago but that good property that is reasonably priced still has ready buyers.

Touchdown Club Is Organized

A number of Slaton citizens who are interested in backing the High School Football team met on Thursday night in the City Hall and organized the Touchdown Club for the coming season, with the following officers: Lewis Hollingsworth, president; Bland Tomlinson, vice president; J. J. Maxey, Secretary-treasurer. Meetings of the Touchdown Club will be held regularly each Thursday night. Membership cards have been printed and anyone wishing to join may do so.

FREDDIE SCHMIDT IS "WHOSIT?" WINNER

A large number of Slatonite readers called in to identify the football players shown in the "Whosit?" contest of last week. The first to identify them correctly, however, was Freddie Schmidt, who will receive the prize offered. The players were: Van Smith, George Green and Emory Clifton.

L. W. Smith, sr., 650 So. 8th St., free pass to Slaton Theatre.

First Round Of The Oil Belt League Playoff Here

Slaton will play Sundown here Sunday, Sept. 5, in the first round of the Oil Belt League play off, with game time at 3:00 p. m. It will be a best two out of three series, with the second game to be played at Sundown and if a third game has to be played, it will be played at Sundown the following week under the lights. Big Ed Altman will be on the mound for Slaton. Slaton will be at full strength for the first time in a month, so it should be a good game and Slaton should take this one. Come out and back a winning and good ball club.

Slaton's baseball team dropped two games this week, the first at Hamlin on Saturday night, which was a tight game for the first six innings, with Hamlin edging out the home town boys by a score of 7 to 5. Batteries for Slaton were French and Banks pitching, McCoy and Joiner, catching. Slaton pitchers allowed 9 hits and made 9 strikeouts. Batteries for Hamlin, McCoy and Jenkins, allowed 9 hits and made 14 strikeouts.

In Sunday afternoon's game Post defeated Slaton by a score of 13 to 8, with Curtis Wilson pitching for Slaton, Dill catching, allowing 13 hits, and getting 3 strikeouts; Lefty Faulkner and Thrien for Post, allowing 8 hits, and getting 6 strikeouts.

Line scores for each game:
Hamlin 000 011 50x—7 9 2
Slaton 000 001 004—5 9 2

Post 232 302 01x—13 13 3
Slaton 106 000 010— 8 8 3

Secretaries Have "Good Chance"

It is reasoned that well trained and well groomed secretaries have excellent marriage prospects because they work so closely with men. Secretaries need not dress expensively, like show girls, to impress an employer but they should be crisp looking at all times. To be avoided are, glaring nail polish, short sleeves, chewing gum, skimpy skirts, seductive necklines, high heels and jewelry that jangles, says the director of a secretarial school.

Coffee Harvest in Latin America

Harvesting of coffee in the western hemisphere begins around the first of September in Haiti and moves south, getting progressively later until completion of the Sao Paulo harvest in the end of the following August. In certain of the coffee-producing countries the harvesting of ripe cherries is carried on throughout the year. The cherries are ready for harvesting in eight or nine months after the trees flower. Length of the ripening period varies with climate and altitude.

Boxing Contest Rules
Standard "ring" for boxing contests must be elevated five feet above the floor level of the arena. Generally, the maximum measurement of the ring is not standard for professional fights. Its size is determined by boxing commission rules. The ring can be from 16 feet square up to 24 square feet, which is roped off and constitutes the fighting zone. Another three and one-half feet on the four sides outside the roped area, called an "apron", usually prevents a fall to the floor of the arena proper in case a fighter is pushed through the ropes.

Casual Comment

By Mrs. Nora Billingsley

"Curiosity killed a cat, burned a moth, and discovered that oysters could be eaten alive."

Puzzling cars, this latest trend. But keep alert-dodge either end.

Maybe I'll learn, sooner or later, that the results of a state election—at least in a state as big as Texas—cannot be broadcast in an hour or two after the polls are closed. Hoping to get the results, I left the radio on till a late hour Saturday night, and listened to a lot of yowling that I had no desire to hear. Now it is Monday morning and I do not yet know who is S. Senator.

"He was an isolationist"; that seems to be the "last word" when giving some candidate, or person, a kick. It might be just as well to allow a little more time to evaluate just what intervention has accomplished. At present the things are in an awful mess. It's just possible that some isolationists were conscientious and far-seeing individuals, and that many rabid interventionists knew that they would never be called upon to carry a gun, or dig a fox-hole.

I agree with the editor that "the tipping habit is a vicious habit." There are instances where courtesy and excellent service make one want to give a tip, but I refer to the tips given with the same reluctance that one "would shell out" in any other "hold-up." In an article I read a long time ago the writer said, "I never gave a tip in my life, that I did not want to give a kick with the tip."

Why should one weakly hand out their money, when they feel that way about it? When a waiter fixes on you his cold and fishy eye, why not return his stare with eyes even "colder" and "fishier"? If, as in the instance mentioned, when, in addition to the top-heavy dinner check, the waiter informed the guests "exactly how much he expected his tip to be," why not advise him that if his employer did not pay his wages, that he get another job.

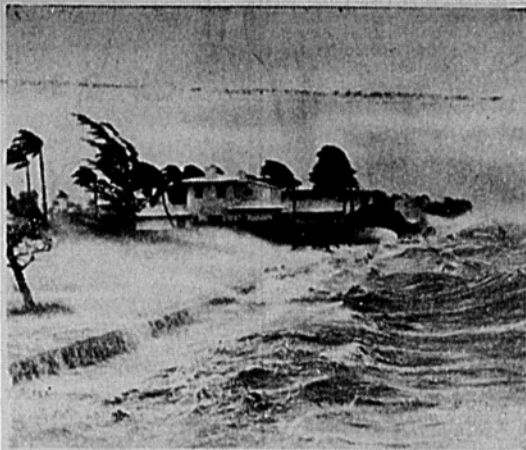

A tip that is given, not freely, but with a sense of resentful compulsion, is degrading to both the giver and its recipient.

Smith Brothers

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Leon Austin and daughter, Janet, visited last week in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Austin.

Bad weather helped add drama to this striking hurricane shot. On a day when many photographers would think good pictures were impossible, William Kuenzel made this prize-winner in the 1947 Grafex Photo Contest.

CLOUDY DAYS FINE FOR MANY PICTURES

Don't be taken in by the old adage that good photographs can be made only on a bright sunny day. That was true years ago when films were very slow and time exposures were necessary for all pictures, but no longer.

Modern films and faster lenses make it easy to take pleasing pictures in almost any light conditions. And many types of pictures are actually better made without too bright sunshine. A cloudy, dull day is ideal for outdoor portraits for there is no glare to make your subject squint and contort his face. Also, there is no problem of balancing extreme contrasts between sunshine and shadows.

Many scenic pictures and "mood shots" are more dramatic when shot without benefit of sunlight. In pictures where detail is important, the absence of dark shadows is often an advantage on cloudy days.

Many photographers are beginning to realize that lovely color pictures can also be made on sunless days. Here, the slower emulsions make long exposures necessary, but unless the sky is black with overcast, some beautiful effects can be obtained at exposures of 1/10 to 1/25 second at f/3.5.

If you are traveling and can't wait for perfect days to shoot interesting scenes, don't hesitate a moment to try pictures in any weather. Even in the rain many prized effects are possible if you put your imagination to work. Puddles and wet streets offer wonderful reflective surfaces in which you will find many an interesting shot. Just make sure to keep your camera dry and give it a good troweling to remove dampness when you are finished shooting.

Next time a cloudy or rainy day has you bored, try a few experimental pictures of anything that looks interesting to you. You will probably be surprised and delighted with the results.

North Carolina Contributes
North Carolina has made two contributions to the language of the world, one, the word "buncombe" (from which bunkum and bunk), and two, the phrase about what the governor of North Carolina said to the governor of South Carolina as to the long time between drinks. It is still an unsolved mystery as to what governors at what time gave the world its saying in support of conviviality, but buncombe as a word for loud and empty nonsense comes straight from the congressional talk of a statesman from Buncombe county, around Asheville, N. C.

CAMERA TOPICS

by T. T. Holden*

Flower shots have a lasting beauty long after the blossoms have gone. This delicate picture of pear blossoms was made by Phillip Gendrau with a Speed Graphic.

FLOWERS ARE GOOD PICTURE SUBJECTS

There are no more beautiful natural subjects for either color or black-and-white photography than flowers in bloom. You can photograph pictorial studies of whole gardens, use flowers as a background for portraits and informal shots of people or shoot close-ups of individual sprays and blossoms for their beauty of form and detail.

Except for close-up shots, you need no special equipment. If your camera is equipped with double-extension bellows you can easily make life-sized copies of small flowers, while most other cameras can be fitted with accessory slip-on lenses that enable you to focus on objects a few inches from the camera.

For close-up work lighting is most important. Flowers with great texture and detail look their best in strong cross-lighting, while more delicate, translucent blossoms are most interesting with back-lighting shining through them.

Just as a jeweler will feature one beautiful gem on a large square of velvet, the simplest flower pictures are usually the most effective. One spray of apple blossoms against the sky, an extreme close-up of one iris bloom is far more dramatic than a cluttered shot with many details competing for attention.

In black-and-white pictures of flowers, filters can often be put to good use to heighten the contrast between colors which normally photograph much the same. To determine which filter to use, remember that one of a given color makes objects of that color photograph lighter and complimentary colors appear darker. Thus a blue filter will render greens and blues lighter and reds darker. Don't forget to lengthen your exposure the amount indicated for the filter.

Grasshopper Damage
 "Grasshoppers in a single year have destroyed crops valued at over a hundred million dollars!" The foregoing statement is found in U. S. department of agriculture farmers' bulletin 1828, which further states: "Within the regions most subject to outbreaks are included the principal wheat, barley and flax-producing areas of the United States. Included also are enormous acreages of alfalfa, corn, oats and rye. All these crops are particularly susceptible to grasshopper attack, and there is never a year in which some damage is not done."

Rail oddities

Freight trains of the American railroads traveled 616 billion miles in 1947 - equivalent to 24,750 times around the earth.

In early days, when a train from one direction was late at a meeting point, a train from the opposite direction could proceed after waiting half an hour. But in such cases a trainman had to walk out ahead and "flag" his train around each curve.

Last year the railroads received less compensation from the government for hauling nearly 94 per cent of the first class mail than the air lines received for hauling about 6 per cent.

In 1947 railroads carried 22,000,000 pounds of first class mail. For this they received $1,700,000.

Airlines carried 32,000,000 lbs. of mail. For this they received $1,100,000.

JUST TALK

by
A.M.J.

It seems to me that there are more people in this country who have hay fever, sinus trouble and peppy dispositions than folks in any other part of the country in which I have ever lived.
 My next door neighbors say that I have awakened them from their sleep at early hours of the morning with my terrific sneezes, my wife takes nose drops, uses an atomizer on her nose and complains most of the time about sinus trouble and nearly everybody I meet say that they have one or the other and quite often both of these afflictions and yet it seems like Mark Twains weather "everybody talks about it but never do anything."
 On occasions I get down in the dumps and go around trying to find some one to help me bury the world. Nat Heaton will help me on occasions, but does not usually seem to feel as discouraged as he should. J. D. Holt also sobs a few sobs with me, but never wears the proper expression of a man who believes the things I am predicting. It gets discouraging some times to find people will not see what a mess the world is in and I feel that there is no use trying. Might as well whistle and sing, that is if one could carry a tune.

Weldon Martin, who punishes our linotype, came in one morning this week in the middle of the morning and said how he would like to have a hamburger and it made me jealous. Just to think of eating a hamburger at ten in the morning made my stomach heave and rock. Suppose I could have taken care of one or two hamburgers at ten in the morning when I was his age but time and tide certainly does slow down ones ability to digest things. Gimme a glass of milk.

As a weather predictor I am beginning to believe I am nearly as wrong as the professionals. My heavy rains and fine crops for this area are beginning to appear a myth and I'm gonna leave it up to the West Texas Gas Company and other sources to predict and keep track of what has happened and what will happen in the future.

There is one thing that makes me happy and that is because Slaton is going to have a new telephone directory and I hope it will be printed on better paper than the last one. The one we are using at the Slatonite is pasted together with Scotch tape, the back is barely hanging on and a lot of the names are so dim that one is guessing most of the time when calling a phone number. There are a few things to brighten up the way but they are mighty few.

B. G. Guinn was sitting in the patients waiting room at the bank one day last week and I asked which one of the money lending doctors he was waiting for and B. G. said he always slips in and sits until he thinks he sees one of Howard's or Bill's eye lids flicker a little then he slides his chair up next to the desk.

Would the people of Slaton attend hardball games if we had a real nice stadium? Personally I believe they would and such a place could be used for a lot of other events. The Lubbock County Live Stock Show could be held at such a place, roping contests and perhaps a Christmas event of some kind could be staged.

According to an eye witness of the atomic bombing in Nagasaki, the people wearing white, were not hurt nearly as much as those wearing colors. Advertisements in the station showed the black printing bolterated, while the surrounding white paper was untouched.

Pointing the Way

The little village of Glen Ellyn, Illinois, has set an example in public relations that might well be followed by other cities, regardless of size. The village board simply made an annual report, in intelligible form, to its citizens and slipped it in the envelope containing the water bill.

The report, solid green on front, with the seal in white, was folded to make six small pages. On these six pages the board told of the operations of the community in terms of "What We Received" and "What We Spent." There were no debits and liabilities listed nor was there one of those foolish financial statements that shows assets and liabilities to be the same—down to the last cent. Back page told of the specific problems in the year ahead.

The report served a double purpose. It cleared the board (serving without pay) and it brought the citizens right into the actual operation of their water, lights, tax and parking problems. It has almost always been true of Americans that they will act in good sense if taken into confidence on matters of public decision—provided such confidence is actual and not false.

The Wider View

Opportunities for a wider and more broadening view of things are always with us. Witness the highways near Lampasas. As you come north on Highway 281 from San Antonio, you notice something entirely different about the top of the first hill you approach in Lampasas County. The highway, you discover, has been widened at the top of the hill and a driving ridge of a few inches has been constructed in the middle. A black line leads off at an angle from the center toward the right. Instinctively, you move over from the center of the road to the right side as you reach the crest. A head-on collision or a sideswipe is almost impossible.

Now, why hasn't someone thought of that before? Roadbeds at the top of hills are usually on solid ground. The widening process should not be unduly expensive as dirt for the fill is available from the top elevation. Yet most highway builders have widened expensive bridges at the bottoms of inclines—widened the highway at its most visible point.

Suggestions On Best Ways To Store Grain

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 30—In the past, some farmers have lost as much as one out of eight bushels of wheat stored on the farm.

Stored-grain insect losses are lower if wheat is dry and the bins have been cleaned and disinfected, says Paul Gregg, assistant extension entomologist of Texas A. & M. College.

But with dry wheat and disinfected bins, you haven't done everything to reduce the grain losses. This is only the beginning. Most important of all is to keep the insects out once you have rid the clean bins of them.

By inspecting the bins frequently, you can see whether any insects have flown or crawled into the filled grain bin. If you do find newcomers, you can kill them with a mixture of these parts of ethylene dichloride to one part carbon tetrachloride, or one part carbon disulfide to four parts of carbon tetrachloride.

In steel bins, entomologists recommend three gallons of the 3 to 1 mixture, or two gallons of the 1 to 4 mixture for each 1,000 bushels of wheat. These dosages should be doubled where wheat is stored in tight, wooden bins.

Level off the surface of the grain at least six inches below the top of the bin before spraying the chemical evenly over the surface of the grain. If it is possible, the fumigant should be applied to the grain bins from the outside of a bucket pump or other type sprayer.

Gregg warns that these fumigants are poisonous to humans as well as to the insects, so persons using these chemicals are advised to use caution, and avoid breathing their fumes or spilling the liquid on themselves or their clothing.

By inspecting the bins for insects and spraying when necessary farmers will have more grain in better condition for the millers, says Gregg.

This is Our Policy... on
✓ DELIVERIES, ✓ TRADE-INS
✓ FINANCING, ✓ ACCESSORIES

When an automobile manufacturer produces a car so obviously ahead of the times as the Futuramic Oldsmobile, it's only natural that demand for that product should reach record-breaking proportions. Add to this today's pent-up need for automotive transportation—plus continuing shortages of steel and other critical materials—and you'll see why we, as Oldsmobile dealers, have a real problem on our hands. We value the good will of all our customers. We would like to provide all our customers with new Oldsmobile cars. But unfortunately, this can't be done overnight. That is why we are taking this opportunity to reaffirm publicly our POLICIES ON NEW CAR DELIVERIES, as listed in the box at right. We believe that under present circumstances these policies constitute a sound basis for "fair play" to everybody. And we hope that, on this basis, we may continue to serve you and merit your patronage for Oldsmobile and for ourselves.

OLDSMOBILE FUTURAMIC 4-DOOR SEDAN

OUR PLEDGE TO THE PUBLIC

✓ DELIVERIES—We will deliver all new Oldsmobiles at the earliest possible date consistent with production.

✓ TRADE-INS—We will take your order and deliver your car without requiring a trade-in. However, we have many valued used car customers we would like to supply, and we will give you a fair and reasonable allowance on your present car.

✓ FINANCING—You may pay cash for your new Oldsmobile or finance it wherever you wish. We will be glad to furnish low cost finance and insurance terms if you so desire.

✓ ACCESSORIES—All cars are delivered with accessories as ordered, and prices are figured to cover these. We except ourselves to add no "extras" except those each customer orders.

YOUR OLDSMOBILE DEALER

Place your order now. The sooner you place it, the sooner you will get delivery of your new Oldsmobile.

SLATON THEATRE, SAT. NITE PREV., SUN. & MON.

Social Security Man To Be Here

Gerald L. Schantz, Social Security Administration Representative, will be in Slaton, Texas at the Post Office at 4:00 p. m., on Sept. 8, 1948, for the purpose of answering any questions you may have on social security; discussing possible benefits and taking claims from persons who seem to be entitled to benefits; and taking applications for social security account number cards.

Every worker should show his social security card to each employer when starting to work and be sure he copies the full name and account number correctly on his time book. This is especially important now, as often men are hired in a hurry, and a person may work for a number of different employers during a year.

Passes Being Given To Slaton Theatre

Each week until further notice the Slatonite, in cooperation with the Slaton Theatre, is offering free passes to the Slaton Theatre. The passes are given to those whose names appear each week in the Slatonite. Look carefully through each week's paper, if you find your name tear out the entire sheet of the paper and take it to the Slaton Theatre anytime within a week of the date of publication and you will be given a free pass to the Theatre. That's all.

New Air Parcel Post Service In Effect

The advent of speedier nationwide — worldwide air parcel post service September 1 brings back to minds of old-timers the introduction of similar surface operations 35 years ago. It was in 1913, according to Postmaster Scudder of Slaton that parcel post first made its appearance in the United States.

The service at that time was established primarily to aid farmers and hamlets, located off the beaten paths, in expediting their products to market and, in turn, receiving sorely needed goods from larger cities. However, mail order houses and other establishments were quick to realize its value.

Transportation facilities in those days were still slow and tedious. Motor-driven vehicles were few and the roads which they traversed were frequently impassable. Too, trains were giving off more sparks and smoke than speed. There were no commercial planes in those days, either, and only the foolhardy visioned the rapid approach of this Air Age.

Then it took days to transport parcel post packages across the country. Some parcels were forced to go by virtually every movable conveyance before they reached their destination — particularly to the more remote sectors.

From that modest beginning, parcel post has grown to become an integral cog in the far-flung American postal operations. Its annual poundage, keeping step with the progress of transportation, has soared from a few million to billions of pounds of assorted commodities.

Still determined to employ the fastest means of transportation to move the mails, the Post Office Department will add the link necessary to give the United States the world's most highly specialized doorstep delivery service with the launching of the new nationwide — worldwide air parcel post, said Postmaster Scudder.

CONSERVING EGG QUALITY IS VITAL

Present indications are that eggs will reach, or nearly reach, all-time highs this season. With such conditions prevailing, the egg-producer should pay the closest heed to quality conservation, so that he can receive top prices for his produce.

Approximately 95% of all eggs are grade A or grade AA when they are laid. What is it then that lowers the quality of eggs? What is it but poor handling? Yes, conservation of egg quality is certainly one of the most important—and most neglected—phases of poultry-raising.

After they are laid, what treatment do your eggs receive? Are they gathered at least three times daily? Are they placed in ventilated containers? Do you take care to keep them clean?

The answer, of course, to all these questions should be "Yes." Here are other factors in conserving egg quality—

Cool eggs promptly upon gathering, and keep them cool. Mainly the egg room's temperature below 60 degrees. Leave the room fairly moist, but free of odors. Keep eggs in ventilated wire basket.

Clean, Pack Carefully
Dry-clean soiled eggs before casing them. Pack them with care. (If possible, candle them before packing.) Use standard cases and clean flats and fillers. Pre-cool cases etc., by leaving them in the egg room. Pack eggs small end down only. Place long eggs and very large ones in top layer near center partition. Do not nail case lid to partition. Do not send cracked, thin-shelled, or badly-stained eggs to market.

Market eggs at least twice a week. Avoid rough handling of cases. Protect eggs against extreme temperatures on the way to market. Sell to a buyer who will continue to conserve the quality of the eggs. This last is equally important as your own treatment of the eggs, for if the retailer allows them to deteriorate, you may get the blame, though it is assuredly no fault of yours. However, there is a trend toward more conservation of quality in the progressive retail stores. Finally, remember—when a city housewife gets one or two bad eggs in a dozen, you have lost a customer—for days, for weeks, or forever.

Bow Hunting for Deer
At the end of the last fall season, the total number of arrow-killed deer during the 13 years of legalized bow hunting in Wisconsin was less than 1,000, considerably less than the salvaged illegal gun kill during the 1947 big game season. Today bowmen do not bag 1 per cent of the legal annual kill. More deer have been killed by automobiles than by bow hunters.

Tractor Care
To keep the tractor running smoothly, one of the most important jobs is to help the air cleaner do its work. The air cleaner removes dust and dirt from the air before it passes through the engine. Farmers who clean the air cleaner and replace the oil once or twice a day when working under dusty conditions find they save money on repair bills.

Covering Wainscoting
Old fashioned wainscoting in a kitchen can be covered with wallboard for a modernized effect. The wallboard can then be sealed with a coat of shellac or aluminum paint and then finished with one coat of enamel undercoater and one coat of enamel to provide an easily cleaned surface.

Speeding, Main Accident Cause
Exceeding of safe speeds was given as the reason for one out of every three fatal motor vehicle accidents last year, according to the accident prevention department, Association of Casualty and Surety companies. The department added that a majority of these deaths occurred on straight and wide-open highways where drivers were inclined to step on the gas.

What They Write
The following is a description of a Chinese opera written to Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Garrigues by their son, Major L. M. Garrigues, who is stationed in China:
"And so we went to another Chinese Opera last night and I believe that I liked it better than the one we went to the other day. Lt. Chiang, my interpreter, took us since it was held in the Auditorium of the CAF Officers Club. There was certainly a large crowd there, but the one thing that was missing from this one over the other one was the various activities in the audience. There were no watermelon seeds, hot towels, tea, and very little noise as compared with the one that was held down town in one of the local theatres. This crowd acted more or less just as a crowd would at a movie or show in the States. And although this one was an opera while the other one was just a play, the acting was about the same. The music for the singing and acting was made by two of the little one string fiddles and some gongs.
"There is very little scenery in an opera and a curtain is never used between acts. Instead of a curtain, the musicians just make a h--- of a racket on the gongs, and then the cast takes their place for the next act or scene. The prop men or stage hands are walking around over the stage moving what little scenery they do have all the time. The audience is not supposed to see him or rather they are supposed to think that he is invisible. He moves the chairs, tables, and other things, and brings little pitchers of tea and holds it up to the actors mouth for him to drink out of the spout. And he also has a towel that he wipes the perspiration from the face of the actors. But the audience is not supposed to see him doing all this because you remember that he is invisible. Then there are other people moving around on the stage that we are not supposed to see either. They just happen to be passing through going from the front of the theatre to the back of the stage or maybe they want to visit with someone else who just happens to be on or near the stage.
"There are no doors or windows on the stage so by the actors motions we could tell that he was opening a door or window. Most of the things that they are doing have to be imagined, for instance at one time last night the villain acted like he was picking up a huge rock to drop on the head of the hero. Of course there was no rock but by his motions we could tell just what he was doing. The costumes were really pretty and gaudy. And their faces were all painted various bright colors. Some of them had big false beards of white, black and red hair.
"Before the opera, we all were invited back stage to the dressing rooms. The actors were all busy putting on their costumes and making up their faces, and seemed to pay no attention to strangers in their midst at all. That was quite an experience to both of us. We wanted to take Steve, but kids under sixteen were not allowed in the club so that knocked him out of that. We plan on taking him to one down town sometime after it gets a little cooler though. The entire thing lasted about three and a half hours. We got very tired and sleepy, about the middle of it, but then the action started getting better so we woke up and decided to stay and see all of it."
All our love,
Merle"

Automobile Trailers

There are about 750,000 automobile trailers in the United States. A great many of these are in service as either temporary or "permanent" housing. Construction of trailer coaches this year is expected to result in 100,000 new units as against 72,000 last year. A coach that will sleep six persons is now available.

Insect Cause Food Loss

Insect pests reduced cottonseed production last year by an amount which would have provided 4,500,000 people for a year with as much fat as now is included in European diets. Each 100 pounds of cottonseed meal will replace 250 to 300 pounds of grain when the oil meal is used for livestock feed. Some authorities estimate that control of insects that attack corn would add 100 million bushels to annual yields.

Bessemer Process

One of the oldest and most spectacular of all the present processes employed in steel-making is the Bessemer process. A blast of air is blown through the molten iron, and elements such as carbon and silicon are oxidized in the intense heat that is generated. Modern converters can produce about 25 tons of steel in as many minutes in a single "blow."

Death Rate

There has been a great shift in the causes of death from diseases of youth toward diseases of later years. In 1940, 27 per cent of America was over 45 years of age. This group used more than half of America's medical attention and services. By 1980 those over 45 will make up almost 50 per cent of the population, and they will require much more service. In 1900, one person in 25 was 65 years of age or older; in 1980 the proportion will be one in 10.

Housing in Eureka Springs

Tourists are always amazed when they learn that 40 per cent of the population of Eureka Springs, Ark., lives below street level. The answer is simple. An average house looks to be one-story when seen from the street. From the side, however, it can easily be seen that it is really five stories, the others extending down the side of the mountain.
