

Slaton Is Nerve Center Of New Control System

Santa Fe Starts Construction On The New Controls

Work has begun on the installation of centralized traffic control on the 160 miles of Santa Fe line between Slaton and Sweetwater. Four signal gangs, totalling about 80 men, are employed now putting in one of the most modern of train control systems ever devised. When completed, the entire stretch of railroad between Slaton and Sweetwater will be controlled from a machine at Slaton.

Present plans call for the machine to be in place at Slaton by May 5, as the track and signal installations are completed toward Sweetwater, the system will be cut-in for operation station by station. By late fall, possibly October 1, Santa Fe officials expect to have the entire system in operation.

E. P. Dudley, assistant General Manager, at Amarillo, in announcing the project said the Santa Fe expects to increase the capacity of the line to within 80 per cent of double track. Operation of the C.T.C. system will permit raising the speed limits of both passenger and freight trains and will make for a much faster and more flexible railroad operation.

Mr. Dudley explained that the modernization step was made because of the large growth in business in Texas and the emergence of the Slaton-Sweetwater line as a primary Santa Fe route.

"We just recently announced the dieselization of the entire route between Denver and South Texas through freight service via Amarillo and Lubbock, and the modernization of this portion of the Slaton Division will enable us to obtain the fullest efficiency and speed from this freight train operation," Mr. Dudley said.

Centralized traffic control, commonly known as CTC, and to the men as the dispatchers mechanical mind, is an intricate system complete remote control of all switches and signals over extended distances. It eliminates train delays and time loss by trains "in a hole" and enables a single track road to operate up to 80 per cent of double-track capacity.

Since 1929 the Santa Fe has installed CTC in many strategic locations throughout its system where double-track efficiency was reduced of single track mileage.

Three 1-Act Plays To Be Presented by Speech Class

Three one-act plays, one serious, a mystery and a melo-drama, will be presented under student direction Tuesday evening, March 21, at 8:00 o'clock in the High School Auditorium. Both the directors and the acting talent have been taken from the high school speech class, under supervision of Alma Caldwell.

The serious play, "No Greater Love" by William D. Fisher, will be directed by Melba Potthast; members of the cast include Sloan, Carlton Scroggins, Neu, Harry Marsh, and Ruth Iney.

The melo-drama, "Wedding Morn." by Eugene Germain, Joyce Flo Beth Berry, Paula Maxwell, Betty Clark, May Belle Penell will be the director.

Bolding To Begin Second Year Here As Baptist Pastor

REVEREND J. T. BOLDING

Sunday, March 26 will begin Reverend James T. Bolding's second year as pastor of the Slaton Baptist Church. During the past year, a great deal of progress has been made by the church.

When Rev. Bolding came to Slaton there was approximately $13,400 in the building fund; today the fund has $41,000. During the year a new Mexican Mission was purchased and paid for and a very active work is being carried on there.

A plot of land has been purchased at the Plains Baptist Assembly near Floydada upon which a small camp house for the use of boys and girls during the summer will be built.

In the line of the church's spiritual life, much progress has also been made. Eighty-three have joined the church by letter, 35 have been baptized and six are awaiting baptism.

"This has been a very pleasant and happy year for me," Reverend Bolding said; "and my family and I have learned to love and appreciate the many wonderful people in Slaton."

China Missionary To Speak Tonight

Reverend D. Kirkland West, Presbyterian Missionary on furlough from North China, will speak in Slaton tonight, Friday, March 24 at 7:30 at the First Presbyterian Church.

Mr. West has recently returned from a mission to China. "We believe Reverend West will have much to reveal on the conditions of China as it is related to the Communist Russians," George Hodges, local minister, said.

Mr. West is being sent to Slaton to speak by the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America. "An invitation is extended to all the town who would like to hear about Chinese problems, and your presence will be appreciated," Hodges continued.

Arrants Home Is Damaged By Fire

Fire, believed to have started from a hot water heater, caused slight damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Arrants, 750 West Lubbock, about noon Tuesday.

Most of the damage was confined to a bath room and bed room, where wallpaper and carpet was stained by water and smoke. The living room and dining room were damaged only slightly.

One truck from the volunteer department answered the alarm.

FATHER OF TWO LOCAL MEN DIES IN SAVOY

Kidd is survived by his wife, five sons, two daughters, a step-daughter, a sister, twenty-one grandchildren and twenty great-grandchildren.

Laborers Needed! For Youth Center Finishing Touches

"Anybody who has a paint brush, an empty coffee can, and who wants to help put on the finishing touches to the new Slaton Youth Center building should be present Saturday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock to paint window panes, eaves, and doors," Dr. Dick Ragsdale, of the youth center board announced this week.

All paint for the work will be furnished, but workers are needed. Anyone desiring to contribute some time to this cause can meet with the committee Saturday afternoon at the center with their paint brushes; however, if the sand is blowing, the job will necessarily be postponed.

Dr. Ragsdale added that step-ladders are also needed if anyone has one or more he would loan to the group for the afternoon's project.

Officials Attend Basin Water Meet

F. C. Davis, city water and sewer superintendent, and J. J. Maxey, city secretary, were among the more than 60 city officials attending the monthly meeting of the Permian Basin Water Works and Sewer Association held Tuesday night at Monahan.

Association members heard reports on the annual water works short course just completed at Texas A&M college, and a talk by John Williams, representative of the state health department and Hughes foundation. Mr. Williams is now teaching a ten-day sewerage short course in Brownfield, which Mr. Davis is attending.

The next regular association meeting will be held April 18 here. It is expected that some 80 city officials of the Permian Basin will attend.

3 Seek Posts As School Trustees

One new name was added Wednesday to the ballot for the forthcoming election of two new school trustees, which will be held Saturday, April 1.

Robert Hall Davis has submitted his name for trustee, along with two others who had announced previously—J. C. Smith, Jr., and George Brassell. Smith has just completed the unexpired term of Fred Stephens.

Votes for the trustee election will be held in the chief of police office at City Hall, with Charlie Whalen to be election judge.

Slaton, The Town Folks Are Glad

There are always a few people who are sold on a town, people who wouldn't live in another city or even leave for longer than a five-day visit. But in Slaton, almost everyone feels that our little community is the best in the world. It has something that makes you want to stay, or come back if you leave.

Some people move away, but many of them come back saying that although Slaton is not perfect, it is still superior to larger, colder and less friendly places.

Mr. and Mrs. Coke Oliver who live at 205 North Third Street are an excellent example of this. The Olivers have lived in Slaton for many years. "We had always dreamed of retiring someday and moving to 'sunny' California," Mr. Oliver explained. "Well, our dream came true, but we weren't happy in California;" he continued, "so we moved back to Slaton where the town is familiar and the people are friendly."

Another example of people having moved from Slaton and later returning is Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Jeter who are now living at 430 W. Lubbock Street. Mr. and Mrs. Jeter had lived in Slaton from 1915 until 1948 when they moved to San Angelo. Mr. Jeter became ill and his doctor advised him to move from the city. "We have a farm West of Slaton," Mrs. Jeter explained, "and we wanted to be nearer to it; so we decided to come back home to our home and friends."

Then some people move to Slaton just because they like what they have seen here, people who have never before lived here. Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Addison who were residents of Snyder until Novem-

Where Did You Get "That" Hat

Perhaps one of the most familiar figures in town and one of the first things noticed by newcomers to Slaton is William O. Cleveland, pictured above, whose outstanding feature—obviously—is his hat.

Frequently during the day you will find Mr. Cleveland standing on the corner of Ninth and Garza in front of Maxey's cafe where he can speak to everyone passing by and where he can get a bird's eye view of any excitement which might occur in our city.

Mr. Cleveland says that he has been wearing this hat, which he calls a style "big-four," for the last fifteen years. "I bought it in Lubbock," he said, "but I can't remember where, as the store has gone out of business."

Asked if this is the only hat he has, Mr. Cleveland explained that he has a dress hat—which is like this one except it's black, never put a crease in my hats," he volunteered to explain, "because it doesn't fit any better with it and it just ruins it to where it won't wear as long."

When the question was asked—Are you sensitive about your age? Mr. Cleveland very emphatically replied, "No sree, I was 78 the 10th of January; I never take a dose of medicine as I never need it; and I plan to live to be at least 100."

JUST TALK

by A.M.J.

Bill Lovett seems to feel that although we have been having some first class dust storms we have let the big honors go to New Mexico.

Bill brought me a copy of the Carlsbad Current-Argus in which it told in big bragging headlines about their dust storms, or perhaps it was a boulder storm. It said that the wind had reached a sixty miles per hour and that buildings had been blown down, light poles dumped on the ground and thousands of dollars damage done.

According to the unreliable newspapers and radio stations in this part of the country our last dust storm reached sixty miles per hour, too, but we cannot boast of any loss of buildings, power lines or that any plate glass has given away. It must be that a sixty mile per hour wind in West Texas does not have the destructive power that it does in New Mexico or we have gotten so used to them that our buildings and other above the ground construction won't go down under less than a one hundred mile per hour wind.

What I'd like to know is how any one can tell how fast a wind is traveling; especially a dust storm wind where one does well to see a Court House fifty feet away. How could you see a wind meter if you had one and knew what it was?

My wife came back from Dallas this last week and she brought our Cocker four boxes of dog candy. After reading the advertising on the box I was tempted to try some myself as it said that it contains vitamins A-B-C-D and E and I am sure I am low in all of these plus some others that have not been named yet.

The Cocker is very much in favor of the dog candy and has been right at my wife's heels ever since she returned from her trip.

It is very hard to please other folks with ones appearance. When I was young every one advised me to eat a lot and get some meat on my bones. I was so thin that some of my relatives asked me if I had TB. Now if any of my friends fail to see me for two weeks they ask me if I have not gained ten or twelve pounds. It seems to me that I eat less and gain more than I ever did in my life, and I'm always raking vases, dishes and loose things off of tables and chairs with my overstuffed belt line. Life gets more complicated every day.

The Rotary Club of Slaton is going to have a 25th Anniversary celebration before long and all of the members have been asked to have their pictures made. The local photographers have been quite busy getting the boys posed right and if the other members felt the same way I did when they had their photos made it was like having your appendix taken out.

Mr. Meadow did my operation and he sat me down and tilted my chin this way then that, had me look this way and then another way and when he got through I believe I was running a temperature. He did a real good job because I am not half as ugly as I was afraid I would be nor near as good looking as I think myself to be.

Saw somewhere that a woman may hide her age with fancy clothes and cosmetics, but she cannot fool a steep set of stair steps. While I have not been trying to fool myself or any one else with cloths or cosmetics I am not able to fool the steps either and I sure am glad the Slatonite is on the ground floor and not up where Nat Heaton has his offices. From now on I'm going to stay out here in West Texas where everything and most everybody is on the level.

While I was unable to get any worth while bargains in roses for the folks in Slaton I believe a lot of them have been planting roses and I would not be surprised to see Slaton one of the prettiest towns in West Texas this spring and summer. It is not too late to plant a lot of pretty flowers, and if the folks of Slaton could be persuaded to do like the folks in some of the towns down in South Texas we could make the landscape around the town the talk of the West.

There are few towns in this part of Texas that have as many weeds and as much vacant land that could be beautified as Slaton has and just a little work and some water could make the town the beauty spot of the South Plains. Zinnias, phlox, hollyhocks and cockscomb will grow almost as prolifically as will the weeds and if the property owners or some womans or civic club would undertake to have the most conspicuous of the vacant lots in town planted the flowers would probably almost take care of themselves. There are a good many folks in Slaton who will be taking up some of their shrubs and perennials that need thinning and many of them would be glad to supply plants that could be used to take the place of the weeds and wild grass.

This has been a hope of mine ever since I came to Slaton and one or two womens clubs have considered the sponsoring of such a plan but the difficulties of watering and caring for the plants has been a big draw back. These problems could be solved but probably never will be and in the mean time I'll go ahead and dream of the flowers that grow in the spring tra la, tra la.
—o—
And along the line of being a good neighbor I would like to say that we have a ten foot apple tree at our house that we would like to give to someone.

This tree bore about fifty apples last year, they were big apples and were full of worms and the tree came from a nursery and has a pedigree as long as the Prince of Wales, and I have been told that if the blooms are sprayed with the right kind of poison at the right time of the year that the apples will not have worms.
The tree would make a nice shade tree and my wife is threatening to have it chopped down so she can plant some flowers. If there is anyone who wants it please call me at the office soon because she knows a workman with an ax.

THIS And THAT FROM HERE And THERE

TAKES A SMART MAN — The newspaper business recorded some kind of a new high in Hereford one Thursday afternoon.

A small boy selling Brands came in at the News Stand and priced yo-yos. Mrs. W. L. Tomberlin, whose husband owns the place, quoted 35 cents as the only style she had on hand. The boy asked to see the yo-yo and upon loving inspection declared he didn't have enough money.

As he was about to leave defeated, Mrs. Tomberlin said, "Wait a minute son—I'll buy a paper and you'll have enough." He waited and she bought, paying a dime for one copy.

The boy didn't even glance at the stack of Brands on the stands there along with the rest of the papers. He turned immediately to Judge L. H. Foster and asked: "Brand, mister?" — The Hereford Sunday Brand.

AND HAPPY SWIMMING — In a day when words seem to pile up end on end without conclusive action, it is good to see an organization take the initiative in an issue of concern in Levelland and the county.

The need of the city of Levelland and the surrounding area for a public swimming pool has received widespread attention. But only one organization has indicated it will shoulder the responsibility of raising the funds and seeing that the need is filled.

For its initiative and willingness to enter into such a project, the local American Legion post deserves the commendation and support of every individual who would like to see a swimming pool in Levelland.

Levelland needs a pool. It is a need that has been espoused by many individuals and groups, but always with varying beliefs as to how the pool could best be acquired.

The Legion believes it has the answer to this problem. Already it has received the assurance of support from the city council.

We are inclined to agree with several individual council members, however, that the Legion has picked a tough job. Not only will the Post need hard work and continued enthusiasm, but it will need the encouragement and support of everyone to succeed with its project.

We would like to see a swimming pool for Levelland. It would be a step in the direction of progress; furnish healthful recreation for everyone over a wide area surrounding the city.

If Levelland Legionnaires can help us take the step, we say power to them—and happy swimming. —The Hoekley County Herald.

HEREFORD BULL — There is some talk about organizing a Toastmaster's Club here in Hereford, and it is a truly wonderful idea. I never saw a town with so few really good after-dinner speakers. We are practically out. There are several old boys around here with natural talent along this line, but when you get down to really polished after-dinner speakers the pickings are scant. Yes, Sir, we are overflowing with musicians, but we haven't got a public speaker in a carload — and nothing would help this situation like a Toastmaster's Club. Henry Sears is an old boy who, with a little polish, could make an outstanding public speaker. He is a diamond in the rough along this line. If they organize the club I sure would like to see Henry join. There are a lot more, too, and several I probably don't even know about. —By Jimmie Gillentine, The Hereford Brand.

STRICTLY SPEAKING — Some of us like to guy the other fellow about his religious faith, particularly the name of the church in which he has membership. Recently we heard a new ang...

one. It seems a stranger was in town, and looking over the burg. Meeting a friend he asked if God and Christ had a falling out in this town. "Not that I know of," replied the native. "Well," says the visitor, "I saw a Church of God and then about two blocks further on a Church of Christ." It's your argument from here on. —The Terry County Herald. —WANT ADS GET RESULTS

Bob Wills Hears Folks Tell Of Hadacol's Many Blessings

Bob Wills Hears About HADACOL'S Blessings

Poor Nutrition Leads To Disease

A poultryman doesn't have to be an expert on nutrition, but he should be familiar with some of the symptoms of nutritional deficiencies. It's just another part of his job as a poultry-raiser.

Today, with a strict competitive situation in commercially-mixed poultry rations, nutritional deficiencies resulting from inadequate diets are rarer — but they still appear occasionally, because some poultry-raisers mix their own rations.

Learning to recognize symptoms of poor nutrition will enable the poultryman to save many a chicken — and many more profits. Here are some of the commonest symptoms:

Lack of Vitamin-A

The vitamin-A deficiency shows up as a roup-like condition of the nostrils, eyes, and face. In a post-mortem examination of a bird this condition is revealed by many tiny white spots in the esophagus, or gullet.

Another common form of nutritional deficiency is curly-toe paralysis. A chick in this condition cannot stand or walk, and the toes become tightly-curved-back. Curly-toe is caused by lack of vitamin G (riboflavin).

Slipped tendon also appears quite often. This is usually recognized when the large tendon of the leg slips off to the side, giving the hock a misshapen appearance. It is caused by lack of manganese in the diet.

Rickets, of course, is rather well-known among nutritional deficiencies. This disease results in weak, rubbery legs and beaks. Lack of vitamin-D in the diet causes this condition.

Scabby Skin Indicates Dermatitis

Another warning sign of disease resulting from inadequate diet is rough and scabby skin, which usually indicates dermatitis. Particular spots affected by dermatitis are the face and corners of the mouth, the area around the vent, and the bottoms of the feet. This skin disease is brought about by a shortage of pantothenic acid or riboflavin.

In correcting these nutritional diseases, it is wise to consult reliable sources (nutritionists, etc.) before making any definite changes in the diet. Of course, the use of any recognized commercial ration is recommended, since such feeds are practically 100 per cent complete in nutritive value.

Your opinions and advice will be solicited on all matters. Since I owe no favor to any individual or group, my fairness and efficiency will not be impaired by political deals or secret promises. Preston Smith Announces For Lieut. Governor

PRESTON SMITH

Preston Smith, 38-year-old Lubbock business man, entered the political arena this week by announcing his candidacy for Lieutenant Governor. Smith is a three-term veteran of the Texas House of Representatives. He was first elected in 1944 to represent District 119. During his service in the House, Smith has been for four years a member of the appropriations committee. He has also served as chairman of the sub-committee on higher education. Born on a Williamson County farm, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Smith, he stayed with farm life until 1931. Much of his career in the House has been devoted to championing the cause of Texas' rural people. He was author of the rural hospital bill and co-author of the rural telephone bill, and also has been active in the fight for farm-to-market roads and soil conservation. Smith has been a supporter of all veteran legislation. Of his hospital plan, Smith says, "This measure will go a long way toward solving the doctor shortage in small communities." Commenting on his race for Lieutenant Governor, Smith said, "Much of Texas' population is centered in rural areas and small communities. Unless you have lived on a farm or in one of the very small towns, of which there are many in the state, you can't realize how much is needed in the way of worthwhile legislation for the rural areas. Texas needs the services which the rural population provides." Smith also authored the bill, in the House, which would require all boards, bureaus and state agencies that spend state tax money to hold open meetings and to advise the press in writing in advance of such meetings. The measure passed the House but did not get through the Senate. Smith has been a Lubbock resident for 18 years. He has been in the theatre business since 1936.

The Douglas fir is named in honor of David Douglas, a Scottish botanist who introduced it into Europe in 1827. Rust Good For Something
Now science has found that even rust can be put to good use—as insulation in motors and generators. Using a new steam oxidation process, Westinghouse engineers have succeeded in giving steel a uniform coat of rust. This thin film insulates the steel and makes it resistant to moisture and burnout.

Wool Dresses Take Fashion Spotlight

SLATED FOR FASHION STARDOM—neat-lined "Jacket-dresses." Here a trim 2-piece wool fashion by Nardis features lime and navy checked jacket with navy skirt in Botany flannel.

TOP DRAWER ELEGANCE comes to the fore in this white wool broadcloth dress by Jacques Fath. Chemisier-styled, trimmed with gold satin, it typifies drama and flair of Spring's "dress-up" look.

Wool dresses take the fashion spotlight this Spring, and their price variety sounds a faint tinkle of bygone days.

The shopper with plenty of cash can still pay in the upper bracket for her Spring wool dress, but she will also find exciting ones at prices that dive below the $50 mark. And the picking is good all down the line, whatever the price range.

Designers have added an estimated two and a half million more dresses to regular Spring offerings. This means wider selection for you—more fashion sparkle and imaginative styling.

The new wool dresses appear in every color of the fashion prism, at widely differing price levels, and in weights from a featherweight six ounces up.

In woolen and worsted fabrics, many of these newcomers are wear-right from Spring straight through summer and are tops, of course, for travel.

Favored wool fabrics are "pin-point" patterned worsteds, dimity-sheer crepes, fine gabardines and wonderfully soft flannels, and broadcloths—born for easy affinity with touches of summery white, straw hats, sunshiny skies. Checks lead the way in patterned fabrics. Colors are any way you want them: cool as pastel leas, or rich as Easter tulips. Prices are as varied as dress styles.

So whether you're a woman with money to burn or a lass with less, you'll find good hunting in the wool dress picture this season from coast to coast.

Gone as a 5 cent hamburger is the day when wool dresses were limited to fall and winter wear. Cool and light, the new dresses again prove that sheer weight worsteds and woolens insulate against all outside temperatures—whether hot or cold—chasing away excess heat as well as chilly Spring breezes.

R. Scott Stars As "Nevadan"

Randolph Scott, the great action star, is at the peak of his career in "The Nevadan," his greatest adventure drama, coming Sunday and Monday, March 26 and 27 at the Slaton Theatre. The Columbia Pictures' outdoor drama in Cinecolor is said to top such Scott hits as "Gunfighters," "Coroner Creek" and "The Doolins of Oklahoma."

The story of "The Nevada Territory" in the lawless Nevada Territory, an area which seethed with the human backwash of the California gold rush. Scott, as a U.S. Marshal, is on a desperate mission to apprehend, if he can, Forrest Tucker, an escaped outlaw who has cached some $200,000 in gold in an unknown hideaway. The dangerous game becomes more hazardous when George Macready, a powerful rancher, counts himself in on the scramble for the gold. Tucker and Scott link up to counter Macready and his evil henchmen before continuing their own private feud. The violence of the story explodes in a large-scale gun duel between the opposing forces and then Scott and Tucker have it out in the goriest brawl ever filmed.

This raw and rugged story was filmed in the superbly rugged backgrounds at Lone Pine, Calif., in the High Sierra mountains. As photographed in Cinecolor, these location shots, as well as those at the boulder-strewn area at the foot of Mt. Whitney with its towering, snow-capped peaks, are sure to be a show in themselves.

Scott's portrayal of the U. S. Marshal is supplemented by a host of important enactments of Western characters, besides those of Tucker's and Macready's. Dorothy Malone is seen as a vivacious outdoor girl who supplies the romantic interest for Scott; Frank Faylen and Jeff Corey play ruffians; Charles Kemper is a Western character; Tom Powers is also on the side of the villains.

Business Will Be Good In Slaton In 1950 . .

Many people are complaining about the drought and predicting bad times for this area during the summer and in the fall. There is no denying that a poor crop discourages business and that there is a loss of traffic with the itinerant laborers but West Texas stands up better under reverse conditions than most any part of the nation.

Folks out here are quick to complain but when it gets down to taking hard luck when it comes these sandy old boys and girls, have what it takes.

Good crops are only a part of the prosperity of West Texas and in Slaton we are getting more and more resources for business traffic.

The Santa Fe has one of its largest pay rolls right here in Slaton, the Ray C. Ayers and Son grain operations are arge and growing bigger every month, the new homes that have been built in Slaton are housing many permanent residents and the homes that are being made available for the hundreds of folks who are looking for rent property are being taken by new comers who will in turn make business better and more dependable than seasonal business that comes all at once and disappears as quickly as it arrives.

We do need the farmers business, and Slaton is primarily a farmers town, but it is fast getting away from complete dependence on farm trade and we may look forward to growing into a town that has every advantage that have steady incomes bring.

Russia Can Take Over West Texas

In a talk before the Rotary Club last week Highway troelman Jim Riddle gave some fearful and startling information concerning the traffic conditions over the nation, in Texas and particularly in Lubbock County . . . and that concerning Lubbock County was the most startling of all.

According to 1949 statistics, taken from information out by the State Highway Department, the State showed a ht decrease in deaths from automobile accidents while Lubbock County, in the last year, showed an increase of over thirty cent.

Statistics are cold and dry but when you stop long igh to consider that this plains country, with its long straight s and well paved roads, should give the motorists every ntage for safe driving, the fault must be the motorists.

One hundred and fifteen deaths in the Lubbock Dis was the toll last year, and unless something is done before the Russian can come to West Texas and take it over for will be nothing but dead bodies on the road to stop them.

deners, Dig Out Tools

Flower lovers and garden enthusiasts will soon be dig-ut their sun bonnets, shovels, rakes, hoes and water pails ring has officially arrived.

Most any type of plant life will grow in West Texas perly cared for after having been planted or transplanted, and shrubs can add a lot to the desolate-looking yard. If simple rules for care after transplatng are followed, a can be made of growing.

The general rule for pruning trees and shrubs is to ill blooming shrubs in the spring and spring blooming in the early summer directly after they have bloomed.

Cultivation is perhaps one of the most important points ider in successful planting. Frequent shallow cultivation duce a dust mulch and conserve much needed moisture soil. That is said to be the most practical method of g larger plantings. It should not be continued after the of August, otherwise the trees may not have time to and harden in preparation for winter.

Of course one of the biggest problems of planting in xas is that of sufficient water. Artificial watering is nec-pecially in case of drought, and in any case plants should ightly watered. The secret to successful watering is not le lightly every day, but to give the plant all the water ke at one time. No more water need be applied for sev- when this is done.

Fertilizing is another point which should be seriously Barnyard manure is excellent when obtainable. Florists you that one pound of commercial fertilizer per inch of broadcast from trunk to branch spread is excellent for d orchard trees. It is best to cultivate around young trees for several seasons—but only until mid-summer. ver crop should be planted to help harden off the new revent blowing and washing of the soil and improve cal and physical condition. The cover crop should be o the soil the following spring. A suggestion for con-l space is to plant garden crops between young orchard

At any rate, spring has officially arrived, and anyone sions of having beautiful flowers, shrubs, and trees in to give them needed care.

Not What You Say, But How

(Q) SHOULD A PERSON BE JUDGED BY WHAT HE SAYS—OR BY HOW HE SAYS IT?

(A) A cabbie was hurt in a collision, and sued the other driver for damages. When the motorists was held liable, his lawyer appealed the case to a higher court. The lawyer pointed out that his client had told a smooth, logical story—while the cabbie had used awkward, halting phrases. But the court said that even more importance than the words themselves are "the furtive glance, the blush of shame, the hesitation, the sneering tone, the yawn, the brazen face of the liar, the honest face of the truthful one. A witness may give testimony that reads, in print, as if falling from the lips of an angel, and yet not a soul who heard it believed a word. Another may testify so that it reads brokenly in print, and yet something about him carried the conviction of truth to everyone who heard him speak." — Current-Argus, Carlsbad, N. M.

Hardin-Savell Vows Are Recently Read In Home Of Bride's Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hardin have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ina Mae Hardin, to James Louis Savell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Savell. The couple was married Sunday afternoon, March 12.

Reverend J. M. McCraw, pastor of the Wilson Baptist Church, read the double ring ceremony in the home of the bride's parents, flanked with wrought iron standards holding baskets of pink gladioli and fern with white satin pre-dieu.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a navy blue taffeta afternoon dress with a navy ribbon hat and matching accessories. She also wore a pearl necklace and carried a nosegay bouquet of pink and white split carnations with pink and white streamers, arranged on the top of a white Bible.

Mrs. Jeff N. Hardin of Crowell, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Her costume was of navy silk faille with which she wore a navy straw hat trimmed with white flowers across the brim. Her flowers were white carnations.

James Hewlett of Slaton, a Texas Tech classmate of the bridegroom, served as best man. Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Grady Magee of Crowell, and Mrs. Emory Angus of Floydada, aunt of the bride sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Magee.

Following the marriage, a reception was held, also at the home of the bride's parents. Pink gladioli and fern adorned the dining room and reception suite which was lighted with tall white candles in silver candelabra. Presiding at the bride's table from which the tied wedding cake and punch were served were Mesdames R. L. Hunt and C. B. Graham of Crowell, assisted by Misses Marsa Swope and Grovunda Coleman of Slaton. Mrs. John Hamlin of Slaton presided at the bride's table.

The bride is a native of Bonham where she attended elementary school. She completed High School in Crowell and attended Southwestern State Teachers' College in Durant, Okla., and Mary Hardin at Belton. Mr. Savell is a graduate of Slaton High School and of Texas Tech.

Following a ten-day wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado, the couple returned to Slaton where they will make their home. Mr. Savell is teaching vocational studies in Southland. Among out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Ina Wood, grandmother of the bride, of Durant; Mrs. Evelyn Linstead of Durant, an aunt; Mr. and Mrs. Emory Angus of Floydada, uncle and aunt; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Magee, Mrs. C. B. Graham and Leo Spencer, all of Crowell.

ART CLUB TO MEET
Contrary to former plans, the Slaton Art Club will meet Tuesday, March 28 in the home of Mrs. J. D. Barry rather than Mrs. George Marriott. Mrs. Arthur Dennis will act as co-hostess.

Chatterboxing with Marie Guhl

If you're having trouble paying your doctor bills, we have just the answer for you—all you have to do is live to be 100 and Dr. Elbert Loveless will give you all your medical treatment free. We have reason to believe this is true, because Dr. Loveless let the secret slip the other day while chatting with us in the Slatonite office. He was telling about an old Spanish gentleman who came into his office for some minor medical attention. He said he would be 102 on his next birthday; and upon leaving, the old fellow's son asked how much they owed the doctor. The fun-loving doctor replied that the anyone who lived to be 100 could have his services free. Looks like socialization of medicine to me.

The other day while throwing a small tantrum and complaining profusely about the recent sand storms, some kind soul proceeded to comfort me by explaining that I hadn't even seen any sand as long as I could look out the Slatonite window and read the sign across the street on Sprdaley's building. This, of course, made me feel "much" better; but in the mean time I have come to one conclusion—either I am going to have to get me a housekeeper or else I'm going to have to start employing contour plowing in my living room. Sunday night when we came in after spending the week end in Breckenridge, I found a half inch layer of top soil on every floor of my house; but considering that I was very weary after the week end excitement, I just shook off the bedspread and put thoughts of house cleaning out of my mind. However, by Monday afternoon we had had another storm, and that fine Saturday dust had been covered up with a very unfertile-looking substance which I'd wager wouldn't grow anything better than tumbleweed. Even my ivy looked sick. Mr. Jackson tells me that if a person stays in West Texas long enough to wear out one pair of shoes, he will never leave. And I'm beginning to agree, as my sole is growing very thin and I'm getting weaker by the day. I don't think my lungs could stand up under a big gust of fresh, clean air. The shock would probably kill me.

Remember that strange sensation of spending the night in an unfamiliar house and waking up not knowing where you are. It happened last week end to me while visiting out of town. Sunday morning I heard a very ungodly noise and I looked out bedroom door just in time to see a woman riding down the hall on a piano bench. Naturally, I started me somewhat, so I covered up my head to remember whether or not I'd over-eaten the night before, recalling where I was and thinking that I was quite well out of bed to inquire about extraordinary happening. I noticed that the woman occupied apartment next door, that she was suffering from a mild case of neuritis, and that she often had difficulty walking early in the morning. I sympathize deeply with the woman mainly because of physical condition and because of the shock that she was destined to bring on her guests until her recovery.

Blames Germs More Than Bad Diet for Pig Deaths
Faulty nutrition of sows and gilts has been over-rated as a cause of baby pig deaths, in the opinion of a Minnesota research veterinarian. Dr. George A. Young, Jr., of the Hormel foundation at Austin, Minn., says unidentified virus diseases and other infectious conditions are more often the major cause of fatal pig ailments than errors in feeding and management.

Poultry Flocks
A laying mash and a grain mixture in separate feeders constantly before pullets for one to three months after housing will help keep poultry flocks in production as fall approaches.

Slaton Women Give Their Favorite Tested Recipes

Now that the weather is steadily warming up, tables are beginning to blossom out with more salads and cold, refreshing dishes to replace the hot winter plates which are now becoming somewhat tiring after several months of serving.

And since everyone likes a new salad, Mrs. W. R. Lovett has suggested one which is entirely different from anything we have previously carried in this particular column. Her recipe is called a "Beet and Celery Gelatin Salad."

The story of where Mrs. Lovett found this recipe is very interesting. Last Christmas when Mr. and Mrs. Lovett were visiting in California, her sister-in-law gave her a copy of a cook book entitled, "Treasured Recipes from California Kitchens," which had been compiled by a certain club, the Woman's Club of Monrovia. The recipes were all original and rather than a printed book, the pages had been photographed with the recipes reproduced as photostatic copies of each particular woman's handwriting. Mrs. Lovett says that she has found this salad to be especially good and she suggested that we have it for our column this week.

Although it might sound somewhat strange, our list of ingredients and directions is identical with the phraseology used by the originator of the recipe. Ingredients:

WHEN YOU DRY WOOL—

FOLLOW THE OUTLINE in shaping knitted wool apparel after washing. If suitable drying frames are not available, place sweaters, mittens and similar items flat down on a turkish towel or clean paper. If necessary, draw the outline in pencil or chalk before laundering. Shape with your fingertips and pin along the edges with rust-proof pins. Leave in a well-ventilated spot away from radiators or other sources of excessive heat. When dry, fold away in a drawer. Never hang knitted wool items on hangers.

Ingredients call for:
 1 package of cherry or strawberry jello
 1 can of shredded or diced beets
 3/4 cup chopped celery
 3 tablespoons vinegar
 Scrape small onion
 A little sugar
 A little salt and horse-radish
 Dissolve jello in hot beet juice and enough water to make not quite a pint and mix in the above ingredients. Let stand for several hours in ice box and serve.

Jet Engine

The exhaust of a jet engine airplane gets hot—up to 1200 degrees Fahrenheit. Metallurgists licked the problem by using stainless steel with a titanium alloy to withstand the heat.

Alone in Field

The only place in the world that produces all three standard condiments, salt, pepper and sugar, is New Iberia, La.

Claim Everything

The Russians will probably next claim that they were the first to use stainless steel for teeth and denture material.

Eclipse of Sun

Each year there are at least two eclipses of the sun, which occur when the shadow of the moon falls on the earth.

Have Most Hair

It is said that blondes have more hairs per head than brunettes or redheads.

Monday—Forgot to ask Goldie about sleeves in dress I'm making for her. Dressmaking is just a side line, but it gives me a little "pin money"!

Tuesday—Told Mother I'd come out and get Dad for a trip to the doctor's.

"I'M SO GLAD YOU CALLED!"

"Our telephone is a real family friend," said Mrs. K. L. Davidson recently, after keeping a five-day record of all telephone calls made and received at her home.

Added Mrs. Davidson, a Chelsea, Oklahoma, housewife: "Our telephone not only keeps us 'in touch' with the family and friends, but is a time-saver and step-saver in running the house—helps me in my dressmaking! I was surprised after adding up our calls, to find that our telephone gives us all this service—at an average cost of 2¢ for every call made and received!"

Each year brings greater progress in your telephone service: new telephones added—greater improvements made! The result: You can call more people, and they can call you—with quicker, more trouble-free service. It's a real budget value—that grows in value every year! Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

What else gives so much for so little?

Wednesday—Mrs. G. liked dress—appreciated my reasonable price!

Thursday—Husband called to see if I needed anything from store. Saves me a trip!

Friday—Nine-year-old Tommy, my nephew, called. He's so proud of his new bike—wanted to tell me all about it!

Contending Earnestly For The Truth

When Jesus before Pilate identified himself with the truth, Pilate ask him the question, "what is truth" (Jno. 18:38).

Not only many of Christ's contemporaries but also many today seem to have difficulty in determining just what is truth. There are some things that just cannot be the truth. The devil, though he pretends to have the truth, can't be. That which is false, misleading, deceptive and untruthful originated with him. Such was unknown to simple man until the devil introduced it to him. He is not only the father of liars but also unto this good day there is no truth in him (Jno. 8:44, 45). Though the philosophy and wisdom of men have been laid in our laps for the truth, they cannot be the truth. Man, though he may be able if he desires to recognize and handle truth, cannot devise it. Through the long winding trying ages man is proven false (Rom. 3:1). Therefore, his philosophy and wisdom can't be truth. Then, what is truth? What is the fountain from which it flows? The answer is God (Rom. 3:4). "In him is no darkness" (impurity) can be said of God only (1 Jno. 1:5). The only word of truth is God's word. Anything and everything that contradicts God or his word is false. It can't be truth. Blessed is the man who learns what truth is and lives by it.

Industrial Week To Be April 1-8

The Slaton Chamber of Commerce will stage activities to tell the importance of industry during Texas Industrial Week, Manager P. G. Meading announced.

The period April 1-8 has been proclaimed the first annual Texas Industrial Week by Governor Shivers as a means of developing public understanding of industry's problems. The Slaton chamber has entered a competition sponsored by the Texas Manufacturers Association, which will make awards to the chambers holding the best programs during the week.

A prize of ten dollars will be given to the firm or individual displaying the best arranged show window or counter of Texas made products, Meading said.

Kids Are Invited To Show Saturday

All kids from one to ninety are invited to attend the merchant's free picture show tomorrow morning at the Slaton Theatre beginning at 10 o'clock. Price of admission will be one Irish potato.

The first 300 kids who come by with their potatoes will be admitted to the show and receive free pop corn. The movie, plus cartoon, comedy, and the first chapter of the thrilling serial, "Wild Bill Hickok," is being sponsored by 32 local merchants.

All potatoes will be distributed on Monday to needy people of the Slaton community by the Welfare League. The League is working with Mr. Jeff Hardin, theatre manager, in conjunction with this project.

Hi School Learns Effectiveness Of Teaching Methods

A newly-initiated plan at Sam Houston State College will show the English department of Slaton High School just how effective its teaching methods are.

Principal J. H. Freeland has received the progress records of the 1949 high school graduates who are taking freshman English.

The records, prepared by the English department of the college, show the comparison of the Slaton students in their English courses with that of the national average.

The college also supplied the high school with grades made by Sue Ann Williams, Slaton High graduate.

The freshmen were given standardized placement tests in their beginning English classes in September. The results from those tests were averaged to make the college norm.

A record will be kept of the freshmen students' progress through their freshman and sophomore years, when they complete their required English courses. At the end of the two years, a comprehensive report will be sent to the high school.

Plans are also being made to have members of the college English department visit those high schools who need assistance in problems concerning their English departments.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. King of Fort Worth are the proud parents of a baby girl, born March 20, at Harris Memorial Hospital of Fort Worth. The little girl has been named Katherine Leonette and weighed 6 lbs., 8 ozs. at birth. Mrs. Clifford D. Young, mother of Mrs. King, and Mrs. Edd Caldwell, both of Slaton, are in Fort Worth visiting them.

Born March 21 to Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Huckabay at Mercy Hospital a boy weighing 8 lbs., 8 ozs.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Legg have returned from an extensive trip to the Rio Grande Valley.

Mrs. Kirby L. Scudder underwent surgery Tuesday morning at Mercy Hospital, and is reported to be improving.

Mrs. Grover Walker of Collinsville is visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. T. Davis and family.

Mrs. Corbin Barton and Jimmy drove up to Amarillo Sunday to spend the day with Ginger and the granddaughter Cheryl. They also visited the Palo Duro Canyon.

Mr. Corbin Barton returned recently from the Santa Fe hospital at Albuquerque where he had been for an operation.

Travis Reynolds, Bruce Pember, and Merle Nelson went to Dallas last week end where they visited with Mr. J. W. Chenoweth, former Slaton man who has been ill and confined to the hospital there. George Jones also visited Mr. Chenoweth last week.

J. D. Holt and Claud Anderson of Slaton and Claud Terry of Lubbock left Tuesday morning for Austin on a fishing trip. They expect to return Friday night.

Reverend and Mrs. H. M. Seacord of Sunray, Texas visited over the week end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Layne.
