BETWEEN ROUNDS—U. S. Marines on the front lines in South Korea are shown taking time out between enemy assaults to catch up on badly-needed rest. Amid a weird setting of twisted trees, some chose to rehab the last enemy assault while others were grateful to sprawl out on the hard forest floor. In the true tradition of the Marines, however, all keep their weapons close at hand.

First 1950 Bale For This Area Arrived Wed.

The first bale of cotton to be ginned in Slaton for the 1950 season has been credited to George H. Harlan who delivered it to the Campbell Gin Wednesday, August 30th at 1:30 p. m.

Mr. Harlan was 30 minutes later with his cotton than Ed Caldwell who brought enough cotton in at 1:00 p. m., to the same gin, to gin out 360 pounds but as this is not enough to be classified as a full bale, Mr. Harlan was credited with bringing in the first bale.

Both men live Southwest of Slaton and all of the cotton was raised on irrigated land.

A purse is being made up by the Slaton C of C for Mr. Harlan and a number of gifts from Slaton merchants will be made. The bale of cotton, which is on display at the Northeast corner of the square, will be auctioned off to the highest bidder at that location next Saturday afternoon. The auctioning will start at 3:00 p. m.

Tigers Prepare For First Game Friday, Sept. 8

1950 candidates for Slaton's Tiger football team are rounding out three weeks of intensive training today in preparation for the opening game of the season next Friday night with Floydada.

Two-day practices have been held at the high school playing field, but will drop down to only afternoon sessions next week when school starts. Some forty boys reported to Coach Tony Poulos in mid-August, with two or three players being added to the squad since then.

"We have a nice size squad now, but we would like to have more boys participating next week," Coach Poulos said Wednesday. "Suits are available now, and if we don't have them, we'll get them."

New suits are expected to arrive next week in time for the game against Floydada. Pants will be scarlet with half-inch black stripe down the side. Shirts of the same color will have Northwestern stripes and white numerals.

No serious injuries have plagued the Tigers lately, Tommy Bickers is still out with a foot injury and will probably not return to the squad for four or five weeks yet.

Four scrimmage games with other surrounding teams have been played during the past two weeks, one with Snyder and three with Roby. No score of any of the games was kept, however.

Touchdown Club Officials Named For 1950 Season

In the second meeting of Slaton's Touchdown Club held last Monday night, P. G. Meading and Weldon S. Martin were elected top officials of that organization for the 1950-51 season.

Meading succeeds Johnny Berkeley, 1949-50 president. Martin replaces Meading as secretary-treasurer of the group.

Monday night's meeting was highlighted by the showing of movies of the 1946 Cotton Bowl game between the Universities of Texas and Missouri. Films of the 1949 Texas-Oklahoma game were not shown as had been previously announced.

The club discussed edition of a football program for each of the Tigers' five home games this fall. It is not known what the contents of the program will be, however. The group voted to have movies made of each game, provided materials will be available.

Membership cards are still on sale for the current season and may be purchased from any club official or member. Persons interested in becoming active members of the club are urged to attend the next regular meeting, Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the City Hall auditorium.

Hot dogs and cold drinks were served to some twenty-five members attending last Monday's meeting.

Few Places To Close Labor Day

Mrs. Lee Green, manager of the Slaton Retail Merchants Association, reported that no City-wide plans have been made for merchants and business men to close their establishments for Labor Day.

Several places will be closed however, in observance of the day, including the Post Office and some of the offices at the Santa Fe. Mrs. Green said that some of the firms over town are in favor of making Labor Day a City-wide holiday but that there are not enough firms who are willing to cooperate to make Labor Day a holiday here.

Funeral Rites Held For Cora Reichling

Funeral services will be held today for Mrs. Cora Ann Reichling, 78, who was found dead in her home Tuesday. Services will be at 2:30 p. m. in the McDonald Funeral home in Lubbock. Rev. Brown C. Welch, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church will officiate and burial will be in Lubbock Cemetery.

Ask Help To Clean Cemetery Grounds

The Slaton Cemetery Board has asked the cooperation of all the churches in Slaton in a drive to raise enough money to have the Englewood Cemetery cleaned up.

It is planned to have all of the weeds cut, more flowers planted and to put the grounds in shape so that better care can be taken of them from now on.

Donations for this purpose will be solicited Sunday, Sept. 3rd.

Week's Question

Slaton Not Worried About Bombs; Thinks Cellars Are A Safe Refuge

A basement is a good thing to have in your house in case Slaton is ever bombed, according to many Slatonites. With all the war talk we have been hearing lately, the "Question of the Week" asked, "Where would you go for shelter from a bomb if they were dropped over Slaton?" The following answers were received.

Mrs. J. M. Olive, 225 W. Scurry, "Mr. Berry's storm cellar." The Berry's live next door to Mrs. Olive, and she would go there because it is so close and she would feel safer in a protected place like a cellar.

Mrs. A. R. Abare, 355 S. 4th, "To the cellar in my house." When asked where she would go if she were down town, Mrs. Abare said she would just lie down flat wherever she was.

Mr. H. B. Banks, 250 S. 4th, "I would lie face down against a center wall in a room." Mr. Banks is in favor of each individual building a place of protection, and the city building downtown shelters.

Mrs. C. E. Barnes, 1335 S. 8th, "I feel safer in a church than anywhere else." Mrs. Barnes says there is not much shelter around her place, but she would just take it wherever she was.

Mrs. D. B. Dean, 205 S. 3rd, "I would go to the cellar in a home nearby." If she were downtown, she would go into a building for protection.

Mrs. C. L. Ellis, 900 S. 14th, "In our basement." Mrs. Ellis has a good concrete basement, and would feel safe there if bombs were dropped. If unable to get to the basement, she would get right next to the ground.

Practically everyone who was called, had to think a minute before he could give an answer, evidencing the fact that the people here are not worried about such an attack.

Students Follow These Rules For Pedestrian Safety And Live

Monday, September 4, Several hundred little traffic hazards will appear on the streets of Slaton. Yes, school is starting and each child attending a grade school is a potential traffic hazard.

Chief of police, E. H. Ward, requests that motorists be especially careful these first days of school when many children are going out alone for the first time. Drive slow enough to be able to stop at once. Some child may dart out from behind a parked car, or cross the street against the light. Always have your car in complete control.

However, Mr. Ward stresses the need for parents to act in the interest of their children's safety. You owe it to your child to teach him the fundamentals of safety before he takes that first trip to school. The Slaton schools carry on a safety program, which makes use of a patrol system as well as safety instruction, but these patrols cannot be located at every intersection in the city. If you see that your child makes it to the block in which the school is located, the school will see that the child makes it safely to the school grounds, and will watch out for his safety for the hours that he is attending school.

Parents should warn their children against playing on the way to school. One of the most dangerous things a child can do is cut-up and play on the way to and from school. When a child is playing, he is not watching out for cars and other dangers. It is then that he may make a sudden dart into the street and be struck by a car which could not foretell what was going to happen. Motorists cannot be blamed for all accidents which happen to school children.

Parents should also tell their children to stay on the sidewalk. The streets are not made for pedestrian travel. If the child must walk in the street for a short distance because the sidewalk is blocked or muddy, he should always walk as close to the curb as possible and preferably on the left side of the road. Always remind your youngster to look both ways before he crosses any street.

In commenting on children staying on the sidewalk, Mr. Ward says that sidewalks are city property and cannot be blocked by cars or other obstacles. If firms allow their walks to be blocked continually, action will be taken against those businesses in accordance with the law.

And parents of high school students should see that their children are obeying the traffic rules. Slaton high schoolers have developed a bad habit of walking down the middle of the street in a line reaching from curb to curb. This unlawful blocking of streets, and parents and high school students do not stop this violation, the schools and city will have to work together to put a stop to it. The city sincerely requests the cooperation of the high school students in the drive for safety for all in Slaton.

There are two rules to remember when bicycle riding, says Mr. Ward. Don't carry passengers on the handlebars and don't ride double. Hand signals can be used for bicycles as for cars. Look before you cross the street.

If all these safety rules are observed, there will be very few accidents to school children this year.

School To Start Monday, Sept. 4 Everything Ready

Summer vacation will be officially ended for Slaton school children Monday as the annual trek back to school begins.

The new year will get off to a start with the faculty meeting to be held at the High school at 10 a. m.

Enrollment for grade school students will be at 9:00 Monday morning, and high school students who did not register last May, will also register at 9:00 Monday. Students will not be held the entire day, so the cafeteria will not be open. It will open Tuesday, however.

All students are required to bring their book cards with them, and grade school students must have their report cards from last year. Each first grader must be vaccinated and he must present his birth certificate before he will be allowed to enroll.

All the teaching positions have been filled, and the buildings have had necessary repairs. All is ready for the new year, according to superintendent Vardy.

Parents should be reminded that any child living within two blocks of the East Ward zone may attend the East Ward school if he is in the first, second, third, or fourth grades.

Don't Shoot Your Telephone Service

"Please don't shoot at birds on telephone lines," is the plea of C. H. Cale, manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, who says that each year thousands of telephone wires are broken by stray shots during the hunting season.

"Birds can fly away," Cale said, "but telephone wires just have to sit there and take it. It's not that the hunters deliberately try to hit the wires, and I don't think sportsmen would shoot at a sitting bird on a wire, but I guess they just don't realize that a hasty shot, might cause serious damage to telephone lines and disrupt long distance service."

Explaining the yearly dilemma, Cale pointed out that each hunting season money, man-hours, and telephone calls are lost through gunfire damage to telephone lines. "It would help a lot," he said, "if hunters would be very careful when they are in the vicinity of telephone lines. Even if a bullet or shot only nicks the wire, when cold weather comes the wire contracts and the added stress may cause it to break."

WILSON COMMUNITY SING

The first in a series of Sunday singing conventions will be Sept. 3, at 2:00 p. m. at the Wilson Methodist Church.

Everyone who enjoys singing or listening to good music is cordially invited to attend and take part.

Crops In Area Suffer Damage

Judge C. Smith, who has extensive farm properties in this area, reported this week that he estimates that insects and dry weather of the past ten days has reduced the prospects of the cotton production in this area about fifty per cent.

Up until ten days ago the cotton plants were in better condition than last season and it seemed that there would be nearly as much cotton produced in this section as there was last year when more acreage was given to the crop but in the past ten days conditions have greatly changed such hopes.

Judge Smith does not anticipate a shortage of farm labor in this area this fall. Most of the farmers report that they have worked on the crop last year and that most of them want to return this year. With the reduction in the anticipated yield there will likely be more pullers than can be employed.

The first bale of cotton for this area will not likely be brought in before Sept. 20th said Mr. Smith as the crop is ripening very slow, even the irrigated cotton. Mr. Smith said he does not hope to be able to compete for the first bale this season as he did not get any of his cotton planted in April. He has won the prize for bringing in the first bale a number of times and hopes to do so many times in the future.

He Knows How To Influence People

There are folks who visit the Slatonite office in the afternoons who may not appreciate the enthusiastic greeting of Sandy but Wanda and Jean Hagler, of the Gordon Community, who came in the office last week when Sandy was present, came back for more.

In fact both little girls were so impressed with the gallant and enthusiastic greetings that Sandy gave that they persuaded their mother to bring them back along with their visitor Barbara Sue Brewer of Wilson to see Sandy last Tuesday afternoon but Sandy had not made his evening trip to the Slatonite office and the little girls were sadly disappointed. Little Miss Jean was so broken hearted she had to leave before tears arrived.

Sandy is very fond of children and he does his best to show his delight with his very stubby tail. Yes, you guessed it, Sandy is a dog.

BRAKEMAN INJURED

D. D. Pennington, Santa Fe brakeman, who was injured last Wednesday morning when the last three cars of a freight train were derailed, was confined to Mercy hospital and no report upon his condition was available when this paper went to press.

He was riding in the caboose when the wreck occurred. Traffic on the road was stopped for a short time until temporary repairs could be made.

Mrs. C. H. Green and daughter, Betty Joyce have returned home from a ten day visit with Dr. and Mrs. K. A. Leake in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Lutherans To Have Anniversary Prog.

The Thirty-fifth anniversary of Immanuel Lutheran Church is to be observed on Sunday, September 10, according to Lowell C. Green, pastor. A large crowd is expected to come for the celebration, which will feature both morning and afternoon services, with outside speakers from Iowa and South Texas.

Principal speaker will be Rev. R. C. Schlueter of Monona, Iowa, who served Immanuel church from 1917-1918, and Rev. C. N. Roth, president of the Texas District of the American Lutheran Church. A special anniversary booklet with illustrations is also being prepared for the event. Fred Stolle is chairman of the anniversary.

Members of nearby Lutheran congregations are being invited to the services. Friends of the community have also been extended a cordial invitation to be present.

Mex. Labor Camp To Open Sept. 1

The Mexican Labor Camp sponsored by the Slaton Chamber of Commerce, will be open September 1. The buildings are in the same condition as they were at the close of last year's harvest season.

The Labor Camp was originally set up to provide housing for transient labor coming to West Texas to help with the harvest. Farmers may get in touch with Mexicans seeking work by going to the camp.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sepala left Thursday for their home in Dayton, Ohio. They have been visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Becker.

Improvements To Fair Grounds Add To Plains Fair

Vast improvements to the fair grounds will be definite factors in making this year's Panhandle South Plains Fair the most colorful event in 33 years of fair history. Paved streets and walkways are among numerous improvements to be added to the grounds. Interiors and exteriors of buildings have been repaired and repainted, and concrete walkways have been installed in the cattle and swine barns.

This year's Mid-Century celebration also includes more outstanding exhibits in all departments. For the first time, there will be a department for Future Homemakers of America. There will also be a giant cotton exhibit and, of course, the great historical pageant, "Panorama of the Plains."

Ralls—The Williams of this West Texas town laid plans today for the 13th annual celebration of Bill's day, "a tribute to the guy named Bill—the greatest name in America."

Some outstanding Bills will be present this year, including Bill McCraw, former attorney general Bill McDaniel, president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Bill Barnard, Associated Press roving editor. There will also be some non-Bills, it is expected, including Gov. Allan Shivers and humorist Boyce House of Fort Worth.

The town played host last year and officials in charge of the celebration said more than 7,500 are expected for this year's observance on Sept. 23. —Lorenzo Tribune

Farmers of Randall county have been asking for rain during the past few days!
In spite of all of the heavy rainfall during July, crops are suffering because of the high temperature, and lack of moisture for more than a week.

The cause is natural. There was an abnormal fall of moisture over a 30-day period, when farm work was at a standstill.
Farmers got behind with their plowing for wheat, running about two weeks behind schedule. The weeds grew rank, and the row crop could not be thinned out. If rains had continued to fall, the row crop would have made fine grain, but the dry weather has caught much of the crop too thick on the ground, and full of moisture when the rains stopped. The high temperature is having a bad effect upon the row crop, and much of it will make little or no grain. —The Canyon News

The organization of a secret Citizens Traffic Committee was voted by members of Colorado City's chamber of commerce traffic and safety committee who met Tuesday afternoon in the Crawford Hotel. Leonard Henderson, chairman of the committee, presided.

The identities of the members of the Citizens Traffic Committee will remain secret, the traffic and safety committee decided, so that known offenders will not be able to watch for members of the committee, as they now do for members of the city police department, in flouting city traffic laws. —Colorado City Record

Sudan's annual Fall Festival will be highlighted by a rodeo, baseball games and two queen contests. The festival is set for Sept. 1 and 2.

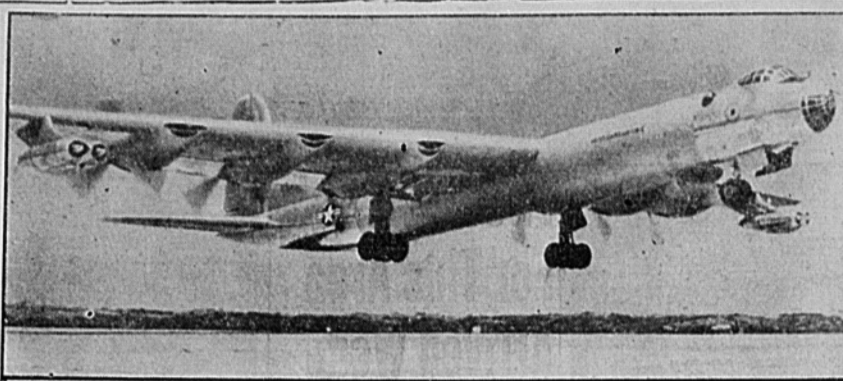

Harold Close, secretary of the Sudan Chamber of Commerce, has been named general manager of the festival.

In a junior "Little Miss Fall Festival" contest, votes will cost one cent each. A pre-school age girl will be chosen.
The festival committee is still debating plans for holding horse races, and will announce a decision later. —County-Wide News

Work is continuing in building the new high school, although it has been slowed up considerably by current international developments and resulting scarcity of building materials.
The completion date of the new building will be closer to June 1, 1951, than to Feb. 1, which was the original date slated for the new school to be ready, according to Joe C. Hutchinson, superintendent of local schools.
Bricklaying has started on the new construction, which when finished will be one of the most modern and well equipped high schools on the South Plains, and steel for

Howdy Folks; The best suggestion we've heard lately is that the insurance companies base their rates on how old a man feels.

—000—
An insurance company is an institution that you can't convince that life begins at forty.

—000—
Of course there's one advantage in being old, you don't have to be told that you're getting old all the time.

—000—
Thirty is a nice age for a woman, especially if she's forty.

—000—
The woman who says she won't marry until she's thirty probably stays thirty until she's married.

At twenty, a man wishes he could save the world. At thirty, he wishes he could save a part of his salary.

DAVIS & HUMPHRIES OWNERS & OPERATORS

FIRST AID ON THE FRONT—While clouds of smoke billowed from this heavily-bombed South Korean village, an Army medic ministered to this machine gunner, wounded in the arm. When the medics first reported to the battleline, they were unarmed. They began carrying pistols, however, when they became the favorite targets of the ruthless North Koreans.

RESOLUTION

Following is a resolution voted on and passed by V.F.W. Post No. 6721, Slaton, Texas:

WHEREAS, a grave and menacing situation confronts our nation and the other Democratic Nations of the world due to the existence in the world of a powerful totalitarian state, ruled by ruthless and power-intoxicated oligarchy, bent on imposing its will, dominion and control over the world; and

WHEREAS, the attitude of certain of our State Department officials in handling grave matters of State in our dealings with the Soviet Union and her satellites has given the American people the feeling that such handling is based on uncertain and vacillating policies; and

WHEREAS, the propaganda utterances of the Soviet Union and its minions are so utterly at variance with the truth and so obviously and flagrantly fraudulent as to be an insult to the intelligence of all thinking men and a stench in the nostrils of all freedom-loving peoples; and

WHEREAS, our State Department and our representatives in the United Nations have submitted to such propaganda and insult to the extent that the people of America have been subjected to a great sense of shame, humiliation and degradation as a result thereof;

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by Slaton Post No. 6721, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in regular meeting assembled: That we deplore the inept attitude of our State Department officials and our representatives in the United Nations; that the policy of appeasement of the Soviet Union to such a humiliating degree should come to an end here and now; that such policy, if followed in the hope of securing peace, is utterly mistake-

Sea Distillation

At arid Baku on the salty Caspian, sea water can be distilled at low cost because of plentiful oil heat. In most dry places, however, sea distillation cost is prohibitive, but the commercial harnessing of atomic energy may remove this drawback in the distant future.

Necktie Preferences

In a survey of necktie preferences a manufacturer found that Baltimore prefers purple, Texas and most of the South blue, Chicago green, but New York likes red, brown, blue or almost any color.

Drinking Water

Pure, fresh water is a rarity in many parts of the world. The great consumption of wine in southern Europe, of beer in northern Europe, and of tea in the Orient is in part a health matter—avoidance of germ-laden water.

Women's Handbags

Did you ever know that the handbag which women use to carry everything from lipstick to the letters they were going to mail 10 days ago was invented and first used by men of ancient Babylon?

en, and will lead instead to another global holocaust, attended by misery, suffering, death and destruction to an extent never heretofore witnessed; that instead of such policy, one in keeping with the time-sanctified principles upon which our government was founded, to which our forefathers pledged their fortunes, their lives and their sacred honor, be adopted forthwith; that the Soviet Union and the whole world be put upon notice, given in firm and unmistakable terms, that America will defend these principles to the utmost, to the end that government Of the People, By the People and For the People shall not perish from the earth.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that copies of this resolution be mailed to the President of the United States, to the senators from this state and to the representatives in Congress from this district; also to the Department and National Organizations of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and to all posts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in this district.

Seams on linoleum floors can be successfully sealed and smoothed over by running a strip of cellophane tape down the full length of the crack. Slaton Women Give Their Favorite Tested Recipes

Perhaps you have made several banana nut cakes, but have you ever made a fiesta banana nut cake? Mrs. R. H. Todd has. She ran across the recipe in Ladies Home Journal and has used it numerous times since then.

Here are the ingredients:

- 2 cups cake flour
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1 tsp. soda
- 3/4 tsp. salt
- 1 1/3 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1 cup mashed, fully ripe bananas
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans
- 2 eggs unbeaten
- 1/2 cup buttermilk

Mix shortening and sugar. Add the unbeaten eggs and beat thoroughly. Sift the dry ingredients together, and gradually add milk to the bananas and dry ingredients. Pour mixture into two 9" cake pans and bake in 375 degree oven. Cake pans should be lined with greased paper.

For the filling, whip 1 cup thick cream. Peel and cut three ripe bananas into 1/4" slices lengthwise. Place 1 tbsp. Mera Phins cherries finely chopped to whipped cream. Make a layer of cream and then a layer of bananas on the cake layer. Add chopped nuts. Serve the cake the day it is baked or put it in the refrigerator.

A REPORT ON A TRIP TO EUROPE

Another chapter in the story of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Seel's trip to Europe.

(PART TWO)

At Florence toured the city, visiting mainly some museums, art galleries, and some churches. Second largest cathedral in the world is located here. (St. Peter's in Rome is the largest, and St. Paul in London third.)

While in Florence visited the U. S. Military Cemetery about five miles out of town. About 4,000 graves there, including about 200 Texas boys. This is a permanent cemetery; and, although practically all bodies it will accommodate have been moved there from various temporary cemeteries, the work of landscaping the grounds and beautifying the area was just getting started. Will take two or three years to complete the project, and will be a lovely place when finished. The Assistant Superintendent of the cemetery is a very fine man who was very attentive and accommodating to us. He mentioned that he had played football (for Miami, Florida) against Texas Tech a few years ago.

On conclusion of our stay at Florence, left by train for Venice, but stopped at Bologna for several hours. Among points of interest visited here was a convent and church which had been almost destroyed in a bombing raid by Americans, who missed their German target and struck the church instead.

On arriving at Venice, the city which canals serve as streets, we boarded a gondola at the railway station and rode to the hotel in it, getting out of the gondola right at the hotel entrance. Tour of this city included visit to an old palace containing many spears and various other weapons and suits of armor. Also went through old prison dungeons and execution chambers under the castle. Visited a glass factory and watched workmen making various artistic articles out of glass. Wonderful assortment of finished articles on display for sale. Enroute to glass factory (by motor boat) saw a gondola funeral procession going to cemetery on an island. Was a most unusual sight, especially the gondola serving as a hearse.

From Venice we went to Lugano, Switzerland by train, with a stop at Padua and passing through Milan. Latter part of journey through beautiful lake and mountain country.

Noted much more evidence of American influence in Italy than in France. There were more Italians who spoke English than in France, and also observed far more American products on sale in Italy, such as tooth paste, shaving cream, soap, refrigerators, electric appliances, etc. Also Coca Cola is well established in Italy, but is having a difficult time getting a foothold in France as the wine dealers are fighting to keep it out.

American dollar in Italy worth 625 Lire. Handling Italian money was a nuisance. Even small purchases ran into large sums, and the money was quite bulky to carry. Some of the bills are quite large, a thousand Lire note, for example (worth about $1.60) is almost as large as a sheet of business stationery. Also many bills particularly those of small denominations, are very dirty and worn and many of them are patched up. Threw several batches of small bills away as too worn and nasty to handle.

Taxis in Rome are very poor, being old, broken down cars with very cramped quarters for passengers. In Paris the taxis were far from late models, but they were roomier and in much better condition. There are many horse cabs in both Rome and Paris which do a great deal of business, especially with tourists.

As in France, food in Italy was plentiful and good, at least in the hotels where we stayed. Except for the standard Continental breakfast, there was always a wide variety of food and more on the menu than one could eat. We skipped as many as three courses at times and still had plenty to eat. Fresh fruit was frequently served for dessert, especially cherries which were very good. Pastries are as popular in Italy as in France and just as good. Many pastry and candy stores in both countries, but prices rather high, especially for chocolates.

Food in shops not given the care and attention it receives in this country. No refrigeration is used and all food is in the open, including meats. Some of it looks very unappetizing. Bread is not wrapped, and people carry it around like they would fire wood.

Weather in general through France and Italy was very nice, just about perfect. Just getting a little warm in Rome, but that was the last place where would be any concern about being bothered with hot weather.

In Italy there was a heavy demand for American cigarettes. On entering a hotel, the elevator boys, waiters and others asked us if we had any American cigarettes to sell. Would also be stopped on the street at times by those looking for American cigarettes. There were also a few wanting to buy American dollars. No doubt they would want to make the exchange below the market value or else they could make no profit.

Throughout Italy there are many rebuilding projects underway, financed of course by Marshall plan funds. Noted especially many fine apartment buildings and railway stations and facilities that had been recently built or were under construction. All buildings being put up under the Marshall Plan are far better than any others previously used.

Entered southern Switzerland by train and went to Lugano. Stopped two days; then cut through the heart of the country in a northwesterly direction to Lucerne. Stopped at Lucerne for two days, and continued in the same direction to Basel in northern Switzerland, on the French border just a short distance from Germany. Stopped at Basel for just a few hours, and continuing by train back to Paris to make a second stop there.

Both Lugano and Lucerne are delightful cities, in beautiful lake and mountain surroundings. Had a very pleasant time at both places and, as had been true at several previous stops, regretted having to leave.

Many fine shops in Switzerland, especially those selling jewelry and lace goods. There is an endless variety of watches and clocks on display, these items being the big sales feature for tourists. Prices, however, on these articles, and other goods, are very high, considerably higher than in France and Italy.

The Swiss use French, and their currency was much easier to handle than the French or Italian. Has been no inflation in Switzerland, and our dollar is worth only about four Swiss francs.

On return to Paris took a day to make a sightseeing trip to Fontainebleau palace and forest, about 30 miles from the city. Lovely drive out there and back, by bus, along many tree lined streets and lanes. This was one of the many palaces the former kings had for their use and entertainment. It was a favorite stopping place during the winter. The interior is very gorgeously decorated with many beautiful paintings and tapestries on the walls, and grand and elegant furniture in various rooms. As in some of the other palaces in Paris, there were numerous jeweled crowns and swords on display, and a number of jewel boxes, as large as trunks, which had been used by queens and other ladies of the court. In addition to going through the palace, also drove through the forest which was used as a hunting ground by the royalty and their guests.

Next day walked through the principal shopping district of Paris and looked through some of the stores. Went along the two most famous streets in Paris—Rue de la Paix and Champs de Elysee. Some high grade merchandise in the stores, but most of it at very fancy prices. For example, on the millinery department of one of the swanky stores, two hat feathers which attracted special attention were found to be only thirty dollars each. (The feathers are still in Paris.)

Throughout most of both France and Italy the stores and other businesses closed for a siesta period of about three hours early every afternoon. They then remain open later in the evening than is the custom in the U.S.

On Sunday, June 25th we left Paris for London. Took train to Calais, where boarded a boat for Dover, and then changed to train again for London. The English channel is frequently very rough, but we were fortunate and caught a calm day and had a very quiet and smooth crossing. Is only about 17 miles across the channel and most of the time was spent standing in line and getting waited on by the English Customs officials.

Had accommodations in a very nice hotel in London located on Oxford Street, one of the principal shopping streets and within sight of Hyde Park. This park is where all the soap box orators gather especially on a Sunday, and we could see crowds assembled around various speakers as we passed in a taxi on our way to the hotel. Most of the speakers are radicals of various kinds, but anyone who feels he has something to say can get up and say it, as long as his language is decent and he doesn't attempt to incite anyone to violence.

During the four days of this stop in London (we were to return later for a second time) we took three sightseeing tours, two in London and one out to Windsor Castle. In London we saw Buckingham Palace, Tower of London, the crown jewels in the Tower, St. Paul's Cathedral, West Minister Abbey, the Parliament buildings with the famous clock known as Big Ben, numerous monuments, and various other places of interest. On the trip to Windsor Castle we passed numerous other interesting places and scenes and made a couple of stops enroute. Went through that part of Windsor Castle that is open to the public. Also saw Queen Mary's doll house which is on display in one of the rooms of the castle. Although at that particular time the Royal family was staying at Buckingham Palace in London, the section they use when stopping at Windsor of course is not open to the public, but it is similar to the portion that the public is permitted to inspect. On this trip we also stopped and looked over Hampton Court Castle, and went through part of the grounds and gardens. We were given the details and history, of course, of all attractions we saw which greatly added to the interest.

Of course during our stay in London we walked along the principal streets on several occasions and inspected merchandise in the stores, especially the window displays. In London we were able to go to the theatres. Made no attempts to go to any on the continent, except to attend one movie in Nice to see how an American picture is presented to a foreign audience. Found that original speaking parts are replaced by French voices but no change made in any part of the film. (In Italy of course Italian voices would be substituted for the English.) Most of the movies presented in all the countries visited were made in Hollywood, but there were quite a number made in England, and a few in France and Italy. The English made pictures are getting better all the time and are the only ones threatening any real competition for American films.

The English pound is worth about $2.80. Of course there are numerous coins in use to confuse the handling of money, but were more familiar with this than any other foreign money and had no difficulty with it.

Prices in England much lower than in France and Italy and considerably under American prices. The nicest and largest fresh strawberries we ever saw were available all over London. Sugar, chocolates, butter and cooking fats are rationed, but ample supplies of sugar and butter served in public eating places. Numerous tea and pastry shops throughout the country, and apparently no restrictions on use of sugar for making cakes and pastries for sale.

On leaving London went by train to the west coast of Wales, where boarding a ship for an overnight trip to Cork, Ireland. Had cabins on the boat and went to bed.

We Need Some Planning For The Future

That Slaton has a payroll of probably a million dollars near the Santa Fe alone is appreciated by the business community and by the public at large, but the fact that the town is fast developing into one of the best towns in the state as an agricultural center should be given more attention by the business men of the town and the conveniences of those who visit town from the nearby farms and smaller centers should be given more attention.

While the City Hall offers rest rooms of a sort for the convenience of visitors, the facilities there are neither adequate nor do they offer the visitor what should be provided in a town large as Slaton. Either the Chamber of Commerce, the City Commissioners or the two organizations together should give this problem serious consideration.

Visitors in Slaton have no place where shoppers may and rest and one or more Slaton business firms would do the town a big favor, and at the same time attract generous patronage from visitors by providing some place where the farmer and his wife could sit and rest a while.

A good swimming pool, more city-wide celebrations and permanent welcome to our friends from the nearby towns and the farms around would attract a lot of folks especially since Lubbock has become so crowded and traffic conditions so dangerous there.

Those who do the shopping should take cognizance of the fact that Slaton is one of the safest towns in which to drive, there is more parking space and there is fast getting to be a better variety of merchandise to select from in Slaton than there is in any places.

Some organized effort to study the needs of the town and plan a planned effort to prepare for the immediate and the long time future of the town should be made now.

There have been mistakes made in the past that could be corrected easier now than they would be in the future and there are some things that should be done now that would not cost nearly as much at the present as they will in the future.

At present only the things that require immediate attention seem to be of importance to those who must attend to them, but the business people and the people who will benefit, or be harmed in the future, by what is done now should be awakened and be brought together so that long time planning could be made.

It is easy enough to put the load on some organization that does not have enough authority or enough funds at command to do what should be done, Slaton needs a planning board that is not under obligations to the voters or to anyone except to the entire population of the town.

There Are All Kinds Of "Isms"

Here are some definitions of "isms" that have attracted a lot of attention. Read them over.

Under Socialism: You have two cows and give one to your neighbor.

Under Communism: You have two cows, the government takes both and gives you as much milk as it thinks you ought to have.

Under Fascism: You have two cows, the government takes both and sells you the milk.

Under Nazism: You have two cows, the government takes both and shoots you.

Under the New Deal: You have two cows, the government takes both, shoots one, milks the other, and throws the milk away.

Under Capitalism: You have two cows, you sell one and buy a bull."

There's A Lot Of Wasted Printed Matter

While there has been a lot of money wasted and a lot of time taken up in the United States Congress to investigate the deficit in the operation of the Postal system, most of the efforts have been made to reduce service and increase postal rates while little or no attention has been given to ways to conserve expense and cut out services that the postal services provide at a loss.

A lot of hullaballo has been made over the loss the postal services suffer from newspaper and magazine rates, but little has been said about the loss the service suffers from printing and supplying envelopes to the public at less than cost. Millions of pounds of useless printed matter goes through the mails daily which does the sender very little, if any good, and is a waste in paper that should be curtailed. A glance at any post office waste can will easily demonstrate the terrific amount of matter that is mailed and never even opened.

At times like the present when every pound of freight mail or express should be of importance, should be controlled so that only those things that are of some use are carried over the country.

It's The Big Boys Who Are Hoarding

The old and familiar story that prices are going up and that there are shortages of this and that, is with us again, and the sad part of it is that it is true.

Business firms are now selling merchandise at prices that are lower than the wholesale price of the same quality of goods will cost them when they replace it, but if a firm is to do business, sales must be made daily in order to keep up traffic.

Firms in the retail business are caught in the middle of price changes, when prices go up the buyer seldom knows in time to take advantage of the rise and when prices come down, when styles and models change, the changes are usually made overnight and the poor old retailer gets it in the neck.

Conditions as they are now are very conducive to hoarding, and while the Government and the public may point the finger of guilt at the folks who have a few pounds of sugar, an extra set or two, or a few steaks in cold storage, the main cause of the shortages can be put on the big manufacturers back. The biggest hoarders are the big manufacturers who are causing the shortages by holding back deliveries and by increasing prices.

Of course the individual is doing wrong to hoard things, but the big boys who deal in big quantities are the ones who are doing now. Its the quickest way possible to bring on rationing, wage and hour controls and a lot of expense on the Government, such as ration coupons, rationing boards and a lot of artificial bookkeeping that should not be necessary, especially at a time when all the manpower available is seriously needed.

When the second man appeared on earth, the rights of the first were cut in half. Now divide yours by the total population and that explains everything. —Aftonbladlet, (Stockholm).

The trouble with this man, the German psychiatrist was named, was that he wanted to cross the Iron Curtain.

"That's for the police, not me," said the psychiatrist. "Oh, no, it's a case for you," was the reply. "He wants to go from West to East. —New York Times.

When a report recently went about the town that Russia proposed to burn up the British Isles by harnessing the sun's rays, a public house pessimist in the Tottenham Court Road took a skeptical view. "Wot rays from wot sun?" he inquired. —New York Times.

"Do you believe in the precept—Love Thy Neighbor?" the judge asked the defendant charged with alienating the affections of his friend's wife.

"I certainly do," he replied. "But it sure got me into a lot of trouble." —Lane Carter.

The young man was taking an examination to get into West Point. The examination progressed satisfactorily until he came to geometry. His knowledge of that subject, alas, had grown rusty, and he found that he could not answer many of the questions. There seemed to be nothing to do but admit defeat and go home.

But when the disheartened candidate approached the officer in charge to announce his withdrawal, he found that worthy busily engaged in reading a newspaper. Shy and self-conscious, the young man could not muster up courage to interrupt the officer. So he resumed his seat and began to review the geometry questions again—when, lo, a wonderful thing occurred. The facts about geometry that he feared had been forgotten began to unfold, and as a result he was able to complete the examination. Thus to West Point came another great American—Gen. Omar Bradley—today the highest-ranking American military officer —Christian Science Monitor.

VALUABLE TIPS WHEN HOUSING

After your laying house, or laying houses, have been repaired, remodeled, cleaned and disinfected, and generally put in good shape for the coming season, you are ready to begin culling your pullet flock. But before you do this, consider other management duties to be handled at this time. Remember, housing time is an important and strategic period in poultry management.

Of course, the proper time to house birds varies with the section of the country, but as a general rule, it is good practice to house pullets before production hits 10 per cent. By following this procedure, you are less likely to interrupt egg production and throw your birds into a molt.

Cull Carefully
As you begin culling your flock, it may seem difficult to pick out the birds most likely to develop into high producing layers. And there's good reason for this difficulty. At this stage of development, birds do not readily stand out or show particularly outstanding laying characteristics. Therefore it is recommended that you cull only the obviously underdeveloped birds. You may keep the culs on the range for a while or market them immediately.

And when culling, remember to limit your flock to the number of birds the house will accommodate. Leghorns must have 3 feet of space per bird, and heavy breeds require 4 square feet. Never overcrowd your layers.

Worm Layers
While you are handling birds, take advantage of the opportunity and worm each selected layer individually. In this way, you give birds an effective worm treatment and eliminate extra work later on. Always put worm-clean pullets in the laying house.

This is also a good time to examine birds for lice, mites, ticks, and other external parasites. If necessary, delouse your birds. When handling the pullets, delousing may be done by application of a good louse powder.

If you have not vaccinated as yet, and it is necessary in your area, housing time affords you a convenient time to vaccinate. Pullets may be protected against fowl pox by vaccination with pigeon pox vaccine. This provides temporary immunity and does not interrupt egg production. Birds may also be inoculated with bacterins, which build resistance to such diseases as cholera and typhoid.

A Mistake Was Made

Incredible as it may seem a mistake was made in the Slatonite last week and Mr. Bill Sikes at Deal's Machine Shop did not like it very much, in fact he did not like it at all. The error was on the page concerning the 40th anniversary of the Slatonite and the advertisement stated that now you CAN'T get expert repairs, welding and parts made at Deal's Machine Shop. It should have read now you CAN get expert repairs, etc. It will be a long time before this paper can live down this mistake at Deal's Machine Shop.

FAIREY TALES

By Norma Fairey

Judging by the jokes and stories one hears about bosses, they would seem to be "a sorry lot," as Dagwood Bumstead would say. My boss must be an exception to the rule, though, for he comes up with some very good ideas on how to please his employees. For instance, he and his wife took me to Amarillo last week end to visit my family. I guess he realized that there is not much to do in a small town where you don't know many people, and I was getting bored. What a pepper upper a short trip can be.

Mrs. Bisbee, our bookkeeper, is very worried about her cocker spaniel dog. He has been sick for quite some time. According to the vet, he is suffering from the after effects of virus infection. When he is moving, he gets along just fine, and one could not tell anything is wrong with him, but when he is standing still, he seems to have a hard time keeping himself from falling forward. He shakes all over when he is lying down. He breathes loudly like someone suffering from pneumonia. She is feeding him vitamin pills in the hopes he will live.

For a few days last week, the wind was really blowing, and with it the dust from our streets. I decided right then and there that Slaton should have its streets cleaned every day. In my opinion, it isn't the size of the town that should determine how often the streets are cleaned, but rather the weather conditions. Perhaps there is no city machinery for such a job. Well, I for one am willing to contribute some money to buy such a machine. What amazes me is how the natives here hold down their hats and skirts and at the same time keep the dust from blowing in their face and eyes.

Every time I go into a gift shop, I wish I could buy at least one

Earl Green Takes Lubbock Bride

After a wedding trip to McCarty ranch at Kyle, Colorado, the couple will return to Slaton where they will reside. She will teach school in Roosevelt and he will work on his master's degree at Texas Tech where they both graduated recently.

Officers Elected In Win One Class

The Win One Class of the Methodist church met this week in the home of Mrs. Joe Walker, Sr. Election of officers was held, and a program was given. Mrs. O. B. Herring opened the program with a devotional. Roll call was answered with reciting of scripture. Mrs. Brewer was in charge of the program.

Gift every day. It is so much fun to pick out nice glassware, linens, and figurines. I think if I were to collect something as a hobby, like some people do pitchers and vases, I would collect figurines or glass shoes. There are so many cute ones. It is said that everyone collects something, whether it be salt and pepper shakers, stamps, tools, or perfume. Everyone has something that they especially like and keep adding to. I have quite a collection of musical animals and music boxes, but they are pretty expensive as a hobby. According to psychologists people who have a hobby are the most contented people. It gives them a real chance to express themselves creatively.

started their careers. One of them, Bobbie Ann DeMent, is working at the telephone company, and Wilma Kenney will start work this Fall.

Of the girls who are continuing their education in institutions of higher learning, three will go to colleges located quite some distance from Slaton. Also going to Denton, but to a different college, is Miss Leonita Tunnell who will register at North Texas State College. She plans to leave around September 18.

As usual, Lubbock will attract most of the Slaton collegians. Planning to live in the dorms at Texas Tech are Misses Lena Schmidt, who plans to leave September 14; and Iva Crowley, who plans to leave the 10th. Going to Texas Tech but living at home will be Miss Clydell McGinley.

Girls who plan to get off to an early start in business, and who plan to take business courses at Draughon's Business College in Lubbock, are Misses Melba Potthast and Mary Lee Schuette. They will start classes Monday. Also taking a business course, but remaining here in Slaton, is Miss Dortha Burks, who will take a course under Mrs. Nash.

These girls will be missed, but we hope they will enjoy this new adventure in living and will keep us informed of what they are doing, and the honors they receive as coeds.

Contending Earnestly for the Faith

Some one said, "You don't have to be baptized to be saved."

Jesus said, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved" (Mk. 16:16); "Repent ye, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto the remission of your sins" (Acts 2:38); "And now why tarriest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins" (Acts 22:16); "baptism doeth also now save us" (1 Pet. 3:21).

Now just which one of these men do you think has the truth? Which one told the truth? Which one is right? Well, you be the judge.

UNSWERVING—Five years of invalidism from rheumatic fever failed to swerve curvaceous Dixie Nelson from her determination to become a movie actress. Chosen "Little Miss America" when she was five, she plunged into little theater roles until the disease struck. Once recovered, she returned to the stage and recently, on her 17th birthday, realized her ambition by signing a screen contract.

THE SLATON SLATONITE

JUST TALK

by A.M.J.

When I was a young man and could eat a ton and not gain a pound, I often envied the pompous looking older men who huffed and puffed around town and often wondered why they moved so slow, stooped down with such care and sat down at every opportunity. As my figure has gradually taken on more and more overstuffing and my joints have become less and less willing to obey the commands of my desires, as I often feel that if I do not sit down I am going to fall down, I now fully understand what I used to consider middle aged dignity and I know why so many of the men I knew, including my father, were so reluctant to break into a run, squat down on the ground or stand at any great length of time.

Some day I am going to arrange a race with Ernest Ward, Nat Heaton, O. Z. Ball, George Jones, J. D. Holt and O. O. Crow. Such a race would most likely attract a wide interest and I'll bet the track would be soon strewn with fallen heroes from the ten foot marker on to the 50 ft. point, that is if any of them could ever get to the 50 foot point.

In some of my reading I have run across the statement that the excessive eating of candy and other concentrated sugar has the same effect as a limited amount of liquor. In other words sugar is a mild intoxicant. If this is true, although I take it with a grain, and often a hand full of salt, the statements that some of the experts make, then I would likely have been a terrible sot if I should have as strong a desire for liquor as I do for candy.

And I believe such appetites are inherited. My sister can eat a whole pound of chocolates without stopping over two or three times for breath, my mother and father were very fond of sweets and I have often seen my Dad eat a half of a two story cake at one sitting.

If my digestion could take the punishment that my appetite dictates I would certainly be a good customer to a candy store if I had the money to live up to my desires.

One of the nationally sensational magazines has about one third of its content devoted to illustrations on what to do should an atom bomb burst within a mile of where you might be.

It claims that the illustrations are reproduced from a booklet published by the Government on how to protect yourself from an atomic bomb attack. From a very casual glance at the photographs and instructions, while eating breakfast and between trying to find my mouth with a hunk of toast, trying to keep the dog from getting in my lap and answering questions about who to get to fix a leaky faucet, fired at me by my wife, I got a very confused detail of what to do should the emergency arise but I do remember that if you are in an office one should crawl under a desk, table or into the trash can and that you should wrap anything handy around any exposed skin surfaces of your body. All of this had to be done in less than a second if one hopes to escape with out major injuries, if you take longer than this, after you get a glimpse of the explosion, you're a gone goshin.

Once I got down on all fours and tried out the space under my desk and found that I'll have to get a desk about twice the size of the one I have or get my knees limbered up a lot for it took me fifteen minutes to get half way under and then the desk was draped over my shoulders like a cape.

If things get very rough I think I'll get me a big lard bucket to pull down over my head and an old blanket to cover myself up with and if you see me lopeing around town with such equipment you had better start doing the same for I'm not going to get excited about atom bombs until things get pretty hot.

You won't find many young folks these days who cannot use the typewriter or drive a car. Both these accomplishments can get them into a lot of trouble.

There's many a person who would have been better off if they had not written down what they should have kept in their heads and there's many a person who would be alive today if they had not learned to drive an automobile.

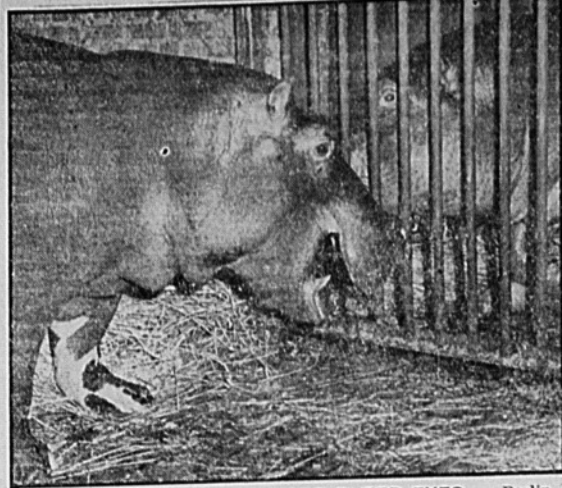

What I do to a typewriter probably would not classify as writing upon it but I manage to use four fingers, three on my left hand and one on my right. The three on my left are my thumb, index and my little finger and the one on my right is my middle finger. Just how I ever got into the habit of this combination of fingers, I have no idea and I have never seen anyone else use a typewriter the same way. Being naturally left handed I suppose I am inclined to endeavor to do most things with my left hand but I am sure I must look very awkward to a person who uses the typewriter in the correct manner and who can finger away and read copy from some manuscript without ever looking at the typewriter keyboard.

When I get started and my thoughts get to boiling I get the keys all stuck, my words run together and my typewriter table goes to bucking and jumping around the office and when I get through I end up fifteen or twenty feet from where I started. Sometimes I decide to learn to treat a typewriter with more respect but I doubt that I'll ever be able to do the job right.

Now I know one of the reasons why we have so many nice, up-standing weeds in Slaton. Last week I got all excited because Dr. Payne made a crack about the weed around the Slatonite and I got a man after them with a hoe and while he was hoeing he got off a little ways onto some neighboring property where some alfalfa had come up and I told the chopper to knock off some of the taller plants but we both got into trouble, the property owner stopped the procedure because he is letting the alfalfa grow so that he can take the seed home to his chickens.

If there is any one who wants some good, rich Jimson weed seed for his chickens there is probably a ten of it about right in the back alley to the South of the Slatonite and an unlimited amount on the sidewalk from the Slatonite to the Santa Fe Depot.

The tonnage carried on the Detroit river, which connects Lake Erie and Lake St. Clair, is larger than the tonnage on any other river in the world.

LION AND BEAR HIPPOS MAKE SHEEP EYES — Berlin officials added several new wrinkles to the art of diplomacy when they permitted a Russian zone she-hippopotamus to visit a he-hippo in the British sector. After a polite get-acquainted period, authorities removed the bars between the two in the hopes that love might overcome the lingual barrier. It did. And now it is hoped that Soviet-owned "Olga" will present her two-and-a-half-ton British beau, "Knauteshke," with a wee one.

Facts About Coffee
World output of coffee for export totals about 29 million bags annually, while consumption in importing countries is at the rate of more than 30 million bags. Prewar world production was about 35 million bags with consumption about 33 million. This prewar over-production, which was accentuated during war years by lack of shipping facilities, caused Brazil, principal coffee producing country, to discourage new plantings.

Tuberculosis
Tuberculosis causes one out of every 30 deaths in this country. Of every 12 deaths among Negroes, one is due to tuberculosis.

THIS and THAT FROM HERE and THERE

TRENDS—A government bureau has issued a new comparison of commodity costs in the Soviet Union and the United States, based upon working time required to earn the money needed to buy goods. It is a revealing example of the vast differences between a free, competitive economy, and a controlled economy in which practically everything is rationed and priced arbitrarily by the government.

To buy a pound of bread the Russian worker must put in 19 minutes, and the American worker six minutes. To buy a bar of soap the respective times are 41 minutes and three minutes. In the case of a pair of women's shoes, the figures are 72 hours as against 3½ hours. If the Russian wants a new suit, he must work 376 hours to earn it. His American equivalent can earn the price in a trifle more than 24 hours.

—The Crosbyton Review

THE HIRED HAND—Have you noticed the "shooting stars" lately? Most of these meteors we've seen have given off only brief bursts of light, but one or two have been spectacular kind resembling a sky rocket.

If the little scrimmage wasn't in progress in Korea the press associations would be cranking out stories for the big dailies on the astronomical show. As it is, they're too pre-occupied with the war, hoarding the draft, etc. to notice a few "shooting stars," and flying saucers even have dropped out of the news.

—Seminole Sentinel

HEREFORD BULL—Maybe Elmo has been taking Hadacol. This happened to Charlie Cogdell, who got to reading "The Brand" ads about the product and decided to give it a try. Charlie took the stuff regularly—much to the amusement of his family; he also took a lot of razzing on the subject until Monday morning, when he got even. Mrs. Cogdell got up about 6 o'clock to fix breakfast for the son, but Charlie remained in bed. He was about half asleep when she came back into the room, but suddenly remembered all of the kidding. He raised up, leaned over on one elbow and said:

"I don't feel like going to school today."

PARTY LINE DEODORANT VS. SHAMPOO

In a fit of boredom Friday night Mike Joplin shampooed his hair with cream deodorant. Seems that all the women-folk in the Arbit Joplin home were out for the night and the men-folk were just "sitting around." Mike decided to shampoo his hair, and went out and "lathered" on a copious quantity cream deodorant, mistaking it for shampoo. When it failed to make suds, he just swabbed on more. Finally he applied to his father for information on how to "get the soap out." Lemon juice and vinegar rinses failed. About this time, Mike's brother-in-law, Howard Taylor, discovered the mistake. How they got the "soap" out, we don't know, but in case you are interested, cream deodorant makes hair look and feel very stiff. —County Wide News

ODDS AND ENDS—Now that the heat of the battle is over and in view of the fact that liquor interests may call another election some time, we wish to take time to be the forelock and correct a few erroneous impressions that the wet leaders always try to make. Although we do not vote in Lubbock county, yet Lubbock's dry or wet status affects Lubbock not alone but the entire South Plains area.

First there is the matter of revenue. We do not consider it of any importance as compared with other considerations respecting the liquor traffic, but it is one that the wet leaders harp on a lot. They say that the state and federal governments get no revenue from the sale of bootleg liquor.

Is that true? They do not make it themselves. They buy practically none of it from moon-shiners.

If you happen to be so densely uniformed as to where they get it that you do not know, you might ask your sheriff. The sheriffs of Lynn county, some of them only occasionally, for many years past, have been stopping cars and trucks loaded with whiskey or at least containing whiskey in large or small amounts, taking charge of the liquor, and filing complaints against the drivers of the vehicles.

Where were these liquor cars and trucks coming from? Almost invariably they were coming from Big Spring, where the legalized, "regulated," controlled liquor stores are as thick as fleas on the back of that old cur dog that gets his living in our back alleys.

Practically all of the bootleg liquor sold on the plains comes from these liquor stores in Big Spring or one or two other wet towns.
