Scarlet: A small scar.
Shot: That which, if you have more than one, you're half.
First Love: A little foolishness and a lot of curiosity.

Odd Guns
 For many years the odd guns were valued chiefly as keepsakes or collector's items. Now that they have recaptured public interest, Kentucky rifles often bring high prices. And they still shoot true, though many are more than a century old.

Female sea turtles lay their eggs at night in holes they scoop out in sunwarmed sand a short distance inland from high tides. They may deposit 200 or more eggs of golf-ball size with leathery shells. With the laying, their responsibility ends. Man is but one of many predators that hunt out the eggs for food, or feast on the newly hatched young.

Popular Colleges
The possibility of obtaining a commission as a second lieutenant or ensign, instead of being drafted as a buck private, is attracting thousands of high school boys. The institutions having R. O. T. C. units are looming more popular with young men than at any time since military science was added to college courses following the passage in 1882 of the congressional act named after the late Senator Justin S. Morrill of Vermont.

California Farms
According to latest figures available there are in California some 63,000 farms selling fresh fruits and nuts, and 12,000 farms selling vegetables. Close to 2,000 fresh fruit and vegetable shippers are operating in the state.

Mahon Reports On War Situation

For the past 11 weeks I have been conducting committee hearings in Washington on the appropriation bill for the Army, Navy and Air Force for the current fiscal year. I expect to present the bill to the House of Representatives for passage during the second week in August.

I think some facts about the bill may be of interest. Because of the confidential nature of much of the testimony, the hearings were not open to the press. However, about two-thirds of the testimony has been printed and is available to Members of Congress, the press and public. Four volumes containing 3,500 pages, totaling nearly three million words, were required to print the testimony of the 500 witnesses who testified.

A lot of words and witnesses were involved in the hearings. The issue before us, however, was the $6 billion dollar appropriation bill for the Army, Navy and Air Force, one of the largest appropriation bills in the history of Congress in the history of the nation. Generally speaking, one-fifth of the money would be required to pay, feed and clothe the men in service. An additional one-fifth would be required to maintain the installations, aircraft, ships, etc. One-half of the sum would be used to pay for tanks, airplanes, ships and weapons of war. Remaining funds would be used for research and development and many other purposes. We will make savings and reductions wherever reasonably possible. It appears that a minimum reduction of at least one billion dollars can be made safely.

Our civilian and military experts are by no means infallible, but it is interesting to note that most of them who appeared before the committee were of the opinion that there would not be a global war involving the United States and Russia in 1951. Some of them expressed the idea that the danger of war with Russia would be greater in 1952 and 1953 as the Russian atomic stockpile increases. Many of our military people feel that war between the United States and Russia is inevitable, but our top military leaders do not agree with this conclusion.

The world situation is confusing, complex and explosive. My own view is that some incident or unforeseen development might precipitate a shooting war between the United States and Russia at any time. I think the best hope for peace lies in our military preparedness effort and in the overall strengthening of our nation and the other free nations of the world. We do not know the Russian timetable, but we know they seem to understand the language of strength.

What may happen in the Korean war is still not clear, but in my opinion it would be dangerous and inexcusable for us to let down our guard or disband our military forces by reason of the cease-fire in Korea. The truth is we are not now prepared for war. Our military build-up is just getting in high gear. We must be strong over a longer period of years if there is to be any real hope for stability and peace. On the other hand, we cannot afford to bankrupt ourselves in reckless and wasteful spending.

During the progress of the hearings I was invited to go to the Pacific for the atomic bomb tests and also to Europe to confer with Eisenhower, but my work here was such that I could not leave Washington at the time. Suffice it to say that we have made remarkable strides in the field of atomic warfare, and other highly significant developments are in the offing. Of course, Russia is making progress in weapons development too. For example, the Russian-made jet fighter which has been used against us in Korea is comparable to our best fighter aircraft.

I am supporting the request of our military people for large sums of money to expand our guided missile program. Guided missiles would play a major part in any future war. Of course, the hope of every thoughtful American is that our military preparedness program will be instrumental in preventing the outbreak of a general war.

County Judge Frank L. Moore said this week that Dolph Construction company hopes to have the Floyd county court house contract completed and ready to turn over to the county about August 1. The officials will occupy the building soon after it is finished, the judge said. Completion of the construction contract is long over due.

Deposits made in the two Brownfield banks since December 30, 1950, have dropped some $7,000,000 according to statements issued by the First National Bank and the Brownfield State Bank and Trust Company.

Total deposits at the close of business June 30, were over $14,000,000, and compared with the same period in 1950, very little difference was shown. However, the total was up approximately $2,000,000 over last year during this six month period.

Eleven miles east and slightly north of the town of Andrews in East-Central Andrews County, Magnolia Petroleum Company spotted location for a 14,000 foot Ellenburger wildcat.

Bids on the construction of two new buildings to be added to the Whiteface Independent School District will be accepted at the school auditorium, Thursday, July 12, it was announced here this week.

The two structures, one an elementary school unit and the other a combination physical education and agricultural building, were designed by Avery, Pierce and Norris, Architects and Engineers.

General crops prospects continued good in Hockley County this week despite the fact that 50 per cent of growing cotton on approximately 35,000 acres near Ropesville was ruined by hot dry winds last week.

County Agent Artie B. Forehand said the damage was in areas north and east of Ropesville.

The swimming pool at the C. W. Post Memorial Scout camp was ordered closed Tuesday by Dr. F. B. Malone until the polio situation here clears up.

Two Post children, stricken with subar type polio during the past week, are hospitalized in the West Texas Polio center in Plainview. A third child, formerly of Post and only recently a visitor to the city, is bed-ridden with polio in Tulsa.

Fifteen alarms, one of which was false, were answered by the Brady Volunteer Fire Department during the first six months of this year, with total property loss being 77,586, according to the report of the department's recorder.

Activity reported for the Levelland area increased during the last week. Five new locations and two new completions were reported to the Midland district office of the Oil and Gas Division of the Railroad Commission of Texas.

Applications were filed for five new projects in Cochran County. That county also reported one new oiler. All five projects and the new producer are in the Levelland field.

Hockley county gained one new location and two completions. The completions were reported as one each in the Yellowhouse field and in the Levelland field. The new drillsite will be in the Slaughter field.

Tahoka City Council has refused to grant the rate increase in local telephone rates recently asked by Southwestern Associated Telephone company.

The unanimous action was taken at a meeting of the Council last week.

The city experienced a near-complete lack of water for a few minutes Wednesday afternoon as heavy usage plus temporary cut-off of two booster pumps emptied the elevated water tank.

Nearly 500,000 gallons of water (18 1/2 feet) remained in the huge surface tank at the time of the failure. It was thought that the motors overheated or overloaded and were cut off automatically.

Change of venue for the murder trial of Jack Farmer from Lubbock county to Floyd county was granted the defense last mid-week.

Judge G. V. Pardue granted the motion after the third list of veniremen had been exhausted with only 11 men selected for jury service. The judge had denied three previous motions for change of venue.

The defendant is charged with the gunshot slaying of his wife, Jennie, 51, as she worked in a cafe in Lubbock on March 5. "There exists in Lubbock county so great a prejudice against the defendant that he could not obtain a fair and impartial trial," the judge said when granting the change of venue.

A thorough survey of the cotton crop in Floyd County has been made by County Agent Robert H. Gibson and Ass't. County Agent Cecil Lewis for cotton insects. Their investigations reveal that most cotton has out-grown the thrip and that further thrip spraying is unnecessary. Some fields have been and are being damaged by careless weed worms or webworms. Most of these fields have been controlled by Toxaphene applied at the rate of 2 lbs. per acre. A few fields are showing heavy to light damage from lice.

GROWING BIRDS NEED FRESH AIR

The lack of proper ventilation can be extremely detrimental to developing pullets. Birds forced to spend hot summer nights in an over-crowded, poorly ventilated house are subjected to conditions which harm growth, prevent good development, and many times lead to costly poultry diseases. That's why an abundance of fresh air, both day and night, is desirable for a young growing flock.

In providing birds with a well-ventilated colony house, a raiser should screen all windows with 3/4 inch mesh wire to keep out sparrows and other undesirable visitors. In addition, ventilators in both front and rear of the house should be opened, and left open, until the birds are moved to their permanent quarters in the fall. There is little danger of getting too much summer ventilation in a colony house.

Location Of House There should be practically no threat of colds in the flock if the birds are housed and fed properly. As for housing, the location is somewhat important. If possible, it should be placed where it will be in shade during the heat of the day. And it should be set up so that the front will be protected from the wind and rain. In most locations, this would mean that the house should face the east. A house placed in this position would tend to be cooler than one facing south.

Protection from heat and storms is a major objective during the summer time. A house or shelter that provides good protection, plus proper ventilation, should be quite satisfactory.

Keeping Houses Clean Besides giving pullets a well-ventilated house and one that is suitably located, a poultryman should give attention to the sanitation needs of his flock. Droppings should be cleaned out regularly. A supply of fresh litter also should be provided frequently. Where lice are a problem, roosts should be treated with a good roost application. It also may be desirable to spray shelters occasionally to kill insects. It's sound management to keep birds comfortable.

And here's an additional suggestion. To avoid later difficulties, such as floor eggs, egg breakage, and cannibalism, pullets should be trained to lay in nests while they are on range. Suitable nesting places should be provided for any early layers.

Mrs. Gus Clevenger has just returned from a month long trip. She visited her step-daughter, Mrs. Hathaway, and her daughter, Johanna, stayed there for the summer. She visited two weeks in California in the Sequoia Mountains where the beautiful redwood trees grow. She visited Navajo reservations in New Mexico and Arizona. She says they are suffering from a terrible drought, and are in dreadful need of water. After 14 years residence in Slaton the Clevengers are moving to San Angelo. Mrs. Clevenger says she has enjoyed living here very much.

CLAUD HERNDONS RETURN FROM CALIFORNIA CAMP

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Herndon have returned from a five-week vacation. They visited Mrs. Herndon's niece, Mrs. Tom Dial and family in Richmond, Calif. They spent 12 days there sightseeing in San Francisco, Oakland, and other points of interest.

From Richmond they went to Long Beach to visit Mrs. Herndon's sister, Mrs. Anderson and family. On the evening of July 2 Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Herndon took off to the high Sierras, where they camped at the foot of Mt. Whitney, which is the highest mountain in the United States.

The camp was on the bank of a small stream, the mountains were covered with snow, and the water was ice cold. The spring served as a refrigerator for the party. The fish, caught there made for good eating.

Two wool blankets as cover at night, purple mountain peaks and twinkling stars, that's a sure cure for insomnia anytime. They were in camp 16 days, taking side trips or just fishing, and dreaming. However both Mr. and Mrs. Herndon say, "be it ever so humble, home looks pretty good after all."

MRS. E. M. LOTT RETURNS FROM CALIFORNIA VISIT

Mrs. E. M. Lott has recently returned from an extended trip with her sister, Mrs. F. T. Lorenzo and her nieces, Mrs. V. E. Sanford and Mrs. Howard Carter, of Port Arthur.

After the convention the party enjoyed the scenic views of the Bay, the trip to the mountains. They had a homecoming party at the home of Mrs. Lott.

Mrs. Hampton returned from a vacation in P. O. Box 100.

The table setting was of Haviland China and Dyrillite silver on a lace cloth, with a bowl of Shasta Daisies as a centerpiece.

Mrs. Cecil Scott gave the toast and Miss Claudia Anderson entertained with favorite music of Mrs. Teague's.

Guests were: Mesdames H. G. Sanders, Jessie Prosser, L. T. Arthur, R. J. McAtee, D. F. Smith, and Cecil Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Teague traveled to Big Spring from East Texas in a covered wagon. They arrived here in Slaton, June 15, 1911. "The town then, was mostly shacks and tents," remembers Mrs. Teague, "I stayed in a room in Lubbock until my husband got a two room shack built at 255 So. 3rd."

Miss Teague, who was sponsored by the Altrurian Daughters, wore a dress of pink linen for her first appearance. The low rounded neckline and sleeveless bodice were topped by a short jacket with navy trim. Her formal was of black net, with the strapless bodice of lace. Her bathing suit was of white brocade satin with silver sequin trimming, complemented by red satin opera pumps.

Miss Teague sang 3 numbers in the talent review. She is minoring in voice at the University of Texas, where she will be a junior this fall. She previously attended Baylor University, where her sister, Shirley, has been accepted into Baylor Nursing School.

RECIPES

SLATON WOMEN GIVE THEIR FAVORITE TESTED RECIPES

Mrs. Leo Henzler has chosen as her favorite recipe, the one which her husband and son like best, her recipe for Light Bread. She says homemade bread takes time, but it's worth it, because it's really good. And a number of women must feel the same way, because someone is always asking for the recipe. Have you ever eaten homemade bread, fresh from the oven, with butter or jelly? For a special treat, try this.

Light Bread
 Crumble 1 cake Fleischmanns yeast into 4 cups lukewarm water, add 1/2 cup sugar, 3/4 cup melted shortening, and 1 table-spoon salt. Sift 4 cups flour into mixture and beat until smooth batter is formed. Cover bowl and set in warm place until double in bulk. Then add 2 cups lukewarm water, 1/4 cup melted shortening (not hot) and 1 table-spoon salt. Mix lightly with spoon. Then pour into dishpan into which about 8 1/2 cups flour has been sifted. Knead until all flour has been worked into dough (about ten minutes).

Turn dough into floured board. Knead the dough until smooth and elastic (about 7 minutes). If the dough becomes sticky, sprinkle more flour on board. Round the dough into a smooth ball and place in greased mixing bowl. Turn dough over so the top of dough is lightly coated with the shortening. Cover bowl with cloth and set in warm place to raise until double in bulk. Divide dough into 4 equal bread pans. Set in warm place about 85 degrees F. Let loaves raise until double in bulk (about one hour). Bake the bread 50-55 minutes at 400 degrees F. In order to permit the heat to circulate freely do not place pans against each other. When baked remove loaves from pans immediately. Grease entire loaf with shortening and place on cooling racks.

Mrs. Henzler was born and raised in the Slaton community. She has a 12 year old son, Leo, Jr. Her hobbies are sewing and keeping house. She makes all her own clothes and she and her husband enjoy their own interior decorating. Her greatest pleasure is family outings. They go picnicing several times a week with friends, and enjoy fishing, swimming, and boating together.

She is a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church. Her husband is owner of Henzler Implement Co.

Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Burns of Big Spring, and Mrs. Georgia Tyson and Carol Ann, of Lubbock, spent last week-end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Burns.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Harral and daughter, Mary, and Mrs. E. E. Nunnery have returned home after a pleasure and business trip to the Rio Grande Valley.

THIS and THAT FROM HERE and THERE

We realize just tonight, that inflation was here. The Missus held up one medium size cut of round steak, and said:

"Do you know what that cost," I said, "No." She said, "$1.50." She split it three ways, and mine was about the size of a dollar bill, and I didn't get gyped either.

So it looks like if we are to have steak at our house, we will have to up something or other. And on and on the inflation circle continues, where it will stop, nobody knows.

Fifty cases were filed in the new Taboka Corporation Court during the first month of its operation, according to Russell B. McGee, City Judge.

Ten cases were filed in the court this past week.

Of the 50 cases, 41 have been brought to trial and fines totaling $511.50 have been paid. One violator laid his fine out in jail, and one laid out a part of his fine. The remainder are pending.

A total of 39 charges have been filed for traffic violations, five for gambling, three for drunkenness, one for passing a funeral procession, and two against peddlers for not obtaining a City license.

Two Odessa youths were assessed fines of $25 each plus cost in county court here Wednesday for their troubles in trying to give the forces of the law a "helping hand."

The two, Bill Snelson and Leroy Penwell, stopped two Midland youths (Jack Anderson and Lloyd Waldron) on the Denver City highway and told them they were FBI agents.

The complainants said the two searched their car thoroughly, saying they were looking for liquor. The two were arrested in Midland after the incident had been reported and a warrant issued for their arrest.

The importance of a police radio system was aptly demonstrated in Levelland Saturday night when a teen-aged local youth was captured in Denton from a description sent over the radio.

The youth escaped local authorities and headed out for parts unknown, method of transportation unknown. When he was captured in Denton, the police there traced his stolen pick-up truck through its license. They called here and got in touch with the owner, now living in Brownfield, who has just sold it to the Morton GMC Olds company. Contacting the local firm, they checked and found the truck was gone. Morton GMC Olds had not noticed the truck's disappearance, since it was stolen late Saturday night.

If we have met up with something different in a number of instances this year, we still have another coming to us. That one is that the best of the belief of farmers as well as County Agents, is that static electricity literally erased tens of thousands of acres of cot-

A young Mexican, charged with illegal entry into the country, was on his way back to Mexico this week with his wife-to-be.

The young man was questioned in Levelland Sunday night in connection with a disturbance and admitted to local police that he was a "wet-back." He has been a resident of Levelland for approximately 18 months.

The man announced that he will return to Levelland after securing citizenship papers.

What we claim is a world's record was rolled up at the Earth arena Sunday afternoon.

Seventy-two times did calf ropers ride out after their calves and not a single time was the barrier broken.

Dewey Green was barrier judge.

The occasion was a matched event between teams from the Earth Roping Club, the Clovis Roping Club, and the Muleshoe Roping Club.

Eight members from each team had three calves. The rule of one loop or 40 seconds prevailed.

The Clovis boys placed first with a total of 665.8 seconds; Earth was second with 717.0 seconds, and Muleshoe was in third place with 757.1 seconds.

Cervical Cancer
Less than six per cent of all women with cervical cancer in 1906 would have hoped to survive five years. By 1942, 37 per cent of all women with cancer of the cervix are alive and disease free five years after treatment. For 1950, the survival rate probably will exceed 50 per cent, and in the best centers using the most reliable techniques, the percentage may be as high as 60.

Door to Knowledge
Invention of movable type by Johann Gutenberg in 1450 marked the transition from the Middle Ages to the modern age. Printing led to the spread of knowledge. From the old screw-type of press we have more recently come, through American inventions of typesetting machines and stereotyping processes, to giant newspaper presses that print with lightning speed in black and all colors of the rainbow. But the centuries-old type cases still have their place in every modern printing shop.

JUST TALK

by
A.M.J.

James W. Savell slipped me a "Scoop" last week that there is going to be a real oil play out on poor man's flats about six miles South of Slaton. Mr. Savell says he has some good information that there is black gold out there, and "plenty" of it.

After what I wrote about a year ago saying that an oil boom might mess things up in Slaton, Mr. Savell seems to think that I should not be allowed to get my hands on any of the greasy oil money. If my luck runs like it has all my life up to now the boys who are looking for oil will be better off without my support, for I'm not one of those boys who started out swapping a broken bladed pocket knife for a base ball and the base ball for a bicycle, and ended up with a house and lot with "plenty" of money in the bank. I'm the guy who had the house and lot to start with and ended up with the broken bladed pocket knife.

If Mr. Savell and his group are going to start a wild cat oil well howling just six miles from Slaton I wish them lots of luck and advise them not to sell me any stock for I'm the guy who always has his rain coat at home when it rains. Mr. Savell says "the goat will walk soon."

The more I think about the traffic problems in Slaton the better I think the catch as catch can method of driving is. If you wish to turn in the middle of the block, look back, be sure the car in the back of you has a driver who is sitting on the edge of his seat with a wild look in his eye then turn right in front of him. The screeching brakes and screaming tires should make your thrill loving soul jitterbug all over your chest, that is if ones soul is housed in ones chest.

And if you want to park on the left side of the street don't go to the trouble of holding out your arm, it might get scraped off, make your turn and let the cars behind take care of themselves.

It is driving such as this that keeps motorists on their toes in Slaton, and we do not have to depend on stop lights or stop posts at intersections. If you see a car coming three blocks away that seems to be traveling at from sixty to seventy miles per minute you may be sure it is one of a group of cars filled with young boys and girls. The best thing to do is to abandon your car and climb a telephone pole, even if you do not have telephone pole climbers spikes with you.

Just a suggestion: It is a good idea to wear telephone climbers spikes while driving in Slaton.

Folks there is something wrong with things. Every summer we have had to cut our grass every two weeks. Now that I've got an electric lawn mower the grass has practically quit growing. And we have two peach trees in our back yard that have always had nice big peaches on them until this year, now they are not much bigger than plums and all the things that my wife wants me to hoe, trim and chop are not doing well at all. Even the careless weeds seem to have lost their ambition, the wild grass in the back of the Slatonite office is dejected and our next door neighbor, Leonard Harral, goes into the alley and detestably prods a few weeds that give no resistance at all. Even Doc Crow, who is also a next door neighbor, has lost interest in our peach and plum crop, and all of these things may be a sign that something is going to happen. I'm going to go to studying tea leaves or coffee grounds to see if I can do some predicting.

Have you ever tried taking a bath during this hot weather and not drying off at all. It gives quite a spell of real cooling pleasure. Of course your joints get stiff, your hay fever starts boiling and your clothes stick to you like plaster to the wall, but it saves getting a towel wet which means quite a savings on the laundry bill.

There are some complaints in the papers about the women who are going around in drop leaf dresses and in shorts, and I have intended trying to get a survey made of what folks think about the problem in Slaton.

My own personal opinion is that some women look kinder raw in such regalia and others appear as modest as if they were wearing a Nuns uniform. Just what it is that gives me such opposite impressions is not quite clear in my mind but I do know that a woman who fits too snugly into a sun back dress or a pair of shorts gives me the feeling that she should go home and put on some more clothes.

It is not a matter of morals or of modesty for I believe most men feel disgusted when they see a woman with the wrong kind of clothes on and I believe most of us just feel sorry for the sisters with the poor taste.

At the end of this week all of the employees at the Slatonite will have completed their vacations and there is not a one of them who has not returned more bedraggled looking than they were before they left

MRS. ROWEN IS STUDENT AT HARDIN - SIMMONS

ABILENE —Mrs. Kathy Lorene Rowan of Slaton registered last week for the second term of the summer semester at Hardin-Simmons University. Enrollment for the session totals 847, Registrar Alton B. Lee has announced. The number includes 348 ex-servicemen, the largest veteran enrollment in more than a year. The increase is attributed to the Veterans Administration ruling that veterans must begin their schooling before July 25 to receive GI bill financial benefits. Second term classes began July 10 and will end with summer commencement exercises August 20. A special music recreation camp is scheduled for August 13-25. Mrs. Rowan, the former Katy Lorene Bassinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Andrews, Route 2, Slaton, is a graduate student at the university.

Mrs. J. B. Taylor received the message of the death of her sister, Mrs. A. R. McPherson, of Thackerville, Oklahoma. She died in a hospital at Gainesville, Texas.

Watermelon Long Enjoyed

The watermelon now seems as typically American as corn and apple pie, but actually its cultivation goes back to prehistoric times. Old pictures discovered by archeologists indicate the ancient Egyptians grew the watermelon. There is other evidence that its dripping sweetness has been enjoyed for centuries in many parts of the world. Explorer David Livingstone found watermelons growing wild over large tracts in Central Africa, where the fruit is supposed to have originated. It was brought to America by some of the earliest European colonists. The import promptly was adopted by the Indians. Marquette mentioned in 1673 that he found them growing watermelon in the interior of the country.

George Rogers Clark

George Rogers Clark accomplished his initial conquest of the Northwest in 1778, with the aid of about 160 backwoods riflemen and without firing a shot. He entered the garrison at Kaskaskia, Illinois, where English officers were entertaining their Creole guests, and announced: "You are now dancing under the flag of the United States!"

Christmas Tree Market

It is estimated that the United States consumes between eight and 12 million Christmas trees, and Canada about one million trees, each year.

Christmas Tree Lighting

The custom of decorating and lighting the Christmas tree is believed to have been first introduced to the United States by Hessian soldiers at the time of the American Revolution.

Meteorite Theory
The latest theory about the origin of meteorites—those flying pieces of iron and stone that strike the earth—is that they all came from a single exploded planet that once circled around the sun between Mars and Jupiter.

Tidelands Quitclaim Nears Vote In House

Congress, rather than the Supreme Court, should decide the fate of the tidewater lands. But enactment of the pending tidelands quitclaim bill over a threatened veto calls for vigorous action by the Texas delegation and strong support from other states. This measure would give federal recognition to the rights of the coastal states to control their tidelands. One such bill was passed, only to be vetoed by President Truman.

Those in the interior states should realize that their own state lands will become unsafe unless this bill is passed. Once the federalists get the tidelands, all other lands are under constant threat from the expropriative theory set up by the Supreme Court opinion. Opponents of the quitclaim bill argue that federal ownership of the tidelands is needed to assure oil for defense. But the unprecedented demand for oil during World War II was met under control by the states. Too, waste and graft are less likely under experienced state control. The nation's one big oil scandal, that of Teapot Dome, involved production under federal control.

Enactment of this quitclaim bill, without crippling amendments, is the only effective way to head off the Big Grab. It is the only way to force the Federal Government to keep its treaty agreement made in annexing the former Republic of Texas. It is the one means at hand in checking undue centralization in government at the expense of the rights of the states. Not only should the eyes of Texas be on Congress but the voice of Texas should be heard there—and heard effectively. —Dallas News.

Oil Royalties In Canada . . .

Major-General Patrick Hurley, one of President Roosevelt's wartime advisers, has been moved to speak his piece about Persia . . .

All the present trouble, he says, can be blamed on the "greed and imperialism" of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company — which is the same thing as saying the British government, since the British government holds the controlling interest in Anglo-Iranian. General Hurley believes there should be "a limit on the amount of profits when they are being taken out of resources belonging to people who are starving." "Your trouble in Persia," he testified before the Senate inquiry, "is imperialism, not communism."

When the present uproar began, Anglo-Iranian was paying royalties to the Persian government of 25 per cent of the value of all the oil it extracted from Persian wells. When the possibility of nationalization was first mooted, the company offered to increase this royalty to 33 per cent, and subsequently raised this offer to 50 per cent. In other words, Anglo-Iranian would do all the work of exploring for, extracting, refining, transporting, and marketing Persian oil, and would pay Persia half the proceeds from every barrel of crude.

This is what General Hurley regards as unforgivable exploitation. But we suggest he cast his eyes in another direction, toward the province of Alberta. There, a number of large American companies are engaged in removing oil. Hitherto, they have been paying the Alberta government royalties of between 8 and 10 per cent of the value of all oil removed; by a recent decision of this province, these royalties have been raised to somewhere around 13 per cent . . .

General Hurley implies that the Persian government had every justification for nationalizing Persian oil in view of the "greed and imperialism" of Anglo-Iranian. But if he regards a 50 per cent royalty as "greed and imperialism," what is his view of an 8 per cent or a 13 per cent royalty?

We hasten to assure the general that he can relax. Peculiarly enough, we don't feel exploited up here in Alberta; and there is no significant agitation for the expropriation of American oil investments in this province. Most of us think a 13 per cent royalty is fair enough. All the same, it's a point which General Hurley, and others, might bear in mind before they start yelling too loudly about "exploitation." —Calgary Herald.

Something For Nothing . . .

Richard L. Strout's article "A Tax on Gambling" (June 29) is excellent and the clearest I ever have read regarding this phase of doing something about gambling; still, when the substance is carefully gone over, taxing is not the answer. Like many other solutions for an evil that has been in existence for so long, education is the only thing (it seems to me) which will eventually bring progress.

I recall a humorous incident of some years ago at the store where I worked. The employees had a baseball pool — chances 25 cents and open to all employees. One day an employee who had openly and quite vehemently denounced gambling bought a ticket and won the pool. How elated she was. That wasn't gambling; it was just fun!

That seems the crux of this evil. When those who now gamble in the home, at work, in their clubs, in church basements, or in build halls begin to realize that they are as much a part of the gambling machine as the big or small town gamblers, then there will be more wholehearted cooperation in stamping out the evil.

The human desire to get "something for nothing" seems prevalent. How to get rid of that desire is not up to the experts; it's up to the individual. —C.K.T. — Great Falls, Mont. — Christian Science Monitor.

QUOTES . . .

The three topics that loom largest in American conversation are age, weight, and hair; and of the three, the matter of age, which amounts almost to monomania, takes worried precedence. In no other country in the world does the race with the mirror occupy so concerned a place in the individual consciousness. —George Jean Nathan, Journal-American, New York, N. Y.

About the only moral exercise many a person gets is shadowboxing with his conscience. —Enquirer, Cincinnati, Ohio.

There are still a considerable number of old-fashioned women in this country, each of whom is trying to make one husband last a lifetime. —Tribune, Oakland, California.

Add signs of spring: a blind man leading a baseball umpire across the street. —Vincent Starrett, Tribune, Chicago, Illinois.

Many fathers-in-law still dislike making cash settlements, and it is perhaps wise to respect this old-fashioned prejudice. However, if your bride's dad is any man at all, he will probably be only too glad to present you and his daughter with a newly furnished apartment, rent paid for three years. If he isn't able to buy you a new car, too, be big about it—take his old car. —Hal Boyle, Dispatch, Columbus, Ohio.

More golf games have been won with pencils than ever were won with putters or drivers. —Earl Wilson, Times, Indianapolis, Indiana.

"Why is it your wife can always see a blonde hair on your coat but never a button off of it?" —Earl Wilson.

Slaton People Worth Knowing

MRS. J. D. HOLT

Mrs. J. D. Holt, a resident of Slaton for 14 years, was Eula Lee Thompson before she married J. D. Holt, in 1917. The Holts have two sons, William Holt, who has just finished one year's internship at Oakland, Calif., and Leroy Holt, who is in the drug business with his father in Slaton. They have three grandchildren.

Mrs. Holt's hobby is flowers, and she enjoys cultivating and beautifying the lawn at home. She is interested in the progress of Slaton as a whole and especially in the recreation program. She feels we need wholesome recreation for the youth of the town and attractive church activities, which she feels we have.

Mrs. Holt is a member of the First Methodist Church and of the W.S.C.S. She has been treasurer of the American Legion Auxiliary for almost six years.

Mrs. Holt comes from one of the early pioneer families of Texas. Her great-grandfather, Benjamin Franklin Thompson, came from Georgia and settled in Gregg and Rusk counties, buying 10,000 acres of land with $50,000 in gold. He also bought a number of slaves.

His brother made a like purchase and the discovery wells for the large Kilgore Oil Field were on the two brother's land. Her ancestors were in the lumber business in South and East Texas. Five generations of Thompsons are buried in the family cemetery at Kilgore on one of the old homesteads.

"I got the story on
50,000 Miles-No Wear and changed to New Conoco Super Motor Oil"

says Carl W. Smith
Chrysler-Plymouth Dealer
Miles City, Montana

"Cars coming to my shop after using Conoco Super are cleaner and show less wear than anything I have seen in my 27 years of garage work," Mr. Smith says.

"50,000 Miles-No Wear!" Proved Here:

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence: in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000!

TRAVELING SALESMAN
"My car is my meal ticket," admits R. C. Eberhart, Travelingman, Flagler, Colo. "I average 2,800 miles a month. Since changing to new Conoco Super, my operating cost has been reduced and the performance is much smoother."

DELIVERY FLEET
"Repair work has been cut 50% since I started using Conoco Super in all our delivery vehicles," writes George Lange, Laundry Partner, Muskogee, Okla. "One has run over 30,000 miles on Conoco Super, without any mechanical work."
