Schools Adopt Grading System

When Muleshoe Junior and Senior High and Mary DeShazo Elementary students return to school August 26, they will be graded under a new policy. "We wanted to upgrade the standard for passing... but mainly it (the grading policy) will be simpler for us to use and easier for everyone to understand," said Harold Horn, superintendent.

The grading system which will be standard for all three schools, was set up by the principals and approved by the Board of Directors.

The lowest mark that may be considered passing is 70.

The following system will be used to arrive at six-weeks and semester grades: Daily grades will count 50 percent (at the discretion of the teacher, any project-notebook, oral recitation, class participation, etc.--may count in this 50 percent. Weekly test grades will count 50 percent.

Six weeks grades will be the average of all grades for the six weeks period. (No six weeks tests will be given.) There will be a semester examination given at the end of each semester, covering work for the past semester. (18 week period). Semester grades will be determined by averaging the three six weeks grades with the semester test. The semester exam will count 25 percent of the semester grade. (The three six weeks grades, plus the semester exam, divided by four will give the semester grade.)

Teachers will set a time limit on all make-up work. It is the student's responsibility after being absent to personally check with his/her teachers to find out what work has been missed, what to do to make-up work and the time limit work.

LESSON IN CANOEING.....These Bailey County and Guthrie County 4-Hers get a lesson in canoeing during the recent 4-H exchange in Guthrie Center.

DAIRY VISIT.....Don Parker, principal at Three Way, heads the group of Bailey and Guthrie County 4-Hers through a dairy in Guthrie Center. Next year, Guthrie County 4-Hers will visit Bailey County.

When In Iowa Do As They Do

"It was worth it," was the comment made by 17 4-Hers from Bailey County when talking about the time and hard work put in to raise money for their recent trip to Iowa for a 4-H exchange.

The exchange program is designed to give older 4-Hers an opportunity to see how people in other parts of the United States live, work and play. 4-Hers from Bailey County selected Guthrie County, Iowa as the site of the first ever 4-H interstate exchange for this county.

During the week of July 5-11, the seventeen 4-Hers and four adults traveled the 900 miles to Guthrie

Center, Iowa, population 2500. Around 150 people greeted the 4-Hers at a cook-out where they were served hamburgers, sausage, and many varieties of vegetables and desserts. After a brief "get-acquainted" period, the 4-Hers were off with their host families to live like "Iowans" for a week.

According to Jim Irwin, assistant county agent, "the country side around Guthrie Center was beautiful, rolling hills covered with corn, soybeans, pasture, and even trees!"

On Monday, the group traveled 35 miles to the state 4-H Camp for a day of canoeing, swimming and learning to repel off of a high tower.

Tuesday they were taken to the Capitol of Iowa, Des Moines, where they toured 'Living History Farms'. This is a "town" where certain periods of farm history are preserved. People who live on these farms carry on their business exactly as they did in the era which they represent. "The 4-Hers arrived at the 1900 farm just in time to watch a big apple pie go into the wood burning oven. Price of a slice of pie was two or three hours of chopping wood," he said.

Wednesday was a day reserved for visiting and family activities. Many 4-Hers helped out with the chores like they do at home. Other activities ranged from relaxing, to flying, to catching fish.

Thursday was also enjoyable. They were treated to a day of swimming and water skiing at Lake Panorama, seven miles east of Guthrie Center. Bailey County 4-Hers hated to leave the lake!" Irwin added.

Friday, a tour of the county and several agricultural enterprises ended the week. 4-Hers visited a typical farm, a 375 sow, pig operation, the world's largest seed corn processing plant and a dairy. Later that evening they were treated to a hog roast and farewell dinner.

This was only the first leg of the exchange trip. Next summer, during the third week of June, around 25 4-Hers from Guthrie County will come to spend a week in Bailey County. "I know the people of this area will show the same and even more hospitality than we received while in Iowa," Irwin commented.

Irwin concluded by stating, "Bailey County 4-Hers wish to send their special thanks and deepest regards to area residents who bought cakes and cookies, bought electric outlet insulators, donated used batteries, and donated money to help them reach their Iowa destination.

It was a trip which will never be forgotten and if you don't believe that, just ask one of the 4-Hers who attended."

Malathion Toxicity About Like Aspirin

Texas Agricultural Extension Service entomologist are at a loss to understand what the uproar is all about in California over malathion.

Malathion, of course, is the insecticide being used to combat the well-publicized Mediterranean fruit fly invasion which has occupied that state's attention for several weeks.

Comments Dr. Charles Allen, area Extension entomologist here, it's even less deadly than aspirin. In fact it has about one-thirtieth the toxicity of that household remedy, he reveals.

"Malathion is the most non-toxic insecticide I know of," says the entomologist who works with them all the time.

Perhaps the most dramatic demonstration of its safety was provided recently by the director of the California Conservation Corps who drained a glassful of it diluted to the concentration used in the field.

Allen hasn't gotten to that point yet but he agrees its lethal qualities have been vastly overblown. "It would require a quarter pound to a pound of the pure chemical-not the liquid as it comes in a bottle, but the pure chemical-to kill a 200-pound man," he calculated.

How about breathing it? Allen says it's his understanding even that's pretty difficult because the aerial spray being unleashed on some heavily populated areas in northern California is being mixed with molasses, sugar and yeast and falls in coffee-grain-sized droplets, too large to be easily inhaled. California state toxicologist rate the product at 1/25th the toxicity of the material used in pet flea collars.

The pest fighter does concede a cautionary point about malathion, however. It's tough on vehicle finishes. "I'd be much more worried about getting it on my pick-up than I would be about breathing or swallowing some."

Evidently California Governor Jerry Brown, with an eye on his environmental constituency, is one of the small number of citizens who get truly exercised over the use of malathion to combat this very

Muleshoe Mascot Rodeo Highlight

Are you cowboy enough to rodeo on a mule? If you think you are then you will want to enter the upcoming Mule Rodeo set for Muleshoe August 15.

Yes, you heard right, Muleshoe is planning an event which will feature the animal the town is known for holding in high regard.

The rodeo events, scheduled to begin at the Muleshoe Roping Club Arena at 1 p.m. promises to be full of surprises. All competition must be done on a mule. Events planned are Open Cutting, Heading and Healing, Barrell Racing, Pole Bending, Steer Stopping, Hide Dragging, and Calf Roping.

Jeff Smith, local mule enthusiast, organized the event and assures readers that there are enough mules in this area for such an event. Anyone interested in competing in the rodeo or has a mule should contact Smith who organized the event, "if you can organize mules," he added "I am hoping that there will be a lot of interest in this kind of thing and we can make it an annual event. I have all kinds of ideas for events if we can get this thing going. The afternoon of Mule rodeoing will be topped off with a mule race at Smith's home two miles east on the Plainview highway.

Many competitors for the rodeo will be coming from competition in Ches-has held a mule rodeo.

Prizes for rodeo winners will be belt buckles and prize money. Admission charge will be $3 for adults and fifty cents for children.

Entry deadline has been set for 8:00 a.m. Saturday, August 15. Contact Smith at Valley Grain or at his home 965-2886. Smith also encourages members of the community to help in sponsoring the event.

"Stubborn as a mule" has long been an expression not well accepted by the intendee, but according to literature on the mule, mules may be stubborn, but they are not dumb.

Watching a well-trained horse maneuver with speed and finesse and intelligence is an impressive sight. Horsemen say you can train a horse to perform a trick and he will do it everytime. But what happens when a mule is substituted for the horse in the rodeo. A mule is known to change his mind and the choice whether or not to compete may not be the riders.

An important animal in the pioneering of America, the mule is revered for its good qualities:mules can stand more heat, more cold, and can do more work on less food and water than any other animal.

Since the beginning of the Christian era, the mule has helped all over the world to bear the burdens of mankind. Cannons were to its back, the mule was an asset to the early American farmers.

The Mule Monument seems to glorify the subject of many jokes: without ancestral pride or hope of offspring, the mule, along with the buffalo, hound and longhorn made Texas history."

Maybe the mule will make a little history Saturday during the Muleshoe's first Mule Rodeo.

FIRST BORN BELGIAN BLUE.....This male calf is one of the two Belgian Blue calves born in the United States. They are one half Belgian Blue, one quarter Maine-Anjou and one quarter Charolais.

Belgium Blue Sires Two Calves

The Nick Tutt family of Muleshoe has taken two more steps closer to reaching their dream of having a herd of Belgian Blue cattle. Two calves were born two weeks ago the only Belgian Blue bull in the United States on the Tutt farm, four miles west of Muleshoe.

The calves, one male and one female, are one half Belgian Blue, one quarter Maine Anjou and one quarter Charolais. The two really stand out in the herd--the male with distinct rich blue and white spots and the female who is solid white.

Tutt, originally from Canada moved to Muleshoe three years ago from Pecos, was hoping to raise calves is a 30-month-old bull and the females are Maine-Anjou and Charolais "As far as I know, these are the first Belgian Blues born in the United States", said Tutt. The only other head of the Belgian cattle in North America is in Canada.

The Blue/White cattle, as they are called in Europe, descend from imported beeves. They produce more double muscles of the hind quarters than any other breed and the marketable percentage is higher than other beef cattle. Tutt explains that 77 percent of the Belgian Blue is lean Mear, 10 percent is fat and 13 percent is bone.

Although the breed is more meaty, Tutt is not sure it will be popular in

'Learning To Live' Title Of Eight Week Course

Learning to live. Perhaps as you read that phrase your first reaction is, "Well, I didn't know I had to learn to do what comes naturally." Actually, "Learning to Live" is the title of an eight week course which can enrich lives that are running smoothly. The course explores the everyday frustrations we all experience and offers skills to help establish more open and honest communication. So, on the other hand, if you are having problems, "Learning to Live" may help you find some answers that are good for you.

This program is one of several life enrichment groups offered by Mental Health Resources, Inc.

"Learning to Live" will begin Friday, August 21. It will meet from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. at the Clovis MHR Unit, 816 West 12th. A nominal charge will be made to cover the cost of handouts and materials used in the group. To enroll, please call 769-2345 and ask for Terry Popsuc.

Kennie Hardee, an MHR counselor, will conduct the class. An exciting series of eight color films, based on the principles of Transactional Analysis, will provide the groundwork for the program, according to Mrs. Hardee. Each film will introduce a topic or situation which will be explored by the group. Interaction, role-playing, questions and discussion will familiarize group members with several self-help concepts, she says.

The first topic in the series is Ego States. It provides the conceptual foundation for Transactional Analysis (TA) and explores the three basic behavior patterns or ego states from which we can feel and act. The second topic, Transactions, deals with how we learn to analyze (and diagram) transactions to understand not just what is being said, but what is happening when two people communicate.

Other topics in the series are: "Strokes", messages that tell us we're o.k.; "Time Structures", which refers to the ways we use our time to get strokes; and "Feelings", fifth film in the series. "Feelings" talks about how instead of freely accepting and acknowledging our feelings, we sometimes save or collect them like trading stamps. These "stamps" are cached in for psychological pay-offs when we play games. "Games" is the name of the sixth film which describes recurring ulterior transactions which result in predictable pay-offs to reaffirm the Not o.k. life scripts of the persons involved.

The last two films, "Acquiring Life Scripts" and "Changing Life Scripts", address how people determine o.k. and not o.k. scripts for themselves and others.

"When people consciously examine and understand their individual life scripts, they can begin to make changes instead of unconsciously acting them out," Mrs. Hardee says.

Veterans Q & A

Editor's note: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.

Q-- I am buying a house with a Veterans Administration guaranteed home loan and have been told the closing costs will be relatively high. Can I include them in the amount of the loan?

A-- No. All closing costs must be paid by the veteran from his own resources without borrowing.

Q-- If a military retiree is rated 100 percent disabled by his branch of service but has never applied for a service connected disability rating from the Veterans Administration, will his surviving spouse receive VA Dependency and Indemnity Compensation benefits upon his death?

A-- Application for DIC must be made. The surviving spouse is not automatically entitled to VA DIC benefits and only the VA can make a service connected death determination for DIC benefits.

Q-- My father was killed on active duty. I am 19 years old and would like to know if I am eligible for educational benefits from the Veterans Administration?

A-- You are probably eligible for benefits for survivors and dependents of veterans. Contact the nearest VA office for assistance.

Grogan, Muniz Exchange Vows In Perryton

Miss Patricia Grogan of Perryton became the bride of Randy Muniz, also of Perryton, in a double ring ceremony at 2 p.m. June 27, in the First Baptist Church at Perryton. Vows were read by Rev. D.C. DuBose of Pampa.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Johnson of Muleshoe and the late Arvis Grogan. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. John B. Muniz of Trinidad, Colorado.

The couple stood before a gold archway, entwined with artificial greenery and white silk roses and accented with pink satin bows. Two baskets of mixed silk flowers flanked each side of the archway. Pink bows marked the pews.

Ray Castle, organist, accompanied Lynette Lee as she sang "Join Us Now", "When You Created Love" and "Thank You Lord".

Given in marriage by her brother, Rickey Grogan, the bride wore a formal length gown of white qiana jersey and silk Venise lace, featuring a high neckline with lace collar and a sheer yoke of English net outlined in lace. The long fitted sleeves were detailed with insets of English lace and appliques. The A-line skirt fell from an empire waistline, bordered with lace which dipped to form a chapel length train. Her two tiered fingertip veil was edged in lace. She carried a bouquet of white silk roses and greenery.

Maid of honor was Deborah Burchel Valadez. Guests were registered by Keisha Johnson, step-sister of the bride.

Bob Ossola of Trinidad served as best man. Ushers were Rickey Grogan and Kip Valadez.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall. Leslie Brand and Tammy Schwalk of Perryton served at the bride's table.

After a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple are at home in Perryton.

The bride is a graduate of Muleshoe High School and Howard Payne University. She teaches math in the Perryton High School.

Muniz graduated from Trinidad High School and is employed by Halliburton Services in Perryton.

TIPS TO HELP YOU

Q. Is it alright to make hand bound buttonholes even if the sewing instructions suggest machine made ones?

A. Yes, by all means finish the garment to your satisfaction. Hand finished buttonholes add a professional finished look to any garment.

Q. I have a large figure. Can I wear prints?

A. Prints are fine. Stay away from large prints. A small print on a dark background can be very flattering.

A more consumer-oriented beef grading system? That's what the USDA is now considering because of a petition from the National Cattlemen's Association. The NCA is asking for improvement in and modernization of USDA's beef grading standards. Part of the report's recommendation comes primarily in response to consumer demand for leaner beef, according to the Association. The NCA also believes the changes should improve production efficiency over the long term. Production of beef with less trimmable fat, while maintaining desirable eating quality, is one of the main thrusts of the cattlemen. Quality, they believe, includes tenderness, juiciness and flavor. The NCA maintains that their proposal would discourage overfeeding in an attempt to get more cattle into the choice grade and would encourage production of beef with a higher lean-to-fat ratio.

Peaches Take The Cake This Summer

Glance at the calendar. There's still plenty of summer left and markets are literally bursting with baskets of fresh peaches. This means one great dessert for tonight's enjoyment. Time short? Don't worry about baking the traditional shortcakes when you can easily take home a store-bought jelly roll -- the beginning of a Peachy Jelly Roll dessert. Cut a small jelly roll into 1/2-inch slices. Spread thawed frozen whipped topping between slices and reassemble on a serving platter. Cut into diagonal slices and serve with sweetened sliced fresh peaches and dollops of additional whipped topping. Keep an extra jelly roll on hand in the freezer along with a handy container of frozen whipped topping. They're a time-saving dessert team during fresh peach season.

PTA Budget Planning Meeting Held Tuesday

A calm and leisurely evening at the XIT Restaurant was the setting for the annual budget planning meeting of the Muleshoe Chapter of the PTA. The executive members met Tuesday, August 4, at 7:30 p.m. After being served the meal the business meeting was called to order by president, Robin Neptune.

The first order of business was to plan the yearly budget. A treasurer's report was given by Kerma McGuire. Budget sheets were passed out to all members. The budget makes up of eight different categories, the first being anticipated revenue. This includes the amount on hand, dues from the members, and projects which include the Halloween Carnival and July 4 booths.

Dues this year will be two dollars and fifty cents per member with one dollar and ten cents of that going to state and national and one dollar and forty cents into the budget.

The next category is expenditures including District Presidential Love Fund, Past Presidential Fund, Texas Life Membership and jewelry, and the Panhandle Awards Luncheon.

Administrative is the third category with the treasurer's supplies, postage, and stamps and the publicity supplies and history book.

The fourth and fifth categories make up the State, National and Council dues, the workshops, courses, and conferences required of some officers and the Council Lower Fund which has an Endowment Fund. This fund is for a scholarship given by the South Plains Area Council that may be applied for by any teacher who is a member of the PTA that plans to further her career as a teacher.

The largest category of the budget is the meeting expense. This includes room count, hospitality, yearbooks, and babysitters provided by the PTA for members at all meetings.

Projects and programs and the miscellaneous fund make up the last two categories. Any further detailed information concerning the budget will be given at the meetings. We want the members to realize that as a chapter of the PTA organization we have rules and regulations to follow and that our budget is planned so that only that amount of money needed to pay PTA expenses are used and all other revenue goes toward helping buy things for the schools for the betterment of our children.

At the conclusion of the budget planning more new business was discussed. Debra Noble, chairman of projects, said that the Fourth of July booths were a great success and brought in extra money. Executive officers worked at the Shooting Gallery and The Bushel Basket Throw booths. "The kids really had a great time," said Mrs. Noble. She also reported that plans for the carnival were working out smoothly and it looked like it was going to be another fun carnival with more booth decorations and new booths. Ticket prices and advance sales were also discussed. The carnival this year will be held October 30 on Saturday.

Betty Bush discussed new ways of publicity and suggestion boxes for each school. Robin Neptune also reported that there will be a suggestion box at each meeting for all members. The PTA hopes that teachers and members will use these boxes to give their suggestions as well as complaints to help improve your PTA.

Pat Walker's really works for a working woman like me. I lost 51 pounds!

Ray Barnwell's True Story:

Running an auto supply store means being on the job six days a week, doing everything from selling to handling the books. At home, I have two children and a husband to take care of. So I don't have much time to think about myself. Maybe that's why I hadn't done anything worthwhile about my weight problem. I'm embarrassed to admit that I weighed 167 pounds (I'm 5'5").

A friend of mine—who was always going on fad diets with me—decided to try Pat Walker's. When she began to see results, I thought I'd try it, too. Luckily, I could go before or after work, and I didn't even have to change clothes to use the Symmetricon passive exercise unit.

The counselors at Pat Walker's are so encouraging, and they have a great plan for eating right that's a lot more flexible than those strict diets I'd tried.

Within a month, I could see that Pat Walker's was working for me. And now I've lost about 10 inches from my waist, 7 inches from my tummy, and a total of 51 pounds! So you see, even if you're as busy as I am, you can still look as good as you should. Pat Walker's is the secret.

No "Before" picture for me—I was too embarrassed.

TEXAS AG FACT

Broiler chick placements in Texas during the week ending May 30, 1981 totaled 5,198,000, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

According to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, this was 11 percent above 1980 and 4 percent above the previous week.

The 21 leading broiler-producing states placed 84,994,000 chicks during the week, 3 percent above a year ago, but 1 percent below the previous week.

destructive pest. According to a report by Time Magazine "few (people) sought refuge at Red Cross shelters set up outside the spraying area; one facility was closed down when not a soul turned up. For the most part Californians simply followed the precautions recommended by state officials. They closed their windows, brought children's playthings inside and covered their cars with sheets or tarpaulins..."

Malathion, of course, is nothing new to Texas or the Rio Grande Valley. It has been used here since the early 1950's.

"It is employed almost exclusively to rid urban and suburban areas of disease-carrying mosquitoes," noted Entomologist John Norman. "In 1966-67 and again in 1971 vast areas of Texas, including major cities such as Dallas, Houston and Corpus Christi, were sprayed with malathion to control outbreaks of mosquitoes carrying St. Louis encephalitis and Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis diseases.

It was used in ground foggers in the Valley for mosquito control following Hurricane Allen last August, he reminds.

"Malathion is routinely used by homeowners and gardeners to control insects and mites on trees, shrubs, houseplants, flowers and vegetables. It is also used to control external parasites on pest," he adds.

The deadly efficiency of the Medfly is well illustrated by Hawaii, which has been infested since 1910. The only fruit this lush area exports in large quantities is the thick-skinned pineapple, which is immune to the bug. Says a Department of Agriculture scientist in Honolulu: "Prior to the fruit flies we had an abundance of fruit. Now we compete with these insects for our food."

With 40 primary host plants such as peach, nectarine, orange most NY tarine, orange-most any plant with fleshy fruit--and more than 250 alternate hosts including prickly pear and pyracantha, eradication would be "almost a miracle" once the pest becomes established in an area, Allen emphasizes. For one thing, its burrowing larvae which invade the fruit hampers the use of parasitic foes, he explains.

And it reproduces like lightning. In warm climates such as the Rio Grande Valley the insect will produce 11 generations in a year.

Is there much reason for Texans to be concerned about an infestation in far-off California? "You bet," the young entomologist repeats. "If it becomes established out there Texas is doomed to get it, too."

18-Year-Olds Don't Forget To Register

Young men who reach their eighteenth birthday are required by law to register with selective service at any U.S. Post Office.

Registration is a simple process. Within 30 days of his 18th birthday, a man fills out a registration form which asks only for name, address, phone number, social security number and date of birth.

The purpose of registration is to have available on a computer the names of men born in 1960 and later years, who could be contacted quickly if there were ever a national emergency and Congress were to declare an induction.

Peacetime registration will save the United States at least 4 weeks time in mobilizing its manpower in an emergency. This is especially important with today's all volunteer force. There are only 2 million men in the armed services today, but we would need many more men quickly should an emergency arise for example, in World War II we had 10 to 16 million bearing arms depending upon the stage of the conflict.

Registration and revitalization of the selective service do not signal a return to a draft. They are simply emergency preparedness measures. President Reagan is firmly committed to making the all volunteer force a success, supporting incentives to recruit and retain volunteers.

To date, nearly 6 million men have registered. Failure to register is a felony, punishable by a maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine and/or five years in prison

Texas Cattlemen Concerned About Current Beef Demand Level

Texas cattlemen are concerned about beef's current demand level--and they're doing something about it.

On July 1, Texas cattlemen initiated a voluntary 25-cent beef market investment program whereby all money collected is remitted to the Beef Industry Council of the National Live Stock and Meat Board for national programs of research, education and promotion, all of which are designed to increase beef demand.

Thus far, the voluntary investment plan has been quite successful. As of August 1, more than half of all cattle in Texas were passing through participating checkoff collection points (auction markets, order buyers and packing plants).

This type of participation has been encouraging to the Beef Industry Council and the other five Texas cattle organizations-- Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Assn., Texas Cattle Feeders Assn., Texas Farm Bureau, the Independent Cattlemen's Assn., and the Livestock Marketing Assn. of Texas--all of which have been working with collection points since last May.

Why have certain collection points decided to encourage their customers to participate in this investment program?

"Because I feel we (the beef industry) have done a very poor job of merchandising our product in relation to our competition. Who would have thought ten years ago that turkey and chicken would make such marketplace gains," said Cecil Sellers, Sweetwater Auction Market manager and president of the Livestock Marketing Association of Texas.

"We need to get something going now more than ever," said Sellers, "and the way to do it is by aggressively promoting our product. That's why the Sweetwater market is participating in the Texas beef investment program."

George McDonald, manager/owner of Longview Livestock Commission Inc. agrees that now is the time to try a new approach to return the beef industry to profitability.

"We (cattlemen) can no longer set back and say that this or that program may or may not work. We should be giving this new investment program a try--we can't sit back and watch our market share erode," McDonald said.

How will funds collected from Texas cattlemen be used by the Meat Board's Beef Industry Council?

For openers, the BIC has earmarked a substantial portion of funds for a fall media blitz of its highly

Texans Fearful Of Being Victims Of Crime

Texas residents are increasingly fearful of becoming victims of crime, according to the latest Texas Crime Poll.

Almost two-thirds (65.7 percent) of those surveyed selected at least one type of crime of which they felt they may be victims during the next year.

The latest poll is a random sampling of 1,449 Texas from throughout the state. It was conducted by the Criminal Justice Center at Sam Houston State University.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Gibbs and children from Lubbock spent the weekend with his parents the Ben Gibbs.

The Three Way High School seniors of 1956 had a reunion at the Three Way School Saturday.

Several from the community spent the weekend at the lake vacationing.

The community has had rain the past week with amounts varying from 2 inches up to nearly 4 inches. Crops look very good.

Mrs. is a medical patient in Cochran Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dupler and girls and Mrs. Minnie Dupler spent the weekend at Lawton, Okla. attending a family reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Green and children from Shallowater spent Thursday night with her parents the Jack Fergusons.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCarty and children from Littleton, Colorado are visiting her parents the Joe Sowers.

The survey showed a marked increase in the fear of crime over earlier polls. Just a year earlier 60 percent said they were afraid of becoming crime victims, and four years ago, when the first Texas Crime Poll was conducted, that figure was 53 percent.

Similar results were shown by a question on whether survey participants had installed security devices in their homes. More than four out of five (82.2 percent) said they had, compared with 76 percent a year ago and 72 percent in the fall of 1977.

Other questions showed that Texans are increasingly sure that over the past four years crime has gotten worse. In the current survey, 63.3 percent said that it has, compared to 57 percent last spring and 46 percent in 1977.

Furthermore, Texans expect the incidence of crime to increase. Almost three-fifths (59.4 percent) hold that belief as compared to 56 percent last year when that question was asked for the first time.

In line with those concerns regarding crime increases, only 43.8 percent of the survey respondents said that their police departments were doing either a good or excellent job. This was down from 50 percent a year ago.

Sheriff's departments received similar ratings--44.6 percent this year as compared with 48 percent a year ago.

Texans think the most important function of a prison is to punish the offender. Second in importance is for imprisonment to serve as an example to keep other people from committing crimes (deterrence). Third in importance is providing treatment for criminals to enable them to be more law-abiding (rehabilitation). The least important function of a prison according to the opinions of Texas residents is keeping criminals separated from society (isolation).

The recent survey also attempted to determine how Texans feel about current issues in criminal justice, such as conjugal visits for prison inmates, placement of new prisons, the governor's review of parole recommendations, marital rape, alcohol and marijuana use, and so-called "victimless crime."

Over two-thirds (68.5 percent) of those surveyed approved of conjugal visits, contingent on the good behavior of the inmate. Over three-fourths (75.7 percent) said that only the legal or common-law husband or wife should be allowed to participate in such a program.

Almost two-thirds (65.5 percent) said that prisons should be built in rural areas exclusively, rather than in urban areas where it would be easier for most families to visit. Only 18.5 percent said they should be built in both rural and urban areas, and 12.7 percent were undecided. These findings seem to contradict the earlier results which indicated that isolation is the least important function of a prison.

The majority of the respondents (62.6 percent) either favored or strongly favored the current Texas policy that all inmates who are recommended for parole by the Parole Board must receive final approval from the Governor's Office. Only 9 percent opposed this policy.

Respondents were about equally divided on whether Texas should have a law to permit a wife to accuse her husband of rape. Some 35.6 percent favored such a law; 33.6 percent opposed it; and 29.5 percent were undecided.

Almost nine out of ten (89.1 percent) residents reported having used alcohol at least once in their lifetimes and 72.9 percent had done so in the past year.

Slightly more than one out of every four (27.6 percent) said they had tried marijuana at least once, and more than one out of ten (11.8 percent) said they had used it in the past year.

The largest percentage of the participants (45.2 percent) agreed that marijuana is worse than alcohol. Only 13.9 percent thought alcohol is worse than marijuana, and 34.2 percent thought they are both the same.

Respondents were asked to indicate which of seven activities sometimes referred to as "victimless crimes" they thought should be against the law.

The offenses and percentage of respondents who said they should be against the law included: public intoxication (77.2 percent); marijuana use (64.7 percent); prostitution (59.6 percent); homosexuality (55.3 percent); abortion (41.6 percent); attempted suicide (37 percent); and gambling (36.8 percent).

More respondents (44.9 percent) said gambling should not be against the law than said that it should. Only 33.5 percent said attempted suicide should not be against the law, with 24.2 percent undecided on the subject. Some 40.3 percent said abortion should not be against the law, with 15.7 percent undecided.

The Survey Research Program at Sam Houston's Criminal Justice Center is under the direction of Dr. Glen A. Kercher. Dr. Victor G. Strecher is dean and director of the center.

By Spencer Tankley
County Extension Agent

Now is the time for homeowners to start inspecting their trees for bagworms, states County Extension Agent Spencer Tankley.

Bagworms feed on the foliage of many trees, especially the evergreen varieties. Several trees in the Bailey County area were badly damaged by these pests last year. Small bagworms hatch in late spring or early summer from old bags left on the tree during the winter.

Young worms spin silken sacs and attach small bits of leaves or twigs to the outside. The bagworm carries this sac wherever it goes. Later in the year, full grown larva attach to the tree and pupate within the bag. After some time male bagworm moths emerge and mate with females which remain inside the bag. The female then lays eggs inside the bag to start the cycle over again.

Application of insecticides should be made when small worms are first observed. Chemical controls are not effective on the older and larger bagworms. A few insecticide which are available locally for use on bagworms are malathion, sevin, diazinon, and dipel. The homeowner should read the label to insure proper application rates and to be certain that the tree being treated will not be damaged by the insecticide.

The Unemployed Myth

The politicians, statisticians, do-gooders, bleeding hearts and those who dispense welfare (their jobs are involved) continue to moan and groan about the vast number of Americans unemployed. It's the biggest hoax of the era.

There are some genuinely seeking work and unemployed. There are handicapped unemployed. But in any U.S. city one can find thousands of ads in the newspapers, placed by those looking for workers. Most of the unemployed could find jobs. There are several reasons they don't.

One reason is that many can't find the exact job they want. Perhaps the job requires a move. Perhaps the hours are not right. Perhaps the pay is lower than the last job. Perhaps the kind of work is distasteful.

The point is that, in the old days before government handouts to the unemployed, the average American did what he had to do to be working—move, take a pay cut, work in a job he didn't like, etc. Now, he often sits and collects welfare. Some prefer welfare to working.

Federal unemployment statistics are almost meaningless. They count everyone in a household. If three or four work and one is unemployed at the time the bureaucrats make the count, it doesn't necessarily mean any hardship.

As Governor Ronald Reagan of California found out when California began to require work from those receiving unemployment checks, the number of unemployed shrank astonishingly, immediately. It's just common sense.

Redistricting For 1982

As most Americans know, a census is taken in the U.S. every ten years. The results of that census determine the shape and size of the nation's 435 congressional districts—and how many each state will elect.

Thus far, six states have completed redistricting—Arkansas, Indiana, Nebraska, Nevada, Tennessee and Virginia. Six states, Alaska, Delaware, North and South Dakota, Vermont and Wyoming, need to do nothing—each has only one district. Two states, Idaho and North Carolina, are expected to finish redistricting soon.

Twenty-three other states expect to complete redistricting by late fall. Ten will redistrict next year. Two—Hawaii and Montana—will have their district lines drawn by bipartisan commissions and one, Illinois, is involved in a court fight over imposition of a redistricting plan. (Other states are also involved in court disputes.)

The states must complete action in time for candidates who file for next year's races; thus many will barely beat the deadline. And when all have completed action, what will be the result?

The main result will be a shift in House membership away from the industrial belt of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Massachusetts to the Southwest, and to four southern states—Tennessee, South Carolina, Florida and Texas.

The biggest loss of seats is in New York State—seven. Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Illinois lose two seats each. All other losing states lose one seat—Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey and South Dakota.

The big gains are in Florida, Texas, California and South Carolina—four in Florida, three in Texas and two in South Carolina and California. Other states gaining one seat are Arizona, Colorado, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Tennessee, Utah and Washington. Thus, of the nineteen seats which change hands, nine move to the Old South and ten to the West.

This shift is a certain gain for Republicans. How much of an advantage it is yet to be seen but it is thought to be worth ten to fifteen seats. The significance of this is that a gain of about twice this number of seats will give Republicans control of the 1983 House of Representatives.

AUSTIN — Last week the Legislature passed the Medical Practice Act and prepared the finishing touches on the Water Trust Fund bill . . . but much work is left to do on three other controversial issues.

The House was expected to concur with Senate amendments to the water trust bill early this week. Two down, three to go.

Heavier action will surround the remaining three issues: congressional redistricting, repeal of the ad valorem tax, and property tax reform. In fact, some insiders say it's possible that no agreement will be reached on the two tax issues. Others say the Governor is preparing to expand the agenda, once all five major topics are cleared.

Once again, as the Legislature heads for the deadline, no one really knows what will happen.

But one man who obviously knows more than most is House Speaker Bill Clayton, once again the center of action. Clayton announced last spring he will not seek re-election, but if he's a lame-duck speaker, you sure can't tell it.

So far he has gotten his wishes on every topic, or most believe that he has.

When the powerful doctors' lobby, the Texas Medical Association, put its foot down against allowing optometrists to use diagnostic eye drugs, Clayton stepped in. His optometrist, who is also his campaign treasurer, persuaded Clayton the eye drugs were important.

The result: a compromise allowing optometrists to use diagnostic eye drugs under standing orders from a physician. The optometrists, for their part, accepted full liability.

Water Trust Bill
Clayton was the architect of the proposed constitutional amendment which would dedicate part of the state surplus revenue to a water development fund.

The measure has met with some controversy, but few legislators dare to oppose the Speaker's own bill.

clear the special session. With three topics eligible for floor debate this week, it is not unlikely that the water trust bill will appear first and skate through.

Tax Reform Bill
If redistricting is the most partisan issue, proposed reforms of the Property Tax Code is surely the most technically difficult. Many of the kinks have been worked out in committee.

It is expected to be a rural-urban battle with Rep. Lynn Nabers of Brownwood leading the opposition against the sponsor, Wayne Peveto of Orange.

Provisions of the 1982 farm bill, to be voted on by the Senate and House after the August congressional recess, miserably fail to meet the objectives set forth by the legislative policy of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

In fact, says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, Congressman Kent Hance was right on the money in a recent "Ag Update" letter when he said the bill "... as it is now written is one of the worst pieces of farm legislation I've ever seen."

PCG policy calls for a minimum loan level at 65 percent of parity (now about 76 cents) and retention of the current disaster program until federal crop insurance has proven itself as an acceptable substitute, Johnson points out. Both Senate and House bills now call for a minimum loan of 55 cents and both would eliminate disaster payments beginning in 1982.

Changes may or may not be made in the House Ag Committee bill before a full vote. But the Senate Committee bill is complete, Johnson notes, and along with its failure to meet the needs of all cotton producers "it contains a separate provision aimed straight at the throats of producers on the High Plains."

That provision, tacked on by Senator Howell Heflin (D-Ala.), would require the Secretary of Agriculture each year to set cotton quality differentials at the simple one-to-one average of the previous year's loan discounts and the August-March average of spot market quotations.

Traditionally USDA has had authority to avoid drastic changes in quality premiums and discounts from year to year by giving additional weight to the previous year's loan discounts.

"If that authority is taken away from USDA," Johnson believes, "there will be no limit to the discounts that may be applied to below-base quality cottons over the next four years."

The Senate Committee report says USDA's discretionary authority in the setting of premiums and discounts has frequently resulted in "artificially high loan rates for lower quality cotton. Thus, in some instances, it may be more profitable to produce lower grade cotton to be used as collateral for a Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) loan than it is to produce cotton for market consumption."

And, the report continues, the one-to-one amendment "could result in the savings of millions of dollars each year in CCC budget exposure in the cotton program."

"All of which every High Plains producer knows is absurd," stated Johnson. "We are supplying our Senators with CCC statistics going back to 1971

'Carelessness' Leads To Lawn Mower Accidents

"Carelessness" is the main factor in more than 50,000 people injured each year in accidents involving power lawn mowers.

Proper mower servicing, observing standard operating precautions, and picking up rocks and other objects from the lawn prior to mowing will eliminate most accidents.

"The lawn mower should be routinely serviced each time before taking it out of the garage to mow the lawn," says Dr. Richard Duple, turfgrass specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "A properly operating mower is safer to use and cuts grass better than one in poor shape.

Routine service includes checking the blade for nicks or cracks, checking the blade to be sure it is securely attached to the shaft, checking the crankcase oil level in 4-cycle engines, and filling the fuel tank with fresh regular gasoline.

"Always disconnect the spark plug wire before examining the blade," cautions Duple. "The condition of the blade is critical to the mower's operation and safety. Remove, sharpen and balance the blade several times during the mowing season. Replace damaged blades.

Fulth Named Director

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block announced the appointment of J. Lynn Futch, Washington, D.C., as State Director of the Farmers Home Administration for Texas effective July 6, 1981.

Futch, 55, had previously served as FmHA State Director in Temple, Texas from 1969 to 1977. Since then he has served as Program Assistant to the FmHA Administrator at the agency's national office in Washington, D.C.

Before joining FmHA, Futch served as Assistant Manager (1954-1960) and Vice President (1960-69) of the Canadian Production Credit Association, Canadian, Texas.

A native of King County, Texas, Futch was reared on a cotton and livestock farm. He maintained an interest in a cattle feeding operation in the Texas Panhandle area until 1976.

Futch received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Agricultural Education from Texas Technological College, Lubbock in 1949. He served as a pilot in the US Air Force from 1943-45.

The Farmers Home Administration is a credit agency of the US Department of Agriculture. As State Director, Futch will be responsible for the loan and grant activities of 486 employees in 147 county and 20 district offices in Texas. The FmHA State Office is located in Temple.

which, together with recent cost of production figures and loan values, will prove that absurdity.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

I have spoken often of the necessity for increasing defense spending to meet our national security needs. Because of past neglect, significant increases in the next few years are unavoidable. At the same time, however, we must be absolutely certain we are getting maximum benefit for every dollar spent.

For that reason, the Senate Armed Services Committee has been working with the Administration to find ways to reduce costs and root out waste and inefficiency in the defense budget.

No one denies that we have not always spent our money as efficiently as we might -- though the Defense Department historically has been much more careful with its money than many federal spending practices. With finite dollars, and needs larger than can be met immediately with those dollars, we must redouble our efforts now.

One proposal that holds promise is multi-year contracting. Under the current system, each year the Congress authorizes and appropriates money for the next year only. There is no assurance that a company's contract will extend beyond that year, even if it is known in advance the need will continue from year to year.

Particularly in some of our ship-building and tactical aircraft programs, this procedure leads to less efficient spending than would be possible if continuity could be assured.

To achieve maximum savings, multi-year contracting could be used in conjunction with cost-effective rates of production for such items as the F-16 and other combat aircraft, armored vehicles and other high-demand items which take several years to develop.

We in the Congress also have an obligation to make sure programs are fully ready before they are put into production, and that they comply with the highest of military and economic standards. This year, for example, the Senate Armed Services Committee recommended cut-backs in funding for the Trident submarine and the CX cargo aircraft because of disparities in program planning and cost estimates.

In other words, we will do everything in our power to cut costs, without cutting corners in our defense needs.

I might add that the Administration shared this view. Secretary of Defense Casper Weinberger earned his nickname "Cap the Knife" because of his intolerance of waste. He is working hard to establish procedures in the Pentagon to make maximum use of each defense dollar.

The American people will not -- and should not -- accept anything less.

44 million Americans said facing "midlife." Brazilian coffee plants damaged by cold weather.

down slopes--always walk across the slope to prevent slipping under the mower housing.

--Always push rather than pull the mower.

--Never leave a mower running while unattended.

--When starting the mower, put your foot on its housing to pull the starter cord.

"Caution and common sense will prevent most lawn mower-related accidents," says Duple. "That means keeping your lawn mower in good condition and using good judgement."

The center's services, along with the quality of graduates coming from Texas A&M, are bringing in reservations from industry recruiters as far in advance as two years for interviews with upcoming graduates.

Brown Calls For More Funds In Ag. Research

AUSTIN—With the widespread conversion of farm land, soil erosion, and other problems depleting the natural resources required in agriculture, now is the time to increase funding for agricultural research in all institutions of higher learning. Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown stated in recent testimony sent to Washington.

Brown supports the passage of H.R. 1309, a Federal bill which would help land grant colleges established under an 1890 law to upgrade their facilities for agricultural and nutritional research. The bill is sponsored by House Agriculture Committee Chairman Rep. E. (Kika) de la Garza of Texas.

Prairie View A&M University is specified as a recipient for research funds in the bill.

"There are still far too many laboratories in the black land grant universities that remain unequipped, and too many important projects that remain shelved for lack of adequate research facilities."

he said. The International Dairy Goat Research Center at Prairie View A&M is just one example of Federal research funds being put to good use by this university. Brown pointed out that with increased funding, other problems unique to the small farm could be tackled by researchers there.

"For over 30 years, I have been associated with the Texas A&M University System," Brown said. "I know what changes research can bring about in agriculture."

"I believe that funding for all research should be increased, but I feel that there is a very special need for 'catch-up' programs for institutions such as Prairie View.

"H.R. 1309 would help black state colleges to become full partners with other institutions in a balanced attack on the research needs of their respective states."

CIA boss Casey denies resignation plans.

Outdoors & Travel by E. L. "Buck" Rogers

What do you wear when you go fishing? I have a stack of mail on the subject, and most of the letters are serious inquiries. So, let's chat about fishing attire.

The selection of outdoor togs depends on where you're fishing, how you go about it, and, to some degree, the fashion trend of the area.

If you're invited to fish a trout or salmon stream in Europe I would suggest a baggy tweed suit, and a hat or cap decorated with a few flies. When trolling for billfish in the tropics the well-dressed fisherman usually wears a T-shirt, a pair of shorts, Red deck shoes, and dark glasses. Southern bass fishermen are more flamboyant. Many don a pink or purple jump suit which matches their pink or purple bass boats and wear a yellow baseball cap on their heads. Fashion and personal choice are factors in the selection of angling attire, but from a practical standpoint comfort is the primary consideration.

A pair of fishing trousers, for instance, should have plenty of fancy room for sitting in a boat, hiking along a stream-side trail, or hunkering around a camp fire in the evening. I like an expandable waist band and straight legs. Leave the models with flared bottoms at home, and select a length an inch or so shorter than your dress trousers. Fabric should be cotton, or a cotton blend, because washability is a factor. Khaki, or tan, doesn't show dirt as readily as other light colors.

Fishing shirts should be equally cool and comfortable. I like the sports shirt style, which can either be tucked in or left out, and long sleeves are a must. Remember, you can always roll sleeves up for comfort, but you can't roll 'em down to protect sun-burned arms if you don't have any. Again, fabric should be lightweight, washable, cotton. Color is a matter of personal choice.

When I grew up a man's "fishin' hat" was a treasured possession and looked like it had been in the family for generations. Fly fishermen, particularly, still prefer these battered broad-brimmed relics because they provide protection from sun and rain, when soaked with repellent they discourage mosquitoes and black flies. But other anglers are now wearing darn near everything. Best bet is one of the broad-brimmed poplin creations sold by outfits like Orvis and Bauer, because they are cool and provide sun protection.

I know cowboys who wear clumsy boots in a fishing boat and a minister who wades through mud and sand in last year's black leather "preaching shoes." But they're in the minority. From every standpoint, a pair of sneakers is the ideal fishing shoe, and they should have non-skid soles to provide traction on slick rocks or boat decks.

Every angler's ensemble should also include a nylon windbreaker which can be rolled up and tucked away in a knapsack. Equal priority should be given to a lightweight rain suit, the best insurance against rain I know.

When fishin in the rain I slip a pair of rubber Totes over my sneakers to keep my feet dry. When the weather is cold I don long underwear and have a sweater handy.

But, there are exceptions to every rule or wardrobe. I hopped a brandiff jet and flew down to Tierra del Fuego to do battle with the monster trout which inhabit those waters.

"What do you wear fishin' down there?" a friend of mine asked when I returned.

My reply: "Every darn thing in the suitcase!"

Texas Doctors Praise Legislative Action

Texas doctors commended the state legislature for passing a bill that will continue the licensure and regulation of physicians in the state.

"Passage of a sound Medical Practice Act is in the best interest of the public and will safeguard quality medical care in Texas," said William F. Ross, M.D., president of the Texas Medical Association.

"The people of this state should be proud of the wise action taken by the Texas legislature," the Dallas family physician said. Dr. Ross noted that the legislation got one of the most thorough reviews of almost any other issue before the regular or special session.

Final approval in the Senate on Tuesday (July 28) was by a 27-1 vote. The House gave unanimous approval to the bill last Friday.

With unanimous approval of the measure in the House and with only one vote of opposition in the Senate, the bill will become law immediately upon Governor Bill Clements' signature.

Charles Lovelace Services Held In Farwell

Funeral services for Charles B. Lovelace, 71 of Farwell were held at 3 p.m. Friday at the Hamlin Memorial United Methodist Church in Farwell, with Rev. W.T. Perry of Crane and Rev. J.L. Bass of Bovina officiating.

Burial was in Sunset Terrace Memorial Cemetery at Farwell, under the direction of Parsons-Ellis Funeral Home of Friona. Lovelace died at 10:55 a.m. Wednesday in the Parmer County Community Hospital in Friona.

A longtime resident of Farwell, Lovelace was born October 25, 1909 in Vernon. He was a lifetime member of the Methodist Church. He married Alice Margaret Guyer July 27, 1939. She preceded him in death in April, 1975. In March 1977, he married Frances Treider of Lubbock. In January of this year Lovelace retired from the post of Parmer County sheriff, a position he had held for 32 years.

Survivors include his wife, Frances; three sons, Johnny of Richardson, Jerry of Rosenberg, and Leon of Grapevine; five grandchildren; two step-sons; four step-daughters; three sisters, Mary Burkhead of Albuquerque, Iona Hamilton of Lubbock, and Merle Norris of Clovis; four brothers, John and Woodrow, both of Farwell, Edgar of Vernon, and Arlin of Santa Fe.

Under the new Medical Practice Act, the definition of the practice of medicine is continued from the current law. The Texas State Board of Medical Examiners, the body responsible for administering the laws regarding physicians and medical care, will be expanded from its present 12 physician members by the addition of three public, non-medical members.

Other measures in the law provide for expanded disciplinary powers of the Medical Examiners Board. Among the new grounds under which the Board may discipline a physician are persistent and flagrant overcharging or overtreatment, and prescribing drugs in a manner not in the interest of the public health and welfare.

Dr. Ross stated that these and other new provisions give the Board additional tools to deal with incompetent physicians or those whose practice constitutes a danger to the public.

"The vast majority of Texas doctors are doing an excellent job," Dr. Ross said, "but the few who are not serving the public in a responsible way must be dealt with."

Consideration of a Medical Practice Act was one of the five issues included in Governor Clements' agenda for the special session. The measure failed to pass during the regular session due to last-minute amendments dealing with use of drugs by optometrists, who are not medical doctors, and hospital staff privileges for doctors of medicine and doctors of osteopathy.

Both of these issues were resolved during the special session. Senator John Wilson (D-LaGrange) and Reps. Bill Messer (D-Belton) and Lynn Nabors (D-Brownwood) were primary sponsors of the legislation.

On the other hand, real security for survivors can be achieved by a complete estate plan, the specialist says. Included in the plan usually will be some form of life insurance, regular or term, available at a lower cost than credit-life insurance, she adds.

However, if you have other life insurance, you probably do not need the credit-life insurance, the specialist says.

Piernot is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

In most cases, credit-life insurance is a needless expense, and it is rarely a good buy, Piernot says.

In some cases, the survivors may have to pay the cost of the insurance before they can collect, she adds.

Credit-life insurance is expensive for two major reasons, Piernot explains.

"One, it is usually an extremely small life-insurance policy.

"Secondly, there's no real competition among the sellers. Usually buyers don't shop around, and it is really not practical to do so. Thus, credit insurance companies do not offer the lowest price to buyers but offer the highest commission to lenders," she adds.

You are the one who decides if you want credit-life insurance or not, Piernot points out.

"Most credit contracts say that credit-life insurance is optional and will be provided only if you sign a separate statement asking for it," she says.

"The Truth-in-Lending Act strongly encourages that optional provision for the very reason that credit-life insurance is rarely a good buy.

"Creditors like to sell it, however, because they earn a commission on it," Piernot notes.

The Sandhill Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek has found a need for a better computer, he claims.

Dear editor: This is supposed to be the Computer Age. Scientists brag about how a computer can store millions of pieces of information and perform complicated math problems in a split second.

But the computers can stand some improvements. For example, the oil companies have only a one-way computer.

A while back when OPEC was raising prices of crude oil a couple of dollars a barrel, the oil company's computer was notified. It ground its gears, flashed its lights, and in no time at all said "that means the price of gasoline at the pump in the U.S. automatically goes up 3 cents a gallon."

But now that OPEC has lowered the price of oil the computer gets indigestion. It balks. It blows a gasket. It's just not programmed to handle such a situation. Oil Company human beings have to take over and they report: "Market factors, such as operating costs, inventory and levels of demand are far more important in determining gasoline prices than a drop in OPEC crude-oil prices."

Scientists have simply got to get busy and perfect a computer that can figure down as well as up.

It's needed not only in the oil business. Take meat prices. When the price of meat on the hoof goes up, the computer has no trouble upping the price of meat at the supermarket.

But let cattle prices come down, as they certainly have recently, and the computer throws up its hands and ducks when asked if meat over the counter should come down.

And there are all sorts of other places where a two-way computer is needed. Hospitals sure could use one. People who make tractor parts must be desperate for one. And above all, those New York banks who whoever that keep upping interest rates ought to get the first one. No using members of Congress one. They can run the cost of government up just by figuring in their head. Yours Faithfully, J.

Think Twice Before Accepting Insurance 'To Pay Off Loan'

Think twice before accepting insurance that "will pay off a loan" in case of death, advises Bonnie Piernot, a family resource management specialist.

This kind of insurance-credit-life insurance-pays off the debt if the debtor dies before the loan has been paid off.

However, if you have other life insurance, you probably do not need the credit-life insurance, the specialist says.

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

It is no Secret...

One of the great joys that children have is in telling a secret. This is one way that secrets have of becoming known.

However IT IS NO SECRET what God can do for you. This was never intended to be a secret, for God wants all to know the good news.

Isaiah said: "The Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings... to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord."

Attend church regularly and hear God's word preached.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

First-time buyers may have trouble purchasing home

COLLEGE STATION — First-time homebuyers who earn less than $30,000 per year will have a difficult time purchasing the average Texas home, says a research economist with the Texas Real Estate Research Center at Texas A&M University.

Monthly payments of $743 were required to repay the loan on the average home sold in Texas in the fourth quarter of 1980, said Dr. Arthur Wright. That payment was based on the average sale price of $63,000, a 90 percent conventional loan and a 15 1/2 percent interest rate.

"When the monthly charges for insurance and taxes were added," he said, "the base payment for the average Texas home was almost $850 per month."

Give Or Take
"I shall have to give you ten days or $20," said the judge.
"I'll take the $20, Judge," said the prisoner.
